JAPANESE YEN FOR LIFE COSTS PLENTY THIS YEAR

By RICHARD C. FERGUSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

TOKYO—(NEA)—Hungry Japanese can well pause and think of those good old days before Japan started her march of conquest. The sad history of the last decade is written in yen—depreciated yen.

In that decade, the Japanese have learned the cost of war through their empty stomachs. Here are a few of the reasons:

The 360 yen they must now pay for a single pound of sugar (when they can get it) would have bought a mountainous pile of 2400 pounds just 10 years ago. In those days, sugar cost only 15 sen a pound. A sen is one-one hundredth of a yen.

Rice, staple of Japan, has gone up from eight sen to 16 yen. Today's price for a single pound once would have fed a man and his wife for four months.

Flour is up from seven sen to 35 yen a pound. Soy sauce, used in every Japanese meal, is up from 39 sen to 150 yen a half gallon, eggs from five sen to 10 yen each. For today's price of a single egg a housewife once could have bought 200. Potatoes are six yen a pound against only five sen a decade ago.

Inflation is even roughening the course of true love.

In the "good old days" a Japanese swain could feel rich with 10 yen in his pocket. He and his girl could dine in a swanky restaurant for three yen, take in a movie for one more. A taxi home cost one yen and he'd still have money left over.

Now, for the same 10 he could go to a movie alone. Then he'd be broke.

He can't even afford to write a love note to his girl friend. Once this simple government service would have cost him three sen postage. Today the bill is one yen, 20 sen—up 3900 percent.

Clothes are just as much of a problem.

For comparison purposes, I took a picture of a rather ordinarily dressed couple on a Tokyo street and asked a haberdasher on the Ginza to appraise their clothes. Here's the result:

Man's clothes: Three-piece suit,

WELL DRESSED: Outfitting this ordinarily dressed Tokyo couple today would cost 8200 yen for the man as against 104 yen a decade ago; or the lady, 6220 yen as against 156 yen.

5000 yen (formerly 80 yen). White shirt, 800 yen (formerly two yen, 50 sen). Necktie, 400 yen (two yen). Shoes, 2000 yen (20 yen). Totals, up from 104 yen, 50 sen, to 8200 yen.

Woman's clothes: Kimono, 3000 yen (formerly 50 yen). Sash, 1000 yen (30 yen). Sash tie cord, 300 yen (10). Brooch, a necessary part of the sash, 150 yen (20 yen). Slippers, 400 yen (13 yen). Purse 1000 yen (20 yen). Socks, 120 yen (eight yen). Gloves 250 yen (five yen). Total, up from 153 yen to 6220 yen.

How much is a yen in dollar language? It doesn't mean anything to the average Japanese, of course, unless he's mixed up in the black market. But for comparison, the official exchange rate is 50 yen to the dollar (recently raised from 15 yen to the dollar). The black market rate ranges between 200 and 300 yen for $1. Ten years ago the official exchange rate was 5 yen to the dollar.

GULL BAIT
SALT LAKE CITY—(P)—Ninety-nine years ago the seagulls just swarmed into the Salt Lake valley without provocation to feast on the crickets that threatened the crops of the Mormon pioneers.

However, this year, when a new $200,000 monument will be unveiled to celebrate the arrival of the same pioneers, the commission in charge is asking for bread donations to scatter near the statues and attract the gulls.

The party will be Jan Mayen—halfway between Greenland and Norway—aboard the Norwegian polar exploration ship, "Polar Bjorn."

10-YEAR DIFFERENCE: What the pound of flour (foreground) costs in Japan today (35 yen) would have bought the 500 pounds (shown in background) ten years ago.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

man behind the man

WASHINGTON—By RAY TUCKER
WALLACE—Henry A. Wallace's prospective entry into the 1948 presidential contest as a third-party candidate may have a greater effect on the Republicans' selection of their national ticket than it will have on President Truman's political fortunes. The Iowa's trouble-making potentialities in both camps is the most sensational conversation at the Capital today.

It is generally admitted that if the political Yogi loses his turban into the 1948 ring, he will roll up enough votes in five or six states—New York, California, Washington, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado—to swing them into the Republican column. The defection of these states, which have more than 100 votes in the electoral college, would be almost sure to defeat Mr. Truman.

In fact, his veto of the Hartley-Taft labor bill was designed primarily to take the sting out of the Wallace threat. Secretary Marshall's more recent suggestions that Russia be included in his proposed plan for European economic cooperation was also aimed at Stalin's love-nester, Mr. Wallace.

THREAT—Here is how the Wallace threat of a third party will affect the Republicans and perhaps gain Governor Thomas E. Dewey's present, bright chances for the presidential nomination, with Governor Earl Warren of California, Senator Robert A. Taft or Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan as his running-mate. Off the record the three gentlemen mentioned as second-placers think that they should head the ticket.

However, suppose that Mr. Wallace decides to run as a radical, Russian candidate, and assume that he might take those 100 important electoral votes away from President Truman. That assumption, which Republican political leaders are now making, will govern their choice of a presidential slate at Philadelphia in June of 1948. Here is why:

DEWEY—The Republican War-wicks will renominate Governor Dewey, breaking a historic tradition that no defeated candidate should bet a second chance, only because they have their eyes on New York State's forty-seven electoral ballots. With F. D. R. dead, Herbert Lehman and James A. Farley in political retirement, they figure that Mr. Dewey would carry the Empire State.

But—and this is no news—the practical, bread-and-butter, back-room politicians just do not like Tom Dewey. With the possible exception of Senator Ives, a brilliant collaborator with Senator Taft in framing the Senate labor bill, he has not a single friend among Washington's publican moguls at Washington.

In short, Mr. Dewey will be nominated only if the G. O. P., wanting power and jobs, thinks that he is the only man who can win for them.

It is an unhappy and unfortunate phrase which the writer does not like to use but, by and large, the Republicans "hate Dewey's guts." He knows it, and so does Paul Lockwood, his extremely able and likable Man Friday.

REPUBLICAN—If Henry Wallace tosses his turban into the presidential ring next year, his defiance of President Truman may assure a Republican victory. The Republicans may not need New York's forty-seven electoral votes under such circumstances. They can afford to disregard Dewey.

In that event, the Republicans will name a safe-and-sound ticket. And, if Mr. Wallace enters the race, the betting is that the Republican slate will be Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio for first place and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts for the Number 2 spot.

I wrote a few weeks ago in a question-and-answer column, that I thought Governors Dewey and Warren of California, whom I admire, would be the Republicans' 1948 ticket. But that, of course, was before Henry Wallace went to town.

APOSTOLIC—The Reverend Peter D. Marshall, Presbyterian Chaplain of the United States Senate, may lose his job if he does not curb his apostolic tongue. Unlike his mild predecessors, he dares to rebuke and admonish the legislators to whom he is supposed to give spiritual guidance.

In the very week when President Truman and Secretary Marshall proposed our anti-Russian program, Chaplain Marshall, in praying over the Senate, warned them against dangers of "getting swelled heads" and "making mountains out of molehills."

Quite obviously, the Senate Chaplain is not a politician.

KING—Admiral Ernest J. King seems to be made of ice. He is a stiff, frigid person. Underneath his rascal officiousness, however, he is a delightful and charming individual.

Admiral King and "Bull" Halsey, who was King's subordinate, recently met at a Washington dinner party. Said Halsey:

"King, I once thought that you were made of ice, or worse. But from the directions you gave me out in the Pacific, and the way you handled Army-Navy strategy at Washington, I think you are tops."

THESE NOW, THAT'S AN EVICTION NOTICE. WE'LL SEE WHETHER A COUPLE OF HITCH HIKERS CAN SNEAK INTO MY TRAILER AND REFUSE TO GET OUT!

FLINTRIDGE FRED HAS EXAMINED YOUR EVICTION NOTICE AND PRONOUNCES IT MOST COMMON-PLACE AND UTTERLY DEVOID OF FRIGHTENING FOR A COLLECTOR. THE LAW, I BELIEVE, ALLOWS US TO STAY HERE SIX MONTHS.

