INVESTIGATORS PROBE CRASH; 43 DIE

MT. CARMEL, Pa.—(AP)—Charred pieces scattered over a coal-blackened hillside were the only visible remains today of a huge airliner that carried 43 persons to fiery death.

Investigators scratched through the wreckage of the United Airlines DC-6 that plunged earthward yesterday afternoon in an attempted emergency landing. One of its motors had caught fire.

In New York City the airline said it "had not the slightest inkling" as to the cause of the crash.

Victims included famed Hollywood Broadway theatrical producer, Earl Carroll; Mrs. Jack Oakie, divorced wife of the motion picture actor; actress Beryl Wallace, star of Carroll's theater restaurant show, and Henry L. Jackson, men's fashion editor of Collier's Magazine.

None of the victims were Texas residents.

Witnesses said the giant craft, manned by a crew of four for its 12-hour flight from San Diego, Calif., to New York, apparently tried to pancake safely on a black hill of coal dust and water near this Eastern Pennsylvania anthracite town.

The craft limped at half-speed into a valley dotted with anthracite collieries. Capt. George Warner, Jr., of Westmont, Ill., guided his ship four miles between two hills. He was scarcely 30 feet above ground.

Stunned miners saw the nose of the plane veer upward, too late. It shattered against a 60,000-volt power line and exploded. Bodies, baggage and plane parts were strewn everywhere.

"The whole scene was like a living hell," said eyewitness Harry Stibitz. "Flames and smoke flew about 90 feet in the air."

The tragedy was the fourth worst plane crash in domestic airline history. The three others were last year—53 died at Port

Deposit, Md.; 82 at Bryce Canyon, Utah, and 50 in Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains.

Two infants were among the 39 passengers and four crew members killed yesterday.

The accident scene was roped off and coal miners from a colliery that rarely missed being hit by the plummeting plane helped searchers comb the area for body fragments.

"It is as bad a mess as I have ever seen," said Joseph O. Fluett, chief of region one of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Fluett arrived from New York a few hours after the disaster to head the CAB's investigators.

He was joined by experts from the United Airlines Douglas Aircraft Co., manufacturers of the big plane and the Airline Pilots Association.

Representatives of the airlines and State Police spent most of last night going through the belongings of the passengers and crew. They found, among other things, a wallet containing Carroll's name and $1,024 cash. And they also found a baby's purse with a penny inside.

All of the bodies were taken to the Joseph Stutz Funeral Home in Centralia, Pa. United said it would fly special planes for relatives to identify the bodies.

Draft Action Is Delayed Till Feb. 1

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House today passed a delayed-action draft bill which would not draft anyone before next Feb. 1.

The roll call vote on final passage was 283 to 130. The amendment-loaded measure now goes to the Senate. There it faces a possible filibuster that may kill it unless Congress returns after the political conventions.

The Senate passed a different bill last week. It provided for an immediate draft for two years of service.

The House bill calls for one year of service, with nobody to be inducted before next Feb. 1. Then they would be drafted only by order of the President. Induction ages in both bills are 19 through 25.

The threat of a Senate filibuster—talking the bill to death—came from Senator Glen Taylor (D-Idaho), who is a running mate with Henry A. Wallace on a third party ticket.

Wherry's threat brought a quick promise from Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to bring Congress back this summer to hammer out some sort of a draft law.

Before voting to pass the bill, the House beat down a motion by Rep. Philip (D-Mass) to send the measure back to its Armed Services Committee. This move, which would have killed the bill, was defeated 283 to 125 on a roll call vote.

The measure goes to the Senate for concurrence in House amendments. If the Senate refuses to agree, then the bill will go to a Conference Committee to compromise differences.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.), acting majority leader, expressed confidence the Senate can "break any one-man filibuster on the draft" and go through with plans to adjourn Saturday night.

Wherry said House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) shares his view that Congress can act tomorrow night.

"I talked with Glen Taylor and he plans to talk at length," Wherry said. "But I don't know anyone else who will do that and if there is a filibuster we'll simply have to stand on both sides and have to stay in session and break it."

The Capitol—punctuated by a warning from Secretary of State Marshall that war might follow a retreat from this country's "present line" of security actions—set the stage for today's climactic roll call.

The House bill already was staggering under the weight of 26 amendments.

Briefly, the House bill would do this:

Morris Opposes Tax Rise to Improve Roads

Texas can improve its farm and school bus roads, and give school teachers better salaries without raising property or natural resource taxes, Carl B. Morris, Clarendon law student and state legislative candidate, declared yesterday.

Morris, who advocates a closer relationship between farm and school bus roads and the educational system, declared there is now a surplus of approximately $60,000,000 in the state treasury that has not been allocated for any purpose and is expected to reach the 90 million mark by the time the 51st Legislature convenes in Austin. These funds could be readily put to use in improving the roads, providing better schools and more teachers besides giving them an increase in salary, he said.

Married teachers, especially in the lower salary brackets, find it almost impossible to live on $2,000 a year under the present cost of living, he added.

Morris reported that he had made a complete tour, with other legislative candidates, of the Texas Prison System and had a conference with O. B. Ellis, the system's new manager. He asserted he was in full accord with Ellis' program for improving the system.

He advocated a larger state participation in soil conservation to aid those farmers who cannot fully or partially construct storage tanks, lakes and other erosion prevention methods. "Soil conservation is the concern of all Texans," Morris said, "since it is known that our natural resources can play out, but our soil we have never had it cared for properly." This, he added, would help the program along.

The Austin aspirant said the state has obtained its present surplus solely through oil and gas production. The increased production which accordingly increases the revenue on a percentage basis.

Morris, seeking the 122nd District's legislative chair, was the second candidate to come out for the office. He is opposed only by Grainger McIlhenny, Wheeler attorney and business man, the other contender for the Austin post.

Incent D. Kersey, third to enter the ring, dropped out of the race Saturday.

Division of Government Set for Korea

By JAMES D. WHITE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A deadly process is underway in Korea.

As in Germany, the prospect is for two separate governments in one homogenous area so strategic that big powers cannot ignore what becomes of it.

Russia encourages the Northern Korean government, and in the South the United States and the United Nations back the government recently formed in Seoul. Both regimes claim authority to rule all Korea.

If this situation seems to reflect the stability of the Russo-American deadlock causing it, that is not necessarily true of the Koreans themselves, who could upset it at any time.

The chances for such an upset will be increased if occupation forces withdraw before the possible causes of internal Korean conflict are removed.

