

NEW DELHI TROOPS STRIKE TO CALM RIOTS

1,000 Deaths During Week Bring Action

NEW DELHI—P—Troops struck today against communal rioting in Delhi blamed for 1,000 deaths this week, swiftly following up a pledge by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru for action "on a war basis."

Military men said the disturbances were brought under control.

"For the first time in four days the military has taken the offensive against the rioters," a high army source said.

Soldiers and police of the month-old dominion of India joined in raids on refugee camps which a spokesman said were suspected of harboring gangs of killers who have been causing heavy casualties at the Old Delhi railway station.

However, the raiding parties found one camp virtually deserted and residents of a second apparently awaiting their arrival, and an officer commented "there's been a tipoff."

Fighting between soldiers and rioters and between Hindu-Sikh and Moslem groups continued sporadically throughout the day. There still was no official count of the casualties, but officers found more than 30 bodies today at one point, a moat filled with stagnant water.

In a radio speech last night Nehru declared that such measures—which he did not detail—were necessary in the face of a situation which he called "analogous to war."

He declared, however, that the military still were "masters of the situation" and shortly would be more the masters. His address followed reports from police and army.

Six-Man Jury Finds Man Guilty In Traffic Case

C.W. Kenemer, of West Kingsmill Street, in Pampa was assessed a fine of $10 on charges of violating City Traffic Ordinance Section XVII, by a six-man jury in Corporation Court this morning.

The case, which has aroused much interest locally, resulted from a parking meter ticket placed on Kenemer's automobile by Traffic Officer Ralph Phillips during the month of August. Phillips was the only witness for the defense and the city.

City Attorney Bob Gordon presented the case for the city and Kenemer defended himself. The actual presentation of the case lasted approximately 30 minutes after which it took the jury 25 minutes to reach a verdict.

Kenemer, in stating his defense, did not question the legality of the parking meters, but contested the nature of the traffic violation.

Section XVII of the City Traffic Ordinance as passed and approved April 17, 1943, reads as follows: "That it shall be unlawful and an offense for any person to permit a vehicle to be or remain in any parking space adjacent to, alongside of or adjoining any parking meter is located, while said meter is displaying a signal showing that vehicle has already been parked in said space for a longer period of time than the parking limit provided for by this ordinance for said parking meter zone within which parking meter is located."

Immediately following the trial, Kenemer gave notice of his intention to file an appeal of the case. Upon approval of the appeal application by County Judge Sherman White, the case will be heard in County Court.

Corporation Court Judge Clifford Braly presided over the case.

Example Made in Court of Germany

BERLIN—P—Two German policemen who testified they were ordered by Russian authorities in Marienberg, Saxony, to shoot a German mining engineer who had fled from the Uranium mines there were convicted today of attempting an illegal arrest and sentenced to five years imprisonment.

Dr. Leo A. Swoboda of Kansas City, Mo., presiding judge of the U. S. court, said in pronouncing sentence that there had been previous abductions in the American sector of Berlin and that it was necessary to set an example in such cases.

The engineer, who had been offered a job in South Africa, has since left Berlin.

During the trial, the engineer, Hans Grassman, said in interview that while the Russians were employing about 10,000 men—mostly in forced labor—at Marienberg and three other groups of mines in that area "not a grain of uranium" had been produced at Marienberg.

Appointment Set for Cardinal Spellman

ROME—P—Agenzia Globe, an Italian news agency, said today Pope Pius XII was expected soon to nominate Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, as Vatican Secretary of State.

Reports that the Pontiff was considering the American primate for the secretaryship have been recurrent ever since Cardinal Spellman was elevated to the Sacred College a year and a half ago.

Refugees Held Under Arrest

About 100 Jews Reported to Be On Hunger Strike

WASHINGTON—P—Secretary of State Marshall disclosed today that the United States fully urged the British government to reconsider its decision to send 4,000 "Exodus" Jews back to Germany.

In a news conference comment, Marshall revealed strong American disapproval of the British action.

Three shipsloads of the Jews, seeking to enter Palestine on the "Exodus 1947" were stricken back and their disembarkation at Hamburg was completed yesterday.

HAMBURG, Germany—P—Fifty of the Jewish Exodus 1947 refugees are under arrest and a search is on for those responsible for planting a bomb aboard one of the three transports which brought them to Germany, a British official announced today.

The official did not disclose the reason for the arrests. Some of those held were believed to be suspected of having led the resistance to debarkation aboard the transport Ocean Vigor, Monday and the Runnymede Park yesterday, when the Jews were subdued by soldiers using truncheons and fire hoses.

The remainder of the 4,311 Exodus refugees, intercepted aboard their immigrant ship off Palestine in mid-July, were in displaced persons camps. Some of them were reported on a hunger strike against their British custodians.

Screening was begun to sort out those suspected of criminal activities, those to be returned to the German economy because of their German origin, and those who qualify for care under the International Refugee Organization (IRO).

A British naval officer said he believed the Jews aboard the Empire Rival, second of the three transports to be emptied of refugees here, knew of the existence of the bomb planted aboard the ship. IRO said this might explain why the Empire Rival was the only one of the three transports from which the refugees were disembarked peacefully.

The bomb was found, removed and destroyed by British forces after the Jews left the ship.

A spokesman for the British military government said in Kiel a high-level decision was imminent on arrangements to implement the French government's offer of asylum to those of the refugees volunteering to go to France.

Prior to the arrival of the three transport ships in Hamburg, the military government had announced that no refugees would be provided for those who accepted the French offer.

The screening process, being carried out both by security officers and representatives of the IRO, was expected to take several days. Officials said the Jews who came under the IRO category would be eligible for emigration schemes available to displaced persons, and that those returned to the German economy would receive German ration cards and be able to direct to work under German labor laws.

In authorizing the payment for the monthly bills, the city manager pointed out that the regular bills for the past month have been cut by $1,500 since all city purchasing has been shifted to go over one central desk.

Damages, amounting to $15,172 from a grass fire on the property of J. E. Redman north of the city dump grounds, were approved by the Commission. Redman had approximately seven and one half acres of grass lands damaged by the fire.

The Commission and school board, meeting to discuss costs of a tax engineering survey for the city, elected to refer the matter to the board's attorney and the city attorney and later discussion with the County Commissioners Court.

Mrs. O'Daniel, mother of the applicant, did not go back to Texas with her husband and son.

She expressed resentment when informed that a question had been raised as to Pat's residence.

"I challenge anyone to try to prove that Pat's home is not at Fort Worth," she told a reporter.

"He was up here last year, all right, but he was going back and forth."

Eligibility of O'Daniel's Son For Postmastership Questioned

WASHINGTON—P—A question as to the eligibility of Pat O'Daniel for appointment as postmaster at Fort Worth, Texas, arose today as government officials checked provisions of the Civil Service Act.

The son of Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas) and 18 others are seeking the $8,400 a year, life-time job.

