Meyers' Purchase Is Leading Issue

WASHINGTON—P—Col. William B. Nuckols told investigating senators today he heard rumors in early 1943 that Air Force purchasing officers had heavy holdings of stock in companies with which they were dealing.

Nuckols was an Air Force public relations officer at the time, and he said he proposed steps for the AAF to be prepared to answer such rumors, if they gained widespread currency.

He said he: 1. Suggested that arrangements be made with the Associated Press to make a survey of such holdings.

Chance Seen For Bumper '48 Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON—P—A bumper wheat crop is still possible next year despite a serious seeding delay in the Great Plains, Agriculture Department officials said today.

A department crop report yesterday said about 25 percent of the intended wheat acreage in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico remained unseeded November 1.

These six states produced about 49 percent of this year's record crop of 1,406,000,000 bushels.

Officials said that assuming next year's production in the six drought-affected states is only one-half this year's, it still would be possible, on the basis of present prospects, to harvest a total crop of at least 1,000,000,000 bushels.

The United States has produced only four crops of a billion bushels during the past four years. Wheat output averaged 300,000,000 bushels for the 10-year period.

While officials would like to see another record crop because of the world grain shortage, they point out that a billion-bushel yield still would permit this country to export a much larger quantity of wheat in the 1948 crop year than it normally shipped before the war.

The crop report emphasized that wheat prospects are particularly good in the Pacific Northwest, most Rocky Mountain states and in the East.

"The outlook is favorable," the report said, "and acreage which may be larger than last year in many areas."

Yields in the Plains states are lower in the Plains states than in other wheat-growing sections.

'URGE TO KILL' — Mrs. Letha Frances Lake, 26, is shown in jail at Springfield, Mo., where she told officers she "suddenly felt the urge to kill" while listening to the radio and strangled death her 3 1/2-year-old son, Milton, in their Springfield home.

De Gaulle Would Be Dictator Say His Opponents

AMARILLO—P—Mrs. Letha Frances Lake, 26, is shown in jail at Springfield, Mo., where she told officers she "suddenly felt the urge to kill" while listening to the radio and strangled death her 3 1/2-year-old son, Milton, in their Springfield home.

General Charles de Gaulle's call to his native France to take the lead in making alliances with America, Britain and other countries "who feel themselves similarly menaced" by communism, is likely to be received with mixed emotions among the western world.

One would expect the first reaction to be one of gratification and admiration for his powerful personality and leadership.

But there is another consideration which is of more immediate concern. De Gaulle's proposal comes almost on the eve of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in London to try to draw up a German peace treaty.

Baptists May Vote to Keep President Neff

AMARILLO—P—Texas Baptists may vote today on whether to ask Baylor University trustees to retain President Pat M. Neff who indicated last night he would stay on the job if it is all right with the board.

Neff announced last week that he is resigning as head of Baylor, effective the last day of this year. But he told a Baptist general convention audience last night that he submitted the resignation "because I wanted to show the trustees to replace me without any offense if they chose to do so."

Today, Thomas L. Tyson, Corsicana attorney, submitted to the convention resolutions committee a measure stating "It will be most desirable for Baylor University for President Neff's superb administration to end abruptly on December 31."

Whether the resolution will be submitted to the Baptist general convention this afternoon in its last day of session is up to the trustees.

The opening session of the convention yesterday was highlighted by a heckling Fort Worth fundamentalist who was carried bodily from the convention hall when he tried to interrupt a main address by Dr. Louis Newton, Atlanta, Ga., president of the denomination.

The Fort Worth pastor, Rev. William H. Rose, rose to his feet as Newton began to speak and shouted "I want to know why Dr. Newton feels we should be in the hands of Russia?"

When accusations of the chairman came to quiet Fraser, several pastors and laymen in the audience moved in on him and abused him out.

Fraser is a pastor of Dr. J. M. Perkins' Fundamentalist Church at Fort Worth.

At the special meeting last night, 77-year-old Neff, tall, straight as a ramrod, silver-haired, blue eyes misted with tears, was a striking touching figure as he told his love for the job.

USS New Mexico Is Reported Found

NEWARK, N. J.—P—The decommissioned battleship USS New Mexico, temporarily lost at sea while en route to her last "battle," was found today by a Coast Guard search plane and tugs were directed to her side.

