HELENA KELLER NO. 11 PRODUCES 4,095 BARRELS PER DAY

WHEELER AREA BRINGS IN 4 LARGE WELLS

TWENTY-TWO NEW OIL PRODUCERS TESTED DURING WEEK

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE, Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

Since the advent of the 24-hour test period in the plains district the Railroad commission office here has been kept busy completing tests. Some of these had already been started, however, but the order for the one-day test also contained an order that all wells completed and shot, or acid treated, be retested 60 days after the first test. The figures will be interesting to operators and in particular to the treating companies and shooters. The results should bring more flavor to the arguments of which method has the most lasting effects.

There were 22 new wells tested during the last week, besides several retested wells. The Wheeler county area continues to show the largest wells, four of them over 3,000 barrels and the best well the Helena Keller No. 11 made 4,095 barrels in the 24-hour period.

Thirteen new starts were announced representing Hutchinson, Gray, and Carson counties.

The Moran Drilling company brought in a good well for itself on the Holmes lease in section 86, block 3, I&GN survey—after gauging in the tanks it was estimated to be making 70 barrels an hour.

PEEWEE TO PLAY CANADIAN AT PARK THURSDAY EVENING

Pee-wee baseball teams will have their final at Road Runner park on Thursday night when the Pampa Pee-wees play the Rotary club junior team from Canadian. The game will be called at 8:30 o'clock, with admission 25 cents.

Fans who have not seen the youngsters in action this year have missed something. The boys, between 12 and 15 years of age, dish up a brand of ball that is surprising in its caliber.

Proceeds from the game will go to the crippled children's fund of the Kiwanis club, which is sponsoring the exhibition. Tickets will be placed on sale Monday morning by members of the Kiwanis club and by players on the Pampa team.

The local nine was started by Harry Kelley and W. B. Weathered. Later Howard Buckingham Sr. became interesting in the team. He has coached the boys during the absence of the original managers until he has a heady bunch of players who pull off startling double plays, double steals, and hit the ball hard and far.

The Canadian team has been strengthened considerably since the last time they were nosed out by the Pee-wees.

The Holmes Bros. No. 5 Quinn in section 7, block 9, I&GN survey, tested 586 barrels.

Gray County.

The Continental Oil company No. 12 Wright in section 13, block 3, I&GN survey, made 730 barrels on test.

The Kewanee Oil & Gas company No. 15 Rest-Smith in section 149, block 3, I&GN survey, made 671 barrels on a 24-hour test.

The Magnolia Petroleum company No. 12 Pee Land No. 227 in section 14, block 3, I&GN survey tested 59 barrels.

The Pampa Production company No. 2 Hahrah in section 150, block 3, I&GN survey, tested 353 barrels for the 24-hour run.

The Plains Drilling company No. 1-A Chapman in section 10, block 25, H&GN survey, made 43 barrels on test.

The Magnolia Petroleum company No. 5 Heaton in section 164, block 3, I&GN survey, made 401 barrels on commission test.

Hutchinson County.

J. E. Crosbie No. 8 Pitts in section 7, block M-21, TCR survey, made a run of 409 barrels on the 24-hour test.

The Gulf Production company No. 9 Cooper in section 4, block 9, I&GN survey, tested 465 barrels.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (AP)—The stock market continued to respond to bullish reflexes in today's brief session and, despite the usual weekend readjusting, many new highs for year of longer were recorded.

Cheerful trade news and hopeful developments at Washington contributed to the better feeling which was evident in the board rooms.

What selling appeared was generally viewed as unimportant and the majority of buyers were willing to bid up their favorites.

While gains were held down to relatively moderate proportions, renewed demand for the rails and utilities kept the list pointed upward during the two hours of trading. Many of the industrialists were about unchanged to a bit easier, however, at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected moved up 2.3 of a point to 491.1, a new 1935 top. The utilities got up 4.4 to another new year's peak. The actively was not quite as pronounced as in last Saturday's proceedings, but transfers totaled 1,076,230 shares.

Word from the capital that congress probably would adjourn next week apparently had a beneficial effect on sentiment in the Wall Street sector.

WIPES OUT ECONOMY

BRITAIN ANSWERS CRITICS BY CHOOSING YOUNGSTERS FOR GOLF WARS NOW NEAR

COCKY YOUNG MEN TO HAVE CHANCE TO VINDICATE THIS CHANGE OF POLICY.

BY GAYLE TALBOT

LONDON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The favorite wall of Britain's golf critics—"Give youth a chance!" at last has been heeded.

The team of British professionals that will meet America for the Ryder cup September 28 and 29 at Ridgewood, N. J., brims over with a youth and assurance positively astonishing to one familiar with the country's feudal system in athletics.

Goals are the Havers, the Havers, the Compton, the Duncans and the other "name golfers" long familiar to every American. Even W. H. Davies, Syd Easterbrook and Arthur Lacey, who helped England nose out America in the matches two summer ago at Southport, have been turned out to pasture.

Tradition Takes A Beating

In their stead is a virile, cocksure set of young clubswingers whom the selectors reached out and plucked simply because they were playing a whole of a lot of good golf in the past year. It's a revolutionary move, almost certain to be reflected in some flighty golf at Ridgewood.

Of the four tyros chosen, one, W. J. Cox, is just an assistant professional to old Fred Robson at Adlington, serving the customary five-year apprenticeship before being permitted to hold a job of his own. Tradition took an awful beating when he was named.

The other three, Richard Burton, J. J. Busson and E. W. Jarman, are full-fledged professionals, yet all three have come into prominence within the last year. Busson, 24, with a smooth, effortless swing patterned after Bobby Jones, is the youngest member of the team. Captain Charles Whitcomb, 39, is the oldest.

Alf Perry, the new British open champion, is a repeater from the last international matches at Southport, along with Percy Alliss and Fred Bagshaw. All three are comparatively young; at least short of the real "veteran" stage and still filled with a hot competitive spirit. The team's average age is exactly 30.

With two more places to be filled it is highly probable that another assistant, W. J. Branch, will get the day the first eight was announced to capture the Belgian open in a play-off after tying for the lead with a fine aggregate of 283.

Burton Scored At Muirfield

Cox, of medium height and powerfully built about the shoulders, probably is the longest hitter on the British side. His short game also is extremely effective, and he is renowned for his courage in match play.

Already British match-play champion, Busson clinched his appointment by making a magnificent finish—67 and 68 in the Scottish open this year at Glenageary.

Burton has had a much slower rise to recognition. He played in the American open as far back as 1928, yet only in the last year began knocking at the door in earnest. He jumped into the headlines on his first day of the recent British open by shooting a record 70 over Muirfield to lead the day's qualifiers on that course.

Jarman is the most prominent member of a North of England golfing clan, with two brothers and his father in the business. He has at times shown brilliances in medal play, but it is as a scrapper in match play that he is best known. They figure he is the type of man that will be needed at Ridgewood.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 17. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—This week's receipts of cattle at midwestern markets totaled 238,000 compared with 172,974 last week and 183,335 the corresponding period a year ago. At Chicago top steers reached 12.60, best yearlings 12.50, and outstanding yearling heifers 11.65. At river markets common and medium westerns ranged from 5.00-5.50. Fat lamb prices are 15 to 50 cents above last week's closing quotations, while yearlings are strong to 25 up. Closing figures on sheep and feeding lambs are strong to 25 up. Choice native lambs made 9.25 and 9.15 at St. Louis and Chicago, respectively. Best rangers at the latter point realizing 9.00, while a few yearlings were taken at 6.05 and 7.00. Good and choice range feeding lambs sold up to 8.00 at Omaha.

Approximately 149,000 hogs were yarded against 263,480 the same week last year, although a slight reaction occurred at the midweek. The net gain for the week is around 15 to 45 higher. Sorted light hogs topped the Chicago market, at 12.20.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 17. (AP)—The two-hour trading period on the cotton market today ended with active futures practically unchanged.