A provision of the 1938 Civil Service Law states that applicants for postmasterships in cities the size of Fort Worth must have "actually resided in the delivery of the office to which he is appointed" for one year prior to the closing date by which applications must be filed.

The closing date for the receipt of applications for the Fort Worth postmastership was Sept. 2.

Pat O'Daniel for some time prior to the latter part of last December (1946) lived here and worked at the now suspended W. Lee O'Daniel News, a weekly political newspaper.

He then moved to Texas, returned here a few weeks ago for a brief visit, then drove back last month to Fort Worth with his father.

A high government official, who declined to be identified by name, said it was his personal opinion that maintenance of legal residence in a city was not sufficient to qualify an applicant for the postmastership.

He expressed belief that actual physical residence in the city for the prescribed year is required.

He then cited the following provision of the 1938 act:

"No person shall be eligible for appointment under this section unless such person has actually resided within the delivery of the office to which he is appointed or within the city or town where the same is situated for one year next preceding the date of such appointment if the appointment is made without competitive examination, or for one year preceding the date fixed for the close of receipt of applications for examination if the appointment is made after competitive examination."

In view of the fact that a competitive examination will be held in the Fort Worth postmastership, in as much as there are a number of applicants, the "actual residence" requirement would date from Sept. 2 in the Fort Worth postmastership situation, this official remarked.

Mrs. O'Daniel, mother of the applicant, did not go back to Texas with her husband and son.

She expressed resentment when informed that a question had been raised as to Pat's residence.

"I challenge anyone to try to prove that Pat's home is not at Fort Worth," she told a reporter.

"He was up here last year, all right, but he was going back and forth."

Search Pressed For Victims of 'Island Queen'

PITTSBURGH—P—Firemen today resumed a grim search among the blackened remains of the once proud steamer "Island Queen" for victims of the explosion-fire whose toll of dead and missing is counted at 21.

Thirteen of the 17 persons injured in the blast which rocked Pittsburgh's "Golden Triangle" yesterday were still under treatment in hospitals.

Efforts to recover the bodies were tempered with caution as the charred hull of the five-deck steamer sank deeper into the muddied waters of her Monongahela River berth.

Once, firemen were ordered from the boat because the hull was shifting and threatened to break sideways as it slipped into deeper water. Only the top deck was still visible.

Firemen expressed belief the hull would have to be raised before all the bodies could be recovered. River Patrolman Louis Morgan announced he would drag the river today for bodies, while county officials and the Coast Guard start investigations.

Six bodies recovered, only three were identified. They were Mary Jones, a Negro maid; and Virginia Yeager of Covington, Ky. David O. Heath, both of Cincinnati. Three other charred torsos rested on marine slabs, burned beyond recognition.

Edward I. Schott, 40, of Cincinnati, president of Coney Island, Inc., which owned the ill-fated steamer, last night set the number of dead and missing at 21.

He estimated loss to the boat alone at $600,000 which he said was "partly well covered" by insurance. Fire Chief William Davis estimated the loss to the boat and its furnishings at $1,000,000.

The cause of the explosion was still unknown. Andrew Charles, assistant superintendent of police, said the boilers in the vessel were found intact, following an earlier report that a boiler explosion set off the holocaust.

Schott, who flew here from Cincinnati after being informed of the disaster, said he had no idea what caused it.

Pampa Firemen Take First Place in Race

A Pampa fire-fighting team, consisting of Chief Ben White, Capt. A. Fuller, Otto Doggett, Herman Klatt, Harold Skirland, T. D. Snow, Clark, Vernon Pirkle and John Chesser, took top honors in the pumper race held in connection with the 27th convention of the Panhandle Firemen and Fire Marshals' Association here in Memphis, yesterday.

The Pampa team, also took third in the water polo contest. Time of the local hosemen in the pumper contest was 2:34 seconds. First prize was $20. Third prize in the water polo was $5.

Luncheon for wives of the visiting firemen was served at noon and a barbecue was served at the Memphis City Park.

Clatt represented in the contest included Pampa, Amarillo, Childress, Wellington, Plano, Perryton, Chillicothe, Tulia, Quanah and Crowell.

Today, Chief Ben White, W. A. Clavett, Paul Skirland, T. D. Snow, and Clayton Stokes are attending the annual West Texas Firemen's Association meeting in Electra.

CORRESPONDENT FINDS MEN'S STYLES CHANGE

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON—P—Women always seem to be hulla-ballooing about fashion.

What's wrong with us poky old men? Why don't we battle over the battling in our bustles? Why don't we holler about the hick of our necklines? Why don't we put our whether we should pad our pants? I went around to Gerald Grosner's to ask why men's fashions never change.

Men's fashions are Grosner's business. For the past ten years he's been chairman of the Style Committee for the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers. Well, it turns out men's fashions change, too, very slowly.

The three-button coat now is the thing, Oh, definitely. It's vented in the back, which means it's slit so that it has coat-tails. The body lines are looser, and there's not much padding in the shoulders. Shirt collars are spreading, and some button down. Ties, particu-

New British Plea Sent United States

WASHINGTON—P—Secretary of State Marshall said today that Europe must have some kind of temporary aid this year and only Congress can authorize it.

"This was a strong intimation that he believes a special session of Congress will be necessary. But Marshall declined at a news conference to say flatly such a session should be called.

The Secretary did say the State Department would have at hand by late October adequate facts on which to chart a course of action.

His statement came on the heels of a report from London that the United States assume a large share of Britain's occupation costs in Germany. There were reports this country is making

Marshall, when saying the State Department will have needed data at hand by late October, commented that the majority of congressional committees visiting Europe will have returned by that time.

He declined to estimate how much aid may be required preliminary to the long range plan Marshall has projected for European reconstruction.

The secretary of state said he has not made up his mind on any details of the problem. He closed the question of a special session also as a detail.

At the same time, Marshall said he does not think it is possible to get authority for aid without a special session.

"The total of Marshall's comments appeared to those at his news conference to add to this:

Marshall believes there will have to be a special session in late October or early November to provide temporary aid fund as a source of advance on the Marshall long-range assistance program.

But he is not yet ready—pending final word from President Truman—to make his decision known. He said the President is being kept informed of all the facts in the situation.

In a formal statement which he volunteered at the outset of his conference, Marshall said the immediate phase of Europe's requirement "will clearly have to be given our urgent consideration and cannot await the completion of the broad or study which the overall program demands."

His statement added that he hopes that "shortly thereafter the complete data for the European recovery program can be screened and made available in order that the program may be faced in its entirety and that any action taken to meet immediate needs may be correlated into the general program."

Marshall made these other reports on the status of American foreign policy matters:

1. The Anglo-American talks on settling some of Britain's dollar loans in Germany to the United States are primarily a War Department problem but the State Department will be represented at hearings of the Senate Appropriations Committee in its special session Sept. 20.

2. Marshall is "gratified" at the creation of a coalition government joining Greece's two main political parties in a single cabinet. He said in a statement that the National Unity government in Athens demonstrates "the desire of loyal Greek political action" to work together for their nation's welfare.

