TRUMAN'S BUDGET EXCEEDS GOP ESTIMATE

Both Republicans and Demos at Odds on Tax Cutting

GOPsters Consider Budget Excessive

WASHINGTON—(P)—Republicans today assailed President Truman's $37,528,000,000 budget as excessive, but they divided sharply on the question of cutting taxes.

Democrats generally supported the President's budget estimate as representing the bare necessities in government spending, but they, too, were at odds on the tax issue.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee called Mr. Truman's proposed outlay "a shocking disappointment." The New Hampshire Senator noted that the amount exceeded the $35,860,000,000 originally proposed in the budget message of a year ago.

Senator Caphart (R-Ind.) told a reporter he believes the President's figure is $5,000,000,000 more than Congress will appropriate.

"Mr. Truman hasn't said anything in any of his messages about reducing government expenses," Caphart said. "Of course we can't reduce taxes if we spend the amount he wants to."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), already called for a $3,500,000,000 slash in the White House budget and a 20 percent cut in income taxes. Rep.

Chairman of the House appropriations committee has said expenditures could be cut back to $29,000,000.

But Senator Aiken (R-VT) opposed any tax cut "until we have balanced the budget and have reduced the national debt by reasonable amounts."

It is the deadline for those who haven't had the full tax, or any tax, withheld from their 1946 wages or income.

It is the deadline—if it affects you—for filing, changing and paying your declaration of estimated tax for 1946.

In 1946 most people's income was from wages. And most of them had the full 1945 tax withheld from that income.

If you had full tax withheld, don't worry about Jan. 15. You'll have to make your final return by March 15.

Here are the people who must do something about Jan. 15:

1. Those in 1946 they did not have to do anything about the tax on their 1946 income. They must do it now.

2. Those from whose 1946 income no tax was withheld, such as professionals men like doctors, or landlords, and so on.

3. Those who had wages — like service or farm workers — from which no tax was withheld.

4. This big group.

A Those who had full tax withheld from their wages in 1946 but received more than $100 in outside income from which no tax was withheld.

B Those who had some tax—but not all the tax due—withheld from their 1946 wages.

These people should have been paying in quarterly installments the difference between the tax withheld and the total tax due.

(Full tax is withheld on wages up to $5,000, plus $500 for each exemption except yourself. Your wife and child, for example, are exemptions.)

5. Those who have been making quarterly payments for the past year but under-estimated their tax by more than 20 percent.

If you're one of those, you must make the correction and pay off by Jan. 15. There's a penalty, if you don't.

All people mentioned in the five groups above are supposed to pay off by Jan. 15 whatever tax they owe on 1946 income.

You can do it on Form 1040-es or Form 1040.

If you use form 1040 it can stand as your final return on 1945 income.

O'Daniel Against Naming of Dooley

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas) today was prepared to fight "to the limit" against confirmation of Judge Dooley of Amarillo to be federal judge for the Northern Texas district.

Senator Connally (D-Texas) recommended Dooley to succeed Judge James C. Wilson, retired, and President Truman nominated the Amarillo man Wednesday. O'Daniel had recommended others for the judgeship.

Asked if he meant that he would go so far as to declare Dooley was "personally obnoxious" to him, O'Daniel said he had not decided. The Senate usually rejects a nomination when one of its members says the nominee is "personally obnoxious."

O'Daniel would not discuss reasons for his opposition, which is a continuation of the frequent differences between the Texas Senators over personnel recommendations.

Less Contagious Illness Reported

AUSTIN—(P)—The State Department of Health today reported a significant decrease in the number of portable communicable diseases during 1946 as compared with the previous year.

A lesser incidence was reported for diphtheria, dysentery, influenza, malaria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, typhus fever, and whooping cough.

Health officials cited a very marked increase in one important disease during the past year.

Smallpox cases were tripled, 26 cases being reported as compared with only nine cases in 1945.

Undulant fever also showed a significant increase with 750 cases recorded as compared with 618 the previous year, said the health report.

35,000 Red Troops Stage New Attack

PEIPING—(P)—Government reports from its new First Army today said an estimated 35,000 Communist troops attacked National positions on a 25 mile front along the Sungari river, 60 miles northeast of Changchun.

National sources said the government, stepping up its air activity in Manchuria, had taken seven P-51 fighter planes to Changchun, the Capital.