Russia already has withdrawn part of her troops and is more or less dithering the United States to withdraw too.

Meanwhile the prospect for trouble among the Koreans is growing rather than diminishing. This is shown by the way Dr. Syngman Rhee, the conservative president of the Southern Korean government, openly favors American troops staying around a while in spite of the known unpopularity of any occupation troops in Korea.

Despite the majority victory which Dr. Rhee and his right-wing political groups won in the recent election in the South, there is still widespread opposition to him there, much of it underground. This movement contains Communist, moderate, and even some rival right-wing elements.

Many of these diverse elements are known to feel that a Russo-American war is inevitable and that the sooner it takes place the better for Korea.

There was much violence during the recent election, but since that time the opposition has been holding its fire for an interesting reason.

This is the assumption that American policy toward Korea is bound to change after the presidential election this coming November.

These Koreans apparently figure that whoever wins the election here will receive and carry out a mandate to solve the Korean problem.

This may be a completely unwarranted assumption. It overlooks the fact that America's policy in Korea is only part of a general policy of holding the line against Russian Communist expansion, and that this is largely the result of Russia's refusal to cooperate on any terms but her own—in Korea and many other places.

It ignores the fact that this American policy is a bipartisan affair, and that no matter who wins the election it is unlikely to change fundamentally unless or until the main reason for it changes. That reason is Russia, not Korea.

DIVORCE GRANTED
District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich this morning in 31st District Court granted a divorce to Bessie Claxton Estes from R. H. Estes. The plaintiff alleged cruelties and stated they were married in December, 1936, and separated in May, 1948.

The court also granted one adoption.

Faces Very Red In Taft Camp

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—There was a red face or two at Senator Robert A. Taft's headquarters today over an intended convention gesture.

The senator's staff ordered 10,000 copies of "This Week in Philadelphia"—a magazine providing information on restaurants, theaters and other spots around town—for distribution to delegates and visitors.

The front cover picture, however, turned out to be that of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Services for G. Applebay Set Tomorrow

Funeral services for George W. Applebay, 56, who was killed in an oil well accident at 1:30 p. m. yesterday, will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Clyde Smith officiating.

Applebay, who was employed by the Magnolia Oil Company as a clean-out driller, was killed by a pulley wheel atop a rig he was working on split under strain and fell on him. He died almost instantly. He was working on Well Number 2 on the John-Haggard Lease southwest of town.

He was born June 28, 1888, in Sistersville, W. Va. He had been employed by the Magnolia company for 29 years, and came to Pampa 22 years ago from El Paso, Tex.

He is survived by his wife, Jewell, 504 N. Gray; by daughter, Joan, who graduated this year from Pampa High School; and by a brother, Howard J. Applebay, Columbus, Ohio.

The Pampa posts of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold joint military services at the graveside.

Applebay was a veteran of World War I and who served a year overseas in France, has been a member of the local VFW post since it was first organized.

Palbearers will be Vernon Moore, Grammar Harrell, Howard Buckingham, Herman Hankins, Mickey Duvivier, John Kelleys, Bob Candler, and E. L. Yeargin. All Magnolia employees will be honorary palbearers.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Dueneke-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Manly Family Says 'Thanks'

There was an overwhelming response of community generosity a few days ago when a 7-year-old boy of the C. E. Manly family was burned to death by gasoline. It was learned today churches, women of the town, and ministers collected money and clothing for the family.

Two men, it was said, gave the family $150, one woman made up among her neighbors a total of $150. The family resides at 1000 S. Dwight. The son was John Hardy Manly.

The family today said "Thanks" sincerely to all those who helped, including the Clegg Funeral Home.

SOVIET PEACE OFFENSIVE PICKING UP IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Soviet peace offensive appears to be breaking out all over Eastern Europe.

American officials are still skeptical that the Russians and their allied Communist governments intend to make any major concessions on outstanding problems, but there is deep interest here in a whole series of current developments.

One of these—hitherto undisclosed—is an offer by Yugoslavia to settle claims by the United States against the Yugoslav government. Others include: 1. Bulgaria's willingness to enter negotiations with the American-supported Greek government on ways to reopen normal diplomatic relations. These talks are going on in Washington.

2. Russia's acceptance of an American proposal for a ten-nation conference looking to free navigation on the Danube.

3. Big cuts made by the Soviet government in reparations claims against Finland, Romania and Hungary.

One theory here held by some highly placed diplomats is that the Soviets and their Communist associates want to build the best possible record of pro-peace activity ahead of the fall meeting of the United Nations General Assembly in Paris.

Another parallel idea also widely accepted is that they are trying to regain some of their lost prestige by claiming leadership toward world peace while seeking to identify the United States and cooperating Western governments as "warmongering" nations.

The informal conferences were described by both Taft and Stassen as being fenced in with conditions that easily might make any agreement impossible.

As outlined to a reporter, these were:

1. Stassen will not join any combination until the possibility of his own presidential nomination has been explored thoroughly in early balloting.

2. The Minnesota's first choice is to switch to Senator Arthur Vandenberg if the Michigan lawmaker still figures materially in voting at any time Stassen might decide he has lost his own chance for the nomination.

3. The timing must be such that it not only would head off any possible handwagon movement toward Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York but also would squeeze out potential darkhorses such as House Speaker Joseph Martin.

Stassen said flatly months ago that he would not play second fiddle to Dewey. He and Taft traded blows publicly in the Ohio primary, but that break is reported on the way toward being healed.

Vandenberg's place remained the most uncertain in any equation of this kind, bringing Stassen and Taft together.

Gov. Dewey Claims Added Support From Delegates

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Herbert Brownell, manager for Governor Thomas E. Dewey, claimed today the New York Governor had picked up 25 additional delegates since yesterday for the Republican presidential nomination.

"This makes us more confident that we will have more votes on the first ballot than any other candidate," Brownell told a news conference.

The Dewey manager said the overnight gains came from three states which he would not name. He declined to say how many votes Dewey is expected to poll on the initial roll call.

"If you pick up 25 delegates a day, you're in pretty good shape," a reporter remarked.

"We are in pretty good shape," Brownell replied.

Meanwhile pre-convention conferences between supporters of Senator Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen brought forth reports of a possible deal.

Aides of Taft and Stassen were held in meetings secretly in an effort to work out an agreement by which the former Minnesota governor might consent to help the Ohioan's bid for top spot on the GOP ticket to be picked here next week.

