

Edson Reveals How U.S. May Take Loss on Wartime Marks

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two columns by Peter Edson revealing how the U. S. may take a big loss because of careless handling of occupation money during the war.

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Someone may soon have an awful lot of explaining to do on wartime financing.

Background of the queer, $500 million "loan" which former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., negotiated with China's T. Y. Soong back in 1942 was recently dug into by this correspondent.

Now another of the Morgenthau policies is being examined. It is the handling of occupation currency—the paper money which was printed for use in enemy countries after they were invaded and conquered.

Army finance officers did the actual disbursing of this currency and were responsible for its accounting. But the top policy was worked out by Treasury experts.

International law provides that any governing authority has the power to issue currency. Shortly after the American forces invaded North Africa in 1942, the Treasury announced its plans for issuing printing press money in the invaded countries.

There was no security to back up this currency. Reporters queried Morgenthau about it at press conferences, but he assured them that everything was under control, that it would all turn out right in the end.

The theory was that the occupied, enemy countries would have to redeem all this occupation currency in the end, so the American taxpayers wouldn't lose a cent.

State, Treasury, War Department and Bureau of Budget officials aren't ready, can't or don't want to talk about it. Army finance officers have nothing to say either. However, the War Department is now preparing a detailed report on its financial operations.

NATIONWIDE BARGAINING ABANDONED

Texas Discussions Held in St. Louis

WASHINGTON—AP—Unions which called the cross-country telephone strike last April 7 have abandoned efforts to negotiate their demands with the Bell System on a nationwide basis.

This decision to shift the emphasis to local bargaining was hailed today by Bell officials as well as union leaders as a move likely to hasten the end of the 31 day-old tieup.

Officials of the Bell System and its parent concern, the A. T. & T., had consistently refused to yield to union insistence on nationwide bargaining, contending negotiations should be on a local basis because of local factors involved.

The 49-member Policy Committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, which had been in almost daily session since March 24, was adjourned indefinitely and its members returned home to help bargain out settlements in their own areas.

The most important bargaining conference being held here under government auspices was called into "continuous session" at 10 a. m. (CST) with conciliators saying agreement was possible "any hour."

This involves the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's long lines department and the American Union of Telephone Workers, one of the NFW's 49 affiliates.

DALLAS—AP—Ray Hackney, general Texas chairman of the striking Southwestern Workers Union, declared this morning that he believed his union would "not take one penny less than that finally received by long lines workers."

Farmer-Stockman Is Found Dead at Perryton Home

PERRYTON—(Special)—James E. Hardy, 57, prominent farmer and stockman in Ochiltree County, was found dead about noon yesterday on the steps of a fruit cellar at the back of his home here.

Mr. Hardy, who was found by Mrs. Hardy when she started to the cellar to get some fruit, had four bullet holes in his chest, and a .32 caliber revolver was at his side. One shot had penetrated the left margin of his heart.

Mrs. Hardy had just returned from a trip to town when she found the body. According to the examining physician, Mr. Hardy had been dead about two hours when his body was discovered.

Although there was no official decision announced following a coroner's inquest, it was generally conceded that the wounds were self-inflicted. An announcement was pending the return of ballistics tests results from Austin.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Fagan, Pearl Wade is coroner. No reason could be given by the family for the man's apparent action, inasmuch as he was reported to have been in good health.

Negotiations In Strike Are At Standstill

Even as the strike at Borger and Phillips began to show slight signs of improvement, negotiations there came to an announcement from Phillips Petroleum Company spokesman that negotiations had bogged down with the operating engineers, and "there appeared to be no prospect of an early resumption of operations."

Ray Majure, U. S. Conciliation Service representative who has been on the scene for a week, substantiated that statement when he said: "Frankly, that's the way it seems to be."

A Phillips official at Borger said to the press in a formal announcement: "A local official of Phillips Petroleum Company today stated that negotiations with Local 351 (International Union of Operating Engineers, the striking union) have completely broken down. Company officials have returned to their homes. The company spokesman said no further comment except to say there appeared to be no prospect of an early resumption of operations."

As the negotiations broke up yesterday afternoon about 3:30, Joe Rigdon, business manager and spokesman for the union, brushed newsmen aside with: "No statement, no comment," emphasizing the fact that nothing had been accomplished.

Here at Pampa, it was learned from various individuals that the strike is being felt to a limited extent. It was reported that aviation gasoline is all but unavailable here, and some gasoline station managers are beginning to worry about future supplies.

The same story came from Amarillo, and from other communities. Here at Pampa, it was learned from various individuals that the strike is being felt to a limited extent.

Socialist Party Backs Premier

PARIS—(AP)—France's Socialist Party ratified today Premier Paul Ramadier's decision ousting Communists from his coalition cabinet, thus ending a French government crisis.

A hastily summoned National Council of the party voted 2,529 to 1,215 to approve the break with the extreme left, an action which brought political repercussions throughout Western Europe.

Ramadier, pleading for the Council's endorsement in the hot 12-hour debate which preceded the vote, declared he would feel like a "graveyard of the republic" if he were forced to resign.

Supporting Ramadier, Leon Blum, a former premier and an elder statesman of the party, declared that "resignation of the government would be tantamount to denial of the parliamentary regime."

The Council's vote was in approval of Ramadier's action of last Sunday in revoking the portfolios of five Communist ministers after the Communist Party refused in the National Assembly to join in a vote of confidence in the government's wage-price freeze program.

The government won the confidence vote without Communist support. Ratification of Ramadier's action represented a victory for the Socialist Party's right wing over its left wing, led by Secretary General Guy Mollet, who wanted Ramadier to resign.

Assembly Will Extend Offer to Arab Group

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—The United Nations Assembly was called into extraordinary plenary session today to formally offer the Arab Higher Committee of Palestine a hearing before the 55-Nation Political Committee with the same status as the Jewish agency.