There have been predictions of an outbreak of hostilities in northern Manchuria for some time but today's activity was the first, except for minor skirmishes, for months.

Republican Group Makes Plans for Building Up Party

DALLAS—(P)—A group of state Republicans, acting independently of the party's official state leadership, prepared today the next step in their state-wide drive to build up their party for the avowed purpose of making Texas a two-party state by 1948.

The group organized the Republican Club of Texas at a meeting here yesterday and announced that active Republican groups would be formed in every part of every county in an attempt to wrest from the Democrats the political monopoly they have enjoyed in the state.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Oklahoma) said that like Mr. Truman is in favor of maintaining the present tax structure.

"But I would vote," he added, "for another tax if that should become necessary. We must be prosperous there ought to pay sufficient taxes to keep the country on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Senator Murray (D-Mont.) said he thinks the budget represents "rock-bottom" expenditures by the government, adding:

"The Big Powers now have abandoned hope for unanimity on the decision on Trieste, debate on which began last Tuesday with Australia dissenting on principle."

In the meantime, the council yesterday began a prospectively long and stubborn debate centering on United States and Russia over the world wide arm reduction project, to be appointed by the council after the peace treaty in February.

The Big Powers now have abandoned hope for unanimity on the decision on Trieste, debate on which began last Tuesday with Australia dissenting on principle.

Subscriber Should Get Signed Receipt

The circulation department of the News today reminded subscribers in Pampa that they should request a signed receipt from the carrier boy when they receive their paper.

Subscribers were also reminded that when the paper has arrived at 6 p.m. during weekdays, except Saturday, they may call the office between that time and 7 p.m. and the paper will be delivered.

At that time the new members of the council—Belgium, Canada and Syria—asked for more time to study the proposal, but since have indicated that they would vote for the project.

Australian Delegate Norman J. O'Malley, the current chairman of the II-National Council, argued that there was no specific Charter provision for an administration such as that arranged for Trieste.

Prior to last-minute consultations with his legal advisor, Makin indicated he might obtain from voting. The big powers were accustomed to at least eight votes on a proposal needing an affirmative majority of seven.

Rev. Vanderpool, one of the state's prominent youth leaders, has a Boy Scout troop which organized a local service as institutional representative on his home council. A prominent member of Kiwanis International, he has spoken at several district meetings of that organization.

Local Executive Hugo Olsen informed the press that since their 15 members had been working to isolate Mexican live stock affected with foot and mouth disease to prevent its spread to other stock and wild animals.

The agriculture department said today there is danger of the disease being carried across the American border by wild animals such as deer, coyotes, and antelope.

Department veterinarian advised on Feb. 25 will not be given evidence to show their environmental abilities before the election of March 1 since they will only go into active service the first week in that month. In just four weeks after they assume office, voters of Pampa will again have to go to the polls and vote the second time for the same offices as they voted for on February 25. This proximity of two elections for the same offices will not give the voters any time to find out.

Base Wage Rate Hike Is Favored

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman's twice-stated bid to boost the national minimum wage brought from Senator Pepper (D-Calif.) today a proposal to shove it up 35 cents.

And the general idea commanded enough support to fashion a compromise bill to pass by the end of March 1.

The problem facing these voters is that the mayor and commissioners elected on Feb. 25 will not be given evidence to show their environmental abilities before the election of March 1 since they will only go into active service the first week in that month. In just four weeks after they assume office, voters of Pampa will again have to go to the polls and vote the second time for the same offices as they voted for on February 25. This proximity of two elections for the same offices will not give the voters any time to find out.

Infant Death Rate Is at Lowest Point

WASHINGTON—(P)—The public health service reported today the infant mortality rate has reached the lowest point in the nation's history and appears to be still heading downward.

The rate for 1945 was 38.5 deaths under one-year-old per 1,000 live births, 3.8 percent lower than the rate of 39.8 for 1944. Provisional figures for the first 10 months of 1946, based on the service records of the health centers, indicated a 3.2 decrease from the same period of 1945.

Trieste Headed for U.N. Council Rule

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(P)—Australia appeared today to be the only hold-out against the Big Power Foreign Ministers' decision to place Trieste under the administration of the United Nations Security Council.

The council was scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. (CST) to accept responsibility for the city as its first peace-maintenance project under a government to be appointed by the council after the signing of the peace treaty in February.

