W. A. HARRIMAN
Secretary of Commerce Says
Keep Turning In Your Used Fats

Used cooking fats have represented a substantial part of our total industrial fat supply. The more than 600 million pounds of used fats that American home-makers have saved and turned in since 1942 has been of vital importance. It is a record of which every woman who contributed may well be very proud.

The United States still lacks adequate supplies of fats and oils. And we are particularly short of industrial fats. Many, if not most, of the things we all use and wear require industrial fats, or the products of industrial fats, such as soaps and glycerine, in their manufacture.

So won't you keep up your good work and continue to save and turn in every possible pound of used fat?

The Tollivers

THE STORY: As Flora awaits her second baby, she seems bored, complaints that Sam is stingy. Meanwhile, Nelson makes a habit of spending two evenings a week with the Tollivers. Flora's baby—a girl—is born. She names her Theodora. The child is homely and unattractive.

ALL this while the three remaining Tollivers had continued living in Sam's large house free. Early in the following year a small and not unattractive five-room cottage on the other side of town came on the market, and Sam promptly rented it for twenty-five dollars a month. He announced to Amy that he had paid the rent of the cottage for six months and that he expected the Tollivers to move into it by February first. Flora cried and protested, said she had never needed her mother as she now needed her (her third baby was then on the way), but Sam by this time was hardened to Flora's tears.

Otsego received with enormous complacency the news that Mrs. Tolliver and her two daughters were moving to a cottage on West Main Street. They had started living next to a grocery store, Otsego said; it was fitting for them to go back to it or the equivalent. Flora, by hook or by crook, had got herself one of the town's handsomest mansions, a little did she appreciate it or her many blessings, if even half the stories one heard were true. Otsego had no spark of sympathy for the fuss Mrs. Tolliver made over Flora's having a nother baby. Why shouldn't she have a baby? Instead of upsetting Flora, Otsego thought Mrs. Tolliver would be much better employed looking after Annabelle. Annabelle's long and undignified pursuit of Nelson Forbes had got nowhere. Nelson might have been attracted once, but unlike that simpleton Sam, Nelson was far too astute and thought too much of his dignity to

There was no one in the ladies' room. "Amy, does Ann... does your mother know?" I asked as soon as the door closed behind us...

AMY said she had left home this morning at the usual time, merely telling her mother not to expect her until she saw her. Father and I would have to break the news that she was not coming home for a while...

After it was all over and we were driving home alone, Father said we were none of us very smart not to have realized that it was Amy that Nelson was after and not Annabelle. He said the marriage was entirely suitable. Amy was older than Annabelle and now at an age to be willing to settle down and adapt herself to an older man's slower pace...

Detroit Tiger Fans Remember Hank Greenburg, and Wonder

(By The Associated Press)
 Currently closer to the cellar than they are to the top, loyal Detroit followers couldn't help but ponder whether their clawless Tiger wouldn't be in a higher position today if they still had last year's American League home run king, Hank Greenburg.

With Pat Mullin, their early season sensation slumping to a low 300 mark, no one on the Tigers can match Greenburg's figures.

A year ago today, Greenburg had clouted 16 home runs for the Tigers, almost half Detroit's entire total of 35 this season. That was the year besides the brilliant pitching of Hal Newhouse why the Tigers were in third place, four full games ahead of this year's fifth place team.

The faltering Tigers could put together only two runs on six hits yesterday as they went down to their 10th straight defeat when the Boston Red Sox walloped them 8-2 at Fenway Park behind Denny Galehouse, their recent acquisition from the St. Louis Browns.

The victory enabled the second place Red Sox to remain two games behind the front running New York Yankees who defeated the Cleveland Indians 8-5 at the Yankee Stadium.

The White Sox continued to plague the Washington Senators by defeating them for the ninth time in 10 meetings 10-6 in a night game at Washington. Bob Kennedy's three-run homer highlighted a sev-

Pr. esbyterians Chalk Up 17 to 1 Victory Over First Methodists

Unable to cope with the 1-hit pitching of Presbyterian's Weather, the First Methodist Seniors boys fell in humble defeat as the big bats of the Presbyterians kept Methodists' Speer in trouble through most of the seven innings. The Presbyterians scored 4 runs in the first frame as the Methodist boys committed 3 bobbles on 2 hits. All Methodist runs were unearned as big Weather worked himself into a hole in the fourth walking 5 men after allowing the only hit collected by the Methodists throughout the ball game. The Methodist had a big fourth as they scored 3 runs, but these only matched those of the Presbyterians scored in the top half of that inning. The Presbyterians tallied four more in the fifth followed by 2 in the seventh to bring their total up to 17 against 4 for the opposing Methodists.