While the market engaged in some fair-sized price swing during the trading final prices were within a point or two of previous closing levels. Dealings were comparatively active for a week-end session.

At one time active options were up from 5 to 10 points, but profit-taking in the final minutes brought them back to where they finished Friday night.

The shadow of the impending government loan hung over the market today and kept all but the most intrepid of traders from making any important commitments.

Monday seems to be the new zero hour designated by official Washington. Most reports today said there would be no loan announcement until then, if any is made at all.

ROAD RUNNERS WON $1,531 IN DENVER'S BASEBALL TOURNEY

The Pampa-Dancer Road Runners, most popular team in the Denver Post baseball tournament, walked away with several prizes and plenty of honors in winning third money. Business Manager Harold Miller received a check for $1,531 Friday night and immediately started distributing it among his players.

Along with the check came a beautiful Bulova wrist watch for Sam Scalling, leading home run hitter of the tournament; an Edgwin wrist watch for Al Summers, best infielder in the tournament; a Bill Doak glove for Vic George, for starting the most double plays; the names of Fred Brickell and Al Summers on the tournament all-star team.

Not only was the Pampa entry the favorite of the fans, it was one of the strongest clubs in the tournament. In the words of "Dutch" Craus of the Humber Oiers of Overton, second place team, "we might have won the tournament if hadn't met the best team of the bunch the night before the final game."

Although he didn't win a prize, Pampa's own Tank Horton was selected as the noisiest player in the tournament. The peppery catcher kept up a continuous line of chatter that had every one on the prize plays of the tournament when he took an overthrow at first and held the runner to one base, almost catching him off first.

Pictures of Pampa players were carried in the Denver Post several times. The name PAMPA appeared in large letters across the front page of the Denver Post on several occasions. Pampa was well advertised and favorably.

Several times during the summer Coach Bronson visited his old coach, Dana X. Bible, at the University of Nebraska, and discussed football plays and formations.

Assistant Coach Smith spent the summer visiting between Abilene and Tulsa.

Ten lettermen will return to the team this season. Several new faces will appear in the lineup. They will be boys who were away to CCC camps last year.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Aug. 17. (AP)—One-sixth of the membership of the legislature, at one time or another, has been "investigating" this summer.

There are 150 representatives and 31 senators and 30 are members of five investigating committees.

The house appointed committees to investigate the oil and milk industries and the administration of J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, while the senate continued its general committee empowered to investigate anything.

Both houses appointed a joint committee to study the ills of the cotton industry, from farming to manufacturing, and recommend remedial measures.

Of the quintet, the oil committee probably has raised the most dust. A series of secret hearings in the oil fields was climaxed by a public grilling of the railroad commission.

Reports of the committees will be made to the next session of the legislature, which may be in September.

Two departments of state, the board of control and the highways, work 15 minutes longer each day than other departments. Their employees are on at 8 a. m. and off at 5:15 p. m.

There is a reason, not zeal for labor. Throughout the year they take off Saturday afternoons.

The law provides that all departments may close at 4 p. m. Saturdays and part of the employees may leave at noon. It has been construed to mean one-half of a department's staff may have a full Saturday afternoon off every two weeks.

By working 15 minutes extra six days a week, employees of the highway department and the board of control make up 90 minutes a week, or 180 minutes in two weeks, and get the other Saturday afternoon.

The last legislature specifically authorized the arrangement in a rider to the appropriation bill which said the department could "not function efficiently with only about one-half of the employees present."

Other departments leave part of the staff on duty Saturday afternoons. Some remarked it might be only a janitor but someone officially is on the job.

READY MADE WIFE

Chapter 24
THE MEETING

It was news to Rex Moore that Laurie and her sister had spent the week end at the Albery house in the country. Well, why not? Albery was evidently in love with Laurie. And when they parted, he and she, when this farce had played itself out, Albery would no doubt marry her. And beyond that, he would be a freer hand.

As to Wanda Steele and his debt to her, he would have to find some way of settling that.

His discovery that he had fallen in love with the girl who was supposed to be his wife, therefore, had undoubtedly altered his outlook on life, but it had not altered his world, as was to be the case with Laurie.

Laurie came into the dining-room when Rex had just finished his breakfast. She looked very smart and cool in her neat dark blue office attire, and she seemed to be in high spirits, although her eyes had a somewhat fixed expression.

Gladys had gone to rehearsal in Pansbury Park, where they were opening in another week's time. While they were in the nearer suburbs, she was staying in the flat; but, later, when they went farther afield the troupe would have to live in lodgings again.

Laurie had had her breakfast with her sister an hour ago. Rex had been for a run around Battersea Park before his, as was his custom.

"Well, you said we could talk better in the morning," he said. "Have you now?"

"You like, I am not due at the office for three-quarters of an hour." That touched him on the raw, as from now onwards every reference to her association with her employer must do.

"I understand you had something you wish to discuss," he said. His voice and manner reminded her of the man in the train the first day they had met. And it came to her more from that moment this spark had been struck from her being that was now alight and that made her furious and miserable at the same time.

Yes, it was true. Morning hadn't changed it. She wasn't mad; he mattered more to her than anything in the world.

Tomorrow, Rex and Laurie try to plan their future.

IN THE TEXAS LEAGUE

PORT WORTH, Aug. 17. (AP)—By scoring eight runs on eight more or less solid base knocks in the first inning the Port Worth Cats defeated the Oklahoma City Indians 9 to 3 here this afternoon.

Ed Marreau, who started in the box for the Tribe but got only one man out, was charged with the loss of the game. He walked one man and allowed six hits, one a home run by Lincoln Blakely. Jack Brillheart followed. He experienced some more trouble getting started on such short notice and permitted two more hits than he should have. Two runs across the pan after that he pitched with rare effectiveness, yielding only three hits the remainder of the afternoon.

And his eyes held Laurie's, and, strangely enough, it was the same with her. She saw him for the first time, strength, the fine, lean, pulsing gaze of his grey eyes, the sudden pulsating humanity of him when he smiled. She saw him, splendid, wonderful—the most wonderful man in the world.

And she said to herself—"What's the matter with me? He hasn't changed. He's Rex Moore—no, he isn't! He's the Rex Moore I dreamed of! I don't hate him any more, I want to go close to him. I want to stay with him. I don't want to go away."

And because a woman is always more frightened when she discovers that she loves a man than a man is when he discovers he loves a woman, Laurie suddenly gave a stifled little cry and hurried to the door.

"I'm tired—I've got a busy day tomorrow. Good-night!"

He put out his hand, but she brushed past him. She was thawing in every limb. She was terrified of tumbling down, when he would pick her up and she would be lost.

"But Laurie, I've got a lot to tell you!"

Why, even his voice was new! It was warm; it drew her to him; it stole round her heart. But there was only one thought in her mind—to hide this mess from him.

"Tomorrow will do," she called out lightly. "Honestly, I'm tired. We can talk much better in the morning."

Through the long, sleepless hours of the night, she said to herself, "I must be mad. I can't be in love with him. Why should I? What would he think? How he would laugh! It would just appeal to his cruel sense of humor that should end up by falling in love with him."

"It'll be all right in the morning," she comforted herself. "It must be this ridiculous artificial life. Of course, it's all rubbish. My nerves are in pieces. When we separate, there's Mrs. Steele waiting for him. Of course, he'll marry her. Look who she can do for him with all her money. He'll be quite independent of Mr. Albery—of everybody. The first thing he did when he got back was to go to see her."

And so on, round and round in a circle, the same thoughts, all merging into the memory of Rex Moore's voice that had suddenly caught her ear, saying—"But Laurie, I've got a lot to tell you!"

Rubbish! What could he have to tell her?

