Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — If you push a doorbell, you'll sell enough brushes.

It is the simple sales formula on which Alfred Fuller, the national Fuller brush man, has built a gigantic house-to-house business.

Fuller, now 83, started in the basement of her sister-in-law's house in 1905. He made the brushes on a $15 second-hand machine in the afternoon and evening, peddled them the next morning.

He doesn't have to push doorbells himself anymore. He's so wealthy he doesn't even have to answer the door himself when a brush man rings his doorbell to try to sell him a brush.

Just this year some 7,000 Fuller brush men across the nation will pitch approximately 42,750,000 doorbells to sell housewives nearly $20,000,000 worth of brushes.

Today the Fuller brush man has become a familiar figure on the American doorstep. Red Skelton has just made a movie about him and the Saturday Evening Post featured him this week in one of its "Men at Work" series.

What's he like — this door-to-door salesman who has taken the place of the oldtime itinerant peddler and knocks more often than the postman?

The brush company recently peddled some of its 7,000 dealers and came up with this picture:

The average Fuller brush man is 50 years old, has a high school education, sets his own hours, earns $70 a week. He has been married 12 1/2 years, has a boy and a girl, owns a 6 1/2-room house and a low-priced car 7 1/2 years old with 62,500 miles on the speedometer.

The Fuller brush man works five days a week, pushes 25 doorbells a day, gives free to every prospect a vegetable scrubbing brush that costs him three cents.

He has at least 2,000 families in his district, calls on them three or more times a year, sells to one out of every two housewives who come to the door.

The door is his big problem. He isn't allowed to put his foot in it, but once he gets past it he generally figures he's in — physically and in a sales sense, too. He then has 135 items to sell — from nail brushes to furniture polish.

In one out of 25 cases the Fuller brush man isn't a man at all. He's a Fuller brush lady. The percentage of women salesmen rose during the war.

Cronister had sold his half-section of land to Barker a few years ago, and was in the process of moving with his wife and four children to Hotchkiss, Colo. They had planned to stay in Ochiltree County, however, until school is out. Cronister had lived in the county about 20 years.

The wolf seldom, only about an inch long, often carries its young on its back until they can fend for themselves. A brood will sometimes number as many as one hundred and twenty-five.

First Experience of Theater in 'Open Spaces' Is One of Brightest Success

By MARTHA COLE
DALLAS — (AP) — Margo Jones set out from Broadway with a mission—to decentralize the legitimate theater from New York's monopoly.

This was born Theater '47-'48 in Dallas.

It has three distinctions: (1) It's a theater in the round—that is, stage performances are given in the middle while the audience watches from seats on four sides of the stage. (2) It's the only professional theater in the round in the country. (3) It makes its own way financially.

Whether or not it has helped to prove that the theater can be weaned from New York, it has established itself as a regional repertory theater—first class.

It really isn't round. Actually, the stage is a lopsided square, a carpeted center in the tiers of seats. This is how it came to be.

Margo came to Dallas in 1945 harboring grandiose schemes. She was looking for a regular theater with a conventional stage. Theater '45 and '46 died aborning for lack of home. But on June 3, 1947, 200 patrons journeyed out to Fair Park. Theater '47 was born in the only building available.

"And now I'm glad it was," said Margo, the director. "It's fluid and more natural—better than just a picture frame. The audience likes to feel a part of the production and the actors have to be honest."

Honest is right. One woman remarked "I didn't know they really cried" after she had gazed into the face of weeping leading lady for fully three minutes from where she sat in the third row.

The actors stay on their toes. "You can't fake," said the lyric lead Francis Waller. If you can act here, you can act anywhere.

The intimacy with the actors was strange at first. Those who sit on the first rows around the stage are close enough to trip the handsome leading man if they want to. One man sitting next to one of the three entrances dangled his arm over the railing. The first thing he knew he was holding the hat and gloves of the romantic male lead who came hounding onstage. The theater seats only 198, but sometimes more attend and sit on the steps.

"Such a theater should never seat over 600," Margo commented. "More than that, and it would lose its intimacy."

"Downright charming" is one Dallas critic called Theater '47. The spectators pick their way gingerly through the stage and props of the first scene to get to their seats. Music to set the mood floats from a sound system, and the play is on.

Each season calls for five new plays and three classics. Margo reads the scripts herself, says she's now 600 behind. She started off with "Farther From Heaven," a new script from William Inge. Another new one, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," by Morty Coleman followed; and after that a classic, "Hedda Gabler."

It wasn't until the fourth play came along that a new hit was scored. This was Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" in its premier. Margo will go to New York this summer to direct the play for its Broadway opening in the fall.

The first season included only five plays and closed with "Third Cousin," a new comedy by Vera Mathews.

Because "Hedda Gabler" had been well liked, Margo opened her fall and winter season with another Ibsen play, "The Master Builder." However, it didn't go over as the first one did. Then followed three one-act plays by Tennessee Williams—"The Last of My Solid-Gold Watch," "A Portrait of a Madonna," and "This Property Is Condemned."

Another new script, "The Iron O'Scarlet," an Irish mood play by Vivian Connell, was next. The second classic of the season was Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." The theater then presented "Lempe's Old Man," written by Business Manager Manning Gurlan.

