

Hundreds Of Entries Wanted In Pampa's Victory Garden Harvest Show

You are going to get a chance to prove to the world that you have contributed to the war effort by growing victory gardens, and that includes all gardens, for all food produced this year will help bring the victory.

A Victory Garden Harvest show to be held in Pampa Sept. 25 and 26 will give you the opportunity to encourage the war effort by displaying your best vegetables and fruits, either canned or otherwise.

If the fruits or vegetables are fresh they will have to come from your own garden, if canned or otherwise it will not make any difference whether you grew them or bought them.

Every resident of Gray county may compete in the show. The Garden club, which will sponsor the show, has thrown the competition open to every person in Gray county.

Every resident will want to enter his or her fruits and vegetables in the show for the great and patriotic reason that ADMISSION PROCEEDS WILL BENEFIT THE ARMY AND THE EMERGENCY NEEDS OF THEIR FAMILIES.

Admission will be 25 cents to everyone, and every dime will go to the army and navy and marine relief funds.

The Victory Garden Harvest shows are being held all over the nation, according to Mrs. R. T. McNally, general chairman of the show. All are being held for the benefit of the Army Emergency Relief and the Navy Relief society.

The show will be held in the Culbertson building where the engineers' offices have been located.

If you have any fruit or vegetables which you canned and of which you are proud, lay them aside for display in the show, because the more that is displayed the more people will pay admission to it and the more members of the armed forces it will benefit.

In fact, from here it looks as if it will be your patriotic duty to enter choice specimens from your Victory garden in the show.

Keep on watering your vegetables for a couple of weeks or so if they need it, so you can enter them in the show. Did you eat beans, peas, beets, okra, corn, spinach, etc., this summer? Lay aside the best for the committee was assembled and machinery began to hum.

"We do not believe," said Mrs. McNally, "that this community or any other will object to paying an admission charge to aid a movement which is distinctly for the direct benefit of every community."

An advance ticket sale will be conducted for two weeks prior to the show.

The show is to be conducted with a minimum of expense. So stickers instead of ribbons and money prizes will be awarded winners.

The Victory Garden Harvest show will take the place of the Garden club's annual flower show. Flowers will be entered as usual, but in addition fruits and vegetables.

"We want the best fresh and canned fruits and vegetables and the best flowers from every part of the

Allies Agree On Reciprocal Aid Treaties

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The United States, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Fighting France concluded today a series of reciprocal aid agreements designed to clarify the principles of mutual assistance in their common struggle against the Axis.

Signed on the third anniversary of the French and British declarations of war against Germany, the agreements specify and formalize the principles and procedures covering aid to the armed forces of the United States by the other parties to the agreements on the same terms as those under which the United States supplies lend-lease aid to them.

Such reciprocal aid already has been furnished to the United States also by the other signatories without conclusion of formal agreements and a state department commentary points out. "This aid is rapidly increasing in importance as the intensity of the American war effort increases in the various theaters of operations."

All of the agreements emphasize that the general principle governing mutual aid is that the war production and war resources of each of the signatories should be used in ways most effectively utilizing the available materials, manpower, production facilities and shipping space.

They further specify the elimination, as far as possible, of monetary transactions. That is, a maximum of the articles and services provided by each party to the other shall be in the form of reciprocal aid in services or materials, thus reducing to a minimum "the need of each for the currency of the other."

The agreements formalize the obligations of the other parties to furnish the armed forces of the United States with military equipment, munitions, military and naval stores, and other supplies, facilities and services whenever these can be most effectively obtained in their respective countries.

Pampan's Brother Killed In Solomons

Capt. Eugene Key of the U. S. Marines, brother of Joe Key of Pampa, was stationed behind a desk in Washington when war was declared.

He didn't like it behind that desk; he wanted action and he began trying to get into a combat division. Pretty soon he did. He was sent to the Solomon Islands.

Tuesday afternoon Joe Key received a telegram that his brother, Captain Eugene Key, had been killed in action in the Pacific war zone, will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the First Methodist church of which his father, Dr. Ira Key, is pastor.

Before he joined the fighting marines, Eugene Key was a newspaperman at Dallas.

Worley Dismayed By Industrial Feuds

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Members of the American armed forces are not interested in figures on war production but in "the kind that will fly and shoot," said Lieut. Comdr. Eugene Worley on returning from eight months of active service in the Pacific.

The Democratic representative from the Texas Panhandle, who saw service in Pearl Harbor, Australia and New Guinea, returned to his office yesterday.

He said that figures on how superior our production is to that of the enemy aren't "altogether true" and expressed dismay that controversies continued in war industries.

Americans should realize, he added, that their boys were fighting with odds favoring the enemy.

"Our heavy bombers are unquestionably superior," he said.

Axis Offensive In Egypt Fails To Get Going

German steamroller assaults drove the Red armies farther back upon the southern approaches to Stalingrad today, Russian headquarters acknowledged, and the Berlin radio said Nazi siege guns were now within range of the already bomb-torn Volga metropolis.

Soviet dispatches said the German attack from the northwest was checked "at the very approaches" to the city and that massed Nazi tanks driving from the southwest had cut a dangerous new wedge into the Red armies' most stubbornly defended positions.

Russian anti-aircraft gunners were reported to have halted a charge by 50 German tanks on the northwest approaches until reinforcements arrived.

Hitler's field headquarters said Stalingrad's defenders had been dislodged from a series of strongly fortified positions and that Soviet counter-attacks were repulsed.

A Vichy broadcast yesterday said the Germans had advanced within 12 miles of the city.

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said Gen. Fedor von Bock was throwing 200 tanks, masses of infantry and large numbers of planes into the drive from the south.

Hungarian and Rumanian divisions were reported speeding eastward to swell the ranks of Nazi shock troops. More than 1,200 Nazis were killed in the last 24 hours, a Russian communique said.

In the battle of Egypt, Britain's desert armies lashed out at Axis forces massed in the southern sector of the 35-mile El Alamein front, 80 miles west of Alexandria, countering Marshal Erwin Rommel's new four-day offensive.

British G. H. Q. said British mobile columns, striking from the east and southeast, "attacked and harassed the enemy, destroying many vehicles."

The attack, strongly supported by artillery and aircraft, including U. S. army planes, centered in the El Himeimat-El Ruweisat sector on the new four-day offensive.

Relays of British planes—evidently both fighters and bombers—thrust explosives at Nazi communications and defense works in northern France.

The German news agency DNB said in a Berlin-broadcast dispatch that bombs were dropped at several places "to the left of the Rhine."

Air raid sirens wailed along the Strait of Dover coastline shortly after 11 a. m., at almost the identical time they sounded the first warning three years ago.

Japs Expected To Strike Major Blow

(By The Associated Press)

A mysterious slump in Japanese aerial strength in the southwest Pacific, coupled with the continued withdrawal of enemy invasion armies in China, renewed speculation today that Japan was preparing to spring a big-scale attack elsewhere in the Pacific.

Russia's "back door" in Siberia, India and even the United States have been cited as likely objectives for a new Japanese offensive.

The apparent withdrawal or diminishing of Japanese air power in the southwest Pacific was reflected in a communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reporting that Allied fliers were unchallenged by enemy planes in attacks on two big Japanese bases.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur said he had no explanation for the recent lack of Japanese aerial activity, but it was apparent that any major Japanese offensive would call for the marshaling of all available air power.

A United Nations communique said land-based American bombers ranged far out over the Pacific to attack the naval and air base at Buika, at the northern tip of the Solomon Islands. No interception was noted, it added significantly.

Again the enemy failed to intercept when fast United States medium bombers—the B-26 type known as Marauders—attacked

WAR BULLETINS

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo, Aug. 30 (Delayed) (AP)—American army technical forces arrived today at this Belgian Congo capital and started immediately to build a big camp named for President Roosevelt, apparently in preparation for further troop arrivals.

Veterans of the last war planned a big reception for the Americans to be held on Sept. 5.

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The few German raiders who came over Britain to usher in the fourth year of war found a hot reception—entirely too hot for the four-man crew of one downed bomber who surrendered meekly to a test-aged British bomber winged as it reached the coast. The crew set fire to the craft and placed themselves in custody of the boy who gave his prisoners tea, then handed them over to the home guards.

Postal Receipts Above Last Year's

Pampa's postal receipts for August were $257.76 above August a year ago; every mail box in the postoffice has been rented, for the first time in two years; and a total of $18,337 in war bonds was sold at the postoffice last month.

This was the favorable report made today by Postmaster C. H. Walker.

August receipts were $6,922.68 compared with $6,644.92 for the same month in 1941.

Postoffice receipts, usually considered a barometer of business, are running true to form, Postmaster Walker pointed out. There are more people on Pampa streets and merchants report increased business.

Hep-Cat's Garb Gives Out Too Much, Says WPB

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—You jittersbugs in the zoot suits with the drape shapes and the juke coats are also in a jam—so jettison the juke and give with the ears while the war production board swings out on the down beat.

Hitting the blue note softly, this is it.

Male rug-cutters with long coats, tails, baggy knees and chest-high britches are due for a scissors session. And the gals gates with low-slung jackets are slated to meet the same Uncle Sam's shears.

Frank Walton, deputy chief of WPB's textile, clothing and leather branch, says these "so-called garments," as he put it, violate the men's and women's clothing simplification orders.

The men's zoot suit is a hep-cat's crib and the coat is something sharp. It swirls from knee to ankle-length and flaps when the tune gets peppy. The trousers are ankle-snug and loose at the knees—like Po-dunk's track team's sweat pants—and rise so high that a gun in the belt could be worn like a shoulder holster.

