U. S. BOMBERS, FIGHTERS BLAST NAZI-HELD FRANCE

Huge Fortresses Go Into Action Over Lille Area

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—More than 100 United States bombers attacked the industrial Lille region of Northern France today in the biggest American bomber and fighter force ever to take the air in the European war theater.

United States army air forces headquarters, promising a more detailed announcement later, issued this terse communique:

"More than 100 U. S. bombers attacked targets in the Lille area this morning.

"Many squadrons of fighters too part in this operation." A big part of the bombing force, an extraordinary number for a daylight raid, was made up of great, four-motored Flying Fortresses, and the Americans were joined in the assault by the RAF and many squadrons of Allied fighters.

The fortresses and escorting fighters—many of which were Spitfires and Hurricanes flown by United States pilots—roared out to what was believed to have been the largest daylight operation of its kind in the war.

The exact objectives were not disclosed immediately but the raid apparently was aimed primarily at the Lille region, the big industrial area of Northern France.

This blow came only 48 hours after the United States army command had warned French workers through a BBC broadcast to move away from the vicinity of French war factories which were helping the Germans.

Observers on the coast—who saw sky-filling squadrons over a wide area—reported that one bomber force alone numbered more than 100 planes.

A bright sun shone and visibility was excellent over the Dover straits as the United Nations planes shuttled to and fro throughout the morning.

The operation was first observed early when squadrons of Spitfires returned from the direction of Calais and Cape Gris Nez on the French side. Larger formations of fighters soon were fanning out toward the French and Belgian coasts.

Then the largest formation of United States bombers seen in Britain, with a big escort of Spitfires and Hurricanes, dived over the channel past Ramsgate. Still later, glistering United States fighters, bound back from the direction of Dieppe, dived out of the sun toward Folkestone.

Canadian fighter squadrons were understood to have formed part of the fortress' convoy.

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor Soviet headquarters today reported that Russian troops had broken into German trenches northwest of Stalingrad and beat off four night attacks inside the Volga metropolis, while the Nazis captured two streets of an industrial suburb at a sacrifice of 2,000 dead.

For the first time since the siege began, Adolf Hitler's field headquarters omitted any mention of the gigantic battle for Stalingrad.

Soviet reports said German invasion columns sweeping south of Stalingrad had advanced into the U. S. S. R. Autonomous area of Kalmyck, which lies along the Lower Volga to the Caspian sea.

"The Germans long ago claimed they had captured Elista, a major city of the Kalmyck area, about 180 miles west of the big Caspian sea port of Astrakhan."

It was not immediately clear whether this meant the Nazis, disheartened by the slaughter and lack of success at Stalingrad, were now turning south.

Latest reports said the fighting at Stalingrad still was intense. Soviet dispatches pictured the city as an inferno of flame and smoke, but indicated that the Nazis were still far from fulfilling Hitler's 10-day-old boast that the metropolis was doomed to surrender.

Other major developments: Western air war—A vast armada of U. S. army planes and Allied fighters thundered across the English channel this morning to attack the German-occupied French "invasion" coast, apparently striking in the Boulogne-Calais zone. Observers at an English south coast town said the greatest number of fighters and bombers seen aloft in months passed overhead toward the continent. Big four-motored planes believed to be U. S. army flying fortresses, American fighters and RAF Spitfires were spotted among the huge flight of raiders. The Boulogne-Calais area lies directly across from Dover at the narrowest point of the channel. FDR Recommends Social Security Tax Be Doubled

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt notified congress today that the doubling of social security taxes next January 1 would be "not only in accord with the necessities of the social security system itself, but at the same time would contribute to the non-inflationary financing of rapidly mounting war expenditures."

In a letter to Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee, the President expressed opposition to a committee-approved amendment to the new revenue bill which would freeze payroll taxes at their present level of 1 per cent on employers and a like amount on employees for 1943.

This amendment, adopted by the committee on motion of Senator Caenbergh (R-Mich) but not yet voted upon by the senate, would state an otherwise automatic increase of the tax on Jan. 1 to a 2 per cent each on employers and employees.

The President said that as soon as congress had disposed of the pending tax bill, he was planning to submit a comprehensive program for expanding and extending the whole social security system along the lines he had suggested in his budget message last January. At that time the President proposed to enlarge the system to take in many workers not now covered, such as farm laborers and domestics. Conversion of the proposed 5 per cent victory tax into a vehicle for compulsory savings was predicted See F. D. R., Page 6

3 Killed, 5 Hurt In Bomber Crash

RAPID CITY, S. D., Oct. 9 (AP)—Three men were killed and five suffered minor injuries today in the crash of a flying fortress, four motored bomber, near the Rapid City army air base.

Col. Charles B. Oldfield, base commander, said a board of qualified air force officers had been appointed to determine the exact cause of the crash.

The plane burst into flames after striking a hill about three miles north of the base while coming in for a landing shortly after midnight. The huge ship was demolished as it hit and hurtled over the hillside. The crew was returning from a routine night training flight. It was the first plane accident at the base.

The dead were: Second Lieut. Edwin W. Smith, 22, navigator, Alexandria, Ark. Sgt. James F. Hackney, 23, gunner, Pine Bluff, Ark. Sgt. James E. Lefever, 22, radio operator, Columbus, Ohio.

Women Can Now Enroll In Pampa Defense Classes

For the first time since the school was established in September, 1941, women will be admitted to machine tool operation classes at the Pampa national defense school, located at the high school building.

A permit from the U. S. Employment service is necessary to enter the school, and women applicants are advised to confer with Fred Brownlee, shop supervisor, and W. H. Challoway, coordinator, at the high school building Monday. A representative of the U. S. E. S. will be present.

First women students are expected at the class at the 6 p. m. period Monday. For the present the women will join the men in the class and no separate class for women is contemplated at present. Applicants must be between the ages of 19 and 31, must agree to take employment in a war plant on successful completion of the course, and must be available to be sent where assigned.

Senators Urge 'Freezing' Of Farm Workers

BULLETIN WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Describing the manpower problem as the most serious question confronting the nation, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today introduced a bill to create a new office of manpower director, with overall authority over recruiting personnel for the armed forces, agriculture, industry and essential civilian occupations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Fifteen farm state senators petitioned Selective Service Director Hershey today to freeze dairy and livestock workers on the farms for the next three months to prevent "irreparable injury" to food production while a general manpower control program is worked out.

"We are convinced that specific action to halt the continuing drain of manpower from our livestock and dairy farms cannot be delayed longer without seriously impairing the whole war effort," they declared in a letter circulated by Senators Ball (R-Minn.) and Brown (D-Mich.).

"The number of farm auctions is growing rapidly and hundreds of fine dairy herds are being sold or slaughtered because the owners can not hold the help essential to continued operation. Unless the trend is halted immediately, a crippling reduction in food production will occur."

The census bureau reported last night that agricultural employment had declined to 10,200,000 persons, a drop of 1,000,000 between August and September, and Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board declared the time was rapidly approaching when the government must decide at what point the limit will be reached in building up the armed forces.

"Until we reach this limit," Nelson said, "it is a question of constant adjustment. Women are coming into war industries and other new sources of manpower are being tapped but sometime we will reach the bottom of the barrel."

There is an "outside limit," he said, on how large an army can be equipped and supplied.

Specifically, the 15 senators asked General Hershey to direct all local selective service boards to defer for at least 90 days all men engaged in either dairy or livestock production on farms, "such deferment to be cancelled immediately and the See SENATORS, Page 6

Probe Of Alleged Combine To Begin

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Federal grand jury investigation of an alleged "gigantic combine" in control of food prices will begin next week with the presentation of evidence. The News says today.

Food purchasing habits and the prices paid by approximately a fourth of the population of the nation and alleged virtual control of several important food crops of the country will be involved in the probe, the newspaper said.

FDR's Radio Speech At 9 p. m. On Monday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today his previously announced radio speech would be made next Monday at 9 p. m., Central War time, and would last about half an hour. He reiterated at a press conference that he had not decided what subjects he would talk about. On Tuesday he said he probably would cover many subjects, which he had been thinking about himself and which had been suggested to him.

Coke Favors 90-Day Postponement Of Gas Rationing In Nation

AUSTIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson today said he favored a 90-day postponement of nationwide gasoline rationing as suggested by the petroleum industry council.

He said he too would like to give voluntary rationing and the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit a chance to prove its effectiveness in conserving rubber.

The governor said he had noted in a recent trip to Huntsville "long lines of cars moving along slowly, observing the 35-mile limit."

Army Fliers Dropping Your Scrap On Kiska

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The navy announced today that army bombers, continuing their steady pounding of Japanese in the Aleutian Islands, had dropped 15 tons of bombs on the enemy base at Kiska last Tuesday, starting fires in the camp area, damaging a cargo ship in harbor and strafing the radio station.

This information was given in navy communique No. 145, which also disclosed the loss, in the Atlantic, of the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Muskeget, the former S. S. Cornish, of the Eastern Steamship Lines.

The 1,827-ton steam vessel had been overdue "for some time and must be presumed to be lost," the navy said. Loss of the entire personnel—the Muskeget had a normal complement of about 100 officers and men—also was presumed.

Amarillo To Obtain 745 Housing Units

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—A public war housing project to provide 745 war housing units in Amarillo was approved today by the national housing agency in Washington.

Preston L. Wright, NHA regional representative, announced today. In addition, a quota of 175 houses to be financed and constructed by private builders, with priorities assistance was announced.

The public housing project, identified as Amarillo Local Housing Project No. 1, will include 225 family dwelling units, 320 temporary dormitory apartments, each to house two persons, and 200 temporary dormitory units, each to house one person. The project will be financed and built by the federal public housing authority.

For the 175 privately built houses, WPA priorities assistance will be available on application by builders. Priorities application forms and complete information for the private houses may be obtained from the nearest FHA office.

Soldier Charged In Girl's Death

BASTROP, Oct. 9 (AP)—Investigating officers reviewing evidence against George S. Knapp, St. Paul, Minn., drafted charged with the attack-murder in the death of 16-year-old Lucy Rivers Maynard, expect to place their findings before Maj. Gen. Harry L. Twaddle, 95th division commander, late today.

