Tempo Of War Rising All Over World; U. S. Troops Rushing East

By RICHARD McMURRAY Associated Press War Editor
American and Japanese fleets battled for supremacy in the warm Pacific waters around the Solomon Islands Saturday night while United States and British forces of all arms proceeded swiftly to clear Africa of the Axis and expose Southern Europe for invasion.

Ships of the Rising Sun and the Stars and Stripes had been lost, but the Navy department gave no details of the series of sea engagements still continuing. To announce details now would furnish the Japanese information of definite value, a communique said.

Big Time Band Will Feature Annual API Dance; Affair Wednesday May Be Last For Rest Of War

Big time music played in a big time manner will combine to form the No. 1 amusement attraction when Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute holds its annual membership dance at 9 p. m. Wednesday at the Southern club.

I HEARD . . .

That a "gold mine" fell off a delivery truck here recently, between city hall and the 400 block on E. Foster. A case containing 240 pairs of women's silk hosiery was lost. The driver notified the loss shortly but when he drove back, some one already had picked up the box, which was consigned to a local store. "Two hundred and 40 pairs of hose is too much for any one woman," the driver opined. He hopes a twinge of conscience will lead the finder to return it to its rightful owner, whose name was on the case.

Public Welcome

There are only a few days left to buy tickets, so Pampanas and other Top O' Texans are advised to get theirs at once. Always well attended, the A. P. In view of fantastic Japanese claims in the past, there was no reason to believe Tokyo broadcasts that six Allied cruisers and a destroyer had been sunk, and that two cruisers and three destroyers were damaged heavily. Tokyo put its own losses at two destroyers sunk and a battleship damaged. Three transports were set afire in the fight the Japanese started, the Japanese said.

Both sides agreed that the battle which started Wednesday (Thursday, East Longitude Time) night was continuing. Opposing ships seemed deployed over wide areas fighting individual group battles.

The fight at sea overshadowed the struggle on Guadalcanal where U. S. Marines and soldiers were fighting against reinforced Japanese forces, intent upon retaking Henderson field.

The thousand-mile African gap of Tunisia and Libya, which the Axis still dominated tentatively, was being narrowed by the hour.

American and British forces swept east against Tunisia were consolidating their positions at the approaches to the French protectorate where the French garrison in Tunis was reported battling Germans hastily flown in. Ports and airports occupied in Algeria and French Morocco already were in operation. One report said the Allies already had crossed the Tunisian border.

Planes from Malta bombed the German airdrome at Tunis heavily; later they shot down seven big. See TEMPO, Page 6.

One Of Crew Dies at Sea; 3 Flyers Safe On Island

By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, the man who always comes back, has done it again—rescued by a big Navy Catalina flying boat after three perilous weeks adrift in a tiny rubber raft on the broad expanse of the South Pacific.

The Navy announced the rescue today, adding that all seven of the airmen who, with Rickenbacker, were forced down by an empty gas tank Oct. 21, had now been accounted for. But one, Sergeant Alexander Kaczmarek, died on the raft, and was buried at sea.

With the celebrated World War flying ace on the raft were Colonel Hans C. Adamson and Private John F. Bartek. It was they who watched Kaczmarek succumb to exposure and hardship. It was they who buried him.

Three more of the Rickenbacker party—Lieutenant James C. Whitaker, Lieutenant John J. de Angellis and Staff Sergeant James Reynolds, were found on a small island in the South Pacific.

The rescue at sea of Captain William Cherry, the pilot of Rickenbacker's plane, was announced yesterday. Thus, the roll call of the group was complete.

Rickenbacker, 52 years old, with another of his many close brushes with death safely behind him, was reported in good condition, as was Adamson. Bartek's condition was serious but he was expected to recover.

The condition of the men found on the island was not reported immediately. A Naval medical officer was flown to their speck of land at once, and all will be returned to a specific Naval base.

Rickenbacker, an advisor to Secretary of War Stimson, was en route to the South Pacific war zone from Hawaii to make a survey of air force activities there. On Oct. 21 he reported by radio that the plane had scarcely enough gasoline left for an hour's flying.

Then silence. A thorough but fruitless search was made. Many gave up hope. These, however, did not include Stimson, who said Rickenbacker.

Stalin Praises U.S. African Drive

Refutes Claims Of Weakness Skeptics Made

(Editor's Note: Less than six weeks ago, Henry C. Cassidy, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Moscow, scored a journalistic coup when he obtained from Joseph Stalin a written statement expressing for the first time the Soviet premier's views on the second front question. Now Cassidy has scored again by obtaining from Stalin his reactions to the Allied thrust into North Africa.)

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Copyright, 1942, By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, Nov. 14—Joseph Stalin gave high praise today to the American and British campaign in North Africa and declared that it had created the prerequisites for a second front in Europe and shifted the political and military situation in Europe "in favor of the Anglo-Soviet - American coalition."

HENRY CASSIDY

In his second letter to this correspondent in six weeks, the Soviet leader said the operations in North Africa could have been executed only by "first rate organizers" and pledged "the Red army will fulfill its task with honor, as it has been fulfilling it throughout the war."

The Soviet leader said the North African campaign would result in "a certain relief in pressure" on the Soviet union in the near future, and provided the "prospect of the disintegration of the Italo-German coalition."

The authorized English translation of the text of Stalin's letter follows:
"Dear Mr. Cassidy:
"I am answering your questions which reached me on Nov. 12th.
"One: What is the Soviet view of

Stalin Happy

Joseph Stalin, head of the Soviet Union, who has expressed his criticism of Allied failure to open a second front in Europe to relieve pressure upon the embattled Reds, today gave a second interview to A. P. Correspondent Henry Cassidy, forecasting Hitler's doom.

the Allied campaign in Africa?
"Answer: The Soviet view of this campaign is that it represents an outstanding fact of major importance, demonstrating the growing might of the armed forces of the Allies, and opening the prospect of the disintegration of the Italo-German coalition in the nearest future."

Refutes Skeptic
"The campaign in Africa refutes once more the skeptics who affirm that Anglo-American leaders are not capable of organizing a serious war campaign. There can be no doubt that no one but first rate organizers could carry out such serious war operations as the successful landings in North Africa across the ocean, as the quick occupation of harbors and wide territories from Casablanca to Ougie and as the smashing of Italo-German armies in the western desert, being effected with such ease."

"Two: How effective has this campaign been in relieving pressure on the Soviet union and what further aid does the Soviet union await?
"Answer: It is yet too soon to say to what extent this campaign has been effective in relieving immediate pressure on the Soviet union. But it may be confidently said that the effect will not be a small one and that a certain relief in pressure on the Soviet union will result in the nearest future."

"But that is not the only thing that matters. What matters first of all is that since the campaign in Africa means that the initiative has passed into the hands of our allies, the campaign changes radically the political and war situation in Europe in favor of the Anglo-Soviet-American coalition; that that campaign undermines the prestige of Hitlerite Germany as a leading force in the system of the Axis powers, and demoralizes Hitler's allies in Europe; that the campaign released France from her state of 'charity and mobilizes anti-Hitler forces in France, and provides a basis for building up an anti-Hitler French army; that the campaign creates conditions for putting Italy out of commission and for isolating Hitlerite Germany; finally, that the campaign creates the prerequisites for establishment of a second front in Europe nearer to Germany's vital centers, which will be of decisive importance for organizing victory over Hitlerite tyranny."
"Three: What possibility is there of Soviet offensive power in the East joining the Allies in the West to hasten the final victory?
"Answer: There need be no doubt that the Red army will fulfill its task with honor as it has been fulfilling it throughout the war."

"With respect, (signed) J. Stalin."

The letter was leading news of the day on front page of Soviet newspapers, being displayed even ahead of the daily war communique, and was broadcast repeatedly over the Moscow radio. It first was read over the radio at 6 p. m. and twice in full before 9 a. m.

It was the first time that the Soviet people learned of the official pleasure and satisfaction held here at the Allied North African campaign. Heretofore the only comment had been a carefully-worded but friendly article of comment.

Darlan, Supposed Hater Of British, May Have Been Master Strategist

By JOHN FERRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

One of the most engaging mysteries of the Vichy regime is provided for the apparent about-face of Admiral Jean Darlan, once regarded as one of the most violently anti-British followers of Marshal Petain.

By accident or design, Darlan has now become a prisoner of the Allied forces, and is sitting at their council tables in Algiers. He has ordered the French to cease hostilities, and has appealed to the French fleet to sail from Toulon to North Africa.

These developments, viewed against the background of the past two years, have furnished a fascinating subject for speculation.

Was he really sincere in his collaboration or was he carrying on a gigantic piece of play-acting?

Consider the case: One day he is denouncing the British for their invasion of Madagascar and by inference the United States as well for its support of that action, labelling the British "highway robbers" and condemning "Anglo-Saxons" in general.

Now he apparently is persuaded that a better course is to accept the Allied successes in French territory, convinced that the United States has no territorial ambitions, and that France will ultimately rise again. Thus he urges the military cooperation of other Frenchmen with the United Nations.

Was Go-Between
One day he is talking bitterly of a possible Allied invasion of Dakar and French West Africa. Three weeks later he is conferring with the men whom he had told the world, he would fight in defense of the French empire.

He talks to Hitler and Ribbentrop and to other Nazis. For months he shuttles between Vichy and Paris, between Petain and Pierre Laval and the Nazi conquerors. Now he turns to the men intent on crushing Hitler.

Only one thing seems to stand out consistently in those two and a half years during which he held the British to be his foes. That was his reiterated determination never to surrender the fleet to the Germans. He might say openly he hated the British, and term the British blockade of France "imbecile," but he would never permit the seizure of the fleet. And he inspected it regularly.

"I assume full responsibility for French interests in Africa," he said in his broadcast statement yesterday, adding that he had "the approval of American authorities with whom I count on assuring the defense of North Africa."

While the French fleet was so close to Darlan's heart he had, odd as it may seem, never been to sea with it during a major conflict.