Johnson Briefs From Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
 NEA Staff Correspondent
 (Johnson on KPBN Monday Thru Friday, 2 P. M.)

HOLLYWOOD, (NEA) — Johnson Office censors are fretting about a scene in "The Post of Harrow" in which Rex Harrison breaks down Maureen O'Hara's bedroom door with his shoulder. The boys didn't like the expression on Harrison's face. It was pain, boys, not passion. He strained a couple of ligaments.

Such is fame dept.: A woman walked up to Larry Parks in the Hollywood Brown Derby to ask for his autograph. She explained that it was for her small daughter back in Ohio. She said:

"My daughter insists she's going to marry Al Jolson when she gets up. Of course, she thinks he's you."

Ida Lupino's remark on leaving a boring party belongs with the collection of Ida's justly famous bon mots. She said: "It was a fete worse than death."

NO THURBER SEQUEL — Sam Goldwyn will not film James Thurber's "The Catbird," originally planned as a sequel to "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." They disagreed on the interpretation.

Maureen O'Hara is Katherine Mary Flannigan's personal choice for the title role of the filmization of the best seller, "Mrs. Mike."

Rita Johnson is up for the role of Selma in "Wild Calendar." It's the important role of Ginger Rogers' friend.

Jesse Lasky and Walter MacEwen plan to star Vincent Price and John Mills in Galsworthy's "The Apple Tree."

"On an Island With You" sounds more like "Under Water With You."

M-G-M Dance Director Jack Donohue will shoot under-water ballets for the next five weeks. The sets are anchored at the bottom of a water tank. One of the sequences is a tango dance under water.

MADHOUSE HOLLYWOOD — Mary Jane Ward, author of the best seller, "The Snake Pit," which is the story of a woman who lost her mind, is in town. She says she feels quite at home in Hollywood.

George Glass gives this definition of a Hollywood writer in this month's Script Magazine: "One who must write a script to please star who won't take the part unless she gets a director good enough to re-write 'the script.' Now that Andy Devine has dropped from 320 to 240 pounds his favorite chair out at Republic bears the inscription, "The Thin Man."

BOY AVIATORS AUSTRALIA TO TRAIN — CANBERRA, Australia. — (AP) — A plan to enlist youths of 13 or 14 years old into a permanent air force as cadets is expected to be an important new step in Australia's post-war defenses. Air force authorities consider that Australia's future air force must be based on steady training. The rush training of air crews and ground organization would be replaced by a more comprehensive overall system.

WE, THE WOMEN

Keep Your Husband Very Proud of You

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"Why doesn't somebody tell women that it is a lot more important for a man to be proud of his wife's looks than it ever was before they were married?"

The man who asked that question in his letter went on to say how many men of his acquaintance had married attractive girls who in a few short years lost most of their attractiveness.

He reasoned—and perhaps rightly so—that the women who grow careless about their figures and are unimaginative about their dress—just don't realize how important their looks are to the man they married.

When girls are out to get husbands, they certainly know that a man wants to be proud of his date. They'll spend two hours getting ready to go to the movies and half a day glamorizing themselves for a dance.

TAKES WILL POWER

Of course, most women—after they take on the full-time job of housekeeping and being a mother—have less time to spend on their appearance.

But with a little will power they can keep their figures. With imagination and planning they can get in enough beauty tricks to make the most of whatever beauty is theirs at any age.

All they need to remember is that it is much more important to a man to be able to say with pride, "This is my wife," than it ever was for him to say, "This is Miss so-and-so."

Drill Team Organized For Jr. Odd Fellows

There were 20 members present, including junior and senior members.

Style Extremes Embarrass Timid

The girl who is apt to feel miserable if her clothes attract too much attention had better sidestep the new and unusual until bolder misses have had a chance to put across 1947's extremes in fashions.

Take the new allure that bares shoulders or draws eyes to little lace windows in dresses. To be worn successfully, these touches first of all demand a good figure. They also require self-confidence from the wearer. A timid girl's aplomb is apt to be thrown by the notice her dress gets.

Longer skirts are definitely a fashion. But if you feel that you are conspicuous in a hemline heading for the heels, shorten your skirt. When the longer style is generally adopted, you can lower your hem and get into the swim.

Stocking shades are going dark-er. But if you hate to have your legs stared at because they look different from Susie Jones, who clings to more familiar bleigs, wait until more girls are wearing dark stockings before you switch your shade.

XXV
I MET Annabelle on the street in the late afternoon of the day before the bride and groom were expected back. I had not seen her since that dreadful evening when we broke the news of the unexpected marriage. Annabelle now greeted me pleasantly. She was carrying a great sheaf of hothouse spring flowers, daffodils, tulips, freesias.

"How lovely," I said. "Who are they for?"

"Oh, we want to make the house gay for Amy and Nelson, naturally. Amy is so fond of tulips, and I had such a hunt for them. Mama turned the town upside down in a search for a turkey, and she finally found one. Mama wants you and your father to come to dinner tomorrow night. Perhaps she's already asked you. Sam and Flora are coming, too, one else. You are practically members of the family."

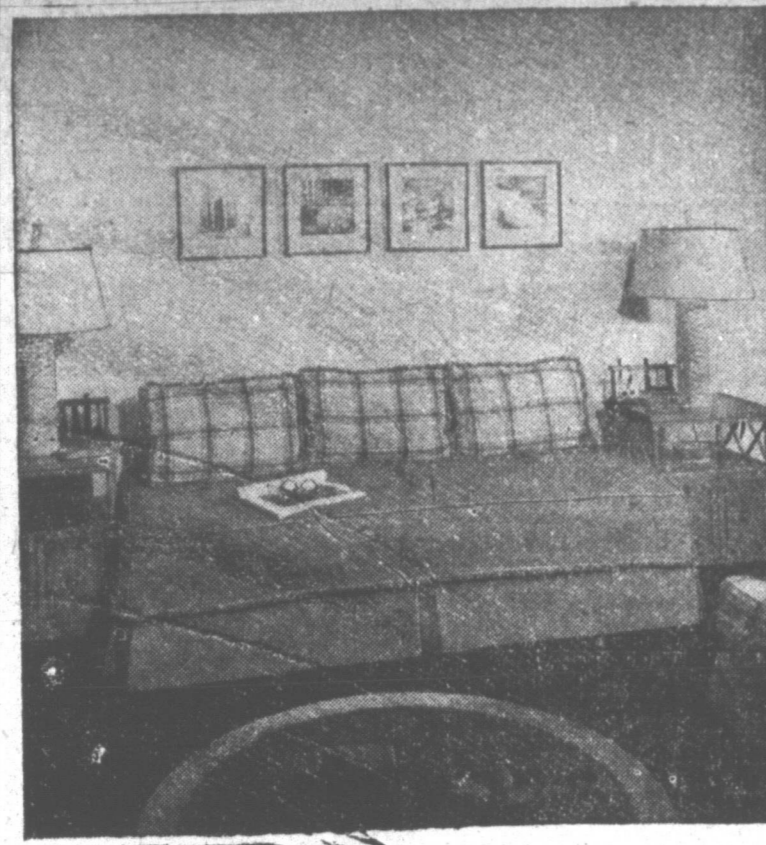

I did not much like to be thought of as part of the Tolliver family, and I was certain Mrs. Tolliver did not mean to invite us, but I jumped at that dinner invitation. Father pretended he did not want to go. He said he didn't want to be in on the death of Annabelle's like as not would put arsenic in the soup, that he hated scenes, that he was fed to the hilt with the Tollivers. Nothing, of course, short of a broken leg would have kept him away.

WHEN we went over there next evening, the Tolliver house was a blaze of lights. Weyman opened the front door, agrin from ear to ear.

"Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Forbes is in the front parlor," he said unctuously. "Mr. Sam and the missus is just this minute walking in the side door."

