GANDHI WARNS U. S.

Since the United States has joined arms with Britain in the fight against the Axis, she equally is to be held accountable for any failure that India be given full freedom, and "cannot therefore disown responsibility for anything her (Great Britain's) representatives do to India," asserted Mohandas K. Gandhi, picturesque Indian leader, in a statement published yesterday in the United States. The Indian question has been one of the most difficult problems growing out of the war.

Britain Is Apparent Winner Of Opening Round Of Desert War

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor

Britain's desert armies were reported to have won the first major test in the new campaign in Egypt today, routing the Axis in a flaming six-hour tank battle and jeopardizing Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's entire position on the El Alamein front, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

A bulletin from Cairo headquarters said the British 8th army again thrust forward in two sectors along the 35-mile-wide front Monday night and yesterday after defeating Rommel's tank forces Monday.

The communique indicated that the 12-day-old British offensive was now in full swing, with Allied planes pounding the withdrawing Axis forces.

The communique said British imperials in the last 24 hours advanced to Sidi Abd El Rahman on the north and drove the Germans into retreat further south.

Large numbers of wrecked Axis tanks littered the desert today as the British moved up fresh troops and armored contingents for a possible showdown.

Many Prisoners Latest reports said tank-led British infantry had driven a 16-mile salient through Rommel's left flank, slightly inland from the Mediterranean, and established a strong hold extending three miles west of the broken enemy minefields.

While Allied infantry regiments surged forward, dazed and weary Axis prisoners in increasing numbers marched back through the iron in the defense, which Rommel labored three months to erect.

Many of the prisoners, about one-third of them Germans, and the rest Italians, were reported suffering shock from the terrific barrage which preceded the Allied breakthrough.

A large force of Axis troops was apparently still bottled up between the British-held Corridor and the sea.

Some of these beleaguered German and Italian soldiers were already surrendering.

If you lead, ride or drive a horse on any of Columbia's streets, you're breaking a law.

Woman Insists Not Responsible In Death

AUSTIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Juanita Barr's brooding over the love affairs of her husband so disturbed her mind that she was not responsible in the pistol slaying of Mrs. Blanche Woodall, 27, night club dancer, the court of criminal appeals was told today.

Attorney Maury Hughes, arguing her appeal from her conviction March 5 of murder without malice in the slaying of the entertainer, contended that the trial court erred in not limiting the testimony of a grand jury stenographer and that the court should have made an affirmative charge to the jury on aggravated assault and on accidental homicide.

U. S. Bombers Blast Vessels, Smash Jetty

CAIRO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Direct hits by United States heavy bombers "destroyed two medium-size merchant vessels and approximately half of one jetty important in unloading of supplies" in the harbor of Tobruk, a United States Army Middle East Communique announced today.

It said the attack was made Monday, and its effectiveness shown by later aerial reconnaissance.

"Fuel supply installations on the jetty also were hit, sending a billowing orange and yellow fire to a height of 3,000 feet," the communique added.

Kokoda Fall Real Blow To Goebbels; He's Out Of Words!

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ MADRID, Nov. 4 (AP)—The fall of the little jungle village of Kokoda, which only a handful of Europeans ever had heard of until this summer, has had a tremendous effect on Europe—thanks to Axis propaganda before the tide turned against the Japanese on New Guinea.

Back in September, when the Germans became touchy about emphasizing "the last moments of Stalingrad" in their news releases and broadcasts, they began to give a big play to the Japanese offensive in New Guinea.

Under a Tokyo dateline they often Japanese dispatches from Kokoda, describing it as a "Japanese base on the Australian front," told how the Japanese had General MacArthur on the run and explained it was only a matter of days until Port Moresby fell and the Japanese pointed upon northern Australia.

The name of Kokoda as a Japanese base appeared with monotonous frequency in the Axis press and the press of unoccupied France, Spain, and Portugal for weeks.

The stories were complete with maps showing Kokoda at the base of arrows shooting across the Owen Stanley mountains to Port Moresby, across Torres Strait to Cape York in Australia and even across Australia to Brisbane, Sydney and Melbourne.

But German propaganda now has come home to roost.

No maps appear in the German press—nor does the name of Kokoda. But small items were in the neutral press, reporting Kokoda's fall and London and New York were heard broadcasting announcements of its capture.

This news made a tremendous impression—perhaps an even greater impression than other more important battles now raging—on Continental peoples.

The result: Continental peoples are beginning to talk of things Berlin would prefer to squelch.

The Vote Maybe Was Light; But Not The Voters!

ALAMEDA, Idaho, Nov. 4 (AP)—The vote was too heavy in one precinct yesterday.

Citizens thronged into the village hall. The floor gave way and fell to election to the ground. No one was hurt.

Election officials righted their equipment, and carefully rationed their voters thereafter.

EMPORIA, Kas., Nov. 4 (AP)—Everything looked suspicious all right. The stranger sat in his parked car while Police Chief Charles O'Brien's men sized him up.

Finally they hauled him in. He had papers to prove he was a visiting detective trying to trail an evil doer.

DALLAS, Nov. 4 (AP)—Texas, as usual, stuck by its Democratic candidates in yesterday's election, the electorate providing none of the upsets occurring in important races in other states.

On the basis of unofficial reports to the Texas election bureau at 9 a. m. today Senator M. Lee O'Daniel, Gov. Coke Stevenson, and all unopposed Texas members of the House were elected.

Four opposed representatives appeared.

Pampa School Children Will March In AEW Parade Monday

Highlighting Pampa's contribution to the seven-day program for American Education Week, which begins next Sunday and continues through the following Saturday, a parade of children from city schools will move through downtown streets at 3:15 p. m. next Monday, L. L. Sone, school superintendent, said today.

The theme of the parade will be "Serving Wartime Needs," which coincides with the national "Schools at War" program now functioning in Pampa schools.

Known as the "Schools at War" parade, the Monday procession will be featured by bands, uniformed groups, and representatives of the various wartime efforts which are part of the school work, and will serve the dual purpose of calling attention to American Education Week and indicating the extent of Pampa's participation in the "Schools at War" program.

Organized in conjunction with a plan formulated by sponsors of American Education Week, and by the Education Section of the U. S. Treasury's War Savings Staff, the local "Schools at War" parade will be one of many held in cities and towns over the nation. These celebrations will accent American Education Week as an institution and show progress of the "Schools at War" program, which serves to coordinate school war activities and to stimulate campaigns for collecting scrap, salvage, and for the sale of War Savings Stamps and Bonds.