The Big Powers now have abandoned hope for unanimity on the decision on Trieste, debate on which began last Tuesday with Australia dissenting on principle.

In the meantime, the council yesterday began a prospectively long and stubborn debate centering on United States and Russia over the world wide arm reduction project, to be appointed by the council after the peace treaty in February.

The opening round of debate developed on a familiar pattern. Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko contended the American delegation is seeking to stall on arms reduction and American Delegate Herschel V. Johnson stood firm for priority of atomic control discussions as the basis of disarmament.

At that time the new members of the council—Belgium, Canada and Syria—asked for more time to study the proposal, but since have indicated that they would vote for the project.

Australian Delegate Norman J. O'Malley, the current chairman of the II-National Council, argued that there was no specific Charter provision for an administration such as that arranged for Trieste.

He has not arrived by 8:30 on Sunday morning, call may be made—Telephone 666—between that time and 10:30 a.m.

Latest Invention: Electric 'Sifter'

WASHINGTON—(P)—Science has come up with a substitute for the baby sifter who, of course, is in turn a substitute parent.

It's the electric intercommunication system.

This is the way it came about.

Dr. Keith G. Johnson, head of the science department of the district public schools wired his nursery for sound—the result of an idea he had while a Navy electronics instructor. By means of this device he and Mrs. Johnson could hear every word of their two children.

His neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Nalley and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. M. Coster, were so taken with the idea that they installed similar systems.

The next step, naturally, was to unite the three systems together. So now any one set of parents without a baby sifter is able to keep a watchful ear on all three sets of kiddies, freeing the other parents for the evening and eliminating the baby sitter entirely.

If this results in poverty for the bobby sox set but to coin a phrase, "It's science wonderful!"

Summers 'Sick' Of Own Portrait

DALLAS—(P)—Hutton W. Summers, who retired after 34 years as Dallas' congressman, looked at a newly unveiled portrait of himself last night and remarked with pearly glee, "we don't come down here to look at that thing. It would make me sick to look at a face like that."

Summer's portrait was directed to him 150 fellow townsmen who attended a dinner in his honor and the unveiling of the portrait which will hang in the committee room of the House judiciary committee, over which Summers presided for 14 years.

In an "order of the day" presented in the House, Summers' portrait was "set up" in the fleet, once fourth or fifth in the world but now down to 265,000 tons, the veterans urged the sailors "not to consent

Knox Kinard Speaks

To Holy Souls P-TA

Practical economy and religious economy were stressed this week at the regular meeting of the Holy Souls Parent-Teacher Association.

Knox Kinard, superintendent of the Public Schools of the Schools spoke on "Economy, a Practice Instead of Something to Be Watch About." Kinard pointed out that the American people have a worldwide reputation of watchfulness and that individual stability is of utmost importance.

Turning to the spiritual side of the picture the Rev. Father DeWitt said that prayer should be treated as economically as money in order that "salvation" may be shown in the Heavenly Kingdom.

Students of the fifth and sixth grades furnished the entertainment with recitations and songs.

The fifth and six grades also won the room prize.

Mental Attitude May Reveal Age

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Actresses more than any other women seem to be gowned with personal youth. With them any relaxing into middle age may halt a career or cause a shift from ingenue to mature roles.

And believe it or not, an actress friend confided to me once, is not altogether focused on the battle of fighting the "Time" she takes care of her face. She takes care of that, too, as most women do. But she considers just as important the strategy of rules to keep people thinking about her age.

First of all, she doesn't talk about it—her own age or anyone else's discussing age, says my friend, she invites speculation about her own.

She's careful not to allow her conversation to "date" her—allowances to the torrid twenties, for instance, or to songs or styles popular during a decade with which she doesn't want to identify herself.

This actress-strategist doesn't grow sentimental about the past or haul out sweet old stories from her youth to impress. She's more concerned, she admits, about her triumphs ahead in keeping roles which younger actresses covet.

Moving picture houses in St. Catharines, Ont., have accepted starling and crow legs in payment for tickets.

DEL MONTE, Calif.—(AP)—The tricky Cypress Point golf course described by the unfortunate as an 18-hole sand trap surrounded by sea lions, has 150 of the sport's top money-players and Simon Purves today in the opening of the $10,000 Bing Crosby pro-amateur golf tournament.