Peasant Party Members Seized

WARSAW—(Delayed)—P—Stanislav Mikolajczyk, leader of the opposition Polish Peasant Party, said yesterday that two more of his party's offices had been closed by security police and that one executive committee member died after being arrested.

The former Polish vice premier said 14 members of the party's executive committee were seized at Olstyn and the party deprived of offices there and at Bialystok. Mikolajczyk said he was not informed of the basis for the arrests.

He added that security police dispersed a rally of peasant police at Bydgoszcz, and seized two other ranking party members at Krakow. He said his complaint to high government officials against police activities against the party.

Newspapers, meanwhile, were reporting increased arrests of members of underground bands, including alleged members of Mikolajczyk's party. A series of trials in which the prosecution charged Polish Peasant Party members were linked with the underground currently is under way.

This Blonde Upheld Honor of Her Sex

NEW YORK—P—A slender blue-eyed blond upheld the honor of her sex today by getting in the last word with a male acquaintance—and it took four radio cars, a police emergency squad and a hook and ladder fire company to make her give up the one-way conversation.

Police said the young woman, who refused to give her name, climbed up a fire escape, called through a window to a merchant seaman who lived on the upper floor of a five-story apartment building in the midtown area.

Neighbors, believing she intended to jump from the fire escape, called police and firemen. Detectives escorted the young woman to the street. The seaman, who said he did not want to talk to anyone, went back to sleep.

Yorkshire Coal Strike Termed Very 'Desperate'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Britain's economic crisis has reached such a grave state that the London Daily Mail in editorializing on the disastrous Yorkshire coal strike declares it must stop because it could well lead to the complete economic collapse of the country.

"That's a blunt but unexaggerated summary of the situation is so bad that it might well be described as 'desperate' if that expression didn't connote despair—an emotional outburst with which John Bull isn't familiar."

It was six months ago that DEWITT MACKENZIE for the Socialist, kept reforming its historic appeal to the country for further sacrifices to meet the catastrophe which was without precedent in modern English history. The appeal concentrated on the really important things "we may never restore the foundations of our national life."

Since those dark days the situation has worsened greatly. However, the government has kept reforming its battle lines, and a month ago the war-time leader, Winston Churchill, who is the Conservative Antithesis of Socialism, gave aid and comfort to the political enemy by declaring that the British people would come through the crisis, no matter what the difficulties might be. Then a few days since, Foreign Secretary Bevin, in appealing for further efforts by workers, scored countries which "imagine, now and again, we are no longer a great nation," adding dramatically:

"Let them live in their fool's paradise. We are great. . . I will not allow myself to believe that this generation is going to fail."

Are Churchill and Bevin justified in their optimism? Certainly they find much support among economic experts the world around. The general view seems to be that Britain will surmount the crisis. However, there is a qualification to the estimate (at least among foreign nations) and this is that while she will regain prosperity, she never again will return to the economic heights which she held half a century ago.

She scarcely can expect to rule the waves as she once did. But as the fighting Bevin said, Britain remains great.

3rd Round Wage Demands Seen If Costs Mount

CHICAGO—P—The AFL executive council hinted today that a third round of postwar wage demands could be expected if the cost of living continues to mount.

Wage boosts were granted to most major unions in the first year after V-J Day. Generally, they amounted to about 18 1/2 cents an hour. A second increase, ranging from 11 to 15 1/2 cents hourly was passed on to most big unions this spring and summer.

The 15 top AFL officers said the wage hikes were inadequate to keep pace with prices.

"Inflation has now assumed alarming proportions," the council said. "The purchasing power of the wage-earners dollar has been cut in half since the war. Food prices now bursting through the roof. Economists are predicting a dollar a dozen eggs and a dollar a pound butter. Meat is going to be more scarce, more expensive. Substitute foods, because of increasing demand, will also shoot upward."

Unless the cost of living is promptly reduced and stabilized, pressure for higher wages is certain to mount.

AFL President William Green said restoration of the OPA was out of the question, as was a special session of Congress to clamp new controls on some commodities, as proposed by a CIO committee.

He added that immediate revision of our foreign export commitments, limiting help under the Marshall Plan to those nations "willing to cooperate with us for the preservation of world peace."

2. Encouragement of increased industrial and agricultural production facilities to move the increased production.

First Day at School Hard on Youngsters

By NEA Staff Writer

An educator recently advised parents that school is comparable to an adult's first day on a new job.

This is an apt and helpful comparison. Any adult who can remember his first day at school is sure to recall that, mingled with his pride at having landed the job and his determination to succeed at it, were a lot of rather unpleasant emotions.

There was the bewilderment of an unfamiliar routine. There was loneliness, too, and a secret fear that the job might really be too much for him, that problems might arise that he wouldn't know how to meet.

If that is hard on a grownup, and any honest adult will admit it's quite a strain, then it will be equally hard on a 6-year-old.

BUMPER CROP

Schools all over the country are expecting a bumper crop of first-graders this month, because the first war babies are ready for school.

These youngsters will have an easier time of it if their parents realize that they are really starting their first job, and don't expect them to go off to school happily each morning without a worry or a care.

It may be hard for a grownup to remember enough about his own experience at starting school to be sympathetic and understanding, but surely he ought to remember some of his own "first days" as an adult.

Beauty and the Brush

By BETTY CLARKE

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

"Shining hair" has played such an important part in the life of the average teen-ager that she would rather have a present of a good hairbrush than a hat or a fancy pair of shoes.

Most girls understand that a little extra elbow grease applied to the hair and scalp at an early age will condition their hair for glamor when they are older. The youngsters are russy about shampoos, rinses, brushes and lotions, and back-to-school kits are filled with hair beautifiers, painstakingly selected.

Years ago every dressing table exhibited a brush, sometimes silver, beautifully engraved; gold plated ones weren't a rarity. The three-piece comb, brush and mirror sets were popular presents, indeed. There was only one hitch—often the brush bristles weren't any good and seldom could a brush be used for any length of time.

Most of these beautiful brushes were saved for sentimental reasons or because they were part of the set, though they served no practical purpose.

When buying a brush, remember that the bristles are all-important. The shape and size of the brush play a part, also. Club brushes are usually easier to get a grip on. Today you can find brushes in attractive, eye-catching colors of ruby, crystal and sapphire. This is good news for the girl who likes to have not only a good brush, but a colorful dressing table accessory.

Brushing is not just an art—it is hard work. You should brush your hair morning and evening, whether you follow the 100-stroke ritual or not. Few teen-agers have permanent waves, so they don't worry about elaborate curls. Most of them are very much opposed to tight ringlets and "bokey" hair. They like simple, easy-to-care-for hair styles.

Rice Ready to Greet Its Mightiest Team

HOUSTON—(AP)—Rice Institute confidently—perhaps too confidently—is ready to greet its greatest football team.

It appears overconfidence is about the only thing that might hurt the blue clad lions who, according to all except a very few strangers, no doubt will furnish the mightiest Owl team of all time.

