WOULD CHANGE INSANITY LAW BY AMENDMENT

Suspended Sentence Act Also Would Be Changed

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Constitutional changes to modernize the state's method, in part, of handling the war and the mentally ill and criminals, were proposed in two amendments submitted at a special election August 24.

The one dealing with commitment of mentally impaired persons to state institutions would be an exception to a court construction of the constitutional injunction that "the right of a trial by jury shall remain inviolate." It would not affect the right of a person to a jury trial on criminal charges.

BERGDOLL--WORLD WAR DRAFT DODGER--SUBMITS NEW TERMS OF SURRENDER TO ROOSEVELT

'SLACKER' OFFERS TO GO TO PRISON AND PAY A FINE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—An offer by Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, to return to the United States as a civil prisoner if military court martial charges against him were dropped was given a cold reception today by Attorney General Cummings. "We decline even to discuss the case until Bergdoll surrenders to us," he said.

Cheerful after an operation for removal of a goiter which for 15 years half-blocked her throat, Mrs. Amelita Galli-Curci, pictured above with her nurse in a Chicago hospital, is learning to sing all over again. In three months, the internationally famous singer hopes to accustom herself to control the air volume doubled by the absence of the growth she had fondly termed her "potato."

MOTOR DROPS OUT OF PLANE NEAR GILMER

PILOTS, 2 PASSENGERS ARE CHARRED BY FLAMES

GILMER, Texas, Aug. 15 (AP)—Two Delta Airlines pilots and two passengers crashed to flaming deaths in a cotton field 12 miles west of here early today after the left motor of the big tri-motored plane tore loose and fell.

Early investigation revealed the plane had only two motors when it crashed. The missing motor had not been found at mid-morning.

Trapped and subsequently burned beyond recognition were: Andy Dixon, Monroe, La., pilot; Herbert Bulkley Jr., Dallas, copilot; J. W. Thompson of Atlanta, Ga., passenger; P. A. Ivy of Birmingham, Ala., passenger.

It seems that Centennial funds have been asked for everything essential except that of teaching Texas history to Texans.

Emperor Belasie refers to his mountains as God-given. But Mussolini has been too busy to remember the wedding ceremony about "what God hath joined."

A "seer" over at Roswell scared a lot of folks by predicting that the town would be wiped out by a wall of water. Cattlemen with thirsty herds feared it wouldn't.

The meanest man would, if the mill token coins are minted by Uncle Sam, be a fellow who would pay his employees with the things.

Nose-awings are the latest in sunburn prevention. Joe and Clarence Kennedy had none on his fishing trip.

Musings of the moment: The West Foster grouch says if these pneumonia-breeding nights won't cure the hay fever what will vegetation burned up in daytime. He is unable to fathom why anyone would hike away to the mountains for a cure. But, he adds, he has no hay fever. He chews tobacco. . . . We don't say that to bacco chewing cure hay fever but we've never been around a sneezer with a mouth full of cut plug, and we hope we never shall be.

Brevitorials

YE OLDE PAMPA Spirit is rising. Sap may rise in the spring, but it takes the fall weather and first cool nights of late summer to put the ginger into Pampan's. The Denver Post tournament was the starter. Pampa prestige was at stake. The Road Runners stayed right in there and won headlines galore, much admiration, and a bit of money.

NEXT COMES THE Pampa baseball tournament. If all those persons who phoned THE NEWS about the Denver tourney will attend the home event, the financial hazard incurred by the Jaycees will be trivial. Actually, the youngest men are abdicating a hazardous load in guaranteeing $1,000 first money and incurring the extensive other prizes and expenses involved. It should be a matter of Pampa pride to support the tournament with attendance.

ATTENDANCE IS THE key to the success of many organizations and events. Pampa indeed is that city in which public concern, especially musical, are well attended. And unfortunate is any organization whose members infrequently present themselves. . . . It is unfortunate that so many persons join the same clubs, pling time-consuming meetings on those who can least afford to attend them all. It is true that a busy man will perform an additional function more efficiently than an idle one, but the busy man is more often absent when he is needed.

AND SOON, FOOTBALL! Pampa football has just two stages: 1. Preliminary training to meet Amarillo's Sandies, and 2. Meeting the San-Jes. This year it will be no different from last, and the year before, and the year before that. Both cities will be as nervous as young fawns and as suspicious as a coyote sniffing around a barn-yard. Rivalry can reach the point of absurdity, but genuine hard hitting rivalry is what makes football the grandest of all games. You can have baseball games, and fights along the baselines, perhaps a charge at an umpire, but you don't see Johnny push that cocky rival's head into the mud as you do in football. Success of his community last year fails utterly to overawe the Harvesters this year. And as usual it is unfortunate that two such powerful outfits should be in the same district.

You've Read of News Behind the News

YOU'VE READ of news behind the news. It is in common with most others, can keep a secret. For instance, several months ago Mark Huselby, pioneer settler living southwest of Moebette, received several extortion notes demanding it was reported among officers, $6,000. A contact was arranged. Sandies searched diligently for clues. Study old pioneer that he is, Mr. Huselby resolved to resist every effort to fleece him. . . . The trail has grown cold, expected notes have not arrived. Residents of his community have learned of the plot, which is widely talked in South Gray county. THE NEWS would have broken the story in screaming headlines. Good judgment indicated that this would have prevented any possible contacts. The story was never written. This paper kept its word with the SURVEY SHOWS ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Many a resident of a large midwestern city the other day undoubtedly read with a combination of doubt and shame some figures taken from a survey of the city made by the government with the aid of CWA and FERA work-relief people.

The figures showed: THAT 8805 families in that city's metropolitan area are living in homes unfit for human beings to dwell in. THAT there are 29,258 families without tubs or shower baths. THAT 3867 families are without running water. THAT 5702 families still light their homes with kerosene lamps.

THAT there are 14,108 families without the sanitary necessity of a private indoor toilet. All this is no reflection on that city, which was Cleveland Ohio. Official figures on conditions elsewhere show that there are many cities which do not stack up so well. In fact, Cleveland is one of the better cities in regard to its general standard of living.

Of course there were also redeeming features, showing the efforts that are being made to advance the standard of living. For instance, there are 88,151 wage-earners in the city who ride to work in automobiles. There are 57,201 families using electric refrigerators. There are 14,203 families with two or more automobiles.

It is not necessarily a black picture at all, for it shows clearly that many, many thousands of workers are living in a comfort that could scarcely be imagined by workers in an other country in the world. Nevertheless, the inadequate standard available to even a small minority is a blot on any city and a danger. Surveys like this are the first step toward improving the conditions they expose. For unless we first get a clear picture of our shortcomings, it is hard to move toward better things.