The plenary meeting was set for 1 p. m. (CST) in a committee room here rather than in the Assembly Hall at Flushing Meadows where all previous plenary sessions have been held.

The decision was made on a demand from India that the Arab group be accorded the same treatment as the Jewish agency, which was invited to appear before the Political Committee by the Assembly proper.

The Arab Higher Committee earlier indicated it would stand on its decision to boycott the debate until it was invited to participate by the Assembly itself.

The Political Committee vote calling the plenary session was 28 to 5. Assembly President Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil called a Steering Committee meeting to formally approve the United Nations proposal.

The Arab position became known off the floor as the General Assembly's 55-Nation Political Committee began consideration of an American proposal that the U. N. establish a small neutral inquiry commission without Big Five representation.

Soviet circles disclosed that Russia would fight for the inclusion of the Big Five on any such body. Warren R. Austin, United States, told the Political Committee that the special interests involved among the great powers were a strong reason for putting them on the commission.

"We could hardly recognize that a body containing the Big Five would be free of bias," he declared. "What we seek is a sound decision as nearly perfect as our human frailties will permit."

Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain, immediately supported the American plan, noting that the inquiry commission would be heavy with members from all sides and for that reason "all interested parties should be excluded for serving."

Jose Arce, Argentina, speaking in support of his proposal for an 11-nation commission including the Big Five, said the major powers "have a responsibility they should not avoid."

Taft Presses For Labor Bill Vote on Friday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The administration's $40,000,000 Greek-Turkey aid program was under sharp attack today in the House where opponents aimed at tossing the problem to the United Nations.

Strong was this sidetracking maneuver backed by a Democrat-Republican coalition that the outcome was in doubt. Supporters of the program, headed by Chairman Eaton (R-N.J.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, concentrated their fire on this maneuver of several proposals advanced to divert or restrict the program.

As shown by opening debate on the proposal yesterday, Republican ranks are badly split on the proposal, already approved by the Senate.

If the proposal to substitute the U. N. resolution is defeated, the House is expected to reach a final vote on the legislation tomorrow. Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) has predicted the bill will pass by a substantial margin.

The Senate devoted another day to it, omnibus labor bill with Senator Taft (R-Ohio) pressing for a final vote Friday on the legislation which would ban the closed shop, authorize government injunctions to halt national emergency strikes and curb various union practices.

Forecast passage of the bill by a "substantial" margin and indications are that the size of the margin will determine the future course of Republicans.

If they obtain a vote indicating they have strength to pass the measure over a presidential veto—if developments—chances are they will make no effort to discuss the measure with the President. But if the margin is smaller, their supporters of the bill may then be willing to try to find out what Mr. Truman would accept.

The bill could be worked out while Conference Committees from our House and Senate differences. Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) summoned the Senate Finance Committee into a closed session to begin work on the bill.

Name Should Not Have Been Included

A statement from the Pampa Board of Education today said that the name of Mrs. Hortense Miller, study hall keeper, should not have been included in a list of teachers not re-elected for the next school year. Four were named.

The board said, "Through error the name of Mrs. Hortense Miller appeared among the list of those teachers not re-elected. This error appeared under date of May 1. This correction is requested by the Board of Education of the Pampa Independent School District."

Network Keeps Watch Over Hope

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A radio network was netted again last night by one of its high-priced comedians, Bob Hope, and gave him the silent treatment, briefly.

NBC gently faded Hope off the air about five seconds after he said to his guest star, Frank Sinatra: "I will be seeing you tomorrow night, Frankie, on your show."

A National Broadcasting Co. spokesman said Hope had been asked to delete the name of another network from his script but during his show engineers heard the comic leading up to his reference and so cut him off. Sinatra's new show will be broadcast by Columbia Broadcasting System.

The NBC spokesman said it is their policy to avoid mention of other radio networks. Recently Fred Allen's NBC show was cut off the air when he made kidding remarks about the network's vice-presidents. Then Hope and Red Skelton were faded when they referred to the Allen incident.

Hope's show last night was broadcast from the nearby San Gabriel, Calif., Civic Auditorium. See the new home freezing locker at Lewis Hardware Co. (adv)

Cost of Living Lower—Reason No Phone Bills

(By The Associated Press) The high cost of living has been made slightly lower by the telephone strike—no bills were sent subscribers in many towns which do not have dial systems.

Paris, Tyler, Vernon, Odessa and other places said no bills were being sent out for April in Dallas, which has dial phones, bills were delayed because of a shortage of help.

Manager Jerome McKinney at Paris said no bills would be issued until the strike ends, and no charges made for the strike period, regardless of emergency calls. He said that despite emergency restrictions, more calls are being made than usual.

Odessa paid little attention to the strike, the Odessa American said. Non-union operators remained on duty and gave "fair service." Despite the service, no charge was made for local calls during the strike.

The union slogan "the voice with the snail" will be gone for a while. The walkout caused little inconvenience, although at first residents feared business would be paralyzed.

Supervisors personnel there has abandoned the "emergency only" phrase and is accepting all calls as fast as possible. The female voice has been replaced by a male voice in most cases.

An unusual advertisement appeared in the Brownsville Herald Sunday. It was paid for by "friends of the union" and urged telephone subscribers to send $1 each to a telephone operator because of the strike had saved them money on long distance calls.

Summer Store Hours Are Recommended

The Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday afternoon at 2:30 and approved the summer closing hours for retail stores in Pampa. Hours recommended were: for week days, opening at 9 a. m. and closing at 5 p. m., and Saturday, opening at 9 and closing at 7 p. m.

All stores will be supplied with cards stating the summer schedules. Plans were discussed for the parade which is to be held December 5 to open the Christmas season.

Magician to Head Entertainment Under Tent

Seymour Davis, featuring all new star-spangled entertainment will be the main attraction under the big tent at the Jaycee sponsored Top of Texas carnival May 9-10. The carnival will be located on the Santa Fe right-of-way at the corner of West Atchison and South Cuyler Streets.