The juke coat is a solid set of thread. It's a women's jacket, cut long to look like the men's.

Walton says that the "spreading craze" is a waste of fabric, and un-

RAF Bombers Raid Railway Shops Cities

John Lomax Collects Folk Records Here

Songs by Pampanans have been preserved for the national archives through recordings taken here yesterday by John A. Lomax, honorary curator of the archives of American folk song, of the Library of Congress.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Guthrie were the contributors of "Dying Cowboy," with vocal by Mr. Guthrie, accompanied with the accordion by his wife; "Little Rosewood Casket," sung by Allene (Mrs. Guthrie) with piano-accordion accompaniment; "There Is a House in the Old Town," vocal by Mr. Guthrie, with instrumental accompaniment by his wife; and "Ridin' Old Paint and Leading O' Ball," sung by Mr. Guthrie. Chester Baker was another Pampan whose music was recorded.

Mr. Lomax's visit here was a part of the work he has been doing since 1910 in collecting old American ballads and folksongs, spirituals, cowboy songs, sea chanteys, and the like.

From Pampa, Mr. Lomax said he was going to the Arkansas state penitentiary to record negro spirituals sung by negro prisoners there.

He is on a tour of New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

At the 4-6 ranch, at Guthrie and Aspermont, Mr. Lomax said he obtained a wealth of song material and stories from two old time cowboys, Frank and Lenon Hight, who told him many stories of ranch life.

Visit of Mr. Lomax to Pampa was the result of correspondence between the former University of Texas professor, whose work, "Cowboy Songs," first published in 1910, is a classic, and Woody Guthrie, relative of Jeff Guthrie of Pampa, now a Columbia Broad-

U. S. Expects To 'Top' Focke Wulf 190 In High Altitude Dog Fights Of Future

Most talked-about new fighter plane in the European war theater is Germany's Focke-Wulf 190. Has it been over-sold—or under-sold? NEA Service presents the best possible estimates of the new enemy craft in this article, the second of two which compare American war planes with those of Britain and the Axis.

By NEA Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—British criticism of American planes stems largely from the fact that the United States has not yet been able to deliver to Europe or the Middle East, in quantity, any plane which is the equal or superior to the best and the latest fighter plane that the Germans have put on the front.

This is the new Focke-Wulf 190, powered with a BMW radial-type engine said to produce 1650 horsepower, as compared with the 1150 h. p. Allison and 1350 h. p. Rolls-Royce in-line liquid cooled engines used on most of the United Nations' fighter planes.

GERMAN PLANE USES AMERICAN-TYPE ENGINE

Just how many of these Focke-Wulf 190's the Germans have is not known, nor is it known whether they are in quantity production. Until recently, none had been brought down over England, though the details of the plane are known to British and U. S. authorities. Its principal advantage over British and American combat planes is that it is good at all altitudes up to 40,000 feet.

From the designer's point of view, the important thing about this new German plane is that it goes back to the radial type of engine which older American designers have long insisted was the superior.

The British have clung to the in-line engine for their Spitfires and Hurricanes. Thus far, Spitfire and Messerschmitt have fought it out on fairly even terms throughout the war, the Spitfire having an edge in speed and fire power, but eclipsed by the Me-109's rate of climb and ceiling.

NEW GERMAN PLANE HAS NO CARBURATOR

The Focke-Wulf 190 surpasses the new Spitfire V in some ways and it is because the Americans do not have on the ground in Europe a plane that is superior to the Focke-Wulf at all altitudes that both British and American pilots in Europe are cringing. Below 15,000 feet, the Focke-Wulf may have an equal in the North American Mustang.

Evidence that the FW-190 is not having things all its own way with the Spitfire comes from a recent report of an encounter between these two planes, in which 9 of the German planes were shot down, to three of the British.

Two secrets of the Focke-Wulf success are supposed to be: First, a new cowling design which overcomes the old objection that radial type engines develop a wind-resisting frontal area; second, a new method of fuel injection which does away with carburetor and shoots fuel direct from the gas tank into the cylinder.

American Air Force men point out that this new type cowling was perfected by our NACA in 1940 and it is found on both the army's Republic P-47 and the navy's sensational Vought-Sikorsky fighter, the F4U-1, which will do over 400 miles an hour and which helped swing the army back to the radial engine as a good power unit for fighter planes.

The advantages of the Focke-Wulf's BMW engine direct fuel injection principle are said to be that it operates at all altitudes without ever cutting out, and that it permits the use of lower grade German synthetic fuels to give power equivalent to that developed from the American high-octane gas.

American engine designers have been giving considerable attention to this direct fuel injection method. EXPECT BIG RESULTS

FROM U. S. THUNDERBOLT

If the radial engine is the secret of the Focke-Wulf's superiority, however, American designers are not worried for the radial air-cooled engine has been perfected in the United States and it is used on one of the newest and best U. S. fighter planes, the Republic P-47 Thunderbolt.

The engine on this plane develops 2000 horsepower, as against the 1650 h. p. of the Focke-Wulf's BMW engine. Equipped with the turbo-supercharger, the Thunderbolt can work effectively at altitudes above 40,000 feet, which tops the Focke-Wulf's best reported performance. The Thunderbolt is now in production at the Republic plant and is also scheduled for quantity production by one of the largest U. S. aircraft manufacturers.

None of the Thunderbolts have yet been shipped to England, but an engagement between this plane and the Focke-Wulf or the over-sold Jap Zero should settle for the time being the question of who builds the best planes. In one manner of speaking, the Focke-Wulf is an attempt to match the specifications of the Republic P-47.

RAJ GETS NEW NAZI FIGHTER PLANS AS "PRESENT"

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—A main topic of conversation at RAF air-dromes in England for several months has been Germany's deadly new fighter plane, the Focke-

Wulf 190. Many a British pilot had encountered it in the air but never, until just recently, had seen it on the ground.

Desperate efforts long had been made to capture one of the new planes. Occasionally, one would be shot down over the Channel and British speed-boats would be rushed out to salvage it—but always the machine would be found to have sunk from sight.

But a few weeks ago, according to a story revealed here, the British got one of these prizes quite unexpectedly.

RAF officers were at mess at a field not far from London when suddenly a Focke-Wulf 190 appeared in the clear blue sky overhead—and swooped down to a perfect landing on a runway. Ground troops rushed out and surrounded the craft with a circle of rifles. From the cockpit climbed a young Luftwaffe pilot, who straightway was herded off to the intelligence officers' hut for questioning.

It developed that the new-comer was a German ace with many British planes to his credit.

"I am the son of a French mother and a German father," he is reported to have told his interrogators. "I have been taking part in the air fighting over Europe since the start of war. I've cracked up my nerves can't withstand the strain any longer. I have come to Britain to be interned."

And the Focke-Wulf 190 which he brought with him, shiniest intact, now is being "passed around" from air-drome to air-drome while experienced RAF pilots test it and see what makes it tick.

Name Wanted For Next Batch of Sailors Who'll Go To Dallas

The Panhandle has been asked by the United States navy to have 150 men in Dallas on Sept. 17 for a special ceremony accepting them for duty, according to Mister C. M. Norman, warrant officer in charge of the navy recruiting station for this area. He has headquarters in Amarillo.

The company will be given a name—typical of the Panhandle. Anyone is eligible to suggest a name. Just mail your suggestion to the Navy Editor, the Pampa News, Pampa, Texas.

The Panhandle of Texas sent 276 men to the navy last month which is pretty fair for a cattle country. Pampa has been missing from the list of navy recruits for the past two weeks yet Gray county's quota has been set at 50 for this month.

Latest navy recruits from this area are James Lewis Smith, Jr., of Mobeetie, Charles F. Smith of Panhandle, Harry L. Bray and Rodrick D. Perry, both of Borger, and Kenneth L. Kell of Phillips.

The navy offers an opportunity to youths and older men in many branches. It's a regular school of instruction. Some of the trades offered include:

The navy has listed many of the ranks open today in regular and the reserve branch of service. Perhaps some of the problems can be solved for the young men in listing these ranks alphabetically as follows: aviator, aviation mechanic, aviation ordnance man, aviation pilot, aviation ratonman, baker, bandmaster, boatswain's mate, boiler-maker, bugle master, bugler, carpenter's mate, commissary steward, electrician's mate, fire controlman, fireman, gunner's mate, hospital apprentice, machinist's mate, mess attendant, metalmith, molder, motor machinist's mate, musician, officer's cook, officer's steward, painter, pharmacist's mate, photographer, printer, quartermaster, radarman, radio man, radio technician, seaman, shipfitter, ship's cook, signal man, sound man, specialist, store-tender, telegrapher, water tender and yeoman.

Each of these ranks range from third class to chief petty officer. Pay ranges from $50 to $138 per month plus many allowances for dependents. Except for a few ratings, there are no specific educational or mental requirements. Your advancement depends upon two things: Initial training the navy gives you after you enlist and proof of your ability to apply that training.

Age requirements in the regular navy are 17 to 31. In the naval reserve, 17 to 50. Men under 21 must have the written consent of their parents or guardian.

Applications for admission to any of the various trade schools of the navy may be made during recruit training. Navy trade schools are grouped into five groups: 1. Electricity—ordnance; 2. communication—clerical; 3. Machinist—metal worker; 4. aviation ordnance—aviation mechanic; 5. aviation radioman; 6. bugler's—hospital apprentice, second class, and the Diesel school.

Through National Service Life Insurance, a non-profit government agency, enlisted men may now take out from $1,000 to $10,000 life insurance for the benefit of their wives, children, parents or other dependent relatives. Premiums are low, from 64 cents a month per $1,000 at age 31, to $2.17 a month per $1,000 at 51, payable monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually. No physical exam if you take out your policy within 120 days after you enlist is required.