Every city would do well to think about these statistics, for no city can afford to allow such conditions to exist without making a determined effort to better them. Further, the potential domestic market for housing, plumbing, lighting, and similar improvements is clearly shown. It waits for the time when the people lacking those vital things get enough money to buy them.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Dr. Rex Tugwell has so many publicity breaks and they almost unanimously have been bad. No wonder the Resettlement Administrator has developed a fine abhorrence of personal publicity. Lately a new crop of raspberries has been picked for hurling at Tugwell because he has lodged a division of his organization in the very swell McLean mansion, which has always been one of the capital's show places and is certainly no less of a show place now that the Resettlement Administration is taking it over.

You will find plenty of people to say that this shows how the New Dealers aren't satisfied with ordinary office space and that it proves they are very crackpotty indeed when they insist on working in the gaudy palace where the McLeans used to have their famous New Year parties. But the fact is that this place rents 50 cents a year a square foot cheaper than any office building space Tugwell could find.

Dr. Tugwell wishes he could find some more mansions and he doesn't care who knows it.

Roosevelt and other administration leaders have been somewhat comforted about that Rhode Island congressional election by confidential reports showing that much more than the New Deal issue figured in the contest, despite indications to the contrary in most dispatches. The administration's poor position in New England is still conceded and everybody knows the processing tax—anathema in New England textile areas—counted heavily against Mr. Prince, the defeated Democrat.

But the seeming absence of other local issues to help account for the bad trouncing Prince received was what made the party leaders here so glum.

Current advices, stressing the fact that Republicans polled only 48,000 votes in the district as against a supposedly rock-bottom party vote of 49,000 in 1934—whereas the Democratic vote slipped from 70,000 to 35,000—say that thousands of Democrats stayed home.

The long-standing row between Irish Catholic Democrats and French Catholic Democrats popped up again. (It came to a head several years ago, when a French leader was excommunicated by the Pope).

Prince had been in opposition to the Rhode Island bishop and had become regarded as pro-French. But Prince couldn't even capture all the French vote, because Risk, his opponent, is of half-French extraction.

The Governor Green faction of Rhode Island Democracy was strongly behind Prince, who had been state treasurer, but the liberal hard-boiled group, led by Tom McCoy, was sour on both Green and Prince.

Also, you could find plenty of Rhode Island voters who were fed up at the way the Democrats were jumping around from office to office.

Congressman Condon, Democratic incumbent for the district, had jumped into a judgeship almost as soon as he was elected. Prince was trying to jump out of the state treasurership. The practice was getting to be rather a bore.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. (AP)—Attorney General McCraw has proved to his satisfaction that fame is fleeting and a batch of press clippings mentioning his name is no more than passing notice.

McCraw, a practical politician, likes to mingle anonymously with the voting public as a means of checking himself and others prominent in the political field.

Often he will drop into a restaurant in a country town and casually seat himself near a local citizen. After getting the conversation moving he inquires about the political situation as a preliminary to the question:

"What do you think of this fellow McCraw as attorney general?" "You would be surprised at the number of persons who don't know who the attorney general is and who care less, apparently," McCraw said.

This situation, however, was reversed when McCraw put the question to an operator in an East Texas oil field restaurant during his visit recently to that area.

"What that guy said about me was fearful," McCraw said. "I just sat and wondered if he was talking about me."

To confirm his suspicions about the lack of interest of the people generally in their public officials, McCraw has made some interesting experiments. He is willing to wager that in a city of 50,000 or more nine out of 10 persons, if questioned suddenly, would be unable to name both of Texas' United States senators.

Five would know the name of one senator, he thought. A slightly higher average would know who is governor. McCraw estimating that six or seven out of ten would give his name correctly.

Two out of ten may be able to name the attorney general, McCraw said. People in smaller towns are better informed.

McCraw believes former Governor James E. Ferguson is the best known man in Texas public life, due chiefly to the length of time Ferguson has been in politics and the stormy battles that have centered around him.

Governor Alfred, because he is in office, and former Governor R. S. Sterling, he believes, are among present and former state officials best known to the public.

Humble Is Strongest Team Road Runners Have Played

Game Will Not Start Until 9:15 This Evening Here

They'll turn on the lights late at Road Runners park tonight. Fans, however, will not care because of the treat that will be in store for them when 9:15 o'clock rolls around.

At that time the Pampa Road Runners, back from a successful invasion of Denver, where they took third money in the Denver Post tournament, will meet the fast Humble Oilers of Overton, second place winners, and incidentally, the team that eliminated Pampa from the running.

Not satisfied with meeting in a single encounter, the two teams will tangle again tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock, just to finish the three-game series halted in Denver when Chambers bested Chofy of Pampa in a great hurling duel.

With the lineup reading like a Texas league all star team, Humble will be the strongest team to face the Road Runners this year. Manager Dutch Krauss, who is catcher for the Oilers, gathered the best in the country for his trip to Denver and Pampa fans who saw the games, still declare that the Road Runners and the Oilers were the best two teams in the tournament. They were the most popular with the Denver crowd also.

Besides having an outstanding defensive team, Overton has a bunch of hitters. Six of the eight players who were in all six games ended things by hitting 300 or better. The Road Runners were not far behind their East Texas rivals, four of the

GREYHOUND TURNS IN RECORD TIME IN HAMBLETONIAN RACE

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 15. (AP)—Winning $18,670 in the light harness horse racing's premier event with a colt hailed as the greatest trotter since Peter Manning would thrill most people, but not the veteran Sep Palin, who yesterday drove Greyhound to a straight heat victory in the Hambletonian.

"Sure I liked to win the money," said the 57-year-old Indianapolis horseman after seeing the grey speedster bedded down for the night at Good Time park.

"But honestly, I got no more of a kick out of it than winning a $300 race."

Maybe it's because of the habit that Palin of turning up with two minutes performers. He's driven several of them, including three great pacers: Winnipeg, His Majesty and Star Etawah, all owned by E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., as is Greyhound.

Under his guidance Winnipeg hung a record of 1:57 1/2, a world record for geldings, at Toledo "birds" hitting over the coveted mark.

Neither manager has named starting hurriers for tonight's battle. The Road Runners will have Lee Daney, Joe Berry, George Bulla, Bill Hardin and Carl Stewart. Overton will have Ed Chambers, the lefthander who eliminated Pampa, F. Jones, Lefty Fuhr and Beach.