Those who sat in said these meetings had no official sanction from the candidates themselves, who were reported prepared to deny that they are engaged in such maneuvers.

Deadline for Filing Near

There were still several publicly announced county and precinct candidates today who have yet to officially file for a place on the ballot with the County Democratic Executive Committee.

Most of those who hadn't filed with the committee secretary, Dee Dodson, when he revealed that more had announced than actually filed, had done so within the past 72 hours.

Less than 48 hours now remain for those seeking public office to file their intentions with the executive committee.

Dodson this morning said he expected to be in his office until 5 p. m. Saturday, but would take applications until midnight at his home. Midnight Saturday is the deadline for filing of candidacy in all county and precinct offices.

Monday the County Executive Committee will meet in Dodson's office to assign the filing for each office. The meeting will be held at 2 p. m.

Drifters Shown Way Out of Town

Two drifters, one white the other Negro, were escorted yesterday by automobile to a convenient spot where they could send their onward across the county and eventually, the state line.

The white, James Scott, with no specific address, was apprehended Saturday night by city police. He was charged with making improper advances on a small girl. He was transferred to the County Jail and held until yesterday when sheriff's deputies were able to invite him out of the city and county.

The Negro, also a transient, was taken to a bus at McLean after he had become temporarily delirious. Authorities here kept him in the County Jail until he showed signs of recovery sufficient to pass by a bus to Oklahoma.

Deputy Sheriff Neil Gilson escorted the two out of town.

That C. F. Benefield, former theater manager here, is seriously ill in Room 621, Good Samaritan Hospital, Los Angeles, said that his many friends here might like to know that he has undergone or is to undergo a back operation. The information came from a California resident-friend, dated June 16.

Mercury Hits 103 Degrees

The record temperature for Pampa for this year was reached yesterday when the mercury climbed to the 103-degree mark at 4 p. m., the Weather Bureau reported today.

According to the daily Associated Press report, the Weather Bureau quickly squelched any rumors of cooler weather coming to the state. It will be "not quite so hot" in the extreme northern portion of the state, but temperatures were predicted only in the lower, instead of the upper, 90s.

Presidio again took the dubious honor of being the hottest spot yesterday with its 110 degree maximum. The lowest maximums were 92 at Galveston and Beaumont.

No rain was reported in the state in the past 24 hours.

Portrait of a Father

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Like many men whose fathers have died, I'd like to tell mine something on Father's Day.

Just what I don't know—unless it is how much he meant to me when I was growing up, and how often I have missed him since he's gone. Not to lean on any more, just to talk things over with. Or maybe take to a ball game.

My father was always a big and kind-hearted young man. He acted toward his five children more like an older brother than a parent. Until we were fully grown he could knock a baseball farther than any of his sons and outrun and outlast us.

He was the son of an Irish immigrant who had 17 children and spent his life in the coal business—digging it. Dad ran a trapline as a boy of ten, and earned his way ever after. He grew up to be like the animals he hunted in the wintry snow—self-reliant and tremendously loyal to his kind and kind.

Dad hated to exercise authority over his sons, or to punish us for minor misdeeds. He thought boys should get a few bumps in the process of learning to pit their strength against life, and he didn't think it paid to interfere or prod them too much. He had a strong man's impatience of cowardice in any form, and I would rather have died than cry in his presence.

Dad believed in God, the Democratic Party and "boom times." He rarely saw the inside of a church but every night until his death he knelt by his bed and said the prayer he had learned in childhood. One prayer lasted him all his life.

Dad ran a number of grocery stores. He made considerable money, gave away some, lost the rest, made some more, lost it, gave away that, and was back trying to make more when his last illness came. Neither misfortune or fortune ever soured him.

"All I want is the same chance Rockefeller had," he said. He figured if he didn't do as well then he didn't deserve to.

He hated gossip as a mortal sin. Once a customer complained about his own wife in the store in the presence of a number of men, and after that my father no longer would wait on him.

He was the youngest hearted man I ever knew. His only vanity was a desire to stay young; after he was 40 he went to the barber every week and had his hair clipped short at the temples so the gray wouldn't show.

We still keep his name listed in the Kansas City phone book. Death is something the living never quite accept. This when I call home long-distance to my mother, I sometimes have the unreasoning feeling, even after the lapse of these years, that I'll hear my father's familiar voice answering: "Yes, son?" "He'll always live in more than a phone book."

American Way Of Thinking Is Discussed

George S. (Pinky) Vineyard was the after-dinner speaker at Lions Club yesterday. In his speech, he criticized people who always find fault with the capitalistic economy.

"I'm afraid not enough of us rise up and defend our capitalistic form," Vineyard said.

After asking a series of questions as to how long the democratic form of government will stand government pressure, Vineyard pointed out errors in the average American's way of thinking.

Paul Brown, announcing there are now 67 entries in the local Soap Box Derby, urged sponsors to encourage their boys in building their cars.

Lion Clarence Kennedy, president, said Berger Lions are holding their installation Wednesday night. McLean Lions are holding their night meeting a week from tonight. Pampa Lions who are free to attend these meetings may do so, Kennedy said.

13th Scout Law Definitely Proven at Camp Ki-O-Wah

By JIM McCLUSKEY
"A Scout is Honorable," the 13th Scout Law, was definitely proven at Camp Ki-O-Wah.

Last Tuesday at the camp the boys consumed their regular breakfasts of fruit juice, cold cereal, and a pint of milk when their cook, M. J. Schofield, principal and head coach of Roby schools, sent out 10 pancakes.

Now after a regular breakfast one would assume that most of the cakes went untouched. However, only 6 out of the 500 were not eaten.

"Those boys sure can eat," Schofield said, before going on to disclose their food habits.

Last week we averaged 75 loaves of bread daily, 55 pounds of beef each meal and 60 gallons of colicade or ice tea each meal, the camp cook said.

It is not unusual to see 25 pounds of dried Pinto red beans during a meal. Beans are generally served once a week.

Oilers Slide to Second as Dukes Win

Thrusting aside a ninth inning rally, the Albuquerque Dukes made a clean sweep of their three-game series with the Oilers last night in Oiler Park when they pushed across five runs in the second inning to win, 9-7, and above the Oilers into second place in the W-T-N-M League.

At the time of the Oiler defeat, the Amarillo Gold Sox were splitting a doubleheader with the Lubbock Hubbers, and in doing so were advancing 1-2 game on the Oilers. The Oilers had led the W-T-N-M pack for several weeks while new additions to the Gold Sox have strengthened their aggregation until they have now driven from a low fifth to the top position.