With Rex Moore it was different. To begin with, he was physically and mentally exhausted after his arduous flight, and he slept quite a good deal.

But when he did wake up now and then, and especially after dawn, his thoughts did run on somewhat the same lines as Laurie's, although he was not so shattered as she was by the discovery, but more angry with himself.

"Might have made a fool of myself," he reflected. "What ever would she have thought? That I was crazy, no doubt. I think I am. But there it is, I believe I'm in love with her. How ridiculous! She hates the sight of me."

And so on and so on, the same thoughts, all merging into the memory of Laurie's face, seeing it as if for the first time—the soft blue eyes, the loveliness of the little trembling smile, the sudden appeal to his manhood, the fierce desire to take her in his arms. And then the blankness when she hurried out of the room with light, careless word of rebuff, like a slap in the face.

Well, anyhow, he hadn't given himself away.

Presently, he was splashing in his cold bath, and planning to spend the whole of the day on the last of the articles for the American newspaper.

He had written all the others while on his trip, waiting for the rescue party to fetch the missing airmen. He had had no sleep for two whole nights. When this one was written, he would be able to pay back half the money Albery had lent him. That would give him a freer hand.

As to Wanda Steele and his debt to her, he would have to find some way of settling that.

His discovery that he had fallen in love with the girl who was supposed to be his wife, therefore, had undoubtedly altered his outlook on life, but it had not altered his world, as was to be the case with Laurie.

Laurie came into the dining-room when Rex had just finished his breakfast. She looked very smart and cool in her neat dark blue office attire, and she seemed to be in high spirits, although her eyes had a somewhat fixed expression.

DIZZY DEAN STEPS TO MOUND IN 7TH AND WINS RUBBER GAME FOR CARDS

GIANTS LEAD CHAMPIONS BY ONLY 2 GAMES

DEAN WHIFFS FIRST 3 GIANTS WITH 7 BALLS

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (AP)—These rotting Cardinals charged through to a 7-3 win over the Giants in the rubber game of their five-set series today and left town for Boston tonight only two games behind the National league pennant contenders.

Ed Heuser, a young right hander who came up from Knoxville via Columbus, held the Giants at bay for the first six innings, but when he showed signs of weakening in the seventh Manager Frankie Frisch called on Dizzy Dean who blanked the Giants with three hits Friday for relief duty.

The great man turned back the first three giants to face him with seven pitched balls, but threw a slight scare into the Cardinal camp in the ninth when he let Mark Koenig, a pinch hitter, nick him for a double with two down and then yielded a single to Harry Danning. However, he braced and cut short the New York rally by whiffing Joe Moore for the third out.

The Cardinals scored six of their runs by steadily pecking away at the combined offerings of three Giant pitchers, young Al Smith, Allyn Stout and Frank Gabler. The seventh was presented them in the third by a couple of weird throws by Gus Mancuso and Hank Leibler, the latter back in the line-up after a siege of bench warming.

After a shaky first inning when the Giants bunched three of their seven hits for two runs, Heuser held them runless on two hits until the seventh. In this frame the Giants bunched two singles by Danning, pinch hitting for Stout, and Joe Moore to count their last marker.

China has three great river systems—the Yangtze in the heart of the country, the Yellow river in the north, and the West river which drains the mountains of the south.

The "urochs" or European boar is said to exist today in small numbers in the forest of Bialowieza, a national reservation in Poland.

Pampa wrestling fans who stayed away from Road Runner park last Tuesday night declare that they will not be numbered among the missing this week when Jack Van Bebber, now favorite of the crowd, meets Sailor Otis Clingman, old favorite, in the main event.

A semi-final of the old caliber will see Gorilla Pogi, Argentine roughster, meeting Jack Donmar, wild man from Chicago. Opening the big card at 8:30 o'clock will be Bob Cummings and Pat Garrison, also in a questionable exhibition. Advance sale of tickets is brisk at Pampa Drug No. 1.

Clingman and Van Bebber have not been in the ring together for several years. Clingman won the last match. The Dutchman has improved so much since that time that he appears a different grappler. When the two were matched, Clingman made no bones about his opinion of the match, remarking that it would be tough sledding.

The former Olympic champion is one of the most improved grapplers seen here this year. He has always been fast and clever. This year he appears to know more about getting and holding his opponent. Clingman is the slippery type of wrestler. He gets out of difficulty in freakish ways and the grappler who can hold him must be on his toes all the time.

Pogi, who will be making his first appearance here, will be able to give Donmar a blow for blow. Promoter G. B. Garrison promises. The little, but strong, Pogi has a reputation of liking his opposition rough and tough.

Garrison and Cummings are likely to open the card with a mixture of wrestling and roughing.

ROAD RUNNERS BEAT HUMBLE IN 17-7 TILT

DANEY KNOCKED OFF MOUND IN FIRST INNING

Lee Daney (Chief Whitehorn) failed to scare the Humble Oilers of Overton at Road Runner park on Friday night. The East Texas sluggers jumped on him for three hits and a walk before he left the mound in the opening inning. George Bulla, out of the rest of the distance and the Road Runners came from behind to win for him, 17 to 7, making it two in a row over the team that eliminated them from the Denver Post tournament.

This afternoon in Amarillo the Road Runners will tangle with the Shamrocks of that city. Game time will be 3 o'clock. Lefty Pa-hak will be Amarillo's starting pitcher with Manager Fred Brickell probably sending Daney to the mound. Berry may get the nod, however.

The kittenish Road Runners showed no respect for the grey hairs of Lefty Pa-hak. The young star tilted him for four runs in the second, eight in the fifth, and five in the sixth before he tottered from the mound in favor of Black, a youngster.

George played five innings but had to leave the game. The little shortstop has been bothered by nose bleeding since his arrival in Denver two weeks ago. The bleeding continued through yesterday. Scalling had to leave the game in the second inning after being hit on his arm by a pitched ball.

Grover Setts started the Road Runners' back in the game in the second inning after Overton had bleeding since his arrival in Denver two weeks ago. The bleeding continued through yesterday. Scalling had to leave the game in the second inning after being hit on his arm by a pitched ball.

Ben McLary, playing short and third, was the hitting star of the game. He connected for two doubles and two singles in six trips to the plate. Nell connected for a timely home run, a double and single. Brickell got a double and two singles and Summers hit twice for two bases.

Big Setts turned robber in the first inning when he went deep to take Cox's long fly ball for the first out of the game. He made the most sensational play of the game in the third to rob Krauss of a sure hit. George showed some of his old time speed in the sixth by racing behind second to make a one handed stab of Ballew's hot grounder and get him at first.

Ole, Frey and Orr continued their sensational hitting for the visitors. Ole got three singles and a double. Frey hit for bases and two singles, and Orr smacked out three singles. Falk, brother of the great Bib Falk, besides playing a wonderful game at first base, hit two singles and a double.

Americans Win Wightman Cup Tennis Series

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 17. (AP)—Executing a swift, sensational reversal of form, America's women tennis stars rallied to sweep the last three singles matches of the Wightman cup tennis series with Great Britain today and keep possession of the international trophy for the fifth straight year.

The heroine of America's uphill fight to victory on the turf courts of the West Side stadium was a California ball-player's wife, Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, who capped the climax of her debut in Wightman cup competition by conquering the redoubtable Katherine (Kay) Stammers, crack English southpaw, in the deciding match.

Beaten soundly the day before by Dorothy Round, the English No. 1, and conceded little chance of upsetting her, the young star tilted day, Mrs. Arnold gave a superb exhibition of fighting spirit and shot making skill to capture a thrilling match by scores of 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

The triumph for the diminutive Los Angeles matron, unranked nationally since 1930 when she was No. 8 in the United States list and out of competition almost entirely for the past two years, was the climax of a remarkable rally by the home forces. The British entered the final half of the series leading 2-1, the result of two stunning singles decisions, yesterday, only to have the cup defenders settle the issue with three consecutive victories.