"The Importance of Being Earnest," Oscar Wilde's classic; "Leaf and Bough," a new script by the Indiana playwright, Joseph Hayes; and "Black John," written by a Hollywood actor, Baron MacLaine, followed.

Costumes in the plays were designed and made in Dallas by Ted Mare.

The theater in Dallas does its work with only 20 persons. That includes Margo; eight professional actors; eight production hands who also play minor parts; Business Manager Manning Gurlan, who left a New York job with Rogers and Hammerstein because he believed in the regional theater; Production Manager Jonathan Seymour and Technical Director Marshall Yokelson.

Margo is a native Texan. She received her M. A. Degree from Texas State College for Women in 1932 and has taught at the University of Texas. She returned to the Southwest on a Rockefeller Foundation scholarship, looking for a site for a regional theater.

There was this concentration of theaters in New York, a few in Chicago and a few on the West Coast and then this wide sweep of nothing down here," she explained.

Mrs. Eugene McDermott, wife of Dallas Geochemist, put up the original money in 1945 to get the theater going. Her husband led a group of Dallas civic leaders in a public campaign and raised $28,000. They thought the theater would be "a good thing for Dallas."

When the first season opened, cash on hand was $8,400. At its close $11,669 was in the bank, but when the fall season opened in November the theater had only $195. McDermott, who is president of the Theater's board, estimates that $12,000 will be left from the fall and winter season. To open a season costs about $10,000, he said.

The younger Barker, who was unmarried, lived with his parents. The bodies are in a funeral home in Perryton, pending arrangements.

Subway Presents Perfect Panorama Of New York Life

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — The subway is an underground avenue to and from work.

It is also a place where you can pick up a bedbug or a cold, make a home, commit a murder, hear a harmonica duet, meet a girl, close a business deal or buy a pencil from a blind man.

Some people believe the subway made modern New York City possible. Others are just as sure it has made the city impossible.

The subway is a twice-a-day purgatory to millions who have to ride it during the rush hours. To out-of-towners it is first an adventure, then just one more reason why "New York's a great place to visit, but I sure would hate to live here."

It is the safest railroad in the world, but it remains a claustrophobic hell for many who get nervous when the train rolls under the East River. They go on for years dreading a tube collapse and swift drowning in washing waters. It is futile to point out to these people this isn't likely to happen.

"Here, anything can happen," they say. In that they are about right.

These "leaguers" are the bone of subway workers and cops who must jack up the trains and lift out the dreamless flesh. This interrupts the schedule ten to twenty minutes and angers thousands of riders who complain, "Why didn't he jumped off a Brooklyn Bridge?"

The typical minister preaches two sermons on Sunday and teaches a class of adult Sunday school members.

When the first season opened, cash on hand was $8,400. At its close $11,669 was in the bank, but when the fall season opened in November the theater had only $195. McDermott, who is president of the Theater's board, estimates that $12,000 will be left from the fall and winter season. To open a season costs about $10,000, he said.

New Oil Promotions, Coming in Wake of High Prices, Need Watching

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nationwide boom in oil promotions has kicked up in the wake of higher crude oil prices, oil shortages and talk of war.

So say the men who should know—the staff of the oil and gas division of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Their job is to keep track of oil promoters and their securities and the general state of the oil industry.

Companies issuing securities in amounts over $500,000 must report the fact of their promotions to SEC. They are required by law to submit financial statements and they must submit their "literature."

The SEC staff combs over every company. Its three geological experts compare the reports with maps, sometimes go into the field. The staff's lawyers sniff for evidence of fraud.

In the past four months, say these lawyers, there has been a marked increase in "actionable stuff" crossing their desks. Actionable stuff means questionable oil ventures which may land promoters in jail.

The lawyers' work in tracking down questionable promoters is secret, so they refuse figures and other specific information on the increase of these promotions.

Many oil promotions are in no way dishonest. Yet the experts get headaches trying to pin down the facts.

The commission is forbidden by law to pass on the merits of securities. Its main job is to see that all the facts are honestly stated. This is the rub.

As one lawyer says: "We tear our hair out trying to get at the facts because most of the material they file with us always has a sprinkling of fact running through it. They label their literature carefully. They don't promise a dime's return. And they frankly point out the risk."

"Some of them are pretty good little deals. But most of them are long shots. Generally, the whole field of oil promotions is pretty hazardous."

"What many of them try to do is milk the buyer without running afoul of the law. They really own land and drill wells. But they have to pay themselves a salary."

"Most of their literature is directed at people with not much money. They will even offer small amounts on the installment plan. They won't hesitate to take as little as $5 from a schoolteacher."

GAS MASKS IN JUNGLE
 SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Bush workers in northern Queensland have found one of the hazards of clearing tropical scrub is the pollen from a species of stinging nettle tree which causes hay fever and continuous sneezing. One worker got the idea of using gas masks and his mates have followed his example. The masks are hot but that is preferable to the ravages of the pollen.

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, May 12—(AP)—Stocks put on another strong finish in today's market, some reaching new highs for the year or longer.

Buying support arrived in the final hour after irregularly lower trends had been in evidence most of the session. Most grains were held to a point or less and many narrow declines persisted to the close.