Each day of American Education Week will be marked by exercises with a special theme. "Renewing Our Faith" is the theme scheduled for next Sunday; "Building Strong Bodies"; Tuesday; "Developing Loyal Citizens," Wednesday; "Cultivating

Gets Almost 4-1 Return Over Barrett

G. H. (Muleskinner) Kyle, Democratic nominee for Gray county sheriff, was the winner of the sheriff's race in the general election yesterday, polling 1,356 votes to 381 polled by James Barrett, a "write-in" on the basis of unofficial returns from 16 out of the county's 17 voting precincts.

Returns had still not been reported up to early this afternoon by precinct I, LeFors.

As usual, the Democratic nominees buried their opponents beneath an avalanche of votes in the election yesterday, with Coke R. Stevenson receiving 1,566 votes to C. K. McDowell's, Republican, 58, in the governor's race.

W. Lee O'Daniel garnered 1,432 votes to only 60 for his Republican opponent, Dudley Lawson, while only seven votes were obtained by Charles Lavergne Somerville, nominee of the People's Unity party.

One Write-in All district, county, and precinct Democratic candidates were elected without opposition.

In precinct 3, Grandview, Leslie Andrews' name was written in on one ballot as a candidate for county commissioner.

First to turn in a report on the election returns was precinct 15, Pampa, which had its polling place at the American Legion hall, 706 W. Foster.

George W. Briggs, presiding judge, had his report in the hands of Charlie Thut, county clerk, at 7:10 p. m., 10 minutes after the polls closed, upholding Mr. Briggs record as a rapid and efficient election official.

He had been presiding judge at numerous elections in the past and has always been among the first to turn in a report.

The vote on amendments in Gray county: John Tarleton appropriation, 515 for, 413 against; military instructors, 445 for, 462 against; anti-deficit, 551 for, 345 against; probate jurisdiction, 414 for, 467 against; state office building, 485 for, 438 against.

Jeff Davis Lacks Single Republican

PORT DAVIS, Nov. 4 (AP)—Not one Republican vote was recorded in yesterday's election in Jeff Davis county, which 60 years ago was known as the Republican county of Texas because so many retired northern soldiers of the Fort voted here.

The Democrats had taken eight governorships, but none was a turn-over. They included five in the South and Rhode Island, Oklahoma, and Arizona.

LEE GOES DOWN Oklahoma proved one of the big surprises in the Senate races. Senator Josh Lee, New Deal stalwart, who recently tried vainly to have liquor banned from Army and Navy posts, lost out to E. H. Moore, oil man and Anti-New Deal Democrat who ran as a Republican.

The defeat of Senator William H. Smathers (D-NJ) had the support.

New Jap Attack Now Is Feared

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—American troops on battle-ridden Guadalcanal have called upon aerial and Naval power to smash a newly contrived Japanese vise threatening to close in on the island's strategic airfield.

While United States Marines and soldiers, dive bombers and destroyers threw bullets, bombs and shells at the invaders westward of the airbase, Japanese vessels made a new landing of troops to the east under cover of darkness.

This added peril to the American-held field, base of many an aerial attack on Japanese ships, troops and installations, was announced by Secretary of the Navy Knox yesterday shortly after he had cautioned the nation against any false optimism over the battle of the Solomons.

Make Deep Cuts In FDR Control

(By The Associated Press) Republicans swept Democrats out of office in the state governorships of New York, Michigan, California and Connecticut in yesterday's wartime off-year election, and cut heavily into Administration majorities in Senate and House.

Control of the House swung in the balance, although Democrats felt confident they would retain a working margin in the new Congress. They were sure of the Senate.

Thomas E. Dewey, former Manhattan district attorney, increased measurably his 1944 Republican presidential nomination prospect by an easy victory over Roosevelt-endorsed John J. Bennett, Jr., for the Empire State governorship, ending a 20-year Democratic reign at Albany.

Mounting returns showed the Republicans had won six new Senate seats and had a net gain of 22 in the House, with 104 races still undecided.

They had won 12 Senate seats altogether, to the Democrats' 13 with nine races in doubt. The old Senate line-up is 65 Democrats, 29 Republicans, one Progressive and one Independent.

With 218 needed for a majority, the Democrats had won 172 House seats, Republicans 156, Progressives two and American-Labor one. Present House division is 264 Democrats, 166 Republicans, three Progressives, one Farmer-Labor, and one American-Labor.

NORRIS DEFEATED The Republican sweep engulfed 81-year-old George W. Norris, Nebraska Independent, and New Deal supporter, with 39 years' service in House and Senate behind him. He lost to Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican, Democratic incumbent lost office in Iowa, New Jersey and Oklahoma, and the Republicans also picked up senatorships in Delaware and South Dakota formerly held by Democrats.

Counting Maine, which elected in September, Republicans had won a dozen Senate places, also electing their candidates in Oregon, Kansas, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Illinois.

Democrats had captured 13 Senate seats—10 in the South and one each in Rhode Island, Nevada, and New Mexico. A total of 34 Senate seats were at stake, including Maine.

Of the 33 governorships (Maine elected a Republican Sept. 14), the Republicans had won 15, gaining four from the Democrats, and were leading in Idaho, Minnesota, Colorado and Wyoming. They lost a Republican governor in Julius Heil, of Wisconsin, who was beaten by Orland S. Loomis, Progressive.

The Democrats had taken eight governorships, but none was a turn-over. They included five in the South and Rhode Island, Oklahoma, and Arizona.

Oklahoma proved one of the big surprises in the Senate races. Senator Josh Lee, New Deal stalwart, who recently tried vainly to have liquor banned from Army and Navy posts, lost out to E. H. Moore, oil man and Anti-New Deal Democrat who ran as a Republican.

The defeat of Senator William H. Smathers (D-NJ) had the support.

Is Bishop's Urge "Get Out, Preach!"

HOUSTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—"We won't win the world for God if we insist on peering through the keyholes at the people going by instead of getting out and marching onward," Christian soldiers, Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, Methodist bishop of Chicago, told the 2,000 delegates and visitors who attended the opening session of the 103rd annual Texas Methodist conference. The session was held at the First Methodist church last night.

"Don't be static, you preachers, be on the move. Remember the first command of the risen Christ tells you to go into all the world and preach the gospel," the bishop urged.