Your base pay increases 5 per cent after each three-year period of service, up to a maximum increase of 50 per cent. While on sea duty or overseas service, you get a 20 per cent increase in base pay. Parachutists get $50 a month extra. Men on submarine duty get from $5 to $30 extra each month. Men using arms get from $1 to $5 a month extra.

In the naval reserve you will be trained to be adapted to your particular navy job. These ratings fall under the following general classifications: CLASS V-1 offers high school students the opportunity to complete the current scholastic year on inactive status. The accredited college program under this class offers freshmen, sophomores, and high

July Has Lowest Monthly Fatality Rate For 1942

AUSTIN, Sept. 3. (AP)—Motor vehicle traffic accidents chopped down 91 Texans in July to record the lowest monthly fatality rate for 1942.

The department of public safety reported today that 84 fatal traffic accidents occurred in July, boosting the total of accidents for the year to 670 and traffic deaths to 704.

Highway accidents exacted the greatest fatality toll with 49 deaths, followed by cities with 27.

Among cities of over 100,000, Dallas led for the first seven months of 1942 with a population rate of 7.0. (The population rate is the number of deaths annually per 100,000 population and is computed on the assumption that fatalities will continue to occur during the remainder of the year at the same monthly average as they have for the period covered by this report.)

Houston was second with a rate of 10.3, Fort Worth third with 11.6 and San Antonio fourth with 16.2. For cities between 50,000 and 100,000 population, Amarillo led with no traffic fatalities followed by Galveston with a rate of 2.8, El Paso with 8.8, Beaumont with 11.6, Waco with 12.2, Austin with 15.6 and Corpus Christi with 20.9.

For cities between 25,000 and 50,000 population recorded no fatalities. Port Arthur had a rate of 7.5, Abilene and Laredo 13.1 each and Wichita Falls 15.2.

Deaths for the state by months included: January, 150; February, 99; March, 132; April, 94; May, 113; June, 115.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced it would file actions in federal courts in 18 cities today in connection with a campaign against alleged violators of price ceilings on beef and veal. More than 100 meat packers and wholesale distributors are involved.

Most of the cases, OPA said, involve so-called "up-grading" of beef and veal, although many were "concerned as well with plain and simple overcharging." The packers and wholesalers also will be charged with issuing incorrect invoices, and failing to issue invoices, as provided for by regulations, OPA said.

OPA will seek injunctions to compel compliance with its regulations. There have been complaints from all parts of the country, OPA said, that packers and wholesale distributors were ignoring price regulations and "are palming off inferior cuts above OPA ceiling."

The OPA defines "up-grading" as stamping and selling meat of inferior grades at prices established for higher grades. Under the regulations, all carcasses and wholesale cuts of meat must be accurately stamped and sold at prices not exceeding the legally established maximum prices for the particular grades.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Small buyers kept selected stocks tilling moderately upward in today's market while many leaders suffered more from neglect than liquidating pressure.

Except for scattered preferreds, notably in the utility division, advances and declines generally were in small fractions. Despite speculative and investment indifference there was a smattering of new tops for the year or longer. Among these were Postal Telegraph preferred, Market St. Railway preferred, Chicago and Eastern Ill. "A," and American Machine and Metals.

Many usually active performers appeared late on the ticker tape. Bethlehem Steel, for instance, failed to open until after noon. With this stock and U. S. Steel did little or nothing price-wise.

Favored most of the time were senior issues of American Power and Light, Electric Power and Light, and U. S. Leather "A," along with common stocks of Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union, Kennecott, and Westinghouse. Leaders included General Motors, Great Northern, Anaconda, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, and Montgomery Ward.

Deaths Of Two More Soldiers In Storm At Palacios Reported

PALACIOS, Sept. 3 (AP)—Recovery of the bodies of two drowned soldiers raised to five the death toll in the storm which struck the Texas Gulf coast last week end.

Corp. Robert A. Hefley, 19, of Pasadena, Calif., and Sgt. Earle E. McGregor, 25, of Benton, Ky., were lost apparently after abandoning a truck which slipped off a highway into high water.

Sheriff-Slayer Admits He Was Hit Only With Fists

UVALDE, Sept. 3 (AP)—A jury sitting in the trial of Deputy Sheriff Ermon Merritt, charged with murder without malice in the slaying of Lieut. Charles A. Smith of Paducah, Ky., heard testimony from the defendant that he shot the army officer in self-defense last July 4.

Merritt said yesterday that he pursued Smith into a dark alley to arrest him, but "before I knew it these fellows came in behind me and jumped on me. They had me down and was pounding me. I said 'what is the trouble?'"

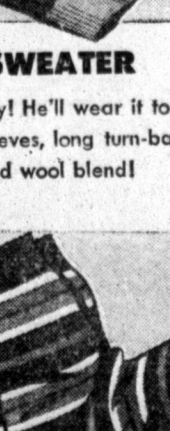

"One of them said 'pour it on him,'" continued the witness. "After they hit me several times I said 'if you don't quit I'll shoot.'" The witness testified on cross-examination that he was struck only with fists.

Defense cross-examination apparently was intended to show that Smith and some friends became involved in an argument with Merritt in a Bandera night spot immediately prior to the shooting. The state produced two army and two civilian physicians who testified that examinations of Smith's body did not indicate he had been in a fight before being shot down. Two women testified that the army men were not intoxicated. Fifty-one prosecution witnesses were still on call, presumably for rebuttal testimony.

The defense has 23 witnesses on call.

Nazis Tighten Ring Around Turkey

Turkey, fence-straddling, solitary near east neutral, finds itself menaced once again by encircling Nazi drives. German advance in Caucasus, linked with Mediterranean penetration beyond Crete, brings ring of aggression more than half-way around Turkey, which has been persistently under pressure by both axis and allies ever since war began.

Advent Of U. S. Air Forces In Europe Hailed

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The advent of U. S. army air forces in the European theater was acclaimed by the RAF today as one of the outstanding events of the third year of the war—a year which the British army said had brought an Allied invasion of Europe within the range of practical possibility.

It was three years ago that Britain and France declared war on Germany, two days after her invasion of Poland.

Commenting on the fact that American planes and American pilots are helping carry the battle to Germany, an air ministry statement summarizing developments of the last 12 months said:

"Appearance of these forerunners of the American air fleets of the fourth year of the war will perhaps be regarded by future historians as the most significant event of the period under review."

Among the contributions which the United States already has made to the air war the air ministry mentioned specifically precision bombing attacks on Germany by flying fortresses and the work done by American-made Bostons, Liberators and Catalinas with the coastal command.

During the past year, the statement said, home-based British fighters have shot down "close to a thousand" German planes over Europe while 200 Nazi night raiders have been destroyed over Berlin.

RAF losses in the European theater in the same period were put at 700 planes.

Authoritative sources said the air ministry's figures brought to 8,885 the number of Axis aircraft destroyed during the first three years of the war compared with 6,231 British planes lost.

Britain's war industries were silenced for 15 minutes today as workers and soldiers, clerks and statesmen joined in prayer for victory on the third war anniversary.

Tank-Hunting Course Opens At Camp Hood

CAMP HOOD, Sept. 3 (AP)—"You're here to learn to kill. Are there any questions?"

This terse informative from Maj. Gordon T. Kimbrell starts the newly formed tank destroyer battalions on their course in cold-blooded, silent killing, designed to eliminate tank crews from combat fields and to eliminate one of the enemies' strongest striking arms.

The camp's tank-hunting course, the first in the world, teaches the men how to ambush, cripple and the British cabinet attended services at Westminster Abbey.

American troops in London barracks held their own special service in their chapel.

Standing before the American flag, Chaplain S. L. Weems of Stark City, Mo., read a brief passage and led in a prayer and hymn service.

destroy tanks and how to kill their enemies—with or without weapons. The camp, in service for months, will be dedicated formally September 18.

Major Kimbrell's brief and to the point greeting to the newcomers is a quotation borrowed from the commanding officer of the British Commando school in which he received part of his training.

And he isn't just talking. One group just completing its training scored 117 hits out of 150 shots in a lightless tunnel.

Here's some of the toughening routine for these boys who will maneuver the mobile, powerful anti-tank guns:

The men leave their bivouac, in which they staged a forced march under cover to darkness, and run until they reach a creek 30 feet wide.

The water-logged men clamber up a steep embankment and negotiate a small revetment and ascend a nearly perpendicular 400-foot hill at quick time. When they get to the top—those that make it—they fall into firing position.

By the time they complete their course, they're men no Jap or German would like to know.

They're ready, and able, to live up to the anti-tank battalion motto: Seek-strike-destroy.

RATIONING RUMORS BLASTED

In commenting on rumors that certain commodities are to be rationed shortly, Paul M. O'Leary, deputy administrator in charge of rationing, has declared: "We are planning the rationing machinery for many commodities in which there is no present need for rationing, but in this respect we're like the fire department. It gets its fire-fighting equipment ahead of time so when the alarm sounds, they don't have to go shopping for a fire engine in order to go to the fire." He added that "a competent discharge of our duties requires that we be ready to meet any emergency as it arises."

U. S. Doughboys Look Better Than Anything Hitler Or Tokyo Has

By ANGUS M. THUERMER

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP)—The U. S. army war show, which opened last night, demonstrated to 35,000 Chicagoans that Uncle Sam's doughboys have what it takes to match Hitler's efficient legions.