In 1928, while His Majesty paced a mile in 1:59 1/2 last year to establish a new mark for four-year olds. He drove Etawah over a mile in 1:59 1/4 four years ago.

"Greyhound is the greatest trotter I have ever handled," said Palin, who has been training horses for 30 years.

"If he remains sound, don't be surprised to hear of him lowering Peter Manning's mark when sent along the rail against time with running horses as pace makers. Mr. Baker and I fully intend to send him after the mark."

Peter Manning hung up his international mark of 1:58 1/2 in 1922 as a six year old. Greyhound traveled the two heats yesterday in 2:02 1/4 and 2:02 1/4, for the fastest time ever turned in by a winner of the Hambletonian.

GAME PLAYED BEFORE BIG CROWD UNDER LIGHTS

Larges scores and plenty of errors are associated with playground ball games, but not so in games played by the Skelly-Schafer No. 1 plant team west of Pampa. Last night, meaning after dark, the Skelly team defeated the Panhandle Drug team of Panhandle 3 to 2 in a remarkable exhibition.

The game was played under the new lighting system installed in a picturesque setting between the beautifully kept residences and a number of oil wells. Fourteen reflectors, each with a 1,500 watt globe, perched on top of high towers, gave the field light of 21,000 watts.

Cars surrounded the playing field as the Skelly team, wearing bright red suits purchased by the P. K. One service station, took the field. The Panhandle team, wearing yellow suits, also took the field.

Ed Hayes took the mound for Skelly, opposed by Slick Naylor. Hayes went the first two innings, allowing only one hit, a double by Sparks in the opening inning. Fred "Wimpy" Hayes relieved his brother in the third and was nipped for the two runs and two more hits. He was a little wild, walking three batters.

Naylor allowed the fast Skelly team six. They were well scattered excepting in the third inning when two hits went for two runs. A passed ball and three errors proved costly to the visitors.

Skelly went to the front with two runs in the third. Searle singled and advanced to second when Smith was safe on a ball left in the lights. Searle injured his ankle sliding into second and had to leave the game. Both advanced on a passed ball and scored when Johnson erred.

Panhandle got back a run in the fourth when Naylor singled, went to third on an error and scored on Carhart's hit which went for a fielders choice when an effort was made to get Naylor at home.

The visitors tied the score in the fifth when Luster walked, went to second passed ball to third on an error, and scored on a play at first.

Skelly took the game in the last half of the fifth. J. Smith was safe on an error, stole second and scored on Ed Hayes' timely single.

Panhandle pulled three unusual plays in the last half of the sixth after Jackard had singled. Each of the three succeeding batters hit to shortstop and the base runner was forced at second on each occasion. Sparks to Billingsly.

Skelly presented, besides an excellent battery, a first baseman of luxe. He was J. Smith who will be lost to the team when West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon opens. Jackard at third and Pfaff in center field also played nice games.

Carhart on first base for the visitors, Sparks at Shortstop and Felts in left field showed up to advantage.

at the curb in Maxwell street behind the wheel of a brand new creation, painted a Kelly-green, sat the King of Krakows, fish-eyed Levisky himself, with sister Leaping Lena Levy, her hair another shade of red, finger nails painted ruby color, in the back seat.

"Old Fisheye, his white shirt open at the throat and wearing no tie, bellowed his intentions to continue in the prize ring.

"Hey, you ouse, you're just the guy I been looking for," he hollered. "I want you to put it in the papers that the Kingfish ain't through yet."

"So you're going to continue in the ring?" Levisky was asked.

"Huh," he replied blankly, then smiled cunningly.

"Sure," he said, "why not? The next time I'll use my knob. I didn't use my knob when I fought Louis. There's the rub. Palsy-watsy. If I had used by knob I wouldn't be where I was at."

"That's right, King, you tell 'em," screamed Leaping Lena. "That bum hit you, enough on the knob. It's in the belly where you should take 'em. You can say for the Krakows that Fisheye ain't through. The King ain't dead. He's coming back. And he'll fight with his brains—with his brains, I'm telling you. And any bum that says difference, I'll wind a crowbar around his neck."

Since Joe Louis, the Detroit bomber forced the King of the Krakows to surrender in less than a round a week ago, the Kingfish has been in, what he termed, "exclusion," driving his new motor car, trying to forget. But questioning quickly brought the fight back to him. His interviewer wanted to know how it felt to be wanted by the Bomber.

Fisheye pulled his 200-pound frame out of the seat, then sat down again.

"Say, I'm telling you," he replied, "After I got that first belt on the chin, I didn't know what it was all about. I was dumb, I mean dumb. After that my mind was blank."

READY MADE WIFE

Chapter 22
REX RETURNS

Albery's smooth voice was a command, Laurie accepted it as business. Perhaps he wanted to make corrections in the report.

"I will go and telephone my sister," she said.

When Albery came into her office, he said:

"Mrs. Moore, I didn't mention it on Sunday, but this fuel that we are working on is a secret. I suppose Moore has not told you about it?"

"Oh, no!" she said warmly.

"I knew he hadn't. But I would just like you to know. It is a very important discovery. It will give us a great advantage in the air when we get it right. That is one of the reasons why I am glad to have you doing my private correspondence."

"Of course, I should not mention it to anybody," Laurie said, and added in a slightly stiff voice: "I do not talk to me about his profession."

"You must be excited about his return. He will be a greater hero than ever. I thought I would mention about the fuel being a secret, but I am sure you are the soul of discretion." Then, with his flashing smile, he added: "When we get the fuel right, perhaps we'll call it after you, Laurie! Prettier than B. F. or Pratt's, or Mex, or Ethyl, isn't it?"

She laughed in natural amusement, but grew apprehensive again, as he said quietly:

"I hope you have quite forgiven me for what I said the other day. It has been painful to me to remember that I lost my self-control. I wanted to speak of it at Pen Grettton on Sunday, but I hadn't the pluck."

Her discomfort was swallowed in a swift rush of pity. Why should this man be apologizing to her so humbly? This man who had done everything for her, given her a place in the world, an interest in life, self-support and self-respect. Of course, some brain crisis must have overcome him when he had told her that he loved her, when he had tried to take her in his arms.

"Please, Mr. Albery, don't say anything more about it. I shall never think of it again."

"There is one way in which I don't want you really to forget, Mrs. Moore," he persisted, with that little smile that made his face so old and so inscrutable. "I only want you to forgive me. But I don't want you to forget that if ever you need a friend, I am here. And I am not ashamed of your knowledge that it has made me unhappy that you have come too late into my life."

Laurie looked at him with an embarrassed but grateful smile. She could not help feeling flattered and honored.