Study Ordered Of Texas Sea Ports

AUSTIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas railroad commission declared today that better utilization of Texas ports in war shipping would result from conferences in Washington last week between federal officials and representatives of the state's ports.

Thompson said that Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the war shipping administration, had ordered a study of Texas ports to determine whether better use could be made of docks and wharves.

DALLAS, Nov. 4 (AP)—For the collection of 100 pounds or more of scrap per capita, nearly 50 Texas counties will be entitled to fly the pennant that the War Production board is awarding. E. E. Kirkpatrick of Brownwood, state chairman of the General Salvage committee, has announced.

Legion Men To Discuss Program

A quarter of a century ago they marched away; and those who returned marched again to the cheers of the crowd as the nation began the annual observance of Armistice day.

Many of the men who served in World War 1 have sons now serving America in World War 2, attaching a double significance to the 1942 observance of Armistice day.

To plan their part in the observance of November 11, members of Kerley-Crossman Post 334 of the American Legion will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the American Legion hut, 706 W. Foster.

Commander Tracy asks a full attendance at this important session.

Hollywood All Ajitter As 25-Grand Plan Gets Form

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Behind the closed doors of the Internal Revenue Bureau, a handful of Hollywood higher-ups today faced a dilemma more fearsome than any they ever filmed.

For there, in a little plot that might be called "The 25-grand net take," the Treasury's salary stabilization strategists were scrubbing a lot of glitter and gilt off the legendary Movieiland.

And while most of the script still was secret after more than three days of secluded study, bits of dialogue drifting out hinted definitely that Hollywood no longer could live in the style to which it had become accustomed—unless it dipped into past earnings.

Economic Director James F. Byrnes set the stage with his stabilization order limiting salaries to $25,000 net a year—but that "net" left reason to hope for many deductions.

—BUY VICTORY STAMPS

Then the camera swung to Assistant Treasury Secretary John L. Sullivan, who said the slicker folks couldn't deduct the 10 per cent they pay their agents, their high cost of living, their varied personal "business" expenses of the rent on those 25-room houses in Beverly Hills. It's no secret that if some stars subtracted those expenses from $25,000, there would be nothing left but a deficit.

Sullivan also said that if an actor exceeded the limit in one year, all film firms who contributed to his total salary would be equal violators—even those who paid him long before he topped the 25 grand. Which is why some top-notch lawyers have appeared on the scene here as supporting characters.

Besides the Treasury problems, other threats have the magnates more harried than a hero in the last reel. Will the stars make just enough pictures to earn their 25 grand? Will they then quit work for the year? Will this Revenue Bureau battle be just the beginning? Watch for the next chapter!

Special Chain Store Tax Defeated By Voters In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 4 (AP)—Completely overshadowing all other Utah contests, a proposed special chain store tax went down to decisive defeat on referendum Tuesday to end the most bitterly fought campaign seen here in many years.

On the basis of returns from fifty-eight per cent of the voting districts, it is estimated that the tax was defeated by better than two to one. Returns from 502 of the state's 855 election districts showed 23,645 votes for the tax and 53,369 votes against it. This is by a considerable wider margin proportionately than at the previous referendum contest on this issue waged in California six years ago.

JOE GORDON, YANK STAR, NAMED LEAGUE'S BEST PLAYER

Second Base Star Picked By Reporters

By JUDSON BAILEY
 NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Joe Gordon, the great second baseman of the New York Yankees, has been named the most valuable player of the American League for 1942, preserving the tradition that this coveted annual award usually goes to a member of the pennant-winning club.

Since the Baseball Writers Association of America took over in 1931 the task of selecting the most valuable player, there have been few breaks in the tradition and none at all in the last four years.

Gordon's performance this year was the best in his five seasons with the Yankees. He was unquestionably a powerful factor in the Bombers winning their sixth pennant in seven years.

However, the difference between his value to the Yankees and the value of lanky Ted Williams to the second place Boston Red Sox was open to controversy, which in turn was reflected in the balloting of the committee of 24 writers.

Gets 270 Points
 Gordon was given 12 first place votes, and received a total of 270 points, while Williams, winner of the "Triple Crown" for leading the league in hitting, home runs and runs batted in, finished with nine first place votes and 249 points.

The Boston slugger might have done better except for some competition from one of his teammates, Johnny Pesky, the rookie shortstop star, who polled two first place votes and 143 points. The other first place ballot also was cast for a rookie shortstop, (Junior) Stephens, of the St. Louis Browns, who rated fourth, three points behind Pesky.

It was the second straight year in which Williams has been voted out of the most valuable award. He ran a close second in 1941 to Joe DiMaggio of the Yanks; and although his batting average sloughed off from .406 to .353 this season, his all-around play in many respects was better than that of any other player.

Texans Cover Grid Limelight

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 4 (AP)—Stars of the two state schools—Texas and Texas A&M—are hogging the limelight in Southwest Conference football statistics.

Latest figures released by the statistical bureau show Roy McKay, Texas fullback, leading in ground gains with 579 yards and topping the punters with an average of 43.1.

Leo Daniels of A&M is pacing the passers with 50 completions out of 112 throws for 564 yards. Daniels also has the best punt-return average with 16.7 yards. However, Max Stallings, Arkansas, has the most yards returned—188.

Cullen Rogers of A&M is tops in pass-receiving with 293 yards on 25 receptions.

In team statistics Texas leads on rushing plays with 1982 yards while Southern Methodist leads on passing with 829 yards.

In total statistics Texas is far out in front with 2385 yards. Texas also leads in defense, allowing an average of only 137 yards to seven opponents.

Utility Group Has Office In Dallas

A new $40,000,000 public utilities concern, serving 94,000 customers in 130 Texas and New Mexico communities, of which the Southwestern Public Service company of Pampa is a part, has established corporate and financial offices in Dallas.

It is the Southwestern Public Utilities company, with Herbert L. Nichols, formerly of Chicago, as board chairman, and C. C. Christ, formerly of Newark, N. J., as director of operations.

Organized in September, the company bears the name of one of the units which went into its formation.

The old Southwestern Public Utilities company, which operated in the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico with headquarters in Newark, N. J., and the properties of the Panhandle Power and Light company and the Texas division of the Gulf Public Service company, which serves several East Texas counties, with Jacksonville as headquarters, were purchased.

The company also owns the stock of several other utilities in Arizona, Arkansas, Louisiana and Florida, but soon will dispose of that stock under agreement with the Securities Exchange commission. Nichols said, thus making the firm strictly an operating one.