The Groaner himself, surrounded by a coterie of fellow Hollywoodians, was on hand for the first-day play.

Triple-Header Cage Card Slated Here Tonight at 6:30Hedley Defeats Heiskell Cagers In AAU Tourney

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

NEW YORK—(P)—With all the talk of building or enlarging athletic stadia soon as materials are available, cities planning such projects should study financial records of the larger municipal plants already in operation.

A survey conducted by the Associated Press pointed up today what may be "better" teams in the Plains A. A. U. cage tournaments. Among the sports, top money-players and Simon Purves today in the opening of the $10,000 Bing Crosby pro-amateur golf tournament.

In the West, where weather conditions are more favorable for outdoor spectacles the year around, the big bowls make money, this survey showed, but those in the East generally do not.

Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, for instance, was used only eight times last year and brought in a total of $35,870. Operating costs were $39,449, leaving a deficit of $3,579. It was built in 1936 at a cost of $3,000,000 and is now valued at $4,227,000.

By contrast, the Los Angeles Municipal Stadium was used about 40 times last year and brought in an estimated total of $230,000. Attendance for the year exceeded 1,600,000, including some 1,200,000 at 28 football games. This stadium was built in 1923 for $1,900,000, with seating capacity of 101,516. It never has been operated at a loss.

The Rose Bowl at Pasadena, built in 1922 for $900,000, was used about 40 times last year and drew 180,000 persons, half of them for the New Year's day football game. It seats 60,000 and enough bleachers added on Jan. 1 to bring it to 88,000. City officials declined to estimate the profits, but said these were higher than ever.

Chicago's Soldier Field, an $8,000,000 structure built in 1924, just breaks even from year to year. It seats 100,000 for football, and held 13,000 for the second Dempsey-Tunney fight in 1927. It was used 51 times last year and seated a total of 1,350,000 persons, including 1,000,000 for sports events.

The stadium, built in Dallas, used for football, always has been a money-maker for the State Fair of Texas. Built in 1930 for $400,000, it seats 45,000 and drew a total of 245,000 to 15 college and high school football games last year. A remodeling job which would give the Cotton Bowl 10,000 to 20,000 more seats is planned.

'Busher' Faces Important Turf Test Tomorrow

ARCADIA, Calif.—(P)—A couple of major turf questions are slated to be answered tomorrow in the $50,000 San Pasqual handicap at Santa Anita.

The program will start at 6:30 with the Pampa Gorillas battling the Perryton "B" team; the Harvester horses will play the Morse quintet at 7:30 and the main event will follow.

Tomorrow night, the Pampas will be "hard at it" again when they meet the Hollis Tigers at eight o'clock at the local gym.

Hollis handed Pampa one of its three defeats this year, a 36-17 racing early in the season. The Tigers featured a smooth passing attack that completely offset most of the Harvester efforts in the game at Hollis.

The Morse club, which meets the Harvester reserves tonight, fell to the Pampa main string, 40-25, in the first game of the season for the locals.

The games tonight and tomorrow night will bring to a temporary end the local's non-conference schedule which has seen them with five and lose eight.

Next week, following final exams, Pampa will go into District I-AA conference play, meeting Borger's Bulldogs there Friday.

A scheduled game with the Claude Mustangs next Tuesday has been postponed because of examinations.

Elsewhere on the strength front, Amarillo's Sandies favorites lost their district championship, dropped their first game in nine starts, losing to the Graham Steers at Graham last night, 41-35.

The Sandies will meet Graham again tonight.

To the South, Plainview's Bulldogs appear as one of the outstanding teams of the three southern schools—Lubbock, Brownfield and Plainview.

BASKETBALL Results

Gather Ye Rosebuds

"WELL, Major," Judge Logan said, "so you've come back, with your company's records, eh?" "Umm, no. The fact is," Major Cameron said, crossing his short legs and speaking as casually as he could, "the fact is, something—ummm—unexpected has happened to prevent."

"Yes? What's that?" Judge Logan asked.

"Mr. Milgrim, my partner, seems to have received a wire at noon from Chicago. He drove away in his automobile. He seems to have taken the records with him."

"And the other partner?"

"Mr. Breen, He, too, seems to have gone."

"You don't say! When will they return, Major? They left some word."

