Three Armor Divisions On Heels Of Foe

By The Associated Press CAIRO, Nov. 6—Three fast armored divisions of the British Eighth Army led by Lieut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery have driven two wedges through Marshal Rommel's forces; and are fighting inside enemy positions.

The Axis high commands conceded the Allied offensive was nearing Matruh, 104 miles west of the old El Alamein battleline, but the British said officially only that the battle had been carried "well west of El Daba," 33 miles from El Alamein. Tanks were operating at the heels positions, the Navy reported yesof the Axis retreat in the El Daba tor. a British communique said. Portions of Rommel's Armies which nanaged to escape the tank wedg- 30 machine guns. ing and encirclement were said by intgomery to be in full retreat.

This situation - of deep tank thrusts encirclement and hammering pursuit—suggested the fate of the German-Italian North African corps might well be sealed before the surviving portions could retreat across the Egyptian Libyan border some 150 miles farther west.

Victory Called Complete And Absolute Today

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor Britain's triumphant Egyptian armies were reported battling Axis rearguards today well beyond El Daba, 33 miles west of El Alamein, while dispatches from Greece said Adolf Hitler had sent a fleet of 500 planes to rush fresh troops across the Mediterranean in an attempt to avert utter disaster.

On the battlefield, Lieut. B. L. Montgomery declared the British 8th Army had already won "complete and absolute victory" over Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's battered legions. A bulletin from British headquarters this morning announced Stalin Blames "The Eighth Army continued its pursuit of the enemy throughout yesterday. 'Our armored forces are in con-German Gains repulse." (A well-informed British source at London said of the land offensive that "there is reason to believe that the communique. our armored forces now have succeeded in getting behind some of the retreating German and Italian forces and that their retreat is virtually cut off. drive

("There are high hopes that we may be able to annihilate them completely without having to chase them across the Libyan desert as in other advances.")

The steady liquidation of Rommel's forces was recorded today in official disclosure that his losses by capture alone now total more than 13,000 men and that at least 339 of his tanks have been knocked out.

The full measure of Rommel's defeat was indicated in a British communique which told of a roundup of large number of Italians afoot apparently abandoned in their in land positions while the Germans on wheels or caterpillar trucks tried to save themselves by flight along the coastal road.

The Axis High Commands still led the British in progress reports on the Allied offensive. The broadcast communiques from Rome and Berlin placed the area of violent etween Fuka and Matruh -62 and 104 miles west of the original El Alamein line.

The new British figures on tanks destroyed and prisoners taken incorporated the latest figures, 4.000 more men and at least 79 more tanks. And still the roundup went on in the desert and the relentless attacks on Rommel's rearguards continued along the coastal road, paced by a continuous aerial offensive which dwarfed the Axis air efforts.

Censorship To Be Explained By News Editor here Thursday to Donald O. Gas- 13 Americans On On KPDN's Town Forum Program Next Monday

Because of increasing questions about newspaper and radio censorship, Tex DeWeese, managing editor of The News and news editor of Radio Station KPDN, will appear on Our Town Forum over KPDN at 7:15 p. m. Monday to tell listeners why certain news is withheld and to impress on the public that individuals should also refrain from circulating certain types of information in wartime. At the request of government authorities, Mr. DeWeese will also explain the Code of Wartime Practices for press and radio as drawn up by the U.S. Office of Censorship.

Because this information is vital to every individual, Herman Kreiger, manager of Station KPDN, today urged listeners to tune in for the Our Town Forum program from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. Monday.

"There has been a great deal of confusion about voluntary wartime censorship," Mr. Kreiger said today, "and listeners will find Monday's discussion by Mr. DeWeese on the Our Town Forum program interesting and highly informative. They will be able to understand many things which heretofore have caused them to be confusied.'