The only other Senior boys game scheduled for last night was forfeited by the First Christian as enough boys did not show up to compete against the First Baptist. In the Senior girls league, the Central Baptist girls overpowered the First Methodist girls by the score of 23-7. Patsy Young was the winning pitcher as she pitched a good game and received good fielding support from her teammates. The winners scored 2 in the first inning followed by 5 in the second and then in the fourth they crossed homelate six times, preceded by a high scoring sixth and last inning, as they rounded the sacks 10 times for the total of 23 runs against 7 for the Methodists.

In the Senior girls league the First Christian girls did not show up to meet the Central Baptist and the game was automatically awarded to the Baptists.

Shorty Lane and Lieb Langston umpired last night's boys games while Ray Goodnight and Fred Tompson called all the girls games.

In tonight's games, beginning at 7, in the Senior boys league, the Central Baptist will meet the First (SEE SOFTBALL—PAGE FIVE)

A round little man pitched his way into Texas League history last night and credited blackeyed peas and mince pie. Bobby Hogue had come within one hit of a perfect tilt and last night he made it against Beaumont. His mates took the game by a 4-0 score.

The chubby righthander said after the game that a home-cooked meal, including blackeyed peas and mince pie, furnished the power to turn the trick. If he was joking Beaumont wouldn't laugh.

While Hogue and Dallas stole the spotlight, Fort Worth climbed back into second place in the standings with a 4-1 victory over Shreveport. In other games, Houston defeated Oklahoma City, 6-1, and Tulsa went to bed before edging San Antonio, 5-4.

It was the most perfectly pitched no-hit game in nine innings since Galveston Eddie Cole's chore against Tulsa, in 1935. Cole didn't allow a run, but he was out of the game in the fifth inning.

Jack McKinney, of Beaumont, turned in a seven-inning no-hit game earlier this season. This was his eighth no-hitter of nine innings since Cole's performance a dozen years ago. The last one was in 1942, by Joe Berry of Tulsa against Oklahoma City.

Hogue faced just 28 batters—walked one and struck out four. A three-run home run by Bob Meyer gave Dallas three runs in the fourth inning and it added one more in the fifth.

It was the ninth victory against three defeats for Hogue.

Willard Ramsdell's six-hit pitching was good enough to hold Shreveport in check while his mates picked up eight off three Shreveport hurlers. Shreveport slid back into third place.

A wild throw by San Antonio pitcher Bill Smith gave Tulsa its 10th victory in the last 12 games. Jack Cassini went from first to home with the winning run as Smith's throw hit home.

The league leading Houston Buffs jumped into a four-run first-inning lead and were never headed as they handily beat Oklahoma City.

The lineups take the field tonight. Beaumont plays at Shreveport at Fort Worth, Houston at Oklahoma City and San Antonio at Tulsa.

Oilers Fall Before Lamesa's Jones 8-1

The unorthodox portside pitching of Bill Jones completely mystified Oilier batters last night as the Lobos pounced on the Hewitt brothers, Bill and Wick, blasted respectively, for fourteen hits. Bill got credit for the loss, handing out ten of the safeties and being present when all eight runners waltzed home. The final count was 8-1.

Jones, who twirled an exceedingly fast ball, following one of the strangest windups seen here this year, allowed nine hits, whiffed seven batters and displayed perfect control when he didn't whiff a single free ticket to first.

The southpaw kept hits as well scattered as they could have possibly been placed, giving up a blooper and a double in the first inning, but not allowing a score. He then allowed one hit in each, the third, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, and two in the ninth, which let the locals ankle across the platter and barely stave off a shut out.

The win, according to the latest posted statistics, gave Jones his tenth victory in eleven starts and let him maintain his record as leading hurler in the West Texas-New Mexico League.

The Pack started scoring in third with two runs, added two more in the fifth inning and then went on to almost totally conquer Oiler with four more tallies in the sixth frame.

In the third, rightfielder Sam Malvica tied out to shortstop R. C. Oley, centerfielder Wilcox singled to center and second baseman Tony Florio was handed a free pass to the bases. Then Manager George Sturdevant, who incidentally is leading league batters with 455, and who didn't hurt his average while hitting .600 last night, slugged a double to centerfield, to drive to both Wilcox and Florio.

After Florio had fled out to shortstop Tom O'Connell in the fifth, Sturdevant blasted homer over the left-centerfield-wall with no one aboard. Tony Range caught a case of errorism to let leftfielder Fowler reach first. Following third baseman J. B. Falmer's walk to first due to interference by catcher Bob Johnston's grounder to let Fowler skip home.

Three bases on balls and three hits, all in the sixth gave the Wolveres an additional four runs and virtually put the game on ice. Malvica singled, Wilcox walked and Florio grounded out. Hewitt to first baseman Bob Bailey. Sturdevant was intentionally walked and Fowler doubled to score Malvica and Wilcox. Palmer walked, Bob Johnston flied out to Ray Bauer and Sturdevant came home on the out. Shortstop Walter Buckel singled to score Fowler but was later forced out at second, O'Connell to Oley, on a fielder's choice hit by Jones.