The upswing lacked the punch of Tuesday's late surge, and transactions were limited to around 1,500,000 shares.

Chrysler, its plants closed by the strike of 15,000 workers, trimmed an early loss and closed off 3/4 to 58 1/2.

Slaying in lower ground were International Harvester, Sinclair Oil, Gulf Oil, International Paper, Anaconda Copper and American Woolen.

Santa Fe touched a new 1948 high. Others holding advances or climbing into the plus division were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, General Electric, Atlantic Coast Line, Westinghouse Electric, American Can and International Telephone.

Yaqui Joe and Ace Meet on Tonight's Card

The first in a series of elimination wrestling matches will be held tonight at the Sportatorium with the winner to meet Wayne Martin, Southwestern Junior heavyweight champion, for the title on June 8, at the local arena.

Promoter Vic Burnett has four of the leading contenders for Martin's title on the card tonight, and promises to have four more next week.

Tonight's card will match Ray "Big Train" Clements of Lubbock against Billy Sandow of Youngstown, Ohio, and on the companion feature Yaqui Joe of Mexico will tangle with Ace Abbott of Abilene.

All elimination bouts will be the best two out of three falls with a one hour time limit. Homer Anderson of Pampa will referee tonight's matches, action begins at 8:15.

The Iverness Round Robin four-ball invitation golf tournament will be held in Toledo, Ohio, June 24 through 27.

Dead-Eye Joe

Joe Louis shot the head off this five-foot long blue racer snake with a .22 caliber rifle at 25 feet. The champion, doing his early conditioning on Roan's Farm, Bloomington, Mich., thus demonstrated that his aim is as good as ever for the second defense of his championship against Jersey Joe Walcott at Yankee Stadium, June 23.

In winning the Southeastern Conference football crown last autumn, Mississippi merely reversed the previous season's record — from a 1-6 mark in '46 to a 6-1 finish in '47.

Oilers Bunch Six Hits to Gain 5-4 Victory Over Lamesa

Beaumont, Dallas Race For Cellar

By the Associated Press

Dallas and Beaumont are putting on a lively race to see which can reach the Texas League cellar first. It now looks like a dead heat.

Last night while leading Fort Worth and Houston were winning their games, the hapless Rebels and Exporters were sinking into a tie for sixth, just a half-game ahead of last place Tulsa.

Beaumont had been expected to be a second-division outfit but Dallas was one of the elite in the season forecasts.

The Rebels might have trouble staying in the league if they keep up their showing of the last two nights. The opposition has scored 22 runs and Dallas has put just two men across home plate.

The second humiliating experience of the home field was at the hands of Houston, which won 11-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Pete Bryant. He allowed only one runner to get on base for the last five innings.

Tulsa and Beaumont played far into the night, having to start at 9:30 o'clock when a college game of seven innings being staged on the same field ran too long. Harry Perkowski drove in two runs in addition to doing some fine pitching in a 9-4 Tulsa triumph. One of his hits was a 350-foot homer.

Fort Worth's Cata used a couple of home runs to edge San Antonio's Missions 3-2. George Schmees socked a two-run cutter in the second inning and De Fondy broke up the game in the eighth with another four-base wallop.

Shreveport lambasted three Oklahoma City pitchers for 13 hits and a 9-2 victory. The principal sport fireworks came in the fifth when Shreveport batted around and spiked the pan for six tallies. Oklahoma City couldn't get a run across until the sixth.

Houston again will be at Dallas, San Antonio at Fort Worth, Beaumont at Tulsa and Shreveport at Oklahoma City tonight.

An old wife is a fish, an old squaw is a duck, and an oleaster is a shrub.

The Pampa Oilers made the most of six hit pitching to down the Lamesa Lobos 5 to 4 behind the impressive hurling of southpaw Charlie Kunkle at Oiler Park, last night.

Kunkle allowed six hits as did southpaw Leon Hays of the Lobos but the Oilers bunched their hits to gain one run on two hits in the first inning, and four runs on four hits in the third.

Notching more first victory of the season, Kunkle gave up three hits in the second good for three runs, and two hits in the third good for one run. A single by Lobo Second Baseman Bob Murphy in the fifth was the last hit of the game. Hays after the disastrous third proceeded to set the Oilers down without a hit during the remainder of the game.

The Oilers, who now hold down first place in the West Texas-New Mexico League standings along with the Berger Caspers, open a two-day stand with the Abilene Blue Sox at the local park tonight. Southpaw Ray Parker is slated to pitch for the Oilers in tonight's series opener.

Following the Abilene series the Oilers will meet the Berger Caspers Saturday and Sunday in Amarillo, and then move to Amarillo for a two-day stand before they return home for a nine-day siege.

The Oilers jumped to a one run lead in the first when Otey singled, stole second, and went to third on Jim Skidgel's wild throw to second. Harriman singled to score Otey.

The Lobos gained three in the second on three hits, a walk, hit and error, and a sacrifice. And then added one in the third on singles by Sturdivant and Steve Sack and an error by Oiler Right-fielder Joe Fortin.

Otey singled in the Oiler fourth and stole second. Francis Rice walked. Harriman singled to score Otey. Riley lashed a double to centerfield to score Rice and Harriman, and then after Range grounded out to Sturdivant, Fortin doubled to score Riley, and the winning run.