He didn't discover the error until two plays had been run and when he finally sent in the eleventh man, his team was penalized for taking too many times out . . In this connection, Jim Schlemmer of the Akron Beacon-Journal points out that Coach Rosy Star of Kent State college was a bit smarter. Finding he had twelve men on the field, Rosy sent in two suband while they were reporting beckoned three players to the sideline.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1942

A Texas food standard buffet huncheon was served to 15 members and Mrs. Julia Kelly, county home demonstration agent, at the achievement day meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration club, this week in the home of Mrs. E. E. Ethridge

The fall color scheme was carried out in the flower arrangement and table setting. Handmade corsages of fall flowers were brought by the members and pinned on according to the colors of the dresses as mem-bers took their places.

"For a newly organized club of 16 active members, seven of whom had done little or no canning before organizing the achievements for the past year are gratifying," Mrs. Kelley past year are gratifying," Mrs. Kelley stated. 3,710 quarts of food have been canned and 35 pounds dried. In the display of garden fruits and vegetables arranged by Mrs. B. W. Bettis, Mrs. A. Swafford show-ed potatoes grown in her garden potatoes grown in her garden ich was planted August 17, two which was planted August 17, two days after the time set for all planting. Mrs. Lucian Bryant's strawberries were grown in a bed from which she gathered more than 150 gallons this year. Mrs. T. L. Mrs. C. B. Haney strives for a tandard balanced ration in her canned meats, vegetables, fruits, and other stored foods grown at home. Mrs. H. H. Threat finds that buying ner fruits and vegetables for canning pays better than growing them. Mrs. Ethridge's display, canned entirely from her garden, won many ribbons in the garden show. Many articles of made over garments and quilt tops made of old silk dresses proved that Merten women are patriotic and war-mind-

The defense report showed that $15,700 worth of war bonds had been purchased by the members: 13,961 pounds of scrap metal, 3313 pounds of rubber, and 18 pounds of fat have been turned in to aid in the war effort. 220 hours of Red Cross work have been completed.

CALUMET MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons Calumet Baking 1 egg, well beaten Powder 1 cup milk 2 tablespoons sugar 4 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, and salt, and sift again. Combine egg, milk, and shortening; add to flour, beating only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425° F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Makes 12 muffins. (All measurements are level.)

DON'T RELY ON SANTA---

... to bring you a new Electric

Refrigerator this year!

Santa may bring you a new coat or a new dress or almost anything else . . . but you'll not find an electric refrigerator delivered at your door Christmas morning. The manufacturers of electric refrigerators are putting all their efforts into war production, and there won't be any new one even for Santa. This means that you'll have to make your present refrigerator last for the duration. Keep your refrigerator in good mechanical condition by having it repaired if any mechanical defect shows up, you are helping the war effort not only by keeping the manufacturers working only on war materials but you are also helping to maintain the health of your family. It is your duty to keep your electric refrigerator in working condition

War Creates New Nee For Poppy Fund Aid

The war has created a greater need than ever for proceeds of the annual Buddy Poppy sale of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to Commander Fred L. Fender, Pampa Post, No. 1657. Heretofore, the sale originated in 1922, has been conducted for benefit of the national home for orphans and widows of war veterans, and for disabled and needy veterans, and their dependents, Commander Fender explained. "Today, for the first time in the 20 years of the poppy sale, men in active service, and their dependents. are eligible for assistance," Commander Fender said.

By-laws of the V. F. W. provide that V. F. W. relief funds may be used for needy soldiers, sailors and marines, and dependents. With virtually all of the 3.600 V. F. W local posts and more than 2,50 auxiliary chapters conducting war programs in their respective communities, the need for augmented funds is obvious, especially when it is remembered such funds must also afford relief to veterans and their depedents."

Literally thousands of war activities are being sponsored in every section of the country by V. F. W. units, he explained, thus creating a heavier drain on post funds than ever before. As the months go on.

Ingenuity Misapplied

If some of the ingenuity now being applied to evading and avoiding wartime restrictions could be concentrated against the Axis, our progress toward peace ould be expedited.

Few of us are so removed from the rush of affairs which the intent of war regulations is given the runaround.