It was just as well for the sake of this country's supremacy in women's tennis, that Mrs. Arnold came to her defeat. The pressure was off thereafter but the British doubles team of Evelyn Dearman and Nancy Lyle nevertheless rallied to beat Carolin Babcock and Dorothy Andrews, American pair, in the seventh and final match, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

The final scores to a pair of singles decisions, yesterday, only to have the cup defenders settle the issue with three consecutive victories. Hogan and Cole were hurriers for Hoover, with Turcott receiving, E. Lewis, cf; Hogan, p; Rogers, rf; Sloan, lf.

The boys will play another Scout troop in Taos today. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Boston and Helen Jacobs, three-time American singles champion, paved the way for Mrs. Arnold's decisive conquest. Together they scored America's first point by winning the doubles yesterday after Miss Jacobs put the United States in a triumph with a brilliant 6-3, 6-2 triumph over Miss Round.

20 Teams Will Play in Two-I League Today

The Two-I league is nearing the end of its season and teams are on their toes, hoping to go into the play-off which will be staged next month. Teams with more wins than losses will be entitled to a berth in the play-off.

Games this afternoon will "make or break" some of the teams. The schedule this week brings teams of the same standing together wherever possible.

COACHES WILL TALK TO BOYS ON WEDNESDAY

BOYS TO BE TAKEN TO CAMP WILL BE ANNOUNCED

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean will meet prospective Harvester in the high school study hall at 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening. Every boy eligible to compete in football this fall is urged to attend the meeting.

Date of the fall training camp at the Mel Davis ranch east of LeFors will be set and names of those to be taken to camp will be released. It will be impossible to take the entire squad this year.

Coaches Mitchell and Prejean arrived in the city Friday night, Coach Mitchell coming from Ann Arbor, Mich., where he worked on his master's degree at the University of Michigan, and Coach Prejean arriving from Lubbock where he attended the Texas Tech coaching school for the last two weeks.

Several members of the Harvester squad are out of the city. Coach Mitchell urges the boys here to write those absent to be here for the meeting, if possible, and be sure to be here by Thursday, tentative date set for the opening of the training camp.

Conditioning will be stressed by the coaches this fall. The boys are urged to begin immediately getting ready for a strenuous season. It will be a case of the survival of the fittest this year, coaches intimate.

Seranton, Pa., is the metropolis of the great anthracite region of northeastern Pennsylvania.

Pampa Had Big Delegation at Denver's Meet

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (P)—Reports that a special session of the legislature "probably" will be held in September persist among members but it is believed that the need of it will hinge upon the outcome of the special election August 24.

It is generally conceded that if prohibition is repealed a special session would be called by the governor to pass an enabling act and fix the taxes upon the sale of liquor.

It has been estimated revenues from liquor taxes would approximate $5,000,000 annually. As the prospective deficit in the general revenue fund at the end of the next fiscal year, Aug. 31, 1936, has been placed by the tax board at nearly $13,000,000 a $5,000,000 addition to operating income would be a long step toward balancing the state's budget.

Governor Allred is known to be concerned over the size of the deficit and has laid responsibility for the condition of state finances at the door of the legislature because it failed to match appropriations with revenues.

Certain political speculators believe that with Governor Allred facing re-election next year he may convene a special session to tap new sources of revenue, if any can be found, and begin liquidation of the huge deficit. No governor likes to enter a political campaign with the treasury heavily in the red, especially if a plan of taxation could be developed that would not bring too loud a protest from a majority of the taxpayers.

The governor, it has been noted, has left the way open to call a special session if he desires or to decide one is not needed. He recently said the vote on the constitutional amendments, Aug. 24, might necessitate a special session but declined to say which of the amendments, if adopted, would constitute a prime reason.

Observers are agreed that the governor hardly would convene a special session, if for instance, only the old age pension amendment was approved because the state now is heavily in debt and the old age pension would add an estimated $44,000,000 annually to the total governmental cost. It is possible he would call the legislature and submit the old age pension conditioned on the legislature providing sufficient revenue to pay the bill.

Champ Carriers On Mexico Trip

Pampa Daily NEWS champion carriers camped on the Pecos river in New Mexico last night at the first stop on their 5-day journey.

All were wondering whether J. C. Dollard, bewhiskered carrier "boy," would present himself minus his whiskers, as he did on a previous trip when no one recognized him at first. He did not shave them off this time. Cool mountain air experienced on a previous trip probably convinced him that nature knows best.

The trippers, numbering about 20, are headed by Gilmore N. Nunn, general manager, and L. O. Johnson, circulation manager. The trip was the reward for getting a designated number of new subscriptions.

Names of Charleston county, S. C., places are derived from three sources.

Knowing the gray-haired couple on the little 80-acre farm two miles across the Washita river want to be alone in their sorrow, Maysville is leaving them alone. Few cars are seen beside the yellow bungalow with its shady grove. These, mostly, are the cars of neighbors who prepared food and brought it.

Saturday is always a big day in Maysville, just as it is in all isolated farming community centers, but the little groups around the bank and the hardware, dry goods and drug stores were solemn tonight. Maysville, tonight, is a town of long faces.

NOTE: The following story on Wiley Post's disappointment in failing to conquer stratosphere flying and of Post's personality was written by Bennie Turner, aviation editor of the Daily Oklahoman who was closest to Post of news men in the nation.

By BENNIE TURNER
Daily Oklahoman Aviation Editor
Written for the Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 17. (P)—Wiley Post died as he wanted to—doing what he wanted to do—but he was not ready to die. The fatal crash in Alaska caught him with disappointment in his heart.

It was the kind of disappointment that kept him up nights, made him drop into moods in which he resented being disturbed, scratch on table cloths while a delicious steak became cold and talk to other fliers about his problems.

The disappointment was inability to see stratosphere flying completely conquered. He found out nearly all there was to know about stratosphere flying, but he considered real stratosphere flying in an embryo stage.

That was disappointment No. 1, disappointment No. 2 was failure to have lived and worked in the land that claimed his life, Alaska.

For years Post has dreamed of Alaska. He recently showed Billy Parker, head of the Phillips Petroleum Co., aviation division, and myself a design for his Arctic hunting plane, a pusher type plane equipped with skis and a swivel high-powered gun in the front cockpit. He had bought the plane, designed the gun.

"It's a cinch," he said. "You just sit up there until you see a pack of wolves and then pick 'em off. They will scatter from a plane and all you have to do is land on the snow and pick up the pelts. It would be lots of fun, profitable and you would reduce those bounds."

Post liked to work out problems like that. That was one of the reasons he was first attracted to stratosphere flying and why he kept on.

He had a practical mind, yet one that would go scientific for no apparent reason and with no background to make it do the tricks in aid.

KAMRATH BEATEN
MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17. (P)—Donald Leavens, young Milwaukee southpaw, retained one of his two titles today in the Wisconsin open tennis tournament here when he defeated Robert Kamrath, Austin, Tex. 8-6, 6-3, 6-2, in the junior singles final.

TEXAN WINS FOUR TITLES
INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Aug. 17. (P)—Raney Ed Weller of Austin, Tex., stroked his way to four titles today in the most amazing finish the Kansas open tennis tournament has ever seen. He did not lose a set throughout the tourney. Weller won both the men's and junior singles titles against the brilliant Oklahoma City junior, Don McNeill, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. Each had won his way through both divisions.

IN THE TEXAS LEAGUE

Dallas Routes Tulsa

DALLAS, Aug. 17. (P)—The Dallas Steers, still pounding along like a first division ball club now that it is too late to do them any good, hammered three Tulsa Hurricanes unmercifully here tonight and won their second straight from the Oilers, 6 to 1.

They bunched five of their 11 hits in the third inning off the veteran Dick Whitworth for a four-run lead and from then on it was a breeze. Ed Selway and Al Shealey were the other victims.