Seymour Davis, magician, accordionist, ventriloquist, humorist and master of ceremonies, will be accompanied by Pampa by the American Swing Girls and Prof. Ignatz Biderwisky, who is a comedy piano virtuoso.

The Sphinx, an independent magazine for magicians said about Davis, "Davis' show has a freshness, an air of spontaneity, which exists even during his performance of the standard effects. By his manner, or by some novel piece of business, he makes even the dove parlor seem to be a startling and original idea. He is a particularly good example of the old saying that it is not what you do, but how you do it."

The carnival will be officially opened Friday afternoon by a parade headed by the Pampa High School band. The band, in their new green and gold uniforms, and the Jaycees, in their new uniforms of five gallon hats and yellow and blue scarves, will parade down Cuyler Street to the carnival grounds to open the grounds for the two days of festivities.

Rasbucknieks, handbills, and balloons were to be rained on the local citizenry this afternoon by three airplanes flying in formation over the city. Rasbucknieks will be the medium of exchange at the carnival, and they are being sold by all Jaycees. Lou Grapentine, chairman of the committee handling the booth money, urged all persons that will attend the carnival to get their purses full of the "bucks" before the parade so that they will have more time to enjoy what is going on inside.

Last night the carnival grounds were busy with activity as members of the club worked into the hours of the night, on their concessions.

Concessions and booths are to be operated by Virgil Greenhouse, assisted by Harry Cook and Bill Bailey. Don Foster, aided by Raymond Johnson and Bob Williams; Jack Morgan, aided by Thomas Francis and Howard Hamilton; Tom Morgan, aided by John Garman, and Rusty Ward. The booths will be under cover until the carnival opening, but each group is preparing their booth or concession, only, by afternoon. The occasion of the carnival.

Judge William H. Atwell ordered him to jail and said he would pass sentence "in a day or so."

Jones was convicted of four counts of a six-count indictment charging evasion of income taxes in 1942 and 1943 in income received from his law practice. Two of the counts were dismissed on government motion at the opening of the trial. He may be sentenced up to five years in prison and fined up to $10,000 on each count.

WE, THE WOMEN

What Makes a Cheerful Letter?

By RUTH MILLET
NEA-Staff Writer

"When I get a letter from somebody it makes me want to be with him," said a five-year-old after having had a letter written just to her read through for the second time.

Now there's a definition of a good letter as you'll never find. And yet how many grown-ups don't understand that that is what a personal letter is supposed to do, make the one who receives it wish that he could be with the person who wrote it?

And so they put the wrong part of themselves and of their doings into their letters.

They recount every illness that has occurred in the family since the last letter, instead of telling only the part that needs to be told.

They enumerate their troubles. They talk about their fears and worries.

In short, they write the kind of letters that make those who receive them feel vaguely troubled and heavy-hearted.

PUT LETTER ASIDE

Not that anyone wants to receive letters of faked cheerfulness from a friend or relative. But it isn't like cheerfulness to make a letter sound as happy as possible by a careful editing of what goes in it.

Next time you write a letter, put it aside for a few hours or a day. Then read it over and ask yourself this question: "Will this letter make the one to whom I am writing wish he could be with me?" If the answer is "No," tear it up, and start over.

Girl Scouts
 The girls in Troop 3 are earning their Folk Dancing badge under the leadership of Mrs. Johnnie Cinelli and Mrs. Lynn Boyd. They were guests at the Do-Si-Do Club recently and observed the various types of folk dancing done there.
 Eighteen girls from Pampa expressed their intention of attending the Area Girl Scout Camp at Lake Marvin in July and August if that camp can be carried out.
 Our own Girl Scout Camp, Camp Sullivan, will be ready for the troop campers from Pampa on May 23. The following troops have reserved camping time of two to four days: Troop 16 (Mrs. J. V. Young and Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, leaders); Troop 2 (Mrs. J. M. Dalton and Mrs. Frank Carter, leaders); Troop 7 (Mrs. Carl Stone, leader); Troop 20 (Mrs. R. H. Nensiel and Mrs. Watson Welch, leaders); Troop 29 (Mrs. Roy Underwood and Mrs. Earl Murphy, leaders); Troop 13 (Mrs. Ervin Pursley, Mrs. W. O. Prewitt, and Mrs. R. W. Pollard, leaders). Several other troops are planning to go, but have not decided yet on dates.
 The Day Camp Committee will meet Friday, May 9, from 9:30-11:30 to complete plans for the Brownie Day Camp which will be held June 3-5 and 10-12 at the Scout House from 4:30 to 8:30. Mrs. Wm. A. Claunch is assistant director for this camp.
 The girls in Troop 16 entertained their mothers with a lovely tea on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. V. Young, leader. This was the culmination activity on a Hostess badge for these girls who had made all the preparation for the affair.
 The Brownies of Troop 1 with Mrs. W. L. Kretzmeier entertained their mothers with a tea at the Woodrow Wilson School Monday afternoon.
 Many troops are enjoying hiking and out-door cooking during this lovely weather—Troops 7, 2, 3, 8, 11, 29, and 13.
 We are glad that the Scout House and grounds are undergoing repairs and clean-up. Over 60 persons assisted with the work there last Saturday afternoon. Much of the painting indoors remains to be done and the work on rebuilding the porches is also unfinished. Any one who can work there next Saturday is welcome to come and help.
 At a recent Troop Camping Course at Camp Sullivan, 14 Girl Scout leaders from the area completed the training qualifying them to take their girls on troop camps. One leader from Pampa, Mrs. Johnnie Cinelli, two from Panhandle, six from Phillips, four from Borger, and one from Lefors completed the course.
 Misses Norma Jane Ewing and Frances Brown, area workers, were assisted by Miss Marie Stedje who also served as camp director.