For example, an apparently reliable story is circulating in Washington about how some landlords are beating the rent ceiling. A house, let's say, is supposed to rent for $75 a month. But residences in the nation's capital are worth almost their weight in fine gold, and the owner is not satisfied with the ceiling income.

What does he do? He "sells" the house for $125 down and $125 a month, with an understanding that when the "buyer" is through he will default on payments and permit the house to revert to the "seller." This isn't a sharp business trick. It is deliberate tiolation of a necessary and proper regulation, designed to protect literally hundreds of thousands of new government employes against gouging.

Washington is so packed that another sharp workar-quite legally, it appears-took over a two-story be not more than $420 a month, and is renting to 140 soldiers at $20 a month each. For this the soldier gets the use of a cot, plus one foot clearance on each side, plus use of a study table and toilet facilitiesbut no screens and, thus far, no evidence of heating equipment for the approaching winter.

A manufacturer found his contracts with a Navy ward banned because the WPB forbade use of steel for his product. But his competitors took over the siness and filled the orders.

They did it quite legally, mercly by changing the name of the equipment to something not covered by the WPB's ban.

"The moment any restrictive regulation appears." says this manufacturer, "the lawyers are called in to see how to get around it and keep in business. The factory whose lawyer gets the answer first has the jump on his competitors."

These aren't isolated incidents. They are typical. Almost anybody who gets around can substitute his own observations for those three.

Apparently there still are many who do not comprehend that this is total war-that we can not tol- owned the means of production and controlled arate any obstructionism for private benefit if we are production and distribution. To claim that we going to wiin.

A STRANGE IDEA OF "NECESSARY FREEDOM"

A New Deal contribuor writer, "I honestry believe that public ownership and our operation of production and distribution is the best means of producing plenty to keep everyone from penury or want." He further says that he believes the government ownership or operation of production and distribution would not interfere with our "necessary freedom."

Of course, he does not define what he means by "necessary freedom", but if this be true then we can delegate control to others and still have the freedom ourselves. State ownership, under a majority rule country, would of necessity mean that no enterprise could be undertaken without the consent of the bureaucrats in charge of the government. An individal who had an idea would not be free to have it tried, even if he had his that we do not know of at least a few strategems by own savings, without the consent of the government. Nor would he be free to have it tried, if he could find many people who were willing to finance it.

In fact, if the state owned all productive and distributive methods, an individual could not even print a book or a newspaper that did not meet the approval of the state.

Free enterprise means what it says; that men are, free to produce and exchange anything that people want

We would ask this contributor by what impersonal rule he would determine what would be interfering with "necessary freedom"?

Every man would be prohibited from using his savings to produce other wealth. He must turn all his savings over to the state and have the state determine how it shall be used. He even could not have all he produced, if he produced more than the state thought he needed.

Of course, the very worst thing about state socialism is that it takes away the "necessary brick warehouse, on which the normal rental would freedom" of an individual-the individual's right of choice.

> For any one to contend that we can have state socialism and at the same time have freedom, is to contend that we can be free and not free at the same time.

> Of course, the old shibboleth of socialists is from each according to his ability and to each according to his needs. But that is a procedure that has to be established arbitrarily by force, by some dictator or some bureaucrat appointed by the majority. It is not a principle or a rule. It is the very antithesis of freedom. If a man does not get all he produces and does not have the right to spend it, or save it, or use it, or lend it, or give it away, he is not free. He acts under compulsion. He is no more free than cattle that the farmer feeds. Would we be free if Hitler had the right to be would be, as to say that we do not interfere with our "necessary freedom" if our own government can have state socialism and freedom at the same time is to use words with no meaning. It is a babble of tongues. Statements of this kind are made only by men who are lonesome and want to be seen and heard of men and have no desire to find the truth.

Today's War

of the country to its foundations Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national lective service director, operated this spotlight by disclosing to the Senate military affairs committee that five and one-half million people are on the payrolls of Federal, state and local Govrnment

Terming this a "luxury we cannot afford,' General Hershey declared:

"It seems to me that five and a half million ployes is too large a proportion of man power to be used in a luxury Government."