Ferrier, Harbert Win in PGA's Semi-Final Round

DETROIT—(AP)—Long Jim Ferrier, quiet-spoken blond Australian, and Melvin (Chick) Harbert, sunburned home-bred brunet, rode decisive semi-final victories into the 35-hole finals of the week-long national PGA golf championship here today.

Ferrier, dealing with his iron shots and readily only 41 putts for the 27 holes, swept into the championship round with a record-equalling 10 and 9 semi-final victory over Art Bell, serious-faced Colma, Calif. pro, in which Ferrier went the 27-holes in 99 strokes, nine shots under par.

Harbert, slamming his ball for amazing distances off the tees, was five under par while eliminating Vic Ghezal of Kansas City, Kas., the 1941 PGA titlist, 6 and 5.

Marshals Wallops Longview 11 to 0

(By The Associated Press)
 Marshall made up for a twin licking at the hands of Longview Sunday, plastering an 11-0 defeat of the Lone Star League last night. Ernie Reberts blanked Longview with four hits as his mates collected 11 of four Texas hurlers. Rain washed out all but one other game, Kilgore's 4-3 win over Henderson. It was the fourth straight victory for the Drillers.

The two tilts postponed because of rain were Tyler at Jacksonville and Bryan at Lufkin.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
 DETROIT—(AP)—Word brought back here from Denver is that baseball fans in this area can look for some good games at Kelamazo this week-end when California plays Yale for the National Colliate title—“That California is a real good team and sports writers out there said it showed up western league ball,” reported one observer, who admitted the western league in its first season probably isn't up to ordinary class “A” standards—the same gent also spilled a lot of enthusiasm about Bobby Layne, the Texas pitcher who lost his first game this season after two were out in the ninth inning of the western playoff final. Layne had laid off after the regular Texas season finished about a month ago and wasn't in top shape but he did a terrific job of relief pitching—in fact, the only thing our informant didn't like about that series was the weather.

GIVING IT A TWIST
 Some Wisconsin baseball fans are planning a big day for Johnny Schmitz, the Cubs pitcher, this summer and want to give him a new car—The catch is that Johnny doesn't know how to drive one—and the other day when Boston fans presented a shotgun to Ted Williams, who already has plenty of them, Ted took it, looked around and asked: “Now, where's Lou Boudreau?”

TEE TIME
 Don't be surprised if there's a big turnover in the PGA official family before long—Jim Ferrier, who's a good bet to win the PGA title today, virtually was forced into being a pro golfer. When he came from Australia he was an amateur, but he wrote a book on golf. As a result the USGA refused to accept his entry for the 1946 amateur championship and Jim decided if he was going to be called a pro, he might as well get the cash—Ferrier's victim yesterday, Art Bell says he used to play with Ferrier when Jim was in the Army at the Presidio, but he never was so hot then—“When he sank that ten-foot curling putt for a half on the 18th green, I knew I didn't have a chance to catch him,” said Byron Nelson—tells folks here “there is not even an outside chance that I'll return to competitive golf, but some of the experts figure he'll try to pick up some of George May's cash if the hotshots don't enter George's trolley.”

CLEANING THE CUP
 When the Detroit Lions go to training camp in August, they'll have seven University of Michigan players—more than have ever been in the National League at one time before—and four from Michigan's biggest rival, Ohio State—Fred Goossens, PGA tournament manager and four of his brothers plan a reunion in Boston next week. They're all in the golf business one way or another—Cal Caspe, U. of Nebraska's coach, is a trolleyman on the Lincoln police force this summer. He proved he's right on the job of handing out a parking ticket to line coach Tony Blazene.

Plans for First AAU Swimming Tournament at Shamrock Complete

SHAMROCK (Special)—Detailed plans for the first annual Plains Commission Amateur Athletic Union swimming championship tournament to be held at the Shamrock Pool on Thursday and Friday, July 10 and 11, were worked out at a meeting of coaches and other interested persons recently.

Kellum Johnson of Dallas, chairman of the Southwestern AAU swimming committee gave Bob Clark and others present many good pointers that will be helpful in conducting the district tournament in Shamrock.

Following the meeting in Amarillo, a few changes were made in the program for the Shamrock tournament, and Clark has since mailed notices of the alterations to coaches and swimming pool managers throughout the 26 counties comprising the Plains Commission.

The changes were announced by Clark as follows:

Open class AAU girls—a 60-yard 1500 meter swim and the 50-yard free style race were cancelled, and some changes were made in the diving events.

Open class AAU girls—a 60-yard free style race is being substituted

ITS OUR WAY OF MAKING FRIENDS

TEXAS TODAY

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

A Galveston business firm was glad to know that a satisfied customer of Weimar had checked his bill and found it correct.