Exact location of the vessel was not immediately known, the Coast Guard said. The 30,000-ton super dreadnaught was en route from Boston to her final "battle" with two tiny fireboats attempting to keep her from Port of Newark when she was cut adrift in heavy seas late yesterday.

Skippers of the two tugs which cut her loose reported earlier to the Coast Guard that they were unable to re-locate the big ship.

Three men were reported aboard the hulk of the decommissioned vessel earlier, but whether they were still aboard the drifting vessel was unknown, the Coast Guard said.

As of yesterday the ship was reported off Fire Island, about 35 miles from the entrance to New York Harbor. The Coast Guard declined to give any estimate of where she might be now.

The Mesack Towing Company, owner of the tugs which were towing the battleship in heavy seas, informed the Coast Guard that the New Mexico was well sighted and that they retained contact with her through most of the night.

At what time contact was lost was unknown, the Coast Guard said, adding it was not believed the battleship constituted a hazard to navigation.

Newark officials determined that no more ships be scrapped on the city's waterfront, meaning that 200 30-foot fireboats on patrol at the entrance to Newark Channel to keep the New Mexico from entering the bay, which is a part of New York Harbor.

City officials, who say they want no more ships junked on the Newark waterfront, ordered the fireboat fleet to block the New York Channel.

Two Marshall Proposals Go To Vote Today

NEW YORK—P—Secretary of State Marshall's last two major proposals before the United Nations came up for final vote in the General Assembly today with assurance of passage.

Russia, however, has announced it will boycott both of the new U. N. organs which would be created by the American resolutions.

Skippers of the proposals set up a year-around "Little Assembly" to implement Marshall's plan for overhauling U. N. machinery and the other establishes a U. N. commission to supervise voting and creation of a government in Korea.

The third key item in Marshall's program—a watchdog commission for the Balkans—also has been approved and boycotted by the Soviet bloc.

The first actual test of the new policy is being made by an agreement with the Sone-McCoy Real Estate Company here.

The new plan will work like this: Addition promoter, at his own expense, will install water and sewer mains in the proposed development. They will purchase the pipe from the city's stock pile.

The total cost of the sewer line for the Sone-McCoy addition amounts to $2,228 for 2,010 feet of sewer line.

The commission also authorized the call for bids for an additional dump truck to speed the paving program and gave the green light to the contractors.

Returning yesterday from the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce referendum assembly held in Abilene, Reno Stinson and Roy Bourland, local chamber of commerce directors of the West Texas group, announced this morning that all seven planks on the referendum ballot were endorsed by the group and will become a part of the 1948 work program of the organization.

Revision Made of Repayment Plan On Sewer Costs

A complete policy revision of reimbursing addition promoters for water and sewer lines went up for initial discussion yesterday by the City Commission to avoid future heavy lump sum payments from the water and sewer improvement fund.

Previously the city had been making flat repayments to local real estate men for water and sewer lines laid at the builder's own expense and choice of contractor.

The proposed policy for the future will call for an installment payment out of revenue gleaned from the improved additions.

The first actual test of the new policy is being made by an agreement with the Sone-McCoy Real Estate Company here.

The new plan will work like this: Addition promoter, at his own expense, will install water and sewer mains in the proposed development.

The commission also authorized the call for bids for an additional dump truck to speed the paving program and gave the green light to the contractors.

Group Hears Opinions on Aid Program

WASHINGTON—P—Secretary of Commerce Harriman testified today he would favor stopping aid to any American aid to a nation which might in the future come under the influence of Russia.

Harriman was asked about his attitude in such a case while he was testifying to the House Foreign Affairs Committee in behalf of the administration's proposed $597,000,000 emergency assistance for France, Italy and Austria.

But in contrast, he said he believes America should help itself ready to extend help to nations of Eastern Europe if they should free themselves of Russian domination.

Certain of these nations, the secretary said, would have "likes to come in and work with us," but were prevented from doing so by Russia.

"Poland, Hungary and Romania are very friendly to us and have been forced into the iron vise against their will, Harriman said. His views were brought in under questioning by Rep. Jackson (R-Calif.). Jackson also wanted a list of commodities which this country now exports to Russia. Harriman promised to furnish it.

FAIR ENOUGH . . .