It was on land that he served France in the first World War, commanding, from 1914 to 1918, a naval battery which twice helped to save Verdun. He fought on the Marne, at Champagne, Flanders and Salonika, and was repeatedly cited for marksmanship, coolness, energy and decisiveness.

His great grandfather, a gunner, was killed at the battle of Trafalgar, a French defeat. His grandfather also was a sailor; his father, a politician, who once served as minister of justice.

Some people attributed his avowed hatred of the British to their attack on the French warships off Oran on July 4, 1940, when the British feared the vessels would go to the Axis. The abortive assault on Dakar by British and Free French forces was considered as having deepened this open distrust and dislike.

On Sept. 26 there were Axis reports that the Allies were planning an attack on Dakar. Darlan later visited Dakar and then inspected French military defenses along the great stretch of northwest coast. He might have been in that area when General Clark and his Commando-led force made their trip, which Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said was three weeks before the occupation began.

Benjamin Franklin's mother-in-law is said to have hesitated at letting her daughter marry a printer. There were two printing offices in the United States already. She was dubious about the country being able to support a third.

The heaviest steam locomotive operated on Canadian National Railways—the 6,200 class—weighs 677,000 pounds.

Admiral Jean Darlan has the arm chair "figurers-out" bothered. He openly and often voiced hatred of Britain and the British, served Vichy, even Laval and Hitler—then jumped to the Allies. Was he playing a game? If so, he seems to have drawn his card.

Pampa Police To Have Radio Soon

Pampa police cars soon will be equipped with two-way radio sets, and there will be a transmitter at the police station, connecting Pampa, with Amarillo, Vernon, Wichita Falls, and Lubbock.

Fermission was granted by the Federal Communications commission Friday for the installation of the police radio network here.

Last May the city commission passed an order approving an appropriation for the system, but the operation has been delayed by war restrictions.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Stocks generally crawled over a narrow trail in today's brief market session. Despite peace issues inclined to cash profits on the idea the run-up in this group may have been excessive, most market analysts believe. Transfers for the two hours ran to around 250,000 shares, one of the smallest turnovers for the past several months.

Grain Men Planning March on Washington

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14 (AP)—The National Federation of Grain Co-operators—planning a miniature march on Washington—denounced certain governmental price policies as demoralizing to the flour trade.

A score of the larger American marketing centers will be represented at a protest meeting next Friday by private grain dealers and officers of farmers' cooperative marketing groups, federation leaders said last night.

President M. W. Thatcher, St. Paul, and Secretary Akmal W. Nielsen, Omaha, said flour price ceilings have caught the mills in a squeeze between wheat prices and flour ceilings.

Publishers To Meet In 1943, Directors Vote

There is greater need for newspapermen to get together in war-time and take over their problems than there is in peace-time.

Directors of the Panhandle Press Association reached that decision yesterday afternoon when they convened at a luncheon meeting in Hotel Herring, Amarillo, to discuss the feasibility of holding their annual convention in 1943.

So the 32nd annual convention of the PPA will be held in Amarillo next April 9 and 10, and the long chain of annual conferences by North Plains publishers, editors, advertising men and printers will remain unbroken. The association has nearly 200 members.

Common Ground

"I speak the common word of God, I give the sign of God, I will accept nothing which all counterparty of on the same terms." -WALT WHITMAN.

"BLUEPRINT FOR VICTORY" I have just been reading in Homer Brett's new book, "The Blueprint for Victory". His theory is that our first problem is to concentrate our efforts to crush Japan before we take on the Nazis.

His theory that we should not devote so much energy by way of Australia and the Solomons. He points out that the distances that way are entirely too long.

His blueprint for victory is to take the Aleutians and from there we are only 780 miles from the northernmost defense of the Japs.

"In February, 1941, I was talking with an admiral who has served more than forty years in the United States Navy. He had been telling me about the Aleutian Islands and remarked that Attu, the westernmost of them, is in the Eastern Hemisphere and that the Japs probably know more about it than we do, although it is American territory.

"Where is that, he replied. I don't know anything about it." "Perhaps I pronounced it wrong," I said. So I wrote the name out on a menu card.

"I'm sorry," he replied after reading, "but it means nothing to me." "Admiral," I exclaimed in astonishment, "Paramushiru is Japan's northernmost fortified port and air station in the Kurile Islands, and it is five hundred or a thousand times as important to Japan as Pearl Harbor is to us, for Pearl Harbor is 2,200 miles from our western coast while Paramushiru is only about 1500 miles from the very heart of the Japanese Empire."

"Well," he answered, pocketing the card, "I'm going to ask around the Department and see how many other officers ever heard of it."

"I never heard the result, but I wondered if there were an ensign in the Nipponese Navy who did not know quite a lot about Pearl Harbor and Panama. The incident emboldened me to write this perhaps presumptuous essay."

His theory is that we should get the Aleutians and fortify them with strong airplane and naval bases and from there jump the 780 miles to Paramushiru or in that vicinity. Here is how he describes the importance of this attack:

"The seizure of such an island, when attempted, should be regarded as the major and decisive action of the whole war, and nothing owned by the United States that floats or flies should be left unutilized. While this attack was under way and until it was concluded by victory or defeat, no defense of Panama, Pearl Harbor, San Francisco, or any other point on our Pacific Coast, would be necessary. The enemy would desperately need his all and everything to try to parry this mortal thrust at his vitals."

The author is of the opinion that Japan is one country that can be conquered by airplanes. He, like Seversky, Ziff, editor of "Flying" and "The Coming Battle of Germany", and Harris, editor of "The Life Line of Victory" are of the opinion that we must control the air. He has little respect for dreadnaughts, as these other writers do. Here is what he says about dreadnaughts:

"They are so tremendously costly and at the same time so pitifully vulnerable to aerial bombs and torpedoes and to submarine attack that the first care of every admiral is to hide his battleships in some Scape Flow or other secure location and to use a large force of smaller ships and planes in guarding the approaches to the hiding-place so that the enemy's scouts or spies cannot find them. Theoretically, at least, an advantage would accrue to that combatant who at the outbreak of a war would carefully and secretly sink all his own battleships."

"The Blueprint for Victory" is a very interesting and timely book on the strategy that should be used in this war. The author has rendered a service in emphasizing the necessity of the Aleutians route to Japan and the method of an offensive against the Japs.

British empire to the United States have given our administration the whip hand. The course dictated to the Canadians is as injurious to their economic interests as it is to freedom on this side of the border. It would not be adopted by them if they were free agents.

KAISER ON COMPETITION (New York World-Telegram) Henry J. Kaiser has reduced the man hours of labor in constructing a 10,500 ton victory ship from 900,000 to 375,000. That's how the 10 day record was set. He expects to reduce the man hours to 300,000. And here is his most interesting and significant comment—that he doesn't expect to hold the record.

"I don't think we will be out in front very long," he says. "I certainly hope not. This is something America can do. It is America. That's what we live on—free competition, something we have on all our enemies. And that is how we will beat them. We constantly devise new means of producing with less work so we can produce more. For example, right now we have a cement plant producing five million barrels a year. We have every method and time saving device available and are constantly advancing. Even if Japan furnished free labor for a competitive plant we could still compete."

THE BRIGHT CONTINENT

News Behind The News The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER CAUGHT: Two of Hitler's most formidable agencies in spearheading his 1940 conquest of Europe—his intelligence service and his fifth columnist—were completely outsmarted by the American invasion of North Africa. The operation was conducted with great secrecy. Aside from the elaborate preparations involving millions of tons of shipping, tanks, artillery, planes, food and men, which transformed docks and military centers here and in England into beehives, there were many other closely guarded moves.

The leaflets containing appeals to the natives were printed in England. In order to obtain the cooperation of Generals Charles de Gaulle and Henri Giraud, the fighting French in France and Africa had to be let in on the plan. Rio de Janeiro was tipped off so that Brazil's ambassador to Portugal, timing his visit with F. D. R.'s nine o'clock message, and could assure Lisbon that the attack meant no threat to her sovereignty. Radio and newspapers were alerted to go along had to be informed so they could procure the proper gear for the African climate and terrain.

Meanwhile our military representatives, posing as civilian inspectors and pseudo-diplomats in occupied France, Madrid, the Portuguese capital and in French Morocco, were watching the enemy closely and making full reports on its strength, powers of resistance and prospective reaction toward our intervention. Der Fuehrer was indulging in underestimation when he admitted to his Munich beer hall speech that he had been caught "off guard." The heads of some of Himmler's agents may roll.

HERO: The wooing and winning of the famous General Giraud to our side demonstrates conclusively that the French people favor the Allied cause over the Vichy government and will welcome a republic on this side of the democracies. The incident is one of the most stirring individual exploits of the war.

The famous commander, who escaped from a German prison in the last struggle, Houdinied himself out of an enemy fortress six months ago. His ability to rope scale a steep wall at his age inspired suggestions that his getaway was phony and that he was being used by the Nazis. But they placed a price on his head and demanded his return from Feltain man Davley. He was too popular with the people and ex-soldiers for the Marshal and Admiral to hand him back to Berlin. Despite the reward for his recapture he moved about freely in utter safety.

A month before the Moroccan expedition Allied spokesmen got in touch with him and found him sympathetic to the Eisenhower plan. Anglo-American and French friends smuggled him out of France and placed him aboard a plane or sub. He appeared in Algiers only a few hours before the United States landings.

He immediately went on the radio with a request that the colonial troops offer no fight and join the liberators. His action, which may account for the speedy fall of this key city, started the old man Davley. Peons branded the broadcast a propaganda fake, assured the home folks that Giraud was loyal and gave out a letter in which he was supposed to have pledged his fealty. Meanwhile, De Gaulle gracefully sidestepped and left the stellar role in Africa to the better known First World War hero.

GIANTS: Von Thoma has an excellent reason to cuss Americans. If one of our General Sherman tanks hadn't knocked his vehicle out of commission Rommel's Man ALIENS: Demand for mechanics is so great in our armed forces and in our expanding war industries that it is extending the garage field. Many of the twenty million passenger cars and five million trucks now in operation may be immobilized unless repair men can be kept in the shops. The National Automobile Dealers Association recently surveyed the country and discovered that many concerns are hiring girls to tinker with motors but even they cannot fill the growing gap.