Supplementing this disclosure, Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia remarked that roughly half of the total Government personnel in the country in the Federal employ, and commented:

"Out of the 2,500,000 Federal employes scattered through Washington and other cities, onethird or some 800,000 could be eliminated.

'Not only would this elimination not harm the functioning of the Government, it would actually result in increased efficiency.

"There are so many employes now, particu-larly in non-defense work, that many of them are getting in each other's way.

It is no wonder that agriculture is short of hands, with a diminishing national food supply as the result; that industry and especially war production industry is short of workers, with insufficient arms, planes, ships, tanks and guns for the fighting forces as the result: that even the forces themselves are finding it difficult to build up adequately for the winning of the war.

If Senator Byrd is correct that nearly one million people could be released from Federal em ployment today, not only without injury to essential Federal services but with actual benefit to them, distinct relief and possibly solution of the man power shortage is offered.

Without question, an important part of the million would be eligible for military service and would augment the armed forces substantially.

Another important part could be utilized in agriculture, with instant and notable improvement of the food situation.

Another equally important part could be emoyed in war production industries, with impetus to the flow of materials to the righting fronts. It is indeed a "luxury we cannot afford" to have this palpable waste of manpower, at a time when shortage of hands is obstructing the war and prolonging it and raising the spectre of losing it.

General Hershey and Senator Byrd are to be commended for spotlighting this grave weakness the American war program.

While it is nothing new that has been dislosed, since excessive political patronage has lways burdened the country grievously even in etime-it is something more unnecessary than before and something less excusable than before and something infinitely more costly and dangerous than ever before.

But neither before nor since the war has the ongress done so, or seriously attempted to do so. perica is paying a dire price for that neglect ng it in terms of insufficient war producanned armed forces and of strinduced consumer goods of all kinds,

Let us dispense with this burden of "luxury" Government.

It was responsible for the deplorable unpreparedness of America for this war. It is obstructing our successful conduct of the war. It constitutes a grave threat to our winning of the war.

SCREWY FIGURES

(Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette)

Paul McNutt says he is informed it takes 18 workers in industry to support one man in the armed services. He says we have about 5,000,000 in uniform and that the potential working force of the United States is 80 million.

Multiply 5 million by 18 and you have 90 million. That is 10 million more workers than we have to support those 5 million armed men. But remember-those 5 million came out of the 80 million, so we have only 75 million, or 15 million less than enough to do the work. Yet the work is being done.

If we put 10 million in the armed services-and it looks like that is the aim—we shall then have reduced that 75 million to 70 million working people. Yet we will need 90 million more workers to support the armed forces, 18 to one, 180 million in all. Then we shall have to have 110 million more people working to support our armed forces than there are workers.

Our head goes around and around. Or is it Paul's head?

PREMIER SMUTS COULD HAVE SAID MORE (Chicago Tribune)

Premier Smuts of South Africa told a joint meeting of the lords and commons in London a few days ago that the defensive stage of the war has been concluded and that the moment has come for the united nations to assume the offensive.

"Once the time has come to take the offensive and to strike while the iron is hot, it would be folly to delay, to overprepare and perhaps miss the opportunity; nor are we likely to do so-of I am satisfied," he said. that

There is, of course, much truth in Premier Smuts' analysis. He is right when he says that the enemy has mobilized all his resources and cannot increase them and that we are still growing in strength. All this, and much more that is favorable to our side, is true.

Premier Smuts, however, seems to have over looked one important point. When the assault upon the enemy is launched there will be heavy losses and a need for vast numbers of men to maintain our strength. If the attack takes place outside Africa there will be few, if any, of Premier countrymen to share the risk and the for the South African contingents are Smuts' burden. permitted to fight only in Africa. The address was intended to be heartening but it would have been a good deal more so if Premier Smuts had pledged himself to attempt to persuade his countrymen to accept full part-nership in the joint effort. South Africa fought in Europe in the last war and was duly rewarded with territorial concessions, in spite of the do-minion's record of discrimination against the native black men.