Watch their actions and study their background and you become one of the faithful. Football ability sticks out in gobs as the finest squad Rice ever has known pines in heat that is tough on the spectators.

The Owls went through their first real scrimmage yesterday. Their blocking was poor and their tackling lackadaisical but this was easily explained. Coach Jess Neely has been driving them very hard as he brings them on slowly for one of the toughest schedules a college ever attempted. Too, the boys may be believing everything they read in the papers and magazines and figure if they're that good they don't need to work.

But the ability is there for Rice's greatest team. This, according to Neely, might not be enough as he reads reports about what's going on at Texas and Arkansas and other conference camps. But the head man of the Owls appears mighty optimistic nevertheless.

He admits he has the best group of backs he ever has had and the finest array of ends since he has been at Rice. He rates J. W. Magee a better guard than All-American Weldon Humble who is one of three important losses from 1946. He expects his team to be better than last year. "If we're not we probably won't win a ball game," he warns.

There certainly is no reason why Rice shouldn't have a great team. It is three deep in good men for every position. It has 28 lettermen—22 of them from last season's conference champions. It has great passing, a squadron of excellent receivers, fine punting, a flock of elusive, hard-running backs and it has all-around speed.

Rice tackles a schedule that only a great team can come through unscathed. "The boys like it better when we play good teams," says Neely. "At Rice we play the same for the boys."

The Owls tackle Louisiana State, rated a power of the South; Southern California, called the top team of the Pacific Coast; Tulane, Southern Methodist and Texas; the latter two ranked as Southwest Conference championship contenders, all in a row and with all except Tulane being played away from home.

Rice lost Humble, Charles Malberg, tackle, and Ted Scruggs, end, from last year's starting team; it also lost Humble's top substitute, Pete Sullis. Just about everybody else in back and there have been some notable additions such as Jack McBride, a fine offensive wingman of 1945, and Gerald Weatherly, big center who became scholastically ineligible last season just before the game with Texas and who will be back in time for the first conference game with Southern Methodist.

Buffs and Cats Win Openers in Texas Playoffs

(By The Associated Press) Dallas and Tulsa pitch their best at Fort Worth and Houston tonight in an effort to catch up in the Texas League Shaughnessy playoff.

In two tight games last night Houston came out best against Tulsa, 6-5, and Fort Worth against Dallas, 2-1.

Bobby Hogue, Dallas' righthander (16-8) will take the mound for the Rebels, opposing either Willard Ramsdell (20-5) or Clarence Podbielan (14-7).

Tulsa will open with Mack Stewart (15-3) against Jack Creel (14-1).

Johnny Hernandez teed off against Lee Anthony for a grand slam home run in the third inning to give Houston a 5-0 lead. The Buffs added another run late, then held off a determined Oler rally.

Knuclie ball specialist Al Pappi gained his 22nd win this year, though he let in two Oler runs on wild pitches. An error by Billy Costello accounted for another run.

Ferrill Anderson's hot single off Pitcher Floyd Giebell's bare hand in the eighth inning broke a 1-1 deadlock and led Fort Worth win.

Monty Baseball romped home on Anderson's hit, giving Eddie Chandler the edge in a pitching duel with Giebell.

Chandler held Dallas to five hits while his mates collected six.

Johnny Lipson's single gave Dallas its run in the fourth and Fort Worth tallied its first score the same frame on Lester Burge's single.

A crowd of 10,882 turned out at Fort Worth and 9,226 at Houston. The teams play at the same sites tonight.

Harvesters to Open Grid Season Friday

Two totally untried and unproven teams will lock horns here Friday night when the Harvesters and the Electra Tigers open their grid season. The Harvesters will hold a slight edge on paper due to a weight advantage.

On the other hand the Harvesters will be handicapped by the absence of Jimmy Wilson, one of the key men in their "T" model running attack. Wilson, Francis Hunt, an ankle broken during scrimmage last Saturday night, was the first serious setback this year's squad has suffered.

Coach Tom Tipps has named Jackie Wilson, Francis Hunt and Wesley Keith, a boy who was moved up from the Gorillas yesterday, as the boys most likely to fill Wilson's position.

Electra's Tigers, which are coached by W. E. Weathers and "Cy" Craig, will be built around nine regulars.

Running from either the "T" formation or the single wing, the Tigers capitalize on the speed of two extremely fast halfbacks and the crushing blows of a lowering fullback. Bobby Myers, 152, and Johnny Knight, 128, are the speedsters. Lanky Joe Jacobbi is the bone bruising fullback.

The repaired Harvester backfield will probably pin their scoring hopes on Charlie Laffoon, cagey quarterback. "Red" Mayes, 160-pound left halfback, Darrell Conklin, fullback, and one of the boys mentioned, who will replace Wilson.

In weight, provided the weights recorded are right, the Harvesters will outweigh the Tigers nine pounds. The Harvesters average 160, while the Tigers average 161.

Most of the difference will come in the line where the Harvesters average approximately 180 and the Tigers hit 170. In the backfield, the Harvesters average 160, while the Tigers figure 161.

The right side of the Tiger line is regarded the most powerful. Two experienced men, center Curtis Hines and right guard Fred Lalk, backed by 190-pound right tackle Thomas Bills, are expected to give the most trouble.

The Harvesters forward wall under the instructions of Coach Aubrey Nooncater has looked fairly impressive to the man. "The Harvesters will improve as the season advances. Tackles Roscoe Russell and Zeke Griffen, and guards Charlie Thornbury and Richard Scheig have all shown signs of developing into power players before the season is finished.

Lubbock and Amarillo Take Series Openers

(By The Associated Press) Lubbock and Amarillo held the advantage today in the West Texas-New Mexico League's Shaughnessy playoff.

Lubbock downed Lamesa, 8-1, and Amarillo edged Albuquerque, 5-4, in opening games last night.

Amarillo, which finished second in the regular season race, used Bob Crues' single after two were out in the ninth inning to defeat the Dukes.

Crues had previously hit a two-run homer and scored the tying run in the eighth.

Albuquerque's runs came in pairs—two in the first and two in the eighth.

Lubbock easily defeated Lamesa, going ahead on Jack Cerin's first inning home run.

Tony Florito's homer was the only Lamesa tally.

The same teams face each other again tonight at Lubbock and Amarillo.

Plans Resumed to Hold Olympics in London Next Year

By HARRY GRAVSON
NEW YORK—With England and the continent facing a crisis, the International Olympic Committee goes boldly ahead with plans to resume the Olympic Games in London's Wembley Stadium, July 30-August 14.

What is worse, the American Olympic Committee, composed of Avery Brundage of Chicago, William May Garland of Los Angeles and Fred Coudert of New York, moves right along with it.

This despite the fact that no one outside of the British Olympic Committee wants the show held in London at that time. The British press is violently against it.

England can't come close to feeding itself, so why drag in thousands of others?

With the world in a mess, why bring up the matter of the Games at all?