The Brookings Institution estimates that our new Army and Navy will require at least six million four hundred thousand additional civilian workers. The extra numbers must be drawn from natural increase in population, women under forty-five years, the fourteen-nineteen and over sixty-five age groups and Mexican immigrants.

If heavy orders for additional help are given below the Rio Grande, welfare authorities foresee labor brawls and possible diplomatic name calling. Peons already admitted to the U. S. A. are segregated in schools and residence areas in many states and barred from sitting on juries which try their people. Last summer growers in western commonwealths brought in fifteen thousand Latin harvesters and in many cases paid wages of a dollar a day. At the same time thousands of unemployed farm hands in the South were begging for jobs. The presence of the strangers created bad blood on both sides of the fence. A much greater rumple is likely to explode next year if aliens swarm across the borders.

A. R. P. To Learn What Makes New Nazi Bomb Tick

By PETER EDSON A quadruple-expanded program for training Civilian Defense fire watchers and auxiliary firemen will in all probability get under way soon as a direct result of the invention and use by the Germans of a new type incendiary bomb of unusual fierceness, the nastiest thing the nasty Nazis have thought up yet.

What it amounts to is the addition of a delayed action hand grenade to the old type 1 kilogram or 22-pound incendiary bomb. The delayed action may amount to seven minutes and is controlled by a time fuse. If a fire watcher, fireman, air raid warden or ordinary household spots one of these bombs and goes close enough to it to try to put out the fire by the usual methods of water spray, lumps, or a bag of sand, he may succeed in stopping the fire, only to have the hand grenade attachment go off in his face.

On the other hand, if this new type bomb is left alone, the fire is successfully started. There are all the reasons for the need of you new OCD training.

First of these new fire bombs were dropped on England late in August. Not being prepared for this new and fancy improvement, the British auxiliary firemen proceeded to put out the fire in the usual way. Not every bomb dropped had this grenade or bomb attachment—just one to the dozen or so—enough to cause some 200 casualties.

In Britain the new bombs were given the name of A. P. I. or Anti-Personnel Incendiary. To the British the problem of dealing with these new A. P. I.'s hasn't been so very difficult. There all the air raid wardens and fire wardens are experienced, so the only step necessary was to issue new instructions to the old hands to be on the lookout for this new weapon. It is difficult to spot the occasional A. P. I. bomb, its only difference from the ordinary incendiary being that the new bomb is 21 inches long instead of 17 and weighs five pounds instead of two.

It's this extra four inches and three pounds of bomb that makes the difference. When it explodes it breaks into 200 fragments of metal which burst up and out for a radius of 20 yards or so. It will shatter through a window pane, through a plaster and partition wall. At close range, you're fairly safe behind a four-inch brick wall. If you're caught near one of these babies, the safe thing is to flatten out behind the brick wall 20 yards or more away, and don't feel like playing the hose on the fire while waiting for the bomb to go off, expose only one hand at a time.

So far, there are only a few of these new A. P. I. bombs in the United States. Marc Peter, Jr., attached to the American embassy in London as observer for the Office of Civilian Defense, brought them back recently with full information. The British have played the bomb down so far, with one brief announcement in the newspapers about six weeks ago, so as not to make it a scare story.

But to the United States, as yet unbombed, this A. P. I. presents a different problem and it is no petty dispute similar to all the domestic hullabaloo kicked up recently over jet vs. spray vs. dunking as the best method to put out an incendiary. This is a real problem of training for the Civilian Protection branch of OCD under Brig.-Gen. U. S. Grant III and Col. Augustine Janeway, chief of the training section.

Around 250,000 auxiliary firemen have been given brief training in handling ordinary incendiary bombs, and these 250,000 have in turn gone back to pass on this training to others in their home communities of the target area—roughly a strip 200 miles inland from the sea coasts. But with the new A. P. I. bomb menace, it might be necessary to train up to four fire fighters to every block in the target area. Roughly, that would mean training about two million civilian bomb-putter-outers. It might mean making a fire lady out of the wife, mom, and the girl friend.

This particular problem isn't considered acute on the west coast. The Japs haven't used magnesium bombs because they haven't enough magnesium. Out west all they have to worry about are the Jap 100-pound incendiary bombs of phosphorus and oil, which explode on impact.

Today's War Analysis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON November has shown a bleak face to German conquest hopes in other years, and this November is no exception.

November saw the Kaiser's glory dreams burst like a soap bubble in 1918. His strutting successor as a war lord had admitted that in 1941, the vision of a Nazi dominated world was close to utter disaster in Russia and saved, not by Hitler, but by Providence.

It was a slightly humbled Hitler who gave credit only a few weeks ago to some more potent force than his own intuitive military genius for that 1941 escape. He capped the admission, however, with assurances to his German listeners that he, not Providence, had seen to it that there would be no repetition of that dread winter of 1941 for Nazi Germany.

Yet this November winter is again upon Hitler's dangerously far-advanced army in an unconquered Russia. Moreover, Anglo-American forces of ever-expanding size and power are confronting him from across the Mediterranean. A complete Axis rout in Africa is in the making. Italy, the soft underbelly of the Axis Dragon, is exposed to Allied attack.

Hitler's vaunted air power so far has failed him, failed even to protect German cities from a terrible and continuous air drubbing. His U-boats have wrought mightily at sea but not mightily enough. The presence in French Africa of a great and growing American-British Army sufficiently shows who still rules the Atlantic.

To meet an emergency, the scope of which he has not yet measured, Axis armies are again on the march in France and the Balkans, not to offensive but to defensive assignments. Axis collaborationism in France is dead or dying, and Colonial France is back in the war, an Allied recruit.

What this may mean to even further re-shuffling of the war odds in the Mediterranean still is unclear. Pacific repercussions of the changed war scene in Europe, and the Near and Middle East, also are yet to be fully assessed.

Just what all the swift developments of this November will add up to is beyond conjecture. The war is not over, but it has turned a significant corner. Allied hopes of ultimate and complete victory are based now on things more tangible than an undaunted will to win.

Office Cat... A man was strolling down the street holding a large dog by the leash, when he met a friend. The conversation soon turned to the merits of the dog.

Owner—Yes, that bird detects birds a mile away. Friend (noticing the dog sniffing nervously)—Indeed, that dog acts as if a bird were under his nose, and there isn't a bird near.

The owner was perplexed, seeing another man near them he approached him and asked: Owner—Par—me, but do you have a bird in your pocket. The Man—No. Owner (after a few minutes)—Excuse me, but what's your name? The Man—Partridge. Owner (to his friend)—Ah! That explains it.

PAMPA HARVESTERS RUMP, 20-6, ON PLAINVIEW BULLDOGS

Season's Best Work Marks Friday Game

Showing more aggressiveness than previously this season, Pampa's Harvesters whipped the fast Plainview eleven, 20 to 6, at Harvester park Friday.

Pampa fans got a real thrill when Shotwell zoomed into the Plainview backfield, and lifted the football off the foot of Mason, who was preparing to punt. One of Mason's teammates was in his way, interfering with the kick.

Shotwell scooted 35 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter. The Bulldogs came back strong in the third quarter, when Mason and McCarrall alternately carrying the ball, advanced to Pampa's 9-yard line. Pampa kicked out of danger.

Queen Crowned At the half of the ceremony of crowning the Harvesters queen, Mary Gurley, was held. Her attendant was Charlotte Cline.

Mighty Tulsa In Greatness Proof, Beats Bears, 24-0

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 14 (AP)—Mighty Tulsa proved its claim to national football prominence today by smashing Baylor, 24-0, for its eighth consecutive victory.

A homecoming day crowd of 16,000 saw the Golden Hurricane come back after a hard-fought first half to crack the Bears wide open with a spectacular running and passing attack that produced three touchdowns and a field goal.

But it was sophomore Clyde LeForce who broke the deadlock and set off the offensive fireworks with a beautiful placement kick from the 33-yard line which gave Tulsa a 3-0 lead late in the third period.

At the end, it was virtually a riot. Here's Low-Down On Doc Mobley's Sensational Gains

ABILENE, Nov. 14 (AP)—Warren Workman, who coaches Rudolph (Little Doc) Mobley, the nation's top ground-gainer, today explained why Hardin-Simmons' tiny star is on his way to a new record for ball-carrying.

First: Little Doc has an exceptionally fast pickup. He is going full blast when he reaches the line of scrimmage.

Georgia, Tech, Boston, Win To Further Claims

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Georgia Tech, Boston College and Georgia swept along the undefeated trail that leads to football's bowl nominations today as Notre Dame's five-game winning streak came to a smashing finish.

Georgia Tech, bidding for the Southeastern conference title for the first time in years, picked up a first period touchdown and then held on to whip Alabama, 7-0, for its eighth successive triumph.

Georgia, whose clash with Georgia Tech Nov. 28, may well settle the conference championship, did over Chattanooga, 40-0. Boston College, unquestionably the East's most potent unit, steam-rolled Fordham into 56-6 defeat.

Tennessee All Right, Players Say TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 14 (AP)—New York and New Orleans football writers have accused Tennessee of rough football, but players say the Wolf played the meanest football they encountered all season.

4th Quarter Score Beats Tech, 13-6 In Close Game

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 14 (AP)—A fourth-quarter touchdown pass to Tony Porto from Al DiMarco, the Creighton freshman who was supposed to be down with the flu, provided the margin for a 13 to 6 Bluejay victory over the tough Texas Tech football team today.

Creighton grabbed a 6 to 0 lead in the first period on a pass from Warren Robinson to Bauney Burdick. But in the fourth the Texans came back.

Shocked Into Action Broncs Defeat Razors By HUGH WILLIAMSON DALLAS, Nov. 14 (AP)—Southern Methodist University's Mustangs shocked when the Arkansas Razorbacks tallied the first score in their Southwest Conference football game here today, jumped to life and pushed over two quick touchdowns to win, 14 to 6.