To one side to recall the stomping goose-step of green-grey German troops at a Hitler birthday parade, it was not more precise than the easy swinging step of the army tank force crack drill companies here.

The American boys, brought up in knickerbockers and scuffed shoes, not Hitler youth uniforms, marched like veterans. Brown, tough from months of hitting the dirt in battle maneuvers, they looked equal to anything ever put in the field.

Sturdy, well armed M 3 tanks which smashed over barricades and flattened old auto hulks like tin cans still looked like easy targets, compared with German tanks of similar weight which presented a much lower silhouette.

The six-ton army rubber pontoon bridge on exhibit, to the layman's eye, seemed to be an advance over the similar German bridge.

German ingenuity hasn't watched the handy five-pound walkie-talkie radio with which a company commander can talk to his headquarters as far as a mile away.

What American army men call a "tank destroyer"—a French 75MM gun mounted on a fast, well-protected scout car—offers the soldier much more speed and protection than do the early models of a similar German gun. The Nazis, however, have developed an effective "assault gun" mounted in a tank with a low silhouette.

The German army has striven to replace its light anti-tank gun, comparable with the American 37MM named by the task force here, with a heavier, longer-barreled, three-wheeled weapon.

Willkie 'Damned Glad To See' U. S. Troops In Egypt

By HARRY CROCKETT

WITH UNITED STATES FORCES NEAR CAIRO, Sept. 3 (AP)—"I just want to say I'm damned glad to see you, God bless and give 'em hell," Wendell Willkie told American troops today after looking over their big army workshops and repair facilities here.

Willkie was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Russell Maxwell, U. S. army commander in the Middle East, at this base where shell-damaged General Grant tanks were being put back into fighting trim.

Speaking informally to the soldiers, Willkie told them the primary purpose of his stop-over in Egypt en route to Chungking and Moscow was to try to focus more attention at home on the Mediterranean front.

Well refreshed by a night's sleep after an 11,000-mile flight on his voluntary mission to spread the word abroad for President Roosevelt of the United States' unity at home, Willkie tramped through this vast, semi-desert area apparently at ease in the dust and heat.

Willkie spoke privately to Egyptian Prime Minister Nahas Pasha and sandwiched in a tourist's visit to the Pyramids and Sphinx.

"The days of Germany's glory are over," Willkie said in an interview. "If I'm here as President Roosevelt's representative it is because 130,000,000 Americans are all behind the president to beat the Germans."

Treasury Presents New Tax Proposal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau asked the senate finance committee today for legislation to levy an additional $6,500,000,000 in taxes on individuals, over an above the $6,271,000,000 tax bill passed by the house, with provision for a $4,500,000,000 post-war rebate to individuals.

It would boost to approximately $14,000,000,000 the amount over and above existing taxes which the treasury would drain from national income.

Total tax collections would be increased to approximately $30,500,000,000 for a full year's operations, with $4,500,000,000 to be credited to individuals for post-war rebates.

Presenting the plan personally to the senate finance committee, Secretary Morgenthau said he was proposing a tax on consumer spending "which will reach into the lowest income groups above the level of bare subsistence and will provide high penalty rates for luxury spending."

In addition, he urged a further lowering of the exemptions for the income tax applying to family income for married couples and $250 credit for dependents.

The finance committee recently cut the latter credit from the $400 level approved by the house to $300.

Unions Ask Place On Production Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Organized labor carried directly to Donald M. Nelson today its demand for "a place at the top" in guiding production policy and for labor representation on the War Production board itself.

As an outgrowth of representations made by the leaders of 20 AFL and CIO unions at last week's labor-WPB conference on materials shortages, WFB Chairman Nelson arranged to sit down with a six-man labor committee for what he called an afternoon of "the frankest kind of talk."

Meantime, sources refusing to be quoted by name, predicted Nelson would grant labor a voice in drafting production policy equivalent to that of other board members.

Thinner and less fancy glass containers are to be used for the duration, but there will be an increase of 30 per cent in the number of containers available, to meet the shortage of tin cans. A new limitation order reduces unnecessary weight, requires simpler designs, and establishes a trend to "stock" containers which can be made on a mass production basis.

7 Enlist In Army Here In 3 Days

Seven voluntary enlistments in three days is the record set this week by Sgt. R. D. Short, Pampa army recruiting officer, who sent 37 men to the army in August to set a new Gray county record. Three others were rejected at the induction center.

Sgt. Short sent four men to Lubbock induction center yesterday, two the day before, and one Monday. All entered the specialist branch of the air corps which is so popular with young men.

This month's enlistments were: Ray Monday, George C. Glasscock and Harold G. Coxburn, all of Pampa; James L. Schaub and Bill R. Smith, both of Wheeler; Earl N. Clement of Dodson; and Will D. Powers of Mobeetie.

Japs Admit Dutch 'Still Fight On'

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 3 (AP)—Japanese trumpeting that "peace and order" prevailed in the Dutch East Indies was contradicted today by Tokyo itself with the broadcast announcement that a Dutch army lieutenant had been seized after six months of waging guerrilla warfare.

But it was from other sources that the story of the heroism of Lieut. de Jong, the Dutchman who fought on, was obtained by the Aneta news agency.

After organized resistance in the Indies ended, the news agency learned, de Jong stayed on Celebes island, taking to the jungle with a gallant little band of men, only two of whom were left when he finally was captured.

tionably superior," he declared, "but our pursuit planes don't fill the bill by a wide margin, x x x and that observation is direct from the boys who are doing the fighting."

He accompanied the American flyers in flights from an aircraft carrier, and talked with the men fighting from land bases. He was determined, he said, to get their views across to the highest Washington officials.

Since arriving on the mainland, the 33-year-old congressman said he had watched with concern the news and threatened strikes in war plants.

"Selfishness is at the bottom of the whole thing," he commented. "While those boys are out there fighting, some big interests are quibbling for bigger profits and labor groups are demanding more pay."

"Employers and employees alike ought to stop and think what they'd have if they won the biggest contracts and wages and then lost the war."

The congressman visited Bonham, Texas, en route here from the west coast to see his new-born son, Gene. He learned he was a father at Pearl Harbor three days after the boy's birth.

His return to civil life was in compliance with a presidential directive affecting members of congress in the armed forces.

He said his war experience, which included duty on a submarine and in a surface vessel on convoy duty, should make him a far better legislator—and if it didn't he would be keenly disappointed.

The tanned Texan, who served aboard an aircraft carrier in Pacific battle zone operations, and by special permission of Gen. Douglas MacArthur on an army bomber in a raid near New Guinea, expressed chagrin and dismay that controversies continued in war industries and declared Americans should realize that their boys were fighting with odds in favor of the enemy.

Worley accompanied American flyers in flights originating from an aircraft carrier, and talked with the boys doing the fighting from land bases. He said he was determined to get across their views to the highest officials here to assure that the very latest and best equipment would be sent to the Pacific war zone.

Cause Of United Nations Cause Of Youth, Says FDR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt told young people of all the world today that German Nazis, Italian Fascists and Japanese militarists have nothing to offer but death while "the cause of the United Nations is the cause of youth itself."

His words were broadcast internationally and were directed to young men and women in the United Nations and in Axis nations and Axis-dominated lands as well. But Mr. Roosevelt remarked he fully expected the Axis to jam the airwaves to drown out his message.

The president's immediate audience was the international student assembly, gathered in Washington. The cause of the United Nations, Mr. Roosevelt declared, "is the hope of the new generation, and the generations that are to come—hope for a new life that can be lived in freedom, and justice, and decency."

He added: "This fact is becoming clearer every day to the young people of Europe, where the Nazis are trying to create youth organizations built on the Nazi pattern, x x x it is a pattern devised by Hitler and imposed upon youth by a form of mental forcible feeding—a diet of false facts, distortions, and prohibitions—all backed up by the guns of the Gestapo."

Any who wonder what the decent youth of Europe think of this, he said, have but to consider the brave young men in occupied countries who prefer firing squads to life long "slavery and degradation under Hitler."

Throughout the world, men in America's fighting forces were listening to the commander in chief. Much of the address was directed specifically to them and he gave assurance that "we here at home are supremely conscious of our obligations to you," now and in the future, and "we will not let you down."

"The United Nations," Mr. Roosevelt asserted, "have the technical means, physical resources, courage, vision and will required to build and sustain the kind of world order which alone, he said, can justify youth's sacrifices now."

"But we must keep at it—we must never relax, never falter, never fear—and we must keep at it together," he said.

"We must maintain the offensive against evil in all its forms. We must work and we must fight to insure that our children shall have and shall enjoy in peace their inalienable rights to freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, freedom from fear."

"Only on those bold terms can this total war result in total victory."

He exulted, Mr. Roosevelt said, in the thought that the young, free men and women of the United Nations and not the "wound-up" robots of the slave states "will mold the shape of the new world."

The president declared that the responsibility of government to try to find jobs for those willing and able to work would continue after the war.

When the fighting men return, he said, "it is not progress that they are involved, as last time, in a 'domestic economic mess of our own making.'"

"They must come home, he said, and take a part in shaping the future. Furthermore, he said, his words for America's soldiers and sailors applied equally to all young men and women of the United Nations facing the common foe."

Mr. Roosevelt paid tribute to the "embattled youth" of Russia and China, who, he said, were casting off the last links of the "ancient chain of imperial despotism which has bound them so long."

The old term, "western civilization," no longer applies, he said, since world events and the common needs of all humanity are joining the cultures of Asia, Europe and the Americas to form a real world civilization for the first time.

None of the soldiers or sailors battling today, he declared, would so willingly endure the rigors of warfare if they thought their own sons would be fighting another war in another twenty years.