The Oilers started last night's contest with a three-run first inning on two doubles, a single and a walk. Manager Grover Setz initiated quite a change in the Oiler lineup, shifting Ben Bartholomew into the lead-off spot and dropping R. C. Otey to third in the hitting order. Bartholomew started the inning by slicing a double to center and, after Harriman popped up to Shortstop Frank Okrie, Otey connected for another double to center, scoring Bartholomew. Singles by Jack Riley and Tony Hange scored Otey, and Fortin was issued a walk to load the bases. Samek then grounded to short, forcing Fortin, as Hange came home. B-ford forced Samek to second to end the inning.

Not to be outdone, the Dukes showed across five runs in their portion of the second frame after Firstbaseman Ron Bowen had started the uprising by connecting for a home run with the sacks empty. After this circuit swing, the Dukes ran wild. They touched Foster White for two doubles and three singles in the remainder of the inning before the eighthander whiffed B-ford on his second appearance in this frame.

In the second frame, Leonard Pill walked for the Dukes and was brought home by Manager Herschel Martin's hard-hit double down the first base line. Both teams were then blanked until the sixth inning.

As the top of the sixth swung into progress, four more Duke hits brought home two more tallies, with the inning being stop-part of Jack Riley, Earl Harriman and R. C. Otey. Bowen laid another line drive down the third base line which was far out of Jack Riley's reach. Riley quickly fielded the ball, and as Bowen came steaming into second, Riley pedaled by a spectacular play on the rifle ball to Harriman on a fired peg, and Harriman in turn relayed the ball to Otey for the out.

In the bottom of this inning Fortin singled, and George Payne, pinchhitting for White, popped a hit over second base to score Fortin over second.

A desperate ninth-inning rally accounted for three Oiler runs when Bartholomew singled, Harriman walked, Otey was hit by a pitched ball, and Riley was issued a walk to force in a run. Range then batted into a double play as Harriman scored and Fortin, who had promptly bobbled and allowed Otey to score and Fortin to reach first. Belford then struck out on three called strikes that were hotly protested by the crowd. Manager Setz and Jack Riley were both banished from the park in the fifth inning when they protested a called strike on Riley. The crowd, as well as both teams, seemed to be very dissatisfied with some of the calls made by Umpire Brockwell, behind the plate, and the previous night, Duke Manager Martin was given the "heave ho" from Brockwell.

Foster White was charged with his fourth loss of the season while lefty Virgil Butler received credit for the win. The Oil ran collected 11 hits while the Dukes managed 16 off White and Relief-r Charlie Kunkle.

The Oilers open a three-game series with the ranspang Albuquerque Blue Sox tonight at 8:30 in Oiler Park. Howard Bass will probably receive the starting nod against the team who has run up an impressive string of victories in the last 20 games and are rated as top contenders for the 1948 pennant.

Walcott One of Two Fighters Not Knocked Down by Champ

By FRANK ECK
NEW YORK (AP)—There is one thing to remember if you like Joe Walcott's chances of dethroning heavyweight champion Joe Louis. Jersey Joe has never been knocked down by the champion.

This is one of the many reasons why the writer is picking Walcott to knock out the man who has defended his title 24 times.

Walcott wasn't supposed to have a chance against Louis when they met in Madison Square Garden last December. Yet he knocked the champion down twice and lost a split decision the referee voted for Walcott in a bout that was head and long.

Walcott is one of the two fighters never knocked down or technically knocked out by Louis since the Detroit Negro became champion. The other fighter holding this distinction is England's Tommy Farr. However, Farr in going 15 rounds in Louis' first title defense in the Polo Grounds, in 1937, absorbed a lot of punishment.

If Louis wins in his 25th title defense, it spoils the story, as the boys along Jacobs Beach are saying.

Jacobs Beach is a patch of street somewhere around Broadway and 50th street. It's where fights are fought even days before the contestants climb into the ring.

In this case, Walcott is like Cinderella. Or better still, like Jimmy Braddock, the Jersey dock wallop who earned the right to fight to lift the title from Jewish Max Baer and lose it a year later to Louis.

Walcott never had much other than a large family of six healthy children. He retired several times. He had trouble getting bouts even preliminaries. A "spoiler" is what he was known as along Jacobs Beach.

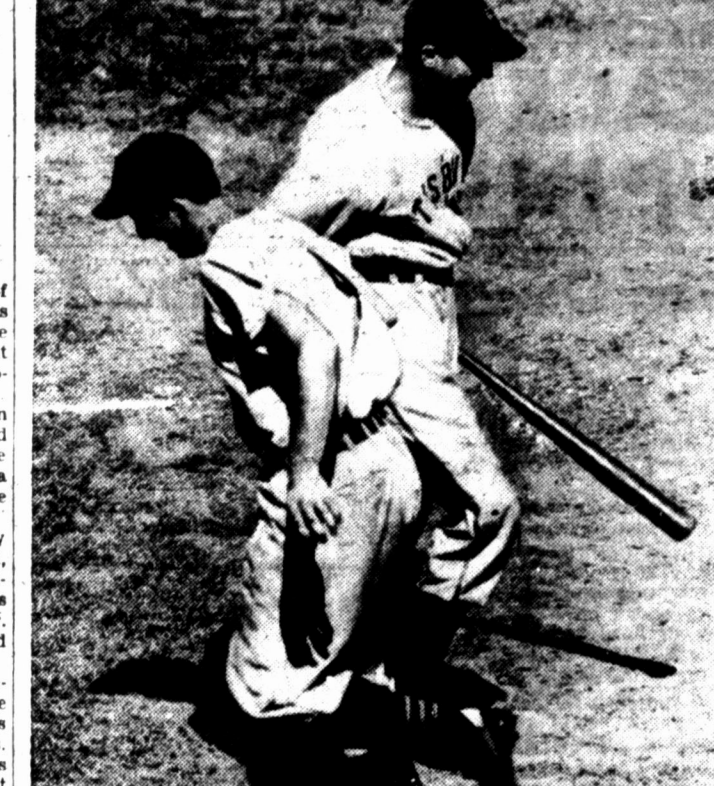

His style was hard to overcome and he often made his opponents look bad. He made Louis look exceptionally bad last winter, as bad in fact that Louis was disgusted with his showing and uttered an alibi for the first time in his great career.