We all met in the wide front hall. Nelson came out with Mrs. Tolliver on his arm, Amy and Florabelle with arms around each

'American Way of Life' Encouraged

LONGVIEW.—(P)—A movement seeking to encourage "the American way of life" among adults and public school students is under way in East Texas.

Russia Has Rejected 2nd British Request

LONDON.—(P)—An authoritative British source reported today that Russia, for the second time in two weeks, had rejected a British request for "clarification" of the situation in Hungary.

A Foreign Office spokesman confirmed receipt in London of a Russian reply to the memorandum submitted to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in Moscow on June 17, but said he could not disclose its contents.

other's waists. There was much kissing and handshaking.

Nelson beamed on everyone. Mr. Tolliver had shed her gloom. Sam was gay and positively paternal toward the bride and groom. Annabelle was sparkling and witty. Flora laughed and exclaimed and applauded everything that was said. Amy said little, but she was gracious and utterly at her ease. I had never seen her look so pretty. Her hair was done a new way, curled and piled high on her head. Her dress was an exquisite shade of lightish sapphire blue chiffon, made over gold satin. Her slippers were gold, and she carried a gold mesh bag with sapphires in the clasp.

"Doesn't Amy look like a million dollars?" Flora cried rapturously. Amy did.

If there was anyone in that group who was the least ill at ease or embarrassed it was I. Father took it all in his stride. I kept looking for dark undercurrents, but apparently all was forgotten and forgiven. Amy, after a slight and becoming hesitation, took her place at the head of the table. Nelson sat at the foot and carved. Sam had provided the champagne he had promised Flora at the first special occasion.

As might have been expected, it was a rich and sumptuous dinner—oysters on the half shell, clear green turtle soup reeking with sherry, the turkey stuffed with chestnuts, endive salad, a sauce of black cherries swimming in burned brandy to pour over our ice cream. Besides the champagne we had sherry, Sauterne, Benedictine, and old brandy. Father and I all but floated home.

"Well, they all seem as happy as larks," Father said. "I haven't seen Annabelle so gay in years."

BUT Annabelle was not gay underneath. A week or so later Flora invited me to go for a walk. It was a windy day with ferry

AUSTRALIA HIDES HAND ON U. S. IMPORT POLICY

CANBERRA.—(P)—Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley was non-committal when questioned in the House of Representatives about the possibility of cuts in Australia's imports of tobacco and movie films from United States.

"The Government has not given any thought to a reduction of tobacco imports, but we do not know what will finally arise concerning dollars," he said.

Asked whether film imports from U. S. were likely to be affected, the Prime Minister said all dollar imports would be reviewed from time to time.

clouds scudding across a blue, blue sky. After about a mile Flora said she was chilled to the bone, and we turned back.

"Is Annabelle going to keep on working?" I asked as we walked homeward, Flora dragging on my arm.

"I'm afraid so. Poor Sister! I am very unhappy about her. Nelson did tell her that she could give up her job any time she wished! He persuaded Sam to join him in making Mama an allowance of $50 a month, not very much, certainly, but enough for their clothes and spending money. Of course Nelson has taken over all the household expenses. Nelson is far more generous than Sam."

"Sam gave your mother and sisters a home rent free for years."

"Yes-s, I suppose he did. But he really didn't want to. You know that."

I did not want to discuss Sam with Flora. I was shocked by her utter lack of loyalty. So I brought the conversation back to Annabelle. I said I thought it was fine of Annabelle to go on working, that I admired her independence.

"It isn't that," Flora told me. "Sister doesn't want to be independent in that way. She hates working downtown. She just does it as a slap at Nelson. She even insists on paying her board—though Nelson turns it over to Mama. She goes straight to her room every evening after dinner. She usually makes Mama go too. She keeps telling Mama that they are in the way, a burden to Nelson and Amy, that a bride and groom want to be left alone. You know Mama is a big eater, for all she's so thin. But now Sister tells her she mustn't take second-helpings and run up the bills. Poor Mama doesn't know what to think."

I went home seriously disturbed about the situation at the Tollivers. When I told father he said Annabelle had to put up with a good deal, that it was no fun to be the Cinderella of the family, that Amy was now in a position to crack the whip.

I was so surprised I said nothing. And that, as I found out later, was just as well.

Hopes to Break Record With Model T

Wonder what became of the model T? Well, Frank Hovecar, of Chicago, Ill., is out to prove it's as dependable as ever. Here he is pictured with his 1927 model T Ford in New York City prior to his cross-country take-off in an attempt to break the record of 5 days, 2 hours, and 13 minutes set by Cannonball Baker in 1926. Hovecar plans only one stop during the trip to San Francisco.

He added: "This was done to provide a means of increasing the domestic market price for wool to approximate the support price, thus shifting the cost of the support from the Treasury to the consumers of wool products. The prices of these products are already high."

The veto was not unexpected. Rep. Cooley (D-NC) called at the White House yesterday to urge such action and told reporters later the President had not frowned on his suggestion.

Good Neighbor

(Continued From Page 1) mission meeting from which reporters were barred. Mrs. Kibbe was also asked to leave the meeting room. This she did under protest.

After the session, she said she had no statement to make at this time. Smith also told reporters that he hoped nothing would happen or be said that would in any way impair the commission's usefulness in improving relations between Anglo and Latin Americans in Texas.

He said the commission yesterday did not take up a report made by Mrs. Kibbe after a recent trip to the lower Rio Grande Valley to study conditions under which farm laborers imported from Mexico are working. These workers are now being employed under terms of an agreement between the United States and Mexico.

One report here was that several members of the Legislature had objected to some of the statements made in the report. Members of the commission have been given copies of her report, but it has not been made public.

Molotov

Yesterday's expression by Poland of interest in the Marshall proposal was regarded as significant and encouraging, since Poland's oral consent, a major factor in any European recovery plan. Almost every European nation now has evinced some interest in the American Secretary of State's plan except Spain and Portugal.

PICKLED MELON

ANDARCO. OKLA.—(AP)—Jack McLane took loving care of the melon on his own watermelon vine. But he returned from work the other day and went out to make his customary evening inspection, the melon was gone.

Mrs. McLane had decided to pickle what she thought was a cucumber as a special treat for Jack Jr.

DEER HUNT

WATERTOWN, MASS.—(AP)—It's open season at Watertown arsenal on young doe hiding on the grounds, but hunters are using large, not the heavy rifles turned out by this famous gun factory.

Frightened by a passing train, it jumped over the arsenal fence and remains at large, eating dabbles from the commandant's vegetable garden.

The only language Russia understands is the language of force. For God's sake, let's don't weaken our defenses at home.

—Rep. Dewey Short (R) of Missouri.

Proposal

This in turn would play into the hands of any elements in Europe which might want to block or hamstring the initial effort in economic planning which Marshall has called for.

In this connection American officials are by no means certain that Molotov's attendance at the Paris meeting is any proof of a Russian desire to go along on the basis of conditions acceptable to the United States.

Today adequate military preparedness is our best guarantee of peace. At the council table of nations the strong are listened to, the weak are ignored.—Gen. George C. Kenney, Strategic Air Command.

I'M BACK...

And I don't aim to ever leave again. I'm cooked from top to bottom, my skin is even coming off. All my good fishing tackle is tore up, and on top of all this I'm broke. Don't ever go down to Port Aransas fishing unless you have block and tackle equipment. I did manage to haul in a 38 pounder, but that was after I put on a new 30 lb. test line. Anyway, I'm back on the job permanently, and I've got to sell somebody something pretty quick. After all you get tired of eating fish 3 times a day, 3 days a week.

Here's something that will sell real quick and I can make a small commission on it. It's a four-room all modern house. It was built before the war, the rooms are large, the floors are all hardwood - it is a good house, has a good garage and a nice backyard. This house is worth the money for what we are asking, and it will carry a good loan as it is a good house in a good location.

Here's a small one that is a dandy - about three rooms, with a small rear porch - the "Buck", good garage. The rent house in the back brings in $25 per month. Take $2500 for a quick sale.