WESTBROOK PEELE
NEW YORK—Long before the Hollywood ignorant ever heard of the Bill of Rights, I was pounding the isar and hollering that Congress often heard false witness against citizens who were not merely innocent but not even accused. That was long before Eleanor the Great took fear at the recent mild proceedings of the Thomas committee on un-American activities against the Communist traitors of Hollywood. It was long before Paul McNutt, now an attorney in private practice, took occasion to protest. It was, in fact, during a time when she and McNutt were members of the administration whose method of dealing with political opponents was to smear them with filthy innuendoes and deny them a chance to answer. Many instances of this have sprung to mind lately in answer to the pietistical clamor, but my choice was the publication of the income tax returns of the late Roosevelt's opponents and the adamant refusal of the Democrats to permit any examination of his, or hers or the old lady's or Elliott's, Ham Fish, then a congressman, did put up a fight and they finally did throw Jimmy's return on the table, but the committee flatly told Ham that anyone who opened his mouth about the tax returns of the Roosevelts would be charged with the hearing. Allen Treadway, a stubborn Yankee from Massachusetts, did put up a yell for experts to examine Jimmy's returns as critically as others had been examined, but the rubber stamp majority said nothing doing and the Roosevelts got away with it.

But for that, we might have learned in time to be warned by the truth that Franklin D. Roosevelt's great humane venture at Warm Springs was a business proposition and that he had to be bribed by John J. Raskob to drop it and come out of retirement to run for governor of New York in 1928. Now maybe it isn't quite right to prove thru a man's private returns which by law are deemed to be "exquisitely intimate, but it was just as right to examine those of the Roosevelt family as any other man's. And we would have struck legitimate pay dirt there, too, because the pretense that Roosevelt was a philanthropist certainly was exploited for his own political benefit and his party's and to the awful misfortune of more millions of people than we have the fortitude to realize.

I heard no protest from the GAB or McNutt about the incredibly cynical conduct of Hugo Black, then a senator but soon to be rewarded with a seat on the Supreme court when he was running an investigation for Roosevelt, himself. Not a word did we hear from her or McNutt, when Ham Fish led Jimmy Roosevelt by the hand into the office of Walter Gifford, the president of the American Telephone and Telegraph, and told Gifford that it would be wise business policy to give Jimmy some of AT and T's insurance business.

Mutt and Jeff

OUR BOARDING HOUSE WITH MAJOR HOOPLE

"I said to Gifford, 'You know who this is, don't you?' Ham Fish said to me some years later. The guy is still adolescent. He has no more sense of right and wrong than a Roosevelt."

"Maybe I shouldn't have said that," Ham said. "Anyway I did, I said, 'You know who this is, don't you?' And he said 'Yes', and I said 'Well, it is a good thing to have a friend at court.'"

And Gifford said the insurance would be handled in a business-like way, as usual, and the next thing Mr. Gifford and the AT and T knew, they were going thru the sausage-grinder in one of those congressional inquiries that Mrs. R. now deplores so virtuously. I didn't hear her deplore that one.

Inasmuch as Ham Fish is a Republican it may seem strange that he brought the eagle of the dynasty around to see a prospective victim so rich in economic juices. I have long ago quit trying to reconcile the conduct of such to normal ethics. Ham just said he took this interest in Jimmy because they were both Harvard men.

It may be news to many of us that it is possible for a congressional committee to gum things up deliberately so as to protect the persons under investigation. But it isn't any news to Mrs. R., because that is exactly what the ways and means committee did in the investigation of whom addressed Elliott as "General" and apologized for bothering him, and the curtain was dropped on a corrupt mess in the Department of Justice itself by which some hot oil graders in Texas were eased out of jam. They were Elliott's friends and Elliott had delivered his old man to a big, secret party for them in Texas, but the committee refused to go into this thing at all.

Another possible reason for Mrs. Roosevelt's extreme scissiveness in the matter of the Communist expose is that she was caught in the act of butting into a State department case to swing a favor for Harms Eisler, a Communist if there ever was one, and a brother of Gerhard Eisler, the No. 1 Communist in the United States. That came out only a few weeks ago. It was unbelievably raw, but there she was greasing the way for this Bolshevik parasite.

I was against this abuse of the individual by congressional committees back in the days when the New Dealers loved it. I still oppose it in principle, but in the present occasion it is by far the interior evil.

Ferguson also proposed a Senate investigation of "how many government officials cashed in on speculation in government bonds during the war."

But he left up in the air whether he thinks such an investigation should be undertaken by the War Investigating Committee—which is scheduled to go out of business next February 1—or by one of the Senate's standing committees, such as the armed services or banking groups.