"They left no word. They must have been very rushed, an important summons. I talked with Mr. Milgrim on the telephone at eleven-thirty. I thought he seemed perturbed. He told me to wait in the bar; I did, for an hour, when I telephoned again to his room. The desk clerk said that in the interim Mr. Milgrim and Mr. Breen had checked out. I confess, sir, I don't understand why they failed to look for me in the bar. But—"

"But they skipped!" Mr. Lardner exclaimed.

"I beg your pardon?"

"Skipped! And all they left was the bag for you to hold!"

Major Cameron held no bag; his glance rebuked the prosecutor. "There is, naturally, some explanation."

"Oh, naturally!" said Mr. Lardner. "You bet there is! Those thieving devils!"

"Now, Harry," Judge Logan said. "Keep your shirt on. I want you to have Major Cameron's story just as I got it, book, chapter and verse."

"All right, all right," Mr. Lardner subsided, chewing hungrily at his cigar. "But I'm warning him, so dumb—or why aren't they in an asylum?"

THE Major looked apprehensively at Mr. Lardner. . . . But Judge Logan was urgent and encouraging. The Major sighed and launched into his recital, gaining assurance as he went on, concluding by handing a certificate to Mr. Lardner.

"Each certificate," he said, "represents an investment of fifty dollars."

Mr. Lardner, who had been silent for fifteen minutes, seized the certificate, crumpled it in his fist and laughed harshly. "Bunk!" he exclaimed. "You've got no oil well never did have. And you know it. You can't kid me."

No oil well? The Major was stunned. "Sir," he said, "the Shenandoah Company—"

You never had a company, either."

No company? The Major gasped. He got to his feet. "Sir, I am the president of the Shenandoah—"

"Sit down!" roared Mr. Lardner.

The Major sat down again on the chair edge.

"Suppose," Judge Logan said to Mr. Lardner, "you got Milgrim and Breen? What could you do with them, Harry?"

"Not a thing. We haven't got a thing on 'em. Not in this business. They kept their skirts dry and let Cameron wade in. Cameron's the one the grand jury will indict."

"If and when the stock purchasers bring a complaint."

"As they will! How many are there? Hundred or fifty-odd? They'll be a pack of hounds in full cry."

Judge Logan fiddled with his spectacles. "The grand jury will be in session next week."

"Next week, yes. Major Cameron," added Mr. Lardner uneasily.

FREE MARKET AIDS 1947 PROSPECTS

There is one task that stands out above all others in the agenda of national duty for the new year.

That is the task of getting all the elements in the economy to pull together to make the competitive enterprise system function effectively.

The American people have shown unmistakably that, in a half-totalitarian and socialistic world, they favor overwhelmingly the free enterprise system.

The task that confronts government and business and labor leadership in 1947 is carrying out the wish of the nation for an efficient enterprise system.

The enterprise system has demonstrated beyond doubt its capacity to produce and to yield rising standards of living for increasing numbers of people. If there was any of the capacity of American enterprise to deliver goods, certainly such doubt must have been dispelled by the enormous job of war production accomplished in World War II.

In that struggle for national survival, industry was geared to the demands of war and government. Many normal operations of supply and demand were displaced by war needs and government control of the economy.

Now the civilian consumer again is kingpin of the market place. The wants, the buying habits, the purchasing power of the civilian consumer once more are dominant forces in business.

But free enterprise, if it is to succeed in bringing prosperity to the nation, must be free to operate. It cannot be half-free—half-controlled, and still do the job that has been placed before it. The sooner we move in the direction of freedom the sooner we shall be on the road to prosperity and, what is more important, we shall be on the road to better living under freedom.

NOTES TO WARSAW
TOO LATE TO AID ANTI-COMMUNISTS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Air Foreign Affairs Analyst
(Subscription, $1.00)

American and British delegations to Warsaw over the Polish election set-up serve merely to help keep the record straight. It is too late ever since the Moscow-dominated government was established.

Regardless of what the rules and regulations for voting might be the Poles have been given some very good lessons in how to vote. Thousands have been killed on various excuses stemming from the fact they have been too overt in support of Vice Premier Mikolajczyk's Polish peasant party. Others have been "detained" by authorities who sought to convince them they were "mistaken" in signing nominating petitions.

