Railroad Grade Crossing Safety Week

October 21 -27

Governor Bill Clements signed a proclamation at 11:00 a.m. Oct. 15 in the Governor's office designating Oct. 21 -27 as Railroad Grade Crossing Safety Week.

Present at the proclamation was Jennifer Curry. Curry, 18, was a car-train accident victim at a Duncanville crossing protected by flashing lights and bells during Texas Grade Crossing Safety Week last year. A Dallas TV news team, riding in that train to show how motorists take chances at railroad grade crossings, witnessed the accident and got a sound-track videotape of the accident.

Operation Lifesaver, sponsored by the Railroad Section of Texas Safety Association, is a program aimed at reducing accidents and fatalities at highway-railroad grade crossings through public education.

In an effort to bring the Operation Lifesaver message to the public, Curry will appear in TV and radio spots and interviews.

Operation Lifesaver State Chairman, Arthur Ziev, and Tom Murphy, a Sante Fe Railway witness of the accident, will also be present at the signing.

Hazards Haunt Halloween

In recent years Halloween has been scarier for adults than children. Children can imagine a world of spooks and goblins. Adults must face the very real threats of poisoned candy, vehicle accidents, dangerous costumes and other hazards endangering children. Seeking ways to avoid these problems and decrease vandalism, parents increasingly are steering their children toward organized activities such as school carnivals and parties.

Such efforts have been at least partially successful-or maybe children simply are forbidden to go out on Halloween. In any case, the number of trick-or-treaters in many places has declined dramatically.

Yet Halloween is too well established to die out completely. Since people probably will continue celebrating it in some form or other, here are some tips from the Texas Medical Association TMA to cut down on Halloween hazards.

Giving balloons, pencils, coins or other small, inexpensive items probably will please children as much as receiving candy. Some inedible treats may even be cheaper than candy and will not be wasted by parents who have to throw away treats that might be poisoned.

Adults can decrease the possibility of poisoning by giving only treats in their original wrappers that could not be poisoned and then re-wrapped. Parents Testing cannot be all bad as seen on the faces of these students during a break from Reading Dynamics.

Reading Dynamics Course Offered

Those students seen thumbing quickly through books at Borden Schools recently may be in actuality, reading them. Grades 9-12 have been offered the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Course. The interest and enrollment in the course has been very encouraging. Upon completion of the course, some students will be reading 3 times as rapidly as they ever thought possible. The course includes seven lessons for a total of 3 hours.

The discovery of Reading Dynamics by Evelyn Wood, occurred during an attempt to keep up with the modern day world, where so much must be accomplished in so little time. Twenty years ago, Mrs. Wood wished to increase the reading speed of her students. She had read that Theodore Roosevelt averaged reading three books a day while he was president so she set out to find his secret and that of many others. She began seeking out and studying the fast readers. She found fifty people who could read 1,500 w.p.m. With their help and her desire to fulfill a need of a new society, she mastered and began teaching Reading Dynamics.

The fifty exceptional readers had several reading characteristics in common: 1. they all read in a downward direction. 2. All absorbed the meaning of whole areas of a page at a time and 3. they adjusted their speed to the type of material they were reading.

The course teaches the student to cover more material in less time, to enjoy reading by cutting boring material, and to spend less time on unimportant material while giving more time for important ideas.

Borden County is the only public school in Texas offering this course to its student. Those students not interested in the Reading Dynamics are offered a course in Reading Readiness.

It is the philosophy of the Borden County Independent School District that communication (reading, writing, and speaking) is the key to a successful educational program. The Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics course is not meant to take the place of any part of the present reading program; but instead, it is meant to supplement and enrich the present program.

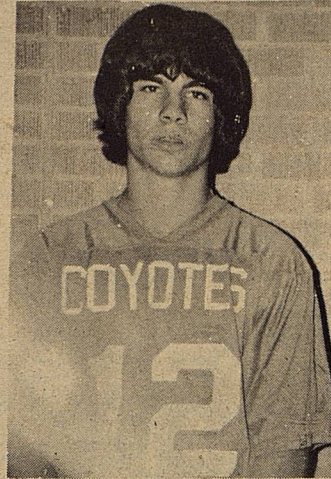

Borden Falls To Jayton

The Coyotes, plagued by injuries, fell to Jayton in their first zone game of the season last Friday night. The Coyotes are now standing 2-4 in season play and 0-1 in zone play. They will face Loraine October 19 at 7:30 at Loraine.

