Pauley 'Confessed His Guilt'--Stassen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Edwin W. Pauley (yesterday accused Harold E. Stassen of telling "falsehoods" about him, and Stassen shot back that Pauley by his own words had "confessed his guilt" of using inside government information to make a $932,703 profit on the commodity market. Pauley said: "I charge he (Stassen) has combined ignorance and falsehood to indict me solely in pursuit of his own selfish ambitions."

'Third World Force' May Be Result of Bloc

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's plans for organizing a Western Bloc may produce a "third world force" strong enough to make its voice heard along with the United States and Russia.

Designed as a means to combat the spread of Russian communism, the alignment would rest primarily upon a firm economic and military alliance between Britain and France. The hard core of the organization also would include Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg under the proposal advanced last week by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

On the international plane, the opposition would be directed toward the extreme left as represented by Russia and her satellites. The "third world force" would be temporarily dependent on the United States, which with its free enterprise system stands to the right of the moderate socialist governments now in control in much of Western Europe.

If the Western European organization materializes it would provide the nucleus for a broader coalition of nations. Attempts probably would be made to include Italy in the early stages, Portugal, the Scandinavian countries, Greece and eventually all the countries participating in the Marshall Plan.

In some the Italian Constituent Assembly's committee on treaties voted yesterday to recommend that Italy support efforts to bring about international collaboration "to prepare the advent of the United States of Europe."

Bevin's proposal was supported vigorously by Winston Churchill and more temperately by Britain's prime minister, Clement Attlee. Bevin and Churchill pulled no punches in calling for quick formation of the anti-Communist group.

There appears to be no barrier within the framework of the United Nations. The pattern actually was drawn at Chapultepec, Mexico, where the countries of North and South America, entering the United States, entered an alignment for mutual hemispheric defense.

In Eastern Europe Russia has organized her neighbors in a tightly-knit bloc under a single-minded communistic rule. A Western European Bloc obviously would have to count upon aid from the United States until it approaches a point where its collective exports begin to erase the bill for essential imports.

Until that time arrives, it would seem equally apparent that the Western Hemisphere and a Western European Bloc are no more and would cooperate with a common interest of halting the march of communism.

SURVIVES SHOOTING—Mrs. Lottie Burchess holds 8-month-old Louis Welner shortly after his father Benjamin (Chippy) Welner, 45, former New York mobster, was shot and killed. The dying Welner told neighbors, "Take care of the kid." A bullet narrowly missed the child, who was sleeping while his father was baby-sitting.

County May Call Bids on Hospital Near Mid-March

Gray County Commissioners said yesterday that since all but final building plans have been approved, bids for construction of the Gray County Hospital now await the appropriation of federal funds. "This appropriation is expected 'very soon,' and the commissioners said, 'Congressman Eugene Worley is working at their request to get this grant through as soon as possible. The commissioners estimated bids would be taken some time around the middle of March.'

Three hospitals in this area were listed among approved projects. They include the million-dollar, 90-bed hospital to be constructed here, a 16-bed hospital at an estimated cost of $124,000, and a 28-bed hospital at Dumas, cost of which is estimated at $234,972.

An Associated Press report stated new hospitals for 36 Texas communities have been approved for construction under the recently inaugurated State Federal Hospital Construction program.

Norman B. Roberts, of the State Health Department, said 20 of the projects await only approval of final plans and specifications for construction to begin. The 30 projects are estimated to cost $8,295,401, with the federal government bearing one-third of the cost and local communities bearing the remainder.

Before June 30, Roberts expects to have granted approval on additional projects to bring the overall cost total in the first year of the program to $14,520,375. That total would permit utilization of the entire $4,840,125 federal grant to Texas for the first year. The program is planned to last five years.

Projects are approved on a priority basis, with highest priorities going to those communities with greatest needs and most limited existing facilities, Roberts explained.

Three of five cases of affray dismissed. Corporation Court Judge Clifford Braly yesterday morning dismissed three of five men charged with affray and held the cases of the remaining two over until Wednesday, Jan. 28.

According to police, the men were picked up during a fracas appearing in a bar at 2:30 p. m. morning. One of the two whose cases were deferred until Wednesday, was held in city jail. He had no other weapons possession except a charge of disturbance of the peace and released on his own recognizance to appear later. He never appeared until picked up with the other four Saturday morning.

One man charged with intoxication was fined $10. No other cases were heard.

PAY POLL TAX
If you don't pay your poll tax, you can't vote. If you don't vote, you are depriving yourself and your country of that which could be lost through your negligence, and it would be beyond recall. Deadline for paying it is Jan. 31.

Four More Announce For Elective Posts

By HENRY S. GORDON
Pampa News Staff

Making his bid for county attorneyship, Attorney B. S. Via yesterday formally declared himself a candidate, the first to enter the field while the entry list for county commissioner, Precinct 2, was gilded with the announcements of Clyde Organ and Carl S. Boston.

An unexpected opponent to face Constable Earl Lewis came up when William F. "Bill" Langley, 612 E. Fields, announced his candidacy for that office. Lewis has not formally declared himself for reelection and neither has Carl M. Tucker, who stated the other week he would enter the constable's race. All four of the announcements appear in today's issue of The News. Langley is employed currently as a truck driver and has resided in Gray County for 18 years.

Boston, who lives at 505 N. Frost, came to Gray County 17 years ago and taught school for several years at Laketon. He later moved to Pampa and opened the Piggly Wiggly Food Market here. Boston said yesterday he was not making any definite platform yet.

In the meantime, Eugene Worley, representative of the 18th U. S. Congressional District, intimated to The News, by wire, that he would seek re-election, but would make no definite commitment.

So far, no competition for Grainger McIlhenny, Wheeler businessman and attorney, candidate for the 122nd State Legislative District seat in Austin, has appeared either by announcement or speculation.

Attorney Aaron Sturgeon, mentioned last week as being a possible candidate for county attorney, said yesterday he had not definitely made up his mind whether or not he would toss his hat in the ring. Attorney John Studer, mentioned strongly as a contender for the office, has made no move in declaring himself.

What will eventually prove to be the "hot seat" of all county offices county judge is still an open game with only County Attorney Bruce Parker intimating that he would "announce later." Corporation Court Judge Clifford Braly, mentioned the previous week as a potential county bench candidate, has declined any definite statement. Incumbent County Judge Sherman White is no candidate, according to his statement.

County Commissioner of Precinct 2, Wade Thomason, has been verifiably reported as not seeking re-election, but he also answered a direct query with:

"I have no statement at this time."
Meanwhile, Ernest Beck, county commissioner from Precinct 4, McLean, has indicated to McLean sources that he will seek reelection and announce later. No opposition for Beck was forecast in (See POLITICS, Page 3)

Man Ordered to Aid in Support

A Pampa man appearing in District Court Friday was ordered by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich to contribute $30 a month toward the upkeep of his two children, after the four children of the family were declared neglected and dependent by the Court.

The mother of the children, four boys, 10, 11, 6 and 4 years old, was separated from the father, and the boys lived for some time with the father in one room. Testimony from witnesses showed the children to be underclothed and underfed and not properly cared for.

The father, who told the Court he made around $45 per week, said he was unable to care for the children.

A home had been found for the two younger boys, and Boy's Eanch officials said they could care for the two older ones if the father would make a contribution of $30 each per month for the support of the two boys.

The man, able-appearing, around 25, said he was unable to do this. He was ordered by the Court to make a $30 monthly payment toward the support of the two older boys, or show the Court just cause as to why he could not.

Canadian Man Goes To Highway Meeting

CANADIAN—(Special)—L. A. McAdams, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, represented this community Saturday at a meeting of the U. S. Highway 83 Association at Uvalde, Texas.

Accompanying him were Lee Little, secretary of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce, R. T. Shindler, Perryton druggist, who is president of the Texas Division of the association; and T. W. Gray of Gray, Okla., who represented the Oklahoma section of the association.

McAdams is vice president of the association. At least 23 chambers of commerce from communities along Highway 83 were supposed to be represented at the meeting. Several members of the Texas Highway Department were to be present.

Fine, Powder Snow Covers Pampa Area

A fine, powder snow falling Friday night and Saturday in the Pampa area, along with lowered temperatures, was to set the stage for more snow over the weekend, according to late Associated Press reports. The Pampa low Friday night was 18 degrees, with the low for last night forecast as 10 degrees.

No accidents were reported in the area by last night, although the light film of snow made driving hazardous on local highways. But at least two deaths were blamed on the bitter cold which swept Texas.

Four inches of snow was recorded at Wichita Falls Saturday night after an all-day fall. All highways were open, but travel was hazardous because of the glazed-over snow. Snow was forecast until mid-morning today for Wichita Falls and the surrounding area. Electra had up to five inches of snow.

Two separate blizzards pounded Pennsylvania and blizzard conditions with a drifting 10- to 15-inch snow were forecast for weather-buffed New York.

A blanket of snow covered the northern part of the Gulf region, extending into Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia.

A cold wave which jolted the state from border to border, causing temperatures down to 16 degrees at Beaumont on the Gulf Coast and below freezing in the Rio Grande Valley, hung stubbornly on Texas Sunday.

New snows fell over the Texas Panhandle and West Texas during Saturday, and pushed eastward last night in to the north-central portion of the state.

At Beaumont—which had its biggest snow since prewar days Friday—the skies were mostly clear, but by late in the day temperatures had risen only to the freezing level.

The only real thawing out was in the area south of Waco and west of Abilene.

3 Sentenced on Burglary Charge

Three men were each sentenced two years on a burglary charge Friday in 31st District Court.

Hubert Howard Fifer pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and was sentenced to two years in the State Penitentiary.

Fifer, charged here with the burglary of Edmondson's Dry Cleaners, was calm and in apparent good spirits as he described his entry into the back door of the cleaning shop where he said he took an assortment of cleaned suits and dresses, disposing of them at pawn shops. He stated he had served previous terms at San Quentin and other prisons on sentences for forgery and burglary.