How can the show be called the Olympic Games with several of the larger nations out and the bulk of the contestants grossly under-fed? Olympic Games are supposed to cement international relationships, but the truth is that acrimony and gate receipts have been the only results.

There was the spectacle of Hitler doing his utmost to strut the super race in Berlin in 1936. Der Fuehrer turned the Games into a gaudy pageant of self-aggrandizement.

Things aren't so bad when international incidents are confined to the beef that followed the Italians carrying the completely exhausted Dorando across the finish line of the marathon in London's Shepherdshush in 1908, only to see him disqualified in favor of the American, Johnny Hayes.

Or the squawk having to do with the Argentine boxer leading with his molars and biting his opponent on the cheek in Paris in 1924. Or the fiasco about the American, Phil Fierman, running out as the American, Hill, attempted to pass him and edging in when the Oregonian tried to get through on the inside in the 5000-meter run in Los Angeles in 1932.

Politics and gross propaganda, crashing the picture in Berlin was bad enough, but here is a nation—the American nation—being severely criticized a year in advance for as much as entertaining the thought of competing.

Two American track and field teams sent to Europe this summer cleaned up with monotonous regularity. It was written and said that the well-fed Americans were beating the under-nourished home guards.

The same thing would be said next summer even if we fed the athletes of the other 40 nations from now until the Games.

The British Olympic Committee bid for and landed the Games. Not the last part of the answer to this is that the 1932 Games in Los Angeles played to 105,000 spectators for two weeks, showed a $3,000,000 profit.

The 1948 Games undoubtedly would bring thousands of people and millions of dollars to England, but the crowds would hardly ease the food shortage, to put it mildly.

If the stuffed shigs of amateurism deem it absolutely necessary to hold the Games while the world is in a mess, why not stage the production in more pleasant surroundings—say the United States, Canada, Sweden or Switzerland?

Secretary-treasurer Dan Ferris of the AAU points out that the poor countries could not afford to send teams to North America.

Well, if they can't afford to send teams, then they can't afford to compete anywhere.

So why not call the whole thing off?

The world has something vastly more serious to think about at the moment.

Asked why the Games couldn't be transferred, Dan Ferris explained that this couldn't be done because preliminary literature was already out—the general regulations, program, conditions, the number of men permitted to enter, when entries must be in, etc.

And that mighty slimsy one is the only excuse for holding the Olympic Games in 1948.

Chicago Pinch Hitter Beats Dodgers, 4-3

By the Associated Press
Somebody should have warned the Brooklyn Dodgers about halfbacks. Here they go traipsing West, secure in their own little baseball world with never a thought about a man-in-motion, and in their first start they are mousetrapped by an ex-Greer Bay Packer named Cliff Abernethy.

Abernethy, a fellow who appears to know his own mind, is said to have threatened to desert baseball for football, his first love, if he wasn't moved up from Des Moines of the Western League to the Chicago Cubs.

Yesterday when Manager Charlie Grimm sent him to the plate as an eighth-inning pinch hitter with the bases loaded and the Cubs trailing Brooklyn, 3-0, Abernethy belted a Vic Lombardi into the stands for a grand slam homer.

Lombardi had been pitching a one-hit ball game for seven innings, until Bob Scheffing and Bill Nicholson opened the eighth with singles. Abernethy, who had been in the lineup for the Cubs, bounced an easy double play grounder to Pee Wee Reese but the Dodgers' shortstop muffed it up and the bases were full. Clyde Lumb, who had been then came Abernethy to make it 4-3 and cut the Dodger lead to 4-2 games.

The St. Louis Cards, whose season record is dotted with missed opportunities, didn't fail to take advantage of this one, mowing down the Philadelphia Phils, 2-0, in a night game to slice that full game off the Brooks' lead.

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds, turned in a job that would have been enough to grab the headlines most days, when he celebrated victory by blanking Boston 2-0, with four hits. After accepting a shiny new car, and other gifts, Walters mowed down the tough Braves for his 198th major league victory and 42nd shutout, tops among the active hurlers in the league.

The New York Giants continued to make the most of their speciality, the home run, downing Pittsburgh, 3-1, on Jack Lohrke's blast over the fence with one on in the ninth. It was Clint Hartung's ninth triumph and Preacher Roe's 13th setback.

American league action centered around the second-place scrap between Boston and Detroit as the New York Yankees and Cleveland were not scheduled.

With the help of Jake Jones' three-run homer and some relief pitching by Johnny Murphy, Joe Dobson copped his 16th game for Boston by a 5-3 edge over Detroit. The result left the Red Sox a game and a half ahead of the third-place Tigers.

Arilla's triple, followed by Jeff Heath's fly, enabled St. Louis' Ellis Kinder, to down Philadelphia, 1-0, despite a three-hit job by Phil Marchiondo. Kinder struck out seven A's and walked five, while scattering five hits.

Luke Appling set a new American League record by playing his 1986th game at shortstop for Chicago, breaking the old mark set by Roger Peckinpaugh, as the White Sox thumped Washington, 6-1.

China originally cultivated cotton as a purely decorative plant. It was used in the ceremonial drapings of Buddhist images.

Midland Evens Series With Ballinger, 9-1

(By The Associated Press) The Longhorn League's Shaughnessy playoff was all square at three games today.

Midland evened its series with Ballinger last night, 9-1, and rain postponed Big Spring's meeting with Sweetwater, leaving these two deadlocked.

Jim Prince, Arnold Davis and Hank Ramsdell led a 13-hit Midland attack with home runs.

The final games of the first two playoff series are scheduled tonight at Sweetwater and Midland.

THE STORY: Andrew drops in on the Glenns one Sunday afternoon. Jerry is honing his studies and Andrew attempts to discourage him from becoming a doctor.

FROM the first, his interest in Nancy had been exciting. He was, she knew, a man of many affairs, of a cultivated taste in women.

'Twas a Great Day WITH Greater Days to Come
When the first gusher started the Panhandle's oil boom just 26 years ago, the area we serve became one of the most productive of crude oil in the world!

But... greater days are yet to come! We have more than one fifth of this nation's reserve... still underground! Oil is destined to become even more important to folks in this area in the years to come.

We have so much faith in the oil industry—and all other industries we serve, that we are investing 35 million dollars in a building program. This expansion program in our territory will bring more dependable electric service to industry and better living—electrically—to everyone!

Unpleasant Prospect

No one knows how long it will last, but it is evident that this country is still enjoying a brief period of economic prosperity. For more than a year, leading economists have been forecasting recessions and depressions, none of which have materialized. Last June, according to Department of Commerce figures, personal incomes in the United States showed a record annual rate of $193,000,000,000. In that same month the number of productively employed people passed the 60,000,000 mark for the first time, and the July figure was still higher.

It is true, of course, that the purchasing power of the dollar is much lower than in previous times. Even so, wage increases have for the most part kept pace with price increases, and in some industries have materially exceeded them. The major exceptions to the rule have been the white-collar and professional classes, whose wages, measured by the yardstick of purchasing power, are less than during and before the war. People living on fixed incomes have taken a tremendous financial beating. It is the laboring groups which have benefited most.