The War Investigating Committee did not develop yesterday where Meyers got the money to buy bonds on margin. But Ferguson told newsmen the deal required $40,000 in cash.

ECONOMIC

Chairman - Vosenberg (R-Mich) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee made clear that the United States has a vital interest in the world's uranium resources.

He told a State Department representative, appearing before the committee which also is hearing testimony on the administration's emergency foreign aid program:

"Some of us, before this show is over, are going to want some information about uranium."

Uranium is one of the key materials used in the manufacture of the atom bomb.

Chairman Eaton (N.J.) had hoped to offer the stop-gap bill as soon as Congress opens its special session Monday and then rush the measure to the house for debate by next Wednesday.

But Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) told reporters: "I can't imagine the wheels turning that fast."

Vorys and Rep. Fulton (R-Pa.), both members of the Foreign Affairs Committee, gave the impetus to a tightening up program in the office.

And it was learned that a bill written by the committee will be as rigid and strict as any yet passed.

The idea, this official was told, is not to sabotage the program or make it unworkable but to eliminate generalities and broad grants of power.

Fulton objected yesterday, during the questioning of Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett, to one section of the proposed emergency bill. It would authorize help in the form of fuel and "other commodities" needed by the three European countries.

Fulton said "other commodities" is too broad.

"I think I can assure the secretary," Vorys said, "in that those words won't be in this bill when it becomes law."

The Senate committee arranged meanwhile to question Assistant Secretary of the Interior William E. Wavra about Secretary Krig's report that America has sufficient resources to support a huge foreign aid program. Krug is ill.

Lovett, like Secretary of State Marshall, has asked for a "lenient charter" of foreign assistance, both for the emergency program and Marshall's long-range plan that might raise upwards of $20,000,000 over four years.

And as President Truman worked on the measure, he will deliver in person next Monday to the special session, Secretary of the Treasury James B. Connelley a fresh hint that one point in the Chief Executive's promised anti-inflation program may be a call for the restoration of credit controls.

These curbs, over many time since purchases lapsed November 1, and Spence told reporters that competing reasons would make it difficult for private lenders or sellers to put any very strong restrictions on installment credit without government regulations.

U. S. Likened to 'Great Big Farm' By Club Speaker

Likening the United States to one "great big farm," Ed Condon, vice president of the Friends of the Land and assistant to the president of the Sears-Roebuck Company, yesterday stressed the importance of soil conservation at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club in the Palm Room, City Hall.

Condon is one of a group of 125 nationwide industrialists and businessmen now touring the Panhandle in the interest of soil conservation and industrial development in this section of the country.

The speaker told Rotarians and guests, the nation as a whole is no greater than its natural resources and as it fights to defend them against an aggressor nation, so also should it fight to preserve them against decay.

Friends of the Land was organized before the war in Washington by professional and business men over the United States. Today the organization boasts a membership of over 3,000.

He strongly advised that every effort should be bent to preserve the country's natural resources and not waste of these resources to the barest minimum.

The Rev. E. A. Norris announced that another train, the Friendship Train for Europe, was to pass through Pampa. He asked that everyone contribute to the train in order to send out at least one or two carloads of wheat for Europe.

In absence of Virgil Mott, Lion E. O. Wedgeworth led the club singing. Condon was introduced by County Agent Ralph Thomas, Ray Evans, president of Rotary, presided at the meeting.

Moisture Penetration Tests Give Wheat Crop Estimates

By LOUIS FRANKIE, Extension Editor, Texas A. & M.

If you see a man going around carrying a soil auger, the chances are he's a county agent.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has asked county agents throughout the Great Plains wheat belt to make moisture penetration tests at planting time and to report the results to Washington.

On the basis of these reports the USDA will be able to make fairly accurate estimates on the size of the 1948 wheat crop. More accurate, anyhow than can be made this far in advance by any other method.

The USDA will not announce what it has learned from these reports. It can't, because if they were made public they would have a big effect on the price of wheat, one way or another. It's a cinch, though, that USDA's findings will have a bearing on the nation's plans for exporting food to Europe.

There's no secret about the system. Any wheat farmer can use it to figure out now just about what his yield will be next June or July. But the USDA is the only agency with an organization that can gather the information from enough points to arrive at a national total.