Fifer is also wanted at Berger on a burglary charge, and in Oklahoma on a theft charge.

Both H. B. Line and James Warren Smith pleaded guilty to and were sentenced two years on a burglary charge. Smith, 22, who was given a five-year suspended sentence in October on a forgery charge, described the part he had played in working with Line in an attempted burglary here.

Lloyd Reeves, charged with theft, entered a plea of not guilty, and this case will be tried during the jury week of Feb. 5.

He spoke of religious preparedness as well as military preparedness. In a country, he said, has a tendency to become afraid and jittery at the first sign of trouble.

"Let us realize," he said, "from a personal, family and community standpoint that men are dependent also upon our Almighty God."

He was introduced by Jeff Ecarden, club member. He was accompanied at the guest table by the Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church here.

Ken Bennett, the writer and producer of the Top 'O' Texas Revue which will be presented Feb. 2-3, introduced a part of one of his skits. It was a hillbilly scene featuring the singing of one "hillbilly" girl and her "cousin"—one of whom played the guitar. The group was dressed in "mountain" costume.

GOT AROUND—Charles McClary, 19-year-old Navy vet from Kansas City, Mo., is in jail after what police describe as a weekend holdup and night-clubbing spree from Los Angeles to San Francisco. On a half-hour bus layover they charge he robbed a store of $211. In San Francisco he went night-clubbing, they say, robbed two more stores and a hotel of $310. Then, the story goes, he ran out of funds, told a waiter to hold his table and hired a limousine to rob another hotel of $250. He returned, paid his bill, then robbed two liquor stores of $398 before police picked him up and, they say, he confessed.

Final Plans for Junior Livestock Show, Sale Made

Details for final arrangements of the 1948 Top 'O' Texas Junior Livestock Show and Sale were completed and committees named during a meeting Thursday of the Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced yesterday in the CC office.

The show this year will embrace Gray, Wheeler and Roberts Counties and is expected to be the largest show and sale held here since the beginning of the affair. Committee members stated they expected to have at least 70 head of calves and 40 head of pigs up for judging and auction.

Cooperation of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs has been secured with the Rotary presenting a silver cup for the grand champion pig and the Kiwanis for the grand champion calf.

Clyde Carruth was named as show superintendent and John C. Burns, Fort Worth, prominent statewide cattle man, was appointed chief judge. The sitting committee will be made up of L. M. Hargraves of Lubbock, W. D. Price and Fred Hobart, both of Pampa.

Two prizes for showmanship will be given to the two boys who present the best display in showing their animals. First prize will be a show halter, donated by H. B. Taylor, local Hereford breeder. Second prize will be a Scotch comb, given by the Scott Implement Company.

The committee agreed to bar immediate resale of animals on the ground because of the confusion this action caused last year in keeping show records. At the same time the committee elected to give the grand concession stands to the Home Demonstration Council.

Vicars Brothers Sell Bank Interests

DeLea and Edwin Vicars, brothers, have sold their interest in the First State Bank of Mobeetie, it was announced yesterday noon.

The purchase was made by a group of Mobeetie citizens, headed by Jack Miller, who will become president of the institution. H. L. Flanagan has been elected cashier and will be the active manager of the bank.

The institution had been owned by the Vicars brothers for the past 16 months.

Man Failed Sam Johnson as Coffee Went Up From Five to 10 Cents Cup

"O, break through my coma, you strong sweet aroma, made of the roasted brown bean."

Since the days of conversational Samuel Johnson the fate of nations has been influenced by philosophers who analyzed issues of the past and present over a congenial cup of coffee.

That tremor you heard last week, causing buildings to shake and men to be unsteady on their feet, was not recorded on seismographic charts in the area—it was Sam Johnson turning over in his grave.

For you see, coffee went up to 10 cents.

The counter stools in local businesses accustomed to dispensing this dark, stimulating brew of the coffee bean were strangely empty of the usual mid-morning and mid-afternoon coffee crowd.

Move Seen as Long Range Probability

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Military alliance between the United States and Western Europe is now regarded by some top ranking diplomatic officials as a long range, but not an immediate, probability. Proposals for a system of mutual defense treaties were first advanced in connection with the European Recovery Program. Interest in the subject has been revived here by American endorsement of a Western European union.

The Alliance idea has been studied at the State Department, it was understood yesterday, in connection with Secretary of State Marshall's grand strategy or trying to set Western Europe back on its feet and check Russian expansion.

The department evidently considers that a formal alliance is not necessary now because the United States is already committed to the Marshall plan, by the facts of political life in Europe, to give at least as much protection for the western countries as would be provided by treaty.

If Western Europeans fear some overt action by Russia, it was said here, they may be reassured at least as far as a treaty could reassure them that to strike at the western sections of the continent the Soviets would have to cross American lines in Germany, which would directly involve the United States.

This is not true, however, with respect to the Scandinavian countries. Turkey, which has a common border with Russia; and Greece which has trouble with Soviet satellite countries. In respect to the whole group of Marshall (See DEFENSE, Page 3)

Vandenberg Urges Close Study of Brookings Plan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall's hopes of controlling the multi-billion dollar European Recovery program from the State Department received two setbacks Saturday.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee unveiled a broad new plan, submitted by the Brookings Institute, for handling it through an independent new agency "under a single administrator of cabinet status to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate."

Under it, both the secretary and State Department would be limited largely to asking questions and offering protests with the President settling any disputes involving the proposed new ERP administrator.

The plan was prepared at Vandenberg's request by the Institute, a private research organization, and the Republican Senate leader made it public as a "highly important service."

"Speaking generally, the decisions of the administrator would be final in economic matters," Vandenberg explained.

Even before Vandenberg's move, a veteran Democratic senator, George of Georgia, told a reporter: "I have come to the very definite conclusion that final authority should be in an independent agency. Our contributions and expenditures must rest on the solid judgment of an experienced administrator or board."

George said testimony to date (See ECONOMIC, Page 3)

THE DRILLER'S LOG
By KEN BENNETT

Just for your information the new filing of intent to drill on the Caruth lease is listed in today's story on filings. This new well which is being filed by Phillip's Petroleum Co., is about two and a half miles North and West of the Jenkie. The Jenkie is still testing as of the last report and since they are still in the five inch pipe it is a good indication that the depth of the test is probably around 8,000 feet.

Have you bought your membership in the API for the coming year? The drive is now underway and if you want to help along with an organization that is doing everything possible to promote the betterment of conditions in the oil industry here is your opportunity. Membership is only $1.00. Another $1.50 gives you the right to attend the big API dance, one of the year's big events, which is held at the Southern Club with Bill Smith's orchestra supplying the danceable music. Membership in the API is a prerequisite to attendance to the dance. That means for $2.50 you can enjoy a real evening of fun (that's for a couple, too) and aid the API in their plans for the coming year. Fletcher Kennedy of the Stanolind Oil Company of Pampa will be glad to receive your reply) by mail in case you are not quest for membership (and mon-otherwise contacted.

I understand Wade Duncan has accused me of threatening him over his item on the Jenkie in his column a few Sundays back. Of course Wade and I are joking with each other. I certainly wouldn't want to buck him on his knowledge of real estate, and since he has reason to follow the oil business pretty close I take his statements in that regard pretty much for fact also. Wade could be like I am... a little over anxious for the Jenkie to produce just because we know what it would mean to the country as a whole... but for the record let it be known I consider Wade a friend and hope he'll put more oil news in his column.

Please excuse the lack of gossip in today's log. Your truly is suffering a morbid delusion as due been a little difficult the past few days to concentrate. I promise to do better next week.

They'll all have to strive for more real harmony—honestly and together. They're indispensable to the welfare of one another, so they'll have to get on better, if both are to survive.

—Bernard F. Gimbel, president, Gimbel Brothers, Inc., when asked how he thought better labor-management relations might be achieved.

charges.
He also charged that Stassen "is utterly lacking in comprehension and understanding of the dealings and functioning of the commodity markets." The Minnesota's "ignorance" of grain trading and commodity transactions, he added, is "as shocking as it is abysmal."
In a formal statement which he read to the committee, Pauley said he wanted to reply to some of the "untruths" he said that Stassen had told or implied about him.
"Here are some of the biggest," he told the senators:
"First: That the 'pattern' of my trading followed the pattern of government purchases.
"Second: That my pattern was 'in and out' of the market.
"Third: That I profited on the basis of 'inside information' regarding a government purchase of wheat in January, 1947.
"Fourth: That a purchase of sale of wheat by me in August, 1947, was tied to 'inside advice' I received from Secretary Anderson.
"Fifth: That my purchases and sales of hides futures reflected the receipt of 'inside information.'
"Sixth: That I moved in and out of the market for 2 1/2 years with 'never a loss.'
"Seventh: That I received and profited from 'inside information' and that I was an 'insider.'"

Pampans to Attend Red Cross Meeting

Mrs. G. F. Branson, nursing vice chairman; Mrs. O. L. Statton, and probably Ed Weiss, chairman, will attend a two-day Red Cross Conference to be held at the Hill-ton Hotel in Lubbock Feb. 2-3.
The conference will deal with specific problems which arise for chapters at times of disaster within the chapter jurisdiction and in neighboring chapters. Plans call for Maurice Reddy, who directed the Texas City relief operation of the Red Cross, to lead the discussion. Miss Edith Olson, disaster nursing consultant, will also be on the program.
The meeting will open, Feb. 2 at 9:30 a. m. and close Feb. 3 at 3:30 p. m. Harold R. Fowler, regional director of chapter service, said the meeting will be especially important to disaster chairmen and to nursing vice chairmen.

in hot pursuit. Then the mechanical force turned back to the Fort, like Patton heading for the Rhine.
MP's in jeeps tried to stop it by driving ahead and slowing down — but thought better of it when the mechanical monster relentlessly bore down on them. Finally, back on the post, they rigged a fake road block of painters' scaffolding and bluffed the driver to a halt. Then they seized him.
"It's a good thing he could drive as well as he did," Hennessee said. "He could have gone right through the bank with that rig."
Other temperature minimums Saturday included Bonham and Texarkana 14, Tyler and Hillsboro 15, Clarendon 16, Gainesville and Childress 17, Fredericksburg 18, Austin, Corsicana, San Antonio, Waco and Wichita Falls 20, Brady and Houston 22, Galveston and Lubbock 23, San Angelo 24, Big Spring 26, Corpus Christi 27, Del Rio and Presidio 31.