While primarily an electric power company, Southwestern Public Utilities company serves several communities with gas, water and ice.

White Deer Bucks Meeting Panthers In Crucial Game

Special To The NEWS
 WHITE DEER, Nov. 4—The game of the season is scheduled for the Bucks this week when they meet their oldest rivals, the Panhandle Panthers, here Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Other games may have more significance in the conference race, but none holds the interest of the White Deer team and fans that the Panhandle game does. For that reason, and since this is the last home game of the season, fans are expected to turn out in number.

Rivalry between the teams has been intense for many years, although the Bucks fell before the Panthers, usually by big scores, each year until 1938, when the score was 6-6; but the game went to Panhandle on penetrations. In 1939 the Bucks won for the first time in ten years by the narrow margin of 14 to 13. In 1940 Panhandle won again 7 to 0, but the Bucks came back last year to score their first decisive victory, 26 to 0.

This year Panhandle has defeated McLean 6 to 0; tied Canadian, 6 and 6; and yielded to LeFors, 14 to 7; Hereford, 39 to 0; Phillips, 25 to 0; and Shamrock, 21 to 6.

White Deer lost the first game to Shamrock 19 to 0; but has won over McLean, 13 to 7; LeFors, 13 to 0; Wheeler, 21 to 6; and Canadian, 12 to 0.

These records seemingly give the Bucks the edge over the Panthers; but the Panthers have been known to upset the odds, and the Bucks will be expecting one of the hardest games of the season with no assurance of victory, or defeat, until the last whistle blows.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
 NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—From somewhere in the Pacific war zone Sgt. (T) Max E. R. Keifer fires a V-mail broadcast in this direction upholding the "small college" brand of basketball—particularly that played in the Kansas City National Intercollegiate Tournament over the kind supported by the "big schools" . . . The range is too long to carry on a good argument, except to point out that the squad just picked for that All-Stars vs. Oshkosh game in Chicago includes five Big Ten players, three from "major" conferences and the rest from colleges that definitely are "Big Time" basketball schools—Notre Dame, Toledo, Seton Hall, Long Island, etc. . . . But as a clincher, Missouri Max writes:

"The second and third weeks of the second March, following the end of the war, you are invited to be my house and tournament guest for the two national classics. Come out to see and decide for yourself. . . . That speaks volumes for the confidence of a soldier and basketball fan and we hope we can accept.

Hopes Increase Here Are Three Reasons Why Texas League Tulsa Does As It's Doing Will Operate

DALLAS, Nov. 4 (AP)—Optimism grows among veteran baseball men that the Texas league can operate next season but there will be no way of knowing until spring. President J. Alvin Gardner said today as the first contingent of club officials arrived in Dallas for the annual directors' meeting.

"Things can change greatly in the next three months," Gardner observed, "and it would be foolish to attempt to reach a decision at this time. We are even planning to delay our annual schedule meeting until February or March so we will have a clear picture of the situation."

The directors will assemble Saturday morning and be in session until afternoon when all will attend the Texas A & M-Southern Methodist football game.

The final session will open Sunday morning.

Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston club was the first director to arrive.

He said the biggest problem would be transportation with gas rationing cutting attendance materially.

"The major leagues are practically certain to operate next year and they are going to need material to replace the players called to service," Ankenman observed. "I believe the big league clubs will see to it that some of the minors operate."

Biologist Or Band Leader, The Man Can Shoot Them Down

AUSTIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—Harley Berg, the Game Department field biologist, applied for Navy enlistment as a sheet shooting instructor—although he had never shot skeet. (He is a sharpshooter at other forms of shooting). Officers told him he would have to obtain a recommendation from expert skeet shooters to qualify.

So Berg, accompanied by a former All-American skeet shooter, went to a Houston range and powdered 23 out of a possible 25 targets on his first try. He blasted 24 out of 25 on his second attempt—and got the recommendation.

Berg is probably the only mgn in Texas who gave up a highly successful career as a dance band musician to become a game and fish expert. That was 13 years ago. Hunting and fishing was his avocation until he deserted music.

what will your new car be like?

"Cut of the Future" from MECHANICAL ILLUSTRATED Magazine, by Marial & Seill, N. Y.

GREAT CHANGES in automobiles are certain after the war. What will they be?

Will your post-war car be teardrop in shape? . . . Will it have sealed plastic windows to preserve air-conditioned interior temperature? . . . Have "shiftless" transmission? . . . Longer-lasting synthetic rubber tires? . . . A smaller engine using higher octane gasoline to deliver greatly increased horsepower per pound of weight?

The answer to the first of these questions is still uncertain. But to the two final queries, synthetic tires and engine power, Phillips Petroleum Company can suggest affirmative replies.

Phillips is prepared for the coming great improvements in personal transportation, because long before Pearl Harbor, Phillips scientists in the superbly equipped Phillips Laboratories Building were engaged in never-ending study, research, experiment, exploring the limitless possibilities of petroleum chemistry.

Slowly but surely, there emerged new processes, new products, new benefits. Even before the war, much of this purposeful knowledge was channeled into the national defense effort. Now, all of it has been "enlisted" for the duration.

Phillips vast resources of raw materials and Phillips knowledge have made the company one of the largest suppliers of 100 octane aviation gasoline to the Army Air Corps, the Navy, and the United Nations' air forces; have made the company an important participant in the U. S. synthetic rubber program.

As a user of Phillips 66 Poly Gas and Phillips 66 Motor Oil, you surely share with us the pride that comes of knowing that Phillips is doing its part in the Nation's victory effort.

MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
Liver, heart, brains, kidneys are all good meats. And they do not come within the type of meat cuts which will be included within your voluntary rationing allowance of 2 1/2 pounds per person a week. Learn how to cook them deliciously. They have valuable nutrients, good flavor and are inexpensive.

Liver Loaf
(6 to 8 servings)
One and one-half pounds beef liver, scalded and ground, 4 slices bacon (2 slices ground, 2 slices to line the pan), 1/2 cup farina, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sage, 1/2 cup ketchup, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, 1 cup milk.

Mix ground liver and bacon with remaining ingredients. Place in greased loaf pan with the 2 slices of bacon on bottom as lining. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) until firm, about one hour. Serve with tomato sauce. Cold, slice for sandwiches.