Sel Glatto went third base for Dallas in good style.

Bucs Crush Missions
SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 17. (P)—Starting with three unearned runs in the first frame, the Galveston Bucs made merry the rest of the night tonight to thump the Missions 9 to 1 and square the series.

English, McGhee and McLeod carried the attack that made things easy for Jim Moore, who had the situation in hand all the way except in the seventh when the Missions bunched three hits for their only run.

Shortstop Loss Felt
HOUSTON, Aug. 17. (P)—Failure of the Houston ball club to secure a capable shortstop again proved costly tonight as Beaumont, aided considerably by one of Carl Lind's three errors, rallied for four runs in the seventh inning to down the Buffs for the second straight time, 6 to 3.

BODIES

Radio Man Robert Gleason flew with his on the 1,000-mile round trip. Most of the Fairbanks populace witnessed the somber spectacle of their arrival. Crosson alighted gently on the Cheng river.

Between lines of sorrowing Alaskans, the linen-swathed bodies were borne to an undertaking establishment.

Faces Not Marred
Physicians said Rogers had a severe cut on his forehead. The chest was crushed.

Post's legs, right wrist and upper left arm were broken, Abrasions also were found.

Their faces, however, were not appreciably marred.

Their crash from a height of 50 to 60 feet above a small arctic stream, 15 miles south of Barrow, was more definitely ascribed to engine trouble today, as had been reported by a native who saw their scarlet monoplane fall.

The weather at Barrow at the time was overcast, but there was a 1,000-foot ceiling and 10 miles of visibility, the government weather bureau here said it had learned.

From New York, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh came into the plans to take the bodies south.

Acting for the grief-stricken widows, Col. Lindbergh last night sent a message authorizing Dr. Henry W. Greist, Presbyterian medical missionary at Barrow, to turn the bodies over to Crosson. Previously, Greist and Charles Brewer, trader for more than half a century at the settlement, had prepared them for the first phase of the sorrowful odyssey.

Repacked On Hand
Ahead of Crosson lay 2,000 miles of more of the northland to be traversed. Afterward, the body of Rogers presumably is to be taken on to Los Angeles and that of Post to Oklahoma.

It was indicated connection might be made at Juneau with a Pan-American Airways twin-engine Electric type transport plane, Crosson piloting it on to Seattle.

Repacked On Hand
The author, close friend of both men, was in the sorrowing throng which greeted the bodies of the famous pair of aerial cronies they had cherished only a few hours before they crashed Thursday night into the bank of an icy stream.

The wistful parts played by Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Post in the ill-starred vacation flight were revealed.

"Don't go. Will, please don't go," Mrs. Rogers pleaded when her noted husband climbed into a plane at Los Angeles a few weeks ago for a northern rendezvous with Post.

In a letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Laine of San Angelo, Texas, Mrs. Post disclosed she had planned to accompany Rogers and her husband, but had been talked out of it.

Both Rogers and Post had "kidded" her out of going along, saying the arctic tundra was "no place for a lady."

White settlers and a frightened gathering of Eskimos, stood silently by at Point Barrow for a last farewell to the strangers killed on a trip to see them.

Rogers Rich, Post Poor
They shuffled about, talking in whispers, as the bodies were laid carefully in the grieving Crosson's plane.

Financial associates of the great humorist and friends of Post disclosed the wide gap in the finances of the two close friends.

Rogers, left an estate unofficially estimated at between $2,500,000 and $6,000,000. It included real estate in California and Oklahoma, government bonds and more than $800,000 in life insurance—not counting recent maturities of $300,000.

Post had little beyond his plane. Rogers, it was disclosed, was meeting expenses of their flight.

Sponges were once used for padding helmets and graves, according to Aristotle.

PARIS

Franco-British plan was submitted for communication to Il Duce offering Italy certain concessions in Ethiopia. The Italians, however, denied that they were waiting for any word from Mussolini and insisted that no proposition had been submitted to them.

In contrast with this statement, Premier Pierre Laval of France said: "We are waiting for word from Mussolini."

The Italian spokesman said: "The Italian view point on the Ethiopian question is well known and her ends in that country are also known. There is no reason for us to clarify our viewpoint."

Seek To Incite French
ROME, Aug. 17. (P)—Italian sources reported today 100 persons were killed when Ethiopians raided tribesmen in French Somaliland and fought a pitched battle.

A dispatch to the Stefani (Italian) news agency said 20 French subjects were among the victims when the Issa tribe of Ethiopia swept down on the Assaimara tribe at Adagale, French Somaliland. In huge headlines Rome newspapers called attention to an alleged reign of anarchy along the Ethiopian border.

The report was regarded by government circles as extremely important, coming at a moment when the tri-power conference in Paris is discussing the Italo-Ethiopian controversy.

They said it demonstrates France's subjects face menaces from Ethiopia, as do Italian subjects, and Paris therefore should support Italy in her intention of disarming Ethiopia.

The governor-regent of French Somaliland was reported to be en route to the scene of the battle to conduct an investigation.

The claim that Italy now has the strongest army in Europe, one of a million men, was made by Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Popolo d'Italia.

The Senofo are a tall, long headed people of the French Sudan and Ivory Coast, with long, wide noses.

CENTENNIAL

Or shall it be by a little bigger show? A little more carnival. Something that will die with the passing of the exposition, another building to be torn down? Another department added? More money to be spent in having a big time—none of which will have any serious or direct connection with the sacred events we are to memorialize."

Jones said Texas has appropriated $3,000,000, a large part of which is given to the Fair corporation to hold the show and the city of Dallas has given more still. He said these sums, together with the facilities of the Texas State Fair association, worth many more millions, are all available for whatever show and exposition "we need or should want."

Jones criticized "this chamber of commerce spirit, this desire to have a bigger show, which would allow a few thousand dollars for San Jacinto and Goliad and the Alamo, to be used at these places as the state and national authorities and direct."

The RPC chairman told the commission "I appeal to you gentlemen—to your sense of patriotism—to allow $2,000,000 or a large part of the money authorized by the congress of the United States to be used principally at San Jacinto, the Alamo and at Goliad, to be appropriately apportioned to the places and occasions that are to be memorialized."

RIOTS DRAW JUDGE
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 17. (P)—Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis, tall and sturdy, made plans tonight to speak tomorrow at Hopkins, Mo., despite threats by farmers who administered beatings in preventing two farm foreclosure sales. At Maysville, Mo., where two mortgage company representatives and a newspaper man were beaten yesterday, officials emphasized that most of the men on the fist-swinging crowd came from elsewhere.

BOOG GRANT DIES
GAINESVILLE, Aug. 17. (P)—J. Boog Grant, 81, a pioneer North Texas cattleman and a resident of Cooke county for more than 70 years, died here today. He had lived in Gainesville since his retirement 16 years ago. He was a native of Bohman. Surviving are a sister and four brothers. His wife died 50 years ago.

Five persons were injured near Dallas, Tex., when a motor bus ran over a cow.

Twelve persons have been killed in 12 years in automobile accidents on a 12-mile stretch of the Old Spanish trail near DePue, Okla. Many of the legends about Semiramis, a famous Assyrian princess, have been disproved by the researches of Professor Lehmann-Haupt of Berlin.

RIVER SPILL IN CHINA TOLD IN NEW BOOK

ANNE LINDBERGH HAS WRITTEN HER FIRST VOLUME

BY JOHN SELBY. NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—"And for three weeks," I thought, "I've been brushing my teeth in boiled water!"

Which was the first reaction of Anne Morrow Lindbergh to the spill which almost changed America's Public Hero No. 1 and his wife into mummy corpses floating down the flooded Yangtze river in China.