At Beaumont, where the coldest weather in eight years was recorded, a 60-year-old woman, Mrs. E. P. Starcke, died in a hospital Saturday of injuries received when she slipped on the steps of her home. She suffered a fractured skull.
At Orange, near the Louisiana line, Gov. and Mrs. Kim Sigler of Michigan were forced to spend Friday night in a tourist court after a heavy snowfall interrupted their vacation through the Sunny South. The pair, along with the Governor's aide, Kenneth Templin, were en route by plane from Tucson, Ariz., to Florida.
Lufkin, in East Texas, had a low of 13 degrees for the coldest reported temperature. El Paso, with a minimum of only 33—one degree above freezing, was the warmest reported spot, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau in Dallas.

most part of Texas, the mercury climbed from an early morning low of 32 degrees into the mid-fifties.
But at Pampa and Amarillo in the Panhandle the temperature never went past the 20-degree mark.
Snow flurries began around midnight Friday in the Panhandle and continued most of Saturday. Electra, in the upper Red River Valley, reported two to five inches of snow, with the snow continuing. Other points reporting snow included Wichita Falls, Harpersville, Abilene, Fort Worth.
Near Sulphur River, 14 miles south of Clarksville, Rufus White, 78, burned to death when his home caught fire. Clarksville firemen said the blaze was the result of an overheated stove.

Supreme Court justices take two separate oaths, a "constitutional" and a "judicial" oath.
The Constitution, without setting down any specific form of the oath, requires all U. S. judges and officers of the executive branch of the government to take an oath to support the Constitution. Congress later passed an act setting out a specific oath.
When a man joins the Army, Navy, Marines or Air Force, he takes this oath:
"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America; that I will serve them honestly and faithfully against all their enemies whomsoever; and that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to the rules and Articles of War."
What of an alien who becomes a naturalized citizen of the United States?
He must declare an oath in open court that he will support the Constitution of the United States and that he "absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of whom or which he used to be a citizen or subject."

Caths Vary for Government Jobs

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON —(AP)— When a high government official goes into office or when a soldier joins the Army, he swears by oath to do his duty.
There are different kinds of oaths for the different kinds of jobs. Here are some of them in this country, but not all of them:
When a President goes into the White House, he takes an oath which is laid down for him word for word in the Constitution.
The chief justice of the Supreme Court administers the oath which says:
"I, (giving his name) do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Frank Carter was named to head the committee of eight men charged with checking on housing conditions in the barns and stables of Recreation Park for the show stock. Others on the committee are: A. B. Carruth, O. W. Hampton, Ralph Thomas, O. E. McDowell, Floyd Inzel, W. G. Kinser, and Irvin Cole.
Last year's sale results revealed the average price paid for calves amounted to 55.7 cents per pound with the grand champion selling at $2, purchased by the Panhandle Packing Company; pigs averaged 70.8 cents per pound with the grand champion purchased by the Frank Dial Tire Company for $2.35 per pound; lambs averaged 59.9 cents per pound with the grand champion sold to Wade Duncan at $2.35 cents per pound.
The addition of Roberts County this year will increase the show stock and the committee expressed hope a like additional amount of buyers would be on hand for purchase of the animals on the auction block.

has convinced him there "is no limit at all" upon the billions that must be supplied to the 16 Western European nations unless there is independence and complete control over spending the tax payers' money.
In presenting the broad four-year European program he fathered, Secretary Marshall told Congress he did not want the State Department to actually administer it but said it "initiated and possible foreign policy decisions."
The argument over how to operate the program probably will not be decided until the actual legislation passes through the Senate and the House. Saturday's development came as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee listened to more witnesses.
Paul Porter, former government price control chief and special presidential ambassador to Greece, added his personal support and that of the Americans for a democratic action to the broad program and the request for $8,800,000,000 for the first 15 months.
Herbert H. Lehman, former governor of New York and onetime director of the UNRRA program, also gave "wholehearted support" to ERP. He testified for the American Jewish Committee. He noted that the recovery plan "is bitterly opposed by the Soviet Bloc which hopes to exploit European unrest for its own ends."

shall plan countries the arguments for and against American military alliances swing between "pro-argument" that the Europeans would recover more easily with a greater sense of security and the "anti" argument that some of the countries can not afford to enter into any such relationship with the United States now.
Diplomatic officials argue that the traditional widespread objection to foreign alliances is now at a minimum in the United States.
As a long-range prospect, a system of mutual defense treaties seems to be regarded here as more or less inevitable if the world continues the way it is going now.
Officials have no doubt that this would be perfectly proper under the United Nations Charter. This permitted the organization of an inter-American defense system and also stated the right of any nation to organize for its own defense.

Children Abroad Sacrifice Essentials To Say Thanks With Toys for U. S. Food

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—Some youngsters in Germany, Austria and Japan are really grateful for American relief food—and show it. Several thousand children abroad have sacrificed some of their essential materials to say their thank-yous in the United States with gifts of homemade toys. The American Friends Service Committee said more than 1,000 toys, ranging from complicated mechanical devices to tiny book ends and penwipers, were shipped to Darmstadt, Germany, alone. The toys were sent here in the same wooden crates which carried powdered milk to Europe. "It's a concrete example of thanks that comes from the heart," said Louise Andrews, committee worker in charge of visual education. "A small piece of wood can cook a meal but many pieces were used to make these simple toys." Miss Andrews said, "Cloth, even the finest bit, is needed to clothe the ragged population but the Darmstadt children sacrificed enough to make their toys and shipped them, together with Christmas messages, to the U. S."

The toys were set up as exhibits and are being shown throughout the country at schools, churches and libraries. "Sale of the toys would bring little money," Miss Andrews said, "but the psychological value is very great. It proves that some persons know where aid is coming from and are appreciative of it."

The committee, working through the Council of Relief Agencies licensed to operate in Germany, said it helped supply one supplementary meal a day to some 6,000 Darmstadt school children between the ages of 4 and 14. The school doctor chose the children on the basis of the greatest need. Young trade union apprentices are the greatest sufferers in Austria, the committee reported. Each normally receives 1,600 calories a day but those 15 pounds overweight are eligible for vacations at a trade union rest home. The unions supply about 2,000 calories a day and committee provides an additional 600. Beautiful, stuffed dolls were made by girl apprentices "vacationing" at one rest home in appreciation, the committee said, "for supplementary food they received."

A letter received by the committee from the Austrian trade unions said the dolls "were made in the rest home for girls in Mitterwald, Karnten, for America as an expression of thanks for the gifts of food. . . the production of dolls is being continued. . . provided remnants of material can be found."

The Quakers have nine workers in Australia, busy in a program started in Feb. 1, 1946. Other services include furnishing supplementary food packages to some 100,000 tuberculosis patients under 25 years of age, and supplementary food to several hundred children in a Vienna TB sanatorium. Japanese relief began in June 1946 with most of the food and clothing supplies going to Tokyo, Karagawa, Aichi, Kyoto, Osaka, Hyogo, Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In Japan, as in Germany and Austria, grateful school children made dolls, sandals, drawings and sent them to the U. S. as thanks for good given them by 13 American relief agencies, including the Quaker Service Committee.

Cagers Rope Lubbock 57-46 To Set Record

Gorillas Win Three; Play Two This Week

Coach John Bond's Gorillas came to Lubbock last week to win three consecutive games, including a victory over Lefors in the first round of play in the Canadian tournament Friday.

Although the locals had a little trouble finding the basket in "Barendon Wednesday," they settled down in the last quarter to come from behind and win 34-27. Clarendon's Jimmy Jenkins was high man with 14 points. He was closely followed by Tommy Allison for the locals with 12 points.

Every man played top-notch ball Thursday night as the Gorillas turned out in the best game of the season in downing the Borger Bulldogs 3's in Borger 34-31. After trailing through the entire game, the Gold and White hoopers began displaying a brand of teamwork that cannot be beaten. Don Thut's 12 points were the evening's highest and Owen Reno was second with eight scores.

Again Friday, the Gorillas had a close call as they defeated the Lefors Pirates 39-32 in the opening round of play in the Canadian tournament. Neither team was a ever more than six points ahead as the score stood 28-25 at the end of the third period. Jimmy Allison's spectacular defense and sharp shooting completely dominated the game as the Gold and White clad boys racked up 11 points to lead the scoring. He was followed by Reno with nine points. The Gorillas were to play McLean in the second round of tournament play yesterday.

The Gorillas will face a stiff schedule this week when they meet Wheeler here Tuesday and travel to the visitor's home court on Friday for a second game. The Wheeler quintet is always ranked as a good team.

Both Wheeler and the locals possess speed and accuracy. This should make the games fairly even.

Pampa dipped deeper into the Victory Bucket Thursday night at the local gym by registering its eighteenth consecutive win against no losses at the expense of the Lubbock Westerners. Final score was 87-66.

The 11-point victory margin is receiving because Coach McNeely used his starters sparingly during the last half. This was Lubbock's second loss in conference play, with the Harvesters boasting two wins.

Arky Miller, Jim King, and Ramon Hernandez proved to be the big guns offensively for Pampa with Miller's 15 points ranking highest and King and Hernandez looping 11 and 10 respectively. Darrell Davis, who usually scores near 20 points, was held to seven for the night. These Pampa regulars were not used after the first few minutes of the second half.