Fumble Costly Those two scores were in the last minutes of the third period. Early in the fourth, the Mustangs started working passes effectively, tosses for good gains going from Gonzales to Kelly Simpson and Joe Bailey Scott.

Owls Farmers Battle To Thrill-Laden Deadlock

HOUSTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Rice Institute Owls and Texas A & M's Farmers rose to defensive heights today, staving off each other's goal line threats, and 60 minutes of battling before 20,000 fans ended in a scoreless tie.

But the Southwest conference game by which each team had hoped to better its league standing packed football punches aplenty.

Amarillo romped over the Lubbock Westerners 20 to 0 at Lubbock Saturday afternoon to continue their undefeated march.

Razzle-dazzle plays and power featured the game. Amarillo scored early in the second quarter on a 30-yard run. The Sandies piled up eight first downs in the first half, but bad breaks and fumbles kept them from several scores.

Little Beecher Hops TCU Back Into New 3-Way Tie

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF FORT WORTH, Nov. 14 (AP)—Little Beecher Montgomery jumped off the Texas Christian bench and led the Horned Frogs to a dramatic fourth-quarter 13-7 victory over Texas today to throw the Southwestern conference football race into a three-way tie.

He came in with seven minutes to go and Texas ahead 7-0. On his first play he ripped over right tackle and cut back to the left to race 36 yards for a touchdown. Next, after a fumble had given T. C. U. the ball deep in Texas territory, he pitched two passes for another touchdown. From the Texas 17, where the Frogs had been set on a clipping penalty, Montgomery passed to Alford for 11 then threw one over the goal line to Drummond Slover.

A fumbled punt by Dean Bagley led to the Texas touchdown midway of the third period. Audrey Gill, the outstanding lineman for the Longhorns, covered the ball on the T. C. U. 13. Jackie Field and Max Minor smashed to a first down on the one. Field then rapped left guard for the score. Field also converted.

The looked like the ball game but they hadn't counted on Montgomery, the 168-pound reserve back. His run for a touchdown was the most sensational play of this thrill-packed game witnessed by 18,000 fans on T. C. U. homecoming day.

Texas was working against the wind, and that wind had been playing havoc all day with punts. In reality it had led to the Texas touchdown because it had kept T. C. U. backed up in its own territory the entire period.

Everything Happened Most everything happened in this game, with many fumbles and short punts causing the Tide to surge rapidly back and forth.

Good time to get your name in the pot. When Present Stocks of New Cars are Sold, THERE WON'T BE ANY MORE! If You're Going to Need a New Car for Essential Work—BETTER APPLY FOR ONE NOW. RIGHT now, Buick dealers can offer you selection from complete stocks of unused 1942 Buicks built before automobile production halted. But every week that goes by increases the number of cars now in use that simply must be replaced in the very near future. These cars can be replaced only from existing stocks. If you regularly drive a car in really essential service, don't take a chance on finding present stocks exhausted by trying to get the very last mile out of it. Turn it in, for use by some other essential user who doesn't drive as much as you do. New-car buying regulations are aimed at conserving both new cars and cars now in use. They also seek to put new cars in the hands of those who need them most. Thus if you can show real need—now, while cars are available—you can get a permit to buy now, while cars can be bought. Permits to buy won't do any good when there are no cars to be had! Your Buick dealer will be glad to give you all information on new-car buying regulations and procedure. At the moment, he can make immediate delivery to qualified buyers on almost any 1942 Buick model. Better see him NOW about applying for that car you're going to need. These include: (1) persons engaged in the production of war materials or the prosecution of the war, directly or indirectly; (2) physicians, nurses, clergymen, veterinarians; (3) car-owners engaged in public service, such as fire departments, public health, highway maintenance, etc.; (4) owners of taxicabs and other means of transportation; (5) farmers; certain fields. Genoa Again Blasted; War Plant Target

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Tremendous new damage was inflicted last night on the major Italian port of Genoa by British bombers which flew 1,500 miles through enemy opposition so weak that all returned safely to their home bases.

Two-ton explosives, and thousands of fire bombs, were showered on the Axis home base for North Africa, rocking the battered city with enormous, pulverizing explosives soon followed by raging fires.

The sprawling Ansaldo factory west of the port, which makes armaments and warship engines, was the chief target. Many of the block-busters fell squarely on the plant.

In their flight over the part of the coast that is now the scene of the fighting, they encountered Nazi night fighters, at least one of which was shot down in flames.

The Italians broadcast that this fifth raid on Genoa in a month had caused "serious damage," especially in the center and eastern districts of the town. Numerous enemy formations were reported and the casualties still were uncounted today.

Previous raids were reported by Yugoslav sources to have caused $200,000,000 in damage.

Although there was nothing to indicate fighting in the bitter cold at Stalingrad was on the vast scale of a month ago, the Nazis again were said to be expending much personnel in renewed efforts to crack the Volga citadel.

In addition to the manpower loss, the communique reported, the three days of attacks brought destruction of 17 Nazi tanks, 14 guns and 13 warplanes.

Ration Board Now Has Personnel Of 19; Started With 4

From a three-member board with one employe, the rationing system in Gray county has grown to an organization of 19 persons.

Last January, the Gray County Rationing board was organized with James B. Massa as chairman, Harry V. Mathews of Pampa, and J. A. Ashby of McLean, as members.

It wasn't long until the word "fire" was deleted from the title and the group became the Gray County Rationing board. There was no immediate explanation of the dropping of the word "fire" but it soon became apparent when "Henserson vitamins" (sugar) was put under the scope of the office of price administration.

Now the board deals with so many phases of commerce it has become a miniature Washington bureau.

Its Current List
To the job of administering three quotas has been added the following:

Tubes, recaps, retreads, sugar, ceiling prices on hundreds of items, bicycles, typewriters, new automobiles, and finally gasoline rationing which goes into effect December 1.

The board has met in three places: Mr. Massa's office in the Rose building, the office of the county judge, and the city commission room.

Finally it managed to get quarters of its own taking over the Boy Scout council office on the second floor of the city hall as the council office was transferred to the new offices in the remodeled city hall auditorium.

Organization of the board is now in four groups, all under Chairman Massa, and divided as follows; all of Pampa except where otherwise noted:

Office force, M. O. Pickett, chief clerk; Lucile Douglas, sugar panel secretary; Geneva Schmidt, gasoline mileage panel secretary; George W. Briggs, price ceiling panel secretary; Mrs. Sammie B. W. Latham, tire panel secretary.

Tire panel, H. V. Mathews, Clyde Carruth, E. L. Sitter of McLean. Sugar, Carl Benefield, E. S. Burgess, T. A. Landers of McLean. Gasoline, R. E. McKernan, C. M. Jeffries, J. E. Murfee Jr., Lynn Boyd, Walter Daugherty, and Ben Lockhart of Laketon and O. G. Stokely of McLean.

U. S. Bombers Fire Big Jap Transport
By The Associated Press

From Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Australia came an announcement of a bomber attack on a Japanese convoy off New Georgia island. It probably was carrying reinforcements to Guadalcanal to the southeast. A 12,000-ton transport was set on fire.

Allied land forces in New Guinea also continued to close in on the Japanese invasion base of Buna. It was announced that Australian troops have captured the main Kumusi river crossing, about 30 miles from Buna.

American troops were said to be advancing from the south to trap the retreating Japanese.

(Prog-Wis), presiding, held that it had been properly reported by the judicial committee.

Another effect was to deny Bilbo any special privilege in attempts to obtain floor time Monday on the matter. The interim of waiting had not been without its diversions, however.

After a deputy sergeant at arms had reputedly Bunker out of his office at the senate office building and accompanied him to the chamber, Connally arose to protest that Chesley W. Jurney, sergeant-at-arms, had ordered a deputy to "break down the doors of senators' offices" in order to compel their attendance.

Shouting that this was "a perfect outrage" that was "in line with the unconstitutional, unwarranted and outrageous actions of a group in this senate," Connally declared:

"If anybody broke down the door of my office, he wouldn't be in my office for 100 days." Connally said at least 24 hours.

The frock-coated Jurney, perspiring with worry over his unaccounted task, hastily assured reporters that he had merely deputized John Kearney, custodian of the office, to break down the doors of senators' offices—not to break them down.

In the meantime Senator Hill of Alabama, technically charged with obtaining the presence of democratic members at important sessions, issued a statement through his secretary, Mrs. M. G. Egan, to the effect that he was "opposed with every means in my power" to the passage of the anti-poll tax bill.

When Bilbo began speaking, a count showed only 18 senators actually in the chamber listening.

"It is kind of tantalizing for me to speak at this hour," he began, "since I come from the South where most people and Negroes don't work on Saturday afternoon."

"Inevitably there will be a tendency on the part of some newspapers and some commentators to censure us who see fit to discuss this matter at length."

When Bilbo declared that 90 or 95 per cent of the people of his state opposed the legislation, Senator Pepper (D-Fla), author of the bill, asked if they could have misunderstood provisions.

"No, sir," Bilbo shot back. "They are intelligent people. They understand thoroughly. They know what this bill is and if the senator from Florida were as intelligent as the average citizen of Mississippi, he would know it too."

The Mediterranean to the French protectorate's vital points and a powerful British-American expedition forged across the Tunisian border from the west, only 80 miles from Tunis itself.

Aerial observation showed that French and German troops already were engaged in fierce fighting through the narrow, winding streets of the capital and struggling for possession of airports on its outskirts.

In the absence of direct word from American forces charging eastward from Algeria, an unconfirmed report reaching here declared that Allied paratroopers were preparing to land in Tunis and assist their new French comrades in the preliminary battle against the Germans.

That Hitler had decided to make a serious stand in Tunisia and perhaps even was hopeful of forming a junction between Axis forces in West Africa and Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa corps became obvious when long distance Allied pursuit planes shot down seven of a fleet of perhaps 60 Axis transport planes flying northward from Tunisia.