A double play with the bases loaded in the fifth inning killed the Lobos' only scoring threat after the third inning.

Derby Winner Looks Sharp For Preakness

BALTIMORE —(AP)— As if he were not worried about his own future, the colt who won the Kentucky Derby last year is looking sharper today than when he won the Kentucky Derby.

While old Baltimore slowly got itself into the proper frame of mind to enter the annual Preakness thousands, Calumet's trainer, Jimmy Jones, said his three-year-old star was ready for all comers.

"He's training perfectly, and worked out as sharp as a tack yesterday," Jones said.

None of the three-year-olds expected to challenge Citation raced against him in Louisville two weeks ago.

King Ranch's Better Self, third in the Wood Memorial, is on deck as is Edward, Sylvester W. Labrof's Maryland hopeful, Salmagundi, William Hells' Santa Anita Derby winner, is due on the grounds at any moment.

The last of the quartet is Vulcan's Forge from the stable of Cornelius V. Whitney.

Oilers and Berger Remain Tied for League Lead

By the Associated Press

Berger and Pampa roll along in a deadlock for the West Texas-New Mexico League lead. The way they're traveling it'll probably stay that way until these clubs meet.

Last night Pampa won its sixth straight game by edging Lamesa 5-4. The Oilers took the lead in the third inning with a four-run spurge and the game rocked along that way to the end.

Clyton Fries turned in a seven-hit pitching job to bring Berger an 8-5 win over Albuquerque. It was his fifth straight victory.

Cellar-dwelling Clovis clipped Amarillo 9-5 to knock the Gold Sox out of the first division, with Abilene advancing by downing Lubbock 7-2.

Chuck Novotney hit a three-run homer and Clovis got five runs in the eighth to beat Amarillo. Fred Fannie pitched a six-hitter in Abilene's triumph.

34th Birthday

Seven Clubs Bid For Services of TCU Diamond Star

FORT WORTH —(AP)— The college baseball player getting the most attention from big league scouts these days is a guy playing out his string on a tail-end ball club.

Jim Busby hasn't allowed the lowly estate of his team to give him an inferiority complex. He's clouting a fine .551 in the South-West Conference and is the fastest man in the circuit.

The Texas Christian University outfielder has six major league clubs and Buffalo of the International League bidding for his services. "I don't know which team I'll join, but I figure to finish the summer in a professional baseball uniform," he says.

France calls its national flag the Tri-Color.

Mack's Collection of Drafts Wins 10th Straight AL Game

What a Day!

This unidentified pint-sized fisherman did all right for himself on opening day of Reno, Nev. trout season. And better still he didn't have to play hooky to do it, for Reno declares a school holiday for all the kids the first day of the season.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK—(AP)—Johnny Lujack, who might have been a great left halfback at Notre Dame last fall if Frank Leahy had been three-deep in good quarterbacks, will play the left half spot for the Chicago Bears this year. Boss George Halas figures Sid Luckman and Bobby Layne can do an adequate job of quarterbacking. Only 23 fifties by Bull Lea (sire of Citation and Countdown) have been sold on the open market in 1948. The first four brought an average of $688; last year three averaged over $12,000. Harry Mendel, whose drumbeating at Joe Louis' camp plays up the idea the Jersey Joe Walcott "bicycled" in the Louis fight last December, claims he's going to sign up the two Jose as a six day bike race team. Too bad Bob Pastor and Gene Tunney are too old for that racket.

FAMILY ENTRANCE

Probably the biggest brother act in sports, the Myer brothers are operating at the Harrington, Del., harness racing track. Five boys, Eddie, James, Billy, Ellis and Allen, are professional drivers. Francis and Ralph drive in amateur races. Bobby helps train the Myer horses when on turf from the Army and 15-year-old Paul is learning the business. Harrison Tyler, hurdler on the William and Mary track team, is the son of Dr. Lyon Gardner Tyler, for 31 years president of the college, and grandson of John Tyler, former president of the United States.

SPORTSPOURRI

With some 200 two-year-olds stabled at Belmont, track officials expect as many as 28 starters in some of those dashes down the Widener chute. How'd you like to be the chart caller? Zeké Bonura, who has a piece of the Stamford, Conn. club in the Colonial League, gets a kick out of pointing out that he and Hank Greenberg are ball players who became club owners and both first basemen. Denny Falls, the Australian tennis player, sums up his education from the current pro tour this way: "I have become an authority on hotel rooms and I consider that a damn pretty well on the wrong side of the road."

50th Golfer Qualifies for City Tourney

With three days left to qualify in the Pampa Country Club's annual City Golf Tournament, the 50th golfer posted his score on the club course yesterday afternoon. Charlie Austin was the 50th man to qualify. He posted a 100. With the course in such good condition, Club Pro Johnny Austin stated this morning that a new record in City Tournament entries should be set. There are three days left to qualify. Additional qualifying scores posted during the week were Cletus Mitchell, 92; Ronnie Samples, 92; Louis Stiebig, 92; Fred Tinsley, 97; Herman Foster, 98; Carl Brown, 94; Russell Cartwright, 92; Dick Oden, 97; and Haskell Maguire, 78.