Ten free throws plus two field goals totaled 14 points to put Lubbock's Virgil Johnson near Miller for high scorer of the evening. Johnson, who uses a different free throw style from the usually seen in this district, displayed uncanny accuracy to garner the 10 points.

The well-known Jack Alderson was held to seven points, six of them coming in the latter part of the game.

Interest in the conference race reached a new high as scouts from Amarillo, Borger, and Plainview viewed the game from the stands. These three clubs, plus Pampa, are considered to figure high in the final outcome of district play.

Letter-Club Favored By All Interviewees

By GENE GARRISON

A very well timed bombshell was placed in the laps of PHS athletes last Sunday when Gene Garrison devoted his entire sports column to the subject of having a letterman's club in Pampa.

Although the idea of the club had not been openly discussed preceding Garrison's article, the interview gave appearance that it had been in the minds of several of the local boys for quite some time.

One of Garrison's chief arguments from the club was the fact that the local downtown merchants have been selling green and gold jackets that very much resemble those earned by the PHS basketball players and gridmen. Hughes also suggested that some Pampa man, not a coach, sponsor the organization; and according to a few opinions, the coaches would be the ideal men.

Opinions polled in the interview are listed below: Lamar Lively "I think it's a good idea and will avoid lots of confusion as to who wears letters and will allow the boys more honors."

Darrell Davis "I think it's a good idea. It will keep the gang together and later on, today's lettermen will meet tomorrow's letterman."

Hansel Kennedy "I am sure that you will find that all the boys would back the club. My only suggestion is to start at once, because there are a great many problems to be worked out. Also, in most of the clubs I have heard of, the coaches are the sponsors; and I believe that the organization seems sound."

We would like to get the ball rolling by suggesting a committee to investigate the problem before a group meeting is called. We suggest that Carl Mayer, G. W. Gamblin, Hansel Kennedy, and Jimmy Wilson get together (if they are interested) and write letters to three or four letterman's organizations asking for a constitution and any available information regarding the operation of such a club.

Orrhids to the Queen Barbara Carlson, Nelda Davis, and Carol Culbertson on their selection as basketball queen and attendants. Perhaps an additional bouquet should be sent to the basketball team for good judgment as well as good basketball ability.

Perhaps the greatest find of the recent Golden Gloves Tournament was Wes Keith. The Martin-Keith slugfest was a real thriller. Question of the week: Will Darrell Davis practice baseball or run the hurdles or both after the current basketball season?

Grid Jackets Awarded By Tipps, Nooncaster

Coach Tom Tipps awarded football jackets to senior lettermen Wednesday in assembly.

Senior players receiving jackets were Charles Laffoon, Carl Mayer, Dennis Taylor, Vernon Holler, Darrell Conklin, Jim Wilson, T. W. Perkins, Hansel Kennedy, Richard Seig, Charles Thornborrow, Zeke Griffin, Tommy Chisholm, Kelly Anderson, Bob Boyles and Roscoe Russell, senior letterman who has transferred to another school.

Underclassmen who have already received jackets are Lamar Lively, Harold Cox, Jack Williams, Derral Davis, Abby Jack Phillips, Wesley Kiehl, and Ralph Huteel. Managers Bobby Morris and Robert Stone and Coach John Bond and a Nooncaster also received jackets.

Journalists Elect 6 New Members

Six students were elected to membership in Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists, when members of the organization met Wednesday afternoon.

Those elected were: Bob McPherson, reporter for the Little Harvester, who has completed 160 inches of copy; Gene Garrison, assistant sports editor of the Little Harvester; Barbara Carruth, editor of the boy's sport section of the Pampa Post; Mary Lou Masey, editor of the Prairie Gold and editor of the activities section of the Harvester; Julia Dawes, co-editor of the girl's sport section of the Harvester; and Reba Killian, co-editor of the girl's sports section of the Harvester.

Following the initiation of the new members, a social will be held on March 2. A social will be held for the entire journalism department.

SPORTS for girls

By ANN McNAMARA

In another week the P. E. department is going to lose the presence of Mrs. Mary Mingle. Mrs. Mingle has been with us since September and has been in charge of the Tumbling Club besides conducting P. E. classes.

We all have enjoyed working with her and we will miss her when she leaves. She says her new home will be El Paso, Okla. Good luck, Mrs. Mingle.

Squad leaders for Miss Hoyle's classes are as follows: 1st period, Joyce Deatrage, Genelle Tiffany and Norma Parks; 2nd period, Atha Belle Stewart and Ruth McNutt; 3rd period, Joyce Adams; 4th period, Rosemary Deering and Marie Mix; 5th period, Evelyn Tate; 6th period, Evelyn Tate; 4th period, Willma Weems and Barbara Copenhaver; 5th period squad leaders will be announced later.

Tumbling Club is really tumbling but this has our complaint—they would like more members. You don't have to know how to tumble to join because they teach you how. It is an interesting sport and requires a lot of skill. If you are interested, come out on Tuesdays and Thursdays right after school.

Have you intended to join the volleyball club? If you have, you better do something about it because Feb. 3 is the last day that members will be accepted into the club. Ask your doctor's permits in to Miss Hoyle as soon as possible. The deadline for these is Feb. 10.

Friday night there was a volleyball game between the volleyball club and the teachers and some exes. The teachers who played were Miss Bailey, Mrs. Mingle, Miss Claris Glick, Miss Mary New, Miss Hoyle and Miss Quebelle Nelson.

Towels for use after volleyball practices can be paid for at the co-op for 26 cents give your receipts to Miss Hoyle.

Another club is being organized and believe it or not, it is the "Tap club." The first meeting will be sometime around the first of February. All tap dancers and interested learners are invited to this first meeting. The date will be announced later.

Jack Williams—"The only thing good about it that I can see is that it would help distinguish lettermen's jackets from those of sold down."

Roy Troop—"It's a good idea; at least it would be something to do."

Coach Aubra Nooncaster—"It is a great idea. It would help interest in school spirit."

Coach John Bond—"It's a very good idea. It would help encourage athletes to go to college and maybe furnish a little financial backing."

Five Will Attend Student Council Meet

Richard Hughes, Don Thut, Donna Beagle, and sponsors Jack Edmondson and Mrs. Ruby Capps were elected as representatives of PHS to attend the Texas Association of Student Councils at Thomas Jefferson High School in San Antonio Feb. 27.

The representatives were elected by the student council at their meeting Thursday morning.

Delegates will attend group discussions, which will be on any phase of council operation such as finance, assemblies, proms, and socials and they will have the opportunity to hear outstanding speakers of the Southwest.

The delegates will also have the chance to attend a banquet, a dance, and a tour of the city.

No Student Injured In Car-Bus Collision

Ten PHS students were uninjured when school bus No. 12 collided with a 1941 Chevrolet, driven by Earl D. Davis, at the corner of Charles and Kentucky Tuesday afternoon.

The bus was driven by Mrs. Frank Chapman, who was taking her husband's place while he was in the hospital.

The ten PHS students were Martha Parks, Ann Moseley, Betty Ann Green, Mary Kretzmer, Richard Green, Norma Parks, Lillith Martin, Jewel Moseley, Betty Randolph and Thelma Snider. According to students interviewed, the only emotions came from the grade school students. The high school students seemed to take it very calmly.

According to J. B. Fritchett and C. Williams, officers investigating the accident, approximately $200 damage was done to the bus and Mr. J. W. Shelton, superintendent of buses, was charged with permitting an unauthorized person to drive the bus. Mrs. Chapman was driving without a chauffeur's license.

Students to Present Panel February 10

Six students from Pampa High School will hold a panel discussion on "The American Family—One or Going Strong" Feb. 10 for the Twentieth Century Culture club discussion with audience participation. The meeting will be held at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. Jack Merchant's home at 1326 Garland.

Miss Thelma Henalee, speech instructor, will sponsor the group.

Staff Completes Sales, 557 Annuals Bought

The 1947-48 Harvester went off sale Wednesday with 557 sales recorded.

Names of the buyers are posted on the front bulletin board and business managers, June Sanders, has asked for those who have bought their annuals to check to see if their names appear on the record. If the student does not find his name recorded, he should report to the Little Harvester office.

Social Night Given By FHA Organization

Social night was held by the local chapter of Future Homemakers of America last Thursday in the Home Economics' living room.

Preceding the program, reports from the attendees and yearbook committees were given by chairmen Geraldine Perkins and Ervina McDowell, respectively. Jane Chambers gave each of the members degree tests. Following this business, the group played games directed by Mary Jones and Dolores Balfour, Olga Arnold, and Glenda Hoggsett.

Mrs. Stevens, nurse from Gray County T. B. Association, was here Friday to give T. B. patch tests to freshmen, seniors, and new students who did not take the one last year.

Semester Enrollment Doubles Speech Class

Number of students enrolled in speech classes this semester has more than doubled the enrollment of the first semester.

Speech I and III had 15 students last semester and the number has increased to 38.

Radio Speech now has 13 enrolled, seven more than the class included last term. This class has a program over KPDX every Monday and Friday at 4:45 p. m.

A new class in speech will begin with the beginning of the second term. It is called Speech II and IV and includes 18 students.

Vocational Training at its Height in PHS Machine Shop

The PHS machine shop boasts of $65,000 in machines and tools for students' use in making and repairing equipment for the school.

Mr. O. L. Brummett, who has been head of the machine shop for the past two years, teaches 34 students in his two 3-hour classes. The morning classes are for first year students and the afternoon classes are for the more advanced students.

The student's week is divided according to days. On Monday he studies shop theory; Tuesday, math; Wednesday, blue print reading; Thursday, safety in the shop; and Friday, checking and repairing the different machines and equipment. In their math they must know geometry and algebra in order to get the right angle and correct degree of accuracy. They learn what to do if something goes wrong with the equipment and how to tear down the machines, repair them and put them back together.

The equipment of the machine shop includes: five lathes, three arc welding machines, two shapers, two milling machines, one acetylene welding machine, four electric grinding machines, two drill presses, two electric hand drills, a portable grinder, black sand equipment and various hand tools.