As the troop-carrier were thought to have been empty at the time of the attack, military observers deduced that they had transported men and supplies to Tunis and were on the return trip to Italy for another load. It was known that German light tanks had reached Tunisia probably by air.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—There'll be fewer varieties in civilian shopping centers and less choice of styles and models under a geared-to-bed-rock needs program put underway by Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes to turn more production capacity to war goods.

He listed well up in his program elimination of "frills and wasteful practices," and added:

JUST BETWEEN US GIRLS

[By JOHNNIE DAVIS]

The world gets along a lot better when people are shaking hands, instead of heads.

Newcomers to Pampa are moving into homes formerly occupied by long-time residents, most of whom now are in the armed forces. First Lieut. and Mrs. D. W. Love have moved into the J. B. Howard house. Lieut. Love is a civil engineer for the Pampa and Dalhart air bases. Now occupying Lieut. and Mrs. John Studer's home are Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. Daniel S. Campbell. New next-door-neighbors to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Harrah are Capt. and Mrs. John R. Kelserman. Residing in Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton's home on Fisher street are Captain and Mrs. M. W. Adler. Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. R. C. McCarty are at home in the Horace Johnson residence on Duncan street. At the corner of Cook and West streets is located Miss Mabel Davis' home in which Second Lieut. and Mrs. James T. Ross are living. First Lieut. and Mrs. Willis D. Cowan are at home in Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton's house on Magnolia street. If all of the next-door-neighbors of these new Pampans will appoint themselves as welcoming committees, the officers and their families will be convinced that Pampa truly is a city exemplifying Texas hospitality.

Social gatherings are playing a leading role in the war effort. Though wartime economy makes "cutting corners" an absolute necessity, entertainment should not be neglected altogether, for it helps to bolster the morale of young and old alike. Meetings with friends occasionally for an evening in the lighter vein offers relief from the strain and pressure of work and the intensity of living in a war-torn world. Do your part to help maintain the morale of your friends and family by having a simple and informal party. You can have just as much fun without being extravagant. Of course, entertainment and amusement should not be deemed more important than other phases of wartime living. It is also essential that homemakers prepare nutritious meals for their families, for sturdy bodies are necessary to keep war industries running at top speed and everyone has Red Cross and Civilian Defense duties which are equally important.

An open mind is fine unless it's so open that nothing stays in it.

Inspired by wartime conditions, members of the Kit Kat Klub and their brother club, Seven Elevens, met for an old-fashioned taffy pull at the home of Norm Jean Beagle on Friday, the thirteenth. The same night the LaRosa sorority and the LaRosa Buds had their last dance before gas rationing becomes effective. It was known as a good luck dance. No one seems to get as big a thrill out of football and after-the-game parties as the "teen-age crowd." Frequent simple, but festive, celebrations, especially after a football game, are what young moderns want. Give them a place to eat and dance, and you can bet that they'll be merry. It is easy to prepare a party for the "teen-agers." They demand no formality whatsoever. If you have a recreation room, turn it over to the crowd occasionally. Every play from the beginning of the game will be discussed, besides the usual "rug cutting."

Observing their first wedding anniversary next Thursday will be Felsie and Dennis Stark. Next Saturday marks Mrs. C. E. High's birthday anniversary.

You can keep out of an awful lot of devilment by doing nothing when you have nothing to do.

Miss Rowena Wasson, a former member of the local Business and Professional Women's club, is back in town from California. Rowena plans to visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Wasson, until after the holidays. Another B-F. W. member, Ursula McCarty, the organization's health chairman, has resigned her position as local school health nurse and has gone to Pasadena for new work. Those who like real Mexican food will have an opportunity to eat all they want when the business and professional women serve a Mexican dinner for the public on November 23.

Some folks believe in law and order—if they can lay down the law and give the order.

Pampa's Council of Church Women is anxiously looking forward to sponsoring Dr. Ida S. Scudder, president of the Missionary Medical College for Women, Vellore, in South India. Dr. Scudder came to America last fall on furlough, expecting to return to India in the spring. Since the war has interfered with her plans to go back to India, in the meantime she is speaking on recent trends in medical education in India and how they effect the college of which she is the president. Mrs. S. A. Hurst is head of the local Church Women's council.

We have never known a rabbit that was superstitious enough to carry around with him the left hind foot of a man!

Pampa chapter Red Cross supervisors who are spending many hours each week at the production rooms will appreciate this little poem written by Judy Conger of the Tampa, Fla., chapter and dedicated to all chairmen of Red Cross volunteer special services.

If you see a woman dashing as if to catch a train,
If her arms are waving wildly like a propeller on a plane,
If her hands are full of papers, if her face is tense, without a smile,
If you see her rushing homeward at a most ungodly hour,
If you hear her kids shout "Daddy, there's a stranger in the shower."

Then extend your deepest sympathy, likewise all your pity—
This balm soul who needs your help is chairman of a committee.
If when Hitler hark-kar and peace is here at last
If again fires can be bought and rationing is passed,
If when cheering crowds proclaim our heroes marching home,
If you spot a weary woman who seeks no more to roam,
If she's battle-scarred and foot-sore, not parading with the rest,
If she acts like one forgotten, not a medal on her chest,
Well, this time save your sympathy, likewise all your pity—
This female wreck is happy now, ex-chairman of a committee.

Several Pampans went to Amarillo Thursday night when they attended the first program of the Civic Music association for the new season. Rec use of gas rationing, a much smaller group of music lovers will go from here this year for the concert. A unique father-daughter team—Marvin Maael, pianist, and Saundra Berkona, violinist—were the artists for the opening program. Other artists booked for the season are Claudio Arrau, Chile's ace pianist, Glenn Darwin, baritone, and Margit Bokor, metropolitan soprano.

American coffee drinkers, faced with wartime rationing to start at midnight Nov. 28, can alleviate the prospective 38 per cent cut in their consumption of the beverage by proper conservation measures in the use of their ration. OPA experts say. Most people, they say, use more coffee than is necessary to obtain the amount they actually drink. Here are some of the things that can be done at home to make the allowance of one pound for each person over 15 years of age go further every five weeks, and still have coffee of good quality: Use fresh coffee, keep your coffee in a tightly covered container, in the refrigerator or some other cool place; keep your coffee pot immaculately clean, have your coffee ground as fine as possible for the pot you intend to use, finely ground coffee goes further than coarsely ground coffee; use accurate measurements instead of "heaping teaspoons;" don't boil coffee, it drives off the very elements you want; serve the coffee as soon as it is made, and make only the exact amount you want to use, unless you like warmed-over coffee.

A cabled message can go around the world in a few minutes. But gossip is considerably cheaper.

Make your silk and nylon hosiery last as long as possible. But after it's completely past the wearing stage, wash it and store it away for the day when your local salvage committee will call for it. Plans now are going forward in WFB's conservation division for a nation-wide campaign to add silk and nylon hosiery to Uncle Sam's growing list of materials wanted in scrap collections. J. L. Dellinger, Southwest region chief of the conservation division, announced, "Any woman's hosiery which contains either silk or nylon will be wanted," Mr. Dellinger said. "This holds true even if the hosiery should contain other fibers besides silk and nylon. All colors, shapes and sizes can be used." Plans for local collections of old silk and nylon hosiery will be announced in southwestern communities as soon as possible, Mr. Dellinger said. "The fabric, no matter how worn, can be reutilized into materials suitable for powder bags for the armed forces. Consistent research since our silk supplies were cut off by war has resulted in development of a process by which the fibers can be stripped of dye and other chemicals without weakening their strength, so that they will meet specifications for these bags."

Rev. Boshen Guest Speaker At Horace Mann Father's Night

Fathers were guests of honor when the Horace Mann Parent-Teacher Association met at the school on Thursday night.

The program was opened with group singing of "The Eyes of Texas," "Home on the Range," and "Avalanche for Others" led by Miss Josephine Thomas, principal.

The Rev. Robert Boshen, minister of the First Presbyterian church, guest speaker, used as his topic, "Education, the Bedrock of Democracy."

The United States of America is a great melting pot in which there are numerous races and creeds. The city is a reflection of this melting pot. Many problems naturally arise as a result of this bringing together of so many different nationalities. And yet, out of these existing conditions a stronger union arises." Rev. Boshen stated, "Education is the process of bringing something out of the past into the present. If, through this process of education, individuals are taught respect for moral laws, and reverence for God and man, the nation as a whole will be stronger and will really be the bedrock of our democracy," he concluded.

Miss Elizabeth Sewell then sang a special number, "White Christmas" by Irving Berlin.

During the short business session, conducted by Mrs. W. A. Spoonmore, president, reports from various chairmen were given. Miss Pearl Spauger read the president's message as given in the Texas Parent-Teacher magazine. The association decided to subscribe to the magazine for the soldiers at the new bomber field.

A social hour followed with the group playing a game of truth and consequence under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Sewell and Mrs. M. K. Griffith. Refreshments of coffee, cookies, and minis were served. Miss Mary Reeve's room won the attendance award.

School Room As Workshop Topic Of Holy Souls P-TA

Holy Souls Parent-Teacher Association held its annual Fathers Night meeting recently with J. P. Brewster presiding.

General Williams acted as secretary and during the business session, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, chairman of the war time activities committee, urged the patrons of the school to purchase their stamps and bonds through the P. T. A. Unit. Stamps are sold each Monday afternoon at the school.

Rev. W. J. Stack, chairman of the program, introduced Miss Margaret Tignor, who in the absence of Supt. L. L. Bone, read Mr. Bone's message on "The School Room—Our Most Important Workshop."

"The schools are carriers of ideas, aspirations, knowledge, skilled rules, and ways of life essential for the perpetuity of our nation. Ignorance is an expensive evil at any time and in any place. Unless the American school, pupil, and press build an intelligence which will surpass that of the previous generations, we are in great danger of depression and misery and poverty of dimensions unheard of," Miss Tignor quoted Mr. Bone.

During the social hour motion pictures were shown by R. E. McKernan of the war in Egypt, the battle of Bataan, the battle of Midway, the Coral Sea, the war in Africa, and Washington in wartime as well as a reel, "The Circus," for the children, and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Coffee and doughnuts were served to about 35 members and guests. Sister Anna Teresa's room won the attendance prize.

