

UNITED STATES AWAIT REPLY FROM RUSSIA

WARNING MIGHT BE A WITHDRAWAL OF RECOGNITION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)—The future of Soviet-American relations was thrown open to question in the minds of many observers today as the United States awaited a reply to its stern note protesting what it termed "flagrant violation" of Russian pledges.

It was noticed that the protest warned of "most serious consequences" if Russia failed to prevent communist organizations on its soil or under its control from aiming to overthrow the government of the United States.

Some observers read into the document an emphatic warning that American recognition of Russia, which has been a subject of hot debate in Capitol Hill and elsewhere, might be withdrawn if the Russian government does not do all in its power to halt communist activities in the United States.

The note itself, delivered by Ambassador William C. Bullitt in Moscow, did not go so far as to speak of possible breaking off of relations. It said the United States "anticipates the most serious consequences" if the government of the Soviet socialist republics is unwilling, or unable, to take appropriate measures to prevent further acts in disregard of the solemn pledge given by it to the government of the United States.

Much appeared to depend on the nature of the reply which Moscow dispatches to Washington. When the reply will be received was not known here. It was believed that perhaps the Kremlin would await the return to the Russian capital of Maxim Litvinoff, foreign commissar.

The American note yesterday called attention to the policy which Litvinoff gave to President Roosevelt in November, 1933, when Russia was recognized. In brief, Russia promised to prevent communists under her control from interfering with internal affairs of the United States.

PITHY PHRASES FROM SPEECH OF FDR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)—Pithy sentences in the speech of President Roosevelt to the young democrats Saturday included:

It is true that the presidency carries with it, for the time being, the leadership of a political party as well. But the presidency carries with it a far higher obligation than this.

Therefore, what I am about to say to you, members of the Young Democratic clubs, is precisely—word for word—what I would say were I addressing a convention of the youth of the republican party.

I say from my heart that no man of my generation has any business to address youth unless he comes to that task not in a spirit of exaltation, but in a spirit of humility.

Today we can no longer escape into virgin territory: We must master our environment.

The youth of this generation finds that the old frontier is occupied, but that science and invention and economic evolution have opened up a new frontier—one not based on geography but on the resourcefulness of men and women applied to the old frontier.

We have been compelled by stark necessity to unlearn the too comfortable superstition that the American soil was mystically blessed with every kind of immunity to grave economic maladjustments, and that the American spirit of individualism—all alone and unhelped by the cooperative efforts of government—could withstand and repel every form of economic disarrangement or crisis.

It is my firm belief that the newer generation of America has a different dream (than that of wealth). You place this emphasis on sufficiency of life, rather than on a plethora of riches.

Our concepts of the regulation of money and credit and industrial competition, of the relation of employer and employee created for the old civilization, are being modified to save our economic structure from confusion, destruction and paralysis.

U. S. Army Shows It's Ready for Aerial "Invaders"

As 38,000 troops of the regular army and national guard were concentrated in upper New York state for the greatest peace-time maneuvers ever held in America, special units with newly developed weapons went into mock action against simulated attacks by "enemy" aircraft. Here is one of the high-velocity guns which can send explosive shells against fleets of planes.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter 30
DECLARATION
"Then why do you worry about danger?" asked Rex. "It would not mean anything to you if I never came back? Except that you could go on being my widow?" He laughed scornfully, hardly able to believe what had come into his mind.

"No—nothing." She had her back to him. Her voice was strangled. Her shoulders were shaking.

Rex Moore took a long stride, and turned her round. She was as white as a sheet. Her eyes were agonized.

"Laurie, it can't be that you care like that?" He crushed her to him. His lips were pressed to hers. His eyes, when he released her, and held her at arm's length, were shining, ardent, a lover's eyes, a conqueror's eyes.

"Laurie, you love me!" "I don't—I—" She tried to tear herself away.

"You do. I love you, Laurie. You are the one woman. It was fate. It was meant to be. We've been playing the fool with each other."

"Let me go! Let me go!" She struggled feebly. It was against some power she did not understand.

"We've been playing the fool," he repeated. "I love you and you love me. And that's all there is to it. Again, he drew her close. And this time she surrendered, and her lips clung to his, and in a great wave of ecstasy she did seem to lose herself altogether, and to be born anew.

The door bell rang harshly in the tense atmosphere of the room, filling with human passion and joy and pain.

Rex Moore gripped Laurie even closer for a strange, silent moment; then let her go.

"That's the car," he said. "I can't keep it waiting. I must get off. Laurie—" He looked at her with those brilliant, masterful eyes. "Isn't it the most beautiful thing in the world? Can you believe in it? Of course, we must believe in it, because it's true. Wait till I come back! Wait for me!"

She was leaning against the wall. Slowly her face was composing itself, losing its unearthly radiance. "I think we're mad," she muttered.

"I must go. We're not mad. Wait till I get back!" Another close embrace, desperate in its tragic haste. And he was gone. Laurie heard the door shut. She did not move; tears ran down her face. She was in a new world. Rex Moore loved her. She loved him. He had gone, but he would come back.

This was what she had been born for. This was what all her life had led to—blindly groping, searching. It had led her to Rex Moore, her man.

Congress Bars Suits on Gold

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)—Congress voted away the right of citizens to sue the government today after new January 1 for damages—potentially aggregating $7,000,000,000—that might be charged to dollar devaluation and gold clause abrogation.

A compromise bill withdrawing that privilege sped to the president's desk after the house accented with little discussion and no record vote a conference report adjusting its major objections to senate amendments.

The final language toned down the original house proposal—which republican critics contended would endanger government credit—to forbid suits on any type of government obligation.

The house wanted to bar suits immediately on enactment of the bill, the senate suggested a six-month wait before imposing the bar.

Their conference committee members despatched but finally received word that the president would object to a short period of grace because he believed the price level would be sufficiently stable so no one could prove damages against the government. The supreme court set the "damages" criteria for collecting in such cases.

POOR HORSE
NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—The machine age has been a little hard on Levoy Gilkey's horse. The animal was near a threshing machine. A pulley belt caught his tail and yanked it off.

IL DUCE AND WAR CHEERED AT OLD HOME

ROME, Italy, Aug. 26. (AP)—Benito Mussolini, chief of Italy's government and armed forces came here today and entered immediately into the vast military maneuvers under way on the Austrian frontier.

More than 10,000 fascists from Bolzano and neighboring towns gathered in the public square and cheered him repeatedly in a great demonstration when he arrived.

In the afternoon, he went into the area where 150,000 soldiers are engaged in maneuvers and chatted lengthily over technical military subjects with his generals.

It was not far from here that Il Duce worked as a young Austrian demobilist. Twenty miles from here is the jail where he was imprisoned for several months by Austria for writing inflammatory articles against the Austrian government.

ITALIAN CHEMICAL IS AGAIN SPREAD ON GROUND

ROME, Italy, Aug. 26. (AP)—Troops engaged in war maneuvers in this area on the Austrian frontier today exhibited the effectiveness of the chemical which, spread on the ground, will burn the feet of Ethiopians in the event of war in East Africa.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And Without Disturbance to the Morning Meal to Go
The liver should pour out two pints of bile into your bowels each day. If this bile is not there, your food will not be properly digested. You will feel sluggish, your system is poisoned and you feel unwell. It is not a good idea to take laxatives. A new bowel movement doesn't get rid of the cause. It takes a good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get it out. They are gentle and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills in your neighborhood drug store. Substitutes refuse anything else. 2c.