A good half section in Wheeler County on a creek, has 40 acres of good alfalfa land, fairly improved, and it has a fishing lake on it that won't quit. Take $25 an acre, and there is around $4,000 owing that could be assumed.

Who's lost a girl dog? This is one of the cutest little dogs that I've run across. I don't believe she will weigh over 2 pounds, and her disposition is sure good. Owner may have same by contacting me and paying the board bill.

Need a good milk cow? We have two - one a 2-year-old for $115.00, the other a five for $165. These are extra good. Both fresh up, and on top of all this I'm broke. Don't ever go down to Port Aransas fishing unless you have block and tackle equipment. I did manage to haul in a 38 pounder, but that was after I put on a new 30 lb. test line. Anyway, I'm back on the job permanently, and I've got to sell somebody something pretty quick. After all you get tired of eating fish 3 times a day, 3 days a week.

One of the best farms 5 miles to Claude, Texas. 618 acres, 330 acres in cultivation, 225 acres of the best wheat in West Texas; 2-room modern stucco house, large barn, plenty granaries, corrals, good short grass, nice market garden, but that was after I put on a new 30 lb. test line. Anyway, I'm back on the job permanently, and I've got to sell somebody something pretty quick. After all you get tired of eating fish 3 times a day, 3 days a week.

We have hundreds of good listings on anything. It will pay you to see us if you are in the market to buy or sell. Right now we need listings on good wheat farms around White Deer, Kingsmill and Pampa. We can get you owners a lot of money for them.

Officer Praises Aggie Military Training Plan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An Army officer's letter released here by Rep. Olin Teague (D-Texas) praised the military training at Texas A. and M. College and said the Army would regret any change jeopardizing Army-College relationship.

Lt. Gen. C. P. Hall, director of organization and training, signed the letter. He wrote that he was stating official War Department opinion as well as his personal feeling.

In giving a copy of the letter to a reporter, Teague explained that the school's board of directors, now meeting at College Station, Texas, is considering the de-emphasis of military training there.

Teague said Texas A. and M. is rated by the War Department as "essentially military" because the students wear uniforms and military training is stressed throughout. Uniforms are worn only for drill periods and military classes at other schools having reserve officer training.

Teague, a wartime Infantry Colonel, was graduated at A. and M. General Hall's letter read in part: "For many years the War Department has enjoyed an exceptionally profitable relationship with the class MC (where military training is emphasized) as at Texas A. and M. institutions. Because of the unusual degree of concentration and interest in military training, the War Department has been able to secure from them as reserve officers a much larger proportion of their graduates than at other types of institutions."

"At this time it might be appropriate to pass on to you the information that statistics concerning ROTC production have recently been brought to my attention and reveal that the A. and M. College of Texas produced 5,342 officers for the organized reserve corps during the period 1921-1942 inclusive.

"No other school in the country even approximated the production of Texas A. and M. during the years between the wars. The greatest number of graduates produced by any other school during the same period was about 3,900.

"I can state officially that any change which would jeopardize the eminently satisfactory relationship which now exists would be regretted by the War Department and by me personally."

West Point had the first program of prescribed intramural athletics in any U. S. university.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Amaze your friends. Shame the teacher who named you the student most likely to grow up to become a moron! Take the Texas today course in Texas history! (Reading time: two minutes).

This is the second in a series explaining where Texas towns got their names. The source: member Associated Press papers in the areas named.

Park the dunes caps at the door and leave us proceed to Corpus Christi—De Pineda sailed into Corpus Christi Bay on the Catholic feast day of Corpus Christi and so named the bay. The town was named for the bay and insofar as is known, is unique in that it is the only town in the world with that name.

Gainesville—named for General Edmund Pendleton Gaines, commander of a small army outpost near site chosen for Gainesville in August, 1850.

Perryton—named for Judge George M. Perry, a Panhandle pioneer and a leading citizen in old Ochiltree, Tex., which was moved 12 miles north and named Perryton in 1918.

Alice—named for Mrs. Alice King Kleberg of the prominent South Texas family. First named Kleberg, but changed when conflict with another town's name was discovered. Palestine—named for Palestine, Illinois, by Elder Daniel Parker in 1933 when he led a group of Baptists from Illinois to Texas. So named in 1840. His original church is still in operation about 15 miles from Palestine, and claims to be the oldest still-active Protestant church in Texas.

Sherman—named for Gen. Sidney Sherman, commander of cavalry at battle of San Jacinto and one of first to raise cry "Remember the Alamo." Founded in 1846. Grayson county, in which Sherman is located, named for Col. Peter W. Grayson, attorney general in President Burdett's cabinet in 1836.

McAllen—named for pioneer Scotchman James McAllen who emigrated to Texas and was early-day border rancher. Legend credits him with single-handedly holding off 20 bandits in raid on ranch home while wife kept his rifles loaded.

Weslaco—named for and by W. E. Stewart Land Company.

Mission—for the mission La Lomita, established near there by Franciscan friars. One of earliest border settlements.

Hidalgo—city and county, named for famous Mexican priest and Father Hidalgo, one of Mexico's heroes of the battle for independence.

Pharr—named for Henry Pharr, early-day land developer still living. Returned this June to see his namesake.

Dear reader: we'd like to have more of these things. If any of you have the information and can finance a 3-cent stamp or a postcard, send the data to Jack Rutledge, care of the Associated Press, Dallas, Texas). Class dismissed.

Wave of Industrial Plant Construction Is Being Predicted

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—A wave of industrial plant construction after the government lifts its restrictions on lumber June 30 is predicted by southern lumbermen gathered here.

The group is here to bid on an estimated $2,000,000 in lumber contracts which will be let by the government.

Robert F. Darragh of Birmingham, secretary-manager of the Southern Wholesale Lumber Association, said his associates believed construction work would be started soon on an estimated $2,500,000 worth of projects that had been denied permits by the office of the housing expert. He said he expects no sky-high prices in the lumber field.

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a kid? Well, been beaten, you liked to eat—didn't know what ingredients was felt strong as an ox? As you advance the "old woman" and "ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may gain radiant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blooded cells pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula, which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloated and give off that sour food taste.

Crazy Hat Wins Refrigerator!

One of those "Breakfast in the morning" radio shows came to Capitol City last week, and Sarah Carey won first prize for wearing the craziest hat in the audience. It was a full-sized refrigerator! (The prize, not the hat.)

"Glad them hats of hers paid off at last," says Ed, treating the whole thing like a joke. But you could see he was proud of Sarah.

From where I sit, there's another thing Ed can be proud of: the way he's put up with those hats of Sarah's, with never a criticism; just as she's put up with Ed's pipe and the other little freedoms he enjoys.

They've got that refrigerator home now, stocked with beer; and we're going over tonight to drink a toast—not just to Sarah's hats taking first prize... but to a happily married couple, who've learned to live with one another's differences in tastes—whether it's a taste for hats or beer!

Ruling Handed Down in Negro-White Marriage

JACKSON, Miss.—(AP)—Chancellor V. J. Strickler ruled here yesterday that a white man who married a Negro in Chicago cannot inherit her property in Mississippi.

The ruling was made in the suit of Alex D. Miller, who married Pearl Mitchell in Chicago in 1939. The suit sought property she had owned here. The property, estimated to be worth $25,000, included a business building, two residences and several smaller structures.

The chancellor held that the property which belonged to the Negro woman before her death should go to her relatives here.

He gave as the reason for his ruling a Mississippi law which holds that any marriage is illegal if one of the participants is white and the other had blood which is at least one-eighth Negro or Mongolian.

Commissioners Court Studies Bond Issue

HOUSTON—(AP)—Indications were here today that the Harris County Commissioners Court would give final approval in the next two weeks to a minimum $12,000,000 bond issue, election for road and bridge improvements and construction of a new court house.

Aug. 23 has been advanced as a tentative date for the proposed bond election. On that date the state will hold an election for constitutional amendments.