The president said the Axis radio, using terms of "growing hate" and "complete falsehood," had deflected the attention of the youth of the world to his speech and to the student assembly.

The Nazi radio in Paris, he said, tells French youth that "Roosevelt was solely responsible for the defeat of France" and argues that he was not qualified to speak to the youth of the world because America has done nothing for youth.

He said the Tokyo radio declared he was admitting that the American people were decadent, weaklings, play boys—spoiled by jazz music and Hollywood pictures.

"Of course," he remarked cheerfully, "this broadcast did not originate from any of the Japanese who bumped into our playboys in the southwest Pacific."

"The reason for this hysterical defensive attitude toward this gathering is not hard to find. For many years they have made their hypocritical appeal to youth—they have tried, with all their blatant publicity, to represent themselves as the champions of youth."

"But now the world knows that the Nazis, the Fascists, and the militarists of Japan have nothing to offer youth, except death."

"On the other hand, the cause of the United Nations is the cause of youth itself."

was shot down, dropped explosives in that area and a third enemy craft bombed a point in the west of England where there were some casualties and damage.

A short time earlier several formations of Spitfires swept home ward from the direction of Calais and Dunkerque.

Observers on the English south-east coast said explosions and vivid flashes developed across Dover strait around midnight.

Another RAF raid on the same area started before 4 a. m., and continued 20 minutes.

Two German bombers were reported shot down in raids shortly before midnight last night upon areas in east and northeastern England. British authorities reported only slight damage.

A Berlin broadcast said military objectives in the industrial Midlands were the targets and declared German bombers hit a military base on the Isle of Wight, in the English channel, by daylight yesterday.

He said Woody was a master in his work. There are more than 20,000 American folk songs recorded in the library of congress and will not be considered for several days, Adjutant General J. Walt Page declared today.

McClannahan tendered his resignation after James Andrews, 38, editor of a San Antonio negro newspaper had granted six months deferment in Washington on appeal from local and state refusal to grant a deferment application.

General Page, state selective service director, pointed out that while McClannahan's resignation remained unacted on the board member is required to continue serving.

He expressed regret that McClannahan had offered his resignation, pointing out that the Bexar county member had rendered fine service.

General Page who personally rejected a deferment appeal in behalf of Andrews said that membership on a draft board was one of the "most thankless and toughest jobs in the entire war production program."

"There have been other instances where deferment requests rejected by me have been overruled in Washington but I cannot afford to wish or to lessen the efforts we are putting into the tremendous task ahead of us," he commented.

Magician Makes His Audience Disappear

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP)—Performing the brand new trick of "the disappearing audience," Blackstone, the magician, prevented a possible theater panic yesterday.

He was about to go on stage at the Lincoln theater before a packed house—nearly all children—when fire broke out in an adjoining building.

It swiftly became so dangerous that Fire Chief Claude Osborne ordered the theater evacuated. Blackstone said he could handle the situation.

Striding onto the stage, the magician said: "I shall open this performance with a brand new feat—one which requires the cooperation of everyone in the audience."

"Everyone must leave the theater for a few moments while preparations are made. All right, those nearest the exits may leave. Walk slowly. Take your time."

Everyone left and even after they saw the fire next door many wanted to return to the theater to see the rest of the "brand new feat."

The fire caused damage to two adjoining shops estimated at $40,000 by the fire chief. The theater was not damaged appreciably.

RED ARMY

the rim of the great Gattara salt basin where Rommel's preliminary thrusts had penetrated eight miles through British minefields.

British headquarters said Rommel's mechanized armies were subjected to a record-breaking bombardment yesterday, with American and RAF planes sweeping over the battle area from dawn until after dark.

Never before, a communique said, had so many bombing sorties been carried out in one day since the start of the African campaign.

With still no sign of a major breakthrough, such as a marked Rommel's tempestuous offensives in the past, it began to appear that the Axis chieftain had met stiffer opposition than he had expected and that his hopes of a lightning drive to the Nile and the Suez canal would be difficult to fulfill.

"In no place and in no part of the eighth army area have the enemy penetrated our organized defense area," said a message from Gen. B. L. Montgomery, British field commander.

Gen. Montgomery made it clear, however, that so far the battle was still in its opening phase and that the main armies had not yet collided.

On the Stalingrad front, the situation was admittedly growing more critical by the hour. Soviet dispatches acknowledged that the Germans had driven new wedges into Russian lines on the background below Stalingrad, but declared that the Red armies fell back only after smothering a series of four attacks and destroying 30 Nazi tanks.

"However, a group of German tanks succeeded in penetrating our lines," the Soviet command said. "After stubborn fighting, our troops in this sector withdrew to a new defensive line."

Northwest of Stalingrad, in the 40-mile corridor between the Don and Volga, Russian attacks kept the Germans off balance, but there was no indication that Marshal Semenov Timoshenko had launched a major counteroffensive to ease the pressure on the south.

In the Caucasus, bitter fighting raged for the Soviet Black sea naval base at Novorossiisk and on the far approaches to the Grozny oil fields more than half way down the Caucasian land bridge to the Middle East.

"Our troops fought defensive engagements with the enemy advance guard in the direction of Novorossiisk," Soviet headquarters said.

In the Mozdok region, 50 miles northwest of Grozny, Russian troops battling to defend river crossings were credited with sinking eight pontoons and three speedboats loaded with Nazis. German progress through the rugged mountains of the central Caucasus appeared to be slow and costly, dispatches said.

Meanwhile, a powerful armada of RAF warplanes marked the third anniversary of Britain's declaration of war against Germany by a destructive attack on the rail city of Karlsruhe (pop. 155,000) in the upper Rhineland.

"The crews reported very large fires and a thick pall of smoke up to 8,000 feet over the town," a British spokesman said. Eight RAF bombers were listed as missing.

Other RAF planes pounded Nazi communications and defense works on the German-occupied French "invasion" coast, striking first at midnight and then again at 4 a. m. A Berlin broadcast said German raiders attacked the English industrial Midlands.

The steadily growing role of American airmen in the offensive against Germany drew high praise from the British air ministry.

Immediate Drafting Of Youths Asked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Senator Gurney (R-SD)—demanded in the senate today the immediate drafting of youths 18 and 19 years of age.

The proposal brought a quick protest from Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) who said the "idea of sending tender boys into combat" was "abhorrent" to him.

Gurney offered an amendment to the selective service act which he said was designed to provide youth under 20 a maximum period of training before "they would have to go into combat."

The Gurney amendment was referred to the military affairs committee, where Democratic senators have professed distaste for lowering age limits for induction, with one warning against mobilization of an army so large that it would endanger the nation's efficiency as "the arsenal of democracy."

Fatigue Is Sabotage: Fatigue is one of our greatest enemies. It can slow down vital factory assembly lines humming with the production of war material...

It can rob us of our zest for our job, whatever it is, and of our ability to do it well. It can encourage the fitters when what we need most today is calmness, strength, and determination.

In this war of nerves, fatigue can defeat our best efforts almost singlehandedly by sabotaging our will to win.

Overwork and lack of sleep aren't the only things that bring on fatigue. So often we've heard someone exclaim, "That makes me tired!"

We can actually become fatigued simply by being exposed too long to something (or somebody) we don't like. We can tire ourselves out by being tense and all keyed up, or even just by being bored.

Fatigue is a result of one's mental attitude as well as of actual physical strain. In fact, the state of "overwork" is usually mostly mental. One who likes his work can keep at it much longer without fatigue than one who dislikes it.

Because of its possible serious effect upon the production of war material, industry has kept a close watch upon fatigue among workers in war plants, guarding against it in every possible way.

New employees are given preplacement examinations by plant medical departments to make sure the work to which they are assigned will not over-tax them.

Frequent rest periods are provided when needed to avoid fatigue. Careful attention is paid to proper lighting, ventilation, and heating or cooling. Hours of work are carefully regulated.

In many plants food is made available to workers between meals on traveling "snack bars." The worker can even secure from his employer advice on what foods are best to eat for breakfast and to bring in his lunch box to carry him through the day with minimum fatigue.

Music played over loud speakers relieves the monotony of the repetition required in some operations and helps speed production of the guns, ships, tanks, shells, and planes we need.

Noise is reduced as far as possible. In certain jobs where temperatures must be high, workers are encouraged to drink water and to eat salt and vitamin C to replace what the body loses by perspiration.

Many of these remedies for fatigue may be applied by the rest of us, no matter what our work is. A common cause of unnecessary fatigue is tension.

Watch the way you grip your pen or pencil, or point out a page on the typewriter. How do you wield the paring knife or use the broom? Do you clutch it as if your life depended on your grip? Couldn't you do with less tightening of the muscles, more ease?

Worry, anger, and continued pessimism are forms of mental tension. It is just as important to avoid such fatigue-producing mental attitudes as it is to relax physically. Put your mind as well as your body at ease.

Today the U. S. needs us fit. Don't let fatigue sabotage you.

BY VICTORY BONDS The Nation's Press WASTED EFFORT AT GARY

Work on the synthetic rubber plant at Gary has been stopped after some $3,500,000 had been spent on clearing and draining the site.

A protest on behalf of the Gary community is to be made in Washington, and it is to be hoped that as a result of it there will be a thoroughgoing investigation of the circumstances.

A first question to be answered is whether political jobbery resulted in discrimination against northern Indiana. Such things have happened. There is little doubt, for example, that some army training centers and some munitions factories have been located with a view to political expediency.

There are other important questions to be answered. The work in Gary was started in June. The plans called for the erection of a 90 million dollar plant. Somebody in authority must have been responsible for a nation-wide survey of the resources for making butadiene and converting it into rubber substitutes.