Knapp was charged with murder shortly after the girl died. She was beaten and bruised and later found in a ravine 24 hours after she disappeared Wednesday on her way home from school. She was the daughter of County Judge C. B. Maynard.

Col. Marlin C. Martin, investigating officer, worked through last night in an effort to complete his report in time for action by the general today.

If the evidence warrants it, Gen. Twaddle will order a general court martial before which Knapp will be brought for immediate arraignment.

API Prepares To Show Texas Scrap Chief That Gray County's Going 'All Out' In Campaign

Rusty, ugly scrap—the stuff you call junk—will have its innings and Pampa and the Top O' Texas will be invited to join members of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute in a live-wire, patriotic demonstration when the chapter holds its fall meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the junior high school auditorium.

There won't be a dull moment on the program, and you'll get a better idea on what this scrap metal campaign is all about than you've ever had before, because by eye and ear the facts will be brought home to you.

First of all, there'll be an expert on salvage present to talk on "The Scrap Metal Campaign." He is Lewis C. Huffy of Dallas, assistant executive secretary of the Texas Scrap committee, and he has all the facts and figures ready for all the answers.

Secretary Huff has been here before—but this time it's something different. All Gray county, the oil men, students, and everyone else, aiming for just one thing—to show Mr. Huff that Gray county doesn't take a back seat to any other when it comes to patriotism.

Where Scrap Goes After you've listened to Mr. Huff give you the vital facts on scrap metal, you'll see motion pictures that dramatically portray the manufacture of steel at the Youngstown Steel & Tube company.

From the manufacture of the steel that goes into guns, ships, and planes, you'll be carried along to motion pictures of the present conflict, with a high spot being the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Walter Biery and Charles Alford are in charge of entertainment on the program. The motion pictures of the war will be exhibited by Dr. Roy A. Webb and Ray McKernan.

This meeting is open to public and is not restricted to members of the A. P. I. Every man, woman, and child ought to turn out and make this the biggest demonstration of patriotism ever held here.

Don't think that because of the meeting next week all activity in gathering scrap is hanging fire. It isn't. The meeting will simply climax the rapid-fire collecting of scrap metal that started here last August and is gaining ground at a faster clip each day.

Pampa schools have set their goal as being the first in the nation to get their pound-for-pound quota for every pupil, teacher, and janitor, in all the local public schools.

Supr. L. L. Sone is fairly confident Pampa school children will do it, too.

The high school is making a lightning war and has the objective of reaching its quota today, so students can get a half-holiday Monday.

Vital Information

A decrease of 2 1/2 per cent in tank car shipments of oil to the east coast was registered in the figure of 835,530 barrels daily reported for the week ending Sept. 28, as compared with shipments of the preceding week.

The War Production board, both in Washington and in the field, has gone on a full 6-day week for the duration. The regular office hours of WPB now are from 9:30 a. m. to 5:15 p. m. daily except Sunday. Purpose of the administrative order is to insure that all offices and units of WPB function six days a week, without a let down on Saturday afternoons.

A public war housing project to include 804 units at Etter, Texas, north of Dumas in Moore county, has been approved by the National Housing Agency, Preston L. Wright, regional NHA representative in Dallas, announces. The project will be financed and built by the Federal Public Housing Agency.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Grain prices derived only temporary strength today from upward revision of ceilings on various types of flour and early gains of fractions to about a cent a bushel were soon wiped out. Losses ranging up to almost a cent were posted.

CRUDE OIL STOCKS DECLINE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The bureau of mines reported today stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum at the close of the week ended Oct. 3 totaled 241,179,000 barrels, a net decrease of 1,806,000 barrels compared with the previous week. Stocks of domestic oil decreased 1,830,000 barrels for the week and foreign crude decreased 76,000 barrels.

number of trucks operated in any unit has been increased in the interim. Moreover, under the order, a carrier aiding to the business of an operating unit through the purchase of an operation or portion of an operation from another carrier must reduce the 1942 mileage of the operating unit by at least 25 per cent of the total 1941 mileage of the original and the acquired operations. This was the subject of one of four interpretations issued by Jack Garrett Scott, general counsel of the ODT. To check the rising cost of live cattle, OPA today limited to 23 cents per pound the price which any packer or wholesaler may charge for dressed choice or grade AAA steers and heifers. Maximums also are set for lower grades of beef in the new amendment No. 6 to MPR 169. Maury Maverick, chief of the bureau of governmental requirements, announces the appointment of Dan W. Turner, former governor of Iowa, as chief of a new prison industry branch of the bread. The branch will have the responsibility of making the most efficient use of manpower and equipment existing in America's state prisons for the production of goods needed in the war effort.

Deliveries of materials for emergency repairs to air conditioning and commercial refrigeration equipment will continue to receive high preference ratings, under terms of amendment No. 2 to preference rating order P-126. The amendment Sept. 30, to October 31.

Nazi Warships Menace Arctic Route

Germany's fleet is small in number of warships, but it is a big menace to the allied aid route across the Arctic to Russia and a big headache to U. S. and British navies. At least two battleships—the Tirpitz and Scharnhorst—and some 19 other surface vessels are believed based in the well-protected Norwegian fjords for raiding the supply route along with Nazi dive bombers. These 20-odd warships tie up a much greater number of allied naval vessels in convoy duty and protecting the British home waters.

IS YOUR WEIGHT HERE?

HERE'S WHERE YOUR WEIGHT in scrap metal should be right now—right in the baler machine which turns out compact 500-pound bundles of potential trouble for our enemies. Sheet metal, rods, and fragments of every description are crushed, turned and squeezed again until they are taken from the baler machines. Have you turned in your weight in scrap metal yet? If not, don't wait; turn it in today.

Allies Belt Japs In Pacific Zone

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Persistently belting Japanese invaders throughout the vast Pacific war zone, the Allied offensive left surprised enemy forces in the Solomon Islands today with eight less aircraft and five damaged ships including a heavy cruiser.

The latest of the recently initiated attacks which already have forced the Japanese back virtually to their starting point in New Guinea and apparently driven them out of two of the three western Aleutian Islands they once occupied, struck at the heart of the Nipponese invasion base in the north Solomons.

Catching the Japanese unawares in bad weather, an American aircraft carrier force shattered the enemy's ships and planes in the Shortland Island area, on Monday, the navy disclosed last night.

Simultaneously, long range bombers under General Douglas MacArthur's Australian command forestalled an aerial counter-attack by splashing the enemy's airbases in nearby islands with bombs.

Without loss of a man or a plane, the navy's aircraft made a heavy cruiser and two cargo ships and a seaplane tender with lighter bombs. Two enemy seaplanes and two bombers were shot down and four 4-engined flying boats were destroyed in the harbor. In addition, low-flying craft poured bullets into another cruiser and destroyer.

The new thrust in the Allied offensive program was a result of observations by long-range reconnaissance aircraft in recent weeks, the navy said.

Shock Troops Quit Stalingrad Fight

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The necessity of conserving valuable shock troops and engineering detachments which had been suffering severe casualties in the streets of Stalingrad was regarded by competent London sources today as the factor underlying German assertion that immediate attempts to storm the city will cease.

Berlin broadcasts quoted German spokesmen as saying that the task of reducing the great Volga stronghold, after 46 days of head-on assault, would be left to artillery and bombers.

These London sources, who could not be identified by name, regarded this indication of the unbroken Russian stand as encouraging. They advised, however, against undue optimism, or the assumption that the German people were being conditioned to receive word of a possible withdrawal from the immediate vicinity of Stalingrad to a winter defensive line.

Laborers Needed At Hawaiian Air Depot

The Tenth Civil Service region sends out an S. O. S. to classified laborers for immediate employment at the Hawaiian air depot, Vaughn Darnell, local civil service secretary, announced today.

Wages begin at $1320 a year while training at the San Antonio, Texas, air depot, and will be increased 25 per cent immediately upon embarkation to Hawaii. The government will furnish transportation and reimbursement for meals from San Antonio to Hawaii.

Applicants must have four years of schooling, or at least six months of experience in manual work above the grade of unskilled laborer, and a 3-A draft classification.

Applications are not desired from persons who are engaged in war work, except in those cases where the positions open call for the use of higher skills than the worker is now using in his present employment.

Japs Claim To Be Advancing Against American Resistance

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A German broadcast, quoting what the announcer said was a Tokyo dispatch, reported today that Japanese troops had made an advance against stiff American resistance on Guadalcanal, in the Solomon Islands.

WPB Would Raise Oil Well Level

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) of a senate subcommittee studying means of encouraging explorations for new oil fields received today from a war production board official the recommendation that increased price levels be fixed for wells brought in since last Nov. 1.

The proposal, by Wayne Johnson, petroleum advisor to the WPB, was offered as his preference to a general price increase on crude oils as suggested by the petroleum industry.

Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman told the committee of the efforts made by his agency to coordinate all models of transportation in order to relieve the oil shortage on the east coast.

Johnson said in a telegram to O'Mahoney that during the world war congress "adopted a reward" for the bringing in of new oil wells.

He is aware, he added, that changing conditions and shortage of critical materials made the situation somewhat different today, but that nevertheless he believed a similar method of promoting wild-cats still might be adopted with success.

Johnson said that in the absence of "a stronger showing than has already been made" by those seeking a general price increase, he was opposed to such a measure.

Scrap Metal Will Meet War Needs If Drive Continues

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson of the war department predicted today that the nationwide collection of scrap metal would meet the war needs of the steel industry "if the drive is continued at its present momentum."

Patterson stressed, however, that the campaign must not slacken before winter interferes.

He told his press conference that army arsenals had made heavy contributions and were "cleaned out now."

Utah Takes Lead In Collection Of Scrap

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Utah today jumped ahead of all other states in the scrap salvage campaign led by the nation's newspapers which reported the 24 top-ranking states so far had collected 395,225 tons.

The Newspaper's United Scrap Metal Drive committee announced that Utah, with a population of 550,000, had gathered 17,000 tons in the drive which began Sept. 28 and ends Oct. 17.

The tonnage rolled up by Utah represented a collection of 61.9 pounds for every man, woman and child in the state.