'Stars of Tomorrow' Annual Dance Revue, Tomorrow, 8 P. M.
 Around 75 dancing pupils of the McMurtry Studio of Dancing will be presented in the "Stars of Tomorrow" annual dance revue, in the auditorium of Pampa Senior High School tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The revue will be sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.
 Pupils from Pampa, Lefors, White Deer, Miami, Borger, and Groom will appear in the revue which will be presented in three parts.

Accompanists for the numbers will be Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. Avis Sanchez and Miss Mickey Casada.
 A varied program is scheduled, from the "Prevue of Stars of 1960" by the baby class, to the grand finale. Among those to be presented in solo numbers are "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" by Ramona Jo Minnich, 4; "Little China Maid," Nan Ramming; tennis dance, Jean Sims; a toe solo by Helen Kiser; a group of drama dances based on the motion picture "Pinocchio," with Marquita Hall, Jan Dyer and Sally Cobb; a reading by Calvin Wade, Elissa Ellis as an Italian flower vendor; and Helen Madeira in an original Ruth St. Dennis routine.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive
Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell
 Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.
 Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
 To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
 Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.
 Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Subscribers merely fill in the list of dates and occasions they wish to be reminded of, and she does the rest. One man said "What I want is someone to help me forget a lot of dates. What will that cost?"

THE STORY: Godfrey arrives. His clothes are shabby but his manner pompous. Sophie welcomes him enthusiastically. The others aren't so happy.

SOPHIE never went downstairs for breakfast, meals being the most quarrelsome part of the daily life at Gray Shingles and two a day being enough. Every member of the household demanded eggs cooked a different way. Marcel compared everything he ate to the most delicious breakfast he ever remembered having eaten. Sir Charles usually forgot to pass anything to Godfrey, who would remedy the omission by banging on his water glass with a knife. There was invariably an argument, at luncheon and at dinner, about who should sit next to Sophie, until Basil suggested taking turns, after which there was an argument about whose turn it was.

When Bridget brought Sophie's tray downstairs, today's breakfast was just over. Basil had already left the room to play some Chopin in the drawing room before starting to work on his book. Vicky had gone upstairs to her grandmother, Marcel following. Godfrey was alone in the dining room with coffee and cigars.

Bridget, open-faced, pink-checked and smiling, came in to check the breakfast table. Although she was a woman of perhaps 40, she seemed like a mere slip of a girl in Sophie's household. She spoke to Godfrey with kindly respect. "Good morning, Mr. Mansbridge."

"Good morning, Bridget," replied the old gentleman, conventionally enough.

"It's a lovely day, sir," Bridget went on cheerfully. "Will it disturb you if I clear?" She went ahead with her task without waiting for his permission, but some quality in his silence made her look up.

"Her intense astonishment she thought she detected in his eye a gleam she had not seen in a decade. There was something slyly insinuating in the expression on his handsome face.

BRIDGET blushed and began stacking saucers with shaking hands. When she looked back in a moment, he was fitting a fresh cigarette into a tortoise-shell holder. The housemaid sighed with relief, deciding she must have imagined the whole thing.

She had picked up her tray and started for the pantry when she felt his hand on her hip. She stopped, paralyzed, but before he spoke the door to the back regions swung into the dining room and Sir Charles came in. Bridget escaped.

Sir Charles's impression of what he saw as he entered the room was almost as fleeting as Bridget's first, uncomfortable sensation that there was a bit of lechery in the air. Sir Charles, however, had every reason to know that it was futile to give Godfrey the benefit of the doubt.

"If you dare," he said, coming straight to the point, "if you dare to come back into Sophie's life only to break her heart again with your cheap and petty—cheap and petty—uh—peccadilloes—"

Godfrey looked at him with what was almost a sneer. "Sophie's heart is too big to break over trifles."

"Well," said Sir Charles, "I'm damned if I'll stand around and watch you making a fool of yourself."

"You need not," Godfrey said sarcastically. "And anyhow what I choose to make of myself is my own lookout."

Sir Charles walked around the table and caught Godfrey's shoulder, twisting him in his chair.

"Ever since I've known Sophie, I've watched her eating her heart out over you, while you played around in corners with any and everyone. It's so humiliating for Sophie! You know very well Bridget wouldn't dare slap your handsome face."

"I'm afraid," said Godfrey, "that so many years of playing butlers have given you the mentality of a servant."

"I've kept quiet for a long while," Sir Charles said in a level tone, "but, by Jove, I'm going to tell you now it's high time you realized you aren't a matinee idol any longer. You're lucky Sophie was good to you and took you in, after the way you threw her over for that second wife of yours—or third, whichever it was."

Godfrey smiled. "If I considered your opinion important enough, Sir Charles, I might get angry."

"I wish to heaven you would get angry!" cried the butler, bringing a fist down on the table with a force that rattled the china. "In all the years I played with you and in the weeks you've been living with us I've never seen you exhibit a genuine, natural, honest emotion. I wonder if you've ever had any natural feelings."

"Come, come," said Godfrey, "one cannot be a great actor without feelings, after all. What the French call 'temperament.'"

"Probably that's why you were not a great actor," said Godfrey. "For the first time Godfrey flushed. 'Be careful,' he said, getting to his feet and facing the butler with an ugly expression."

"I don't give a hoot about your wretched little affairs," Sir Charles shouted. "I'm only afraid Sophie might have to bear one more petty humiliation at your hands. I know she stopped loving you long ago, but she seems to feel a certain obligation because she loved you for so long."

"Yes, I had better go, before I bash in your handsome face!" Sir Charles swung around and walked out of the room with dignity, although he was trembling with rage and breathing fast.

"You had better go," said Godfrey, roused at last.

"Yes, I had better go, before I bash in your handsome face!" Sir Charles swung around and walked out of the room with dignity, although he was trembling with rage and breathing fast.