Magnolia Downs Jaycees 13 to 6

Magnolia beat the Jaycees 13 to 6 in a City Softball League game last night. Batteries for Magnolia were Cooper and East; for the Jaycees, Tipps and McNeely. Lindsey and Taylor hit home runs for Magnolia.

Texas Today

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

 When storms hit Texas, men of little-publicized State Highway Department swarm like ants to aid and warn the motoring public. In flooded North Texas this week those men are posted in low areas, watching the threat of high water, closing roads, warning of dangerous underpasses. We rode with one of these fellows through a blinding rainstorm at dawn Tuesday and learned the emergency workings of the Highway Department. An engineer of the Highway Department, W. C. Whitman, a native of Bowie, became a rescue expert when a storm hit the Dallas area. In his high-riding truck, he pushed stranded motorists out of practiced eyes he watched the rising waters of overflowing creeks. The thousands of Highway Department workers in Texas are coordinated by teletype from the main office in Austin. District offices are in every section of the state—generally there are about seven counties to a district. "When an emergency comes up," Whitman explained to us, "we are ready for it. When a big rain—like this one—comes along, we know where to expect trouble. We know what highways will go out first. When a Highway Department man finds a car stuck in water, he puts up signs and the stays right there with it. Generally he finds a few cars stranded and he pulls them to safety."

motorists refuse to pay attention to warnings. You can stop a car and tell the driver that the water is too high to navigate and lots of times they just plow right on into it. We have no authority to stop them—if they want to go ahead we can't do anything about it. "We're not under any obligation to pull them out when they go ahead and get stalled, either, but we nearly always do after we've let them sit there a while."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Job Had the Folks in Stitches!
 At the Friday Night Social, Job Crowell had the audience in stitches—doing a take-off on the blustering character who belittles everybody and everything that isn't from his own home town. Well, we can laugh at that sort of character because from where I sit, Americans are just the opposite. We like to boast a bit perhaps, about the paint job on the new barn, or the misus' style of cooking—but we aren't intolerant of people who don't think or act exactly the same way we do.

In our town, for instance: Some folks like bird concerts, others don't—some families serve beer with dinner, others, butter-milk—and as for politics, there's plenty of healthy disagreement. But when it comes to denying folks the right to think or act as they choose... no, we're like you—we don't believe in it, whether it goes for serving beer, or speaking one's mind on public affairs.

Observance Set For Anniversary Air Mail Flight

Galveston's participation in the National Commemoration of Air Mail's 30th anniversary May 15 to 21, includes a special air mail flight and cachet for use on envelopes carried in the flight.

The flight, from the Galveston airport at 4 p. m. May 16, will reenact one of the first mail carrying flights in the South. The flight took place in 1912 when Paul Studebaker flew his pusher-type Curtiss Biplane from Galveston Island across the bay and delivered a sack of mail to Llanquaque.

Collectors desiring the cachet may send self-addressed envelopes bearing regular air mail postage to the Postmaster, Galveston, Tex., with a note requesting a cachet service. They must reach Galveston by May 15.

Pilots from all over Texas are invited to Galveston May 16 to participate in this commemoration. William Frederick Cody, an Iowa youngster, was hired by the Missouri provisioners to supply meat for their railroad builders. Cody earned his nickname, "Buffalo Bill," by killing 4,280 bison in 18 months to feed the gangs. There are between 1,500 and 2,000 minerals known to man.

Port Arthur Gets Ready for Jubilee

PORT ARTHUR — (AP)—Visitors here this summer will think a little World's Fair is going on. Preparations for the city's Golden Jubilee Celebration are getting into high gear. Thirty thousand dollars already have been collected to finance the one-week pageant.

The opening gun of the celebration will be fired July 4. The main event will be a historical pageant to be directed and produced by the John B. Rogers Company of Fostoria, Ohio.

Home talent is being auditioned for the 1,700 cast. It will be held at the High School Football Stadium.

Parades of military units, bands and floats will be crisscrossing the town's streets. A queen's contest, to select a queen and her court to reign over the jubilee celebration, will be held; a rodeo, plus other entertainment, are some of the varied events planned. A tiny village of 765 persons in 1900, Port Arthur's population has now swelled to about 35,000. Oil refineries, chemical companies, synthetic rubber plants, ship building companies, shrimp and fishing fleets and other industries have pushed the community into the forefront of the nation's industrial areas.

Five Resources Account for 3rd Of Taxes, Fees

Production taxes on five natural resources will account for more than one-third of all taxes and license fees collected by the Texas state government during the current fiscal year.

The five natural resources are oil, gas, sulphur, carbon black and cement. Production taxes on these resources will total $102,416,000 in the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, according to an estimate made by the Texas Research Institute in an analytical study of the taxation of natural resources in Texas.

Results of the study were published this week by the institute, a statistical agency sponsored by the South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Total state taxes collected this year are estimated at $294,138,972. Production taxes on the five natural resources amount to $4,822 percent of this sum.

"During the last 10 years state tax collections as a whole have increased by 170 percent," the institute's study points out. "During these same 10 years revenue from production taxes on these natural resources has increased by more than 466 percent."

Text of the brochure setting forth results of the institute's study is supplemented by a number of charts and tables.