Oregon, first yesterday, was second today with a total tonnage of 25,000, or 45.4 pounds per person. Pennsylvania was third with 147,983 tons, or 29.9 pounds per capita.

Town Decides Not To Do Any 'Beefing'

ASHLAND, O., Oct. 9 (AP)—This city experienced its first "beefless" day of this war yesterday—but it didn't go meatless. It just grinned.

The 12,000 residents were pledged not to complain, or "beef" about anything. It was the idea of American Legion leaders, who said such "beefless" days would continue every Thursday for the war's duration.

Woodruff Slaps At Foes Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Calling for an end to "damning congress if it does and damning congress if it doesn't," Representative Woodruff (R-Mich.) told the house today that "full responsibility, the whole blame or credit, for poor or brilliant work in prosecuting the war belongs to the White House."

Woodruff said congress had given the President "every dollar and every power he has asked for." And said it was "an insult to the public intelligence x x x for administration apologists to attempt to shoulder onto the congress the blame for failures in the war effort."

Rubber-Producing Shrub Plantings To Be Increased

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Authorization for the Department of Agriculture to increase the plantings of guayule, a rubber-producing shrub, from 75,000 to 500,000 acres, was voted yesterday by the house.

The legislation was returned to the senate for action on minor house amendments.

TO MEN OF 18 AND 19 THE U.S. ARMY ANNOUNCES

NEW ENLISTMENT PRIVILEGES

It is not enough for our Army to be as big and as well-equipped as the enemy's—it should also be as well-balanced in age groups. The Army invites American youth to answer that challenge."

LIEUTENANT GENERAL BREHON B. SOMERVELL, Commanding General, Services of Supply

YOU men of 18 and 19 now have the right to choose any one of 13 branches in which you want to serve. Action! Adventure! Rapid advances in pay! Splendid training and experience!

Have you stopped to think that our enemies have said they'd write the peace of the world in your own capital—Washington, D. C.? You don't have to guess what kind of a world you'd live in under that treaty.

A good many million two-fisted American men have stepped up to say "NO" to that boast. But are you going to be satisfied until you've had your say in the matter?

Right now, before you reach your 20th birthday, you have an opportunity open to men in no other age group . . . the right to enlist immediately and select one of 13 different branches of the U. S. Army.

Until now, you've been able to choose one of the 3 combat branches—Air Forces, Corps of Engineers, Coast Artillery Corps (Harbor Defense or Anti-Aircraft), Signal Corps, Field Artillery, Cavalry, Infantry and Armored Force.

New Army policy gives you the privilege of enlisting in 5 additional branches: Quartermaster Corps, Ordnance Department, Chemical Warfare Department, Medical Department, Corps of Military Police.

For full information about the branch in which you are interested, call at the nearest Army Recruiting and Induction Station.

If you want adventure and action, if you want training and experience to prepare you for the future—the sooner you join the Army the more you'll learn and the faster you'll advance.

Men of your age group who can qualify are encouraged to apply for Officer Candidate Schools, and many have become commissioned officers.

Talk this opportunity over with your parents. You certainly want to be there when the Axis banners come down and Old Glory is raised into the clear blue sky of a free world. This fight is for your country. You must make sure it's your victory too!

HITLER'S EYE VIEW OF BOMB-BLASTED GERMANY

From high above Berlin this might be Hitler's view of bomb-torn western Germany as the RAF winds up a successful summer of multi-plane raids with promise of even greater air assaults to come this fall and winter. The 1000-plane raid on Cologne May 30 touched off a series of day and night attacks that have blasted industries, railroads and air and U-boat bases in the two dozen German cities shown on the map. Joined in July by American airmen, the British stepped up their round-the-clock raids on the Nazi-occupied coasts.

Pampa-Bowie Game Starts At 8 Tonight

While the Harvesters play Bowie High school of El Paso in that city tonight, in the stands will be the Golden Sandstorm of Amarillo, which tomorrow night will carry the intersectional battle on with their game with El Paso's Austin high.

The Pampa-Bowie game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock tonight. Early today the Harvesters arrived in El Paso, after an overnight stop at Carlsbad, N. M. There's little hope on Bowie, but Coach Buck Prejan of the Harvesters expressed confidence in the ability of the Pampa eleven to win before the team left here early yesterday morning.

Austin High is out after Amarillo's scalp, but the Harvesters starting their series of games with Amarillo. This is the probable Austin starting lineup with weights: Lange, 170, and Pierson, 180, ends; Arnold, 210, and Scott, 215, tackles; Anderson, 165, and Waiser, 165, guards; Sturman, 160, center; Francis, 160; Bloodworth, 155; May, 150; and Bean, 165, backs.

Amarillo's record to date is three victories and no defeats—a record that Austin, which hasn't begun to click yet—would like to spoil.

Seventy Enter TGA Senior Tournament

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 9 (AP)—An entry list of 70, including the champion and runner-up from last year's tournament, has been assured for the sixth annual senior golf tournament of the Texas Golf Association, to be played Oct. 13 to 17 at the San Antonio country club. No prizes will be bought this year, their equivalent in cash going to Red Cross, USO or some charity designated by the prize winners. In addition to a check which he endorses over to some charity in his home town, each winner gets a plaque for his efforts.

R. H. Nix of Dallas is defending champion. Of the 70 entries thus far received, 40 are from out of town.

TCU Selected For Field Day Over Jayhawks

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor

Still ahead but nothing like as sassy, Southwest conference football teams ought to repair damaged prestige along the intersectional front tomorrow.

Because the boys are due to win all three of their games with outside foes and that will be a big help after last week found Texas and Southern Methodist taking the count in games that had been picked the other way.

Meaning Rice ought to nose out Tulane, Texas should roll over Oklahoma and Texas Christian ought to have a field day with Kansas.

Rice appears to have the hardest row. Tulane wants revenge, the Owls are bound to be in a let-down after that terrific and satisfying battle with Louisiana State, and then the Green Wave is a pretty good country club.

Texas might find Oklahoma difficult to crack for a time but should beat the Sooners down in the last half.

If T. C. U. lost to Kansas, which has yet to score on anybody much less win, it would be an upset outranking anything down here this season.

The game hardest to figure out is the Baylor-Arkansas battle that counts in the conference standing. Two weeks ago Arkansas would have been the prime favorite but the Baylor's last-half punch against Oklahoma A. and M. and Arkansas' lack of punch against T. C. U. changed that considerably.

Southern Methodist's struggle with Hardin-Simmons is another one difficult to predict. Records favor Hardin-Simmons, conquerors of Baylor and crusher of North Texas State, but S. M. U. is on the rebound and red-faced about the beating administered by lowly Pittsburg.

Texas A. and M. may have trouble with Corpus Christi Naval Air station. Marjory Karow, who used to coach at A. and M., should know all the answers on how to stop the cadets. And he has the men to do it if the NAS boys have been getting enough time to figure out the system.

Here's how they look from this corner (anticipated attended in parentheses): Texas vs Oklahoma at Dallas, 3 p. m. (35,000)—If Texas doesn't win this one we're going to start picking winners from a hat.

Rice vs Tulane at New Orleans, 2:30 p. m. (30,000)—A meek vote for the Owls in a hair-raiser.

Baylor vs Arkansas at Fayetteville, 2:30 p. m. (6,000)—You take Arkansas if you want them; we'll take Baylor.

Texas Christian vs Kansas at Fort Worth, 3 p. m. (5,000)—The Frogs ought to have an easy time after at 55 miles an hour as at 35! So today... right now, as you read this message... make a solemn promise to yourself: "Until we win the war, I will never drive over 35."

Say it again, and let the words sink in: "Until we win the war, I will never drive over 35." * * *

Notre Dame, Aggies, Texas Predicted Among Winners

Football Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—After a quick look at last week's results, this corner has decided that the only way to hit a winner this football season will be to use a shotgun. So...

Iowa Naval-Michigan: Nobody's going to get rich betting against these pre-flight schools and especially the one Bernie Bierman coached to victory over Minnesota.

Stanford-Notre Dame: The caption is strong that Notre Dame has not yet played anywhere close to its potentialities this fall. Maybe this will be the starting point for a new Notre Dame.

Southern California-Ole State: Nothing on the records to show the Trojans can beat the surprisingly strong Buckeyes, Ohio State.

Cornell-Army: Two fine backs, Ralph Hill and Hank Mazur. And a good line indicates Army will take plenty of beating this fall. Army and Missouri-Wisconsin: A close match between two fine teams. The Badgers look like the bigger handout in this perhaps near-sighted guesstimate.

Oregon State-U. C. L. A.: The Rose Bowl champions knocked off apparently over-rated California, and look too strong for UCLA, Oregon State.

Vanderbilt-Kentucky: One of these two strong Southeastern outfits will need to give away. On the toss of the coin, Vanderbilt.

Mississippi-Georgia: A major objective for Harry Mehre's Mississippians but the superior strength seems to belong to the Bulldogs, Georgia.

Oklahoma-Texas: The Longhorns should get back on the rails in this one, Texas.

Purdue-Northwestern: And Texas' conqueror, Northwestern, rates an odds-on choice against twice-beaten Purdue, Northwestern.

Minnesota-Illinois: The Illini have done well under a new head coach but they've played no Minnesota and the Gophers get this vote.

Clemson-Boston College: Clemson seems much weaker than in recent years and Boston's Eagles may be the class of the East, Boston College.

North Carolina-Fordham: Off the terrible beating Fordham took last week and North Carolina's strong showing, the Tarheels will be the betting choice. This corner plays a hunch, however, and takes Fordham.

William & Mary-Harvard: The problem with all Harlow-coached teams is to calculate their rate of improvement and the strength of the opposition. William & Mary will furnish all the opposition you can kick but another nunch ball goes to Harvard.

Colgate-Dartmouth: Possibly the best game on the eastern card. Stringing along with Dartmouth's fine backs.

Penn-Yale: Doubt that the Elis are ready for this one, Penn.

Navy-Princeton: They're playing this one in New York but it still looks like Navy whatever the site.

Kansas State-Duquesne: The Pittsburgers are good, Duquesne.