Kidney and Vegetable Stew
(4 servings)
Three tablespoons barley, water, 1 1/4 pounds veal, pork or beef kidney, 2 tablespoons bacon fat, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 8 small whole onions, potatoes, cubed, carrots, quartered, 1-4 teaspoons salt.

Soak barley in water to cover for one hour. Soak kidneys in water with one teaspoon salt for one hour; drain, remove skin and fibers and cut kidney in one-inch pieces. Heat bacon fat in kettle. Add kidneys and cook over medium heat for 3 minutes. Add barley and water it was soaked in. Add pepper and remaining salt; cover and simmer for one hour. Add onions; cook 1/2 hour longer. Then add potatoes, carrots and more water if necessary. Simmer until tender.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- Should mothers let their children stop and pay with any baby they happen to see sitting in a buggy?
- If you take small children to visit where there is a puppy, should you be sure the children don't abuse the dog?
- If you don't want the neighborhood children handling your baby is it all right to refuse to let them do so?
- Should the mother of small children say to a friend with a new baby, "May I bring the children over to see the baby; they're so interested?"
- Must a gift for a new baby be something of immediate use, or may it be something that can't be used until the baby is six months or a year old?

What would you do if—
You are a man who likes to read the morning paper at the breakfast table—

- Give your wife part of the paper so she can read also if she cares to?
- Keep all of the paper for yourself, since your wife can read it after you have left for the office?

Answers

- No.
- Yes.
- Yes. Their mothers may think you are too particular—but that is your business.
- No. No mother of a small boy who knows anything about health measures wants children around her baby, as it might catch some children's disease, or a cold.
- It doesn't have to be something that can be used right away. Better "What Would You Do" solution—(a).

The Airplane Carrier is one of the most important factors of modern warfare. The transport of planes, and a base for their landing and refueling on the high seas where operation of land based planes is impossible, is vital to the success of the war.

An afternoon in a football grandstand can play havoc with your complexion—or can give you a lovely glowing face. The effect of autumn wind, like that of summer sun, depends upon how the skin is prepared to take it. So the lass who's determined to look as attractively smooth-checked at the tea dance afterward as during the game uses special care in her makeup.

First, she cleanses her face and throat with cream. Then she applies a thin layer of her favorite night cream and leaves it on for ten minutes. She removes this with cleansing tissues—but not every trace of the film. Rather, she blots and wipes gently with tissues. When she finishes, her face is soft to the touch but not at all greasy. And, most important, it is protected against windburn.

BLEND ROUGE CAREFULLY
Over the remaining inconspicuous film of cream she spreads a light foundation preparation. This can be either a cream type, or a creamy lotion, or one of the new cake types. Cream rouge goes on next, then powder. The rouge is blended meticulously; the powder is pressed on firmly, and is allowed to set for a few moments, then brushed with a bit of fluffy cotton to remove the excess. Rouge is applied sparingly. Finishing touches are the application of lipstick and brushing the eyebrows and lashes. Lips are dried and color also is given a moment to set before it's blotted with tissue.

Needless to say, makeup so carefully applied stays on for hours. And that cream base underneath it prevents chapping and roughening of face and lips no matter how chill and windswept the stadium.

From where I sit

by Joe Marsh

THAD PHIBBS' house got struck by lightning a couple of nights ago. The kitchen chimney was knocked off and the roof set on fire, and Thad found things pretty lively and exciting for a spell.

The fire was soon out though, thanks to the prompt and efficient work of the local fire department, as the paper says... and I never seen a man so grateful as Thad.

Chief Ed Carey was sort of embarrassed, I guess, by the thanks that was heaped on him.

"That's all right, Mr. Phibbs," he says. "That's all right, sir—that's what you pay taxes for."

From where I sit, I'd say Chief Ed's remark seems to have a lesson in it... a lesson on the way that taxes come back in mighty real benefits to the people.

Take the taxes on beer, for instance—more than 2½ billion dollars, I hear, figurin' federal, state and local, in the nine years since beer's been back.

There was a time—remember—when a lot of that money went into the pockets of bootleggers and blind pigs. But today it's coming right back to the treasurer of the nation, the states and the local communities... for the benefit of everybody.

Some goes, for example, to pay for the things Uncle Sam needs to fight the war with... for tanks and ships and bombers.

Quite a lot goes for things like public health, and education, and good roads and the like.

And some of it, I surmise, has gone to support the fire company that gave Thad such good service the other night.

To moderate folks, who like a friendly glass of beer now and then, there's a sort of satisfaction in knowing that right now this beverage of moderation is furnishin' the public treasuries well over a million dollars every single day.

That's quite a lot of money—especially nowadays when Uncle Sam needs every cent he can get hold of.

W. J. (Jep) Todd Rancher, Lawyer Dies At Home

W. J. (Jep) Todd, 56, resident of the Panhandle for a half-century, first graduate of Canadian High school, and pioneer Hemphill county rancher and lawyer, died yesterday in a Canadian hospital. Death was caused by a gunshot wound. He had been moved from his home to the hospital but never regained consciousness. Mr. Todd had been in ill health for several years.

Born in historic Mobeetie October 6, 1886, he was the son of the late W. J. Todd, Sr., manager of the old Bar O ranch on Wolf creek, in Ochiltree county.

The family resided at the Bar O for six years, then moved to Canadian. Mr. Todd, Sr., was the first judge of Hemphill county. He acquired a ranch on Big Timber creek in Hemphill, and after his death, 25 years ago, Jep Todd, operated the ranch.

After receiving his diploma from the Canadian High school, Mr. Todd attended the Canadian Baptist academy, then William Jewell college, where he received his A. B. degree in 1909; attended Kansas City law school, law school at the University of Texas; took the bar examination in Amarillo with the first class to stand the test under the Court of Appeals.

That was in August, 1911, and immediately after he and Clint Small, former state senator, formed a partnership and opened an office in Wellington.

Son in Army
In the following January Mr. Todd was called home because of the illness and death of his father. From that time until his death he managed the ranch.

Mr. Todd and Miss Estelle Tucker were married at Hereford Nov. 10, 1917. They had no children but adopted a son, Dale Nix, a son of Mr. Todd's younger sister. He is now an army captain stationed in California. Only other survivors are a sister, Mrs. Mary Henson, Canadian, and a niece, Miss Georgene Henson of Amarillo.