The system of predicting wheat yields at planting time was worked out in Texas by H. H. Fennell, while research specialist of the Soil Conservation Service's Amarillo office. He made a study of winter wheat production on 991 farms on the "High Plains" of Texas and his findings were published by the Texas A. & M. Station in 1944 as Bulletin No. 655, "Water Conservation in Great Plains Wheat Production."

This bulletin deals with the effect of contour tillage, terracing, rainfall and various practices, such as winter and spring grazing on wheat yields. Grazing increased yields by as much as 35 percent.

The meat of the publication, though, is contained in Fennell's formula for figuring out the yield six months or more before harvest.

Here it is: "Multiply the number of inches of July rainfall by 2.13; divide the number of inches of depth of moisture penetration at wheat sowing time by 3; add these two figures together and subtract 6.14. The number obtained will be the average expected yield per acre in bushels of wheat."

Of course, he qualified his formula by saying that this was on the average, and that the accuracy would vary with such things as winter rains or snows. But he thought enough of the

Pink Bollworm Found in Many Texas Counties

By TEX EASLEY, AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The pink bollworm has shown up in many Texas counties this fall for the first time. The Agriculture Department reports, but the extent of the invasion hasn't been determined.

Knox Parr, extension service district agent, tells me that reports are going to the USDA from 17 Panhandle counties. Agriculture experiment substations at Denton, Chillicothe, Lubbock, Amarillo and Spur are also reporting.

It was at Spur that three research workers—R. E. Dickson, B. C. Langley, and C. E. Fisher—made a similar study on cotton yields. That was in 1940, and their findings applied to the Rolling Plains.

Of course cotton yields are less predictable than those of wheat, what with insects and all, but the people at Spur made a close relationship exists between the available water in the soil at planting time and the yield of lint cotton. Seasonal rainfall, although a highly significant factor in determining crop yields, appeared to have less importance than moisture stored in the soil prior to planting time.

Anyhow, that's what all those people are doing with soil augers.

Roy Donahue and Duke Thornton, who handle the farm unit demonstrations—a cooperative deal between the Texas extension service and TVA—are always coming up with tall stories about the benefits of phosphate fertilizer.

Here's the latest one from Duke Donahue and his partner Mr. and Mrs. Reuel Crawford, farm unit demonstrators of Moss Hill, Liberty County.

Last fall the Crawfords put down some superphosphate and planted Austrian winter peas. They planned to let their poultry flock range on the peas, but some neighbors told them that the chickens would go blind and crazy. There's nothing to that, of course, as they found out when they checked on it.

Still, they couldn't help worrying, and they watched their flock pretty closely.

"Well," Doc Donahue asked, "what happened? Did they go blind and crazy?"

No, the Crawfords said, they were be'nding. In fact, theyhym they, the Crawfords said, they even looked better. And the only way they were crazy was, they were just plain crazy to my eggs.

Farm Commissioners To Receive Reports

BLOOM, Miss — Farm leaders from California to Massachusetts settled down today to the serious business of putting the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture on record.

The commissioners will receive reports today from seven committees which spent much of yesterday in closed sessions reviewing back agricultural and association problems.

Commissioner J. E. McDonald of Texas, with a greater farmer acreage and more farmers to administer than any other state officer present, today called for rigid soil conservation measures.

"The federal government should recognize that soil conservation is as much in the public interest as education," he asserted in an interview.

"Although a man may hold land in simple, that land belongs to yet unborn generations," he declared.

"Land owners should be held accountable for their stewardship."

"We are furnishing food to foreign countries today; but unless we halt the loss of soil fertility we may one day be importing food," McDonald said.

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Stock leaders skidded today to more than a point today under the impact of selling in the final hour. Gains registered by some resistant industrials, including copper issues, were shaded or transferred into losses. Although dealings were somewhat after the Armistice Day recess was cleared, transactions totaled around 500,000 shares.

Reduction of its dividend dropped Bohn Aluminum to a new 1947 low. Others retreating included American Telephone, Chrysler (ex-dividend), Sears Roebuck, Allied Chemical, Deere Caterpillar (ex-dividend), Boeing, United Aircraft and American Can. New highs for the year were attained by Shamrock Oil and Western Oil. Master Electric, Tan American Airways and Phelps Dodge gained after dividend announcements. Also advancing were American Woollen, Mask Trucks, Goodrich, Union Carbide, Anacosta, Copper, Kennecott, Salt Works and Ohio and Chesapeake.