Brown-Columbia: No basis whatever for comparison. Both look like they can score. Out of the hat, Columbia.

South Carolina-West Virginia: South Carolina, on the rebound.

Indiana-Nebraska: Taking the outfit with the greater scoring record.

Pitt-Great Lakes: Despite the Panthers' rout of Southern Methodist the vote goes to Great Lakes.

Pennacola: Navy-Alabama: The Tide may be the South's greatest power. Al ama.

Auburn-Florida: Off last week's victory over Tulane, we'll take Auburn.

Rice-Tulane: This corner hesitates to predict these two even will play much less a possible winner. The coin re-appears—Tulane.

Mississippi State-Louisiana State: Another in the same class, Mississippi State.

Georgia Naval-Duke: We'll take the navy.

North Carolina, Naval-North Carolina State: Not too easy but this ballot goes to North Carolina Naval.

Baylor-Arkansas: Shooting in the dark... Baylor.

Washington-Oregon: Probably a close one. Washington.

Santa Clara - California: The Bears are disappointments. Santa Clara.

Texas A. and M.-Corpus Christi: Corpus Christi has yet to show it can meet a Southwest conference team on even terms. A. and M.

Skipping over the chalklines otherwise: Temple over Bucknell; Syracuse over Western Reserve; Georgetown over Manhattan; Penn State over Lehigh; Maryland over Rutgers; Holy Cross over Ft. Totten; Iowa over Camp Grant; Marquette over Iowa State; Tennessee over Dayton; George Washington over Citadel; Virginia Tech over Davidson; Wake Forest over Furman; Virginia Military over Virginia; Texas Christian over Kansas; Southern Methodist over Hardin-Simmons (beware of that one); Washington State over Montana; Colorado over Utah State; Colorado State over Denver, but close; Brigham Young over Utah; Wyoming over Greeley State.

Texas-Sooner Game Will Be 'All Joe' Tilt

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—The setting will be the same but the actors this time will be a bunch of guys named Joe.

This applies to both Texas and Oklahoma, who meet here tomorrow in the thirty-seventh football engagement between Longhorns and Sooners.

And you can take that literally in the case of the Texas squad which actually has three Joes.

They're symbolical of the kind of team Texas will bring to the Cotton bowl. There's not a publicized star on the list. A halfhearted effort was made to build up Jackie Field, the trackman-halfback, but neither Field nor any of his pals have come forward like the stumpy little guy who got into Oklahoma's hair three years running—the one and only Jack Crain.

Oklahoma doesn't have a soul in the headlines. There is no Jack Jacobs and no Orv Matthews.

This time it will be a football game between a couple of teams with the polished Texas machine favored to win with only a minimum of effort.

Bruins Swinging Lasso For Steers

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Oct. 9 (AP)—Baylor's unpredictable Bears are hot on the heels of that high-powered Texas offense in the Southwest conference football campaign.

The Bruins and Texas are the only teams in the circuit that have played three games and Baylor is within less than 200 yards of the Longhorns in ground gained rushing and passing.

The Baylor-Oklahoma A&M game was not officially reported to the conference statistical bureau here in time to go into this week's averages but the unofficial figures added to the two games that had been reported showed the Bears to have rolled up 1019 yards as compared to 1190 for Texas.

The Bruins top the conference in air power with 425 yards while Texas is far ahead on the ground with 990.

PUBLIC MILEAGE SNATCHER NO. 1 is not the thief who puts one car out of commission by stealing a tire.

Speed! That's the name of the Nation's tire thief.

Speed robs the heavy-footed driver of one-third to one-half of the essential mileage remaining in his irreplaceable tires.

Speed hastens the day when cars must be laid up because rubber is lacking. And the car in enforced storage represents far more than personal inconvenience. Added to others like it, it is an actual threat to victory... bringing almost fantastic dislocations in our economic life and in our ability to hold war production at maximum.

Remember that tires last only half as long

Governor Coke Stevenson has proclaimed Monday, October 12, as a school holiday over the state so the pupils can go out and gather scrap metal.

Locally, however, it is planned to have the students earn the holiday before it is granted. Therefore, all pupils in the junior high and the elementary schools of the city who have turned in their weight in scrap metal will be given a half-holiday on Friday, October 16.

"We plan to wind up this collection by Wednesday, October 14," Superintendent Sone said today. "We want every pound in by that time."

There's no mistake on keeping the records, either. Every pound of scrap metal is accounted, and pupils who get the half-holiday will know they've earned it.

Adopt Schools' Idea

Just to show you how rapidly the campaign is progressing, see how quick Pampans responded to a suggestion of C. P. (Doc) Pursley that the general public follow the schools' lead and that each adult go out and get his equivalent weight in scrap metal.

Announcement of Doc's suggestion was made in yesterday's issue of The Pampa News. Before the day was over 15 adults had joined in the plan and had donated, 2,650 pounds of scrap metal. Doc isn't just a talker, either, for he was out working and bringing in metal with the rest.

"Another thing I'd like to say," Doc suggested today, "is for Pampans to use their automobiles in going out and getting scrap iron. You don't need a truck to go out and get your weight. You can haul

Great Lakes Ore Shipments Head for New High

Iron ore shipments on the Great Lakes, spurred by wartime demands for steel, have passed 70,000,000 tons so far this year and are headed to an estimated high of 90,000,000 tons for 1942. Superimposed over map of iron mines at head of Lake Superior and steel mills on the lower lakes, the graph shows up and down of iron ore traffic since the pre-war peak year of 1929.

that without any trouble and with no damage to your car.

All of the scrap metal Doc and his associates collected went into the salvage pile of Company D of the Texas Defense Guard, one of the first guard units in the Panhandle to start a scrap metal campaign on its own.

"They've already collected 100 tons, piled on the street between the city hall and the court house."

Five Tons At Baker

First Lieut. Dan E. Williams thanked Doc today for his idea and the work he and his associates accomplished.

There are many other persons and companies who have kindly donated scrap to the pile but no record was kept; however, the company is sincerely grateful that Pampans appreciate the patriotism of the men who train to serve for their protection, without pay, and often pay the cost of needed equipment from their own pockets.

Second Pampa school to report in the scrap metal campaign is B. M. Baker, with 10,000 pounds collected, and two rooms 100 per cent, including the first and second grade room taught by Miss Edna Daughette, 35 pupils, 1,785 pounds; second grade room, Miss Minnie Allen, 37 pupils, 2,115. These total weights include representation of the teachers.

Reports from over the county will be heard when two committees of the Pampa Civilian Defense Council meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the BCD committee room at the city hall.

Arizona Back Sets Pace In Border Loop

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 9 (AP)—Individual performers in the Border conference this season will have to step lively to hit the clip set by Bob Ruman, Arizona university's 21-year-old triple threat halfback.

Arizona tops the nation in defensive play, yielding an average of only 31.5 yards in two games, but the Wildcats' offensive game with Ruman in the saddle has been the payoff—as Utah and the New Mexico Aggies can testify.

In those two games, Arizona piled up 682 yards with the 168-pound Indiana back accounting for 235—or an average of 8.7 yards a play. Ruman's punts have averaged 38.75 yards. He starred last season, but this looks like his big year.

Arizona plays its second conference game of the season this week-end, going to Tempe for a session with Arizona State.

The game is one of two conference tussles this Saturday, which finds the Texas members continuing in inter-sectional play. The New Mexico Aggies visit New Mexico at Albuquerque in the 34th renewal of a traditional rivalry.

Leading off the inter-sectional program, West Texas State meets the Albuquerque army air base Kellys in Canyon tonight. The army eleven has won two of its three games, losing the opener by a single point to New Mexico university.

Texas Tech plays host to the Oklahoma Aggies at Lubbock Saturday while Hardin-Simmons dips again into Southwest conference circles—this time against Southern Methodist university at San Antonio. Hardin-Simmons previously upset Baylor.

In the other Saturday inter-sectional engagement, the Texas College of Mines tangles with Abilene Christian college at El Paso.

Balance Your Food Budget with Your Electric Refrigerator

Food is the essential to the home . . . keeping the cost within a budget sometimes presents a problem. But by utilizing the full capacity of your electric refrigerator, you can do much to help meet the budget figure. Your electric refrigerator enables you to purchase your week's supply of groceries at the low week-end prices. This alone will amount to a considerable figure. The mechanical features of your electric refrigerator were especially designed to insure the safe storing of all foods. By taking full advantage of these features you are not only protecting the health of your family, but you are cutting down the food bill.

Your electric refrigerator is your "budget balancer." Take good care of your refrigerator, make sure that it is in good mechanical condition at all times. You need your electric refrigerator . . . and your present refrigerator should be made to last for the duration.

Mrs. Kelley Speaks On 'Yard Work' At Merten HD Meeting

"Yard Work" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county home demonstration agent, Tuesday afternoon when the Merten Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. E. A. Caldwell.

Mrs. Kelley advised that before building a home one should have the landscaping plan in mind. She suggested these basic plans to follow: First, the public area, the part facing the walks and streets should include trees, grass, and shrubs; second, a private area for the family social activities where all favorite flowers and plants of the family should be planted; and last there should be the service area where the home activities are carried on, such as washing, clothes lines, or a barbecue pit.

The club will meet with Mrs. Sam Cabery on October 20, at which time "Fall Desserts" will be demonstrated by club members.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. T. L. Sirmann, E. W. Bettis, Sam Cabery, E. Burba, E. E. Davis, C. B. Haney, A. Swafford, Ben Hoover, Lucian Bryant, Frank Bally, and Julia E. Kelley.

War Time Nickel Makes Appearance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—The war time nickel, an official five-cent piece made of copper, silver and manganese without any nickel to conserve that critical war material, made its appearance today.

The new pieces, made of 56 per cent copper, 35 per cent silver and nine per cent commercial manganese, replace the old 25 cent nickel, 75 per cent copper five-cent piece, but reporters noted no difference in outward appearance when Secretary Morgenthau gave them samples today.

Be Sure Correct Address Is Given In Mailing

By NEA Service
Illustrated above is the correct way to address that Christmas package or letter you plan to send to a soldier overseas.