Behind his impassive Oriental mask Mark Albery was at that moment asking himself questions that would have amazed her.

"How can I get her? What is there under her skin? What is it that I want in her? What is she really like? Or is there dust in my eyes? Is she a Sphinx without a secret? Why does she send me mad? Why can't I live without her? Can I buy her? Does she care for money? Is she in love with Moore? If she is, I'll get rid of him. I'll risk hell to get her."

Mad, delirious, chaotic thoughts behind that impassive face that Laurie glanced at now and then in profile from her seat in the big car. But, on the surface, only an elegant man of the world, an appreciative employer, helping his efficient secretary out of his car in front of a restaurant in the Strand.

About an hour later, Rex Moore rang the bell and the flaxen-haired sea and the porter deposited his light luggage in the hall when Gladys opened the door.

"Oh!" exclaimed the girl, who knew him at once from his photos in the papers, but was rather over-comed by his size and vitality and his outlandish clothes. "It's Rex Moore, isn't it? I say, Laurie isn't in?"

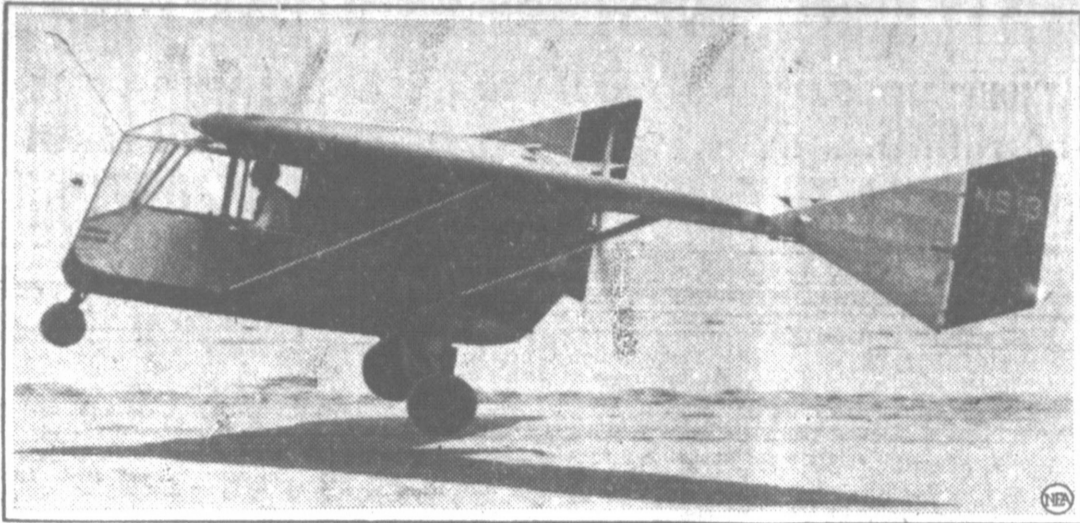

"Isn't she? And you're Gladys?" He wrung her hand, and she was quick to feel the pulsing life of that grip, like an electric shock.

She stared at him.

"She wasn't expecting you. She rang up a little while ago to say she was late at the office and was having dinner with Mr. Albery. She said she wouldn't be home."

Late at the office. The good old man's excuse—now in the months of women! Rex Moore gave an angry little laugh that Gladys didn't

Flying Auto Here! Now Watch for Sky Traffic Jams

"Let's take the old car and go flying for an hour" may become the national evensong if the amazing craft pictured above fulfills the promise of its inventor. Tested in Los Angeles, Waldo Waterman's "flying auto" amazed spectators with its efficient performance, and it will be given further tests in Washington. The plane is tailless, has propeller and pusher-type motor at the rear of the cabin, with elevators and rudders on the wing tips. Powered with a 95-horsepower air-cooled engine, the plane attains a top speed of 110 miles an hour. Waterman estimates that it will cost about $1000.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History

(Note: This is one of a series of articles taken from the 300 special collections of family archives in the state and placed in the Texas Library. The collections cover all periods of Texas history, from the earliest days of the Spanish missionaries in the province of Texas, through the colonial era, to the present. This series of articles presents interesting excerpts from a number of these family collections, some chosen for their intrinsic value, and some chosen for their historical interest.)

AUSTIN, Aug. 14.—Not only did Oldeon Lincoln, early Texas pioneer physician and naturalist, become familiar with various primitive Indian remedies in the healing of the sick, and practice them, to the intense disapprobation of his fellow-practitioners, but on at least one occasion he ventured into the realm of the psychic.

In a letter written from Long Point, Texas, August 31, 1858, and addressed to his friend C. B. Steward at Danville, Texas, he tells of an incident that was apparently as amazing to him as it is today. After narrating numerous personal anecdotes concerning domestic life, farming, and his personal avocations, he relates a story of the illness of his wife, whom he calls "the old lady," as follows:

"If I had thought sooner, I should not have been guilty of boring you with all this nonsense. I should have spent the time in narrating an occurrence of more interest to you; an occurrence which is calculated to excite into action, a higher plane of thought, than anything I have been running on about, can do. And now as my candle is so short, I shall not be able to do more than just to touch the leading features of the case.

"About the first of July the old lady, from improper, and unnecessary exposure to the sun, in a garden, took violent cold; in a few days she became fevered, it assumed the intermittent type, and being all the time afflicted with an exceedingly harassing cough, she daily grew weaker. My sons, two of them, were attending to her case, and were doing all that an earnest application of a pretty extensive knowledge of disease and medicine, could do. But she continued to grow worse. She had been confined to her bed 3 weeks when on a closer examination one night, I discovered from her worn down appearance that if some very efficient remedy was not speedily had, she could not survive longer than two or three days. I was shocked at the thought, and retired, without speaking to my bed room, to try if I could not think of something that would check the disease which was now so rapidly hurrying her to dissolution. Having labored very hard all that day, I was fatigued, and I lay down to think over what was to be done in the sad dilemma. And after worrying my mind through a long catalogue of unsatisfactory medicines without hitting upon any in which for the present case, I could place any reliance, I unconsciously dropped to sleep. When, immediately, and at the moment I was falling into the unconscious state, my father's voice, in clear, distinct, commanding tones, said, 'Gid, why don't you mesmerize Sally, and let her lungs bleed?' He in his lifetime, always called her Sally; and it was now spoken, and sounded so familiar, that I was instantly startled up, and aroused to full consciousness. I lay still and thought of it for sometimes but as I am often started by various causes at the moment of falling to sleep I finally concluded that the present case must be attributable to the same cause; and resuming my reflections on the old lady's case, continued to search for a remedy that might be applicable, until I dozed off again. About two hours after (20 minutes after midnight) and when I was in the deep, sound sleep of the laboring man, the same voice, still louder and more authoritatively, repeated the same words, 'Gid, why don't you go and mesmerize Sally and let her lungs bleed?' By the time the sentence was finished, I was thoroughly awake, and I was on my feet, and moving towards the house. Barefooted, and all, just as I jumped out of my bed I passed into the sick room. The untrimmed lamps were casting their dim rays over the silent scene, and there lay the sorely afflicted old lady, just in the position she was when I left her two hours before, turned partly on her side, head and shoulders elevated; eyes half closed, nose peaking, upper lip contracted, mouth open, breathing spasmodic and short, as if striving to suppress the cough. I noiselessly glided up to the side of