The boys in the machine shop have made various things for the school. They made the football yardage marker, down marker, the new high jumping stands, and stands for the loud speaker. Their present exhibit, which everyone is invited to see, includes water pumps, machinist squares, drill bits, wire gauges, plow tools, V-belt pulleys, gears, center gear, wheel pulley, rod holders, and many other devices which the boy who will take machine shop in the future will be able to use.

Mr. Brummett hopes to put in an auto mechanics shop modeled after that of Borger. This shop would repair cars, but most of all would save the school by working on the buses. They would wash, grease and repair them without cost to the schools, except for the materials. This would enable the boys to become acquainted with the auto and give them a good background for automobile mechanics.

Kelvin Neil Gets Lead in Senior Class Production

Kelvin Neil was chosen for the lead role of Jeff in the senior play, "Brother Goose," to be presented Feb. 19-20 in the high school auditorium.

In the play cast announced by Miss Thelma Henalee, director Monday morning, Nicki Fraser was picked for Peggy, the hosiery salesman with her own technique. Jeff will have the job of keeping Wes (Max Hukitt), by (Nancy Thompson) and Carol (Barbara Stephens) in the straight and narrow path.

Hy is that young brat who thinks of nothing but football. Wes is slightly girl crazy and Carol doesn't mind one or two boys around.

Jeff is plagued with a maid trouble. Before things can get running smoothly, Helen (Ann McNamara) quits.

Wes falls for the southern drawl of Eve (Hilda Burden) and is fooled by their Negro maid, Sarah (Wade Thomas) on an important telephone call.

Lenore (Barbara Walters) inherits a million dollars from a bubble gum and wants Jeff to design her new house. Mrs. Trimmer (Verda Elkins) is planning her sixth night club.

But things explode when the truck driver (Jim Wilson) gets aggravated at Hy's actions.

Rehearsals were begun Monday afternoon.

Music Director Hired For Pampa Schools

Miss Marianna Pierce, formerly director of the TSCW band, will arrive at PHS Feb. 2, to begin work in the instrumental division of the music department.

She will also help with the ensembles in Woodrow Wilson, and Junior High.

Miss Pierce was the director of instrumental music in Laredo Junior College the first semester. She graduated from TSCW with an M. A. degree in music.

Carlson Elected Basketball Queen

Barbara Carlson, who was elected Harvester basketball queen last week, will be crowned at the Pampa-Amarillo game next Friday night.

Attending the Queen will be Nelda Davis and Carol Culbertson. De-eyeer Barbara has been a member of the Cappella choir for two years, a member of the sextet since entering high school, and has been in the Spanish and French clubs. Another of her activities is glee club of which she was a member in her freshman and sophomore years. Barbara has a major in math, English and foreign language. Her hobbies are dancing, swimming, and horseback riding. An interest in psychology is an unusual hobby of Barbara's, and she plans to major in this at the University of Texas.

At her coronation, Barbara will be dressed in the traditional white pleated skirt, white short-sleeved sweater, saddle oxford shoes and white anklets. The attendants, Nelda and Carol, will also be wearing white skirts, but with yellow sweaters.

Nelda recently won the election for senior favorite. Her other honors and activities are Spanish club secretary, Cappella choir, and Tri-Hi-Y. Nelda's hobbies are tennis, swimming, and riding horses.

Dogs and playing the piano are the hobbies of tall and attractive Carol. She was elected Pin-Up girl this year. She is a member of the student council and school sextet, Tri-Hi-Y and the A Cappella choir.

Nine PHS Boys Place In Golden Gloves Meet

Fifteen rough and ready pugilists from Pampa High took part in the District Golden Gloves boxing contests which were concluded Wednesday night in the Sportatorium; and three of them topped first place, with six of them taking runner-up honors.

A record crowd of 1,200 attended the finals in the tournament Wednesday night and witnessed several surprise matches.

After injuries and forfeits had taken their toll of boxers, several exhibition matches had to be staged to round out the night's card. Of the exhibition bouts, only two PHS leather-punchers participated, and these two boxed each other. In the 155-pound class, Derrell "Pat" Patrick received a KO in the first round at the hands of experienced Wendell Cheek. Patrick, a strictly defensive fighter, was taken by surprise by the wily Cheek and never recovered from the onslaught that met him in the opening seconds.

Buster Kelly notched his third tournament championship in the 118-pound class when he pounded out a decision over Joe Landrum of Shamrock. Landrum had reached the finals by virtue of two byes while Kelly had defeated another Pampa entry, Jim Bill Windsor, in a very close decision the night before.

In one of the classic fights seen throughout the tournament, the 126-pound ring-wise veteran from Pampa, Carroll "Commander" Martin, eked out one of his few close decisions. Wesley Keith, executive of the Jim Corbett style of boxing, carried the fight to Martin during the first round; but as Keith began to tire, Martin won his decisive points. Both of these local sluggers had advanced to the finals with wins, as Martin defeated Gilbert Stewart from Clarendon and Keith dethroned Ray York from Shamrock.

Tom Landrum, 135 pounder from Shamrock, KO'd Bob Hinkley in the first round of their championship bout, with a series of body blows that sent Hinkley to the mat twice before he took the full count. Hinkley had previously dethroned another Pampa boy, J. D. Compton.

In the open division, C. J. Smiles of Pampa dethroned Charlie Bruchauer from Pampa in a very close and fast moving match; Gene Cooper again stressed the fatality of his left by KO'ing Max Campbell of Pampa in the second round of their title bout; Bernie Brown lost on a decision to Joe Johnson of Lefors and Weldon Wither ran out of steam and was knocked out by Troy Stracener in the second round of their contest.

Eugene Cooper of Pampa received the trophy for being the most outstanding boxer in the tournament. All winners received a miniature golden glove.

LUIS J. OWEN is the sponsor.

Class Goes Modern; Tunes to Radio Show

The third period English literature class listened to the radio program "Just for Fun" Wednesday over the "Reading is Adventure" series which is presented by the Texas School of the Air.

The purpose of the "Reading is Adventure" program is to stimulate students to have wider interests in reading, read more selectively, improve their reading habits, and improve their reading abilities. Each week the program will present a list of good books which they think should interest students in junior and senior high schools and dramatize one book, "Silver Chief to the Rescue" was the book dramatized last Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Jones and her literature class plan to listen to the program every Wednesday.

Ex-Leader Performs At Lubbock Pep Rally

Lawrence Baines, 1946-47 head cheer leader, helped lead yells Thursday at a pep rally held between the fifth and sixth periods in preparation for the Lubbock game.

Lawrence is a Freshman at North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington this year, and is here between semesters.

Class cheer leaders led several yells; then Coach McNeely spoke to the student body.

M'DONALD LATIN PREXY

More Students Enroll For Speech Contests

The spirit of competition is slowly but surely surging through PHS as more and more contestants sign up for the Inter-scholastic League speech contests.

The local contest will be held around the first of March so that the winners may know who they are in order to work harder for the district meet which will be held in Canyon March 15.

Those having signed up for the interscholastic contest in the last week include Adell Roberts, Margaret Price, and Bill Loving for extemporaneous speech.

For senior declamation new contestants are Arlene Gillmore, Wanda Thomas, Jewel Beckham, Reba Killian, and Bill Loving for extemporaneous speech.

One act play participants are Kelvin Neil, Mice Eillis, Pat Abernathy, Jim Anderson, Jacquelyn Wilson and Elaine Ellis.

Debaters include Jarrod Comer, Bill Loving, Patty Bolin, and Nicki Fraser.

Jean Counts Windows While Others Wonder

By ARLIN GIVENS

"What in the world is she looking for?" "Jean! What's matter, you crazy or something?" "Are you lost, young lady?" "What does she see, anyway—fly'n' discs?"

These and many other comments greeted Jean Cornelius of the Little Harvester staff as she walked around the building, pointing toward it, her hand with finger extended and arm moving slowly upward, then down again. After repeating this process several times, she then dropped something on a piece of copy paper and started over again.

No, she wasn't "crazy or something" or lost and she didn't see flying discs. She was counting the windows of PHS for insurance purposes for this story.

Every visitor or newcomer to PHS seems to make some remark about the amount of windows in the building and how they add to the beauty of it. Most of them have at some time wondered what the exact number of windows is.

Without further ado we shall inform you that there are 1,760 windows in our school building. The last "I" in "Windows" contains 1,699 panes! Those aren't of the "aches and pains" variety, either.

May we remind you that this valuable and accurate bit of information was due to the perseverance and research of one Jean Cornelius. Also, it was written as an explanation to those who saw her counting them and to relieve all doubt as to her purpose.

Classes Hold Panel On Exam Exemptions

All students with an 85 average should be exempt from the group classes of the time-table topics for the discussions held in Mrs. Ruby Capps junior English classes last week.

Other subjects discussed by the third, fifth, and sixth periods were more high school subjects which should be exempt from the group classes to be held to both men and women for equal services.

"Things that we learn by working that we do not learn in school," and "Should there be racial discrimination in society."

Headed for Fall

A few seconds after this picture was taken, the left ski of Class C jumper Billy Hatch became imbedded in the snow, and the youth rolled to the bottom of the hill. Unconscious for several minutes, Hatch was taken to a hospital, where he was reported shaken up. He was competing in the Big Hill meeting at Beloit, Wis.

Barnhill to Guide Porkers Through 1955

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — (AP)—John Barnhill, whose first two University of Arkansas football teams produced enough money from bowl games alone to pay his salary for nearly ten years, signed a new contract binding him to guide the Razorbacks through 1955, yesterday.

While Barnhill's original contract with Arkansas had three years to run, Dr. L. W. Jones, university president, said extension of the fall, quiet Tennessee's service by five years "at this time is desirable" because:

(1) "Building an effective football program is a long-time project and maximum values from such a program cannot be realized within the relatively short period of four or five years" and

(2) "Barnhill has demonstrated his abilities as one of the leading football tacticians of the country."