"State tax revenues are rising steadily without any increase in tax rates," the statistical agency reports. "This year the state will collect taxes and license fees totaling $294,138,972 as compared with $229,741,563 last year and with $205,389,695 the year before. The steady rise in collections, without an increase in rates, has been definitely established as a trend."

The institute estimates that the general revenue fund will have a surplus of more than $60,000,000 when the 51st Legislature convenes next January.

Lewis Nordyke, editor, and Gene Howe, president and publisher of the Amarillo Globe-News, were guests of honor at yesterday's noon luncheon meeting of the Pampa Rotary Club in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

Howe, a member of the Fish, Game and Oyster Commission, explained a new method of fish conservation he has been experimenting with on his own lake.

In his opinion, taking too many large fish out of a lake destroys nature's balance. Since fish propagate very rapidly, and because the larger fish prey on the smaller ones, removing too many large fish allows the lake to fill up with little ones.

There is only a certain amount of food in a lake, and if there are a large number of small fish they all are stunted in growth in their fight for food.

Howe's method was simply to remove 70 to 80 percent of the small fish from his lake.

If this project is continued each year, he said, the remaining fish will have a chance to grow to trying-pan size and there will be plenty of fish for all who use the lake.

For the benefit of the duffers present, John Studer demonstrated several different kinds of bait and fly casting equipment, and advised the tyros on what to expect from each kind.

Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools, handed each member present an opinionnaire prepared by the Offmer-Aiken Committee of the State Legislature.

The committee was set up at the last session of the Legislature, Kinard explained, to study teaching system over the whole state. The questionnaire is one means what opinions the citizens of different parts of the state hold about their school system, and their suggestions for improvement.

The daughters are: Mrs. Joe Rockhills, Sugar City, Colo.; Mrs. J. R. Monday, San Pablo, Calif.; and Patsy Barker, 6, at home.

The table was decorated with a large white cake representing a Maypole dance with a huge stick of striped peppermint candy as the pole and animal crackers representing the dancers at the end of ribbon streamers extending from the top of the pole.

Mrs. Lewter was assisted by Mrs. E. C. Curtis and Mrs. E. R. Taylor.

Refreshments of punch and cake were served.

The guests were Donna Sue Daniels, Carolyn and Geraldine Hill, Roger and Ralph Ayers, Barbara Goodnight, Tony Maples, Max Taylor, Donald Cox, Billy Hogan, Kathleen and Patti Claunch, Ella Gayle Draly, Madeline, Margaret Scott, Wanda Jo Scott, Lewis Arnell Fuller, Johnnie Coffey, Janice Kretzmer, Bett and Avenelle Hogsett and Sue Fulton.

PEOPLE STILL HUMAN

MUNCIE—Dr. O. W. Michael, who has been a physician here for 30 years, says, "The one thing that's been impressed on me is that humanity doesn't change much. You had your good people 50 years ago and you had your bad ones. It's the same today."

If you want your own letters eagerly received, take a tip from that granddaddy and always put a little present inside.

A dime takes care of the kids. But you'll have to use a little more ingenuity to include a "gift" in the letters you write to adults.

A bit of praise will do it, or a story that will bring forth a chuckle.

Good news in a letter is also a gift to the receiver. Or genuine warmth that makes the person who gets your letter feel that the writer really cares about him and what he is doing.

SOME SUGGESTIONS
Sometimes the gift can be a clipping that you know the one to whom you are writing will find interesting or amusing.

Sometimes, the nicest thing you can send in a letter is the assurance that shared pleasures of the past are remembered.

But keep in mind that grown-ups, as well as children, like to find something pleasant inside when they open a letter.

So if your letters carry a little gift, they will always be opened eagerly. But if they aren't opened with pleasant anticipation by the relative or friend who receives them, then what's the good of writing.

One granddaddy I know always encloses a dime in the letters he writes his young grandchildren. Without question he is their favorite correspondent.

Fungus Aids Golf And Sculpture

SYDNEY, Australia—A strange Australian fungus, commonly known as "blackfellow's bread," offers possibilities for sculptors—and golfers. This fungus, which is often turned over in lumps of 20 lbs. or so, resembles potato when it is dug up and can be easily cut with a pocket knife, but when it has been dried in the sun it bakes into rocklike hardness. Whether the Australian aborigines actually ever ate it is doubtful.

Children in the Australian outback cut lumps of blackfellow's bread into the shape of a ball and use it for playing cricket. It has been claimed that golf balls made from the fungus are as good as the rubber ones. Small statues and ornaments carved from the fungus can be given a high polish after up and can be easily cut with a pocket knife, but when it has been dried in the sun it bakes into rocklike hardness. Whether the Australian aborigines actually ever ate it is doubtful.

John Jay was the first Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Wayside HD Club Has Program on Freezing of Foods

Mrs. Doyle Osborne, at a recent meeting of the Wayside Home Demonstration Club which was held in the home of Mrs. H. C. Graham, gave a talk on the freezing of fruits and vegetables.

She stated that one should start with fresh fruits and vegetables of high quality and should select only those that are at the peak of maturity, just fable right. She pointed out that some fruits that are good for canning are not good for freezing. She stated that those that are bruised or too soft should not be used in other ways.

Vegetables should be blanched before freezing. Mrs. Osborne said, because this will prevent loss in flavor and quality during storage. It also brightens the color and slightly softens the products so they are easier to pack.