"He run away," Louis said in his dressing room after the fight. "If Walcott ran away in the true sense of the word who was that guy who dropped Louis twice? Who was the guy who closed Louis left eye? Of course, it wasn't the referee. It was Walcott who inflicted all that damage, the same guy who had the champ's mouth bleeding and his lips split like an inflated rubber inner tube with a weak spot.

Louis appeared to have gone back so far in the last fight that even at the time the boys in press row muttered: "The champ's ready to be taken by anybody."

Walcott has been mentioned as a third-rater. It might be better said that his record is third-rate. Walcott himself is a ring cutie. He has a good left jab and knows how to use it. This was the same kind of jab Billy Conn was going to use to win the title. But

Final Series Held in Mat Eliminations

The final match in a series of wrestling elimination tournaments to pick the contender for the Southwestern Junior Heavyweight championship will be staged tonight at the Auditorium.

The winner of tonight's main event between George Curtis and Gill Knutson will meet Wayne Martin, present champion, in a title match next Friday at the local arena.

The title match was originally set for last Friday, but Martin, a Tulsa police officer, was injured in Tulsa a few evenings before and was unable to appear. The eliminations were extended two weeks.

Knutson, who had met and defeated all comers, was in the contender's spot when the contests were continued two more weeks. Since he had defeated all previous front-stands, and was ready to meet Martin, he could have refused to fight further. Instead, he agreed to let Curtis and Frankie Murdock come into the eliminations.

He was given the decision over Murdock last week, and he and Curtis, the other winner last Friday, meet tonight.

Curtis, a flashy and clean young wrestler from Vicksburg, Miss., won over Amarillo's Olan Boynton, who is just developing a reputation as rough and rowdy matman. Blood was flowing toward the end of the match after their heads came together in a vicious crack. One of Boynton's teeth pierced his upper lip and inflicted a small gash on Curtis' forehead.

Curtis won the complete approval of the crowd with his clean tactics. He took Boynton's punishment as long as he could before he struck back.

In the semi-final, Sammy Kohen, New York City, will meet Frankie Murdock, Waxahatchie, Tex. Kohen, another villain of the ring, has appeared here twice before, and was removed from the eliminations by Knutson.

Murdock, who operates a bowling alley in South Texas when he isn't busy wrestling, has developed a particularly effective sleep hold which he calls his "cobra" hold. As he demonstrated on Lefty Cox, a volunteer from the audience last week, this hold really puts its victims to sleep. They usually snap out of it in a half-minute or so, however.

News and Elf Split Twin Bill In Industrial Softball League

The Pampa News and Texas Elf Industrial Softball teams split a doubleheader last night at Phillips with the same two pitchers receiving credit for one win and one loss in the same night.

Jimmy King of The News and Marvin Gray for Texas Elf both got credit for one win and one loss with King being charged with the first loss, 17-8, and Johnson losing the second, 11-10.

Although two other hurlers saw action on The News team, Gray went the complete route for the Elf, with Roy King and Ronnie Maxwell each doing stints on the mound in relief of Starter Jimmy King.

In the first game, Texas Elf jumped to an early 17-0 lead and an eight run News rally in the final three innings failed to sufficiently close the gap. King started on the mound, but after six runs had crossed home in the first frame he rendered his position to Maxwell who finished the game.

A home run by Billy Bird in the second inning proved to be the winning margin for The News in the second game as the losers of the first game pushed aside late inning rallies and took the nightcap.

Bird also got a circuit swing in the first game.

NO NOT GROVER — Lou Boudreau speaks up for his high-flying Cleveland Indians and in no uncertain tone. The disagreement between Boudreau and Empire Art Paparella came up on the same subject of last night's rebuff between Oiler Manager Grover Setz and W-T-N-M League Umpire Brockwell. The dispute occurred when both managers disagreed with a called strike.

As national capitals, Ottawa and Washington have a lot in common geographically; each has its chief governmental buildings on a hill-top and each has a river and two tributaries.

Ohio is known as the Buckeye State.

Voiselle Wins Two For Boston Braves

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
The magic touch of Billy Southworth is working wonders on still another ball player, Pitcher Bill Voiselle.

The once disgruntled curve baller of the New York Giants has turned into the Boston Braves' biggest winner under the patient guidance of Boston Billy.

Last year Voiselle had won one and lost four when the Giants swapped him and cash for Fitcher Mort Cooper. He righted himself almost at once and won eight while losing seven for the Braves. This season he's won seven and lost three.

Two of those victories came yesterday against the Chicago Cubs. Voiselle came to the relief of Warren Spahn in the second inning of the first game of a twin bill. The Braves trailed, 5-0, but went on to win, 7-6. Then in the nightcap he was called upon in the ninth with the score tied, 7-7. He put out the side, then retired for pinch hitter Bill Salkeled. Salkeled drew a base on balls from Jess Dobernick with the bases loaded and forced in the winning run.

The pair of triumphs gave Boston undisputed possession of first place in the National League.

The Pirates took the measure of the New York Giants, 9 to 8, despite four New York home runs. Stan Musial feasted on Philadelphia pitching for the second straight game as the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Phillies, 4 to 1. Musial had a triple and two singles in three times at bat.

Cincinnati beat Brooklyn, 5 to 3, in the other National League game.

Cleveland's front-running Indians suffered their fourth straight loss, this time to Boston, 8 to 6. The Indians stayed in the game until the sixth, when Dom DiMaggio put the Red Sox ahead to stay with a home run. Ken Keltner hit his 16th home run for Cleve-

Hold That Man With Love Letters

By BOB SUITS

ST. LOUIS Write your spouse a love letter for a happier married life.

The Rev. Edward Dowling says it can be a guard against the temporary divorce, city living breeds between husband and wife. The break occurs each day when the husband turns to his business, the wife to her children.

Father Dowling expresses this idea in an article in the current issue of Action Now, a national Catholic publication of which he is associate editor.

He has held more than a hundred conferences for married couples. About 4 percent of them practice letter writing.

From wives who say their love letter technique has brought results, Father Dowling relays these rules:

Write when you are alert—usually early in the morning.

Write with a prayer in your heart, offering it as an act to further God's work in your married vocation.

For the first few times, write a preliminary letter you know you will not use. You will feel free to put your real thoughts down. Then write your letter, choosing what you wish from the first one.

Give the letter to your husband as he leaves for work.

look at the dummy. Isn't there a way to set the dummy up? There are only three outstanding trumps, and they can be picked up with dummy's trumps. So let's set up the club suit and pick up the trumps at the same time.