EAGLE PASS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Fifteen years after a revolutionary hanging, the heirs of Dinitrio Castro have come into possession of the only bequest of the slain federal customs inspector. Searching recently in the shallow grave where he was buried after being hanged by a group of De La Huerta revolutionaries, they discovered a gold watch that had been given him by his wife and a 20-peso gold coin.

Castro was stationed at a lonely outpost between Zaragoza and Piedras Negras when he met his death. The revolutionary band rode upon his camp as he was preparing dinner. While they ate his meal they left him in his grass hut for ten minutes and then took him to a nearby tree, bound his arms and hanged him. As if he had expressed the two wishes as the noose was drawn around his neck, Castro was both avenged and exonerated by his family.

Nine years after the hanging, Castro's son, now a grown man, stood outside a Del Rio barber shop with a pistol in his hand. When the man who led the party that hanged his father walked through the door, freshly shaved and his hair neatly combed, he was greeted by four bullets that left him gasping in death on the sidewalk. His assailant was arrested but later freed.

With the permission of the Mexican government Castro's sons last week uncovered his grave and were conscious of the other wish he had made: that the two gold mementoes would not be stolen by the revolutionaries but left with his body for his heirs. The watch and the coin were hidden in the heel of his shoe while he was waiting in the hut to be hanged.

Myrna Loy Breaks With M-G-M Firm

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Myrna Loy, the freckle-faced and blue-eyed film actress who became a star in a year, announced today she has broken her contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Her attorneys, charging the company has broken the contract, served notice on the producers. The action followed several months of differences between the actress and the company.

"I deeply regret the step that I have been forced to take," Miss Loy said, "but there have been stories about my demands which are so absurd as to need denial."

"The simple fact is that although my services have been continually available to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, they have refused payment of my salary and issued publicity to the effect that I was to be made a test case."

"There is nothing about my case which is a test of anything but the company's sense of justice. The contract I was induced to sign held me for several years, although the company could get out of it at almost any time."

"I was given the customary assurances its conditions would be adjusted if I achieved stardom. I have also begged for stipulations such as the right to have an occasional holiday. The manner in which I have been handled finally led to a near-breakdown."

Miss Loy's attorneys maintain the film company has forfeited any future right to her services.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the poison and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your kidneys give you backaches, may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, head aches, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS.

Mutton Brings High Prices In San Angelo Area

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Information from the sheep ranges is that the muttons are selling for October delivery at new high prices for 1935, and advice from cattle-raising sources state that some ranchmen in the Mason county section are refusing 7½ cents a pound for fall delivery of fat calves.

Grazing in West Texas is the best in many seasons and livestock is fattening on the range. Prospects are that some of the fattest cattle in years will be marketed from this section while it is expected that more sheep and cattle will winter in West Texas than in many years.

Dick Arnold of Marathon received the top price for his lambs when he sold 4,000 to Fort Davis buyers at 7 cents for the muttons and 7½ cents for the ewes.

Ranchmen in the Brady section sold 6,000 calves to Jacobs Brothers of Kansas City at 6½ cents a pound for the first lot moved, and a slightly higher price for later shipments. C. R. White of McWhorter county sold some of his livestock to Kansas City buyers. Active offers of 7 cents have been made for steer calves and refused.

Ranchmen believe that the government estimate of 2,206,000 lambs produced in Texas this year is much too high and many are holding.

Offers of $2 for kids and $3 a head for nannie goats are being refused by many growers. Luther Ridd and Budd Morris of Goldswate sold 4,500 roats, ages one to four years, to Robert Raney of Uvalde for $2 a head.

Lee Aldwell sold 2,200 mutton lambs to A. L. Neal of Rochelle, fall delivery, at 6 cents. Pat Jackson of San Angelo brought 5,00 mixed lambs for fall delivery at 6 cents. Many have been contracted at Menard at 6 to 6½ cents a pound.

Holdup Slaying Suspects To Be Returned Today

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Dallas county officers were expected to return here from Oklahoma today with three men wanted in connection with the poker game holdup last Sunday near the Denton county line which resulted in the killing of Robert Williams, 40, of Lewisville.

Two Fort Worth brothers, Buck Terry and Jack (Richard) Terry, were held at Walters, Okla. Charges of murder were filed against them here and Sheriff Smoot Schmid and two deputies left for Walters last night to return them.

Two deputies went to Norman, Okla., to return a man held there. Williams was shot and killed when he failed to obey quickly the orders of the holdup man.

CARDINALS AND GIANTS DIVIDE DOUBLEHEADER

50,866 PERSONS SEE BITTERLY FOUGHT BATTLES

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

The opening battle of the current intercontinental battle in the National League has gone a long way toward making the "crucial" aspect out of the New York visit of the challenging St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs.

Despite the world series atmosphere at the Polo Grounds yesterday when 50,866 cash customers saw the Cardinals and Giants divide a bitterly fought doubleheader, the day's results left both the Cards and Cubs with slender prospects of taking the lead in the immediate future.

After taking a 6 to 4 setback in the opening game, the Cardinals needed four straight victories over the league leaders to take first place by a few percentage points. Then they won the second clash 3 to 0 when Bill Hallahan helped himself along toward a shutout victory by smacking the first home run of his major league career.

The Cubs, meanwhile, took a double drubbing from their former "custians" the Dodgers, wiped out the odds of the percentages which had left them behind the Cards on percentages and trailed St. Louis by a half game and New York by 3 1/2 games.

If the Cards should manage to sweep their three remaining games with the Giants and the Cubs should make a similar cleanup against Brooklyn the standing still would look this way:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Cardinals	67	41	.620
Cubs	68	42	.618
Dodgers	70	45	.609

Dizy Dean, who remained in his hotel with a slight cold, is expected to hurl for the Cards today against either Roy Parmelee or Hal Schumacher.