In the last ten years, teams coached by Barnhill have appeared in seven bowl games. While he was line coach and acting head coach at the University of Tennessee the Vols played in the Rose Bowl twice, The Sugar Bowl twice and the Orange Bowl once.

He brought his hard-hitting single wingback system to Arkansas in 1946 and began a "long range" rebuilding program to lift the Razorbacks out of the Southwest Conference cellar. The team responded by winning the conference co-championship that year and tying Louisiana state in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, 1947.

Although they fared less successfully in the Southwest, the 1947 Porkers whipped champions of four other conferences—including Mississippi of the Southeast and William and Mary of the Southern.

Salary terms of the new pact were not disclosed, but it was believed the head football coach and athletic director was given a raise over the $10,000-a-year he received under a five-year contract he signed in 1946. Under a 1945 legislative act the U of A's head football coach may be paid up to $12,500 a year.

Arkansas' net receipts from successive Cotton and Dixie bowl appearances totaled $95,000—which would come only $8,000 short of paying Barnhill for ten years at the salary for which his original contract called.

Ibsen was a soaker. Beethoven was a soaker. On the other hand, some great thinkers, poets and saints have been abstainers.

George Bernard Shaw, a teetotaler, arguing whether writers attain greater creative thought if they abstain from alcoholic stimulants.

They say around here that Coach Jack Gray has a few stoop-shouldered coaching his midgets. But Jack isn't complaining about any backaches. He has enough tall fellows on the squad to compare well with any of these tree-top outfalls over the country. But Gray specializes in speed and ball-handling. What he did last year he's doing all over again this season. The results indicate Gray is as right as rain about the situation.

Madsen and Martin play guard. They are as expert at the business as you will find—fast, good shots, aggressive defensive men. Zomlefer is a "pick-up." He has been at Texas two years but until this winter confined his athletics to playing a great brand of shortstop on the baseball team. He has high school experience in basketball and also played in the service. He decided to come out Gray appeared to need some help, for the cage game this year since having lost the great John Harig and Roy Cox, one of the "mice" of the 1947 team.

Zomlefer's ball-handling, speed and finesse have made him an able forward to work with Hamilton.

Laugdon is the center and along with Hamilton does the close-in work and handles the rebound duties.

Gray still is ready to argue the points of the "little men" in today's college basketball. Until the boys do a lot worse than they have to date he can hold up his end of the argument.

Pampa's undefeated Harvester basketball quintet overcame the handicap of an unbeaten gym, poor lighting, and the inefficiency of two referees to down the Brownfield Cubs 30 to 17 Friday night in Brownfield in a District 1-AA conference clash. This was the Green and Gold's 19th win against no losses this season; and their third conference win, which keeps them in a two-way tie for the conference lead with the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm.

Stunned by the bruising type of play of the Cubs and the indifference of the referees, the Harvesters did not overcome an early Brownfield lead until late in the second quarter and did not extend this lead to more than five points until the three minute period.

The Harvester-Lubbock game, in which the local squad came out on the top end of 57 to 46 score, saw 47 fouls called, 26 against the Harvesters, 21 against the Harvesters, while in a more bruising and rougher ball game Friday night, the Cubs had seven personal called against them, while the Harvesters were called down six times, for a total of 13 fouls committed in the ball game.

However, the B game was a different story with the Harvesters trouncing the Cub B squad 55 to 11. While the Harvesters held out an eight-point, 25 to 7 lead at half-time, the local squad held the Cubs scoreless while they racked up 20 points in the third quarter, and then 30 more in the fourth.

The Cubs were limited to two field goals per half, gaining their additional three points via free throws.

Jimmy Cline led the Harvester scoring attack with 10 counters, followed by Bill Bond with eight, and James Moore with eight. Vernon and Dalton ran up a quick 4 to 0 lead for the Cubs in the opening minutes of the ball game and for the Cubs this was their largest lead during the entire game. A basket by Miller again gave the Cubs a four-point lead but free throws by Raymond Hernandez closed the gap to 6 to 4 at the end of the first quarter.

Another free throw and a set shot by Jimmy King put the lead in the Harvester's hands, but Worsham sank one for the Cubs putting them back in the lead only to lose it again when Charlie Lafoon dropped one in making the local squad one point ahead of a 9 to 8 score at the half.

The Cubs never regained the lead throughout the rest of the ball game, but were always in striking distance until the three-minute period.

At the three-minute period the Harvesters led 20 to 16 but two baskets by Archie Butler and Derrell Davis and one by Hernandez put the score up to 30, while the Cubs were limited to one free throw by Dalton.

The Harvesters will meet the Plainview Bulldogs in Plainview Tuesday night and their engage the Amarillo Golden Sandies in the local gym Friday night in two all-important District 1-AA conference clashes.

The Sandies hold conference wins over Lubbock, Brownfield, and Plainview, and were to meet the Borger Bulldogs last night. Both the Harvesters and the Sandies are undefeated in conference play.

XXX
A MAN'S love is a curious thing. It can possess him absolutely for moments. But it can never possess him altogether. It is never as strong in him as the urge to action, the challenge to combat which his work affords him.

And so Bob, who a moment before had been conscious only of his love for me, could now forget me completely. Forget me so that even his thought for my safety was an afterthought. All his faculties, all his desire, all his driving energy were focused now on solving this case.

Meekly I got my things and followed him out to the police cruiser. We went down Sunset to La Brea and turned right. He had a bachelor apartment, just a living room, bedroom, bath and a kitchenette of sorts in an alcove. He took me in and showed me around and said he thought I'd be comfortable.

"Lock the door when I leave," he said. "And don't let anyone in until I come back."

That was hours later. After midnight—nearly one o'clock. In the meantime I had foraged in his ice box and found a chop and the makings of a salad and had napped fitfully on the wide studio couch in his living room. But mostly I had just sat and smoked and thought about him. The way his black hair swept up and back from his forehead, the way his gray eyes could be hard as steel or as gentle and soft as a kitten. And the way his voice changed when he said my name, becoming at once deeper and intimate and warm.

I heard his footsteps at last and knew them even before he pressed the door buzzer. I sprang up and unlocked the door and let him in. He looked tired but triumphant. He looked at me and he smiled. His grin was a cocky, self-satisfied thing—as if he had done it.

He threw his hat at a table and sat down and I got a cigaret and put it between his lips and lit it for him and sat down on the arm of his chair. I smoothed his rumpled hair. He looked up at me still grinning and asked, "Haven't you been in bed? It's late."

I shook my head. "No—I was waiting for you."

He made the usual gesture then about sleeping on the couch in the living room while I used the bedroom and I said: "Nonsense. Neither of us can sleep tonight—and you know it."

He nodded. "I guess you're right. What about eating, then?"

So I made coffee and Bob fried bacon and eggs and sliced pickles and onions and made some huge sandwiches and we ate and smoked and talked. We talked a lot about the case and about everything that had happened so far and about what we were praying would happen in the morning when we sprang our trap.

But we talked about ourselves, too. Bob told me how he had felt when he came back to consciousness in that hospital in France and found that his right hand had been hopelessly mangled. "They told me that they could graft skin and make it look all right, but it wouldn't be much use to me.

"Look all right—the devil with that. What I had to do was paint with it. Paint the great, poignant, the immortal pictures of World War II. All those hundreds of sketches I'd been making ever since I got in the Army, sketches of battles and men I'd seen. Made them on the spot so I'd never forget. . . . And then they told me I'd never paint again!"

Britain's Proposal for United Western Europe Raises New Hopes for World Peace

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Winston Churchill, Britain's war-time prime minister and leader of her Conservative Party, yesterday threw his powerful support behind Socialist Foreign Secretary Bevin's proposal for a consolidation of western European nations to block Communist expansion westward, thereby increasing hope of averting another world conflict, or at least postponing it.

This project, as I see it, would also factor complement perfectly the Marshall Plan for economic rehabilitation of Western Europe. It is natural for Churchill to back up Bevin's project, for the former long has advocated a United States of Europe. The conservative leader, in dealing with the dangers of another war, declared that the situation had deteriorated, especially in the last six months.

"I will only venture now to say," he continued, "that there seems to be a very real danger in going on drifting too long. . . . It is idle to reason or argue with Communists. It is, however, possible to deal with them on a realistic basis. . . .

"I believe it is right to say that the best chance of avoiding war is an accord with the other western democracies to bring matters to a head with the Soviet government and by formal diplomatic processes, with all their privacy and gravity, to arrive at a lasting settlement. Even this measure would not guarantee that war would not come, but I believe it would give the best chance of preventing it and, if it came, we would have the best chance of coming out of it alive."

Socialist Prime Minister Attlee, who followed Churchill in debate in Commons, dealt with the proposal of a union of western European nations conservatively. He counseled a careful approach to the idea, asserting that it should be done under the larger unity of the United Nations.

In analyzing the significance of the British move we must keep in mind these points: If Russia isn't held on the line which she now has reached through Central Europe, war is inevitable and the only way she can be held is by a physical barrier, since she isn't susceptible to moral influence. The Marshall Plan would give Western Europe the strength to defend itself, and so would provide a material barrier. The union of western European countries certainly would strengthen the Marshall Plan greatly and might in itself be able before long to provide defense against further Communist aggression.

Bradley Says Russians Would Use Atom Bomb on America

DALLAS—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley, the next Army chief of staff, said here that "if Russia had the atomic bomb I don't believe they would hesitate to use it on us."

In an interview Friday night, he also said, "I don't think she could—or would—fight now if she could help it."

"I don't think there will be war 'now' unless some country blunders into it."

But he said he would not apply his remarks about Russia, not wanting war with us now "to the long run."

There is danger of a blunder causing war because "Russia has taken such an aggressive stand in pushing around other nations," he declared.

And he added later at an industry-Army Day banquet: "One can no longer pick up a rifle and run to the bridge at Concord."