Hearing Held on Building Permit

A conflict over a building permit issued to J. R. Manning several weeks ago, broke into the open yesterday when Charles Knight appeared before the City Commission in an attempt to halt the repair work underway at 309 S. Cuyler, St. C. Andrade, 111, Dallas; G. W. Chipman; San Antonio; E. B. Cox, Dallas; T. H. Heard, Beeville; E. H. Jester, Austin; R. J. Kleberg, Jr., Kingsville; R. Lacy, Longview; Le Sage, R. S., Dallas; J. W. Mitchell, Fort Worth; K. Murchison, Dallas; L. B. O'Neil, San Antonio; J. T. O'Neil, San Antonio; T. C. Telford, Nacogdoches; E. P. Waggoner, Vernon; H. H. Weinert, Seguin.

A hearing was set for this morning and convened in the City Commission Room with members of the City Commission, the City Manager, City Attorney, R. F. Gordon, J. R. Manning, Clayton Dudley and C. B. Chambers, contractor for Manning's remodeling contract.

City Attorney Gordon pointed out the ordinance on this matter prohibiting the repair of any frame building within the fire zone, where the cost of repairs exceeds 50 percent of the building's value, excluding the lot and foundation.

Manning's permit and contract amounts to $2,000. But no one in the room knew the exact value of the building. Knight, himself, the complainant, admitted he did not know the value of the building or nature of the contract until it was read today at the hearing. The remodeling contract calls for construction of a concrete foundation under the building, placing of a concrete floor and sidewalk, replacing beams and supports, installing plate glass windows and removal of an old frame porch. Some windows are also to be taken out. Gordon also brought out that the words "remodel" and "repair" are sometimes handled loosely by persons taking out building permits.

Knight sat in the meeting saying very little except that he wanted to see "ordinances enforced." At one point he added he had been offered two buildings for a total of $7,000 when the question of the Manning building valuation came up. He was promptly told by Dudley that neither of those buildings has any plumbing in it and one is just a shell of a building.

Upon the suggestion of Mayor Huff, and other Commissioners, a Board of three responsible men was picked to study the building and agree on an evaluation before repair work had been started and report to the City Manager shortly after 2 p. m. today. Those appointed are: Jack Sullivan, Vic Burnette, and R. W. Lane. Knight left the meeting before any final decision on the three appraisers was made. The meeting adjourned shortly before 11 a. m.

Texas Production Of Oil Increases

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—Crude oil production in the United States for the week ended May 3 again showed an average daily increase over the previous week, marking the ninth straight week of higher output, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

The week's production averaged 4,953,220 barrels daily, a gain of 27,537 barrels.

Texas output was responsible for the latest gain, with an increase of 32,960 barrels to 2,183,595 barrels. Louisiana also reported a sizeable increase, 2,190 barrels higher to 418,345. Arkansas was up 650 to 81,650.

Largest decline was Wyoming's 3,400-barrel drop to 109,710. Other notable decreases included California, down 2,450 to 669,300; Kansas, off 1,450 to 276,750 and Montana, down 900 to 22,390.

Mississippi's production was 66,900 barrels compared with 66,800 barrels the previous week.

union are negotiating in Washington and last night government conciliators voiced belief a settlement was near.

Negotiation between Southwestern Bell and the union were to be resumed in St. Louis today, Hackney said.

The negotiations are for approximately 40,000 employees in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas. Last night, the National Federation of Telephone Workers, of which the Southwestern Union is a member, abandoned hopes for a national settlement and returned negotiations to regional unions.

An eight-person Southwestern negotiation committee had been participating in the national negotiations.

The long lines union has approximately 115 workers in the territory covered by the Southwestern Union, Hackney said.

The Texas union official said he believed his union would not agree to accept a settlement at less money than is received by other unions in the territory.

He said the Southwestern Union has agreed to accept a $5.14 a week wage boost formula proposed by federal conciliators but that the company had made no offer. The company had promised, Hackney said, to make an offer when negotiations were resumed at St. Louis.

consideration of tax reduction legislation and indicating that few changes are likely in the bill as it passes the House.

The measure provides a 30 percent cut for net income under $1,000 and 20 percent for most other taxpayers.

Milikin said, however, there is considerable difference as to when the cut should become effective. The House bill specified last Jan. 1, but some Senators have come out in favor of making it July 1.

He said he expects to send the bill to the Senate this week.

These matters also occupied congressional attention:

City Department Health Reported In Good Condition

In his second departmental report to the City Commission, City Manager Steve Matthews yesterday disclosed the City Health Department now has 94 active cases of social diseases under treatment.

Health Department figures revealed that of the 94 cases, 32 are white women and 39 Negro women. The remaining 23 cases are divided almost equally between the white and Negro men. The Department's count is 11 whites and 12 Negroes.

Matthews said laboratory reports for last month showed 140 treatments given to the 35 cases reporting.

The city has had to bear the brunt of the Department's expense along this line since the summer of 1946 when the state stepped out and abolished the Venereal Disease Clinic system it had established in 1941. The cost has since been absorbed by the city, he reported.

Cost of operating the clinic was estimated at approximately $1.75 per treatment and the cost of drugs and supplies at $75 per month.

Matthews described the Department itself as in a "very good condition" insofar as efficiency of personnel and overall operation is concerned.

Duties of the Health Department also include regular inspections of dairies, restaurants, grocery stores, hotels and tourists courts; complaints from citizens concerning livestock or other health problems within the city limits, and also regular checks of the City swimming pool. This work is done by City Health Inspector Ray Salmon and assisted by County Health Inspector E. J. Howard. Howard is employed so that a uniform inspection system is in effect for the county.

Other divisions of the Health Department under the supervision of Salmon, with Dr. Malcolm Brown as administrative head of the entire Department, are rat proofing, laboratory, Venereal Disease Clinic and a first aid station for use of city employees injured on the job.