Oilers Split Doubleheader With 3rd Slot Lamesa Lobos 4-3, 9-4

FIRST GAME

Pampa's Oilers completed their home series last night by splitting a double header, winning 4-3 and losing 9-4, with the Lamesa Lobos before approximately 1000 fans.

Left-hander Al Johnston and the Lobos' Joe Lucio locked in a pitchers' duel in the first tilt, with Johnston finally getting a close decision.

Johnston managed to scatter seven Lobo safes well enough to keep out of trouble, while fanning six and walking only one.

Lucio, although he laddered out only eight hits, got clipped for four of them in the fifth inning, that were responsible for three Oilers runs and the ball game.

The Oilers drew first blood. Second baseman R. C. Otey Allier lead-off man, singled, centerfielder Don Barclay, struck out, Otey stole second on substitute catcher Tony Fiarlo and first baseman Bob Bailey singled to let Otey home. Third baseman Tony Range grounded out. Lucio to first baseman George Sturdevant and rightfielder Ray Bauer fled out to third baseman Eddie Skrabacz.

Manager George Sturdevant, currently leading league batters with .455, evened the score to start the second with a homer and then the next batters were put down without any further damage.

Everything remained relatively placid until the fifth frame when the Oilers got their bats booming and managed three runs. Barclay, first up, fled out to centerfielder Jack Wilcox. Bailey singled, Range walked, but was caught off first for the second out. Bauer singled and T. Johnston doubled to score Bailey. Then shortstop Tom O'Connell doubled to score Bauer and T. Johnston. Catcher Bill Chambers struck out.

The Lobos rallied in the sixth but fell short. After catcher Tony Fiarlo grounded out, A. Johnston to Barclay, Sturdevant singled, Fowler fled out to T. Johnston. Then Skrabacz singled, third baseman J. B. Palmer doubled to score both Sturdevant and Skrabacz. Buckel struck out.

The WAY it LOOKS to Bob Bray

Both games last night were well above the average run of recess shows that Oilers Inc. have staged in the local park so far this season. With a total of only four errors, two per team per game, everybody enjoys the games a lot more.

First baseman Bob Bailey's flashy, back-hand catch of foul fly in the third frame of the opener was sharp, and the ball game.

R. C. Otey, Tom O'Connell and Bob Bailey all ganged up to steal bases off sub-catcher Tony Fiarlo.

The Oilers evened the score in the last of the first when Otey walked, centerfielder Don Barclay struck out, Bailey got an infield hit, and Range singled to score Otey. Rightfielder Ray Bauer fled out to Wilcox and T. Johnston grounded out. Malvica to Bailey.

The Lobos came back torrid to score four runs in each the third and fourth frames. In the third, Haskins walked, Malvica fled out to Barclay, Wilcox doubled and Fiarlo doubled to score Haskins and Malvica. Sturdevant walked and Fowler got first on a fielder's choice when Fiarlo was tagged out at home. Palmer and Skrabacz singled to move in Sturdevant and Fowler.

In the fourth, Haskins fled out to Fowler, Malvica got first on O'Connell's error, Wilcox doubled, and Fiarlo doubled to score Malvica and Wilcox. Sturdevant fled out to Barclay. Fowler doubled to score Fiarlo. Palmer walked. Skrabacz singled to score Fowler. Buckel fled out to O'Connell.

The Oilers scored a run in the fifth and two in the sixth. Otey grounded out. Palmer to Sturdevant. Barclay grounded out. Buckel to Sturdevant. Barclay doubled and George singled to bring him home. Bauer fled out to Palmer.

In the sixth, T. Johnston singled. O'Connell struck out. Chambers walked, but was forced out. Buckel to Malvica, and Al Johnston, who was pinch hitting for relief pitcher Wick Hewitt, was given first on the choice.

Otey singled to score T. Johnston. Fiarlo was issued a free ticket to first and A. Johnston came home on a wild pitch.

Mize, Cooper, Marshall Lead Giants to 9-6 Win Over Cubs

By The Associated Press

Johnny Mize, Walker Cooper and William Marshall, the Thumping Trio of the New York Giants have begun to compare them with a terrific rate that veteran observers have begun to compare them with the famous old Murderers' Row of the New York Yankees.

But even the Yankee wrecking crew of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzari, despite its tremendous slugging prowess, could not accomplish what the 1947 Giant trio is heading for.

At their current pace, Mize, Cooper and Marshall may finish one, two, three in the National League home run and runs batted in championship race. No other trio ever achieved such a feat.

Mize, Cooper and Marshall drove in all the Giants' runs yesterday in their 9-3 victory over the Cubs in Chicago. Each walloped a home run, with Cooper knocking in four runs. Mize three and Marshall two.

While the Giants hammered three Cub hurlers for 11 hits, Lefty Dave Koslo turned back the Braves with seven safes for his seventh win. The win moved the Giants a game away from the front running Boston Braves and a half game back of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rookies Harry Taylor and Johnny Jorgensen starred for the Dodgers, who defeated the Pirates 6-2 in Pittsburgh for the 21st setback in the Bucs' last 26 games. Taylor limited the Pirates to seven hits and gained his fifth victory while Jorgensen drove home five runs with a single, double and triple against his former mate, Kirby Higbe.

Frank Shea, the Yankees' sensation rookie right-hander spent his third shutout of the season when he limited the Cleveland Indians to three hits as the Yankees won 3-0 at night. Billy Johnson and Joe DiMaggio, staging a merry race, led the runs batted in leadership knock-out in the Yankees' runs to delight a tremendous Yankee Stadium turnout of 60,000 cash customers who boosted the Yankee home attendance over the million mark—1,018,082—in 31 games. It was Shea's ninth win against two defeats. The win increased the Yankees first place lead in the American League to two and a half games.

Scoring four runs in the last half of the ninth, the Cincinnati Reds came from behind to nip the Phillies 9-8 in a thriller at Cincinnati. Hugh Poland, recently acquired from the Phils, climaxed the Reds' winning rally with a pinch-hit single. Al Lakenam, who went to the Phils in the deal that brought Poland to the Reds, slammed a two-run homer during a five-run Philadelphia uprising for a temporary lead.

Detroit's slipping Tigers snarped a 10-game losing streak by scoring a 4-2 victory over the second place Boston Red Sox, but reverted to their losing ways as the Sox took the second game of the double-header in Boston 4-3.

Hal Newhouser, hard luck pitcher of the majors, won the opener for the Bengas spacing nine hits for his seventh triumph against eight outs. Dave Ferra, outlasted Dizzy Trout in the nightcap.

The third place Athletics turned back the St. Louis Browns in a night game at Philadelphia winning 4-2 behind Dick Fowler. The former no-hit pitcher needed relief from Russ Christopher, however. Fred Sanford was the loser.

Washington and Chicago in the American League and Boston and St. Louis in the National were not scheduled.

Fort Worth Cats Move to 2nd With Win Over Dallas

(By The Associated Press)

It's getting almost monotonous this business of Fort Worth and Shreveport see-sawing on the second place perch in the Texas League.

Fort Worth handed Dallas a 5-1 drubbing last night while San Antonio downed the Louisiana crew 5-2. And that means the Cats are back in second place behind Houston with the Sports shoved to third spot.

Four times straight the two teams have traded the runner-up position in as tight an intra-loop battle as these parts have seen this year.

In the only other league game last night, Tulsa swatted down seventh-place Oklahoma City, 2-0. The Houston-Beaumont affair was postponed because of wet grounds.

A five-run rally in the seventh stanza gave Fort Worth its victory over the visiting Dallas Rebels. The Cats put together a quartet of singles and three bases on balls for the uprising. Dallas scored its sole tally of the game in the first half of the seventh. Dwain Sloat went all the way for the Cats, giving out eight hits in as many innings for his eighth win of the year.