Mr. Todd was a member of the Methodist church, a Mason, and for many years he was chairman of the Democratic party in Hemphill county. He was one of the charter members of the Panhandle Old Settlers association and was active in pioneer celebrations over the Panhandle. His herd of thoroughbred cattle was among the best in the nation.

The body lies in state at the Canadian funeral home. Funeral arrangements will be completed after word from the son in California.

Experts Don't Like Coffee Of Grounds

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Gourmets and coffee experts had a bad taste in their mouths at the mere thought of Mayor La Guardia's suggestion to mix fresh coffee with used grounds if you want coffee at every meal.

"It would make a horrible wishy-washy mess," says Richardson L. Wright, president of the Wine and Food society.

"If that satisfies the mayor, he can have it. He is a better conductor of an orchestra than he is a cook."

The National Coffee association also prefers sour notes to bitter tastes, and said that in the matter of coffee concoction "the mayor was playing strictly by ear."

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE - "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Draft Prospects: That long confused draft situation seems to be clearing up, now that we have War Secretary Stimson's estimate as to the size of the 1943 army, and now that Congress is working on authorization for the 18-19-year-old draft.

The answer cannot be conclusive. Too many war secrets are involved, and too many angles which may be changed overnight by the course of the war.

Probably, in the normal course of events, married men who are maintaining legitimate homes for dependent children will not be drafted this year or next year.

This, of course, is contrary to previous warnings, and is very "iffy."

By the end of this year the Army and Navy, including Marines and Coast Guard, will have about 10 million men in uniform.

The pool from which these will have been taken is estimated to have contained originally about 4,800,000 single men without dependents; 300,000 unmarried men with minor physical defects; 600,000 single men with secondary dependents; 2,500,000 in the 18-3-year-old group. Total 8,200,000.

These figures are based largely upon Senator Taft's estimates of the number of physical fit men in the various categories who are not in deferred occupational classifications.

Let's ignore the odd 200,000 as a margin of error, out of 8,000,000 eligibles, exclusive of married men, 2,000,000 will be in uniform by the end of this year. This leaves 2,000,000 to go toward the approximately 3,900,000 which the Army and the Navy will need next year.

There are some 1,300,000 physically fit married men without dependents. There are a few hundreds of thousands of single men in deferred draft classifications who can properly and efficiently be replaced by fathers. There will be a few hundred thousand youngsters reaching 18 next year.

These provide more than next year's requirements for the armed services—provided plans for a 7,500,000 man still stand then.

It is impossible to emphasize too much that this is not final, and that there are gaps in the available data which might throw it off. But it does offer a picture that fathers will not have to be called for some time yet, if at all.

Very Thoughtful: The Co-operative League sought to buy time at regular rates from the two major networks for a radio program to be entitled "Let's Get Together, Neighbor."

Washington's growing habit of thinking of the press court as just another job is deplorable. It tracts from the dignity and usefulness of what every lawyer used to consider a supreme honor.

The newest rumor is that Justice Douglas may become secretary of either war or navy. This follows a drafting of Justice Byrnes as economic administrator, and the temporary absence of Justice Murphy from army maneuvers, which came not long after Chief Justice Stone declined to head the rubber inquiry.

Appointment to the supreme court used to mean more than any position except the presidency. We link it still should.

The Nation's Press: Following a furious naval battle in the southern Pacific the Japanese government announces that the American fleet has suffered severe losses.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have both committed themselves to a second front. Whether they hope to establish it this year or next, in western Europe or some place else, is their secret.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill statements seemed to promise just that.

Common Ground

I speak the man-word personal. I give the man or democracy. By God I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart on the same terms.

EVIDENCE OF NOT BEING A CHRISTIAN: A contributor, who says he believes in collective bargaining and the government controlling production and distribution of wealth, says I have given him and many others an insult.

The same contributor also says he believes the desire to have things publicly owned is wholly Christian.

When a man says he has been insulted he is giving evidence, if not completely convicting himself of not being a Christian.

No man seeking the truth or living a Christian life and not merely talking or writing to be seen and heard of men, can be insulted. It is only a wolf in sheep's clothes who finds his wolfishness being exposed who becomes incensed and insulted.

But these socialists have no rules of conduct, except their own changeable conscience and will. They make a mockery out of Christianity.

It is strange how people can justify their own governmental acts and condemn other nations for doing the same thing.

We think it is terrible when Germany sets prices; we think it is all right when we set prices. We think it is terrible when Germany drafts men to work; we think it is all right when we do the same thing.

We think it is terrible when Germany discriminates against one group and condemns all people in that group whether they are loyal or not; we think it is all right when we do the same thing.

We think it is terrible when Germany has confiscatory, discriminatory taxes and gives those they tax nothing in return for the wealth Germany takes from its citizens; we think it is all right when we, in the United States, do the same thing.

We think it is terrible when the German government suppresses news and spreads large amounts of propaganda; we think it is all right when our own government does the same thing.

We think it is terrible when Germany tells people how long they dare work and what prices they must pay for their services for, but when we do the same thing here, we think we are justified.

We have come to believe that the question of right and wrong is a question of geography or a question of nations. What is right for one nation is wrong for another.

We have come to believe that there are no eternal, universal principles, rules or laws that need be obeyed in our country. They should be obeyed in other countries but need not be obeyed in our own country.

If there ever was a time when Bobbie Burns' admonition needed to be taken seriously by the American people, it is now.

"O wad some Power the giftie gie us To see ourselves as ithers see!" It wad frae monie a blunder free us, An' foolish notion.

We certainly have plenty of foolish notions, taken collectively. And the foolish notions that we have collectively, are the result of the foolish notions we have as individuals.

And all these things are happening when we have spent more money on what we call "education," than any other country in all the world.

They know how futile it would be to launch an attack in Europe before we have the men and arms to back it up. They are aware of a second front in the Pacific, the front in the Solomons.

Our means are not unlimited. Those in this country who clamor for a second front must know that we cannot fight major enemies everywhere at once.

Possibly Franklin Delano Roosevelt was weary. Maybe his pet biographer, Ernest Lindley, was tired. But in either case, the recent Lindley column in which the President's apologist took his chief to task for being careless in what he said regarding American newspapers is undoubtedly one of the most significant developments of the American scene, thus far.

Lindley even went so far as to scold the President for his denunciation of newspaper commentators, charging that F.D.R. had failed to file a bill of particulars. This is nothing new for the President. His tactics in the past regarding the press have been similar.