Play the deuce of clubs from dummy on the first trick and trump it in the South hand with the queen of spades. Lead the three of spades, win the dummy with the jack and will pick up West's last trump. Now lead a small heart from dummy to the king, lead back the queen of hearts, overtake it with the ace, and all of dummy's tricks are good.

Bible Story Illustrates Today's Problem

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
An experience some time ago in Providence, R. I., revealed to me how interesting the Bible can be, even for those who are unfamiliar with it.

I had preached in the morning in the famous "Round Top" Church, a landmark in downtown Providence.

I was spending a pleasant Sunday afternoon in the University Club library. Over in a far corner of the large room were two young men, and one of them was reading to the other what I recognized as the Book of Esther, in the Authorized Version of the Bible.

As the one read the tense story, the other one would break in with, "Isn't it great?" I wondered why two red-blooded young men, on a bright Sunday afternoon, were indoors and so much interested suddenly in the Bible.

The explanation came as one of them said, "I bought a boat yesterday, called the Vashti, and we were looking up the book where the name came from."

The incident reveals the rich quality of that story in the Bible, called the Book of Esther. To get the full effect of the literary and spiritual quality, and the striking contrasts, the Book must be read as a whole.

The story is eastern and ancient in its setting and in some of its details, but very understandable and modern in the light—or one should say the darkness—of the persecution and destruction of Jewish people in our own time.

Back in the days of King Ahasuerus, a Hitler-like courtier named Haman sought to destroy the Jews by assuring the king that there were in his realm people who were disloyal. He did not name them, but the king gave him blanket authority to destroy the supposedly disloyal elements.

Here is where Esther comes in. Queen Vashti had displeased the king by disobeying his demand to display her beauty before his companions. Esther was then chosen from many maidens to become the king's favorite.

Her own father and mother were dead, and she had been adopted by an uncle who adored her that she must not admit she was a Jewess or related to him. It was an act of great self-abnegation on his part. But now he appealed to Esther to save her people.

But Esther could gain access to the king only at the risk of her life. For his own protection the king had decreed that anyone found in the inner court without being called should be put to death. Esther took the risk, and the king saved her and her people, and Haman was hanged.

It's all there in the book. Haman is dead, and Hitler is dead. But the spirit of racial prejudice and hatred lives on, even in our own land. What have Christians to say, and do, about it?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 20.

The Golden Text is: "Though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him" (1 Corinthians 8:5, 6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord, thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel; I am the Lord thy God which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou shouldest go" (Isaiah 48:17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God expresses in man the infinite idea forever developing itself, broadening and rising higher and higher from a boundless basis" (page 258).

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH

Divine worship this Sunday at Zion Lutheran Church at 11 a.m., with Sunday School and Adult Bible Class at 10. Theme of the sermon will be "Four Seeming Contradictions" and it will be based upon the text Matthew 5:1-4.

The Sunday School lesson to be taught this Sunday is "Peter's Deliverance From Prison," while the Adult Bible Class will continue discussion of the topic, "How the Bible Came Down to us."

TURN MATTRESSES

Turning a mattress every week not only assures longer wear, but also greater comfort and sleeping benefits as the wear is distributed by turning from side to side one week and end to end the next. When turning an innerpring mattress, however, care should be taken that it is not bent as this may damage the inner construction.

 WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Two New York psychiatrists have come right out and charged that one big reason why childless marriages are increasing is because Americans are "obsessed with cleanliness and want to be protected from the smells and dirt that are part of normal healthy childhood."

They are right, of course. But the great pity isn't that an increasing number of such fastidious people aren't having any children at all. The real pity is that so many of them have a child or two and keep right on trying to protect themselves from all the dirt and untidiness that is part of normal, healthy childhood.

Then it is the child who is unhappy. Mama never relaxes. She is too busy fighting dirt. She always has her child in clean clothes and is always cautioning him, "Now don't get dirty."

She tries to keep her home looking exactly as it would if she didn't have a child. She can do it, too, if she nags at the child enough. If she makes him play out of doors most of the time and won't let him bring his playmates in the house, and if she never shares an event with her child.

It's regrettable that a woman can be so obsessed with cleanliness that she chooses not to have any children. But it's downright tragic when a woman who is obsessed with cleanliness has a child and tries to fit him into the picture.

IRONING SHORTCUT

The handyman in your home can smooth ironing day chores by building an oversize ironing board of plywood or wallboard to fit the over-size board when pressing large pieces such as linens, trap-eries, men's shirts and the like, which usually require considerable handling. Experiments indicate the board should measure 42 by 20 inches, tapered at one end, for best results. Wood cleats with turn-down buttons which may be turned to hold it securely are fastened on the underside to fit it to the standard board.

Twelve labor leaders could bring this nation to a standstill "in just half an hour," said Cecil B. DeMille...

In testifying before the committee, the witness said: "I have seen the danger to the right to work from employers, but the unions have now broken that...

Mr. DeMille urged the committee to consider a law declaring a "fundamental right to work," and stated a Constitutional amendment might be necessary to guarantee it...

"A federal right-to-work law backed up by stiff criminal penalties and substantial civil damages would go far to clarify the just limits of the right to strike and discourage use of goon tactics on American citizens who want to exercise their right to work..."

King-Size Figures

"The United States economy cannot be air-lifted or truck-borne," says the San Francisco Chronicle editorial. "If it is to move it must move by rail or not at all..."

Back of that statement lie what the Chronicle terms "king-size figures." This country has 227,000 miles of railroad, 29 percent of the world's mileage. It has 1,750,000 freight cars, which transported 654,000,000,000 tons-mile of freight last year...

The Americans, a brazen, impetuous lot, rushed the fad of reading to a reckless extreme. Now all above the age of five can, in a matter of a few minutes, read a newspaper. Since then, Mr. DeMille has not been allowed to work on the air for any employer. In testifying before the committee, the witness said: "I have seen the danger to the right to work from employers, but the unions have now broken that..."

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN Well, girls, right spang in the middle of the month of brides along comes a lady who says she's the country's leading marriage broker and declares that 6,000,000 American girls will never ever find a man to put his feet on their polished coffee tables...

She says one reason is that a lot of men are cowards about getting married; my husband says that's like saying a man who refuses to go over Niagara Falls in a teapot is timid. Of course she blames the women for this problem, too, declaring that most of them are just a lot of giggles who think more of the garage than the home...