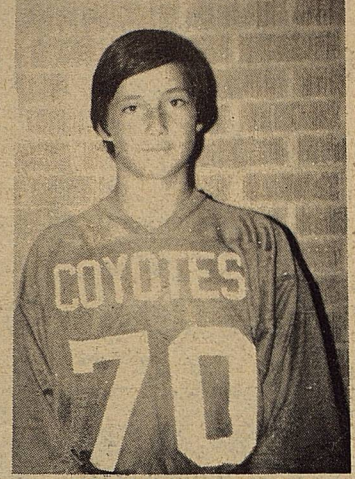

Blane Dyess, Coyote quarterback put the first scores on the board with a 3 point fieldgoal. The Jayton Jaybirds made a T.D. in the first half, but the extra point was blocked by Tim Taylor. The score remained 3-6 at halftime.

Shortly after the third quarter began the Coyotes were dealt a hard blow. Their fullback, Craig Peterson was injured attempting a T.D. just feet from the goalline. Craig was out of the game for the evening. The Coyotes could not gather enough momentum to make the T.D. and Jayton took over. The Jaybirds made three more T.D.'s but the Coyotes held them to one P.A.T. The only other score made for Borden County was a touchdown by Dyess with seconds left on the clock. The final score was 9-26.

The leading tackler during the game was Maurice Herridge with 14 tackles. Craig Peterson had 15-68 yards rushing and Travis Rinehart had 17-68. In passing, Blane Dyess had 4-12 for 24 yards and Jym Rinehart had 2-5 for 18 yards. Blane Dyess had a 31 yard fieldgoal and 1 quarterback sneak.

Coyotes Win Over Lubbock

The Coyotes beat Western Hills of Lubbock 50-7 last Thursday afternoon in Southland. Sammy Williams took a hand-off from Chris Cooley and drove to the 2 yard line and then carried the T. D. and P. A. T. to make the first scores for the Coyotes. Phillip Benavidez made the next T.D. and Cooley carried the P.A.T. to bring the score to 14-0 at the end of the first quarter. Benavidez again made a T.D. and extra point after a run by Benavidez brought the ball just a yard from the goalline. Before the end of the 3rd quarter, Chris Cooley scored again for the Coyotes and Benavidez carried the P.A.T. giving Borden County a 28-0 lead on the Western Hills Indians.

The most exciting play for the Coyotes came as Williams ran 80 yards for a T.D. and Benavidez made a beautiful kick for the extra points. The last two touchdowns were by Phillip and Kirby Williams. Scott Brooks made the extra point.

Borden County had 349 yards rushing while they held Lubbock to 18 yards rushing. Sammy Williams had 127 yards rushing and Phillip Benavidez had 130 yards rushing. Sammy Williams had 2 touchdowns and 1 extra point. Phillip Benavidez had 3 touchdowns and 3 extra points. Scott Brooks had 1 extra point. Kirby Williams made 1 touchdown and Chris Cooley had 1 touchdown and 1 extra point.

CHRIS COOLEY... RECEIVES SPIRIT STAR-

Jr. High Pep Rally

The Junior High pre-game pep rally last Thursday was a real spirit builder. Sammy Williams gave the team talk. He said, "We play Western Hills today. They have 26 players and we have 11, but we are going to try our best to win."

Phillip Benavidez and Scot Jones presented the spirit star to Chris Cooley for making a "T.D." in the last ball game. Chris is the first Junior High football player to receive the star.

Kelli Williams and Sherry Vaughn were recipients of the victory bell and the spirit stick was presented to Becky Massingill.

School Board Meeting

Monday, October 15, 1979-8:00 p.m.

The Borden County Board of School Trustees met in regular session.

Board members present were Ralph Miller, Bill Phinzy, Brent Murphy, Jack McPhaul, Doyle Newton, and Bob Dyess.

Administrators present were James McLeroy, Superintendent; Mickey McMeans, High school Principal; and Ben Jarrett, Elementary Principal.

The meeting was called to order by Board President Ralph Miller who welcomed the visitors.

Visitors- The Commissioners Court to discuss Senate bill 621 and the tax appraisal district.