Even if it is assumed that no improper influences resulted in the change of plans, the fact remains that somebody almost certainly blundered. It is conceivable but not likely that there are facts now known about the possibilities of producing butadiene elsewhere which could not have been obtained when the decision to build at Gary was reached.

Thus there are three possibilities to be investigated. Was the construction of the Gary plant halted because of stockpiling, probably political in origin? Was it stopped because the original plan was based upon an inadequate survey of the na-

Common Ground

By R. O. BOYLES: "I speak the plain-word primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."

WHAT WE WANT OUR PRESIDENT TO CHAT ABOUT: The President is scheduled to give us a couple of fireside chats. I want to suggest a topic or two about which I would like to have him enlighten us.

Judging from his insistence upon the Wagner Law and his insistence upon appointing a War Labor board that believes it has the right and the wisdom to establish wages, we would like to have the President explain by what impersonal rule wages are to be determined if they are not to be determined by a free market; that is, each man selling his services to the man who will pay him the most, and each man hiring the man who will do the most for the reward.

But there seems to be no other method other than some arbitrary, mandatory decisions of some board. But this is more dangerous and more undemocratic and more like a Hitler government than permitting all people to help establish values and market their services.

Mr. Roosevelt will not discuss this because if he attempted to he would convict himself of doing exactly what the dictators do—establish some bureau to take away the inherent rights of mankind.

The war board has attempted to use January 1941 as a base. But they, nor the President, have never given us any impersonal rule to determine whether different groups were getting their just share of wages for this date. Will he not please enlighten us on this point?

Another question we would like to have Roosevelt enlighten us on is by what impersonal rule he would determine man's ability to pay taxes. He is a great advocate of the meaningless euphemious man-made phrase of "taxes on ability to pay."

But Roosevelt will not discuss this question either. He will not discuss it because he cannot write any impersonal rule of determining man's ability to pay. If he attempted to discuss it, he would convict himself again of adopting policies similar to those of Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin.

We cannot return to free enterprise and the American way of life until these problems are solved. To attempt to build an economy without them being solved is to build it on sand.

But instead of getting these questions solved that must be solved, we will undoubtedly hear a lot of glaring generalities and words used to excuse the mistakes that the socialistic policies of the present administration have brought out us.

DO LABOR UNIONS REALLY BUY BONDS? Probably labor union leaders when they buy a bond think they actually bought the bond and made the sacrifice. But those people who have to pay the increased price of the commodity due to laborers getting increased wages by threat of stoppage if their demands are not granted, reason thusly: All the money that labor unions get above what they could get on a free market basis is not really their money.

When you pause to think about them, the roles of cinema scoundrels are the most obvious film frauds. The deepest-dyed evil-doer never says anything stronger than "Dog-sonit!"

It is doubtful whether any labor union workers are doing this and thus really buying bonds. It is thus rather annoying, to say the least, to people who believe in free enterprise and the American way of life to hear labor leaders boasting about their organization and their individuals buying bonds.

The columns of this newspaper, of course, are open for any labor unionist to refute the above conclusions.

Additional resources? Or because of stupidity or carelessness on the part of the bureaucracy? A great many people expect that the experience of a government dominated economy in war is going to lead to the extension of socialism or, as it is sometimes called, the planned society.

They have been notably lacking in foresight. They failed to provide us with an adequate stockpile of plantation rubber, tin, and a great many other commodities. They still can't make up their minds about gasoline, wages, sugar, the collection of salvage and a lot of other things too numerous to mention.

They told us not to eat cheese and brought about an unprecedented surplus of cheese which they are now begging us to eat. They have been limiting the acreage of farm crops and at the same time are demanding larger production of these same crops.

There is mighty little in the record to inspire confidence in the ability of the bureaucracy in Washington to supply the people of this country with the immense diversity of things they will need and want after the war is over.

NAVY GETS A WOODEN PLANE (Portland Oregonian): Notice that the United States Navy has received delivery of its first plastic-plywood plane, designed as a training ship, will be received with approval here in the land of the spruce.

At least is a token. Our Army and Navy, which went out of the wooden airplane business a dozen years ago, along with the commercial shift, are now getting back into it. And we predict that they will get back into it very deep indeed before this thing is over.

But there is no reason why we should scold the Army and Navy for being less well prepared. They probably should have had approved experimental ships ready to put into production, but the fact is that as matters stand the Army and Navy have as many metal fuselages as they have engines to put into them.

Some folks like the favorite summer drink, iced tea, with lemon added and the tea omitted.

THE ONES THAT WEREN'T IN THE BOOK

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON: HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3.—Norman Krasna is a movie-maker who doesn't put much stock in screen villainy. This is no reflection on the heavies of Hollywood, whom the successful Mr. Krasna regards as very fine actors.

"Sinister screen characters," he said, "are likely to be phony. This isn't because they're so wicked, but because they aren't wicked enough. Movies—or American movies, at least—don't dare be so realistic as to portray human villainy as it really is."

When you pause to think about them, the roles of cinema scoundrels are the most obvious film frauds. The deepest-dyed evil-doer never says anything stronger than "Dog-sonit!"

News Behind The News The National Whirligig

By ALBERT N. LEMAN: MISERY — The air has been split lately by strident outcries regarding the WPB's failure to prevent a lopsided distribution of raw materials.

But the grateful peasants, who remember the Argonne and Flanders Field, are enraged at the thought of their countrymen being used to pull Axis chestnuts out of the fire. They are helpless to block the move but with typical Gallic wit they have made the strange group the butt of jokes.

MINERALS — Increasing quantities of powder and TNT are exhausted daily wherever United States troops, ships or planes bombard the enemy. Everyone expects such enlarged consumption. But New York surveys on industrial activities show that use of commercial explosives would be directly employed on the battlefield.

SHIELD — There is more behind the news than appears on the surface when Allied fliers pestered Gdynia in Poland the other night. The action was not merely a stunt. Results may have an incalculable effect upon the lives of United States sailors and soldiers and help decide the fate of Marmaris. Here is the story as related by convoy skippers now in New York:

MOONBEAM SKID: Later at RKO, watching a ship-board scene for "Once Upon a Honeymoon," I was reminded strikingly that Krasna isn't alone in his feeling that movie devilry isn't often lifelike.

STANDING BY: Standing there by the low chain-rail, she made a long, bitter speech that was far more exciting than the physical climax, which probably would have looked a little phony, anyway. Maybe Slezak tried to push her overboard and she dodged, and he fell. Or perhaps she just booted him overboard, as everyone would approve, except the sensors of the code-bound Hays Office.

TRAMPS — When General Eisenhower's Rangers scurry from their barges to the beaches and docks of France, do not be surprised to learn that sprinkled among them are men from New England of French-Canadian ancestry. The ranks of the Commandos who landed in Dieppe were intentionally filled with volunteers from Quebec and Nova Scotia and also many De Gaulleists.

Why, I'd be afraid to tell my husband I paid that much for the few little repairs you made around the house—he's in a very bad mood this evening!

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE: Wide World War Analyst: The happy topic of hanging Herr Hitler was discussed in this column Tuesday and I intended to pursue it yesterday, but Rommel's make-break offensive intervened and it seemed best to deal with that because, after all, we must defeat the fuhrer and then catch him before we can hang him.

Tuesday's article dealt with the Allied determination to destroy militarism utterly in Japan and Germany. This program would mean stripping these countries of every vestige of armament and the means of making arms. Nippon and the Reich likely would have to be policed by Allied military for many years.

British Home Secretary Morrison yesterday declared in a speech that "The United Nations would accept no peace offer from Hitler unless it took the form of a promise, with guarantees of performance, of a collective security system which would German leadership." I suspect the secretary was in part "spoofing," as our English friends say, although there's no reason to doubt that he meant Hitler and his captains must be removed from the picture.

Anyway, with all these things done the Allies must then undertake the elimination of militaristic tendencies among the defeated people by a long and difficult process of education. Our success in this epochal experiment in remodeling the world will depend largely on the attitude in which we approach it.

I are we to undertake it in hatred and bent on revenge? Or having meted out just punishment, are we to deal with it from the viewpoint of the Golden Rule? It's important that we make up our minds in advance.

I raise this issue because the cultivation of hatred is being advocated in some circles. The idea is not only to defeat and punish the enemy, but smash hell out of 'em for all time. In order to make this spirit effective, those who belong to this school of thought advocate the deliberate creation of hatred in the hearts of our soldiers that in the "savaging" of our young troops.

Dr. A. H. Martin, of the Institute of Industrial Psychology, Sydney, Australia, has called the turn on this proposition. He says soldiers into whom bloodlust and hatred are instilled in training are likely to suffer from intellectual blackout. He approves the recent order by British army commanders that the use of strong language in attempts to produce blood-lust and hate during battle-training must be stopped.

Hatred is one of the most unbalancing of primitive emotions. The soldier who is obsessed with it is the one likely to be killed, and the commander likewise afflicted would be unsuited for leadership.

Now of course a soldier must be taught to kill, though he should be schooled to work coolly. But once he has it fixed in his mind that war means killing and perhaps he's killed, he doesn't need hatred to steel his arm.

As regards hatred, Dr. Martin says "We can very well stimulate high mental processes which will help us win the war." If that is true, then it strikes me that the stimulation of cool and collected thought, rather than the hysteria due to unbridled hatred, will help us win the peace. It will help us help the other fellows get rid of the militaristic spirit which has been torturing the world. And right now is the time to begin to cultivate that idea.