The cold air of the freezer tends to dry out foods, therefore foods in the freezer must be protected from the loss of moisture by a well made package of water-vapor proof or highly water-resistant material.

The club voted to send $10 to CARE to aid a rural French family.

The next meeting will be held May 13, at Mrs. Homer Taylor's home.

Refreshments were served to thirteen members, five children and four guests, Mesdames Frankie Baler, Artie Sailor, Frank Thomas, and C. R. Howard.

Process Cheese, What Is It?

Colorful packages of process cheese, in many varieties and sizes are as familiar to the American home as the neighborhood grocery. But few meal-planners realize that process cheese made its first appearance only a little more than 25 years ago. It revolutionized America's cheese-eating habits, and is credited with greatly increasing national per capita consumption of cheese.

The ease of purchase of cheese in convenient sized packages, the uniformity and dependability of flavor of process cheese, and its excellent cooking quality made an instantaneous appeal to the American meal-planner.

Just what is process cheese, and how does it differ from natural or bulk cheese? Process cheese is the result of the blending of many different lots of bulk or natural cheese of any one cheese type—American, Swiss, Limburger or others—to make a product which will be uniform in flavor and texture. Most natural cheeses vary widely in flavor and texture, depending upon many factors—the maker, the method of manufacture, the time of year the cheese is made, and the degree of curdling. In natural cheese curdling does not cease when cheese has reached its peak of flavor, but continues beyond that peak, to some degree, until the cheese is used. In process cheese, the desired flavor is maintained, since curdling is halted by pasteurization.

To secure the desired flavor and texture in finished process cheese, skilled cheese-blenders select natural cheeses from a tremendous volume held in storage—choosing cheeses of varied degrees of flavor which, when blended, will produce the most generally liked and popular taste for each variety. Others are selected for special qualities of body and texture. These selections follow an exacting formula, include scientific tests, and require great skill on the part of the blenders.

After these bulk cheeses are selected and cut into small pieces they are blended at pasteurizing temperatures. As every cook knows, natural cheese subjected to heat, the fat tends to separate from the milk solids. To insure a smooth melting and a homogeneous finished product, a very small amount of an emulsifier is added to the cheese while it is being pasteurized. This emulsifier is most frequently either sodium phosphate (a common ingredient of baking powders), or sodium citrate.

When the cheese is thoroughly blended and pasteurized, it is ready for packing. The special linings are inserted in the familiar outside package, as the packages move up the filling line, and the melted cheese is poured in. Then the wrapper is sealed and the package is closed and set aside where it may cool gradually. It is then ready for market.

The food value of process cheese is substantially that of natural cheese of the same variety. Every ounce represents highly concentrated food energy, readily digestible protein, milk minerals and vitamin A. In the process product, there is no loss to the housewife from having to remove a rind or bandage. Process cheese is familiar in half-pound, two pound and five pound package sizes. Process American is available in not one "flavor" alone, but in several gradations, from mild to medium and sharp—to suit all cheese tastes. Many other cheese types are found on the market in process form. Among them are Swiss, Limburger, Pimento and Brick.

Repatriation Is Slowing

WASHINGTON — Repatriation of war refugees and displaced persons is slowing down and almost all of the 800,000 D. P.'s in Europe must be found new homes, the International Refugee Organization (IRO) here indicates.

"As far as repatriation is concerned," IRO states, "we are now scraping the bottom of the barrel. Since the end of World War II, more than 7,250,000 displaced persons have been repatriated. The great majority of those remaining are persons who are unwilling to return to their homelands because of fears of religious or political persecution."

In the eight months up to the beginning of March, IRO points out, only 67,000 persons were repatriated, mainly to Eastern Europe, while another 125,000 people were found new homes in more than 13 countries in Europe, Africa, North and South America.

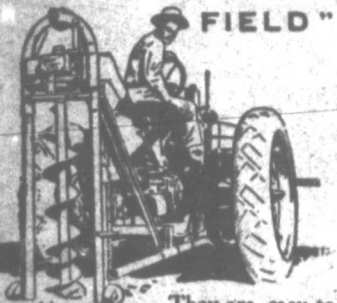

Most of the D.P.'s who are awaiting new homes, IRO says, are in Germany, but others are scattered throughout the war-devastated area.

To date, most of the refugees who found new countries remained in Europe, where Belgium and the United Kingdom have taken the largest numbers. Other nations which have received immigrants are Argentina, Australia, Brazil, France, Canada, Tunisia, The Netherlands, Palestine, Paraguay, United States and Venezuela.

Miami Farmer Builds Water Control Dam

Jake Osborne is constructing an erosion control dam on his ranch on the Canadian River, the Roberts County Soil Conservation District announced today.

This dam will turn the water out of a small draw and spread it out over a flat section of land where, it is hoped, most of it will soak into the ground.

T. S. Barclay is making an experimental planting of blue panic grass on his ranch north of Miami, and Bob McCoy is planting weeping love grass on his ranch east of town.

Results from Woodward on sage eradication with 2,4-D seem to indicate that early spraying is quite effective and that about April 15 to June 1 is the period in which it will do the best work.