Those present were Court Judge Jim Burkett, Sheriff Tax Assessor-Collector Slick Sneed, County Clerk Dorothy Browne,

Commissioner Ed Rinehart, Larry Smith, Herman Ledbetter, and Vernon Wolf. After discussion of Senate bill 621 and the tax appraisal district, it was generally concluded that the County and the School District are the only taxing agents in the county and it would be in the best interest of the county to work together concerning Senate bill 621.

Superintendent McLeroy invited the county officers to a luncheon meeting on October 13 to hear Mr. Michael Moeller of Texans for Equitable Taxation who will discuss Senate bill 621.

Following the Senate bill 621 and the tax appraisal district meeting, the joint group enjoyed refreshments.

The School Board returned to regular business and approved the minutes of the last meeting and payment of the bills.

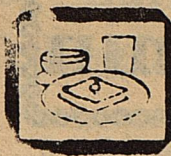

Superintendent McLeroy presented a year-to-date financial report. Attendance was reported as 75 for high school, 147 in elementary for a total of 222.

The Board accepted the low bid of $.38 plus price increases from Lamesa Butane for the school year 1979-80.

The Board moved to accept Borden County into the Tax Appraisal District if the Commissioners Court desires to join. The Board of Trustees also agreed to expand the Board of

Baptist Seek High Attendance

Many of the 4,300 Southern Baptist churches and missions in Texas will attempt to involve a record number of people in their Bible studies October 28 on Sunday School High Attendance Day.

The day is an annual statewide and national observance in the Southern Baptist Convention. "Great Day in the Morning" is the theme of the 1979 observance in Texas Baptist churches.

The goal for High Attendance Day in Texas is 679,000, compared to an average statewide Baptist Sunday School attendance of 518,000. Last year 643,021 attended Sunday School in Texas Baptist churches on High Attendance Day.

Baptist churches throughout Texas are preparing for High Attendance Day by personally inviting residents and new comers to Sunday School and worship services on October 28. Some churches sponsor community events related to High Attendance Day.

"For 200 years this country has been well served by the melting pot concept of one nation, one people, one common language." That sentence should go down in the book of quotes along with Patrick Henry's call to liberty, Washington's farewell address and Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Most of us have deplored the fact that few quotable quotes were being issued these days. Yet Alton O. Bowen seems gifted with the use of our common language. In his address to the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Association of School Administrators he further said, "Race and language are extremely important elements of any group's heritage and should be maintained. But the responsibility for such language and cultured maintenance is with the home, the family, the community and not with the school."

The fact that Texas could be so fortunate as to have a man such as Bowen in the role of Education Commissioner defies the Peter Principle and rest one's confidence in the administration of education. I am relieved to hear the spokesman for the commission issue a call for the return to basics in education. It is a relief to know that the top recognizes a deficiency in the bilingual program as well as the curriculum of Texas public schools in general. And what a pleasure to hear an administrator place responsibility in the homes as well as reorganize the weaknesses of the school systems thru the years.

Mr. Bowen hopes to restore confidence of parents and students in the public educational system. He feels very strongly that this confidence will come about thru a concentration of effort on reading--in the common language. His time schedule calls for a concentration of effort over the next five years. And five years is about the maximum limit in my opinion. The last reading generation-proficiently, that is--have about aged into the disinterested category. Our kids are thru school and we have given up. It is too late to do anything about the reading programs which they were subjected too. Now they are having kids and putting them into schools--they who are products of the new math, look-say methods have very little awareness of what a sound, acceptable program should be.

Bowen is not only concerned about the ineffectiveness of the bilingual program, the reading program, but also discipline. He has called for "Swift imposition of discipline." That won't be easy either. This same nonreading generation is an undisciplined, defiant one. Those teachers who valiantly try to teach and those students who meekly try to learn are hindered by the many disruptions in the halls and classrooms. There is little respect for authority or rules. Bowen has a big job ahead of him. He cannot accomplish his goals strictly within the confines of the classroom. He must have the cooperation of the family in the home, you must be willing to teach your child the common language you must be willing to demand a challenging language arts program. And you must be willing to be the authority in your home - demanding respect-teaching manners and expecting nothing less than self control and respect. Mr. Bowen is to be applauded but he needs help--from the local school boards, administrators, mamas and papas, teachers and the students themselves.

Fans lower home cooling costs

COLLEGE STATION — A floor fan or even an old oscillating fan can help people live comfortably with home air conditioners set at an energy-conserving 78 degrees.

The recommendation is made by Dr. Dennis Driscoll, biometeorologist at Texas A&M University. His speciality is how weather affects people.