The Hangkow Spill. Before China was reached there had been adventures with her radio sending and receiving set, nights spent in isolated Canadian cabins or anchored off odd bits of Alaskan coast, visits to Russian homes, a dangerous forced landing in the Japanese archipelago, and an adventure near Nanking when an errand of mercy almost sacrificed the Colonel and two doctor companions to sullen Chinese flood sufferers.

"My husband, opening the throttle, tried to work back upstream. But the plane had already swung in the wind sidewise to the current. Out of control. Current pulled against cable. Down went the wing. . . It acted like a paddle, too, that large flat surface stemming the stream, forcing us over."

"Better get ready to jump! My husband's voice shot at me tersely from the front cockpit. I climbed out."

"I looked down into the muddy current. In that fleeting second . . . I thought only with inconspicuous complacency, 'Now I will find out how this new life preserver works.'"

"For not only did I have no fear, I had no sensation at all—no realization of going under water or of getting wet or of my clothes being heavy to swim in, or even that the life preserver had not worked. Quite typically I had not pressed the lever far enough."

"It did not matter. I had come up and was swimming along easily with yards of deflated life preserver dragging after me. . . I saw my husband just behind. . . We were swept downstream to the lifeboat, where we climbed on board and wiped our faces. I coughed up some Yangtze water."

And then she thought about that tooth-brushing matter.

"YOUNG MODERN" GIVES HINTS ABOUT CLOTHING—HAT CHOICE REQUIRES CONSIDERABLE TASTE

DENTON, Aug. 17.—With dips in front, flowers and fruit for decoration, tassels on the side and queer-shaped turbans, Chapeaux which Young Moderns plan to don this fall rival the hats of all generations in their novelty. Style in this season's headgear consists in each hat's having a single touch in decoration or cut which distinguishes it from all others.

Youthful heads must be careful in their choice of hats, considering the variety of shapes and sizes available. Each person ought to study her own facial characteristics, and still more minutely, her hair.

Changes in country life are discussed by Mrs. Daugherty for Priscilla Club members. Changing country life, the theme of the 26th annual short course at College Station, was discussed by Mrs. Marvin Daugherty, when Mrs. C. A. Tignor was hostess to the Priscilla home demonstration club Friday.

Mrs. Daugherty said all talks made during the short course pointed toward the betterment of country living. While farmers are checking erosion of the soil, it was said, the women are improving the homes, conscious that improvement provides a tie for the boys and girls, gives them something to admire, respect, and defend.

PTA PUBLICITY COURSE GIVEN IN NEXT YEAR

SEVEN OTHER STUDIES OFFERED BY NATIONAL GROUP

By MRS. J. M. CRAIN, Claude. Correspondence courses on various phases of parent-teacher work are offered by the Congress of Parents and Teachers for the benefit of members and leaders desiring to know more about the parent-teacher movement.

The course of study is based on the Publicity Manual for Parent-Teacher Workers, published by the National Congress. This course consists of ten lessons on the following subjects: The importance of publicity; publicity relationships in the National Congress; inside and outside publicity; the newspaper; writing a news story; ethics of publicity; exhibits and posters; the radio; budget, record books, and supplies; test.

Each lesson is divided into two parts: First, discussion questions designed to stimulate independent thought on the subject under consideration; and second, a written assignment to be returned to the National Congress for criticism and correction.

Texas Congress offers a Parent-Teacher Study Course embodying six comprehensive lessons based on the understanding of parent-teacher objects, history, program, and accomplishments as given in the Congress publication, "The Public Schools," included in the fee.

Other courses offered are the ones based on the Parent-Teacher Manual, covering the organization and work of the parent-teacher association and committees work; Parliamentary Procedure, its value and use, registrants being required to have a copy of Robert's Rules of Order, Revised; Councils, their organization, conduct, and programs; High School Publicity; and Public Schools (a copy of the book "Our Public Schools," included in the fee).

A registration fee of $1.00 is charged to cover the cost of materials for each prescribed course. Correspondence courses are used effectively as a basis for study groups, and are revised each year to meet the changing needs of the local leaders so as to make the references conform to the annual congress publications. The leader of the group may have taken the course previously or may use the group as a discussion group for the lessons as they are received.

Ensemble Vogue Is Spreading to Furs

The fur coats move into the fashion spotlight again, carrying ensemble suggestions with them. Among up-to-the-minute styled coats, these attract wide popularity.

RECREATION IS ONE INTENT OF BIG GATHERING

WOMEN WILL DISCUSS CENTENNIAL CONTEST

Their annual encampment will include families of 4-H club members as the boys and girls of Gray county, home demonstration club women, and farmers generally gather at the E. E. Gething ranch south of Laketon on Thursday.

The family camp will be opened at 4 p. m. in the beautifully wooded and watered picnic site. The county council of women's clubs will probably convene at 5 p. m., but the early hours will be devoted mostly to making camp, swimming, and visiting. After a picnic lunch, there will be stunts by various groups around the camp fire.

Breakfast will be by clubs, with each group preparing and serving its own meal. The women's program of the morning will include a discussion of the Centennial Farm Improvement contest, a talk on yard improvement by Sadie Lee Oliver of Canadian, and a talk on pioneering experiences by Mrs. W. W. Owens of Hemphill county.

The big group will break camp following lunch. Sleep—if any—will be under the stars Thursday night. Many previous camps have been rained out, hence weather prophets are predicting a shower with more than usual confidence.

Assisting in the camp will be Miss Ruby Adams, home demonstration agent; Ralph Thomas, county agent; Clyde Carruth, assistant county agent; and officers of various club and control association groups which make up the extensive personnel of the farm program in Gray county.

TONGUE VERY POPULAR DISH ON HOT DAYS

Inexpensive Food Can Be Prepared in Many Ways. DENTON, Aug. 17.—Tongue is becoming one of the most popular dishes for the summer. It is very inexpensive, can be prepared a long time before hand, and can be served alone or in combinations.

Preparation of tongue: Clean the tongue with a vegetable brush and put into enough gently boiling water to cover it. Add one teaspoon of salt for every quart of water used. Boil until tender when pierced with a fork, two hours usually being required for cooking. When tender remove from the water and take off the skin and roots. Place in the ice box until ready for use.

Sliced tongue and mint jelly: Slice the tongue lengthwise. Surround the tongue with mounded mint jelly. For mint jelly use 1 1/4 c. water, 3 1/4 c. sugar, juice of 1/2 lemon, 1/2 bottle of Certo and 1/2 c. mint leaves.

Measure the water, add 1/2 t. of green coloring and stir until dissolved. Add mint leaves, sugar and strained lemon juice to the water and boil. At once add the Certo, stirring constantly; bring again to a full boiling point and boil for 1/2 minute. Remove from the fire and let stand one minute, then skin off the leaves. Pour into individual molds and let set until firm. The small one inch muffin tins are good to mold it in.

Sliced Tongue on Toast: Dice two cups of left-over tongue and make a white sauce, using three tablespoons of butter, three tablespoons of flour, one eighth teaspoon of salt and one cup of milk. Add the sauce to the tongue, pour over a toasted slice of bread. Serve hot.

Tongue salad: Use 1 T. Knox Sparkling gelatin, 1 c. diced tongue, 1 c. boiling water, juice of 1 lemon, 1/2 c. cold water, 3 T. sugar and pinch of salt.

Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Then dissolve in boiling water; add sugar, salt, and lemon juice, and stir until dissolved. When the mixture begins to thicken add the tongue. Line a pan with sliced stuffed olives at regular intervals. Pour gelatin mixture over this and let set. When ready to serve, cut in squares and serve on breaded lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

BOOKS PRESENTED LIBRARY AT THEATER EVENT FRIDAY NIGHT NUMBER OVER SEVEN HUNDRED

Pampa's public library is larger by more than 700 books as the result of "library night," at La Nora theater Friday.

Some of the books are old, some new. Some are classical, some popular fiction. There are religious and scientific works, school texts, and even complete sets of books. Many very desirable books for children are included. It will be necessary to discard a surprisingly small number of the books.