1949 Models On Display

Rose Motor Co., along with all Ford dealers over the nation, today was showing the 1949 Ford. The car, radically different from past models, will be shown formally to the public through tomorrow. A sneak showing of the Ford Custom make was held last night. A number of interested persons were on hand this morning to see the cars, which were unveiled through the press 10 days ago.

Common Ground by R. C. HOLES

"Mainspring, the Story of Human Progress" (Continued)

I want to quote further from Henry Grady Weaver's book "Mainspring, the Story of Human Progress and How Not to Prevent It."

The author tells how three thousand years ago men knew the principle of the steam engine in Greece; that for 40 centuries men sailed boats; but during that time there were human authorities who interfered with human initiative. Then under the heading of cause and effect, he makes this statement: "The above are only a few examples illustrating that under the living Authorities, human energy has worked in jerks, so to speak. Take any few hundred years of Old World history, and we find a succession of convulsive efforts and collapses, as if a living thing were roped down and struggling..."

"Mind you, the Government never intended to stop them; indeed, the honest aim was to help them under civil war. It was the opposite, for the simple reason that efforts to help were based on the false notion that human energy and individual initiative can be directed and controlled through an overriding Authority using the brute force of military and police power. "Force and fear have their uses. We'll come to that in a moment. But they are ineffective in stimulating ambition, initiative, creative effort and perseverance. "Threats of the concentration camp or the firing squad might make a man run a little faster or work a little harder—at least for a time. But fear reduces endurance and hastens fatigue. It also works at cross purposes to mental development and moral growth. It depresses the higher nerve centers and its continued use tends to paralyze the normal processes of thought..."

"Thus it is that slave labor has never been able to compete with free men in fields that require a high degree of initiative, resourcefulness and persistence. "Furthermore, the unbridled use of arbitrary power, exercised through force and fear, always has a demoralizing and degenerating effect on those who use it. It breeds arrogance, intolerance and sadism. "It is the hope habit. It may start out innocently enough, but it feeds on itself and things go from bad to worse. The more anyone relies on it the greater the temptation to increase the dose. Thus the 'temporary' remedy becomes a pernicious habit, and it's almost impossible to turn back. "It's true that man has not yet attained a degree of intelligence that makes it possible to do away with the use of force entirely. "When one man or a small group of men revert to animal violence, decent people have only one choice: They must use force as a means of neutralizing the misuse of force. "Arbitrary power needed to deal with the occasional criminals, robbers and killers who hinder the constructive work of the majority. When there is no police force every man must be ready to defend himself and his property. It also takes time away from useful work. "Then the author describes how in the pioneer days of our own wild West the necessity of each man carrying a gun to protect himself, however normal men do not like to carry guns around, so when emergencies arose they would organize themselves into a vigilance committee to maintain law and order. However, these committees sometimes turned into gangsterism, with the right-thinking and honest members dropping out as soon as the emergency was over with the less scrupulous staying in. Then the author continues: "So it is only natural that peaceful men should organize a legal force to make a regular job of preserving law and order. "They selected a few of their number and said to them, in effect, 'You keep the peace, Sheriff, you carry the gun for all of us from now on. You, Judge, call on twelve of us to decide what to do with any Bad Man that the sheriff catches alive. It's your job to preserve law and order, and we'll be right with you. You give your whole time to it and we'll supply you with food, shelter, and other necessities. "That's a good example of government stripped to its bare essentials. It is a justifiable use of force because it increases the general well-being and the productive output of normal citizens by enabling them to use their energies to the best advantage and without interference."

news behind the news by RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON—Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath will soon have to scurry around for two or three "angels" willing to "lend" him at least $500,000 each to finance President Truman's reelection campaign. Unless he can uncover another John J. Raabok soon, he will not be able to pay weekly salaries at headquarters here, not to mention the millions required for getting out the vote next November. Party leaders have their eyes on several wealthy men who could advance the sum required if they feel so inclined. Perhaps the most likely touch is Senator Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, who looks upon Mr. McGrath as a sort of protege. Although 87 years old, Senator Green has been renominated as chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee. He would then be recognized as a politically untouchable spokesman, and his voice would carry more weight on and off Capitol Hill. Should the next President turn "isolationist," he could probably checkmate him whether he was Dewey, Taft, Martin or anybody else.

DISSEMPION—Mr. V's other consideration is entirely political. His retirement at the end of his first term would throw the party into another fierce fight over the 1952 nominee. It would provoke dissension in what may be a difficult political year. If he, as the White House occupant, showed partiality to any of the contestants, it would mean that the last year of his administration would become a period of futility and bitterness. The intraparty strife might damage the GOP's chances for 1952. Mr. Vandenberg says that nobody has yet been able to convince him that this summarization of his problem and plight "has any holes in it."

OBJECTIVELY—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg advances a stronger argument against his nomination as Republican presidential candidate than do his bitter rivals. In private talks he discusses reasons against his candidacy as objectively as if he were not even among those mentioned. The Michigan senator always begins with the assumption that he would serve only one term because of his age and his own preference. He will be sixty-five from now on. You, Judge, call on twelve of us to decide what to do with any Bad Man that the sheriff catches alive. It's your job to preserve law and order, and we'll be right with you. You give your whole time to it and we'll supply you with food, shelter, and other necessities. "That's a good example of government stripped to its bare essentials. FUNNY BUSINESS by HERSHBERGER

Have groups send joint telegrams from shops and offices. Call on the minister, rabbi or priest in your neighborhood and on community leaders urging them to bring the matter before their congregations or assemblies for appropriate action. Get organizations to telephone the senators from your state urging action. Take newspaper space and radio time for the purpose of urging the general public to deluge Washington with letters, telegrams and telephone calls. This formula was first sent the flood-tide of comic-strip protests swirling through the United States Senate opposing the Mundt-Nixon bill. Several hours after Representative Mundt's radio appeal for anti-Communists to give their support of his bill, a Los Angeles real estate woman telegraphed a telegram to Western Union urging a California senator to vote for the Mundt-Nixon bill. The Western Union girl said here was the first telegram received in response to Mundt's appeal, though the Western Union wires had been snafu of Communist telegrams to juzzing for days with thousands of the bill!