Obviously referring to recently made charges against at least one high Army officer, Bradley said, "as far as I am concerned the Army's dirty linen will get a public airing."

"Let us remember that human nature doesn't change when you wrap it up in a uniform. The Army-like business—as a lot of sheep and its goats. As long as men are covetous and greedy, there will be dirty linen to wash—in the Army and out of it."

The banquet concluded a day's meeting of southwestern business, industrial, and educational leaders with top military officers. Explaining the purpose of the

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?
If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing the flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula, which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-ages of soda and other alkalisizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The People Talk Back to Hollywood, to one another and to me: "I honestly believe that 'Crossfire' and pictures of that kind are suggesting that we have a great deal more intolerance in this country than we really have. We have some intolerance, that's true, but nowhere near as much as these pictures imply. I don't like those pictures—they would certainly make great propaganda for some foreign country to show as propaganda against us and our democratic way of life."—Los Angeles.

"My pet peeve is that they cast men that are too old as romantic lovers opposite the pretty young girls. They look ridiculous—they could use a giraffe and they usually overact. Pat O'Brien is great when he is in a part where he acts his age, but he's too potty to be a dashing lover. Another thing is too many and too long-drawn-out close-ups of a singer dragging through a squasy song. I'm a junior in high school and Mom said to write you."—Redlands, Calif.

The installing officers were Mrs. Pearl Gennett, district deputy president; Mrs. Maggie Webb, deputy marshal; Mrs. Fannie Coleman, deputy secretary; Mrs. Lillie Stafford, deputy warden.

There's Freedom Of Silence, Too

Ring Lardner, Jr. is probably the most sophisticated writer mulling over corny old proverbs. Yet there are two truisms that he might have recalled before he gave out a recent statement to a New York newspaper.

The son and namesake of the famous American humorist is one of the ten Hollywood screen writers indicted for contempt of Congress for refusing to tell the Thomas Committee whether they were Communists.

The contempt defendants' refusal to answer questions was taken as their admission of guilt. A few days after the hearings closed Chairman Thomas was calling them traitors.

Since then the other defendants have kept silent. Mr. Lardner has chosen to tell, in considerable detail, why he refused to answer the committee's questions.

He challenged the constitutionality of the committee's very existence. He said his own constitutional rights were being violated by his being questioned "under pressure" about things which were his own business.

The screen writer further said that "Freedom of speech has no practical reality unless it includes the freedom to associate and act in concert with others of a like mind and the freedom to keep to himself those opinions and associations a man doesn't feel ready to communicate to his neighbors."

Ordinarily, we don't think the Constitution is involved if a man is ashamed to have his neighbors know his sort of people he runs around with. But if it is his opinion that a bank should be robbed, a ship sabotaged, or the government overthrown, and if he chooses to "act in concert" with others of a like mind, he can scarcely expect to take refuge under the first article of the Bill of Rights.

WORLD ARMY

(Note: Mr. Close and his staff have many documents on programs and developments of internationalists, notably Zionists and Communists. He is without doubt one of the foremost authorities on the subject.)

The future of the world is being shaped by a number of political observers who have watched the shaping up of the Zionist movement in the direction of an autonomous world army under Zionist influence.

A Zionist international army already has been announced, in effect, by the President, and with little if any protest from the people. Such an army is being "sold" to the Western world under the cover of the United Nations, and the utopian promise that it will maintain world peace and defend us against Soviet Russia.

The program is fantastic to the lay mind. The average American may be inclined to dismiss it as a dream—just as the Prime Minister of Canada dismissed Gouzenko when the Soviet embassy clerk tried to warn him of the giant spy espionage ring operating there.

Fair Enough... by Westbrook Pegler

After all these years and after attending fifteen of those nonsensical nominating conventions, I am still a rube about the presidential politics of this our glorious old United States of A.

To anyone with an honest, native mind, only two Republicans deserve consideration at this time and they are Dewey and Taft, not necessarily in the order named. Football coaches who find themselves rich in manpower have a way of saying that they are three deep or four deep at the ends or the tackles or wherever.

Now, of course, there is no law that says a line man can't ever play backfield. That is a custom, not a law. Many a big dumb guard, combining a strong back with a weak mind, goes through three years on the "varsity" without ever getting a football in his hands except by some miracle.

Under the laws of our great republic, a guard may be promoted by the coach's whim and the exigencies (boy!) of the situation. Therefore, Stassen or Warren or Saltonstall could be nominated for the head of the Republican ticket this year.

By what I am saying is that they, or one of them, should be nominated for president only in case Dewey should drive off a bridge into some deep water in one of these blizzards and Taft, in whipping out his handkerchief to start a speech, should flip a gaudy, ruffled garter or a bra into the center of the ball.

Mr. Lardner might have done the same thing before the Thomas Committee. In a court of law he might have made a very good case for his legal right to refuse to answer. But the fact is that the Thomas Committee, however much one may disapprove its methods, has the right to ask questions.

I don't hold with the rule that a general can't make a good speech just because Grant was a fool. But neither do I hold with the superstition that a candidate who has been beaten once in one set of conditions by one opponent can't possibly win four years later in very different circumstances from a very different opponent.

I say, either Dewey or Taft would knock Truman's brains out. Knock him through the skylight. I say either one would make a fine president.

What is this, anyway? Sabotage? I say, either Dewey or Taft would knock Truman's brains out. Knock him through the skylight. I say either one would make a fine president.

SO THEY SAY

Back-seat driving is neither good business nor good international conduct.

Alger Hiss, president, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, stating European internal decisions should be made by Europeans under the Marshall Plan.

Robert Manning, UP staff correspondent, wrote a by-lined story last week that "a growing number of atomic scientists" believe that "nations outside the United States may duplicate the feat of the Manhattan Project in less than five years."

But the word "autonomous" is a mind, for from the very outset, the United Nations has been under strong Zionist influence. Truman, as the Arabs charge, time and again has put his offices at the disposal of the Zionists. We are not neutral on Palestine. The world army which the Zionist now has announced is not to be neutral.

Starting in Palestine, to defend the Zionists, it will be under continued Zionist influence. The President is to turn over control of our troops to some "autonomous" commander, perhaps one of our own Zionist generals. We will no doubt see vast stores of our own atomic bombs and super weapons to the "autonomous" army, which will promise to defend us against Russia.

Will the President, or his successor, thereafter be able to withdraw from the UN Zionist Protective force? If our one commander in the "autonomous" army transfers his loyalty to it, will we be able to recall him and his troops?

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

A businessman handed me a copy of an address made by Henry J. Taylor, journalist and author, at the annual dinner meeting of the Association of Exchange Firms. It is on the subject of what we should do to assist Europe.

He emphasizes the relatively short time that it takes for a nation to become a weak nation. He said no one "would have dreamed for a minute that the great England of only 50 years ago the greatest of the great powers of all time, standing astride the world, the power that could afford to do anything, would be the England of today that can afford to do so little."

He warns that we will also become weak if we dissipate our material wealth and disobey reality and economic laws. After his travels in Europe he observes that there was considerable feeling in France and England that they were going to get aid from us and that they didn't need to be very anxious about their own well-being.

"There is a sort of feeling," he observed, "that they are going to end up getting it anyway, a sort of 'Oh, you Americans will take care of us' complacency, but in the end you'll deliver the goods. And, again, our own government is responsible for that frame of mind."

The Kremlin must be laughing at it if we think we are fighting Communism the way we are fighting it over there, as it does here, and that is a great tragedy. We ordinary people don't know what to think about Europe any more, and our friends, that is what you find among Europeans, too, about America.

"I don't think we should blame European politicians too much for asking us for so much. It is a lot to expect of European politicians or any other people in political life to ask for less when they think they can get more. Greece's needs are being switched from humanitarian goods—which were grossly overstated by the Greek government—into military goods, which were grossly understated by the Greek army."

Then Mr. Taylor goes on to tell of his investigation in Greece. Here is the part of his speech on Greece: "I notice in today's paper that Greece's government is getting ready to ask for more. Greece's needs are being switched from humanitarian goods—which were grossly overstated by the Greek government—into military goods, which were grossly understated by the Greek army."

"What we are really doing is finding ourselves not in the middle of a humanitarian, human, uplifting job in Greece, but in containing Communism, but right smack in the middle of the Balkan war, and we ought to be told these things by our own government."

"But go get back to the food there. The Minister of Health said, 'Now we are down to 1800 calories'—that was the figure they were operating on in Washington, to 'help the poor Greeks.'"

"I asked him—as I think anybody in this room would ask—'Your Excellency, how do you get this figure of 1800 calories?'"

"Well, the official said, 'We took the food production and then we took the population, plus the imports, and we arrived at the 1800 calories.'"

"Well, my friends, they haven't had a census in Greece for over 20 years. The Greek government has no more idea of how many people live in Greece than you or I have—which I think is very remarkable."

"They have had influxes of Armenians and exiles of other people for 20 years, and they just don't know how many people there are there, but he was willing to base a national election in 1946—were they, as they conceived it, and used that as a basis."

"Now, naturally, the last thing in the world that the Greek farmer would do would be to tell the government agent how much food he grew, because he knew it would be either taxed or confiscated."

"So there the whole thing is arrived at, and we received these statistics in our country, and we base national policy on them—on two basic figures, both of which are just pulled out of the air."

The Little Savage

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Franklin D. Roosevelt's well-known historical and sentimental rivalry with Theodore Roosevelt for a loftier niche in the hall of presidential fame is partially responsible for our current difficulties in persuading Panama to give us permanent air and radar bases for the defense of the vital waterway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

When Teddy negotiated a Canal Zone treaty in 1903 with the new Panama Republic which was called into being to facilitate construction of the isthmian route, he included a clause permitting the United States to utilize forever whatever land and facilities were essential to its defense. With the airplane then undeveloped as a weapon of war, he was thinking of coast artillery and other land fortresses.