But the knowledge apparently, was delayed in the mails. It took a cloudburst to get it to its destination.

A rain-soaked 62-year-old postal card written Sept. 3 1888 was found floating down the street in Galveston during a rainstorm. It was addressed to W. L. Moody & Co. and was signed by J. J. Holloway, Weimar.

The card was slightly smaller than today's postals and carried a rare stamp. It was only slightly yellowed, and the writing was legible.

A Bible belonging to Tommy Svoboda of Bonham, lost while he was in the army in the Pacific, has been returned to him by Capt. C. J. Berly of Bryan.

Capt. Berly found it on the battlefield near Shurt.

Everyone at an Amarillo bridge party thought they had a grand slam. It was said J. L. Adams, a near riot, Mrs. Adams preferred not to mention it, but you know how men are. Mr. Adams told all: One player arranged her hand and was started to find it contained nothing but spades. The sort of thing one dreams about. The bidding game heated.

It turned out all hands contained 13 of a kind.

Mrs. Adams son had stacked the deck before he left.

Equally surprised were spectators watching police chief L. T. Robey of El Paso destroy four slot machines. He hit the jackpot. Twenty-five dollars in paper money rolled out of one machine in a shower of nickels. The owner evidently had more change and left the roll of bills inside the machine which was confiscated during a raid.

Two trucks collided on a narrow road near Hillsboro. The drivers irately got out for the usual argument. But it didn't develop.

They were brothers—R. C. White and Bob White, both of Carlsbad, New Mexico, employed on a road project in Hill county. R. C. wound up with a fractured arm.

Texas Production Of Oil Unchanged

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—The nation's crude oil production averaged 5,123,295 barrels daily during the week ended June 21, an increase of 5,405 barrels over the previous week's figure, the Oil & Gas Journal reported today.

A Kansas gain of 13,650 barrels daily to 294,150 barrels was largely responsible for the continued upward trend in production. California's output increased 3,900 barrels to 918,700; Oklahoma was up 1,750 to 889,900, and the Eastern area gained 1,100 to 65,600.

Michigan's production decreased 9,575 barrels to 41,485; Illinois was down 4,400 to 186,000, and Indiana was off 1,100 to 37,700.

Texas production was unchanged at 2,288,950 barrels.

Testimony in Murder Trial Begins Today

SAN ANGELO.—(AP)—Testimony in the trial of Wylie R. Tomlinson, Jr., 32, Menard ranchman, charged with shooting to death Harold B. Opp in a downtown hotel lobby here Nov. 22, may get under way today.

Six jurors were chosen yesterday. At an arraignment Tomlinson entered a plea of innocent.

In 1934, Opp, 64-year-old ranchman and oil operator, and Special Ranger L. E. Trimble, were indicted in the fatal shooting of W. R. Tomlinson, Sr., in Menard county. Trimble was acquitted of the charges and the indictment against Opp was dismissed in 1942 after the Court of Criminal Appeals reversed and remanded his conviction and sentence to 30 years in the penitentiary.

Proof Given That Tree Provides No Shelter in Storm

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The familiar advice, "don't seek shelter under a tree during a thunderstorm" is fully justified by the records collected by the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. These records show that about one third of those killed by lightning are struck while standing under a tree.

The statisticians also warn against the danger of being on an open field or broad plain, or being in a small boat or in swimming during an electrical storm. The last named is a double hazard for the swimmer not only is in danger of being struck directly, but also of being electrocuted by a charge carried by the water from a bolt striking at some distance. Seeking refuge in small isolated sheds, especially in exposed areas, is likewise dangerous.

Lightning kills about 400 persons a year in the United States, or about three in every million of the population, the statisticians point out. About nine out of every ten of the deaths occur in rural areas, and they are five times as frequent among males as among females.

City dwellers are relatively safe because the steel structures of tall buildings act as lightning conductors. Occupants of automobiles are also comparatively safe even if the vehicle is struck by lightning.

ANNOUNCEMENT to people waiting for telephones

We're glad to report that the work necessary to bring telephone service to the 250,000 people waiting in the Southwest is under way again. Some of you may be wondering what effect the recent work stoppage had on your application.

In general we can say: The additional waiting time on installations will be approximately the length of the strike. In other words, add six weeks to the date we may have said your service would be ready, and you will not be far wrong.

There is really no need to call the business office. We have an accurate record of your order. And we shall get in touch with you when we are able to install your telephone.

Thanks very much for your patience and understanding.

NEW LABOR BILL IS DEFINITELY NO CURE-ALL

It would be nonsense and folly for those in favor of the Taft-Hartley labor bill to stand up and cheer today, proclaiming in dramatic voice that at long last a cure-all has been found for America's labor-management problems.

Conversely, it is not unwise, but also stupid, for opponents of the bill to rue the "ruin of the land," and that includes the statement by the President that it will "render a distinct disservice not only to this nation, but to the world."