For mail to Navy men, put the rank or rating and full name; the naval unit to which he is assigned, or the name of his ship, and the post office for routing purposes, like this:
To: John J. Doe, Seaman First Class (Naval Unit or Vessel)
Care of Postmaster
New York, New York.

Parcels and letters addressed to Marines must bear the rank or rating and full name, USMC, and the U. S. Marine Corps Unit number; if the addressee is to be sent in care of the New York or San Francisco postmaster.

If you are planning a present for someone in service you should know already the restrictions as to size, weight, content, mailing deadline and other regulations. But here is another tip:
CHOOSE GIFTS TO FIT THE COUNTRY

Find out whether the service man would most appreciate a tangible present or a money order. In England, for instance, the former would be more appropriate. Heavy rationing and almost complete conversion of non-essential industries to war production have left little on which a visitor can spend his money. Such simple things as matches or a lighter (he can get the fluid over there), or a lipstick for a hostess who has entertained him would doubtless be appreciated.

In India, on the other hand, it's a different story. He can buy everything he needs there—and cheaply. There is an abundance of things to be bought in Australia, too. So to either place a money order would solve the problem nicely.

There's much that man can do with more than his pay in Africa. So there again a suitable gift is the thing. Some soldiers stationed there have expressed a wish for a really good pair of field glasses.

The boys in Iceland and Greenland probably would like candy—or maybe the feeling of prosperous comfort that comes from several extra sleeveless sweaters, even though the Army clothes them warmly.

American cigarettes and tobacco will of course be welcome anywhere.

First Methodist WSCS Continues Study Of Missions This Week

Studying the mission book, "On This Foundation," by W. Stanley Bycroft, all circles of Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church, at Washington, Wednesday afternoon in fellowship hall for a combined session.

Mrs. H. H. Boynton announced that the society will sponsor a rummage sale to be held on October 17. The members are asked to cooperate in their chairman and Christian social relations chairman in collecting clothing to be sold.

Mrs. S. A. Hurst, study chairman, pointed out that reports were to be made on Latin American districts. Mrs. J. E. Kirchner reported on Mexico, Mrs. Curtis Douglas, Western Republics; Mrs. Hugh Anderson, River Platt region; and Mrs. Grist told of the country of Brazil.

In discussing "Relationship of the Americas," Mrs. Hurst said, "There are certain things which have a great influence on the relationship of the two Americas, namely the Latin American culture, immigration flow from the United States to countries in South America, and political reasons." She discussed the differences of the two Americas, after which Mrs. E. B. Bowen read a paper on "Peace Without an Empire."

Circle count was made with circle one having seven present; circle two, nine; circle three, six present; circle four, seven; circle five, six present; circle six, three present; and circle seven, two present.

Mrs. Horace McBea concluded the meeting with a devotional on "The Ever Present Christ" and completed the program with prayer.

PEO Sisterhood Continues Study On Good Neighbors

CANADIAN, Oct. 9—The regular bi-monthly meeting of PEO Sisterhood was held this week in the home of Mrs. E. H. Snyder with Mrs. John Jones, president, in charge.

The group voted to take charge of what is known as the "library booth" at the December bazaar held annually in the WCTU building. Articles to sell are donated and all money received at that booth is used for benefit of the public library.

Since the club study is on the good neighbor policy, the afternoon's topic, "South America's Place in International Affairs Today," was discussed by Mrs. Snyder.

Piano music was rendered by Mrs. Charles Teas.

Revival Will Begin Sunday At Central Baptist Church

A revival meeting will begin at the Central Baptist church next Sunday morning. The pastor will be in the pulpit Sunday for both services, preaching the opening sermons.

At 11 o'clock the sermon subject will be "Paul's Three-Fold Position." At 8 o'clock Sunday night the sermon subject will be "When The Fire From Heaven Fell."

At 7:30 o'clock Monday night the visiting preacher and musicians will begin their part in the two weeks meeting. Rev. J. C. Sisemore, pastor of Buchanan Street Baptist church of Amarillo, will do the preaching. Rev. Sisemore is well known in this part of Texas having been in his present pastorate some 16 years and having preached in a previous meeting some years ago in the Central Baptist church.

Rev. L. W. Hardscastle of Vast Horn, will direct the music. He has lived in Pampa and will be welcomed by many of his former friends. Mrs. Ray Crumpacker, who is now pianist in the San Jacinto Baptist church of Amarillo, will play the piano.

The church promises the very high and holy type of gospel preaching and singing in this meeting and invite the public to attend.

Reality Of Sin And Death To Be Topic

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 11.

The Golden Text is: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord; thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thou art not a God that takest pleasure in wickedness; neither shall evil dwell with thee" (Psalms 5:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we put off the false sense for the true and see that sin and mortality have neither Principle nor permanence, we shall learn that sin and mortality are without actual origin or rightful existence" (page 281).

Results Are What Count

Recently out of the vast silences that have been enfolding Washington, there has come a burst of activity concerning those war problems which were very hush-hush—the ones which were supposed to be political dynamite and best ignored until after November.

Therefore, from the optimists and from that vociferous little group which considers any criticism of war administration to be equivalent of high treason, arises a storm of abuse of us who have heretofore Washington for subordinating the conduct of the war to its own political fortunes.

The allegation of political cowardice was not based upon mere inference as to why these unpleasant but urgent jobs were being delayed. What logic said had to be the reason, politicians, off the record, conceded was the reason.

The desire was to wait until after election before taking any chance on such matters as nation-wide gasoline rationing, fuel rationing, draft of the 18-19-year-olds, wage and farm price ceilings, the freezing of war labor in jobs.

But the pressure was too great. Hitler wouldn't wait for the boys to get re-elected. Newspapers urged persuasively that the war was more important than politicians' fortunes. The people concurred. Now we have action, we hope.

Thanks to the hard-boiled realism of the Baruch committee, which put an end to months of floundering in the field of rubber, we have been promised not only nation-wide gasoline rationing but also other steps to help relieve the rubber shortage.

Within a limited field, on what might be considered a test basis, Manpower Commissioner McNutt and Draft Director Hershey are trying out the freezing of a small but important group of war producers, the copper miners.

But what of the draft? Every day's story is a little different than the day before's. The President has given no word about the 18-19-year olds, and majority congressional leaders can't move until they get instructions.

Congressmen are fighting about how much above parity they should fix the "ceiling" on farm prices. A wholly inadequate tax bill is being drafted.

There is talk, to be sure, but with the possible exception of rubber and fuel oil, there is not out of the "dynamic" problems on which the taxpaying, voting public need fear that it will be pricked painfully before election.

After election we shall feel the accumulated weight of all the delay, all the half-measures, all the evasions.

BUY VICTORY STAMPS The Nation's Press

Our news columns this week contain a report from Geneva which has more than a hint of tragedy in it. According to Mr. Patrick, our staff correspondent, a rapprochement of considerable proportions between the church and labor has been under way for some time in Sweden.

All Christians should rejoice at this, for nothing in the last century's history of the church in Europe has been more disquieting than the widening breach which, in so many countries, has opened between the workers and the Christian community.

Thoughtful Protestants, in particular, must have regarded with foreboding the prospect with which this alienation of labor confronted the church. Germany since the days of the rise of the National Democratic party has provided a striking illustration of the damage done by this growing rift.

Under the impetus of the war, however, a new and better day seemed to be dawning in Sweden. The Social Democrats there, with a new appreciation of the role of the church as a bulwark of freedom, were just on the point of striking hands with the church in a new understanding.

But the publication of a church report drawing attention to certain social evils in Swedish life brought an ultimatum from the laborites. Either the church must withdraw its opposition to the sexual promiscuity approved by the party, or the Social Democrats would again break off all dealings. Of course the church had no option but to reject the ultimatum, and now we are told that the chasm between labor and the Swedish church yawns as wide as ever.

Such an outcome is infinitely to be regretted. However, there can be no compromise for the church on any matter involving moral fundamentals. And surely insistence upon personal chastity is one of these. If labor elects to build on the sands of sexual license, then its house will fall.

250 IN CASH PRIZES

The experience recited below called to my attention the importance of the public understanding the impersonal rules by which great men should be measured. So, I am offering $30 for the best over-all article submitted to any of the newspapers under the same management controlling this newspaper.

Prizes for Winners in Each Newspaper: In addition to the above, each newspaper connected with this group will get two prizes: one of $20 and one of $10 for the first and second prize outside of the winner of the over-all prize of $30.

The winners will be those who most clearly and practically set forth impersonal rules to be used as a norm by which to measure great leaders. Articles should not be over 400 words. Three judges not connected with any of the papers will be selected by the Editor of "Common Ground" to make the decision as to the winners.

All contributions should be in the office of the newspaper by Tuesday, October 27.

Any contributor winning this prize will be helping enlighten his fellowman. There is no greater service than helping your fellowman understand the immutable laws which govern great leadership.

Winners need not be subscribers of this paper. New Dealer Would Not Explain Rules of Greatness for $10 an Hour

I recently heard a continuous booster of Roosevelt proclaim that Roosevelt is the greatest leader we have ever had. I asked him by what impersonal rules he determined great leadership. His answer was that he had a big heart and was kind. I tried to explain to him that this was not a rule and that there were as many ideas of being kind and having a big heart as there were individuals. I insisted that if his judgment of great leadership was of value, it should be made public. It would be of great service to our people. I even offered him $10 an hour if he would set down these rules with a stenographer present so that they could be published. He refused.

He did not refuse because his time was so valuable. His income has not been sufficient to build the kind of a home he wanted without the use of government credit. Had he been earning $10 an hour, which is better than $20,000 a year, he certainly could have built his own home without the government furnishing him credit.

Would Have Been Embarrassed: But this individual, even for $10 an hour, probably five times the rate he was in the habit of making, would not attempt to set down the rules by which to measure greatness.

And the reason undoubtedly was that if he had attempted to do so, he would have convicted himself of being his own norm of greatness; it would show that any one who agreed with him was great and anyone who did not agree, was unpatriotic and a menace to society. His norm of greatness was the same as every dictator's.

This would have embarrassed him. Rather than earn $10 an hour for an interview and thus have been able to materially help the needy and also check the consistency of his ideas, he preferred to be heard of men. Jesus was referring to men like him when He said, "For they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking."