The loosening of the regulations on time-payment purchases has been a factor in keeping sales of expensive articles at the peak level. When families can pay for their purchases on time, they can keep on buying on liberal installment terms. In some fields, such as radios, evidence of over-production is apparent, especially of unknown brands. But staple, advertised goods of all kinds are selling well. Very few people believe that this is a healthy economy. Economists for industry shake their heads when they start talking about the long-time future. So do the economists for the labor unions. All of them are concerned with what might happen if we had a depression accompanied by high prices. It has never happened in this country. It has happened in many other countries. And it is definitely an unpleasant prospect.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON, NEA Staff Correspondent (Johnson on KPND Monday thru Friday, 2 P. M.) HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Olivia de Havilland was wearing her "Bedlam Bob" and there were bags under her eyes. The bags, she hastily explained, were a "little worse than usual." She was wearing a sweater, but it wasn't the kind Lana Turner likes. It was frayed and full of holes. She had on bedroom slippers and silk stockings. The stockings were crumpled and droopy.

Olivia de Havilland is put it mildly, looked a mess. But naturally, she wasn't sitting at a table at Ciro's with her husband, Marcus Goodrich. She was sitting at a table in the visitors' room of an insane asylum, according to her movie husband (Mark Stevens) about biting a doctor's arm. The title on the cover of her script read: "The Snake Pit." Maybe you read the book. It's about a girl who goes insane and is sent to an asylum. It's partly an expose of insane asylum life and partly a great dramatic story.

CAPITAL CONFUSSION

(Peter Edison is on vacation.) WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Just when it looked like they had most of the bugs out of the armed forces merger, some capital hostess had to fiddle up the works in great haste. The afternoon it was announced that John L. Sullivan, Kenneth C. Royall and W. Stuart Symington, in that order, had been named head of the Navy, Army and Air Force under the new Department of National Defense, this hostess decided to invite them all to a party. When she started arranging the seating order of her guests, however, it dawned on her that the order of procedure would be changed under the new set-up. The three new appointees wouldn't have the rank of cabinet members. Where should they sit? What would be their position? What would she do? She nervously buzzed the State Department's protocol office for advice and got the polite answer that because the merger wouldn't become official until the new armed services boss, James Forrestal, took the oath, they would be unable to give an official judgment until then.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON BY RAY TUCKER

PESSIMISTIC—The high cost of living, as well as the imminent danger of even more inflated prices for life's necessities in the coming months, has been the most investigated question around Washington and throughout the nation. It will probably be the key issue in the 1948 presidential struggle. On any solution may hang the outcome of our current battle with Russia for world power, prestige and peace.

Talking of the record, however, both private and public economists as government representatives as well as advocates for private business and industry, are extremely pessimistic. They advance various theories for curbing the spirals of wages and prices and federal expenditure, but they have no concrete program. They admit it.

MONEY—They return always to the conclusion that the basic cause of rising costs in every field is the excessive flow of money through all economic channels—"crazy money," as some describe it. The vast volume of purchasing power, which was built by early New Deal, war expenditures, wage increases and a general "easy come, easy go" psychology, in their opinion, must be reduced if the U. S. is to achieve a nice, decent and practicable balance of living wages, prices, savings, profits etc.

REFUSAL—The fundamental reason for failure to adopt a program of gradual and general retrenchment, according to these study groups at Washington, New York and elsewhere, is the refusal of everybody to face the hard facts and to work together toward a gentle downswing of prices. Every private and public pressure group, despite protests to the contrary and blaming of the other fellow, wants and works toward a policy of "easy money," as they did in the days of the so-called "Coolidge boom."

By GRACIE ALLEN Well, beginning to look as though the panic is on. Women's skirts are coming down to their ankles and a leading male fashion arbiter says that men's trousers and suits are definitely headed up toward the knees. My! I suspected that feminine fashions would be brought back to their own styles. Personally, I think it's just too wonderful that men will have a chance to show their legs for a change. What with high prices and changing our hemlines and the servant problem we women have been having a pretty unhappy time of it and we could certainly use something to make us laugh. However, just in case a few of the men might fool me by having shapely stems, I'm going home right now to practice on my whistling. A girl can't be too careful.

Gracie Reports

INFLATIONARY—Congress, opposing reduction of the public debt, the gentlemen twice enacted a bill cutting taxes by $3,000,000,000-plus. They had been talking about cutting about $2,000,000,000 in terminal leave bonds. Protests by business, industrial, agricultural and political groups kept them from slicing the presidential budget to any appreciable degree.

INFLATION AND REFLECTION—Olivia and Marc me, for the first time at a dinner party in the fall of 1940. The other night they were sitting in their lease-expiring apartment lamenting about inflated prices. "Well," said Olivia, "it's all your fault for not calling me that fourth time. If you had, we'd have married seven years ago, bought a home before inflation set in and been happily settled in our own place long before this."

So They Say By avoiding local disputes and regional disturbances you can serve to prevent the very beginning of greater conflicts.—Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the UN. It so happens that, with insufficient military and commercial orders, the aircraft manufacturing industry has been reduced to a position where not even loaning institutions consider it a safe risk.—Sen. Owen Brewster (R) of Maine. The conception that the United States has lost no wars has grown to legendary proportions which may again nullify the nation into another period of unpreparedness or lead to another important period of dangerous rampant nationalism.—Prof. Richard E. Thursfield, Johns Hopkins University. Retire? As soon as my players can tell me how the game should be played, and can prove the way I'm doing it is wrong. I'll retire.—Connie Mack, manager, Philadelphia Athletics.

The Proof of the Pudding I want to reproduce an article written by Dr. Ruth Alexander and printed in the Los Angeles Examiner. Dr. Alexander is one of the six American citizens who see the inevitable results of compulsory education. She is one of the six with whom the superintendents of schools in the six cities in which this newspaper and its associate papers are published refused for $500 to discuss compulsory education.

CONCLUSIONS—Industry: Despite unprecedented profits after taxes industry has continued to increase prices on raw and finished materials, sometimes beyond the need for meeting advancing costs. They have granted wage boosts on the thesis that they could recoup by passing extra costs on to consumers before the boom collapses. It was on this theory that United States Steel gave John L. Lewis what he calls "the finest contract in labor history," thus forcing competitors and steel users to swing along the merry-go-round. Retailers: Their Washington lobby led the fight for repeal of Federal Reserve regulations regarding credit and installment buying. Thus, at a time of scarcity, they helped to apply new and advance buying pressure against a tight market. Labor: The workers are generally branded as the villains of the inflation drama. By demanding the same amount of take-home pay, a deceptive term in view of higher living costs, which they received during the war, they won shorter hours at the same pay scale. This means less production in many lines and higher prices. Consumers: They have bought indiscriminately to satisfy long overdue wants, have gone into debt or used up savings against a rainy day, often for semi-luxuries, and seem to believe that "happy days" will last forever. The writer does not mean to suggest that these are his conclusions, or that he agrees with all of them. But they represent the considered judgement of many of the experts who are supposed to know what is wrong with our economic system and machinery and how to remedy it.