CHOLERA REMEDY STUDIED

LONDON — (AP) — A new sulphonamide compound called "six two five seven" which has had "remarkable" results in treating cholera is reported by the British Medical Journal. The Journal says 82 of 85 patients who took the compound in a field test by Dr. S. S. Bhattacharya in Madras, India, survived the disease. Most recovered in three days.

"It would be rash to assert that a panacea for cholera has been obtained," the journal cautions. "Nevertheless, results are so striking they merit further investigation."

Stubble Mulching Devised As New Soil Saving Method

A new idea started 10 years ago on a few acres of Nebraska land has burgeoned into the biggest and fastest growing method of saving the wealth of America's soil, H. L. Bikeslee, Associated Press science reporter, states.

The new idea is stubble mulch farming. It saves and uses residue of the stubble, stalks, and even weeds left behind after harvesting. The trash is never removed or burned; instead, it forms a cover to protect the soil from erosion by water and wind.

Except for grazing ranges, this method now is used on more U. S. farm land than any other single method of soil conservation, an official report shows.

In 1947, stubble mulch farming was used on 15,178,000 acres of land, with 9 million having been added in the last two years. At the same time, there were 18 million acres in contour cultivation, five in cover crops, nearly 10 in seeding ranges and pastures, and 3 1/2 in strip cropping. These others are older major soil conservation practices.

And farmers in 1948 plan to use the new method in 21 million acres.

This new method was begun by the experiments by Dr. F. L. Duley and Prof. J. C. Russell on a few test acres near Lincoln, Neb. Their idea was that the left over crop residue would battle raindrops and wind.

A protecting cover of decaying cornstalks, wheat straw, or leaves acts as a shield against the steady beat of raindrops. It enables the water to seep into the ground and penetrate farther.

In dry seasons, dead vegetation helps prevent winds from blowing the topsoil away. The fields have to be prepared for planting without burying the residue from the previous crop. This is done by sub surface tillage with special V-type sweeps or other equipment. They undercut the soil at depths of two to seven inches, loosening and pulverizing it. The stubble is topped, but not plowed under; it stays on top as the sweeps cut underneath. As it

Irrigation Expert To Work Plains

Robert V. Thurmond, assistant county agent in Lamb County, was transferred to Lubbock on May 1, where he became associate county agent in irrigation for extension districts one and two—the Panhandle and South Plains areas.

Thurmond reported to District Agent W. N. Williamson's office and will be in training for his new job until about July 1, the Southwestern Crop and Stock Journal reports. He will then work with county agricultural agents and farmers in the Panhandle area on their irrigation problems. He will work under Williamson and Knox Parr, district agents of the Panhandle.

Thurmond attended Texas A.&M. College and was graduated last year with a B. S. degree in agricultural engineering. He and his wife have lived in Amherst, where he was assistant county agent until his recent appointment.

New Raspberry Bears In Summer and Fall

A new red raspberry which bears both summer and fall crops of berries has been developed at the New York Experiment station at Geneva, the Farm Journal reports.

It has been christened September, because that is when its full crop starts to mature. The summer crop ripens two to four weeks ahead of Indian Summer, an older two-crop variety.

September is the result of crossing the Marcy and Renee varieties.

Second Story Work On German Trains Is Top Activity

BERLIN — (AP) — Train robbery in postwar, disarmed Germany is more in the art of the second-story burglar than the wild west holdup man. In fact, one of the main weapons against train bandits is searchlights, which either put them to rout or make them prey to capture.

Powerful spotlights have recently been installed upon mail trains which travel from the major U. S. and British ports in Germany, Bremen and Hamburg, through the Russian occupation zone to Berlin.

The action was taken after such trains had become the major target of bandits because they were heavily laden with mail, money, and gift parcels mailed by U. S. and British citizens to relatives and friends in Germany.

The bandits operate slyly. They know where the trains travel slowly and there they mount them and, while the cars are in motion, break open their doors and toss out the booty for accomplices to pick up along the rails. When the train slows down again, the robbers jump off. With their new searchlight equipment, amplified train guard personnel now light up the mail trains at stop stations and slow-speed stretches of their

McLean Man Builds Water Diversion Dam

Ernest Godfrey has completed a stock pond, diversion terrace and part of a terrace system on his farm two and a half miles southwest of McLean as a part of his soil and water conservation program, members of the Gray County Soil Conservation office announce.

The terrace system, which will be completed in the next two or three years, is to keep sufficient small grain or sorghum stubble on the land as a protection from wind and water erosion when no crop is growing. The terrace is to divert excessive water off the crop land.

Godfrey also seeded 20 acres of Yellow Blossom sweet clover and Madrid clover for soil improvement and summer pasture with the possibility of seed production. As part of the program he will change 70 acres of crop land to grass, will use crop residues to prevent wind erosion and, in general, change his cropping system.

The cultivated fields have been damaged in the past due to runoff water from an adjoining farm. One gully cut by the water measured 12 feet deep and several feet wide. Godfrey plans to plant his steeper land back to grass in sorghum stubble. This was done previously in order to check the erosion and slow down the runoff water. The water, in this way, will be diverted off the fields into the stock pond.

It will be remembered that the United States Steel Company was one of the large corporations that first helped bring about inflation. It was the first steel company...