Home air conditioners have only a temperature control, but two other factors, water vapor in the air and air movement, affect comfort. Relative humidity of 50 to 60 percent and air movement are built into units at the factory.

Driscoll says 80 degrees, 60 percent relative humidity and little or no air movement are "right on the edge of the comfort zone." At that combination most people will be comfortable and a few will be slightly uncomfortable.

"The simplest and least expensive remedy is to increase air movement to get back into the comfort zone." That's where the fans come in because they circulate the cool air more efficiently.

ASCS SEEKS RECOMMENDATIONS FOR COTTON PROGRAM

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) invites farmers and other interested persons to submit recommendations on the 1980 upland cotton program. The deadline for receiving comments is November 19.

Program provisions under consideration include the upland cotton target price, the national program acreage and allocation factor, and the voluntary reduction from 1979 upland cotton acreage to guarantee target price protection on total 1980 planted acreage.

Farmers should also express their views regarding whether there should be a set-aside requirement, acreage limitation and additional diversion of upland cotton. Those in favor of these provisions should specify the amount and extent of such requirements.

The Secretary of Agriculture will consider any written recommendations mailed to the Director, Production Adjustment Division, USDA-ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D. C. 29913

Rural women still choose traditional roles

COLLEGE STATION — A six-year regional study, based on 1,268 interviews with women and men in Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina, reveals that women in rural areas still choose the traditional roles of nurse, teacher, secretary and housewife.

The women's movement seems to have had no effect on career choices for rural women, claim sociologists Dr. J. Steven Picou and Arthur G. Cosby of Texas A&M University.

The researchers believe there is a definite need for better occupational guidance in these rural areas. Calling disadvantaged southern rural youth the forgotten minority, Picou contends that "Rural females just haven't had the role models of successful women that are so often apparent in the cities. They see only what they have access to — women in their traditional jobs."

Father's New Image

Fathers play a vital role in their children's development, according to new research.

Also, more researchers are studying father's roles, as men take a more active role in managing the home and children while their wives pursue careers outside the home.

One popular image of "dad" as the helpless creature at his child's birth is rapidly changing.

Increasingly, fathers are attending the births of their children, sharing the experience of the delivery room with their wives.

One study found fathers as competent as mothers in caring for their newborn children.

Fathers still spend less time with their children than they probably should, but studies show that the quality of time spent with a child can be more important than the quantity of time.

Infants at very early ages recognize the difference between mom and dad. In fact, one study finds that contented infants will crawl to their fathers at least as often as to their mothers and sometimes more frequently.

Babies can learn who plays with them, and it's often dad.

In addition, many men involved in child rearing say it is personally rewarding.

Overall, research reports that fathers' involvement in child rearing is beneficial and satisfying for the children and for both mother and father.

Fathers Influence Children's Food Habits

Fathers influence their children's food habits-because most mothers plan menus around the father's preferences.

With that in mind, fathers can have a major impact on their children's food habits-and their health.

Two ideas are the most important:

Good nutrition gives a child a healthy start in life-and a better chance for staying healthy throughout life.

Eating a variety of foods every day is the key to good nutrition.

Teaching children these two ideas during their formative years will help them establish good food habits they will use the rest of their lives.

Although mothers have an equal influence on children's food habits, researchers report that most mothers do follow the father's preferences.

Mothers use those preferences to plan family menus, buy groceries, prepare meals and serve them.

In fact, researchers say that the father's likes and dislikes are the most important factor in family menu planning.

should use the same standards when inspecting treats. Parents also should throw away fruit and other treats that could be injected with dangerous substances because they easily could overlook the pinhole a needle would make.

Costumes are another responsibility parents have. They should avoid costume masks that could slip and block a child's vision or breathing. Painting a child's face with cosmetics, grease paint or burned cork can be a good substitute.

The costume itself should be light-colored to help motorists spot children, flame resistant and not so loose or long it could trip a child or catch on obstacles. Costumes also should not include sharp objects, torches or candles. Adults can improve safety by putting reflective tape or luminous paint on costumes and objects children carry.

People can make their property safer and cut down on vandalism several ways. For instance, keep the property well lighted and put away hoses, lawn furniture and garbage cans.

If possible, put cars in the garage and lock them. Bring pets inside to protect them and children from each other.

Simple preparations such as these can help both children and adults survive the season, TMA says.