Continued uncertainty over legislative prospects in the special congressional session, doubts over maintenance of profit margins and pressure of tax selling were cited by holders as factors placing a drag on enthusiasm. Some bidding was attributed to belief the market was technically in position for a recovery.

Music over Texas: Foxhound Fantasy—A Nacogdoches radio station plans to make transcriptions of the soulful baying of foxhounds. Last spring it made a record of a chase, using power from automobile batteries. It was so popular that the station now plans to use a tiny recorder on hounds' harness, make bigger and better transcriptions, and broadcast the foxhound music to the masses.

Song of Love: The District Court of Henderson County ordered 54 divorce cases dismissed from the docket. The cases had been filed, but in each case, matrimonial differences apparently had been patched up.

Cash Register Blues: McAllen males knocked inflation for a loop by wearing their hair long and growing moustaches when barbers hiked prices. Costs of a haircut were boosted from 75 cents to $1, shaves from 50 cents to 75 cents.

The "strike" was so effective that barber business fell off sharply, and barbers had to return to their old prices.

Southwestern Bell Symphony: Mrs. C. W. Deats of Big Spring picked up the telephone, and immediately someone began singing "Happy Birthday." He sang it from end to end. It was her father, 85-year-old L. Mueller, in San Antonio. She said it was her nicest present.

Hallstone Scherzo: Several families in the LeRue vicinity had wild goose dinners—legally. The birds were killed by hail that accompanied a heavy storm.

Torch Song: Cherokee County Sheriff Frank Brunt turned down a $100 reward for catching an arsonist. But the city insisted he take it—there was a law authorizing the reward.

Sheriff Brunt finally agreed, but said the money would be used to pay for a barbecue for peace officers.

Are People Really As Honest as This?
VIROQUA, Wis. —(P)—County Clerk Berlie Moore was on his way to a bank with a bundle of $1,100 in currency and checks when:

1. The rubber band broke on the bundle
2. Greenbacks and checks flew up and down main street in a stiff wind
3. Volunteers retrieved the fly-

'Will Dollars Save The World?'—No. 4

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of editorials based on Henry Hazlett's remarkable and timely book...

As Henry Hazlett points out in his book 'Will Dollars Save the World?' food relief and financial help from the United States will be futile unless the country aided discontinues policies which unbalance its trade...

Just as in private banking affairs, a bank cannot loan to a manufacturer who is so incompetent that he is bound to fail, or who indulges in practices which make it impossible for him to pay the loan...

It is that such countries automatically admit their dependence upon the U. S. and have asked us to interfere with their internal workings. Some of the policies which Hazlett points out must be eliminated if any loan to any foreign country is to be successful.

- 1.—Elimination of exchange controls, which call for nations to return to a true gold standard for their currency.
2.—A balanced budget which can be achieved if governments will leave off their grandiose schemes for building a still larger government.
3.—An end to price control, either for home-produced or imported goods.
4.—Excessive foreign trade barriers must be lowered or removed.
5.—An American loan or gifts would in effect be used to support the recipient country's military establishment (either directly or by releasing the resources devoted to it).

HOME-GROWN

DUREHAM, N. C.—Six members of the Duke athletic staff, five of them assistants in football, are products of head man Wallace Wade's teams at Alabama and Duke.

I'm getting too used to luxury. Writers shouldn't have too much comfort—all they need is warmth and enough to eat. What I long for is the feeling of dreaming of a bright future again.

Nothing else will be available to keep the peace if the UN fails. —Warren E. Austin, American UN delegate.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

(This is the third of four dispatches, analyzing results of Peter Edson's poll of government officials, business leaders and newspaper editors.)

WASHINGTON, —(NEA)—In the nation-wide poll of opinion which this column has been conducting on 20 leading foreign and domestic issues, many of the 1,200 members of Congress, government officials, business representatives and newspaper editors wrote in extended answers. Some of those answering the questionnaire signed their names and authorized direct quotation. For instance:

"I think the leaders of both parties are playing partisan politics with the special session issue," wrote Republican Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon. "Right now we need bipartisan action in the interest of the whole country, rather than political jockeying."

"On European aid, many shades of doubt were revealed by the written-in comments. One Republican senator said he would favor a $15 billion program but no more. A Democratic senator gave the opinion it will take 'more than $30 billion.' Another senator favors a one-year program but sees how it works. Still another said all aid to Europe should be stopped."