Men have an unevitable habit of making mistakes, and, unfortunately, it takes years to rectify them. The Congress made a mistake in 1935 when the Wagner Labor Relations Act was passed into law, the major law upon which the relations of labor and management have since been predicated.

The Taft-Hartley bill which the House and Senate have passed over the veto of Mr. Truman covers a lot of territory, so to speak, but it does not solve all our problems; at least points to some of the abuses under which the country has suffered at the hands of labor unions, and seeks to correct some of them.

The bill, which, with the turning of the coal mines back to the owners out of government custody, stands to be tested in a few months, seeks to curb paralysis of commerce on a nation-wide scale by abolishing industry-wide bargaining; makes unions liable for breach of contract as the law now does management; stipulates certain "unfair labor practices," which labor is not to exercise; permits employers to have something to say about unions, whereas in the past they could say nothing. There are other provisions.

It abolishes the closed shop, inasmuch as a man may now be hired before he becomes a member of the union. This is operable, provided it is not unlawful in the state. But, according to the law, a worker is still forced to join the union after a certain length of employment. This is a partial restoration of the individual's liberty, but until it is a law that a man has to join unless he wants to, there is still an infringement of a man's personal liberty to join or not to join.

The bill will not eliminate communists from unions, although there is a clause which says they cannot belong. The bill makes a decided forward step in that it gives the unionist the right to know what he is striking about before he is called out on strike. That was one of the deplorable facts relative to the recent controversy at Borgert. There, at least a portion of the workers did not know what the strike was about—not to say the least, just what "preferential seniority" meant.

The bill permits a worker to receive his full paycheck without "check-off dues" having been taken by the union. Under the new bill he recovers some of his liberty, in that he has the right to refuse to pay the union for any kind of insurance, welfare or relief that he does not want. That sounds American.

Of the old Wagner bill, Rep. Hartley, one of the authors of the new bill, had this to say to the press a few days ago:

"Twelve years ago, Public Act. No. 198—which our bill amends—sought to establish the false doctrine of class division. But this . . . nation of ours is established on a firm foundation than class attachments and antagonism. The Constitution of the United States derives its vitality from the spiritual truths it expresses. These truths are the real laws to which we as employees and employers must adjust ourselves. Our new national labor policy is designed to accomplish that adjustment and to assure the observance of constitutional principles in all our labor-management relations."

It must be noted that, although this bill is to be a source of controversy for years, the overwhelming vote given it in both houses is convincing proof that it is not a step in the wrong direction.

San Antonio Man Leading Salesman

GALVESTON—(AP)—The top selling agent of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. is Le Roy Numme of the San Antonio agency, according to an announcement at the regional sales convention underway here.

Other leading sellers were announced as Gail Blake, Oklahoma City; I. W. Gillette, El Paso; and Mrs. Alma Ware Croy, Houston. The leading managers of the ten agencies represented were recognized as O. P. Schnabel, manager of the San Antonio agency, and W. E. Fletcher, manager of the Tulsa agency.

Leo Douglas, manager of the El Paso agency was presented a service pin by Ralph C. Price, president of the company from Greensboro, N. C. for his record of 20 years service. I. W. Gillette, agent from El Paso was presented a pin for his 15 years service, and Gail Burnham, agent from Oklahoma City, received a pin for five years of service.

★ THOUGHTS

Then Aetrippa said unto Paul, Al-met, thou hast persuaded me to be a Christian.—Acts 26:28.

If all were perfect Christians, individuals would do their duty; the people would be obedient to the laws, the magistrates incorrupt, and there would be neither vanity nor luxury in such a state—Rousseau.

AVOIDING WAR by Upton Close

The inevitability of war between the East and the West appears to be a foregone conclusion with a growing number of people.

Yet it is my belief that we could easily avoid this third war if our administration had the clearness of vision and the courage to do so.

The Russian giant eventually will be its own Frankenstein. It is our cue to speed the day. A slave nation cannot provide the things human beings want—including individual freedom—and no small group of overlords can rule the world for long.

Communism, which has swept the world like a raging storm, is by way of blowing itself out in the Western Hemisphere, now that our monstrous wartime mismanagement with the Soviets has broken up in the inevitable brawl.

But Moscow agents are still making headway in France and Italy and their machine is rolling westward. They have convinced millions of European workers and peasants that Communism has done wonders inside Russia. They have convinced other millions, who disbelieve this story, that the Red Terror is coming and cannot be stopped.

With a preponderance of truth on our side we have done little to counter this propaganda. It is our job to launch an all-out propaganda offensive to glorify freedom, the enterprise system, the way of life which is generally recognized as the Christian civilization. It is our job to snatch aside the blackout curtain and reveal the stark truth.