The Proof of the Pudding I want to reproduce an article written by Dr. Ruth Alexander and printed in the Los Angeles Examiner. Dr. Alexander is one of the six American citizens who see the inevitable results of compulsory education. She is one of the six with whom the superintendents of schools in the six cities in which this newspaper and its associate papers are published refused for $500 to discuss compulsory education.

Read the article below and see if she is not a clear thinker. See if she is not anchored to sound American principles. See if she is not anchored to the Ten Commandments. I quote: "The proof of the pudding is in the eating. The proof of the merits of capitalism versus socialism is in the people's lives. It is not the people's lives, but the average wage earner that is the test. Our scale is 100 per cent higher than that in the Soviet Union today. In the two postwar years, Soviet food prices have risen 166 per cent, while the average wage earner has risen only 25 per cent, according to a recent statistical study of our Department of Labor.

This is not explained by the enormous postwar reconstruction, for which it would appear natural that consumer goods of light industry, should be held in favor of producer goods, or 'heavy' industry. The shortage of consumer goods and the high prices which always accompany scarcity are not a byproduct of war or postwar reconstruction. They preceded the war by 20 years. The Soviet policy of maintaining the production of consumer goods at the level of bare subsistence was inaugurated in 1917.

It has never been abandoned except for a brief period known as the NEP (new economic policy) in 1923 which Lenin called a temporary retreat. Its capitalist character for strategic purposes consisted of feeding a population whose hunger and cold were about to 'throw the locomotive of revolution into reverse' before it got well started down hill from capitalism to socialism. "It was obvious even to Karl Marx—who knew little economics, and cared less—that modern economy was based on trade and transport, and that the home pay, as long as man used up, or 'consumed,' all he produced no surplus was left over which could be earmarked for exchange, or 'trade' with his fellow man.

Such a surplus did not appear to any appreciable extent until the inventiveness of free individuals brought about the 'industrial revolution' wherein machine tools took the place of hand tools and factory work gradually superseded 'bench' labor. "As tools increased and improved, surplus increased accordingly. Man began to enlarge his economic wants and to satisfy them on a scale hitherto unknown. "Marx's so-called 'contradiction' to such a surplus was that the surplus arose solely through the efforts of labor and belonged therefore, solely to labor. "His 'reasoning' was presumptuous and false. "It was wishful thinking at its worst by a man whose concern was not the workers' welfare but his own power over the workers. "It found ready converts, then and now, among those who sought labor's support for their own sinister ambitions. "Furthermore, Marx taught that whereas surplus value normally arises in the field of production it can also arise in the field of consumption. "If the population reduces its consumption to a minimum, there will be more left over for the purposes of the state. "Lenin claimed that the renunciation of the workers comforts is vindicated by the prospects of the role the capitalist surplus is destined to play in capturing world markets from the despised capitalists—whose scale of living remains nevertheless, the envy and despair of Socialist countries. "The increasingly low scale of living in the Soviet is not the result of war or postwar conditions. "It is the logical conclusion of Marx's theory of the function of surplus value and it rests on the Socialist axiom that 'the end justifies the means.' "To call the Soviet Union the 'workers' paradise' is to call black white. "Those who want it are welcome to it, including those quarrelsome and discontented folk in the United States who enjoy our high scale of living while griping against our relatively minor shortcomings in other fields."

So They Say

By Douglas Larsen Shaw. She publishes the 'Socialist' of Washington, a sort of unofficial but highly-regarded social register. Her current edition is due to go to press in a couple of days. And she wants to have the right answer for her readers. A guide to the order of precedence is part of a regular feature in her book. Her only comment is: "After talking to almost every agency and authority in town, I'm still completely at sea." Among the experts, who have calmed to the point where they can discuss the thing coherently, it's agreed that it narrows down to whether Messrs. Royall, Symington and Sullivan will sit at dinner on the right or the left of Charge d'Affaires. I like this writer, you don't know. Charge d'Affaires are sort of vice ambassadors. They officially represent a nation when the ambassador is out of town. Only Mr. Royall, who is now a cabinet member, would get socially demoted under the new arrangement. For the other two men, this new proximity to Charge d'Affaires is a theoretical improvement. If the final decision sandwiches the new positions between the members of the House of Representatives and the Charges it will probably bring welcome relief to both Representatives and Charges to have somebody new to talk to at dinner.

NOW I KNOW IT.

Did you know the average American citizen don't have much sense or is it just me? I was working along doing all right, pretty well satisfied, making a few dollars here and there, and I got a card out of the mail, and it was from Ben Lipold. He was up at Pampa, and he had a fish. He said the fish was biting, and he also mentioned the weather. I didn't pay much attention to the card at first, but the more I tried to work the harder it was to get my mind on my business. So I just stepped to the phone and called him long distance. (That cost me 2.10) and sure enough he caught 19 trout the day before. I just called my wife and told her to get ready. So I drove like to Creede over the week-end. I left here Friday noon, drove like mad, and got there at midnight. Got up early Sat. morning, fished for two days straight, and finally caught a fish. I jumped in the car Monday morning (drove like a house afire) got here late that night. Do I feel good? I'm wore out. The four days cost me 110.00, and I charged all the gas and oil (credit card) - I can go down to the markets here in Pampa, and buy all the fish in town for a whole lot less than that. I want to buy myself the I met Ewing Williams coming back. I want to buy myself the I don't aim to do that any more. I'm thru with fishing.

Need a nice two-bedroom home? I've got one out on East Francis, and it's a dandy. It takes 6000 for it, and it has a nice loan on it now.

A man just called, and he has a good truck, with grain side-boards, that he wants to trade in on a small house. He'll trade even. Take the difference, or give boot, but wants to trade the truck for a house. He'll trade the truck for a house. I have a dandy three-room house with lots of good furniture in it that I want to sell for 3500. The rooms are all large and comfortable, and it's in a good location. It has a nice front and back yard.

A lady friend of mine wants to rent an apt. or small three or four-room house. She has a daughter about 15. She would pay the OPA price as she has a good job. If you have anything like this, let me know, and I'll get in touch with her.

I've got a pretty good 6-room house to be moved. I also have a pretty good yard, and I have a nice one-room house, and I can make some one a good garage, and the price is only 200.00. You can buy much for 200 now-a-days.

On my way to town, I found some kind of a canvas bag out in the office some of you school kids lost it. It's green in color. If you could find it, I'll give it to you.

I need some more good houses to sell. If you are thinking of selling and want to get the top dollar, call me up and I will be glad to come out and look your house over. I'm selling quite a lot of stuff lately, and I've got every dollar they will bring.

Delhi riots

authorities that the rioting let up somewhat yesterday, but gunfire still resounded through the dominion's capital and its older sister city.