Making aid to European countries conditional on their blocking communism was questioned by 6 percent of the senators. "We must not dictate form of government to other countries," wrote one. Others were of the opinion

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Prospects have become dim that the United States will recoup any sizable reparations sum from seizure of Germany's once famous industrial establishments...

Ally Opp — Although it is thirty months since V-E Day, a 21st anniversary since the Truman-Attlee-Stalin meeting at Potsdam, bids for sale of the first plant allotted to the United States were opened here by the U.S. Liquidation Commission only last Tuesday (November 4).

DISPUTES — Top-level disputes in our State Department and in the British Foreign Office partly account for the slow-down in the process of profiting from reparations.

INDICISIVENESS — British indecisiveness is based on two factors which are seemingly contradictory.

GENEROUS — The unusually generous reparations terms granted Moscow at Potsdam have raised unexpected difficulties.

BARBAIN — The final, disillusioning fact is that Mr. Kaiser has not obtained such a great bargain from his purchase of the German aluminum plant, which was inventoried at almost $400,000 on the basis of the 1938 Reichsmark's value.

$32,000 Estate Left To Two Lone Cats — Camden, N. J.—Budgie, five-year-old Maltese tomcat, and Pitty Sing, 12-year-old tomi of unknown lineage, are the principal beneficiaries of the $32,000 estate left by Sarah Y. Furber, retired school teacher who died last year at the age of 75.

What I think is the feeling of dreaming of a bright future again. Nothing else will be available to keep the peace if the UN fails.

by Peter Edson
"Let me not work for the Marshall Plan." Said a congressman at the last session of Congress. "It will fall, period."

It would not work, Sen. Harley M. Kilgore of West Virginia wrote. "Such a course would work to the advantage of communism."

ON LOANS TO EUROPE—"Raise the money by selling bonds to prevent inflation," suggested one congressman. On the question of making the loans repayable, another wrote, "Don't make me laugh!"

CONGRESSMEN PARTICULARLY OUTSPOKEN — Members of the lower House of Congress are particularly outspoken on nearly all issues. It is impossible to quote them all in this space, but here are a few samples:

Prices can be brought down without reducing wages, "if we reduce exports," answered a Westerner. Another congressman thought prices could be brought down if we could "reduce taxes and end strikes."

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES
Extra Session of Congress Purely Political

It is difficult to believe that President Truman's calling an extra session of Congress is anything but a preparation for the 1948 Presidential campaign.

It is urgently necessary for the Congress to take legislative action designed to put an end to the continued rise in prices, which is causing hardship to millions of American families and endangering the prosperity and welfare of the entire nation.

When the Congress meets, I shall commend to it suitable measures for dealing with inflation, high prices, and the high cost of living.

It seems very plain to any realist that the purpose of Truman's calling the extra session of Congress is to try to fool the people and make them believe that it is a mean old nasty Congress that wouldn't protect them from high prices.

Truman seems to think that moving up the rationing to the big fellows will get the sympathy of the consumer. Maybe it will. The American people have been fooled for a quarter of a century.

Truman is smart enough to know that this is very unpopular. He is smart enough to know that he has a scheme that will fool the public. He is going to propose an allotment to the suppliers. That of course gives the bureaucrats an awful lot of power and puts the suppliers at the mercy of the government.

Truman is smart enough to know that he has a scheme that will fool the public. He is going to propose an allotment to the suppliers. That of course gives the bureaucrats an awful lot of power and puts the suppliers at the mercy of the government.

I'm a Red-baiter. I'd like to see them all in Russia. I think a taste of Russia would cure 'em. —Adolphe Menjou, movie actor.

There is a hazard, of course, in restoring any German industry, but that hazard must be faced. I believe it to be less disastrous than 70 million starving people in Europe.

Princess Is Made Lady of Ancient Order of Garter

LONDON.—(AP)— Buckingham Palace, announced Tuesday night that King George has made Princess Elizabeth a lady of the Ancient Order of the Garter. Knights of the order wear a jeweled garter inscribed about the left leg, but ladies make a bracelet of the diamond-studded ribbon and wear it about the left wrist. The order was established by King Edward 11 in 1348. According to legend, it originated with a party at which the King was dancing with Joan, countess of Salisbury. Joan's garter fell to the floor. As some nobility snickered, the King picked it up and commented, "Evil to him who evil thinks," which became the order's motto.