The day's real profits were recorded in that section of the standing when pennant hopes were growing faint if they haven't already been abandoned.

Along with Brooklyn, the fourth-place Pittsburgh Pirates and the Buccs knocked off the Phillies 8 to 1 and 7 to 4, while Boston went on a swatting spree that netted 27 blows and trimmed Cincinnati 8 to 1 and 11 to 5.

The Tigers turned their "heavy guns" on Washington pitching and hammered out an 18 to 2 decision, putting together six-run innings against Buck Newsum and Mildred Hayes. That again increased their lead by six games. The Indians turned back the Yankees 7 to 6 when O'Dell Hale's ninth-inning double with the corners crammed produced the deciding pair of runs.

The Red Sox consolidated their hold on third place in the standing by beating the White Sox 7 to 1 behind Fritz Ostermuller's seventh-inning pitching.

The Athletics, with Jimmie Fox swatting two homers to bring his season's total to 22, bowled over the Browns, 8 to 2.

INDIANS HOLD FIRST PLACE BY 6 POINTS

BOTH OKLAHOMA CITY AND TRIBE WIN GAMES

(By The Associated Press.)

Beaumont made a fruitless two-game rush Wednesday to close the gap between the Exporters and the league-leading Oklahoma City Indians.

As the Beaumont nine flipped the Fort Worth Cubs back into the cellar with a double win, 7-3 and 8-3, the Indians defeated the third-place Galveston Pirates, 3-1, to hold first place by six percentage points.

It took tight pitching by Fred Stuley, veteran southpaw, to give the Indians their win. Stuley allowed eight scattered hits and bested Max Butcher, the loop-leading hurler. Butcher allowed nine hits, among them a homer by Jim Kessey, Indian first sacker.

Led by Rudy York the Exporters launched into an extra-base hitting spree in their victories over the Cubs. York smashed out three hits, including a homer and a double, in the first game, and got a single and a double in the second. Steven Larkin struck out eight men in the last game for the Shipcats, whiffing three in a row in the third inning.

The Houston Buffs defeated the Tulsa Oilers 12-6. Rizzo for Houston got three hits. Eight of the Buffs' blows were for extra bases. Dallas and San Antonio were rained out.

OLD-AGE ANNUITY SECTION OF SECURITY BILL IS EXPLAINED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—This is what the old age annuity section of the social security bill would do to and for the twin Doe brothers.

The two—John and Jim—will be 30 on January 1, 1937, the date that section becomes operative. Both have jobs paying them $200 a month.

In 1937, 1938 and 1939, they will pay a 1 per cent tax on their salaries—a total of $72 each for the three years. After that the rate increases gradually to a maximum of 3 per cent beginning in 1949.

John Doe keeps his job and continues to make an average of $200 a month until he reaches 65. At that age, he has paid $1152 to the government, and his employers has paid a like amount. John is entitled to a monthly pension of $66.25.

His brother Jim, however, has not been so fortunate. He remained employed only 20 of the 35 years. In those years taxes were paid on $48,000 of income.

When he reaches 65, though, he gets a pension just the same. The amount is arrived at this way: He is entitled to a monthly pension of one-half of 1 per cent of the first $3,000 of his total salary plus one-twelfth of 1 per cent of the remainder—a pension of $15 plus $37.50, or a total of $52.50 each month.

The monthly pensions to both continue until their deaths. This is what happens when they die: Taxes have been paid for John—The one who worked the full 35 years—on $84,000. The bill states that he is entitled, therefore, to benefits totalling $2,940. If at the time of his death the total monthly pension payments to him add to more than that amount, his heirs get nothing. If they add to less, his heirs get the balance.

For Jim, however, taxes have been paid only on $48,000. Therefore, he is entitled to pension benefits totalling 3 1/2 per cent of that amount, or $1,680. If his pension payments total less than that, his heirs get the balance; if they total more, the heirs get nothing.

Under the system, the smallest possible benefit is a lump sum payment of $52.50 to a person who paid taxes for 5 years on a $25-a-month salary. The biggest is an $85 pension for an individual who earns $250 a month for 45 years.

Effects Of Dead Post Man Sought

POST, Aug. 15 (AP)—In the investigation into the death of J. W. Huff, whose body was found floating in a tank near here five days ago, officers today sought the dead man's larval, bride, and spurs.

Two tanks were searched for the missing articles yesterday, and a call of inquiry into the death was postponed in the belief the articles might be located and light might be shed on the mystery.

"It's my idea he did not commit suicide," District Attorney G. H. Nelson said.

Huff's body was found two days after he had shot his son, Jack, apparently by mistake. The youth is recovering from a wound suffered when the tenant farmer fired on him from behind a clump of bushes.

A total of 366,492 automobile tourists entered California in the first half of 1935.

Mrs. Arnold Is Ranked No. 2 For Wightman Match

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Although not ranked among the official American "big ten" Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, diminutive California tennis star, has been given one of the principal assignments in the United States' defense of the Wightman cup tomorrow and Saturday at Forest Hills.

In the draw for the 13th series with the British, Mrs. Arnold was picked for the No. 2 singles position, next to the three-time American champion, Helen Jacobs. She replaced Mrs. Sarah Paley Fabyan of Brookline, dropped to the No. 3 post.

Singles matches—five singles and two doubles—compose the two-day series. The American forces will be going after their fifth straight cup triumph.

In Friday's matches, Miss Jacobs faces Katherine Stammers, British left hander and the only player to defeat Mrs. Helen Willis Moody in her recent comeback campaign.

Mrs. Arnold plays Dorothy Round, top ranking English star and 1934 Wimbledon champion. In doubles, Miss Jacobs will team with Mrs. Evelyn MacGregor against Miss Stammers and Freda James.

Testimony Heard In Johnson Trial

GATSVILLE, Aug. 15 (AP)—The trial of Mrs. Ethel Johnson of Dallas, featured by testimony that the defendant visited her son in a pool of blood and that she had sent her daughter-in-law a jar of poisoned preserves, was resumed today.

Mrs. Grace Foresigh yesterday testified that she had visited Mrs. Johnson, being tried for the alleged slaying of Mrs. Bernice Davenport Blankenship, the daughter-in-law, in Dallas and that the defendant posed as a fortune teller.

Mrs. Foresigh declared Mrs. Johnson said she saw young Joe D. Blankenship, her son, "in a pool of blood."

Mrs. Johnson was charged with killing her son, but the accusation later was dismissed.

Mrs. W. E. Davenport of San Angelo, stepmother of the allegedly slain woman, testified Mrs. Johnson sent a jar of poisoned peach preserves to Mrs. Blankenship in March, 1933.