Trends In India's Medical Education To Be Discussed By Dr. Scudder Under Sponsorship Of Church Women

In addition to its regular meetings, the Pampa Council of Church Women will sponsor the appearance of Dr. Ida S. Scudder, president of the Missionary Medical College for Women, Vellore, in South India, next Monday night, November 23, at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

Dr. Scudder's grandfather, Dr. John Scudder, went to India in 1819 as the first medical missionary from the United States to a foreign field.

Her nine children were born in India and everyone served in India with missionary motives. The seven brothers were doctors of medicine as well as pastors, and two were doctors of divinity as well. The youngest of the boys, Dr. John Scudder the Second, was Dr. Ida's father. The experience she had in the home life in India, during the famine of 1878-80; the plight of women dying because religious customs made it impossible for them to be treated by men physicians conspired to make the daughter study medicine in a day when women doctors were not popular.

She came to America, studied at Women's Medical college, Philadelphia, and at Cornell from which she graduated in 1899. Returning to India she arrived in Bombay on January 1, 1900, at the beginning of a new century, and started practicing in Vellore.

Mrs. H. Cameron Marsh, Jr.

During the social hour Mrs. G. C. Stark and Mrs. J. B. Hilburn read selections, and games were conducted by Mrs. O. H. Gilstrap.

Registering were Mrs. Julia Barnard, S. L. Anderson, Elmer C. Barrett, W. S. Bozeman, John

RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By Mrs. Fred Roberts
Editorial from the American Red Cross News service of November 2: During the next two weeks, millions of American school children will enroll for service in the American Junior Red Cross. In little one-room country schools and in city buildings, young people will sign their names on scrolls signifying their support of an American ideal. Most of these young people will go a step farther, too, and work toward making that ideal a reality for them, joining the Junior Red Cross is only a beginning. For 24 years many millions of young Americans have contributed their time and effort to Junior Red Cross endeavors.

Today the Junior Red Cross stands stronger than ever with 14,000,000 members working in every city, village and hamlet for our victory effort. Small wonder that President Roosevelt has said: "I commend the American Junior Red Cross for so amply justifying the faith of those who were its founders 25 years ago. I am confident that the future achievements of the organization will be ever increased. The needs of our nation at war are great. The American Junior Red Cross, because it has already proved its ability, can be counted on to assist greatly toward meeting those needs."

It was fine to see our Junior Red Cross so well represented in the Education Week parade the schools put on this week.

The following statement was written by Mrs. Dorothy B. Hoffman, chairman of Volunteer Special Services of the St. Joseph County chapter, South Bend, Indiana.

MARRIAGE

Consider deeply your just obligations to your family and its affairs to see exactly what strength, energy and time you have to give. "Rate carefully your own willingness to serve."

"Weigh honestly your desire to win this way against the urge to do other things as usual."

"Judge accurately your ability to discipline yourself."

"Think through to some conclusion what you owe to your community and your country."

"Then and only then, take a job at Red Cross or any place else."

Many of our Pampa women have thought "through to some conclusion" and have taken upon themselves some Red Cross work to do. For instance, there is Mrs. W. D. Melton who has pledged herself to make at least 2 garments a week for the next year and Mrs. F. M. Baker who is planning to make 100 garments during the same length of time. There are many others of course. Let each of us here in Pampa rate carefully our willingness to serve.

There are still shirts and blouses to be issued. And this week 65 pairs of children's pajamas were cut and are ready for distribution. These pajamas should be easy to sew. If you are an experienced seamstress, Mrs. J. B. Massa, sewing chairman, hopes that you will continue with the blouses and shirts and leave the pajamas for those women who are afraid to tackle something more complicated.

Mrs. W. A. Breining head of Red Cross activities in Lefors has announced that Mrs. Joe Lewis will take over the production chairman-ship there. Garments are being issued now from the Lewis Drug Store, a section of which has been set aside for this purpose. It is the hope of Mrs. Breining and Mrs. Lewis that the women of Lefors will begin checking out garments immediately.

The schools are the carriers of ideas, aspirations, knowledge, skilled rules, and ways of life essential for the perpetuity of our nation. In a last analysis the supreme objective of education in America is to build loyal, capable citizens, instilled with a burning love of liberty and a resolute determination to preserve our way of life at all costs."

J. C. Christopher acted as secretary and Walter Berry gave the treasurer's report. Announcements were made by W. S. Dixon and W. R. Campbell, after which Mr. Meek thanked the association for their sheets, blanket, pillow and cases and spread for the cot in the high school.

Happy Ending Of 'Beauty & Beast' Restores Faith

When the Clare Tree Major Children's theatre comes to the Pampa Junior High auditorium on Wednesday, November 25, right will be rewarded, truth prevail, and joy reign supreme. Yes, the good old fashioned virtues come into their own again in the theatre for Children's dramatization of "Beauty and the Beast."

"Our children, living a world at war, see truth and justice defeated for the moment, while greed and evil seem to win," says Clare Tree Major. "And that's more than confusing to youngsters whose instinct tells them the villain ought to get his just deserts."

In "Beauty and the Beast," which the American Association of University Women is bringing here for a matinee performance on Wednesday, at 2 p. m., Pampa children will be glad to know the usual order of things is upheld. The fairy tale, with its timeless appeal, tells of a wealthy merchant and his three daughters, who are reduced to take their saddest reverse in very bad grace; the third, a sunny, unselfish girl, behaves in pleasant contrast to her sisters.

If Beauty—the sweet disposition—seems to have more than her share of troubles and upsetting adventures, it only makes the "happily ever after" ending that much more satisfying.

Claims Mrs. Major "While it is, of course, necessary for children to understand realities, so that they may cope with the world of today, it is also imperative that they have faith in the future—even if it is taught through such simple means as a fairy tale."

Unusual Setting Has Been Chosen For Senior Play Here

Pampa Harvesters Win Over Bulldogs 20-6; Team Tied With Lubbock For Second Place

Harvester Queen Crowned At The Final Green And Gold Home Game

After a nip-and-tuck first quarter, the Pampa Harvesters scored in every following period to defeat the Plainview Bulldogs 20 to 6 at Harvesters field Friday afternoon. The game was the fifth win for the team, and was the final home game of the year for the Harvesters.

The game marked the return of big Charlie Boyles to football action after five weeks on the sidelines as a result of a broken arm suffered in the Bowie game. Boyles showed a lot of pep in his play, powering for gains through the Plainview line. Johnny Mason, who is the last of the great Masons on the South Plains team, was Plainview's chief attack. Fans will remember Mick and Wick Mason who sparked the Plainview teams of 1940 and 1941. The game was spotted with penalties, most of which went against the Green and Gold.

Shotwell Scores First

Pampa's first score came in the second quarter when Frank Shotwell, Harvesters end, stole the ball from Mason on an attempted punt and raced 35 yards to score standing up. Dunham, who played a fine game, kicked the point from place. The Harvesters had an opportunity to score in the first period after Boyles had punted out inside the Plainview one-yard line, but an offside penalty and an incomplete pass ruined the chance.

Queen Crowned At Half

At the half the 1942 Harvesters queen, Mary Gurley, was crowned in a ceremony with the Harvesters band, the team captains, and Charlotte Cline, attendant, participating. The Harvesters in attendance were Flint Berlin, Bobby Joe Dunham, and Charles Boyles.

Starting the second half with a bang, Plainview drove all the way to the Pampa five-yard line the first time they had the ball. This was the only serious threat of the game for Plainview, and the drive was finally stopped just short of tying the score.

Pass Scores For Pampa

The second Pampa score came at the end of the third quarter when Dunham threw a pass to Bill Arthur good for 45 yards and a touchdown. Dunham's pass for point was incomplete. Final Harvesters score was a result of a pass intercepted by Bridges, who returned to the Plainview 25. Three plays later Dunham gained to the Lubbock two, and on the next play powered over. Dunham added the point from placement.

Only Bulldog Touchdown Was Scored

When Williams, second string back, passed to Mason on a beautifully executed play. The kick for point failed.

Starting for Pampa were Shotwell and Lard, ends; Bynum and Berlin, tackles; Edson and Casey, guards; Kerbow, center; and Dunham, Endre, Arthur, and Arnold in the backfield. Also playing for the Green and Gold were Berry, Curtis, McKinley, Allen, Boyles, Stafford, Mary, Winborne, McCracken, Rake, and Clabby.

This win placed the Harvesters in a second place tie with the Lubbock Westerners. Next week the Harvesters meet the Borger Bulldogs, and the following week the Amarillo Sandies.

Sophomores Look At 'Idylls Of The King'

Queen Guinevere was, in Tennyson's "Idylls of the King," "the flower of beauty... fairest of all flesh on earth." In our language the Round Table dazler was a flub-dub among women, a permanent leak in her thinking tank. As a matter of fact, the average I. Q. of King Arthur's castle-haunters would seem to have hit a spectacular all-time low.

Sophomores Tested To Aid In Home Room Guidance Program

Intelligent quotient tests are being given to all high school students to aid in the home room guidance program for office permanent records this week.

Tom Herod, assistant principal, said that these tests would be filed for future reference for the teachers. The teachers can see by looking up the I. Q. of a student whether they are doing as well in a subject as they should.

Also these records will be kept for information for any college or university a student may be entering, and most progressive employers want to see a former record of their future employees.

Picture Highlights Biology Studies

Biology classes are studying reproduction and the human race with moving pictures being shown every week. Mrs. Joe Fischer said Friday.

Mrs. Fischer said she made out the schedule for the moving pictures at the first of the year, and although they sometimes get pictures a little ahead of what they are studying the University of Kansas sends one every week.

"They are allowed to keep the pictures one day so only one showing to each class is permitted, war effort."

Mary Gurley Crowned Football Queen At Pampa-Plainview Game Here Friday

Mary Gurley, brown eyed senior, was crowned Harvesters Queen between halves of the Pampa-Plainview game Friday afternoon. Charlotte Cline, last year's crown Most Beautiful girl, was her attendant.