Clara Hyde, laboratory technician, is in charge of running blood tests of every food handler in the city, making regular water sewage and milk sample runs as well as disease smears.

At least 121 building, to date, have been rat proofed by the Department with the work being supervised by A. N. Thorne assisted by two other men. Cost of the repair work on buildings, for rat proofing, is borne by the property owner. For the past seven months Thorne has also been assisted by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Matthews reported the salary costs for the Department run $1293 a month for the eight employees there or $15,516 per year.

Matthews recommended to the Commission that in order to better coordinate the city's sanitation system a combining of the Health Department and the Garbage Department should be made as soon as feasible. This would make for closer supervision of the latter department and lessen the spread of contamination.

INFLATION CHECKED

CHICAGO (AP)—Superior Judge George M. Fisher was ready to sign a decree granting a divorce to Mrs. Carmela de Fore, 25, when he decided to read it.

He discovered the decree ordered James R. DeFore, 30, a cook, to pay $10,000 a week support to his 22-month-old daughter, Denise Lunn.

Judge Fisher checked a transcript of the divorce proceedings and found that the amount should have been $10 a week.

GOOD MAN IN OUR CORNER

For Americans there is at least one positive result that can be salvaged from the disappointing Moscow conference of foreign ministers. That was the demonstration, by Secretary of State Marshall, that the direct conduct of our foreign affairs is in strong hands.

Mr. Marshall may have gone to Moscow as an untried diplomat. But he took with him the high qualities of intelligence, determination, and tact which distinguished his military career. Even at this distance it could be seen that these qualities were making some headway against Russian resistance.

Credit is due the new secretary for most of the small comfort to be found in the Moscow meeting. It was largely through his efforts that American newspapers received adequate coverage of the conference. He proposed and engineered the agreement to reduce Big Four occupation forces in Germany. And though it was not a scheduled item of business, he persuaded Mr. Molotov that the joint Soviet-American Commission in Korea should resume discussion of the thorny problem of that country's independence.

Otherwise, Mr. Marshall had a close view of developing Soviet policy. Mr. Molotov demonstrated, perhaps more clearly than ever before, that this is a two-sided policy. One effort is aimed at getting compensation from the former enemy for Russia's war-devastated land and economy. The other is directed toward advancing communism.

The Soviet government realizes that the American people would never agree to support Germany indefinitely so that Russian strength might be built up. It realizes that, without such support, a reparation-paying Germany would collapse, making Communist conquests incredibly easier.

To carry out this program, which by now is well known to her wartime allies, Russia has adopted some familiar tactics. They are obstinacy, argument, and delay—always delay, while Russia's recovery increases and the hope, patience and temper of the western powers grow shorter.

Mr. Marshall grew to know this style of diplomatic boxing in his six weeks in Moscow. He stood up to it well.

As a soldier, Mr. Marshall knows that military science has always found a defense for every type of attack. As a statesman, we hope he may be able to discover a parallel truth in diplomatic science. Meanwhile, in what now is frankly a struggle between two powers, he has held his own. No unanimity was achieved at Moscow. But at least Mr. Marshall saw to it that Russia gained nothing at America's expense.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON, NEA Staff Correspondent (Johnson on KFDX Monday thru Friday, 2 P. M.)

HOLLYWOOD — Really, Hollywood, I've had enough. My back is out of joint. My eyes hurt, and my sense of values has gone to pot. Two-feature-length movies, a new reel, a cartoon, a travelogue, and a two-minute trailer are driving me crazy.

I get the plots mixed up. I always get into the theater in the middle of the second picture. By the time I get around there again, I have the leading man in the first picture married to the horse in the second picture.

Or my favorite actor is the hero in one picture, and after the newsreel he comes back wearing a moustache and is the villain.

People don't go to movie theaters anymore to be entertained. They go to be tortured. They emerge with their spines all out of shape and with technicolor headaches.

Let's revise simple features. Or else replace theater seats with hospital beds.

FOUR SELLING-POINT After all these years, Errol Flynn is wowing the press. He hosted a luncheon for the scribes on the second day of work on his new film, "Silver River." There's plenty of pressure in New York to leave those light-flicking scenes in "Body and Soul" on the cutting-room floor.

The State Department has quietly asked Hollywood to lay off gangster movies. The reason: Because they were interfering with Uncle Sam's efforts to sell the U. S. to a world looking for peace and security.

Paye Emerson Roosevelt is wearing a lapel pin bearing the words, "Please Do Not Handle." The pin or fave? Harry James will be back from his band tour June 13, just two weeks before Betty Grable keeps her date with the stork.

Producer-director Mike Curtiz is prepping "Winter Kill" for H. Bogart and L. B. Powell.

Aside to movie producers: With the California Centennial coming up, how about a film version of "Samuel Brannan and the Golden Fleece," novel of the gold rush days by Reva Scott, the San Francisco newspaperwoman?

KILROY COMPETITION Marlene Dietrich, now in Paris making a movie, went to Verdun the other day to entertain some troops in the same theater in which she danced for American G.I.s during the war. Entering the theater, she saw a shapely pair of legs drawn on the wall with the words: "Marlene Was Here." It was signed, "Kilroy."

Figures with a wallop from the Hollywood headlines: "Hollywood spends $500,000 on Educational Films for Schools in Last Three Years." "Hollywood Spends $500,000 on Two Films, 'Duel in the Sun' and 'Forever Amber'."

There's a deal cooking to film the life story of Jean Harlow. But who could they get to play the part? There will never be another Harlow.

Progress Report on Indian Independence Isn't Discouraging

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The secret of the report to the British government by Viceroy Lord Mountbatten, regarding progress of plans for Indian independence, has leaked out in London and, to put it cautiously, isn't discouraging.

Informed sources say Mountbatten sees the possibility of the Indian factions uniting on the basis of a three-way partition of the country which would be loosely united under a limited federal government.