But we should do this job primarily through willing and eager resistance groups—natives in each country—just as the Soviets are do-

NATIONAL AIRLIFT

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER
STRUGGLE—The threatened postwar struggle between aggressive western interests—industrial, agricultural, public power, shipping—and ancient corporate and banking groups in the East has broken out savagely on many economic fronts at Washington. Seemingly unrelated battles that appear to be based on mere personal and political issues stem from this sectional, backstage contest.

Scrapping party lines and differences, western legislators, both Republican and Democratic, demanded and obtained restoration of funds for reclamation, conservation and hydroelectric projects—Bonnieville and Grand Coulee dams—that were cut by a House Appropriations Committee dominated almost wholly by eastern men.

The conflict does not center on Capitol Hill alone. The angry bloc from beyond the Rockies, out for a better break on railroad rates from the Interstate Commerce Commission, maintaining that the recent increase was "chicken feed."

They seek larger Army-Navy contracts to keep in operation the vast airplane plants that line the Coast from Seattle to San Diego. They demand a House program for rebuilding our lapsed and feeble merchant marine.

DUEL—In all these fields, of course, they collide head-on with the industrial and financial structure—an economic ice mass, so to speak—on which the present and future prosperity of the East has been and must be built.

Geographically speaking, it is a duel for supremacy—or at least equality—between the East and New York. New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and the fresh young economic empire that reached and realized its power and industrial and civic groups, and especially the chambers of commerce, of every city in their area—San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Seattle, Portland, etc.—to wage this politico-economic war at Washington.

The coastal bloc, for instance, charges that the House did not eliminate almost $200,000,000 from the Interior Department Bill which carries funds for western projects, for economy reasons alone. They maintain that the reductions were deliberately designed to cripple the various industries which were thrown up during the recent conflict.

These will need vast amounts of water power, and yet the most advanced economies were practiced in this field. The expected and expanded working population will require larger supplies of food, too, but there were deep slashes in appropriations for reclamation and irrigation and soil conservation, affecting areas from Washington to West Texas.

RESOURCES—In assailing these so-called "false economies," the spokesman quoted the Hoover and Vandenberg warnings on the depletion of our natural resources as well as the Truman-Marshall demand that the U. S. must continue to supply many foreign nations with food, raw materials, minerals, etc. Ironically, when Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming sounded this note, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan was presiding over the chamber.

Union States Stand On Slow Production
MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Efforts by any industry to curtail production and consequently cause unemployment will be opposed by the Mexican Federation of Labor (CTM) Federation spokesmen said today.

Labor Department approval of slow down production and lay off workers had been obtained by some mining and textile companies because market demands had declined.

CTM said, "in some states serious problems of unemployment are resulting. In the opinion of the CTM most of these agencies could not only maintain production but increase it, particularly cheap textiles."

HUNGRY FURNACES
The steel industry needs more steel to keep its furnaces going every day than the total tonnage of steel required in the building of two Empire State buildings.

It up and make it useful. I do not contend that propaganda alone will topple the giant, though it might well turn that trick. We should not depend on it. We should also aid the European mar-jorities who have been forcibly disarmed and consigned to the wall to fight back. We should encourage their resistance and make it easy for them to procure and smuggle across their borders vast quantities of small arms—hand grenades, "gas pipes," time bombs, long-barrel revolvers, light rifles.

Not because we wish to get involved in Europe's struggles, but because we already are up to our necks in them, the colossal bungling, and because we do not wish to do their fighting for them.

By feeding a constant stream of small weapons into Europe's underground, resistance groups, we precipitate such a rash of sabotage and uprisings as to make it impossible for Soviet puppet regimes to carry on. Transportation and communication would soon be disrupted. Police could operate only when heavily reinforced.

A comparable program might well be effected inside Russia, in which case Stalin would soon find it necessary to call home his harassed Red legions.

The time for such a counter-campaign is now, while resistance is strong and Soviets not yet ready to make war on us. I urge such a program some months ago, as some readers doubtless will recall. We are foolish if we keep on sweet talking the rampaging bear, while at the same time spending billions to maintain military forces with which to fight the bear.

CHAIRMANSHIPS—The westerners also charge that the legislative setup in both chambers is packed against them in that eastern men control the chairmanships of all the important committees. Their charge is accurate, but the East's supremacy results from the system of seniority, as well as the fact that the complainants' states voted Democratic during the Roosevelt regime.

Of sixteen important committees in the House, for instance, the West has only one chairmanship—Representative Richard J. Welsh of California, who heads Public Lands. Of eleven in the Senate, only one key committee is headed by a westerner—Senator Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, who rules Finance.

The areas which dominate both chambers in respect to chairmanships are New England, New York, New Jersey and Michigan.

SUFFERERS—The West suffers even more grievously from the makeup of the extremely important House Appropriations Committee. Here again, they have lost out under Republican control, because of the 1921 law loyal to the New Deal. They have no G. O. P.-ers near the top of the list.