Mary, robed in a green and gold cape first worn by Pauline Gregory, football queen six years ago, with her attendant, led the Harvesters band the length of the field to the north end where they were met by co-captains, Bobby Joe Dunham, Charles Boyles and Flint Berlin. Bobby presented Mary with a bouquet of golden chrysanthemums while Charlotte handed her flowers. Charlotte and Charley led the procession through the double line of Harvesters bandmen to the 50 yard line.

Mary Gurley

Flint Berlin carried the gold crown as he and Bobby escorted Mary. While the band played "Dear Old Pampa High School" Flint handed the crown to Bobby who crowned Mary queen.

Following the ceremony Mary and Charlotte were seated on special chairs on the 50 yard line for the remainder of the game.

First Band Party Held After Plainview Game

Green and gold were the outstanding colors at the first Harvesters Band party of the year which was held immediately after the Pampa-Plainview game.

Dancing, games, and refreshments took the spotlights of the party, and refreshments were served in the band room and dancing was on the stage. Mary O. Gallimore and John Robert Lane won the prize for the best dancers.

Refreshments of Sandwiches, Cookies, and Pop Served

High School Girls Work In Town; Like Old Home Week

Never One Dull Moment, Girls Say

BY JOHN ROBERT LANE

Now is the time for all girls to come to the aid of Pampa's downtown stores, and Pampa High school girls have done it.

Wardrobes Of Girls Will Be Affected

Wardrobes of the high school girl will undoubtedly be affected by the wool shortage, though not seriously before spring. A Little Harvesters reporter found after interviewing Pampa merchants Friday.

Merchants are finding it hard to secure all wool garments, although it is said that there are a few to be had.

Thanksgiving Origin Was Not Football

Whether you knew it or not, Thanksgiving originally had a significance other than the Pampa-Amarillo game. As some of you know "Columbus sailed the ocean blue in the year of 1492 (A. D.) And then when King Henry VIII decided to create a holiday to honor the Puritan decision they would make history. So this is how it all began.

Later another English King got tired of the same old hum-drum. To be different he had a tea party. The Americans made history again up until the year of 1941.

It wasn't exactly the Americans this time that did the history making. A group of eleven decided to take things in their own hands and this is what happened: the Pampa Harvesters beat Amarillo. I suppose it will be the same old story this year. What about it Harvesters?

Qualifications Of Pledges Are Sent To National Head

According to recommendations made by Miss Margaret Tomberlin, co-sponsor of Quill and Scroll society, to Edward Nell, national secretary, new pledges have the following qualifications:

John Chisham, junior, has been the author of some very good feature material and has written worth while recordings of news events. Helen Marie Alexander writes very good editorials, is a leader and a good organizer, and makes the news so she can write about it.

Sophomores Compare Ancient, Modern War

Knights gallivanting over the countryside in pounds of shining armor to "right wrong" is this week being contrasted with modern army maneuvers as sophomores take up the study of "The Idylls of the King."

The knights of "The Round Table" went abroad to fight their evil deeds individually, while the modern man fights for one another. Students are learning details about Knights of the Round Table as tests are given.

High School Cafeteria First To Sell Ice Milk Under New Ruling

Milk can now be purchased at 1c a half pint. In cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture and the Agriculture Marketing Administration, the High School Cafeteria is the first city school to sell milk at the reduced rate.

According to a pamphlet issued by these departments, the purpose of the program is to assist farmers in securing a fair return on their full milk production. At the same time the campaign makes milk available to millions of school children suffering from malnutrition and hidden-hunger.

Language Students Send Mail To Haiti, Mexico, Canada

To exchange letters with people of Haiti, South America, Central America, Mexico, and Canada, Pampa High Schools French and Spanish classes joined the International Student society this week. Miss Virginia Vaughan is foreign language instructor.

To give more practice in writing in foreign languages is the purpose of this society as the letters are to be written in French and Spanish.

Large Cast To Stage Popular Three-Act Mystery Farce In District Court Rooms Monday, Tuesday

Lifelong Friends Oppose One Another In Unfolding Of Thrilling Murder Story

Whether Karen Andre will be found guilty or not guilty will be left in the hands of the twelve jurors Monday and Tuesday nights at the Gray County District courtroom. The senior class play, "The Night of January 16," will be presented there at 8 o'clock.

The cast will have final dress rehearsals this afternoon and will be in perfect shape for the opening trial.

When Karen Andre, Mary Jane Davis, chose S. A. Stevens, Billy Waters, as her attorney she did not know that he and District Attorney Flint, John Tom McCoy, had been, in real life, friends since they were about a year old and that this trial will be the first time they have ever opposed each other.

Friendship Dawns Neither foe

Their friendship will not make a bit of difference, however, both lawyers stated. Stevens believes the young lady to be innocent and that the states case is based on circumstantial evidence and intends to prove Miss Andre's innocence, while District Attorney Flint contends that Miss Andre has committed a crime against society and he intends to see that she pays for that crime.

The plot of the play centers around Karen Andre and whether she killed her employer, wealthy Bjorn Faulkner. Her scenes with the late Faulkner's widow, Nancy Lee Faulkner, Virginia West, are filled with deep and strained emotion. Both of these women fight for the man they both loved. Mrs. Faulkner turns states evidence and her testimony tends to incriminate Miss Andre very much.

Outcome Is Undecided

The play will keep everyone guessing until the jury pronounces the verdict. It is a play that will keep all Pampa talking for several weeks and the credit goes to Miss Dorothy Summers and her cast, which includes Mary Jane Davis as Karen Andre, John Tom McCoy, District Attorney Flint, Billy Waters, defense attorney, Stevens, Virginia Lee West, Nancy Lee Faulkner, Melvin Howe, John Graham Whisfield, father-in-law of the late Bjorn Faulkner; Prison Matron, Frances Deering; Bailiff, Neal Holden; Judge Heath, Flint Berlin; Flint's secretary, Charlotte Cline; Stevens secretary, Betty Jean Meyers; Clerk, Harold Cobb; Dr. Kirkland, Ray Thompson; Mrs. John Hutchenson, Negro maid, Dorothy Stone; Herbert Van Fleet, Frank Shotwell; Elmer Sweeney, policeman; Jane Chandler, hand writing expert; Frances Deering; Sigurd Jungquist, bookkeeper for the late Faulkner; Bob Clabby; Larry Regan, gangster lover of Karen Andre; Jack Fadic; and Roberta van Rensselaer, high society gun moll. Imogene Sperry.

Reagan Put On Stand

When the excitement really begins is when Larry Regan, lover of Karen is put on the stand and starts to cross-cross the attorneys. How he worms out of some of the questions is a mystery to everyone concerned.

Although the courtroom is small it will seat 450 and tickets will be sold for specific nights. The proceeds from the play will go into the senior class cap and gown fund.

On each play there must be crews but this is so different that it requires few extras to help. Those few who will help this year are make-up, Juanita Osborn and Wanda Giles, properties, lights, Jim Wanner.

Salad, Rolls, Punch Served To First Year Homemaking Girls

Rice Creole, hot buttered rolls, crisp vegetable salad, punch, and three kinds of cookies was included on the menu for the buffet luncheon given by the first year cooking class Thursday.

Thirty-six girls of the third and fifth hour classes prepared the meal and served it. Since the beginning of the school term the girls have learned to prepare all the foods that were served. The luncheon was held to show how to give a buffet meal. Rolls and cookies were prepared a day in advance while the salad, rice creole and punch were made just before serving.

We Want To Sing Next Year

In spite of the fact that our new assembly songbooks are just about the cutest things around school, that they are slipping into pockets, they are nevertheless supposed to be turned in to your home room representative at the end of each song song.

The school paid about $30 for these songbooks and they are supposed to last for several years. But after being used at only one assembly, Miss Helen Martin has seen the books scattered as far as the taxi stand down town. If this practice continues the books will not last a year.

Idle Books Can Be Used By Soldiers

Put your books to work for Uncle Sam! Thousands of idle books in Pampa are needed badly at Pampa's new advanced flying school. Space for a library has been provided at the school, but the success of every Army library depends on the cooperation of the community and the schools. Pampa High school has been asked to help make this project a success.

All types of books are needed, especially recent best-sellers such as "Berlin Diary," "Keys of the Kingdom," and "Blood, Sweat, and Tears." Textbooks in mathematics and science are also needed for the library. Any book that a member of your family has enjoyed would be equally appreciated by some flyer. Be it mystery, poetry, or history.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART
No nurse to do your daughter's grooming routines, now, and no time to do them yourself? Then, teach her how to do them for herself.

So take time to brush her hair nightly, and brush it correctly with upward strokes. The weekly shampoo is accomplished best by putting the child under the shower instead of using the wash bowl.

CHAPTER XXX

WHAT Wednesday night Nancy and Scooter Hale were guests in the Miller home. When the widow and little son arrived, Nancy's eyes seemed lovelier than ever.

"You don't look as if you'd had a terrible strain, darling," Bly greeted her. "You look grand."

"Come on in. Of course we'll talk. I expect we'll talk until morning."

"Yes, Mr. Loumann, I can't talk tonight," she was saying. "No, I can't sign any contract tonight, and probably not at all... What? ... Yes, I do understand, and I think you're very generous, but you see, I intend to leave all business matters now to my husband."

"Hi, Bly! ... Hello-o-o!"

"Hi, Bly! ... Yes-a-a-a, yoo-hoo! Hi!"

"The players were yelling their greetings, piling out of the bus. She saw Duane. She saw Norman Dana. She saw Heavy Underwishy-washy. And please love me forever, just the same. I need a sister like you, and I know Norman thinks you are grand. Bly dear, it's Norman I'm going to marry!"

BLYTHE MILLER told herself some days later that she would never quite remember those hours between Wednesday evening and Thursday noon.

She just went through a continuous mental whirling. Sleep? Not that night! She and Nancy Hale lay abed together and talked girl talk into the scandalous hours. Baby Scooter slept in Pop's room, and once they got up to go over him and found Link the puppy curled on the pillow right at his ear.