I know of no New Dealer or collective bargainer or socialist of any responsibility, who will publicly discuss their theories before a rational interviewer where they are obliged to answer questions and where a stenographer can take down their statements. It would show their absurdities and contradictions. They invariably only talk where they cannot be questioned.

They evidently are all like the above individual. They prefer to appear to be a friend of the needy rather than to really be one.

less meat, the government has so scared the cattle feeders that there is going to be less meat. The feeders are not the only ones in the industry who are being harried. The president of Armour & Co. recently told his stockholders that the company is processing a record volume of live stock, it is doing business at a loss. The price of live stock has been moving up steadily, but the Office of Price Administration has established a ceiling on meat prices. Packing house costs are going right up, but the packers cannot charge any more than they did when costs were much lower.

No one wants the cost of living to go up. But no one wants to have the supply of so important a food as meat to be reduced, either. And prices determine supply. While the government has coerced the meat industry, it is not trying to keep all prices down. Some prices it is boosting by loans made to induce the withholding of supplies from the market. Wheat and cotton are as high as they are because the government keeps most of the available supply off the market.

The maintenance of ceilings on some articles and floors on others results in encouraging the production of what we already have too much of, and discouraging the production of that of which we are short. Farmers who ought to be encouraged to add to the meat supply are given an inducement instead to make the surpluses of indigestible crops even larger. By locking up the excess of wheat and cotton, the cost of bread, work pants, and house dresses is higher than is necessary. If the government would stand aside, a lot of items in the family budget would be much cheaper.

Instead of getting out of the way to let the market determine price levels, and therefore supplies, Washington over the weekend higgled about the terms of a complicated statistical formula to determine maximum prices. From the beginning the Roosevelt administration has belittled the wisdom of the market price in determining the amount which could be produced. The law of supply and demand has been repeatedly defied, and with disastrous results. Political management of agriculture has made a holy mess of it. Thomas Jefferson warned of this when he wrote: "Were we directed from Washington when to sow and when to reap we should soon want bread."

WHAT HOPKINS MEANS

Harry Hopkins told the National Inventors' council: "It makes no difference whether congress is Democratic or Republican—it must be made up of men who want to win the war."

The Free Press knows of no congressman or senator who does not want to win the war. If Hopkins does he should name them. What the spokesman for the President was really saying was this:

"It makes no difference whether congress is Democratic or Republican—it must be made up of men who agree with all that Mr. Roosevelt says or does."

DUTIES: The farmer, who is at his wit's end to obtain enough hired hands for the harvest, will be worse off next year. Those close to the manpower problem anticipate the greatest migration in history of Mexicans across the border.

A couple of years ago sugar beet companies offered jobs to Latins and the governor of a western commonwealth called out the National Guard to bar the immigrants. Laborers from below the Rio Grande flocked into the U. S. A. to earn wages which were too low for our citizens. The more unscrupulous of the newcomers, abetted by local lawyers, picked a certain Colorado town where the courthouse had burned. They swore they were born there and that the birth records had been destroyed in the fire. Then they claimed relief.

Scheming politicians accepted their word—and their votes. Other peons heard about the cinch and swarmed north next season. Federal officials will try to prevent similar prejudicial actions. Rumor is that before long we may be obliged to use Mexican soldiers to guard our bridges and other potential sabotage spots and so release our own troops for sterner duties overseas.

VALUES: Mayor La Guardia has stirred up the hornets with some of his recent appointments. This highlights a problem which because of the financial stringencies of wartime is likely to be repeated in other cities. In lush areas inside lots on Fifth Avenue were knocked down at six hundred thousand dollars and those on corners at a million or more. Today thousands of empty stores and dwellings often make ownership of Manhattan property liability.

Businessmen complain bitterly that overassessments add to their fiscal burdens. Legislative committees, the Chamber of Commerce, the Institute of Public Service and other bodies have branded this type of municipal grievance a public scandal. Reformers charge that one famous building was appraised on the City Hall books this year at one million five hundred and ninety thousand dollars after its sale price of fifty thousand plus seventy thousand in taxes had been advertised. Another downtown edifice was regarded by the officials as worth two million four hundred and thirty thousand the same week it had been purchased for two hundred and fifty thousand on a ten percent deposit which the buyer forfeited.

His Honor has selected commissioners whose duty it is to review and correct inequalities. But the contention of civic organizations is that he has chosen men who for a quarter of a century have been the assessors setting the exorbitant values. In other words, instead of relieving a bad situation the boss has picked judges to pass on their own alleged shortcomings.

RIBBLE: A group of visiting Turkish journalists is being welcomed in United States cities where without restraint its members may observe Uncle Sam's war effort. Similar delegations inspected the British Isles and Germany. The contingent which traveled through the Balkans en route to the Rhineland was without food for a whole day on the train and was glad to obtain soup from soldiers when it arrived in Belgrade. Apparently even guests must take pot luck wherever they visit.

STRATEGY: Wendell Willkie is being booted around in certain quarters here because of his repeated advocacy of a second front in Europe. His demands are held responsible for Stalin's somewhat embarrassing remarks on this ticklish subject.

The fact is that Washington first advanced this idea in a big way. In his commencement address at West Point last spring, Chief of Staff Marshall announced that the United Nations intended to invest Europe with ground forces. After the visit of Molotov to the Capital, President Roosevelt and the general issued a joint statement to the effect that they had given consideration to an invasion of the continent. None of these pronouncements

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent: Exclusively yours: Now it's Lana Turner who willingly accepts a bit role in a new picture. She'll do a quick turn in "Daddy Was a Lady" in a musical routine featuring beautiful girls in living reproductions of nationally known magazine illustrations. But clad only in a filmy black negligee and a black fox fur, Lana doesn't have to worry about whether she'll be noticed.

Director Edward H. Griffith was listening to a neighborhood boy complain that he had to eat spinach for lunch. "But it's good for you," said Griffith. "It has a lot of iron in it."

"Well, if it's that good," yelled the kid, "why don't they give all of it to the scrap metal drive?" It always happens. Two days after the Ann Sheridan-George Brent separation, a fan magazine hit the stands with a story by the Oomph Girl titled, "What Every Happy Bride Should Know."

TAYLOR TO AIR FORCE: Robert Taylor has told his M-G-M bosses that he'll enlist in some branch of the Air Force when he completes his new picture, "Gentle Annie."

Zero Mostel, the wacky Broadway comedian now at M-G-M, will be starred in his next film—the story of a small town politician.

Ken Murray, Jr., 10-day-old son of the comedian, already has his photograph and footprints in the theater lobby of the Hollywood stage musical hit, "Blackouts of 1942." It was Producer Sid Grauman's idea. Betty Grable wears only 1890 style clothes for her role in "Coney Island" but the way Betty wears 'em has the censors complaining.

Typically Hollywood: "Private Smith, U. S. A.," first of RKO's "This Is America" series, will be directed by Slavko Vorkapich, a Russian.

BARRYMORE "DRAW": In less than a year, Diana Barrymore, daughter of the late John Barrymore, has become one of the highest priced actresses on the screen. Walter Wanger, who owns her contract, is asking $100,000 per picture for loan-out deals. But so far there have been no takers.

Tell it to the Marines is no gag. They mean it—even when it comes to blonds. Other day Earl Carroll received a letter from a Marine asking for a photograph of one of his "Star-Spangled Glamour Revue" beauties. The Marine also enclosed a questionnaire form to be filled out by the girl. Outside of routine requests for name, address, weight, height, age, etc., the questionnaire asked for the following information: "If you reside at home, indicate on diagram, the exact position of (1) Parent's bedroom, (2) Living room light switch, (3) Back door, (4) Sofa, (5) Nearest window to sofa, (6) Quickest way out, (7) Most logical place your little brother would hide."

specified when or where, but they conveyed the hint that the day was not far off, even though our martial managers do not believe the undertaking can be launched in 1942.

Apparently the Allies have taken a page from Hitler's book of psychological warfare. They aim to keep him guessing. And his recent Sportsman's speech, in which he admitted that he could not foresee our strategy because our topnotchness was "military jobs," indicates that Der Fuhrer is slightly spee-

Limited Powers Hinder Job Done By Elmer's OWI

BY PETER EDSON

In addition to this mixup over the President's trip, two other recent cases of confusion over news policy have served to illustrate how difficult is the job of Elmer Davis's Office of War Information in trying to co-ordinate the government's policy on the war story given to the public.

The first of these is the case of Rear Admiral Ben Moreell, who popped off in a speech before the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor convention in Toronto to the effect that, although people can't live without labor, they can live without labor unions as people are living without them in Germany, Japan and Italy.

Admiral Moreell, being chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, is responsible for the Navy's entire construction program. And if it may be thought that the Navy has had so much grief with the building trades of the A. F. of L. that he was justified in giving them a piece of his mind in salty, blue at-sea dog style. But it so happens that the Navy has been under such criticism from the labor organizations that the Navy has been gradually overhauling its policies on dealing with the unions.

Rear Admiral C. H. Woodward was put in charge of a special office A. Lahey, former Chicago Daily News, was brought in as adviser. Ralph A. Bard announced establishment of personal divisions in shore establishments to handle all questions of industrial relations. Just as beneficial results were being noted from these various moves, along comes Admiral Moreell's speech, in marked contrast with every announced administration labor policy.

POINTING THE PROBLEM: Leaving aside questions of the tactfulness and the rightness or wrongness of the Moreell threat, there is raised the point of how the admiral could make this speech and get away with it.

In the Office of War Information there is set up what might be known as the Office of Oratory Control. It is headed by John R. Fleming, an ex-newspaperman whose job it is to scrutinize the manuscript on all speeches to be delivered by cabinet officers and the heads of government agencies to make sure that the ideas therein are in harmony with the line, and in close harmony with administration policies.

But young Mr. Fleming's authority is limited to the top men only. In the Navy Department, Fleming can review the text of Secretary Knox, Under Secretary Forrestal and assistant secretaries Bard and Gates, but he can't touch the speeches of a single admiral or lesser officer.