TOFNATCHERS: A private poll taken among eminent U. S. Army-Navy officers in the District of Columbia would shock President Roosevelt, Admiral Leahy, Admiral King and Chief of Staff Marshall—our supreme board of war directors—if they were given a glimpse of it.

With his own land punished by strafing and his people impoverished to ask for help, and unwilling to comply with the Germans' latest ultimatum. That is the reason for Herr Himmler's recent visit to the Tiber city.

GRACE: Walter Farr, the British newspaper whose credentials were withdrawn by the Army and Navy for an alleged "fake" story on the shipment of the first batch of American soldiers to Australia, will soon be reinstated.

Dairy Labor Lack May Force Use Of Milk Quotas Today's War Analysis

By PETER EDSON Pampa News Washington, Correspondent

Restriction of the civilian consumption of dairy products—milk, butter, cheese and the likes—is now being mentioned as a likely development for 1943. This is one you can talk about freely in advance of any actual shortages and without creating a scare for the simple reason that you can't hoard milk and butter—they'll spoil.

The shortage of milk products, if it comes, will be directly attributable to a shortage of dairy farm labor plus the extra heavy demand for shipments overseas.

The weatherman and the cows have all done the part nobly, this past year. The pasture has been wonderful, the supply of feed for the winter is adequate though high in price, and the cows have given like nobody's business. Only man has fallen down on the job.

The goal set by the Department of Agriculture for 1942 was 125 billion pounds of all dairy products. That goal will be missed by perhaps five billion pounds, and it is doubtful if 1942 production can be surpassed in 1943, considering the labor shortage.

NO STATISTICS: No one has any idea how many dairy herds have been broken up by this labor shortage. Statistics of that kind just aren't collected, nor are there any approximate figures on how great the dairy farm labor shortage is.

Where is all this dairy farm labor going? One thing the agricultural economists are sure of is that war industry is getting more farm labor than the Army and Navy. Draft quotas of farm boys have been heavy in some areas, but the big thing that lures labor away from the farm is the better wage scale.

Fifty dollars a week in an aircraft factory sounds a lot better than $50 a month on a dairy farm, even with board and room thrown in. Also alluring is the fact that the aircraft job is five days—40 hours a week, while the dairy job is seven days—56 to 70 hours a week.

One idea being mulled over to provide some selectees for the Army in farm areas while still keeping the farms going is to set an optional minimum of say eight cows which a farmer must milk if he is to be drafted. Farmers with more than eight cows would have their help deferred from the draft.

It might be feared that a ruling such as this would force the four-cow farmers to sell their stock and thus further reduce the production of milk, but the Selective Service people say it won't work that way. What will happen, they say, is that all the farmers with seven or less cows will immediately rustle around and find enough cows to build up their herds to the minimum so as to get deferments for their help.

Another difficulty is that there is a greater demand for dairy farm labor today than there has ever been before. There might be a shortage of dairy farm workers even if there were no draft.

Any way you run this situation through the separator, it still pours out less milk for the consumer. It will hit first as less ice cream. Naturally enough, per capita ice cream consumption has gone up 50 per cent since 1936, 100 per cent since 1932. You'll probably have to cut down on that. And in its place, to make up the shortage, you might begin getting used to dried skim milk. It's a powder, and when you pour it in the right amount of water it looks like milk, and it has all the food value of real milk except the butterfat and vitamin A.

SERIAL STORY PLAY BY PLAY BY PAUL DAVID PRESTON

HECTIC AFTERNOON
CHAPTER XXII
DECIDING TO TAKE DUANE INTO

Her confidence was the first real comfort Blythe had known in days. It was surprising, even to her, how much she had come to lean on the big Texan.

She had to go across the street to find a telephone with any privacy. It was the longest, most miserable walk she had ever taken. This course of action would cause her forever to lose the man she loved. In addition it would bring the law down on a girl who called her a friend. It was as if Blythe walked to her own imprisonment!

"But I can forgive Nancy, too!" she was saying hotly, within. "She—she needs money so much, with baby Scooter and all. . . I can tell people that I can still be a friend. At least I can try!"

She would surely strive to vindicate Nancy by explaining to the court; Nancy isn't really mean. She just couldn't be! This sort of thinking was about to bring the sobbing again, and Blythe realized that she could delay no longer. Action was inescapable now. She hurried on.

Duane couldn't be located by telephone. She became more desperate.

"Tell him to call!" she pleaded. "No, tell him to come at once! Tell him it's an emergency. I'm Blythe Miller. At the athletic field."

She tried three places and each one seemed her of help. But the time was indefinite, and now she hadn't any time to spare! Walking back toward the gymnasium rather frantically, if without definite aim, she looked at her watch again. It still said 2:15. She listened to it, holding her breath. It was stopped, and she couldn't guess the real time now! The gamblers were to slip up to Nancy's apartment exactly at 5.

She began a frantic run. Whatever should she do! Duane might not get her call until too late. Perhaps not at all. At 5:30 or so he would show up for the dinner at Nancy's.

Pop had ordered no practice today. He wanted to edge them off rigorous field work so the "lads" wouldn't be too keyed up or too physically stale. A light dawn-workout had been ordered instead, then two good meals and a movie before actual game time tomorrow.

In short, Pop knew the coaching job was mental and emotional at this stage; it was one basis of his great success as a football coach. His players would be scattered to the four winds this afternoon, just relaxing, avoiding any jitters. And Blythe couldn't wait until 5 for Duane.

"He just might come to Pop's office anyway," she said now, in wishful thinking.

It gave her a destination. Entering the hallway, she found about 20 other men there. Cadets, players, ex-players, college alumni, football fans in general. A few of them had business of some kind or other and Pop appeared to be swamped. But there was no Duane. Nancy was obviously enjoying everything, too. The note of high-jinks, the feel of good times in the air, was manna to her fun-starved soul. Blythe saw her smiling and talking and laughing at everybody. Then Nancy saw Blythe and ran to her. "Oh, Bly, isn't it all just too exciting!" she breathed in quick intimacy again. "I love it! I can never thank you enough for getting me this job."

"It . . . have you seen . . . I mean . . ." Bly was incoherent. "But I've got to scot in a little bit, honey. Half an hour at most. Pop said I could. I'm the big boss tonight, you know. And I—I guess I'm scared!"

Blythe looked quickly at her. "What do you mean?"

"I just am! Imagine me, having the two star players for dinner guests! Me! I thought about making it a party for all of us. But, honey—Pop wanted them kept kind of quiet. You know what I mean. He depends on Duane and Norman so. I want to help him all I can!"