Shreveport, playing on San Antonio's home field, was behind all the way, the missions netting two runs in the opening inning. Mission hurler John Miller allowed only three hits—but one of them was a home run in the eighth by pinch hitter Er Glass. Earl Dothager and Earl (Cotton) Hill, handling the mound work for the Sports, gave up 11 hits. The loss was a bitter one for Shreveport, not only because it got knocked from second place, but because it meant bowing before the

Director Predicts '47 Scoring Contest Will Be Biggest Ever Held

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS—(AP)—Robert F. Blaine, director of the fourteenth annual national scoring contest, checked the entries today and found that every holder of an American record except one would be here July 4 through July 20.

Also competing will be last year's national champion and at least three national champions for years prior to 1946. Also the British champion, Charlie Wingfield, and the French champion, Eric Nessler, will accompany teams from their countries.

"With so many champions competing, great rivalry is bound to develop," Blaine said, "and with rivalry always being the stimulant to achievement, it is almost certain that nearly every American sail-plane record will be broken. Probably one or more new international Points for the team trophy began accumulating today. The 1946 winners, W. & M., with three contestants headed by No. two seeded Larned in the singles and two teams in the doubles, was heavily favored to repeat for this honor.

Larned, loser in the finals to USC's Bob Falkenberg last year, ousted Mabry in the fourth round, 6-3, 7-5, while teammate Bartzen furnished the day's biggest upset eliminating Flam, 6-3, 6-3. The UCLA youngster won from Bartzen in the National junior finals last year.

Well, the animal kingdom seems to be moving in on us now. Lassie, the movie dog, is the star of a radio program, and there's no telling where this may lead. In order to cut down expenses the sponsors may replace other programs, the dog acts realizing that even Jack Benny would refuse to work for dog biscuits.

There's no reason why a dog comedian shouldn't make good. Men always put the radio audience in stitches when they imitate a dog, so a dog imitating a man ought to be a riot.

From radio, the dogs might move into that other form of comedy known as politics. Canines are known as man's best friend which would make a wonderful slogan but I hope this never comes to pass. Politics is something that shouldn't happen to a dog.

The Pampa Rotary Club yesterday heard Grover C. Heard, the club's third delegate to the recent Rotary International convention held in San Francisco. In his report on the club service and international service meetings.

Heard said the convention was held during the international theme meeting that "we are still living with our foreign neighbors in theory only... and until we refrain from calling foreigners by the terms of Chinks, Greasers, Bohunks and other names we will continue to live together in theory only."

He also related some parts of the trip and tours Rotarians were taken on.

A perfect attendance for next week's meeting was urged, by the attendance committee, for the installation of officers.

Irvin Cole, who will retire as club president at next week's meeting, read the letter of commendation

THE ROAD TO SLAVERY

Abroad, the subjugation of peoples to ruthless and dictatorial government continues to an accelerating pace. The communists and their satellites are turning the clock of history back, and establishing a new serfdom which is basically no different than that of the middle ages.

In Finland, which has come squarely within the communist orbit, the government is now engaged in expropriating land, paying only a ridiculous fraction of its value to its owners. The goal is the old one of liquidation of the larger landholders. In the process all farmers will become impoverished.

Hungary has now become to all intents and purposes, a part of the Soviet Union. A government which was approved in a supervised, secret election has been driven out at gun point, and the commissars are squarely in the saddle. The secret police can be trusted to take care of all dissidents—with the hope, the pistol, and the concentration camp.

This chronicle of despair could be almost indefinitely extended. The pattern of oppression is always the same. First, representative government—which simply means government chosen by the people—is destroyed. Secondly, free economic enterprise is banished, and the state seizes or controls all industry, commerce and agriculture. Thirdly, the free press and free speech are outlawed, and a government bureau of propaganda tells everyone what they must think, say and believe. Finally, examples are made of dissenters so that all the people will know what is in store for them if they resist regimentation.

The great lesson to be learned is that the destruction of liberty is usually accomplished on a piecemeal basis. When one liberty is lost, the others inevitably follow. A free people can maintain that freedom only if every right and liberty is rigorously defended—free speech, the free press, free economic enterprise, democratic government. Those who temporize with the forces of oppression are lost without knowing it—and the only road open to them leads to slavery.

HOLLYWOOD Remember all those beautiful covers that brought Hollywood back in 1943 for the film, "Cover Girl"? There were 15 of them, and all dreamed of movie stardom.

Today only one, Karen X. Gaylord, a former Minneapolis girl, is still in pictures. All the rest have married or returned to modeling in New York.

Karen, who was a Goldwyn girl for almost three years, is playing her first dramatic part with Franchot Tone in Columbia's private eye mystery story, "I Love Trouble."

Karen—"X," she says, "is for expensive"—met Cary Grant in a Mexico City night club last winter, and they still have frequent dates to go dancing.

"He likes to jitterbug," she said. "But he does a lot of extra steps nobody ever heard of."

When the 15 cover girls landed in Hollywood, Studio Boss Harry Cohn rented a big house in Beverly Hills, hired a chaperone, and made the girls check with him before dating any of the Hollywood wolves.

"We took it for six weeks," Karen mused, "and then eight of us got mad and moved out. We never went back."

NO TIME OUT
Republic studio no longer is the "quickie" movie plant where they once filmed entire pictures in from six to eight days. But they still don't waste any time on the sets.

Walter Brennan, working there in "Driftwood," came home one night and complained to his wife that the prop eye glasses he was wearing for his role gave him a headache.

"Well," said Mrs. B., "why don't you take 'em off between scenes?" Replied Walter: "They don't give me time."

One of the RKO publicity boys asked Philip Dorn his ultimate ambitions. His jocular reply: "I should like to arrive at a postmark in Hollywood where when I have a cold it will be referred to as 'acute laryngitis.'"

A mall shop for collegians at the University of Illinois is featuring a sundae called "Dick Haynes Special." The menu says it's "two parts nectar, one part honey, served in a dream boat." The astonishing proprietor says it happened while he was on vacation.

HOSS OPBY VETERAN

Hollywood cafe comment, as overheard by Mike Markham: "I can see why her face is her fortune. She must have a thousand dollars in small bills just in the bags under her eyes."

Dane Clark "knocked out" ex-middweight champ Freddie Steele, veteran of 12 years in the ring, for a scene in "Whiplash," just as the script demanded. "And to think," chuckled Steele as he bounded back to his feet, "that I rehearsed 12 years—for this."

A Baccalaureate Sermon With a Bad Influence on The Community

I recently attended a baccalaureate sermon given for the graduates of the Santa Ana Junior College. The sermon was delivered by Rev. John Ashley, Pastor of the First Methodist Church. An acquaintance of mine who devotes a great deal of his time in trying to promote good human relations in the community remarked to me that this sermon had a bad influence on the community. I think the sermon did have a bad influence on the community because it had organized Christianity back of it thus many people thought it represented Christian precepts.

Dr. Ashley was right in warning the American people of the dangers they are facing. He stated that some 20 civilizations had become extinct. He was also right in his contention that a life not devoted to harmony with spiritual principles would not be successful. He was correct in pointing out that Jesus refused the opportunities offered him if he would take short-cuts. The reverend doesn't seem to recognize what short cuts are. At least he did not in this sermon. He repeated what he undoubtedly has heard said by some labor leaders that industrial disputes should be solved around the conference table. This is a nice sophism that on the surface sounds Christian and American. But the conference table that attempts to settle industrial disputes is licked before they start. They are not really conference tables at all.

In these conferences the labor group contends that it is the only one the employer has a right to bargain with while it, on the other hand, has a right to bargain with any employer. The labor group has set up a group of untouchables—the consumers who are not permitted to enter the conference. The consumers have no right to suggest that they are willing to do the job for less than the labor group is demanding. The whole purpose of a labor conference is not to help establish true values, but to help establish a monopoly artificial value at the expense of the consumer and other workers. There is nothing Christian or American about it because it does not recognize the inherent rights or dignity of all men.