Both the Army and Navy abused this privilege, according to the Panamanians' contention, a pro-panamaing more territory than was required. Their high-handed activities caused ill will that threatened to jeopardize American interests on the eve of World War II.

OUTSHINE—In a Treaty of Friendship and Cooperation in 1923, F. D. R. revised his cousin's agreement to make Panama a partner rather than a mistreated orphan. A system of leases was substituted for the more permanent arrangement which T. R. had sought to make. The provision that this country would quit its occupation "within one year after the date on which the definitive treaty of peace shall have entered into effect."

Although no such document has yet been negotiated, Washington did give the Republic's diplomats an off-the-record promise that the bases would be returned with the end of the emergency. By his "brother" act, F. D. R. sought to make amends for his distinguished relative's behavior. As his own family has many times admitted, he was frequently outshined by a human desire to outshine "Cousin Teddy."

LOBBY—Samuel I. Rosenman will lose his $40,000 a-year lobby job with the Associated Fur Coat and Trimming Manufacturers, Inc. after January 31. He will also have to part with the additional $10,000 he receives for annual expenses.

The fur makers apparently feel that they need "experts" in labor and legislative matters rather than the Roosevelt-Truman "ghost writer." The former New York jurist has held the post for two years, representing his client in protracted hearings on anti-trust charges filed by the Federal Trade Commission. He also took part in negotiations for decontrol of certain of the industry's products.

Inasmuch as the group has obtained representatives to handle the fight against an excise tax and plans to engage a "house counsel," politicians wonder if the severance derives from the former Roosevelt adviser's loss of influence around the White House. If so, he will not be the first to lose out for this reason.

With the Republicans controlling a Congress hostile to the President, the better lobby jobs are falling to non-New Dealers and anti-Truman people.

The Nation's Press

WATERING A CURENCE (The Wall Street Journal) In spite of all the fiscal blunders to be learned from two world wars and the wrecked currencies of a score of nations, a childlike faith in the ability of government to do all that human society needs some for the future. It seems to persist a little more vigorously in the United States than in some other countries. Our modern "Federalists" contend—as they can when the national resources and the intuitive "know-how" to cope with as ambitious programs of material progress as they care to plan.

They take little account of the dollar costs of their social and economic betterment projects. They have at least two or three answers to opposition based on cost. First, they reject any plea on behalf of the taxpayers as a purely mercenary consideration, which should not for a moment delay the builders of a brave new world. Second, they say their programs will be corrected by investments sure to yield ample returns, both material and spiritual. Third, if one must think in terms of cost, they are ready to show the failure to carry out the great undertakings which only central government can tackle is certain to be more expensive in the longer run than not to perform them.

We have here a beautiful case of over-simplification. In no event is there an inevitable choice between maximum social progress and none. For individual citizens, their business and community groups and their local political units do work at the social and economic betterment of the people. They do so with far less risk that fundamental errors in their planning will result. In fact, it is incurred in grandiose national programs and less danger that reform movements will become entangled in party politics.

One fact alone should compel us to approach all governmental expenditure schemes with extreme caution. It is only through the national government, acting as a center of such social and economic reconstruction, that these can effect the value of the national currency. Every big or little draft the government makes on its financial resources or its credit is a subtraction from the value of the national currency unit. The central government can actually manufacture money if it has to, or thinks it has to, either to flush a project under way or to complete an uneconomic enterprise. No private corporation or local government unit can swell or shrink the national currency by a single dollar.

For this reason the cost of governmental programs concerns all citizens, not merely those who pay taxes. Every person in the United States has some dollar assets. If nothing more than the current week's pay envelope, or that of the parent on which he leans for support. A very great number have saving accounts, life insurance policies and bond's paying fixed interest returns. There are all dollar assets, worth more or less as the exchange value of the dollar rises or falls.

That is why we must all agree that price inflation must be stopped. But there will be no stopping it if the Federal Government is to engage in far-flung schemes of social betterment and economic "investment" which are finally to return it to the deficit financing which waters down the value of the dollar.

Well, I see where another shipment of foreign-born brides are on their way to the United States, scheduled for February. On this time, it's a cargo of ostriches being brought here for breeding purposes to satisfy a demand for more ostrich feathers in millinery styles. I'm sure the ostriches will feel right at home in California. I know it's their custom—every time there's any trouble to bury their heads in the sand and hope to the best. Goodness, a lot of our movie producers have been doing that for a long time.

Shamrock

SHAMROCK—(Special)—Jack Montgomery Wednesday gave his consent to friends to file his name for mayor in the city election to be held April 6.

He had refused to offer himself for the place for several months. Since Mayor Bill Walker Monday night in expressing his quitting the honorary position, numerous business and civic leaders have entreated Montgomery to let them file his name, but he would not consider the suggestion on the grounds that he personally disliked politics and did not have the time.

The well-known automobile dealer made it plain that he is not seeking the position. He frankly said that he felt flattered to be asked to offer himself by so many people, but the way he has viewed the elective office it would be personally objectionable to him. Frank Staggs, former long-time resident of Shamrock and brother to Joe Staggs of this city, died Monday night in a suburb of Dallas. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Staggs, a barber in Shamrock for several years, was a member of a pioneer family of Wheeler County. He moved to Dallas a few years ago.

Survivors are the widow of Erwin, one daughter, Lorene, and eight brothers, Joe of Shamrock; Bill of Bayre, Okla.; George of Albuquerque; John of Estelina; Fred of Big Spring; Carl of Amarillo; Jimmy and Harvey of Los Angeles. One step-sister also survives.

Resident landowners in a county-wide election to be held Saturday, January 31, will decide whether a soil conservation district will be set-up in Wheeler County.

There will be five polling boxes located throughout the county for the convenience of all voters. The boxes will be at: Shamrock, Chamber of Commerce office; Wheeler, courthouse; Pagan, Motel; and Allison, Motel. Officials for the balloting places are as follows: Shamrock, Roy Sims, judge; Lawrence Davis, clerk; Wheeler, C. C. Crowder, judge; Charles A. Whitener, clerk; Pagan, Michael Whelan, judge; Allison, M. M. Mobeetie, Ed Johnson, judge; Willard Godwin, clerk; Allison, Robert Taylor, judge; Clarence Zybach, clerk.

Shamrock Jaycees reported this week that funds to sponsor the Wheeler county crowd are being building up rapidly and that the 50 big, black birds worth $25 each will be released within the next 10 days.

Each of the 50 crows will have a band around its leg and the person who kills it, must bring the band to the proper authorities will receive a $25 check.

Purpose of the crow rodeo, of course, is to kill as many crows as possible and encourage others to move on to other areas. The birds destroy thousands of dollars worth of crops in Wheeler County each year.

Twenty-two Shamrock firms and business men have donated $25 each to the fund. Farmers are urged to contribute as they are the ones who will benefit directly from the campaign.

Persons who will donate to the crow-killing fund are asked to contact Harry Clay at 802 North Madden Street, telephone number 58-W. If enough money comes in, there is no limit to the number of crows that will be released.

Local firms and individuals sponsoring crows are: Clay Men's Store, Kersh-Griffin Hardware, Adams Hardware, Clay Funeral Home, Benson Hardware & Furniture, Holmes Motor Co., Lewis Motor Co., Montgomery Chevrolet, Tindall Drug, Mayfield Tire & Supply, Tialdi Truck & Implement, Bob Holmes Sporting Goods, John Nunn, Farmers & Merchants State Bank, Whitehurst Hardware, National Bank, Vernon Carver, Cicero Smith Lumber Co., White House Lumber Co., Shamrock Lumber Co.

MCLEAN—(Special)—The Lutheran Ladies Aid of the Dr. Martin Luther Church of the Pampa Community, held its regular meeting last week in the home of Mrs. Miro Pagan.

During the business meeting Mrs. Edward Pagan was elected president of the organization; Mrs. John Cadra, vice president; and Mrs. John Hrciar, Jr., secretary-treasurer. A box of food and clothing was packed for overseas needy. Refreshments were served to Mesdames L. Vajda of Lela, J. Hrciar, Jr. of Pampa, Paul Macina and Christine Faith Christensen of Cadra, Mrs. Pagan, Paul Pagan, Benny Schlegel of Lela, and to Miss Louise Risian.

Blind Texas Woman Is Crusader Against The Carelessness That Causes Accidents

CHICAGO (AP)—A half million people see Anita Blair in a year's time—but she doesn't see them.

This crusader against the carelessness that causes accidents is blind.

She travels, alone except for her dog, from city to city to preach the gospel of safety.

People quickly shift their attention from her large, sightless eyes. They see a chic, willowy brunette of 25. They notice her poise, her verve. They hear—and they may be a bit startled at first—her free and easy laughter.

Miss Blair's message is serious. But her life isn't grim. It could have been, though, after what happened eight years ago near her home in El Paso, Texas.

"We were driving fast," she hurries through the story. "Blinded by lights of an oncoming car. Head-on crash and . . ."

She lost her sight in the accident, but it opened her eyes to a new and different career.

Somebody gave her a seeing eye dog named Fawn. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree at the Texas College of Mines. She came to Chicago in November, 1945, with $250 and an idea.

"I've always been lousy with ideas," she quips with a laugh. "but, thank Heaven, they all haven't been lousy."

Her idea was to make an educational movie emphasizing pedestrian safety in traffic. She encountered difficulties as soon as she got off the train. The town was as tightly packed as a stuffed olive. There was no place to stay. Her return ticket to Texas seemed the only way out until a Chicago Tribune reporter ferreted out a room for her at the La Salle Hotel.

Herb Graffis, Chicago Times columnist, and others helped her make arrangements for the motion picture, but the project almost had a flaming finale.

A night fire whooshed through the hotel. Miss Blair remembered her training in school fire drills. She methodically harnessed Fawn in her room on the 11th floor. They proceeded to an outside fire escape and descended to the street. In the smoking building they left were 61 dead.