Those receiving books at the theater door were Mrs. James Todd Jr., librarian; Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Miss Margaret Buckler, Mrs. P. E. Leech, Arthur Teed, and Olin E. Hinkle.

The event was made possible through the generosity of Carl Benefield, theater manager, and the cooperation of the public was even greater than was expected. The program for the evening included W. C. Fields and Mary Brian in "Man on the Flying Trapeze"; a comedy, "Better than Gold," and Paramount News.

Dixie club members entertained their husbands with a bounteous supper on Red river Tuesday evening.

The following attended: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Boland, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ackley, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Barty Ray, Mrs. Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Huddleston, Henry Caldwell, Woodruff Sims, D. Boland, Dortha Boland, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hall, Mary Hall, Wesley Sims, Dortha Huddleston, Margaret Huddleston, Jay Paul Ackley, Mrs. Gus Allen and family, and Chuffee Ray.

The Dixie Sewing club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Russell Ackley. Mrs. Gus Allen received the monthly gift, and Mrs. Ackley was presented many birthday gifts.

At the close of the afternoon watermelon was served to Mesdames B. M. Bjoland, Eugene Huddleston, A. B. Sims, S. W. Graves, Floyd Hall, Gus Allen, and the hostess.

McLEAN, Aug. 17.—A. A. Tamplin, head of the vocational agriculture department of the McLean schools for several years, has been chosen to fill a similar position in the Quail schools.

EDITORIAL

TEXAS PRESS OPPOSES AMENDMENTS

(From the Texas Weekly)

With only a fortnight remaining before Texas voters move to the polls, a rising tide of opposition to proposed amendments to the Constitution is sweeping across the State with such force that it may engulf the entire state. So diversified in character and so broad in scope are these suggested constitutional changes that public opinion has been slow in forming, but the vigilant press has raised its editorial voice in warning and skepticism in the public mind has given way to apprehension and even to alarm.

Typical of the attitude of most newspapers in this comment from the Tyler Journal and the Troup Banner "The more we study the seven proposed constitutional amendments the more we are inclined to vote against every one of them. They are obscure, poorly worded, uncertain in their wording in many instances. They propose to give us certain things that we are in favor of—but, along with these things, we have to take other things that we don't want. It ought to be 'against the law' for the Legislature to submit more than one single proposition in any proposed constitutional amendment. Take that one about textbooks, for example. If you favor free textbooks for sectarian schools as proposed, you have got to submit to a different way of apportioning the State school funds. No wonder so many proposed constitutional amendments of high merit get 'swatted.' They nearly always have a joker, or some other little slick trick slipped into them that will open the way for the politician and the legislative political log roller."

A great many newspapers are saying, "take that one about textbooks, for example." One of the curious developments of the past two weeks is the manner in which the perennially controversial prohibition question has been relegated to second place place in public interest. An apparently harmless amendment which begins, "for or against the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas permitting the furnishing of free textbooks to each child of scholastic age attending any school in this State," has come to transcend the repeal issue in importance. The Mission Times considers it "undoubtedly the most dangerous" of the entire group, declaring that "the fundamental on which the American government rests today is separation of church and State, and turning to the more subtle danger involved in the proposal: 'If this amendment were passed the present method of distributing the available school fund would be changed. The per capita apportionment method of equitable distribution as now written into the Constitution would be taken out and the method would be determined by the Legislature. Thus the important matter of equitable apportionment of the school fund would be made a political football to be kicked about and changed at will, according to which political faction has the more power.'"

The Greenville Banner comments tersely on the proposal: "By shunting public moneys into private schools or parochial institutions, are we not only turning back into the Church-and-State trend we fought against hundreds of years ago in establishing these United States, but also endangering the public schools we prize so highly?" And the Ward County News calls it "a pretty smooth scheme" and opposes it heartily: "As we see the above amendment it is a pretty smooth scheme to provide textbooks free to all the schools, private as well as public, at the expense of the taxpayer. If the private patrons are able to keep up their private schools they certainly ought to be able to buy textbooks for their pupils and not add an additional burden to taxpayers already heavily loaded."

Arousing only desultory comment is the repeal question and it is likely to be superseded by the deceptive old age pension amendment as public interests wax hotter. The idea of protecting the aged against the vicissitudes of life is one to inspire humanitarian sympathy, but that it can be dangerous when politically administered is pointed out by the press. The "Rambler" columnist of the New Braunfels Herald recognizes the appeal of the principle involved when he prefaces his opposition with the statement, "at the risk of severe criticism for a seeming lack of feeling for the aged unfortunates, Rambler will be forced to vote against this proposal."

But, indeed, the articulate press is generally in opposition. The Bonham Favorite declares in straight forward fashion: "Somehow we hesitate about voting to pay a man a fifteen dollars a month pension just because he is 65 years old and owns a good blackland farm and a lot of government bonds. What's the use of making the young pay a pension to the old who already have plenty?"

The fallacy which the Favorite detects is that the amendment, loosely drawn, does not restrict the payment of pensions to the indigent but lists as eligible to be pensioned everyone over 65 years of age. This would inject questions of public charity into the vagaries of politics. The Ferguson Forum is campaigning militantly against the amendment, and the "Echo" columnist of the Sulphur Springs News-Telegram, confessing intimately that "the Echo man and Governor Jim are sleeping in the same bed in the campaign against old age pensions," has this to say: "No millionaire around this old town will ever get an old age pension, unless they do so over the dead bodies of Jim Ferguson and the Echo man. The Government does not owe these fellows anything, and in the language of the lamented Governor Jim Hogg: 'By gattins, they are not going to get it.' We are for the down and out, regardless of age, but not for these guys."

The Pittsburgh Gazette, adding its voice to the chorus against the amendment, believes the movement for old age pensions "is another beautiful dream that may end in a financial nightmare." And Austin Callan discusses the question humanly in a column published in many Texas papers: "I'm in favor of soaking innocent taxpayers for my hard luck in getting bent and bald . . . I don't hold the Government responsible for my age any more than for my corns. Both seem to come naturally like cutting eye teeth or falling in love. Not a penny ought to be subtracted from a working man's wage or a producer's profit on his whipoorwill peas to compensate us for just chalking up a lot of mileage. . . . Old age pensions will not only have a tendency to discourage thrift in one's earning years but they will place an extra burden upon a government already busy watching politicians and running down bootleggers."

Already wary of many misleading proposals submitted to the public in the form of constitutional amendments, the press shows little sympathy for the proposal to empower the Legislature to submit amendments in called sessions as well as regular sessions. The Cleburne Times-Review says trenchantly: "Personally we can see several objections to the Legislature having authority to present amendments at called sessions, the chief one being that this power might result in too many called sessions. As things now stand the Legislature is in session entirely too much and there's no use giving it the incentive to increase the time the taxpayers kick in ten bucks a day. Changing the Constitution requires deliberate thought. It is not a thing to kick about at the whims and fancies of everybody. We think waiting until a regular session of the Legislature should give sufficient time to iron out all flaws and special interests being submitted changes to our people."

The sum and substance of all this widespread criticism is expressing increasing opposition to the slate of seven amendments to be voted on August 24th, and it is likely that its opposition reflects a similar attitude held by the people generally. Most of the newspapers discuss the proposals separately—and they are so divergent in character that they perhaps should be discussed separately—yet most of the amendments reflect a common fallacy of much significance. The textbook amendment undermines constitutional safeguards against the hazards of practical politics by removing from the Constitution the method of distributing school funds and throwing it into the arena of politics. The old age pension proposal would have a similar effect by decreasing all persons over 65 eligible for pensions without limiting pension payments to those actually in need. And the amendment to permit the Legislature to submit constitutional changes in special sessions would lay the Constitution bare to the ravages of selfish politics. Consequently it is not to an extreme to say that Texas confronts a real danger from more than one source through the insidious tendency to erode constitutional safeguards against political trial and error.