All Thursday morning Blythe and Nancy held down Pop's office for him. He stayed away with his football players, quiet in a hotel. But the girls had excitement every moment. Literally hundreds of people called. Both of them had to be photographed a dozen times. The newspaper pictures wanted more shots, and Abe Loumann of World Features tried to entice Nancy with a contract at double his former offer. In the end he sat there mopping his brow, determined, waiting.

Interest quickened at 1 p. m. when everybody left to go to the stadium. It would seat 60,000 fans, and every seat would be taken for this State U. game. Blythe and Nancy and Scooter of course would be sitting on the Lincoln bench.

Blythe didn't go directly inside the stadium, however. Nancy went ahead because Scooter was anxious to get near the two big bands that were already playing. Half the stadium seats were filled by now. Blythe waited near the players' entrance. At a quarter of 2, a bus rolled up with Pop and his "jads" already in uniform.

"Hi, Bly! ... Hello-o-o!"

"Hi, Bly! ... Yes-a-a-a, yoo-hoo! Hi!"

"The players were yelling their greetings, piling out of the bus. She saw Duane. She saw Norman Dana. She saw Heavy Underwood, somber of face because he wouldn't be able to play. She saw all the other eager cadets, football men for one more game. She felt Pop near her and kissed him when he held her a moment—and then all at once the others were streaming in and she was alone with Duane.

"Listen, Bly, listen! ... Listen!" He kept repeating it, nervously. "I been thinking all night. All day. I finally got up courage enough to ask it. That question I told you about, Bly. I been wanting to ask it for more than a year. I got to ask it now or I'll go crazy! Blythe, sweetheart, could you possibly marry me? I love you so. Could you? ... Could you?"

"Snatch him out of it, gang!" Suddenly they were swamped. His own teammates, seeing him linger, had returned in force and now they ran onto the field with him while the stands began a victory roaring.

VICTORY roaring? Exactly that. People said, later, that no team on earth could have topped the Lincolns that day. Dana and Hogan, the two great backs, were greater than ever. By fourth quarter they had State U. in a daze.

And it was in this fourth quarter, too, that another odd little drama was recorded for posterity. There was a time out after Lincoln's third touchdown. Duane Hogan had dropped back to kick the goal, and in the dramatic moment of waiting he turned to face the Lincoln bench. Sixty thousand spectators saw him begin making strange hand signs.

Instantly, Blythe Miller jumped up from the bench and made queer gestures of her own. The referee's shrill whistle cut the air. He ran toward Duane. "They're coaching from the sidelines!" yelled the State U. captain angrily. "Against the rules!"

"Did you get a message from the Lincoln bench?" the referee demanded. "Duane was smiling. 'Yes, sir,' 'Penalty, then!' the official snapped. 'What was the message?'"

"Big Duane Hogan grinned even broader. 'I was just doing a little Indian sign talk. I said to the coach's daughter, 'What's the answer to my question?' And she sign-talked back. Her answer was 'Yes!'"

Advanced Flying School Officers Will Be Honored

Pampa officially will extend greetings to officers of the Pampa Advanced Flying School when Lt.-Col. Daniel S. Campbell and his staff will be honor guests at the regular monthly meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development Monday night.

A dinner will be held at 7 o'clock in the basement of First Methodist church, with Crawford Atkinson, BCD president, master of ceremonies.

Tickets to the dinner now are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office in the city hall.

The program will be to the point, with Lieutenant Colonel Campbell introducing his staff, explaining their duties, and giving information about the flying school, located 11 miles east of Pampa.

Temporary headquarters of the flying school were established a month ago in the Tom Rose Ford building on N. Ballard. Personnel has been gradually increased until nearly 50 men are on duty at the present time. An additional five officers reported to headquarters yesterday.

Work of constructing the Pampa air base started May 21. President Atkinson today called for a large attendance at the dinner.

"This will be Pampa's official welcome to these officers," he said. "You will want to have a part in making it a genuine Pampa welcome. Get around and get acquainted with everyone of them."

Reservations for the dinner may be made by telephoning 383. Everyone should make their reservations by noon Monday in order that the Clara Hill class of the Methodist church may have proper notice on the number of plates to prepare.

New Pipeline to East Is Surveyed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—A $60,000,000 pipeline to move oil from Illinois to the Eastern seaboard will enter Ohio north of Hamilton and follow a route north of Cincinnati, north of Washington Court house, south of Columbus and north of Lancaster.

Surveyors already are in the field arranging early construction of this leg of the line. A section from Longview, Texas, to Illinois, has been started.

Officials who mapped the Ohio course said work probably would be started within a few weeks, perhaps December 1.

Amarillo Accepts Pampans' Apologies For Paint Episode

Peace has been restored in the relations between Pampa and Amarillo High schools after the paint episode of a week ago when Amarillo students found their building smeared with painted slogans, "Yeah, Pampa!" and "Beat the Sand-

At a meeting of the Amarillo student body yesterday, the students accepted the letters of apology from three Pampans who took part in the prank, and from Principal Doyle F. Osborne, of Pampa High School.

The letters assured the Amarillos that the attitude which prompted the smearing was not that of a majority of Pampa students, and apologized for any damages that may have been done either to the building or Amarillo students' cars.

To guide filling station owners, bulk station managers, and refiners, through the maze of gasoline registration and rationing instructions the federal government has prepared special booklets.

Gasoline rationing registration will be held next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and effective date of rationing is December 1. Gray county filling station owners and others concerned are asked to call at the office of the Gray County War Price and Rationing board office, in the city hall, and obtain copies of the booklet, R. E. McKernan, head of the gasoline panel, said Saturday.

An organization meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the city commission room at city hall.

Statistics show home accidents rank next to highway accidents, according to W. H. Galloway, chairman of the chapter committee on home and farm accident prevention.

Texas Elks Organize To Develop Aid For Infantile Paralysis Victims

By The Associated Press Under-privileged crippled children of Texas who are victims of infantile paralysis will be provided additional relief "as soon as plans now being developed by the Texas State Association of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of America are perfected," according to Walter G. Jones, of Houston, secretary-treasurer of the movement.

A state charter was obtained recently for the Texas Elks Crippled Children's Foundation, to be located at the Warm Springs Foundation at Odine, near Gonzales—a state-maintained project patterned after the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

Under its charter, the fraternal foundation will operate as a non-profit charitable organization without capital stock. It may own and control acreage which has been purchased for such purposes and may own and control buildings erected from donations. It will support and operate a unit to be located at Odine for the relief, cure and physical rehabilitation of underprivileged children afflicted with infantile paralysis, or otherwise crippled or subject to physical disabilities which may be improved through those facilities, Jones explained.

Plan Cheerful Refuge

The aim of the foundation is to provide a cheerful refuge where care is available for children without means, during the convalescent stage after such patients have undergone surgery elsewhere, and to afford facilities to paralysis victims who do not require surgery and who may be benefited by physiotherapy and proper care.

Physical properties at the Gonzales Warm Springs are situated on 40 acres of wooded land, one mile off state highway 29, 10 miles north of Gonzales and two miles south of US highway 90—the Houston-San Antonio airline highway.

The site embraces a gently rolling hillside, graced by giant oaks and wooded knolls. The site overlooks the Palmetto State Park and the winding San Marcos river.

Artesian springs flow more than 200,000 gallons of water daily. The water has a temperature of 106 degrees Fahrenheit, is highly charged with minerals, is odorless, stainless, and is good to drink. It is exceptionally buoyant, which is desirable in underwater exercises in the treatment of cripples.

The Elks' plan is to raise $150,000 for additions to the state institution, which has been in operation several years.

Executive offices are in Houston. Federal Judge William H. Atwell, of Dallas, is honorary chairman, and Joseph G. Buch, of Trenton, N. J., honorary co-chairman, both past Grand Exalted Rulers. M. A. deBettencourt, Houston, is executive chairman; George W. Loudermilk, Dallas, vice-chairman, and the board of trustees includes also Charles E. Smeltz, San Antonio; C. E. McNonnell, Wichita Falls; R. J. Clark, Marshall; F. E. Kretsch, Charles S. Smeltz, San Antonio; las, state president.

The first general conference of governors of the United States was held at the White House in 1908 when Theodore Roosevelt was president.

Salvation Army Officer To Marry Former Pampan

Captain Ruth Linden, with the Salvation Army here since she came from Tyler in January, 1940, will leave tomorrow afternoon for Dallas, where, on November 23, she will become the bride of Captain Oly Sheppard, head of the Salvation Army in Littlefield.

Successor to Captain Linden here has not yet been named.

The marriage will be in Compton citadel in Dallas, with Col. W. G. Gilks, Texas division commander, and a frequent visitor in Pampa, performing the ceremony.

Captain Linden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sheppard, of Port Arthur. Both she and Captain Sheppard attended the Salvation Army Southern Training college at Atlanta, Ga.

Before going to Littlefield last June, Captain Sheppard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sheppard, of Dallas, had been stationed in Houston, Amarillo, and San Antonio.

Where Captain and Mrs. Sheppard will be assigned is uncertain, but they probably will be stationed at Littlefield.

Reasons Cited For Early Xmas Mail; Delays Held Certain

Backing up the annual plea for "mail your Christmas packages early," S. G. Surratt, acting postmaster, cited additional reasons why Pampanians should pay heed to the annual admonition:

"First, soldiers and supplies have the right-of-way over mail on the railroads. Trains will be late and miss connections. These are the trains that carry the mail that have to give the right-of-way to troop trains. Missed connections cause more delay.

"Second, we have more people to serve in Pampa than in the past and the volume of mail will be heavier.

"Too, you must consider the fact that the personnel in the postal service has been called to the colors, as those in other services, and although inexperienced help is plentiful, that essential experienced help is not to be had, and will mean a much slower handling of the greatly increased Christmas mails.

"You can help your local post-office, the railway employees, the railway postal employees and the city carriers at the other end of the line, and finally your government by keeping the transportation lines open," by mailing early. Do your Christmas shopping, and mail early this year."

Texas Oil Man Is Named ETSWD Head