The only check there is on the remarks of a naval officer is two sections of Navy regulations which prohibit officers from divulging information of security. Navy officers may submit the manuscript of a speech or an article to the Bureau of Public Relations for clearance if he wants to. But the Office of War Information has nothing to do with it.

The second case of confusion also concerns the Navy. In a special press conference at the Navy Department, Lieut. Comdr. John Smith Thatch stated that no major battleship of the enemy has been sunk by "horizontal bombing in this war, implying thereby that Capt. Colin Kelly of the Army did not sink the battleship Haruna, in spite of all the evidence which the Army has that he did. This officially sponsored story certainly added fuel to the flames of discussion on the relative merits of land-based heavy bombers versus carrier-based, short-range dive bombers.

UNCENSORED SPEECHES: In the order creating the Office of War Information, among other things OWI was charged specifically to "co-ordinate the war information activities of all federal departments and agencies for the purpose of assuring an accurate and consistent flow of war information to the public."

But the way this works out is that while OWI has authority to pass on all the press releases and reports, statements to see that a consistent story is told, OWI has no control over what may be said orally. And so in the case of Admiral Moreell, it has no control over the public statements of officials below cabinet and sub-cabinet rank.

From these examples it can be seen that OWI doesn't have the control over war information that was perhaps intended. There are loopholes and dodges which the can and do use to put out ideas which may not be exactly orthodox.

On the other hand there is some news which OWI thinks should be given out which other departments want to suppress. Special news on sabotage trials and on the President's recent trip are the notable examples. Either way, it can be seen how difficult is the job of OWI in assuring the public of this accurate consistent flow of war information.

Office Cat . . .

There was a dress goods salesman who used as a clincher, the argument: "It just suits your style."

He was so successful with this somewhat ambiguous phrase that he grew careless and finally met his Waterloo. That was the day he tried to sell a polka-dot to a freckled face girl.

Teacher (pointing to deer at the zoo)—Junior, what is that? Junior—I don't know. Teacher—What does your mother call your father? Junior—Don't tell me that's a louse.

In her school essay on parents, a little girl wrote: "We get our parents when they are so old that it is impossible to change their habits."

Teacher—What is an adult? Pupil—An adult is a person who has been growing except around the waist.

Today's War Analysis

This column, conducted as a daily feature by Dewitt Mackenzie with war analyst, is written today by Glenn Rabb, Mackenzie, now in Britain on an extensive tour of the active war zones, is expected to resume with tomorrow's column.

The last ten or twelve weeks have been a period of retreat for the Japanese. On three major fronts they have yielded ground, much of it bitterly won at high cost in men and weapons. On the others they have given no convincing signs of new advances in preparation.

It would be easy, thinking wishfully, to suggest that the tide of Japanese conquest that spread so rapidly and disastrously for the United Nations throughout the first half year of the Pacific war has begun to ebb. But wishful thinking is always dangerous and there are indications aplenty that the resourceful enemy is doing what he can to encourage us in that enjoyable, but weakening occupation. For example, we will be visiting long with the possible exception those hints issued by Doctor Goebbels' propaganda machine that the attempt to take Stalingrad is about to be abandoned.

Nevertheless let's take a look at the recent record in the Pacific, reading the map from north to south.

All the evidence is that the Japanese have abandoned two of the three far western Aleutian Islands they seized last June as a side-show to their disastrous dash across the international dateline toward Midway and Hawaii. Our fliers report no signs of life on Attu and Agattu; and it appears that only on Kiska a sorely battered Japanese garrison is trying to dig itself underground in the hopes of remaining and so justifying the Tokyo government's boast that its forces hold North American territory.

In China, still the main battleground for the Japanese army, a summer's conquests have evaporated. The recently proclaimed justification for Tokyo's claim that the retreats in China were according to plan and to permit new dispositions of Japanese forces, but the fact remains that territory and strategic railway lines won at the cost of tens of thousands of casualties and months valuable time have been yielded to the stubbornly fighting Chinese armies and their American allies. Something like 30,000 square miles overrun by the Japanese in northern Kiangsi, western and southern Chekiang and southern Kwangtung provinces early in the summer have been recaptured by the Chinese.

At the southern extremity of the Pacific front United States marines have slashed into the farthest fringes of the Japanese area of conquest and wrested from the Mikado's warriors in the Solomons beach heads and islets tiny in extent but of vast potential importance strategically. In New Guinea the American marines, supported by American air forces, have compelled the invaders to abandon all Stanley mountains and turned their landing at Milne Bay into a disastrous fiasco.

Against these setbacks in the active war zones have been offsetting gains on other theaters, and if we assume that time fights against her—an assumption that seems justified by the disparity between current rates of war production in the United States and Japan—her enemies have gained valuable months.

In the sixth and last zone of Japanese military activities, the Siberian frontier, not yet a battlefield but an area never neglected in calculations of the high command, there has been no evidence of substantial change and many strategists believe the danger of Japanese invasion of Russia definitely is on the wane, especially since Hitler ran into that stone wall at Stalingrad.

Thus the picture as a whole is one of a mighty predatory power turned from a phase of conquest to one of defense, in which the objective is to hold what has been snatched rather than reach out for more.

But it would be dangerous to assume that in the coming phase the Japanese will be a less formidable enemy than he has been hitherto. Nearly all authorities agree that he will fight just as fanatically to hold the spoils he has taken for his Emperor, as he fought to win them and that the destruction of the Japanese military machine may well prove the most costly and long drawn out of all the tasks still confronting the United Nations.

So They Say

The stepping up of the intensity of the vital conflict in which we are engaged and the growing need for enlarged forces, make it clear that all young men fortunate enough to have the physical and mental qualities to enable them to serve their country in the armed forces are destined for that service.

Apparently the Allies have taken a page from Hitler's book of psychological warfare. They aim to keep him guessing. And his recent Sportsman's speech, in which he admitted that he could not foresee our strategy because our topnotchness was "military jobs," indicates that Der Fuhrer is slightly spee-

END OF LONELINESS
CHAPTER XXVI
 CANDACE was shaking. In the chart room she gave Peter's name to the operator, listened while the loud-speaker in the corridor picked it up, "Dr. Frazier, Dr. Frazier." And then Peter's own voice on the phone, steady, reassuring.

"Peter," she said, careless of the given name, of possible listeners, "I don't know what I've done. She knows. Hurry."

"I'll be right there," he said quietly. "Call your relief, tell her to come on at once. You wait for me in the chart room."

She put in a call for the relief nurse, made a notation on 721's chart, "Hype, 3:03," the last of Peter's orders for Faith she had carried out.

She went to the window, stood looking blindly into the courtyard. Down there at the bottom of the well made by the walls of the court was Emergency, where she and Peter had last worked. She had always been a good nurse, an efficient one, there was nothing with which to reproach herself on that score.

But if she hadn't let herself get so warped, so bitter, she might have been more human too, she might even have let herself get some fun out of those years. Might have had some patience, an occasional kindly word for the boys, overworked, overwrought, on the ambulance assignment who liked to slip in there occasionally for a word of cheer.

She thought of a proverb, read or heard somewhere, "Life is a mirror from which we see reflected back our own faces." Well, life had certainly shown her herself, reflected in Faith Harthorne; with only this difference, that while it was Faith's body it was in her own case her mind that had been made sick. She realized now just how hard, wrapped up in her own bitterness as she was, how selfish she had been. Peter had done right to reproach her.

Peter. . . In her breast was a dull, heavy ache. Because he had loved her as a child, because he had understood, Peter had had patience with her for a long time. But even he had given out finally. It was true that he still looked her up for an occasional case; but that was only because she knew her to be a good nurse. Or at least, he had thought her a good nurse up until now—

Now she wondered if Peter would even think of her as a good nurse. What she had just done to Faith Harthorne might not even give her claim to that title any longer.

Certainly, Faith was near death, and what she had just told her—that Martin had never loved her—was as severe a shock as could possibly have been given.

What if Faith died because of that shock? Even Peter could not forgive that, if it happened. Candace was sick with apprehension.

BEHIND her Peter said, "Get your wrap. You're going home."

She whirled, in swift alarm. "Is she—?"

"She's all right," Peter said. He looked grimly triumphant and she had an instant's suspicion that he had planned all this, that he had wished it so. "She's asking for toast and tea, after refusing food for days, she sent for her husband and I've just left on the beginning of a very touching reunion between them. She's going to be all right," he repeated. "It's you. You looked bushed."

She felt "bushed." She felt limp and nervous, something without volition.

She followed him docilely to his car, sat quietly while he wrapped a rug about her legs. He didn't drive straight to her house, but out along the Parkway, on the road to the lake.

He was being kind to her. Probably he was grateful. Because, incredible as it would seem after what had happened, Mrs. Eustis would now get well; all her friends would say how wonderful Dr. Frazier was, to have snatched her from the jaws of death that way, and would come to him. That would mean that he could get married. "And they lived happily ever after," Mrs. Eustis and her husband, too, would make it up, they too would live "happily ever after." Only she would be alone.

She needn't be, there was always Duffy. He hadn't missed out on a single chance, these past hectic days, to prove his devotion; and Mrs. Harper hadn't been angry after all, not permanently, that is; she had rather respected Candace for daring to cross her. She could still have Duffy if she wanted him. But she didn't want him any more, she didn't want the life he offered with its drab, ugly compromises—

Peter said suddenly, "Great stuff, my gal. She told me everything. Stiff dose you handed out, but just what the doctor would have ordered."

HE sat staring straight ahead, and his hands gripped the wheel so hard that his knuckles showed white. "Tell me," he said, suppose the positions were reversed. Suppose you had had a dull, unexciting, but on the whole fairly decent young man in love with you for a long time—What I mean, Candace, is—could you take your own medicine, if the dose included me?"

Candace gasped. She said, stunned, stammering, "But—you're going to be married!"

"Sure," he said, trying to laugh, trying to make light of it. "To you—I hope."

"But—Dr. Patterson—you told him—"

He did laugh then. "I told him I was darn' glad to get the Eustis case because then maybe I could get married. Sure, I told him that. But I didn't say who the girl was. Answer me quickly," he commanded, "I can't stand much more waiting—could you?"