It is this fundamental objection which may prove to be of determining significance. In this era of unrest and change the spirit is growing among the people to protect the Constitutions of the State and nation against the hazards of experiment and undefined objectives. And it is not surprising that even proposals which may be desirable in principle are being strenuously resisted because some loose construction threatens to release constitutional principles to the manipulations of practical politics.

WILEY POST IN FILM OPENING AT REX TODAY

STUDIES MOVIE MAKING AS HE ACTS IN AIR PICTURE

Wiley Post, noted "round-the-world" aviator, was more interested in the mechanical side of motion pictures than in the acting when he was making his screen debut in Columbia's "Air Hawks" which opens today at the Rex theater.

Post has an important role in the picture in support of Ralph Bellamy, Tala Birell, Victor Kilhan, Douglas Dumbrille, and Billie Seward.

When he was on the set waiting for a scene to start he learned his dialogue first, then he spent much of his spare time questioning the sound man on all the mechanics of recording. He was especially interested in the camera work and in the system used to synchronize the sound and sight of a motion picture.

He made a thorough study of the science of lighting a set and discovered that 55,000 kilowatt hours of electricity are needed to light the sets of a picture such as "Air Hawks."

"Air Hawks" presents Post enacting himself as a pilot of a plane making a transcontinental stratosphere flight. The plot of the picture concerns itself with the thrilling battle between two transport companies for supremacy of the air regions.

RACE MEET TO BEGIN AUG. 31 AT PANHANDLE

WILL CONTINUE THRU LABOR DAY TO SEPT. 7

PANHANDLE, Aug. 17.—Three hundred horses are expected in Panhandle for the ninth semi-annual race meet, which will be held from Saturday, Aug. 31, through Saturday, Sept. 7. Attendance on Monday, Sept. 2, Labor Day, is expected to set a record for the Panhandle track.

Supt. M. B. Davidson said that never has there been so much interest manifested in the Southwest Race Meet. Already 30 horses are in the stalls at Panhandle. The local barns have facilities for the management of about 100 more stalls.

Racing also should set a new high standard, Supt. Davidson believes. Horse owners already have told him and written him that they expect the competition to be plenty strong at Panhandle.

Thirty or forty horses should be here from Aug. Caliente, Mexico, based on Aug. 21, through Saturday, Sept. 28 are expected Sunday or Monday from Caliente.

As the fall season for racing in Texas opens at Panhandle, horse owners throughout the south and middle west are showing interest in the local meet. Horses will go from Pashandle to Amarillo for the Tri-State Fair and will then be taken to other meets down state.

Recently the Southwest Race Meet sent programs to all known horse owners in many states. But there are dozens of owners in the local management, and they have written to the racing secretary for programs.

CALLOWAY TO RETURN SOON TO PAMPA

In response to the requests of dance and music lovers of Pampa and this territory the management of the Pampa-Mor dance hall has booked a return engagement of Jean Calloway and her popular orchestra.

They will play here Tuesday night and plans have been made to care for the large crowd which is expected.

The Calloway orchestra, with Jean Calloway as leader, is composed of twelve colored artists who are widely known for their Victor recordings.

The floor show which will be held in connection with the dance, is said by many who have seen the features, to be worth the price of admission.

Having throughout the country as the "swing" personality, Jean Calloway has won acclaim as the queen of hi-de-ho.

She and her 12-piece orchestra have appeared in every major city in the country and have been featured in the leading RKO Public Fox, Pancho and Marco theaters from coast to coast.

The band is on a limited tour of this territory direct from a record breaking run at the Plantation Club in New York and the Cotton Club, Chicago, and each and every place where the band has been presented.

The youngest of the famous Calloway family, her music is said to rival that of the first of the family that has made the name Calloway so internationally renowned and famous, the well known Cab Calloway.

Dancing will begin at 9:30 and last until 1:30. Plans are being made to care for a large crowd. (Adv.)

BIRDBRAND COWBOYS WILL BE IN PAMPA ON MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Phil Phillips' Orchestra To Be Here on Monday

Phil Phillips, veteran orchestra leader and showman, is assembling a group of top-notch musicians and entertainers to open at the Southern club Monday, Aug. 19. Among the features will be Miss Lela Hunter, soloist, who has spent several seasons with orchestras and in vaudeville, Jelly Green, violinist, is leaving Blue Steele's orchestra in Chicago to join Phillips.

His Blueett, whose special arrangements, are played by numerous orchestras, over the country, will preside at the saxophone and will have charge of the manuscript department, Skinny Roberts, drummer, and viaphone artist will be present.

Announcement of the engagement was made by J. D. White, manager of the Southern club.

finished," she said while the ink dried on her new agreement. She said she was sorry the break had stirred up such a row.

Hecht and McArthur will produce "Soak the Rich" at the Paramount Long Island studios, in Astoria. They have not yet signed any other members of the cast, but they indicated they would like to have Billie Merrith and Frank Morgan for roles.

Miss Loy's new bosses went to Hollywood in 1933. After a year they gave the Hollywood producers up as hopeless and came back east to write and make their own pictures.

They made "Crime Without Passion." The critics liked it, but it didn't bring money into the box office. Then they got Noel Coward (the Hollywood producers had been trying to get him for years) and made a box office hit, "The Scoundrel."

The Birdbrand Cowboys, five colorful musicians of the range, will be in Pampa and surrounding territory Monday and Tuesday. At that time they will give their repertoire of cowboy ballads, frontier tunes as well as popular airs of the present time.

The Birdbrand Cowboys broadcast every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday over WFAA-WBAP at 11:15 a. m. Their appearance in full cowboy outfit, chaps, spurs, huge sombreros, handkerchiefs, high boots and gay shirts, enhance their programs.

The instruments upon which they perform include a fiddle, banjo, guitar, piano, accordion, harmonica, and base viol. Their programs include such numbers as "Old Faithful," "Home on the Range," "A Little Red Barn in Indiana," "Round Up miTa exneft' ietaoinshru Up Time in Texas," "Shortenin' Bread" and "She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain."

The fiddler of the group, known as "Uncle Jim" is not only an accomplished "break-down" fiddler, but is also broncho buster of such skill that he can easily prove that the Birdbrand Cowboys are really denizens of the range.

The banjo player, known as "Cyclone" is almost fullblood Cherokee Indian, and looks it. He has a pleasing voice, and varies his performance on the banjo by singing sentimental tunes which he accompanies on his guitar.

The piano player, "Buck," does not stop with frontier tunes, but can give high-brow music to those who like it.

Red Cross Sums Up Good Deeds of Will Rogers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The national Red Cross today was compiling a remarkable honor roll—the good deeds of Will Rogers.

It ran like this: September, 1926—Worked with Charles Evans Hughes, now chief justice, in a Florida hurricane benefit aboard the Leviathan.

October, 1926—Donated $20,000 for continuing Red Cross public health nursing in places where it was to be cut off due to depression. Only two months ago the Red Cross sent Rogers a pictorial report of the good done with this money.

May, 1933—Rogers wired the Red Cross his intention of "litterin' up the mike with a little Oklahoma grammar" to "make contribution to a couple of good causes" unemphatic relief work of the Red Cross and Salvation Army.

Today James L. Fieser, speaking for Admiral Cary T. Grayson, vacationing in Maine, and the entire Red Cross organization said: "Literally thousands of Red Cross chapter people will personally miss Will Rogers, not alone for his numerous financial gifts in the furtherance of better health and happier living, and in disaster relief, but on account of his personal donations to them as he often unexpectedly arrived at the point where the need was greatest."

"They will never forget his generosity and personal effort in the days of the Mississippi flood and the great drought. He was always an active supporter and friend of the Red Cross."