We can only surmise what "persecuted" methods have been used, over and above the usual threats of loss of jobs, etc. It appears they worked well enough, however, to give the government an excuse for voiding opposition tickets in 10 of the country's 52 districts after a sufficient number had recognized their "mistake" and withdrawn their signatures.

The government also has organized a militia whose duty in the polls will be similar to those of the poll-watchers put out by some political machines in the United States. The Polish watchers, however, have some considerable advantages. They are armed, militarily trained, and openly represent the government.

When the U.S. and Britain protest at such an election in Hungary some months ago, Russia replied that we were seeking to interfere in Hungarian internal affairs. Now the Russians say the only irregularities in Poland are committed by "rightwing terrorists," call the election set-up "perfectly democratic" and so kiss off the suggestion that the Big Three keep their agreement that Europe's people shall live under governments of their own free choice.

To many Poles this choice must seem restricted to:

A vote for a foreign-sponsored government whose continuation could bring economic sanctions by the Western powers and a resultant shortening of rations.

A vote for the Polish peasant party almost certainly to be followed by penalties from Warsaw, and quite possibly by a crack over the head.

Talk of Money Is Magic for India

ALBUQUERQUE.—(AP)—Giles L. Mathews, income tax field deputy, and Indian sotah in help in filling out his income tax forms.

Two questions on earnings, profits cash on hand, the Indian had only one answer: "Ush." Then the conversation went like this:

"You'll have to tell me."

"Ush."

"Why, you may even have a refund coming."

"Ah, much?"

POLICY CHANGE

WASHINGTON.—(NEA)—A new "omnibus bill" to include all peace-time Army organization plans and policies is major legislation objective which the War Department hopes it can attain from the 80th Congress.

Action on the measure may have to be delayed until decision can be made on the fundamental question of whether or not the armed services are to be merged. Pending that, the War Department will have for continuation of the Selective Service System to give it enough men for its assigned tasks at home and in zones of occupation overseas.

Again this year the Army lays great stress on the need for unification of the armed services. First decision to be made on this question is whether the Air Forces are to remain under the Army or be set up as a separate and equal branch with Army and Navy in a Department of National Defense. Whichever way that goes, the case for unification will be presented as a needed means to eliminate duplication in military planning.

Four main fields where complete co-ordination must be achieved are pointed out. First, in industrial mobilization of raw materials, manufacture and procurement. Second, in agreement on missions of the armed services in support of American foreign policy. Third, in the creation of a central intelligence authority. Fourth, in the establishment of a central research organization.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES
Religion The Cradle of Liberty

What this country needs is more real religion. Our depressions, our debts, our wars, our moral delinquency are the result of our not really believing in the Christian religion. If we believe in the Christian religion we certainly would practice it.

Ruth Alexander in her column in the Los Angeles Examiner had something very timely to say on the subject of religion. I quote:

"Religion is the supreme historic force in the management of human relations and it must determine political goals and parallel political methods in a people committed to self-government.

"Self-government means government by self, of self, and for self. It means the right of self-government to throw down in our eyes by interpreting this as selfishness. But exactly the opposite is true."

"Government by self means discipline that originates from within the individual as opposed to discipline originating without himself, and imposed upon him and enforced against his will."

"Government for self means discipline and integration of all activities in proper balance, so that the individual may be a self-propelling and self-sustaining member of society."

"This is not selfishness but the highest form of unselfishness."

"For only that individual who solves his own problems and removes from being a burden to society can truly be called unselfish."

"And only that individual who dumps his problems—of whatever kind—into the lap of his fellowmen can truly be called selfish."

This last statement might need a little explanation. It would depend upon what is meant by "his problems." A man is extremely fortunate when he is not dominated by his own personal problems and is willing to support the government, want to use the government as a method of supporting the unfortunate who should be supported by voluntary individual sacrifice.

Dr. Alexander continues:

"God has wisely given each his share of problems. In the solution of these lies the development particularly necessary to each."

"In the face of difficulty by furnishing faith in himself as the son of God. It supports individualism as the highest form of political association."

"For individualism is a sacred society and rests on acknowledgement of the spiritual and economic dignity of man."

"It is the polar opposite of collectivism, a profane society, which the spiritual and economic dignity of each on behalf of a degraded and materialistic 'social whole.'

"A deeply religious man by his consciousness of his oneness with God, is strong in adversity. Men strong in adversity can remain free."