Like a balloon that's been blown too full, the tension in Candace's head burst, her thought scattered into mistily whirling pieces. But the pieces were bright, as in a kaleidoscope, and when the whirling stopped and they fitted into place they made pictures. There was Faith and her Harvey; there was Duffy laughing with a coterie of dancing girls with fans of feathers, girls with doves, girls with or without various things; and there was—herself and Peter. All the ache, all the loneliness was suddenly gone.

ODT Chief Would Halt Use Of Least Essential Trucks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A possibility that the least essential of the nation's 5,000,000 trucks and 150,000 buses must be taken out of operation, unless more rubber is all the Baruch report, was seen today lowered than was recommended in by Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director.

Of the 150,000 buses, he said nearly 100,000 are used to transport school children.

Eastman told the house appropriations committee the printed report released today disclosed, that the Baruch allowance of rubber for trucks and buses "is not as much as half of the present consumption of tires by these vehicles."

OWI May Operate All Of Nation's Shortwave Radio

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A broad plan for government development and operation of all of the nation's shortwave radio stations was disclosed to congress today as a part of the Office of War Information's strategy to obtain an audience in enemy territory.

In testimony made public by the house appropriations committee, Author-Playwright Robert Sherwood, director of OWI's overseas operations, said the plan had been approved in principle by the War Communications board.

12,000 Model Planes To Roll Off Texas Assembly Lines

AUSTIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Production of 12,000 Heinkels, Messerschmitts, Zeros and Marchets will roll off Texas assembly lines within the next few weeks—and no comfort to Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito.

The armed forces which use these planes—miniature scale models—to teach fledgling pilots the trick of spotting and identifying them quickly was so pleased with 10,000 built by Texas public school children last year that the navy asked for 12,000 more.

To accomplish the job it has suggested that assembly line production methods be used in the schools. Pupils may ask their teachers and superintendents to write the state department of education for the necessary plans.

Record Crop Of Spring Pigs Held For Fall Deluge

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (AP)—The nation's livestock markets continued to wait today for the promised fall deluge of hog receipts while fat porkers, whose patriotism begins at the feed trough and ends in the slaughter house, feasted on borrowed time.

Farmers, whose valuable hogs will supply vital concentrated food for the nation's war effort, took advantage of ideal fall weather and plentiful feed to give their animals the extra rations which will put their yield in meat and lard at maximum.

Thus, the nation's record crop of spring pigs, destined to have a share in winning the war, enjoyed a brief reprieve. And while the porters gorged in the feedlots, livestock men fretted about the threat of price ceilings being clamped on hogs as well as other meat animals. Livestock raisers had hoped that the seasonal reaction in hog prices, which usually accompanies the fall bulge in receipts, might relieve the pressure in some quarters for establishment of ceilings.

The marketing lag virtually dispelled hopes that the fall run of hogs might begin earlier this season. It not only would relieve the price situation, which is squeezing processor whose wholesale and retail meat charges have been frozen at ceilings, but also would spread out the heavy marketing period.

Government agents have warned that because of an unprecedented number of hogs on farms, transportation, marketing and processing facilities are likely to be faced with a serious glut if producers wait to sell their animals during the heavy mid-winter slaughtering period.

Although hogs recently have been selling in Chicago over an average of $15 per hundredweight, highest since 1930, compared with $10.50 a year ago, $6.30 two years ago and an all-time October low on $3.50 in 1932, farmers have shown no inclination to send their pigs to market to take advantage of these prices. Threat of a ceiling has not altered the desire, livestock men said, to pour comparatively cheap corn in to feedlots. Consequently, hogs that have been coming to market bear record weights, a circumstance much to be desired in view of the demand for lard to send abroad.

Loss Of Rubber Resources Shows In Dollar Marks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The cost of losing the world's principal rubber sources in the Southwestern Pacific, now controlled by the Japanese, began to show in dollar marks today as the agriculture department estimated that just one part of America's emergency rubber program would cost more than $130,000,000.

This expenditure would establish a production of 80,000 tons of natural rubber from Guayule annually, it was estimated.

Department experts told the House Appropriations committee that in addition to the vast program for planting the rubber-bearing shrub, 56 processing factories would be required, at a cost of about $450,000 each—or a total of more than $25,000,000.

The officials asked that congress raise from 75,000 to 500,000 acres the authority for planting guayule. The shrub will be cultivated on huge plantations in parts of California, Arizona, Texas and New Mexico.

Retired Banker Dies

DALLAS, Oct. 8 (AP)—Lynn P. Talley, 60, former governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas and holder of other private and governmental banking positions, died last night here at his home.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Down in the Solomon Islands, our Marines land from convoy and troopship in Higgins' landing boats. These boats are specially constructed... with a shielded propeller to negotiate sand bars and shallow water. They are capacious, extremely buoyant and some have landing ramps so that tanks may roll out on the beach.

They are powered by an internal combustion engine and cost up to $12,000 each. You can help pay for these important factors in Marine operations with your regular purchase of War Bonds. If all of us INVEST AT LEAST TEN PERCENT of our income every payday, we will provide Uncle Sam with enough money to do the job. War costs money and this is your war.

Million Texas Junior Rangers Battle Axis By Piling Up Scrap

The Associated Press

From attic to basement, from backyard to open field—more than a million Junior Texas rangers today were battling the Axis the way they best knew how—getting in the scrap.

These youngsters were serious. Out at Big Spring they nagged their parents for help in finding the metal and housewives were forced to defend even their wash tubs and dish pans from their rangers, whose idea was to "bring it in regardless."

A junior ranger at Galveston remarked, "I've collected enough scrap to kill a dozen Japs."

Members of the football team at Handley, between Fort Worth and Arlington, got their workout Wednesday jugging metal to the school scrap pile. Heading the squad was Coach E. L. Lowe, who drove a team of mules and a flat bed wagon which the boys loaded down with metal.

Killen school pupils in Bell county got a jump on the Columbus Monday when they were excused from classes Wednesday to scrounge for scrap.

An old church bell that used to ring from the top of Reagan school in Bell county will be scrapped to ring in the ears of Hitler and Hirohito, Principal Marvin Fenti said. The bell, now set in concrete on Reagan's lawn, weighs nearly 1,000 pounds.

Meanwhile, the spirit of competition between Houston's north side residents and south side residents—Buffalo Bayou divides them—has spread to East Texas' oil fields.

A friendly contest is underway between Longview, Kilgore and Glade-water to determine which will do the biggest job in the campaign.

Casey P. Pool, chairman of Longview's industrial scrap committee, and his co-workers are checking every lease in the East Texas oil field to find out how much material is available.

At La Range, the Fayette county record's old press sold for war scrap at $5.98. Former owners of the press said if it dealt the Axis as much misery as it had given them, a knock-out is on the way.

Shipments of scrap iron, steel, copper, lead and other metals from Texarkana's metropolitan defense area including Bowie county, Texas, and Miller county, Arkansas, totaled 4,807,865 pounds for July, August and September—or 2,308,96 tons. These were actual shipping figures of scrap sent to the nation's mills.

Harrison county residents, in East Texas, have lined up behind the scrap campaign to match the record set earlier in the year by Nebraska. Their goal is 2,500 tons, equivalent to 100 pounds per person in the county.

Down at Fort Ringgold, at the border town of Rio Grande city, army officials began to collect scrap metal and soon had a pile weighing 100,000 pounds.

Someone recalled the fort was established in 1846, that Gen. Robert E. Lee stayed there in 1856. Scouring parts of the premises which had overgrown with weeds, searchers dug up tons of horseshoes—Ringgold has always been a cavalry post—and old cannon carriages which rumbled over civil war battlegrounds.

And then there is Rural Mail Carrier George Wentzell, whose route runs northeast of Temple. One day this week he brought in 1,200 pounds of scrap which H. A. Duncan of Oscar left at his rural mail box. Wentzell, a world war I veteran, has promised to bring in any load of scrap placed on his route.

Here's How Tulsa School Kids Get Their Scrap Metal

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 9 (AP)—Tulsa county school children are tossing their weight into the national scrap campaign.

The county's more than 40,000 school children weigh 3,964,105 pounds, their goal of the united newspapers-united schools scrap drive.

The idea for each child to turn in his own weight in scrap originated with Victor F. Barnett, associate editor of the Tulsa Tribune and chairman of the drive.

"With the three weeks drive at the halfway mark, we have more than half of the schools' quota," Barnett said.

"The school officials and school children are giving amazing response. We're also finding that industrialists and everyone else in business is getting scrap-minded as a result of the enthusiasm of the children."

Each pupil at all country public, private and religious schools was issued a shipping tag on which was printed:

To: Commanding General, U. S. A.

Subject: Scrap for the Japs and Germans to be delivered by cannon, machine guns and airplanes.

They won't let me come to help you for a few years yet, so I am sending a substitute of equal or more weight. Here's my scrap to help win the war.

My weight... lbs. Signed.....
Scrap weight... lbs. School... Place.....

After reading the tags brought home by his two small daughters, Pete Essley, Indian oil company superintendent, took two days off from his job and rounded up 10 1/2 tons of scrap.

'42 Cotton Crop Put At 13,818,000 500-Pound Bales

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The agriculture department today estimated this year's cotton crop at 13,818,000 bales of 500 pounds cross weight each, based on Oct. 1 conditions.

The estimate compares with 14,028,000 bales forecast a month ago. Last year's production was 10,774,000 bales. The 1931-40 ten-year average production was 13,109,000 bales.

The condition of the crop on Oct. 1 was 80 per cent of a normal, compared with 79 a month ago, 65 a year ago, and the 1931-40 ten-year Oct. 1 average of 65.

The indicated acre yield is 285.0 pounds of lint cotton to the acre, compared with 289.3 pounds indicated a month ago, 231.9 pounds produced last year, and 215.0 pounds, the ten-year average yield.

The census bureau reported that cotton of this year's growth gin-

Reduction Of Rates On Compensation Proposed By TEIA

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Texas employers' insurance association has proposed reduction of workmen's compensation rates in Texas to employers by 7.3 per cent, A. F. Allen, association president, announced.

The move was made because of increased profits of compensation companies due to rapid increase in wages, Allen said.