Five Pampa Girls Pledge Literary Clubs at TSCW

DENTON.—Five Pampa girls are among the 279 pledged by literary and social clubs at Texas State College for Women. Having finished a period of informal initiation, they are now active members.

They are Jeanne Anderson, Helen Geraldine Carruth, Ramona Louise Matheny, Bonnie Nell McBee, and Helen Jean Paxon.

Chores imposed upon the pledges during the initiation period included the usual "maid service" for old members, carrying loaded suitcases to classes, and counting all the steps on the campus.

Some of the clubs required pledges to appear in class without make-up and wearing large ribbons, corsages, and signs.

The purpose of the clubs is to stimulate interest in literature, art, and music, to promote social activities for members, and to encourage the achievement of high scholastic standing.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Al Teitelbaum, the Beverly Hills furrier who once made a squirrel rei fur skirt for Gene Tierney and an ermine sweater for Mike Romanoff, is disappointed in New Yorkers after reading Frederic Wakeman's "The Saxon Charm."

In the new novel by the author of "The Buckskin," a Broadway producer awakens a showgirl out of a deep sleep by whispering "Mink coat."

"That would hardly rouse a glamor girl in Hollywood," Teitelbaum told me. "You'd have to specify what kind of mink."

It only shows, cornflakes in Hollywood, but thru those shrewd drifts walk the most expensively-pelted women in the world. Al Teitelbaum and an untold number of unsuspecting little fur-bearers collaborate the year round to keep Hollywood looking like a gigantic mink farm.

Sometimes stars buy the furs that Teitelbaum makes for their pictures from the studios and, occasionally, the studio will hand out a blonde marten coat as a kind of bonus. But most of the time, the glamor girls shell out their own hard cash at Teitelbaum's plush, gray-toned salon for coats, stoles, jackets, capes and other items into which good little minks go.

Ginger Rogers once bought a white ermine trench coat that he designed. And Paulette Goddard had him make up a leopard-lined raincoat for her recent trip to England. Whenever he gets a spare moment, which is seldom, he whips out his sketch pad and turns out such eyebrow-raisers as Eisenhower jackets combining friend mistook her white mink for ordinary ermine.

The most fun Teitelbaum ever had in designing furs for the screen was for "The Road to Etopia." After long research, he gave Bing Crosby an oversized coat made up of bearskin and skunk, and Hope a shaggy model of timber wolf and Himalayan leopard.

"That," he told me, "set the drive to promote fur coats for men back a million years."

Preventing Spread Of Disease Is Job Of Every Citizen

AUSTIN—It is the duty of every citizen, young and old, to help in preventing the spread of disease. Every man, woman and child in Texas has a personal obligation to keep as well as possible, and to protect others from illness. Even the kindergarten age child can be taught to cover a cough or sneeze, to help in preventing the spread of colds or other infectious diseases that start with the symptoms of a cold. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, emphasizes the fact that the local health officers can do little to break the chain of communicable disease in the community if he does not have the whole-hearted support of the people. Every case of illness that looks suspicious of being a communicable disease should be promptly reported to the health officer. Physicians report to the county health officer the cases of communicable disease they diagnose as such, but parents often fail in this duty. The local health officer cannot institute control measures if he is not informed of cases, or suspected cases of communicable diseases. Some signs and symptoms which often accompany communicable disease are: red and running eyes; running nose, coughing and sneezing; dizziness or faintness; swelling about the neck; sore throat; unusual paleness; earache or running ears; feverish appearance; rash; nausea; vomiting or diarrhea; irritability or other change in normal behavior and appearance.

Help to prevent the spread of communicable disease in your neighborhood by observing correct health practices, and reporting promptly any appearance of suspicious symptoms. Persons who come in contact with the fine dust of copper refineries are particularly susceptible to arsenic poisoning.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
As if there weren't enough trouble in this world caused by people talking too much, along comes a speech expert who says that dogs can be taught to talk. He soft-pedals this terrifying statement by saying their vocabulary will be limited to simple things like "Want out" and "Feed me," but I'm not taken in by this. Just let a smart pooch start in kindergarten, and what's to prevent him ending up majoring in English literature? Personally, I don't want my dog going around to the neighbors saying, "I couldn't stay home because of the awful row George Burns and Gracie Allen are having over her hat bills" or "Can you count me in for dinner? I can't live on the scraps Gracie Allen feeds me."

That speech expert also said that elephants have a vocabulary of two words. George commented that this is all most husbands are allowed: "Yes, dear."