The Viceroy is said to have advised London that the warring Hindus and Moslems of British India, and the princes who rule the states of native India, may agree to a federal plan if they don't "EWITT MACKENZIE" have to sacrifice basic principles.

If those three elements can be persuaded to unite under any sort of federal government, it will be a grand solution because a loose federation has been the best that could be hoped for in any event.

The great princes, many of whom have had virtual power of life and death over their subjects, are mighty jealous of the sovereign prerogatives of the British India, and have been insisting that those areas which are inhabited largely by their people should be granted absolute independence — Pakistan, they call it.

The Hindus, 55 British India, who outnumber the Moslems about three to one, have demanded a unified country. This politico-religious Moslem-Hindu quarrel has resulted in terrible bloodshed in recent months.

It is only within the past few days that there have been indications of a break in the storm. When Mountbatten arrived in New Delhi at the end of March, to replace Lord Wavell as Viceroy, he immediately inaugurated fresh conferences with Mahomed Ali Jinnah, Moslem leader, and Pandit Nehru, political chief of the all-India Congress (predominantly Hindu) and vice president of the Indian interim government. And it shortly became apparent that a discussion of a possible partition of the country to satisfy Moslem demands was boiling up.

Mahatma Gandhi, spiritual guide of the Hindus and the most powerful individual in all India, also conferred with the New Viceroy and sounded the note of compromise. If peace comes to India, there can be no doubt that Gandhi will have played a major part in bringing it about. He even has advocated Jinnah as first president of India's new government, and joined with the Moslem chief in signing an appeal for a cessation of the bloody rioting between the Moslems and Hindus in many parts of the country.

UNTIMELY EXPLOSION ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—A firecracker which was exploded in the courthouse corridor by a group celebrating a lodge convention, gave County Collector Clifton Hurst a scare.

Several days previously, Hurst said, an irate taxpayer had told him: "I'm going to come back here and blow up the entire south end of the courthouse."

"I thought he had done it," Hurst said.

Fred Cummins' mother goes into Santa Monica hospital May 6 for a major operation. June Haever will become a traveling orchestra wife this summer while husband Jimmy Zito alternates between engagements in Texas and Chicago. NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLES

Will a Depression Clarify Our Thinking?

One repeatedly hears the statement that we will have to have a real stiff depression before people get back to reality, before they come to believe more nearly the principles on which this government was formed. You hear that we need a depression to make us work together in harmony so that we can improve our material well-being.

Since we are so badly confused in economic matters, I doubt whether a depression will do what many people think it will do and what it always did in the past before the depression of 1929 and the '30's.

Every time prior to this last depression, a depression did correct the things that brought on unemployment and a greatly reduced production. It did it the hard way of making people realize that they had to give the man they were trading with enough value that he wanted to trade with them. Depressions usually come from over expansion of credit and over expanded ideas of the opinions of the value of certain people's production. That throws things out of balance and those that have assets "sit and wait" until people begin to think in harmony with the law of action and reaction, and the law of value for value.

But this correction didn't occur in the '30's. Politics entered into the matter. The usual corrective process was not permitted to go into operation. It is true that values fell in gold dollars, but instead of letting these values take their natural course and let those men who had been in error as to the relative values of things suffer, the government stepped in and established a new kind of money for this country. We went off the gold standard. We started to manufacture fiat credit commonly called money and this process has gone on and on until we do not know the real value of anything.

Real money that has a value within itself. So, we have no yardstick, no measure of the value of material things. That is why every depression in the past corrected. Not so in the 1930 depression. Instead of letting it take its natural course, we started a process of robbing the man that had life insurance, bonds, cash, preferred stocks and fixed contract income. And of course a robber is prosperous as long as he gets away with it, but sooner or later the man that is being robbed stops producing. Then there isn't much to rob. That's the reason it's so hard to get so many things people want.

We are finding that the case with houses. Men stopped producing to rent because the government was robbing them by fixing prices.

So, if we have another real depression, instead of correcting our errors it will probably only aggravate them. We will probably use the same erroneous spurious process that we used in the '30's. We will just borrow more pieces of paper and hand them out almost promiscuously, to buy votes to keep those people in power. We will do it on the guise that we are going to keep people from starving. We will only be delaying the day of their starving. People are starving in Europe and every place in the world that they try this method of government financing.

Eventually we will become so poverty stricken that people will consent to a dictator rather than to the inefficiency of a bureaucracy buying votes by printing paper money.

When they tried to issue new printing press money in Napoleon's time, he said "Only over my dead body." But the masses of people do not understand what printing press money does to them.

So it is doubtful whether another depression or a continuation of the present depression will do what many people think it will do.

Raw materials advisory committees will soon be summoned to Washington, with rubber experts slated for the first call. It will be their task to ascertain how much of each commodity will be needed for total war, how much is constantly on hand and where it can be obtained most quickly and advantageously in a crisis.

RUSSIA—Although this new program has been associated in certain circles with the waning of our relations with Russia, and may be so interpreted, let us quarters, the key planners pool-pool that interpretation.

Even in the midst of the recent conflict, when F. D. R. and "Uncle Joe" Stalin were pals-and-wals, the idea was in the minds and discussions of top military and industrial leaders at Washington.

It can safely be assumed that if the war begins outside of the United Nations framework it will be almost impossible to establish the new hegemony—Rear Adm. Ellis M. Zacharias, retired, former deputy chief of Naval Intelligence.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, IT'S A LAUNDRY

Sno-White Washateria Offers Most Comfortable Wash Day Ever Known

Believe it or not, it's a laundry. After looking at the new modern building, pictured above, you will understand why many people refuse to believe that so beautiful a building, houses a laundry.

Still, the Sno-White Washateria, located on the Swimming Pool road, isn't an ordinary laundry, but one of the most novel establishments of its kind in the country. It was planned with the idea in mind of making wash day just as easy on the ladies as it is possible to do.