Sikhs and Hindus in predominantly Hindu India have been killing Moslems in retaliation for the slaughter of members of their religious communities in the Moslem dominion of Pakistan.

Official sources estimated the dead in New and Old Delhi at 1,000 in the three days ended yesterday. One official said the killed and wounded might run up to 10,000.

The butchery and attendant burning and looting have paralyzed the life of the twin cities and sent thousands of their 300,000 or so Moslems fleeing toward Pakistan 300 miles away, carrying their children and goods.

The Moslem exodus followed an incursion of Sikh and Hindu refugees from Pakistan.

Jury Selection Delays Progress In Murder Trial

NEW BRAUNFELS—Attorney in the Ross murder trial exhausted the original venire of 72 men in selecting five jurors yesterday, forcing a half day delay today while a new group was rounded up from which to select the remaining seven needed to form a jury of 12 good men and true.

The trial of young Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, charged with the murder of four members of the Willard York family May 25 near here, will be resumed at 1:30 p.m.

Sheriff W. A. Scholl was ordered to obtain 75 more men as potential jurors.

Attorneys expressed confidence in being able to obtain a jury here near the scene of that Sunday ambush slaying. It may be possible, they said, to complete the jury today.

They worked from 9:30 a.m. to almost 8 p.m. yesterday closely questioning jurors on their opinions and attitudes toward insurance, pleas, and the death penalty.

The major difficulty yesterday was the fact that many—over half—had formed definite opinions as to the death penalty.

The trial opened before a packed courtroom in the 22nd District Court presided over by Judge P. R. Puelis. As the questioning continued into the night, the crowd thinned and Dr. Ross, clad in somber brown, dozed in his chair.

Mrs. Ross, his attractive brunette wife who sat near him when the trial first opened July 28 and then was postponed until yesterday to enable attorneys time to gather more witnesses and testimony, was almost unnoticed in the audience. She was vivacious and clad attractively in a well-below-the-knee print.

Attorneys left no doubt in anyone's mind as to their defense, a plea of insanity.

Jurors selected on the first day were Henry Goetz, 43, New Braunfels auto accessory dealer; Otto A. Hofmann, 46, rancher, who lives 10 miles north of here; Adolph Espeling, 55, real estate; Ernest Heim, 55, stock farmer; and Henry Garrecht, 55, or hunter, farmer-rancher.

Engeling was the only single man selected.

Dr. Ross appeared calm when he entered the courtroom on the second floor of the Comal County Courthouse. He smoked heavily at first, but later began eating mints. His wife smiled at him encouragingly as they eyes met occasionally.

As the day wore on, the young surgeon's nerves seemed to tense. He used both hands to light a cigarette, and once when an attorney brought him a paper cup of water, he used both hands to steady the cup and direct it to his lips.

He is charged with the slaying of Willard H. York, an investment broker from San Antonio; his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Q. York; and York's son John, 9. He also is charged with the wounding of 13-year-old Anna York, who escaped the mass slaying to become a star witness for the state.

The shooting followed years of friendship, climaxed by the sudden revelation in March that the doctor's fortune had been lost. Ross blamed York, who handled his money.

Carson County Delegate Reports On 4-H Meeting

PANHANDLE—(Special)—"If every farm boy and girl could go to a 4-H meeting at College Station, I believe they would be better satisfied to stay on the farm," Christine Cummings told members of the Carson County Federation of Women's Clubs when they met Monday afternoon in the Panhandle High School Auditorium.

Christine of the Tony Ridge 4-H Club and Yvonne Ollinger of St. Mary's 4-H Club of Groen, were chosen to represent Carson County at the recent meeting at College Station and part of their expenses were paid by the Federation.

Both girls gave reports to the Federation's business session and present feel that they had taken the trip with the girls.

Misses Charlotte Tompkins and Marthyn Burnett, county home demonstration agent and assistant agent, also gave reports and told of some things that might be done in Carson County as an outgrowth of this meeting. Miss Tompkins also told of some of the plans for the Carson County Fall Festival and urged member participation.

In the absence of the president and vice president, Mrs. C. P. Hood was elected chairman for the afternoon's business session, which the resignation of Mrs. H. R. Pugh as president was accepted. Mrs. Walter Lill, as vice president, will succeed her, but no action was taken on the selection of a vice president.

Representatives from five clubs were present.

The meeting on October 13 will be in charge of the Liberty and King Community clubs.

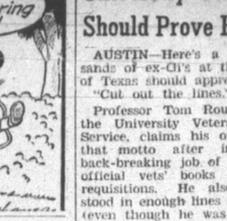

Man Is Arrested on 'Hot Check' Charges

James L. Willis today was being held in the Gray County jail charged with swindling with worthless checks, and for investigation in connection with the theft of a truck bed.

County Attorney Bruce Parker said the truck bed was taken from the parking lot across from the Oilier Ball Park. It was sold to O. S. Victory, who believed the man selling it to him owned the lot.

The county attorney added that Willis is also wanted in El Paso, and several other counties in Texas.

Willis is being turned over to the district attorney's office for further investigation.

'Comes Into Its Own'

AUSTIN—(AP)—Comptroller George Sheppard yesterday handed a warrant for $140,328.41 to Gerald Allen of Robert Lee, secretary-treasurer of the Upper Colorado River Authority, and the water agency has "come into its own."

The warrant represented accumulated state general fund tax grants of Tom Green and Coke Counties' collectors on the tax years of 1944 and 1945. Another $70,000 or so was "missing" because the state failed to levy a general fund tax for 1946.

Although it had received special state appropriations in past years, the agency had not touched any of the actual "reimbursement money." When a bill extending the tentative life of the UCRA was passed in 1944, an appropriation of $4,000 which the agency had not touched, was returned to the state treasury.

L. T. Youngblood, of Bronte, chairman, Allen, and W. D. Holcombe of San Angelo, a director, were here yesterday to arrange the transfer of UCRA funds to an active account.

They talked with Governor Jester, Secretary of State Paul Brown, and members of the staff of the Attorney General and the State Board of Water Engineers yesterday in regard to initiating the UCRA program, which is highlighted at this time by current construction of the North Concho River Flood Control and Reservoir project at San Angelo, and the planning of a larger lake for a 68,000-acre irrigation project on the Colorado below Robert Lee.

Would You Like to Be A Celestial Mechanic?

EVANSTON, Ill.—(AP)—Men! Looking for a job in an uncrowded vocation? Take up the study of celestial mechanics for use in interplanetary space ships.

This was the advice of G. M. Clemence, director of the U. S. P. Naval Observatory's nautical almanac office.

Celestial mechanics—no connection with "grease monkeys" who may service the space ships—is the study of orbits through the gravitational fields of the sun, earth and other planets.

Clemence, addressing the 77th meeting of the American Astronomical Society at Northwestern University, added:

"In celestial mechanics, we have an important future science.

"Navigators of space ships of the future will have to compute their orbits through the gravitational fields of the sun, earth and other planets.

"This will require a thorough knowledge of celestial mechanics, or the space ships will never arrive at their destination."