Britain Accepts Dutch Sovereignty Over Indonesia

LONDON—(AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today Britain has "accepted Dutch sovereignty" over Indonesia. The Foreign Office has given all British diplomatic missions in the area instructions no longer to honor Indonesian republican passports, he said. In official Whitehall circles this was taken to mean that Britain, in effect, has withdrawn her informal recognition of the Indonesian republic. The Foreign Office spokesman explained that Britain's attitude towards the republic was based on the terms of an agreement signed aboard the U. S. Navy Transport Reville last January, which sought to end the Dutch-Indonesian dispute. In 1888, Queen Victoria chose Ottawa, then a city of 20,000, as the seat of government of Upper and Lower Canada. It became capital of the New Dominion in 1867.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER Why is it that real "big shots" seldom act like "big shots"? The reason is that to get to the top of the heap requires that you be able to get along with people. It means that you must be commonly called "populor."

There is a reason why the person who "acts big" is unpopular. It is a deep inner hunger within in all of us to be superior. When we're around a perfect person—it makes us feel inferior by comparison. That's why people always pull for the underdog. The most boring person in the world is the person who "knows it all"—who is "never wrong" and who "never makes a mistake." Even if there were such people—we'd be uncomfortable around them. They would still be unpopular. I believe that this is the real secret of Jack Benny's phenomenal success. Jack isn't the smart, sophisticated "know it all." He is his own stooge. Usually he is the butt of his jokes. He plays the part of a tightwad. He makes dumb mistakes. He is human. When he makes a mistake—or plays sour notes on his violin—or is on the receiving end of a joke—it makes his listeners feel superior—and they love him. Mark Twain used this same secret to become popular. Once, when telling about a fight he had had, he said, "Placing my nose firmly between his teeth, I threw him heavily to the ground on top of me." George Allen, who became personal confidante to two Presidents, used the same technique to attain popularity—he always tells the jokes on himself. In telling how he played football for Cumberland 222 to 0, Allen says that he made the most outstanding play of the afternoon for Cumberland,—"losing only six yards on the play." Figure it out for yourself. To get ahead in life you must get the cooperation of other people. You must be the type of person that people like. And nobody is so much disliked and so unpopular as the "big shot." That's the reason that if you can ever get in to see the "big boss"—you'll most likely find him to be a human sort of guy who is not interested in impressing you with his importance.

REDS STEAL THE SHOW! by Upton Close

WASHINGTON—For several days senators were deluged with telegrams, letters and telephone calls urging them to defeat the Mundt-Nixon Communist control bill, which the Reds described as a police state measure. Some voices in the telephone called; others heaped abuses on "fascists" who championed the bill.

Accents in the telephone ranged from the soft speech of the Deep South to the broken English of recent arrivals from Eastern Europe. Many a harassed senator longed to hear a familiar voice which would assure him that the people were behind him if he voted for the Mundt-Nixon bill. The tide of opposition from the leftists was so strong that Representative Karl Mundt, cosponsor of the bill, had gone on the radio pleading with anti-Communists to wake up and furnish some moral support for the legislators who wanted to vote yes.

Bill that vast unorganized majority, the pro-Americans, remained comatose. Telephone and telegraph lines were all at the disposal of the organized "masses." And organized they were. Mass meetings were held the length and breadth of the nation, Henry Wallace party leaders whipping up a frenzy of activity and handing each "fronter" a planned procedure to follow in squeezing maximum support out of his community. It was a representative picture of how a mighty but smug nation can be stolen in broad daylight by a tight little group willing to work. I am reproducing here a brief of the planned procedure, as an illustration of the thoroughness of left wing organizing of pressure campaigns. Anti-Communists could do worse than to clip this and follow it in working up support for such measures as the Mundt-Nixon bill. PRESSURE FORMULA 1. Wire or air mail your senators. Give top priority to doubling and trebling the flow of telegrams to Chairman Wiley. 2. Use every means to bring about the unloading of a flood of telegrams and communications upon Washington. a. Organize telephone campaigns to contact every individual member of your group and all other persons whose aid might be enlisted. b. Set up booths and tables in public places to get signatures for telegrams and air mail post cards.

ABOUT ORCHESTRAS AND ADMISSIONS

Some Orchestras play for all the money they can make, while holding down a job at weekly wages. Other Orchestras play for the people, all the time. Do not work at a trade. But devote their time to their chosen profession, entertaining with dance music. Training, practicing when on duty.
 You first heard Fran McCarthy at the Southern Club and he gave good music and drew crowds, and now you can dance to the hottest modern brass band this side of Harlem at the Southern Club in Pampa. Every night!
 In bringing this brass band to you, and its being so well received, that we are holding it over, so that all of you can hear and see for yourself, what an orchestra should be, and is!
 When you pay your admission to any place where they feature dancing or bands, consider the size of the club, the size of its dance floor, do they serve ice cold beer and set up to your private table? Then what have they to offer for your dollar, in the way of combo band, or orchestra? If you pay a dollar, you have a right to expect to receive a dollar's entertainment.
 If you don't care what you pay for, why not just rent a Victrola, stick the needles in it and kid yourself into thinking you're at the Astor?
 The owner of the Southern gives you value received for the money you pay him, at the door. $1.00 adm.; state tax 10c; federal 20c; total $1.30 per person. Most of the admission of course, goes to the finest brass band in the land, hired help, and expenses.
 So when you go out for a pleasant evening, where dancing privileges are extended to you, where they cater to couples and conduct the business to obey all laws of the land, furnish the best music that money can buy—at or lower than these places charge for trios, combos, or what have you?
 We offer for your enjoyment, the largest, best dance floor in Pampa, in Pampa's coolest, cleanest, nite club, really air conditioned. 50x100 feet is the ball room size. We, of course, always have beer and set up. Our place is above reproach and is respectable, catering to respectable couples and their friends. Thank you!

Take Off Ugly Fat With Grape Fruit Juice Recipe

It's simple. It's amazing. How quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of Liquid Baracosta. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.
 If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, hips, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back slurring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly most disappear — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

THINGS KEEP Electrically
 That just about sums up the advantages of electric refrigeration. "Things keep." Yes, everything keeps with electric refrigeration. Milk stays cool and wholesome... cooling salads, vegetables and fruits stay crisp and tasty in an electric refrigerator. All foods keep better all the time... protecting your family's health day after day.
 In fact, electric refrigeration is just about the homemaker's best friend. If you don't have electric refrigeration... make sure you have it for the hot summer ahead. And remember, cheap electricity in the area we serve is at your service for better living electrically.
 We have nothing to sell but good electric service. Near-by appliance dealers can show you a choice of makes and models in electric refrigerators.