And how can there be any successful conference on labor problems when the members of one group insist that they must have more for their labor than others are willing and able to do the same job for. That is all the conference is about—how much more the employer has to pay in wages the Joyce Reynolds and Bob Hutton are a good boy-office team. They're working in their third co-starring film, "Love at First Sight"—Maria Montez will join her beloved Jean Pierre Aumont in Paris in July.

HUGE OCEAN
The Pacific ocean is so large that both its eastern and western limits cannot be shown on a single hemispherical map.

There were two percent fewer cows on U. S. farms in 1947 than in 1946, but the 1947 cows supplied three percent more milk.

ing idealists—but they serve the turles before Marx was born. Josecause of the Communists none the less.

Some of our greatest publishers are branded as fascists, their influence impaired, simply because they have had the courage to expose the activities of those genuine fascists—and of the Red variety—who would destroy the way of life which George Washington and Thomas Jefferson fought to establish.

The word "nationalism" has come into disrepute among the innocents who have accepted the Internationalist's definition of it, which is approximately "nazism." Its opposite, "internationalism," has been glorified as to tend to discredit those among us who insist on loyalty to one and only one flag—who want no world imperialist dictatorship, whether of the variety championed by Joe Stalin or that demanded by Harold Stassen.

Principal among the agencies spreading defamation and disruptive propaganda are the Friends of Democracy who reportedly spent $15,000 to destroy Col. Charles Lindbergh as a public figure, the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith, the American Veterans Committee, the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, the American Youth for Democracy (formerly the Young Communist League), and the CIO-Political Action Committee. The list of interlocking smear agencies, however, is as long as your arm.

Some of the most subtle work of the Marxists has been that of softening up the Christian church. This job began, of course, many cen-

So They Say

The rank and file of the American people don't like this foreign spending. It's at the expense of American progress and very necessary investments here and at home—Sen. Edwin Johnson (D) of Colorado.

The Democrats by their own admission made a $23,000,000 spraying with DDT.
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

We represent the workers, hand and brain workers, the people who render services. As for the rest, they do not matter two hoots.
—Emanuel Shinwell, British Minister of Fuel and Power.

As a nation we are apt to make a blame when we are troubled.
—Navy Secretary Forrestal.

in this coming with the workers—area to extort from his consumers. Of course Mr. Ashley set down no rules by which this conference should proceed; no rules by which wages are to be determined. And how can there be any just decision when the one group is demanding special privileges that other American citizens cannot have.

Again the reverend repudiates the advice of Jesus, and even his own advice against short cuts. He says he believes in public education and that the Methodist Church believes in public education. His own beliefs, however, have nothing to do with determining whether or not public education is in harmony with God's spiritual laws which he admits we must live by if we are to live righteously. Rev. Ashley cannot cite a single solitary case where Jesus ever advocated short-cuts as an education. Compulsory education, including a short cut, it is adopting coercion and force by way of the state rather than persuasion to make people be charitable. Jesus turned his back on short cuts. Yet Rev. Ashley evidently pays no attention to the example of Jesus. If he wants to preach 'esus Christ, why does he not advocate living by the rules and examples set by Jesus?

Of course we are in a precarious position, but it is largely due to the leadership for the last forty years of the Methodist bishops and men like Dr. Ashley posing as representing Christianity and advocating fraud and compulsion rather than love and persuasion and teaching by example. These Methodist leaders know that something is wrong, but they do not know what it is because they have been advocating the very things that have brought on our confusion. And now could they know when they set themselves apart from calling for the things which are in answer questions? By doing so, they are bound to become confused and worship the organization of the church rather than the original principles on which it was founded.

Naturally the only remedy they suggest is more of the same nostrums, more of what they have been advocating for forty years. Instead of God's will, they would that all men are equally free and that we must all respect the human initiative of all, not just those of the majority or those admitted to the collective bargaining groups.

Yes, this baccalaureate sermon had a bad influence on the community.

Of course the columns of this newspaper are open to Dr. Ashley or anyone who will answer questions to explain how labor problems can be solved at a conference where the consumers are excluded, or how compulsory education can be harmonized with the precepts taught by Jesus Christ. Or if Dr. Ashley does not want to use the newspaper, I will be glad to issue a joint folder paying for space in proportion as they or meet in open discussion with any preacher holding a pulpit who thinks he can defend either compulsory education or that labor problems can be solved around the conference table where the consumer is excluded and competition is thwarted.

Land-Use Men Say U. S. Must Drain Swamps
WASHINGTON—(AP)—We Americans either must find more good crop land in the next 20 years, or we'll have to buy more of the food we eat from other nations.
Federal experts in the extent and use of our national resources make that prediction. They estimate, in an annual report of the Department of the Interior, that we will have 26,000,000 more people by 1970. They say that we can find the land we need right here at home, but that it will mean some gigantic house-keeping jobs for the federal government.
In the west great rivers race through land so dry it hardly will support cactus. In the south great swamps support nothing more than cypress and alligators.
Land-use men in the Department of the Interior say dry land must be irrigated, swamps must be drained.
There is waste even on the good land. We let 600,000,000 tons of topsoil wash into the Gulf of Mexico each year.
Major needs for irrigation, the land-use men think, lie in four main areas: the basins of the Columbia, Arkansas and Missouri Rivers and California's Central Valley.
The Bureau of Reclamation, which directs such programs, says its irrigation projects paid off handsomely through the war by boosting our food supplies.
There is a running disagreement behind the scenes over who gets to use government irrigation water. The law limits it to small holders of no more than 160 acres. But in his annual report, Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug says that this law is "occasionally attacked" by "opponents of the large farm pattern" who want water too.
Federal reclamation officers think public money should be spent so it "helps the greatest number."
Krug's report holds that communities of small holders are healthier and that more stable towns grow up around them than would spring up around huge land corporations where the workers would be little more than tenants or sharecroppers.
The Department of the Interior hopes to keep the 160-acre limit.
These irrigation projects are not a loss. They are financed so they pay back the government in 50 to 60 years. Power from the dams pays off part of the cost. The farmers themselves pay the rest.
There's another type of land the experts would like to help along: grazing land. They want to use airplanes to seed it with good grass. They say the airplane method would cost only $2 an acre as against $4 the old way. They think we'll need more and better grazing land if we want to go on eating meat at the present rate.
For the west the huge irrigated crop projects, they say, would mean new income to put a base under the present three sources: cattle, minerals and lumber.
In the midwest irrigation would keep more people on the land.
In the south the drained swamp lands, broken into small farms, might give a new chance to the workers the department expects to be displaced in the next 20 years by new cotton machinery.
National wealth is being washed away by rains, choked out by population and just plain ignored in four areas under U. S. jurisdiction: Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and the Rio Grande Valley.
The Rio Grande basin is in such a bad state the experts say its "whole economy will be destroyed" unless something is done. That over an area of 185,000 acres, 1,800 miles long, through Colorado, New Mexico, Texas and the Republic of Mexico.
Drought and over-grazing has laid much of the earth's surface bare to rains that produce flash floods, waterlog some areas, leave others arid, fill up irrigation channels with silt.
Flood control is needed, say the experts: dams, drainage systems, repairs to old irrigation systems.
The experts concede the Rio Grande valley is a complicated problem. They suggest five government agencies—Interior, agriculture and war departments, federal power commission and the international boundary commission—get together with the state governments to change the picture.
The area could be a national gold mine if we had a short of grazing land.