Twenty-five of the forty-three men on this body hail from east of the Mississippi River. The three top Republicans are John Taber of New York, Richard B. Wigglesworth of the Boston banking family, and Charles A. Pliny of Vermont, who was a banker in private life. The three ranking Democrats are Clarence Cannon of Missouri, Louis Ludlow of Indiana and John H. Kerr of North Carolina.

On the Senate Appropriations, however, the setup differs. Although Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire is chairman, the West has twelve of twenty-one members. Under the system of senatorial representation, too, they enjoy greater power in the upper chamber, especially in the case of a deal with southern members. In their present temper, they will make a deal with anybody to get their rights.

Dr. King Answers
Rose Wilder Lane

In the last issue I ran Rose Wilder Lane's answer to Dr. Willford I. King's letter. The subject is profit motive.

These letters were the result of a luncheon given to a group of individualists in New York by the writer, Dr. King's answer follows:

"Dear Mrs. Lane: Thanks for your reply of May 8th. I am glad to have your additional points of view. I fear, however, that I am still unconvinced.

"First, as regards the Southern slave owners. How do you explain these facts?

"1. If there was a widespread feeling among slave owners that slaves were unprofitable, how did it happen that slaves were always salable at high prices?

"2. If the planters considered slave owning unprofitable, why was it that the prevailing doctrine in the South concerning slavery gradually shifted from the Jeffersonian point of view that slavery was an evil which should gradually be eliminated, to the Jefferson Davis point of view that slavery was a positive good?"

"3. Why did not the slave owners enthusiastically endorse the Breckenridge Compromise, which would have enabled them to unload their slaves on the Federal Government?"

"4. Why were they willing to fight a war to keep their slaves, if they considered them more or less of a nuisance?"

"As to the United States being does not this concept now have about the same degree of reality as does the concept that England is ruled by the King? Once both ideas were true, but in each case it was a long time ago.

"It seems to me that your descriptions of life in barbaric societies illustrate, beautifully, not having a very active imagination, does not sympathize with the misfortunes of a Merditi. Therefore, the altruism of the former does not extend outside of his own tribe. Under such conditions, individual enterprise and individual freedom cannot exist. Under such conditions, as Walter Bagehot pointed out, in his Physics and Politics, solidarity is the price of survival. Only when people begin to take an interest in the public welfare and apply the principles of the Golden Rule, is it possible to have isolated farms not surrounded by isolated farms on day and night by armed guards.