Another feature of testimony yesterday was Leslie Thompson's failure to identify a gun the state claimed was used in the alleged killing.

Thompson had said Mrs. Johnson had exhibited a gun to him shortly before the alleged slaying.

The American Museum of Natural History, New York City, which has sent expeditions into jungles, deserts and mountains of foreign countries to gather animals for museum groups, plans to collect specimens in the United States to round out state exhibits.

SNOWDEN SAYS WORLD WAR IS IN PROSPECT

POWERS ARE LEAVING ETHIOPIA TO BE 'BUTCHERED'

(Viscount Snowden of Labouchere, former British chancellor of the exchequer and labor leader, broke a five-minute radio silence yesterday when he wrote the following article for the Associated Press on the eve of the tripartite conference in Paris for discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. Viscount Snowden was branded a dangerous pacifist when he inveighed against war in 1914.)

By VISCOUNT SNOWDEN (Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

TILBORN, Surrey, England, Aug. 15.—The Italo-Ethiopian dispute has in it all the elements of a world war.

International affairs are now so interrelated an apparently trivial incident may have immense unexpected consequences.

The murder of an Austrian archduke was the match which set into a huge conflagration combustible material which for years had been accumulating.

The elements constituting the present menace to world peace are the territories of the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia may be summarized as follows:

- 1. The covenant of the League of Nations and the Paris pact make an isolated dispute the business of the signatories to these documents. 2. Unprovoked attack by one of the nations upon another member of the league compels the league to come to the assistance of the jeopardized nation. Under the Paris pact such an attack becomes a violation of international law and morality. 3. If Italy persists in her declared intention to attack and conquer Ethiopia, then her action is clearly in violation of both the covenant of the league and the conditions of the Paris pact. In the event of war and the league must, if it discharges its obligations, take military or economic action against Italy.

There is no doubt about the intentions of Italy. Mussolini has made these intentions abundantly clear. He has for all practical purposes already declared war.

He has been massing troops on the border of Ethiopia for months, only waiting for suitable climatic conditions to launch his attack. He has repeatedly stated that league or no league he will persist in his determination.

One certain outcome of this war will be to unite the colored peoples of the world. There is no doubt in all the colonial possessions of the European powers will break out. This will create a situation the outcome of which is incalculable.

Three powers are now meeting in Paris to talk. It is certain they will do nothing but talk. They will frame a meaningless formula and leave it at that. Mussolini will go on with his war preparations and when autumn comes will make his attack and launch at the weak spirited council of the league.

The European powers are, in fact, by their cowardice accessories to Mussolini's actions. They are preventing military equipment from being sent to Ethiopia and this will leave that country practically helpless against the powerful equipment of the Italian armies. These powers are leaving Ethiopia to be butchered to make a Roman holiday.

TRAIL BLAZING MULLINS, S. C.—Daniel Boone, 1824 character was some pioneering to do. Mayor R. J. Williams, who convicted him of selling illicit liquor, handed Boone his commitment papers and told him to report at the chain gang camp. PETROLEUM INDUSTRY AIDED BY CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION LOSSES

Ex-Convict Is Under Charge In Double Slaying

CARTHAGE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Wesley Goodwin, ex-convict, was charged today with the shotgun killings of his wife and Tom Gentry, 39, of Dallas, who served in the state penitentiary with Goodwin.

Examining trial for Goodwin, who told Deputy Sheriff H. S. Parker that domestic trouble precipitated the slayings, was set for tomorrow.

Parker said Goodwin told Sheriff L. M. Hunt the men quarreled Tuesday and that Gentry spent the night in the woods.

When he returned to the Goodwin home 20 miles east of here in the Galloway community, where he had lived with the couple, Gentry was met by a fatal blast from a shotgun. He died on the way to a hospital.

Mrs. Goodwin was shot a few minutes later as she walked out the front gate. She died instantly.

Gentry served a prison term from Hopkins county for transporting liquor and Goodwin served two terms for manufacturing liquor in Panola county.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 15 (AP)—Heavy seasonal consumption of refined products and a substantial reduction in crude oil production aided the petroleum industry this week.

Surpluses in crude and refined products, which have hung over the industry as a constant menace for years, virtually have disappeared as the industry has made advances in stabilization.

Crude production has been reduced to the lowest level since in April, largely due to the fact operators in Texas and Oklahoma are abiding by the market demand quotas.

Companies continued to draw on their stocks in storage, now estimated at 100,000,000 barrels under the peak six years ago when withdrawals began.

The withdrawals have renewed old criticism that there is a plan afoot to deplete stocks, open up production to drive the price down and fill the tanks again with cheap oil.

Leaders, particularly heads of firms which have been dipping into stocks, point out that proration and orderly production has ended the necessity for storing oil and there is little likelihood of this practice being followed soon.

It is cheaper in the long run, they say, to leave the crude in natural storage and draw on it as needed, knowing they can get the amount needed to supply the market with orderly production in reserve.

Crude prices, as well as refinery prices, remained unchanged for the week.

SOLONS VOTE AGAINST ACTS OF HITLERITES

THEN, NAZIS DECLARE BOSTONIANS ARE 'CLOWNISH'

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Governor James M. Curley refused today to back down an inch on the right of the Massachusetts house of representatives to pass resolutions condemning alleged racial and religious persecutions in Germany.

In letters to Baron Kurt von Toppelkirch, German consul general at Boston, who protested the resolutions, both the governor and Leverett Saltonstall, speaker of the house, stoutly maintained the right of a group of citizens of Massachusetts to express their opinion on a subject which has excited world interest.

The governor declared the resolutions "timely" and said he felt they represented "an honest and open expression of the secret opinion of Americans generally."

Saltonstall wrote that adoption of the resolutions in no way interferes with the domestic matters of your country.

Baron von Toppelkirch expressed himself as "very much displeased" over the release of the contents of the governor's and Saltonstall's letters before they had been received at the German consulate here.

"This is a serious breach of courtesy," he said. "It is simply not done in affairs of this sort. In short, it is not polite."

The consul general had criticized the resolutions as "unwarranted and unpardonable interference with domestic matters of my country."

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Massachusetts house of Representatives' resolution condemning "abhorrent" Nazi persecutions raised the ire of Nazis today.

The newspaper Angrieff, under the headline of "hypocritical impudence," said editorially on its front page:

"It is a case of seeing a splinter in a neighbor's eye and no beam in your own. We do not hang Jews who attack women; we do not lynch men of another race; we do not indulge in shameful excesses such as characterize the strikes in the United States."