Blythe had to bite her lip hard. If it hadn't been here in a crowd of men, she couldn't have resisted tearing into Nancy Hale. As matters went on, somebody interests them and Nancy went away.

Blythe found herself listening to Elmer Summers, the Journal sports editor, without actually hearing him. The sense of confusion in her seemed more and more to press down. Confusion, and a vague but desperate urgency now. She almost wished that she had gone to the police. Summers was asking her a direct question, and she could only stare foolishly at him. Suddenly he turned personal.

"EXCUSE me, Miss Miller," said he, "but I'm afraid you may not feel so good, hmmm? Matter of fact, you look like the devil. I mean, like you were sick or something. Pop was in bed. Maybe you—"

"Oh . . . no, thank you, I mean . . . I'm all right. I'm just a little tired, I guess. And I haven't had any lunch."

"That would make even me look pale! Come on and let me buy for you, hmmm? I'm safe, you know. . . Old married man, two kids, and too ugly to be dangerous. Let me take you over to the beanery and visit while you eat."

She smiled wanly, in gratitude. "You're awfully nice, Mr. Summers. But I couldn't eat a thing and I'm afraid I—"

"She saw that it was he who wasn't listening."

"Who are the dignitaries arriving?" He was looking out a window.

Blythe looked, too. "Oh!" she gasped.

"Say!" Summers' interest leaped. "I know those guys. Big shot!"

Blythe saw two men leaving a taxi, and—yes—one had on a derby hat and a turned-up overcoat.

She caught barely a glimpse because Summers was taller and unconsciously blocked the window, and because other men kept pressing around her in the foyer there. But two men in a taxi!

She might have thought calmly and known better. The gamblers would hardly have driven up boldly this way. But all she could envision was the two crooks coming to Nancy's apartment at 5 Crooks who would endanger the life of a man she loved. The sense of panic throbbled inside her again.

"Wonder what the score is with them?" Summers was saying. "You know who they are? That's Abe Loumann, the heavy-set one on the left, and T. J. Natwick. They practically run Hollywood. Loumann's the big director for World Features, and Natwick is reputedly the best talent scout. They don't fool around with small pickings, Miss Miller. There's something big in the wind!"

Then the command "go." The chaplain was heard to mutter something as he leaped into space. One of the jump-masters turned to the other.

"What did he say?"

The other grinned. "He said, he hopes his boss isn't mad at him today."

It's Cake By The Yard Now In N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Pound cake sells by the yard now in 150 New York stores.

Bakers say it packages easily, keeps well and slices thin. A yard, about 50 slices, sells for $1.05.

You must sell or give to the government all your idle passenger type tires. Passenger type tires owned by members of your household may be excluded in determining whether you, as a fleet operator, have idle tires.

Q. What about tubes?
A. You will not be refused gasoline because you possess idle tubes but they are urgently needed. The government will buy all useable tubes that are offered.

War And The Top O' Texas

Vital Information

Questions that motorists have asked about the idle tire purchase plan are answered in the following list of questions and answers issued today by the Office of Price Administration:

Q. Why is it necessary to sell my tires?
A. The rubber shortage is serious. Your government must have tires right now—today—to ration for essential use.

Q. What happens if I don't sell my idle tires?
A. National gasoline rationing starts November 22. If you or any member of your household, related to you by blood, marriage, or adoption, has more than five tires per passenger car after November 22, you will be denied the privileges of using gasoline in any passenger car you own.

Q. I have only four tires and a spare. Must I turn in my spare?
A. No. The government wants only your idle tires.

Q. What is an idle tire?
A. An idle tire is any new or used passenger type tire (even if it needs repairs) in excess of tires mounted on running wheels plus one spare per motor vehicle tires that are beyond repair are also idle tires, but should be sold to a scrap dealer.

Q. What will happen in the rationed area if I do not file a tire record form?
A. Your local rationing board will demand that you surrender your ration book.

Q. Does this mean that I cannot drive a car after November 22 if there are more than five tires for each passenger automobile in my household?
A. It means exactly that. By government order, it will be illegal to use gasoline in your passenger car.

Q. What will I do with my own tires wear out—put up my car?
A. No. Automobiles are essential. The purpose of this plan is not to take cars off the road—but to keep all cars on the road—your included, for essential driving.

Q. What about synthetic rubber?
A. Won't that solve the problem?
A. Not quickly enough. Unless we take steps immediately to pool and use idle tires, many cars will be off the road by 1944.

Q. I bought two tires before Pearl Harbor and put them aside for a rainy day. Do I have to give them up?
A. Sorry, but it's America's rainy day now. The limit is five tires per passenger car. But your car can keep your five best tires and sell the rest to the government.

Q. What will the tires I sell be used for?
A. Every tire will be put to work—to get farmers to markets, to get workers to their jobs, to keep every car in useful operation. If later you need tires, the government will do its best to see that you get some.

Q. Does the government want old tires?
A. Yes. The government must have all idle tires, new and used, even those needing repairs. Sell scrap tires to your scrap dealer.

Q. What about fleets of passenger cars?
A. If you own or lease three or more passenger automobiles and use them principally in the same or related occupations, you are a fleet operator. In order to get gasoline for any passenger car in the fleet,

A PERSONAL MESSAGE to the PRESIDENT or GENERAL MANAGER of every PLANT in this AREA

More than likely you're doing something about the scrap in your plant. Perhaps you've appointed a Salvage Committee or Salvage Manager. But no matter how much you've done, the job is not finished!

It won't be finished until you, personally, have gone through your entire plant and said what is to be turned in.

You are the only one who can do this-- who has the necessary authority. Go around with a piece of chalk--mark everything that is to go. Question the need for every idle piece of metal or equipment.

This is the rule to follow:

If it hasn't been used for six months, and you are certain it won't be for the next six--sell it or scrap it!

If it's equipment or machinery, get in touch with the manufacturer to see whether someone else can use it. If not--sell it to your scrap dealer.

Don't consider the job done until you, yourself, have gotten every ounce of scrap metal out of your plant and into the fight!

Let's tell Donald Nelson and the WPB that you're in this all the way!

Fill out one of these coupons and send it to him direct. Send the other one to us. We're going to publish a list of the patriotic firms which are getting behind this industrial scrap metal drive, when they tell us the tonnage they turn in after this date!