Federal experts in the extent and use of our national resources make that prediction. They estimate, in an annual report of the Department of the Interior, that we will have 26,000,000 more people by 1970. They say that we can find the land we need right here at home, but that it will mean some gigantic house-keeping jobs for the federal government.
In the west great rivers race through land so dry it hardly will support cactus. In the south great swamps support nothing more than cypress and alligators.
Land-use men in the Department of the Interior say dry land must be irrigated, swamps must be drained.
There is waste even on the good land. We let 600,000,000 tons of topsoil wash into the Gulf of Mexico each year.
Major needs for irrigation, the land-use men think, lie in four main areas: the basins of the Columbia, Arkansas and Missouri Rivers and California's Central Valley.
The Bureau of Reclamation, which directs such programs, says its irrigation projects paid off handsomely through the war by boosting our food supplies.
There is a running disagreement behind the scenes over who gets to use government irrigation water. The law limits it to small holders of no more than 160 acres. But in his annual report, Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug says that this law is "occasionally attacked" by "opponents of the large farm pattern" who want water too.
Federal reclamation officers think public money should be spent so it "helps the greatest number."
Krug's report holds that communities of small holders are healthier and that more stable towns grow up around them than would spring up around huge land corporations where the workers would be little more than tenants or sharecroppers.
The Department of the Interior hopes to keep the 160-acre limit.
These irrigation projects are not a loss. They are financed so they pay back the government in 50 to 60 years. Power from the dams pays off part of the cost. The farmers themselves pay the rest.
There's another type of land the experts would like to help along: grazing land. They want to use airplanes to seed it with good grass. They say the airplane method would cost only $2 an acre as against $4 the old way. They think we'll need more and better grazing land if we want to go on eating meat at the present rate.
For the west the huge irrigated crop projects, they say, would mean new income to put a base under the present three sources: cattle, minerals and lumber.
In the midwest irrigation would keep more people on the land.
In the south the drained swamp lands, broken into small farms, might give a new chance to the workers the department expects to be displaced in the next 20 years by new cotton machinery.
National wealth is being washed away by rains, choked out by population and just plain ignored in four areas under U. S. jurisdiction: Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and the Rio Grande Valley.
The Rio Grande basin is in such a bad state the experts say its "whole economy will be destroyed" unless something is done. That over an area of 185,000 acres, 1,800 miles long, through Colorado, New Mexico, Texas and the Republic of Mexico.
Drought and over-grazing has laid much of the earth's surface bare to rains that produce flash floods, waterlog some areas, leave others arid, fill up irrigation channels with silt.
Flood control is needed, say the experts: dams, drainage systems, repairs to old irrigation systems.
The experts concede the Rio Grande valley is a complicated problem. They suggest five government agencies—Interior, agriculture and war departments, federal power commission and the international boundary commission—get together with the state governments to change the picture.
The area could be a national gold mine if we had a short of grazing land.

Land-Use Men Say U. S. Must Drain Swamps
WASHINGTON—(AP)—We Americans either must find more good crop land in the next 20 years, or we'll have to buy more of the food we eat from other nations.

ONCE UPON A TIME—The strange-looking contraption above is a forerunner of today's tractor. It was operated by steam and was brought to Granger in 1890 by A. W. Storr, a pioneer of the area now living in Corpus Christi. The tractor used to do double duty, working farms and then pulling long lines of wagons to picnic grounds. Those in the picture were identified by Frank Gardner of Granger as, (left to right): A. W. Storr, Billy Denson, George Campbell and Jim Kid.

Texas Farmers Have Varied Farm Methods
By JACK RUTLEDGE

Bill Plimpen of Farwell took advantage of the rains and carefully and painstakingly worked his field to get in good condition for planting. It was a job, as usual, but he did it.
He rushed to Roy Starle's to get some certified sudan seed. Roy was out but someone directed Bill to a pile of well-filled sacks. He grabbed one and headed for home. He planted it all and needed more.
"Need another sack," he said to Roy, who was at work this time. Roy got him one. Bill was puzzled. He told Roy that the last sack he got was from that pile over there.
"That," said Roy, after a moment of silence, "is Johnston grass."
T. H. McCreary of Cayuga has an experience something like that, but not so painful.
He paid three dollars a pound for some grade of cantaloupe seed and sowed them. The crop is coming along beautifully, but McCreary isn't paying any attention to cantaloupe markets.
Cucumbers are coming up all over the place.
M. C. Nichols of Stephenville has found a new use for post oak trees. He grows orchids on them.
He set out several orchid bulbs on a post oak stump, using twine and staples to secure them to the bark. The result? Perfect. He says the bulbs came from Mexico, and will stand temperatures ranging from 10 degrees below zero to 110 Fahrenheit.
Down at Corpus Christi, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Meacham are growing strawberries in a barrel. On a barrel, to be exact.
Meacham bored 85 holes in the barrel which was mounted on a wheel so it would revolve. In the center of the barrel was placed a piece of stove pipe to allow water seepage. Sandy loam and barnyard manure was put in the bottom of the barrel.
Strawberry plants then were inserted in the holes. The pipe was filled with gravel and loam, and water poured in, irrigating the strawberries.
Now and then the barrel is turned so all plants can be exposed to the sun. The thing works fine, and the Meachams have eaten many a juicy strawberry from their "farm."

Cattle Industry Leaders Formulate Cannery Program
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—Cattle industry leaders drew up a comprehensive canneries program for Mexico today in the expectation that the U. S. border "may be closed for a number of years" to livestock shipments from the Southern republic.
The estimate of how long it may take to eradicate foot and mouth disease among Mexican herds, and thus lift a border quarantine, came from Ralph Trigg, deputy administrator for the production and marketing administration.
He went back into closed conference today with livestock men exploring the canneries proposal as a means of providing a market for an estimated 500,000 cattle ready for movement off Mexican ranches.
"The only way the Mexican can dispose of the cattle now is to put them in cans and export them," Trigg said.
A survey of how many canning plants might be required was begun yesterday in talks among ranchers from both sides of the border. Trigg said only details affecting a limited number of localities remained for discussion.
As tentatively outlined, the program would call for at least one meat cannery in every Mexican state because of limited transportation, he told a reporter. Most plants would be comparatively small and privately financed, perhaps through cooperative groups.
This country is committed to supplying technical advice and assisting cannery builders to obtain equipment and materials.
"We'll help all we can," said Trigg, who represents Secretary of Agriculture Anderson at the conference. Joining in the talks are 49-odd conferees from U. S. border states, among them Anderson's industry advisory committee on foot and mouth disease problems, and about 30 ranchers with interests in Mexico.

White Deer Speech Director Attends National Conference

Wendell Cain, director of speech in the White Deer High School, returned on June 23 from his trip to Bloomington, Indiana, where he attended the second National Dramatic Arts Conference which was sponsored by the National Thespian Society. The conference was held in the Indiana University Theatre from June 15 through June 21. More than 800 members from all over the United States and the Panama Canal Zone were in attendance. Cain from White Deer, and delegates from Lubbock High School, Jacksonville High School, and the University of Texas made up the entire Texas delegation. According to Cain, the sectional meetings which emphasized all phases of play production—direction, scene designing, make-up, radio, acting, stage lighting, etc.—high lighted the conference. The sectional meetings were conducted by such people of note as Mary Morris, an actress in her own right as well as an associate with the Drama Department of Carnegie Institute of Technology; Talbot Pearson, who founded and directed the Dallas Little Theatre, and who is also associated at present with the Drama Department of Carnegie Institute; A. S. Gillette, author, graduate of Yale University, and a member of the drama staff in Iowa University; and Richard Moore, graduate from Cornell University and dramatic teacher in Yale, University of Illinois, and Indiana University. In the general conference sessions, Cain heard among other nationally known speakers, Solomon V. Arnalde, graduate of University of the Philippines. Arnalde served as Adviser to the Philippine Delegation at the San Francisco Conference on the organization of the United Nations. At present he is deputy resident observer for UNESCO to the United Nations at Lake Success. During his stay at the National Dramatic Arts Conference, Cain met Ernest Beverly, executive secretary to the National Thespian Society. Beverly complimented the White Deer High School Speech Department highly upon its attainment in the field of drama this year in the State of Texas. He commented that he had never known of a school of the size of White Deer High School gaining more recognition and doing more good work in the field of drama than Cain and his group did this year. The White Deer School Speech Department formed a chapter of the National Thespian Society this year. This school is one among five high schools in the Lubbock-Amarillo region that has organized a chapter in the National Thespian Society.

Only about 500 natives remained in Dunkerque, France, when it was liberated from the Nazis in May, 1945.