"To us, the Boston structures appear clownish and not motivated by a sense of moral responsibility, but simply hollow bluntness."

FALL TO FIGHT EVICTION FROM MEXICO RANCH

Is Asked To Move By E. L. Doheny Interests

THREE RIVERS, N. M., Aug. 15 (AP)—Albert E. Fall, white-haired former cabinet member, fought from his bed here today what he termed an order evicting him from his 750,000-acre ranch home.

"I don't intend to leave here. I am going to fight eviction and I am confident I can retain my home," said Fall, secretary of the interior of the Harding administration.

How the battle would be waged was not disclosed. The Fall family occupied the place as "tenant at will" since it was taken through foreclosure by the E. L. Doheny oil interests.

Fall returned to the ranch from New Mexico state penitentiary in 1932 after serving a term for accepting a bribe in the notorious "Teapot Dome" oil scandal of a decade ago.

Doheny, accused of giving the bribe, later said he said: "That the aged Fall still retains his fire of spirit, though his body is feeble, was evident as he discussed the sale of the ranch, which probably will be consummated today."

"I won't say yet just how I'll resist the order," he said.

He added that he had not communicated with Doheny, his friend of many years.

R. M. Sand's of Los Angeles, vice president and general manager of the Petroleum Securities company, said Fall had been asked to move.

"I do not believe Fall will appeal to Doheny," said Sand. Doheny is board chairman of the Petroleum Securities firm.

Sands explained the sale by saying "we are in the oil business," not the cattle business.

He said little money was involved in the deal.

PENITENTIARY ESCAPE PLOT IS UNCOVERED

TUNNEL THIRTY YARDS IS DISCOVERED BY WARDEN

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 15 (AP)—A well-planned Texas penitentiary escape plot, apparently attended by months of hard labor and admitted by prison officials to have been near fruition, was blocked today.

Warden W. W. Wald reported yesterday he had found a massive tunnel, 30 yards long, leading from the prison ward to a point within two feet of the stone wall surrounding the prison.

Officials said "we certainly would have had a real break if this tunnel had not been found when it was. Another week and we'd have had between 40 and 50 hard boys to get."

As he pushed his investigation into the case, Warden Wald said he suspected about 12 desperate criminals of conceiving what Prison System Manager Lee Simmons said was "a deep laid plot."

Wald said the tunnel would have provided an avenue leading to freedom for many of the approximately 1,000 convicts.

The passage, extending ten feet underground, was concealed at its entrance by four stacks of cordwood and worked for a time without their absence being noted.

Simmons said "we know who has been doing some of the digging and we expect to get to the bottom of the whole thing soon. It will take several days, however."

'HOTTEST' LIVESTOCK MARKET IN YEARS REPORTED IN WEST TEXAS

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 15 (AP)—What ranchmen denote as the "hottest" livestock range market since 1929 continues in West Texas at rising prices.

Scores of buyers are in the field purchasing all classes of sheep and cattle.

Contracting of feeder lambs for fall delivery is at full swing with an estimated 100,000 sold at a top of 7 1/2 cents a pound. Many have gone at 6 to 7 cents while a few were contracted earlier at lower prices.

Excellent range conditions have enabled ranchmen to refuse the 5 to 6 cents which northern and Colorado feeder buyers at first offered.

A heavy movement of mutton yearlings to a group of 15 buyers at prices of 4 to 4 1/2 cents a pound is reported. S. B. Martin, of Kansas City and Clay Kitchens, who is in the territory, have made large purchases.

Buyers report a wave of calf buying throughout the United States. The range to have slipped into the hands of Shirley C. Crowell, Texas, got 700 mixed calves from the Noelke estate at 6 1/2 cents a pound for the heifers and 7 1/2 cents for the steer calves, delivered in September and October. Shirley also bought 4,500 calves in the San Angelo and Menard country in recent weeks.

L. E. Bennett, vice-president of the Chicago Livestock Loan company, reported here that contracting is active in lambs and calves all over the United States but that growers were slow to sell.

For the first time in five years coats out of the hair are selling. L. E. Davis bought 600 mixed mutton kids and mutton yearlings at $2 a head.

The wool market has slowed down but amounts ranging from a few thousand to 100,000 pounds are selling at prices of 22 1/2 to 24 1/2 cents a pound.

British Money Expert Killed

GIESSEN, Germany, Aug. 15 (AP)—Sir Basil Phillott Blackett, British authority on gold and economic problems, was fatally injured today in an automobile crash ten miles from here.

Sir Basil died in the university clinic of what physicians diagnosed as a severe hemorrhage resulting from internal injuries.

Injured with him was a woman school teacher from Marburg, an old friend, who originally was erroneously identified as his wife.

Sir Basil's automobile was struck by a train on a grade crossing this morning. Death came shortly after 3 p. m.

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Sir Basil Phillott Blackett, director of the Bank of England, who was killed today in an automobile accident in Germany, was a world authority on economic matters and one of the leading financiers of Great Britain.

He was among the group of economists and financiers recently consulted by David Lloyd George in connection with his new deal plan.

Sir Basil three years ago wrote the book "Planned Money" in which he suggested a new monetary system which he labeled "sterlingaria."

Some of his most outstanding financial achievements were during the world war when he went to the United States on special economic missions.

Later he assisted the United States in organizing its war savings machinery.

In 1933 Sir Basil narrowly escaped death when an airliner in which he was a passenger made a forced landing in an African jungle.

In 1920 he married Miss Beatrice Bonner, the daughter of the late Edward H. Bonner of New York.

Connally Bill To Control Oil Held In Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Connally oil regulation bill has been passed by the senate but it still lingers in that chamber today instead of going on to the house.

The delay was occasioned by a motion by Senator George (D. Ga.) to reconsider the vote by which the senate approved the bill yesterday.

Senator Connally's bill provides for congressional recognition of the interstate oil conservation compact drawn up at Dallas and already ratified by six oil-producing states.

For presidential "pegging" of oil imports under the 1932 level and for continuing the present ban against interstate shipment of "hot oil."

The bill was substituted for a broader one by Senator Thomas (D. Okla.) The Thomas bill, similar to a measure approved by the house interstate commerce committee yesterday, included a further provision for a permanent federal oil board and would have authorized voluntary industrial agreements subject to presidential approval where they waive criminal provisions of the anti-trust laws.

Two objections were voiced at the senate's action yesterday. George said import regulation was too important a question to be disposed of so hastily.

Senator McCadoo (D. Calif.) said he expected protests from California against allowing import figures to approach the 1932 level.