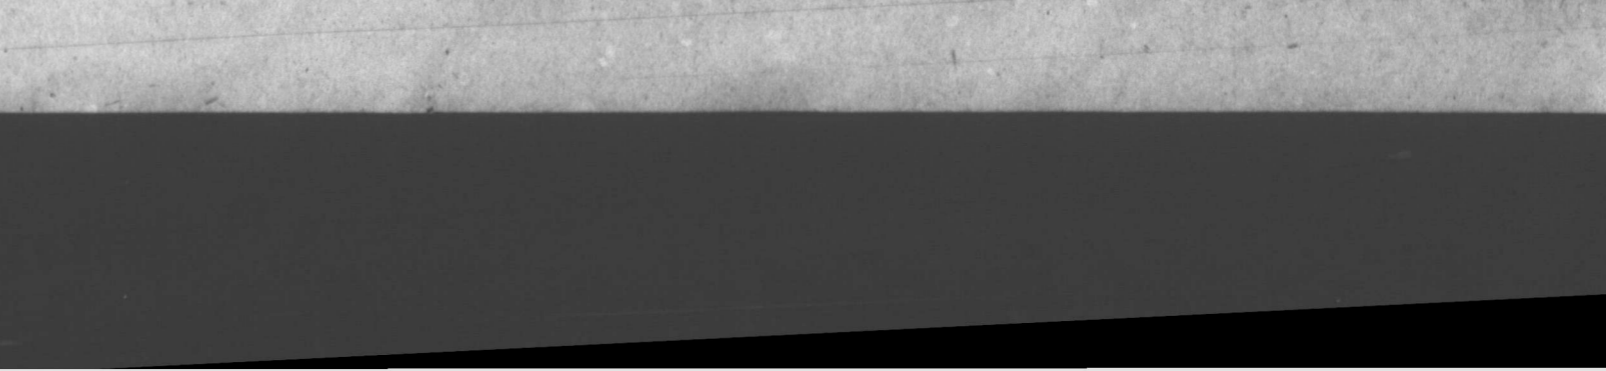

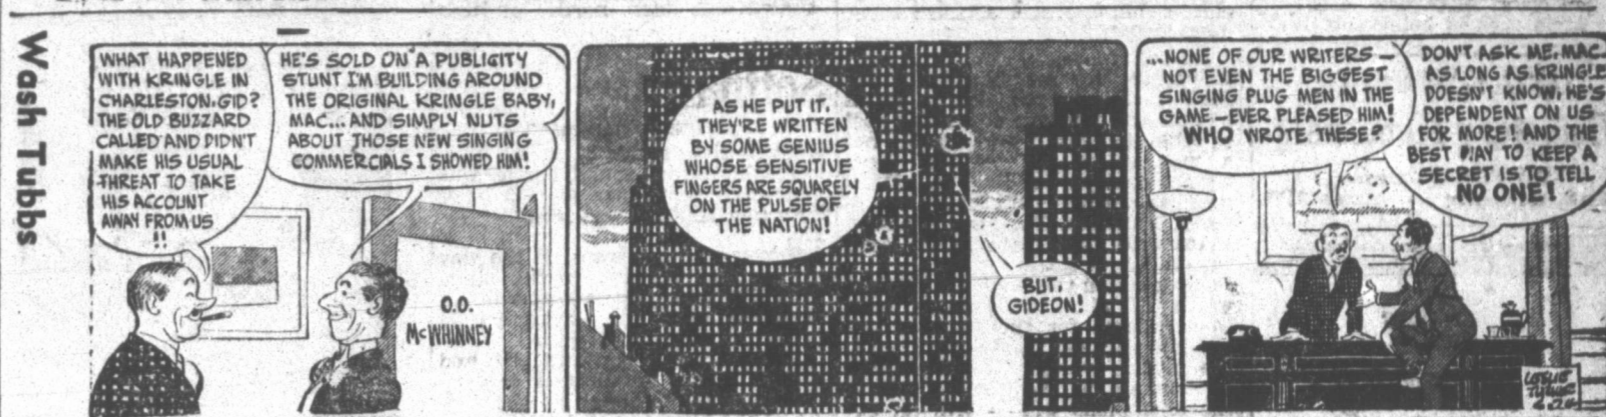

"While I still believe that the profit motive is the mainspring of production in a free society, I do not believe that a free society can flourish unless the majority of its members are decidedly altruistic in nature.

"Again thanking you for bringing up for discussion this interesting subject, I remain

"Very sincerely,
"Dr. Willford I. King."

Services Are Held For Canadian Women

CANADIAN. (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Etta Pool, 84, who died here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Bryant, Saturday night, were held in the First Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, with Rev. Joe E. Boyd, pastor of the Methodist Church officiating, assisted by the Rev. Fern Miller, pastor to the Baptist Church. Etta Palmer was born at Kankakee, Ill., in 1863. She moved to McCune, Kan., when still a young girl and later moved to Colorado, where she taught school. She was married to J. L. Pool at LaJunta, Colo., in 1891 and the couple located near Guthrie, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. Pool moved to Canadian in 1938. Mr. Pool preceded her in death in 1939.

Survivors are: two sons, Glen, Wichita Falls, and Harold, Lela; her previously mentioned daughter, Lela; one grand daughter, two great-grand children and several nephews and nieces.

Floods

(Continued From Page 1) of floods—the third in as many weeks. In Ottumwa, Ia., Mayor Herman Schaefer said the Des Moines river was "acting differently" from the two previous floods, and persons in south and west Ottumwa were being evacuated. The weather bureau predicted a stage near 17 feet in Ottumwa—some three feet below the two previous crests.

In southwestern Iowa, Hamburg prepared for new flooding on the Nishnabotna which crested at Red Oak during the evening after flooding about one-third of the town.

About a dozen trains were stalled at Carroll in western Iowa, where water receded after the Raccoon river brought the city its first flood in history.

The company previously announced that to supplement its own output it for several months has been buying products from other manufacturers and bringing the equivalent of a trainload a day from Texas points, and undertaking to move about 10,000 barrels a day of crude oil by tank car from West Texas and Wyoming into the middle western refineries.

"Even these drastic and high-cost expedients will not make it possible to meet the full demand which has developed," officials said.

First Soap Box Derby of 1947 Is Already Held

Approximately 10,000 people watched as 13-year-old Lorne Nicholson nosed out a victory down a 1,000-foot course on Main Street of Mission City, British Columbia, in the first official Soap Box Derby of 1947.

The Frazer Valley Record race was run June 9 as the outstanding feature at the annual Strawberry Festival of the Canadian town, approximately 45 miles southeast of Vancouver. It was the first of 135 similar races which will be held this summer in communities all across America, in the United States, Alaska and Canada.

In each of the 135 communities, a local champion will be selected in the hometown race. These champions will go to Akron, Ohio, August 17 to represent their communities in the national and international championship races of the All-American Soap Box Derby.

Young Nicholson won in a field of 14 contestants in the final race. Other entrants had been eliminated in earlier races. He is a sixth grade pupil in Mission Central School and has had his heart set on the trip to Akron.

"Gee, I hope I can do it again in Akron," was Lorne's first thought after winning the Mission City race. Pampa's Derby will be run July 20, on the Old Miami Highway.