The building, built of concrete block, and glass brick has an overall floor space of 2000 sq. ft. The inside is tastefully decorated, with the predominant color being blue. Blue, according to the experts, is the most restful of colors, therefore it was chosen by Charley Madeira, owner and operator of the Washateria, as part of his plan, to cut down wash day aches and pains.

The Washateria is equipped with all new machinery including four-ten washing machines, boiler, which is automatically controlled, and a new drier. The drier is one of the latest type and your entire wash can be dried in forty-five minutes. Plenty of soft, hot water, is available from opening to closing time.

Another novel feature of the laundry is the large comfortably furnished lounge. The lounge is cross ventilated and with the large comfortable chairs, it is an ideal place to relax, while your wash is in the machines.

Charley Madeira and his Washateria were given a write-up a while back, in a widely read farmers magazine. One of the ideas brought out in the story was the fact that wash day for the farm folk, could be made into a holiday. The idea behind this was that three or four family's could get together bring their wash to Sno-White Washateria, and really enjoy the day. There is an enclosed play pen for the smaller children, where you can just turn them loose and let them play, while at the laundry. The laundry's proximity to the swimming pool, makes it nice for the older children too. They can spend the hour or two that your wash takes swimming and still be close at hand. And, the ladies, after they place their wash in the machines, can sit down in the lounge, enjoy a cold drink, read a magazine, or just visit, until the washing is done. As you can see, that would be a much nicer way, to do your washing, than the old way. You would look forward to wash day, instead of dreading it.

As far as the laundry itself goes, you will have to look long and far, before you will find another as nice and complete as the Sno-White Washateria. They have all kinds of washing supplies, including soap, washing powder, bluing, starch, etc. at an economical price. The new drier, which has been mentioned before, will dry most clothes in thirty minutes, however, blankets, rugs and heavy work clothes will take about forty-five minutes. Your whole wash only takes approximately two hours to complete. No hang up, no mess to clean up, no water to empty, all this is taken care of by the staff of the laundry.

Mr. Madeira has succeeded in making his Washateria something out of the ordinary, and is very proud of it. The owner has always looked Pampa, and has lived here for thirteen years. In fact, he graduated from the local high school.

So, for no other reason, than curiosity you should drive out on the Swimming Pool road and see the new beautiful Sno-White Washateria. It is one of Pampa's most progressive businesses. Telephone number is 2580, and the machine and laundry rates are very reasonable.

The Atlas is a reasonably priced, high quality tire. Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—(P)—The other wives at "The Hatchery"—campus nickname for Indiana University's trailer home community for war vets—just couldn't understand the viewpoint of little Mrs. Vivian Bolinger.

"I wish George would stay for a year of graduate work after getting his degree," she said. Wonderingly the word swept through the other remodeled wartime trailers, lined up in neat rows by the hundreds west of the University Stadium. Vivian wants George to stay another year.

Most veterans and their wives, particularly those with children, want to move on as soon as the family head wins his sheepskin. They want to leave their cramped quarters and get started somewhere in new homes.

Vivian—the is pretty and red-haired and her husband calls her

"Curly"—is an exception. Life is crowded in their small $25-a-month trailer but it has been happy.

"And I just hate the thought of trying to find another place to live," said Curly. Like the wives of many veterans she has an outside job to help eke out the government educational allowance of $90 a month. She doesn't mind working.

Most veterans to remain in school have had to borrow from relatives or spend their wartime savings.

Curly's husband, a journalism student who worked in Gary Steel Mills before spending 18 months in the Pacific, is 29. He's anxious to get started in a newspaper career.

So is his pal, Joe Gingery, 24, Indianapolis, a former airforce gunner in the European theater, who shares a $32.50 trailer with his wife, Pamela, and their three children. Nelson is 4 years old and the twins, Walter (Red) and Joe (Blue) are two. Walter is dressed in red and little Joe in blue so each can tell himself from the other.

The three Gingery children swarm over the 18-60-20 foot trailer like a trio of healthy, husky bear cubs. Their mother, a large friendly girl of placid temperament, has to pack them off to the community nursery when she wants to do housecleaning.

WALL STREET STOCKS
NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—The bears gained control of the stock market today and drove leaders down. Transactions were more than 3 points before lunch buying and short covering cut losses.

A fair amount of activity accompanied the retreat in the foreign exchange market. Despite the reduction of extreme declines, the market was widely speculated at the close.

There was a scattering of advances for such such issues as Santa Fe, Consolidated Copper Mines, United Aircraft, International Harvester and Johns-Manville. Transfers for the full stretch ran to around 300,000 shares.

A few "thin" issues slipped to 2 points on meager offerings. Among these were omnibus preferreds and Pere Marquette Preferred. The latter tumbled when the U. S. C. postponed its order approving the road's merger with Chesapeake & Ohio.

Principal staples included General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Boeing, Eastern Air Lines, United Air Lines, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, American Water Works, Anaconda, Air Reduction, General Electric, International Nickel, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, American Can, N. Central, Great Northern Railway, Northern Pacific and American Smelting. Schebler and Pennsylvania Railroad touched bottom for the past year or longer.

Legislation by congressional on the idea that five successive rising sessions had served normal conditions of correction of the April slide accounted for the greater part of the day's recession.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—Grain futures broke sharply toward the end of trading today, reacting to an abrupt decline in Minneapolis, which followed a slump there in the cash grain market.

During the morning trading wheat led an advance in the strength of the nearby contract which advanced on short covering and some commercial demand for liquidation followed the slump in cash grain prices. The selling spilled over into other pits.

At the close wheat was 1/2 to 2 1/4 lower than the previous close, May $2.62-2.62 1/2. Corn was 1/2 to 1 1/4 higher, May $1.42 1/2-1.43. Oats were 1/2 to 1 cent higher, May 9 1/2-9 1/2.