TO save more than 100,000 pounds of crude rubber a year, shoeing bus services have been banned, and chartered bus services have been limited to transportation of war workers, school children, and members of the armed forces.

X in government, as everywhere else, is the great unknown, which people who play politics always wish they could verify.

Y stands for Yes-men, which is what great administrators always surround themselves with.

Z is for Zero, which is what taxpayers have left when they get through paying for all this, and is what it all amounts to.

Life In Capital Is As 'Simple' As A, B, C

By PETER EDSON: If you would like a simple explanation of Washington in A, B, C form, to read to your children as a bedtime story, it would run something like this:

A is for Administrator. An Administrator is a big man in the government. He makes plans and carries out programs. He runs things.

B is for Bureau. An administrator runs a Bureau. B also stands for Bureau of the Budget, which makes the first guess as to how much money every other Bureau should have for its operation. Therefore the Bureau of the Budget bosses the administrators.

C stands for Constitution, Congress and Cabinet, which used to be tops. But now C stands for Coordinator. A coordinator is supposed to coordinate several administrators' programs and plans which might otherwise conflict. A coordinator therefore has supervision over several bureaus and their administrators.

D might stand for Dollar-a-year man, but more properly, D stands for Director. A director issues directives. A director can issue directives to the coordinators, telling them to coordinate the work of the bureaus through their administrators.

F stands for Fiscal Year, the clumsy, confusing period between one June 1 and the next June 30 in which the chief executive tells the directors to coordinate the bureau administrators.

G stands for Government Gravy. Administrators, bureaus, cabinet officers, coordinators, directors and even the chief executive all try to get the Budget Bureau to approve their asking Congress to give them more and more government gravy.

HIGHER-UPS ARE NEXT: I stands for Higher-ups. No matter how high you go in the government, or how much gravy you get, there are always higher-ups to tell you what to do.

I stands for inefficiency, which is ruthlessly hunted down by Inspectors. Administrators designate some subordinate as an inspector to go through the bureau and see that all acts of Congress, directives and executive orders are complied with and that the gravy is going where the higher-ups hoped it would.

K stands for Kicked-upstairs, which nobody in government ever seems to get, if you ask them.

L stands for Liaison. As you have seen, things are getting pretty complicated, so it is necessary to appoint liaison officers to keep administrators, bureaus, coordinators and directors informed on what they are doing.

MILITARY MAJESTY: M stands for Military. Of late, all the foregoing, from administration right through liaison, have been suspicious that the military is trying to take over.

N stands for Navy. The military always complains that out in the field, the naval officers always rank higher than the army officers.

O stands for Operations. Administrators are always telling you about the operations of their bureau.

P stands for Politics. This is a game played by all bureaucrats, is the generic term for all government employees from administration brain-trusters to military and naval brass hats. Purpose of the game of politics is for each player to get everybody else kicked-upstairs so that he himself can be promoted.

Q stands for quorum. It is necessary for both houses of congress and all government committees to have a quorum present in order to do business. In congress whenever a congressman wants to go to the rest rooms, he calls for a quorum, which is seldom there.

R stands for Red Tape and Reorganization. When bureaus expand their operations they inevitably get bound with red tape.

S STANDS FOR SECRET: S stands for government Secret, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha! Until publicly announced, rumors of reorganized plans are all supposed to be government secrets. Joke's over.

T stands for Taxpayer, the sap! U stands for Unlimited authority, which all bureaucrats wish they had from higher-ups.

V stands for Verify. All bureaucrats must verify everything with their higher-ups.

W stands for War Production Board, a government agency which is constantly being reorganized to eliminate red tape.

X in government, as everywhere else, is the great unknown, which people who play politics always wish they could verify.

Y stands for Yes-men, which is what great administrators always surround themselves with.

SERIAL-STORY
WHEN A GIRL MARRIES
 BY RENE RYERSON MART

RESCUE AND REMORSE
CHAPTER XII
 "SEE you Sunday," Hank Holliday said as he bid Enid good night. "You're to do another portrait of Sonny for me, remember?"
 Enid smiled. "Yes," she said. She waited with her key in the door and watched Tom go on down the hall, slim, blond, carrying himself with that easy assurance she admired so much. He turned at his own door and waved a careless hand at her.
 She had no way of knowing that before she saw him again many, many things would be changed.
 The heat wave lasted until Sunday morning, and then just at dawn it broke in a terrific storm. Enid sat up in bed frightened and dazed. The wind was whipping through the open bedroom windows and the curtains were flying back into the room.
 She slid out of bed, stumbled in the darkness against a chair and ran to close the windows. It was still raining when the telephone rang at 9 o'clock. It was Hank Holliday calling. Enid hadn't seen him since the night she had gone on the consultation trip with him.
 He said it looked like the rain had spoiled their plans for another picnic with Sonny. They'd have to postpone it until another time. Enid said, "Yes," and waited expecting him to suggest other plans for the day. But he didn't. Said he was awfully sorry, and that he'd be seeing her, and hung up.
 She dressed and got her breakfast, and wondered what she was going to do with the long day ahead. Well, she could go home and pick up her mail.
 She saw the telegram fastened to the door knob as soon as she reached the porch. She tore it open hastily.
 "Pop and Mom lost on lake in storm. Come at once. Letty."
 ENID'S knees sagged with fright. It wasn't hard to imagine what had happened. Mom had written that she and Pop usually went out on the lake just before daylight, because the fishing was at its best then. And they had been caught in this morning's storm.
 She looked at the time at the head of the telegram. Eight a. m. She'd already lost nearly three precious hours.
 It was strange how, in this sudden emergency, her mind reverted to its old chaotic quality. She thought of Hank Holliday. It was Tom—Tom. He'd take her. Enid felt calmer at once and her dazed mind began to function.

 Tom said he'd be right over when she explained things over the telephone to him. "Now don't worry," he told her. "There's a lot of small islands in the lake. They're probably quite safe on one of them."
 The 100-mile drive to the lake seemed endless although Tom drove as fast as he dared on the wet and treacherous road. They didn't talk much.
 Once Tom said, "Gee, I'm glad you're back. I missed you like a dog." He broke off abruptly, remembering that she didn't like to hear him swear. "Well, I missed you," he finished sheepishly, throwing her a sideways grin.
 His words made Enid feel cheap and ashamed, remembering that she hadn't thought of him for days. Enid wanted to go with him, but Aunt Faye, who had come over from her own luxurious cottage on the lake front and taken charge in her domineering way, vetoed that.
 "There's nothing you can do down there," she told Enid. "You'd only be in the men's way. Now take off that slicker and sit down here and drink some hot coffee."
 "As if coffee or anything could help," Enid thought despairingly. But obediently she sipped the scalding liquid.
 THE rain continued to fall all day, a gray depressing drizzle, and just before dark a man from the rescue squad sloshed up to the cottage in rubber boots. He said that a rowboat had been beached nearby. "You'd better go," he added quickly, seeing their gray faces, that didn't mean that hope was to be abandoned. If Mr. and Mrs. Sharon had taken refuge on one of the islands when they saw the storm coming, their boat would have been carried back out on the lake by the high waves.
 But Enid wasn't deceived. She knew that the capsized boat was almost certain evidence that her parents had been drowned. She couldn't cry quietly like Letty or ostentatiously like Aunt Faye. She was too numb for tears. She could only move to a window and sit staring out through the thickening darkness toward the lake.

 If only she had spent this last month with Pop and Mom here at the lake as they had wanted her to do, instead of going off by herself. She'd never be able to forgive herself now.
 She didn't at first realize that the bobbing lights moving up the muddy road were lanterns carried by a crowd of men, and when she did she was afraid to move for a moment. The search was over. What had they found?
 "Tom was ahead of the crowd. He dashed up the steps to the cottage porch where Enid and Letty and Faye Luxon had crowded. He put steady arms around Enid.
 "It's all right, honey. They've found them—alive! But they're weak and sick. They've been wet to the skin and without food all this time. We've got to get them to a hospital."
 The hospital waiting room had drab gray walls. To brighten it up, the wicker furniture had been lacquered a yellowish pale green. Enid knew that she'd never again see that sickly shade of green without feeling ill, without smelling the odor of disinfectants and drugs, without feeling the leaden heaviness of that long hour of waiting outside the emergency room.
 The doctor, when he finally appeared, was grave. He said that Mgm was rallying splendidly, that she'd be all right without a doubt, but that Pop—He faced the girls frankly. "It's a bad case of pneumonia. I can't give you any hope. We'll do what we can."
 A few minutes later a nurse beckoned to Enid and told her that the superintendent wanted to see her downstairs. Enid couldn't find the elevator, so she walked down two flights of stairs and located the office. The superintendent motioned her brusquely to a chair beside her desk.
 "We are going to have to send the woman to Cleveland for some oxygen," the woman explained. "Your father's life depends upon it. Can you pay for it?"
 Enid stood up. "He must have it," she said desperately. "I'll—I'll get the money."
 She was thinking frantically. She had less than $25 left of her savings—just the amount she had counted on for food and small items during the last week of her stay in the apartment. If only she hadn't spent all her savings—$350. She needed the money now to save Pop's life. And it was gone. What was she going to do?

'Dogs For Defense'
Recruiting Starts
In Top O' Texas

Special To The NEWS
 SHAMROCK, Sept. 3.—Here's good news for dog lovers who want to volunteer their pets to help Uncle Sam to help whip the Axis.
 R. D. Holt of Wheeler has been appointed special representative for Dogs for Defense, Inc. for the Panhandle, and recruiting of purebred and crossbred dogs for the U. S. army is getting under way.
 Anyone with a dog to offer Uncle Sam for the duration is asked to mail a card or letter to Mr. Holt, describing the dog (and inclosing a photo if possible) and giving the weight of the dog, breed, age and also height of the dog at the shoulders.
 Dogs accepted must be at least 18 inches in height at the shoulders and from one to five years old. They must not be gun-shy.
 "We don't want discards—dogs that people want to give away," said Mr. Holt. "And we can't use dogs that are shy or frightened by gunfire or thunderstorms. There is no much danger of them being too vicious as Dobermans and Shepherds can be cured of this habit once they get into the army, so let's have the rough and tough ones."
 Mr. Holt has named A. R. Gransburg as Amarillo representative of the Dogs for Defense, Inc., and he or Mr. Gransburg will answer all cards and letters from persons wishing to volunteer their pets, within ten days. They will personally examine suitable dogs.
 Owners of the dogs loaned to the army will be required to sign papers releasing their pets to the government. After the dogs have been approved here they will be shipped to Dallas for induction. From Dallas, the dogs will be sent to one of the training centers in Virginia, California or a midwestern state.
 Shepherds, doberman pinschers and boxers are particularly needed at this time, and collies, Dalmatians, St. Bernards, Great Danes, retrievers and many other breeds will be accepted. All dogs must be in good health.
 "The army is just as particular about the dogs accepted as about the men recruited," Mr. Holt said. "The dogs will be used to find wounded men on the battle fields, and to help locate civilians in bombed areas."
 The army is planning to use between 125,000 and 150,000 dogs. Mr. Holt plans to establish a weekly quota of dogs for the Panhandle soon, shipping them immediately if needed or holding them in reserve if so instructed.
 Mr. Holt recently sent one of his own dogs to Dallas for army service and plans to enlist another soon.
 Mayor W. H. Walker of Shamrock is another Panhandle citizen who has donated an animal to Dogs for Defense, Inc. for the duration.

Panhandle Schools
Open New Session

Special To The NEWS
 PANHANDLE, Sept. 3.—Panhandle schools opened Monday with a general assembly in the high school auditorium. High school students had enrolled on Thursday and Friday of last week, and grade school pupils were enrolled on Monday. An increase in enrollment over former years was noted in both schools.

Age Limit For Marines Raised

Major T. E. Kendrick, marine corps recruiting officer for the state of Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle, announced today that he has just received authority to accept enlistments from men up to 36 years of age.
 Major Kendrick said: "I have had to turn down so many able and willing men because of our previous age limit, that I know the ranks of the corps are now going to be filled with the best that this territory has to offer Uncle Sam's forces."
 "Even if a man has registered for selective service, he can still volunteer his services with the marine corps. We can take his application and get his release from his draft board up to the day before the date set for his induction by selective service." Major Kendrick added.
 The latest reports show that the recruiting district of Oklahoma City which includes the Texas Panhandle is third in volunteer enlistments in the marine corps in the eleven states which make up the Southern recruiting division. And the district has been in third place since June 1.
 "We are working on the basis of unlimited enlistments now, because for the first time due to the crowded conditions of the camp school. Bill Hancock is assistant football coach and coach of high school basketball.

Malagorda In Need Of Bread And Plumbers

(By The Associated Press)

The Malagorda bay area, in the heart of the Texas coastal district devastated by a hurricane last Sunday is in dire need of plumbers and bread, W. N. Blanton, general manager of the Houston chamber of commerce, said yesterday after touring the storm area.

Raymond Barrows of St. Louis, midwest director of Red Cross disaster relief, said at Victoria that hundreds in the Malagorda bay region needed relief.

Blanton declared that residents of Malagorda, Port O'Connor, Palacios and Seadrift asked that bread and plumbers be sent immediately.

"Few people have any conception of the damage inflicted," he added. "Only about one-tenth of the story has been told."

Red Cross relief centers were being established at Malagorda and Port O'Connor and a more definite figure on the number needing aid would be available later, Barrows said.

Twenty-three Red Cross workers, including representatives from the St. Louis and Washington offices, were in the area giving assistance.

Every house in Rockport, Barrows said, was either destroyed or damaged, and heavy damage was suffered by Matagorda, Seadrift and Refugio.

WD High School To Open Tuesday

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, Sept. 3—Principal Glenn B. Davis announces that White Deer high school students will enroll on Tuesday, September 8. A general assembly will be held at 9 o'clock in the auditorium where instructions for enrollment will be given. Students must have their red grade books. New students should have their credits sent to the principal's office before that date. Buses will make their regular routes Tuesday.

The curriculum of the high school is being revamped to meet the demands of the time. Students may now choose between a general course and a college entrance course. Required courses for the general course are English I, II and III, and American history, civics and physical education. If a student chooses the general course, he must select two majors and two minors. A major is three credits in one subject field, and a minor is two credits in one subject field.

Subjects Outlined

The curriculum in White Deer High school is as follows:

Language arts—English I, II, III, IV; Speech I, II, III, IV; and Journalism.

Mathematics—General mathematics; algebra I and II; and geometry.

Social studies—Social studies I; general history, American history and civics.

Natural science—General science, chemistry, biology, and pre-aviation.

Music—Music I (general); Music II (instrumental); and Music IV (choral).

Vocational—Homemaking, clothing, food, art, commerce, general business, typing, shorthand, occupations, and economics; agriculture; Agriculture I, II and III, and farm engineering; industrial arts; general woodworking and mechanical drawing.

For those students who choose the college entrance course a careful study must be made of the entrance requirements of the college of their choice. If a choice is not made, the entrance requirements for Texas university will be used as a pattern for the building of a course.

In most cases the requirements of entrance to any school in the state of Texas.

In the college entrance course four credits in English are required; however journalism or speech may be substituted in the senior year. Two credits in mathematics are required. This may be two credits in algebra or one credit in algebra and one in geometry, American history and civics are required.

One-half credit must be earned by taking either economics, social studies or general history. Two credits in the natural sciences are required. This may be general science and chemistry or general science and biology. Two years of agriculture or homemaking may be substituted. This leaves six credits for electives. These should be chosen in the major field.

Physical education is required of all students. A doctor's excuse is required for those students who cannot participate in activities.

Aviation Offered

Several new courses of interest to students are being offered this year. Physiology, dealing particularly with first aid and study of the human body, is to be offered by both physical education teachers, who are certified by the Red Cross.

Industrial arts courses, including general woodworking and mechanical drawing, are being given.

The course in pre-aviation will give an overview of military aviation, aircraft structures and identification of military aircraft, aerodynamics, power plants, communications, meteorology, aviation, and gliding.

All mathematics courses will have as their aim drills for pilot trainees. Stress will be put on fundamental operations, equations and formulas, scales, graphs, angular measurement, and vectors.

Homemaking, industrial arts and vocational agriculture departments will cooperate fully with the War Production board in their program.

WD Honor Students Will Attend Tech

W. D. received the Lone Star Farmer degree this summer at the state convention in New Braunfels, and has also been awarded a $100 Sears-Roebuck scholarship at Texas Tech. These scholarships are awarded to 20 students in the state selected on the basis of citizenship, scholarship, and outstanding work in agriculture. Recipients will be eligible next year for a $200 scholarship.

South May Face Shortage Of Milk

HOUSTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The south may be confronted with a milk shortage unless a means is found to overcome a shortage of dairy helpers, Houston milk distributors warned yesterday.

Higher wages in industry and the armed forces are drawing laborers from the farms—hence dairymen are unable to find labor to milk their cows and keep their barns clean.

"The men just aren't there," said C. Ebel, district supervisor of the United States Employment service after conferring with dairymen, county agricultural agents and officials of the manpower commission.

Aussie Fliers Drop Beer Bottles On Japs At Tulagi

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Australian fliers, their bomb racks emptied, dropped empty beer bottles on the scurrying enemy at Tulagi in the Solomon Islands because "they whistle on the way down; it scares hell out of those below."

The incident was related to newsmen yesterday by Lieut. Comdr. George Huff of San Francisco, the first U. S. navy man to arrive from the Solomon since their occupation by Allied forces.

The bombing of Tulagi with explosives and beer bottles was just a preliminary to actual invasion of the strategic islands, Commander Huff said in paying glowing tribute to Australian pilots.

"They are a great bunch of aviators," he said. "They're absolutely happy-go-lucky. Our men are a lot more serious."

In the preliminary bombing of Tulagi, American fliers went along with the Aussies to drop a few bombs.

"Our boys were ready to come home when the job was done, as it was the first action for most of them," Huff related, "but those Aussies had brought along a couple of cases of empty beer bottles."

They stuck around another half hour to drop them.

Shoe Repairmen And Other Tradesmen To File Reports With OPA

Gray county filling stations, laundries, shoe repair shops, dry cleaners, and all others who render service to consumers, wholesalers, or manufacturers are reminded that they must file ceiling price lists with the Gray County War Price and Rationing board before midnight, September 10.

There are four things for the types of business affected to do:

1. Find out the ceiling price for every service supplied, why this was the price charged to each class of customer during March, 1942, and if the service was not actually supplied, but was offered, the offering price now becomes the selling price.
2. Keep all existing records showing any of the prices charged during March, 1942. If a supplier of services used a price list in March, he must save it as proof of his March price. Also he should be sure not to destroy or lose any receipts, books, duplicate sales slips, or other printed matter showing his March prices. His records should be kept where they can be examined by a representative of OPA.
3. Prepare a statement by September 1, 1942, and file a copy of this with the Gray County War Price and Rationing board by midnight of September 10.
4. The fourth requirement is that the service supplier should now make sales slips and records as required by the regulation.