"Religion is therefore, the cradle of liberty. We would do well to remind ourselves of this during that religious festival of Christmas."

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

I suppose you've been reading all that scary stuff the scientists have been putting out about how man is continually growing bigger and may be 15 feet tall in another thousand years. It's scary because, believe me, I wouldn't want to marry a man 15 feet tall—if I lived to be a thousand.

Suppose he dropped you carrying you across the threshold! Or just picture yourself washing and ironing the bed clothes it would take to fit a man 15 feet tall. No thanks!

George is worried about what might happen in the sports world if we keep getting taller. He says in a few hundred years we won't need anything but basketball players and first basemen.

My purpose in writing this, however, is to reassure everyone. Another scientist has just come along and announced that we're all getting shorter. Of course, he could mean financially.

EXPERTS.—The original American managers reported these conditions to the home office, explaining the new operations would be costly and perhaps unprofitable because of the native workers' lethargy.

On the next ship after receipt of these warnings, the firms' headquarters sent out experts in every field of medicine, diet and sanitation.

Today, only because of advances and improvements engineered by these canny American business men and industrialists, an Arab can work in a foreign country and can measure up to the average American working man or farmer.

It is an old saying around the State Department, also on Capitol Hill, that "trade follows the flag." In this instance, however, as former Secretary Byrnes happily admitted, the flag follows trade.

Here in America the child seems to govern the school rather than the school authorities governing the child. Miss Alice Elliot, English exchange teacher at Pueblo, Col. High School.

Before their separation, he bought her a $300 necklace, to celebrate her planned retirement from the screen. But before giving it to her, he learned that Columbia had renewed her contract.

Next day the necklace went back to the jeweler's.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

(Editor's Note: Yesterday Hal Boyle got trapped into advising Horace, an inquiring swain, how to pick a wife. Today "the poor man's philosopher" carries Horace into the "ever after" phase of his adventure.)

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—Well, Horace, you've got a wife at last. And now you want to learn how to live with her?

There is only one sure way—be pseudo-hen-pecked.

This is the only way you can dominate her, and if you don't dominate her you won't have a real marriage.

The biggest flops in matrimony are the masterful boys who thump their chests and storm around the house pointing out that they are men and the wife is a woman, and that the Lord made Adam first and Eve was created afterwards.

This is nonsense—"as every woman knows"—and no sensible wife is going to put up with such guff. So throttle down, Horace.

Unless your wife is so narrow-brained she eyes meet like two cars coming together down a one-way street, she thinks of you more as a willful puppie than leader of the herd. You're the fireman, Horace, not the engineer, on this trainride together.

So kill her in the one long delusion wives never tire of—the one grand dream they hug their sad little hearts all their lives—that you are a "real boy," and that they know better than you do.

Turn over the toy matters of your life to her, Horace. Like money. Don't bawl her out for buying a dress that costs more than it did to build the department store where she bought it. Let her handle the checks, of course, cash your paychecks, and lay out the money for yourself first—and shell scrimp and pinch like a miser, and maybe buy her clothes at a rummage sale.

Put your wife when she is really sick. When she sulks without cause or starts yammering just to test her lungs, don't argue. Go out to a movie, a bowling alley and come home late.

Don't tell her she's "the only woman" too often. A husband too affectionate hounds a wife. A husband who is almost—but not quite—affectionate enough keeps a wife on her toes in a lovely mental teeter-totter. It also gives her a mild complaint to gossip with other wives—a necessity in her life.

Let her make every decision around the house you can. Just put your foot down once in a while to scare her, and she'll live in delicious fear that sometime you'll get really mad and take back the strings of authority.

Do all this, Horace, and your friends may think you're "hen-necked." But you'll know better. You'll have a nice lazy life with plenty of time to think about important things. And your wife will go around purring like a cat that doesn't know the mouse caught her.

embassy said he was called there for Foreign Office consultation regarding Poland's elections.

After Bacak the first to testify, named the "English ambassador" the three-judge court went into a closed session for further testimony it later admonished defendants to refer to as "the ambassador" or a "certain gentleman."

The underground organization, WIN, meaning "freedom and independence," is one of the most widespread operating in Poland. A series of trials of WIN leaders are underway in which the government is charging that key defendants in addition to trying to overthrow the régime were forced to act as spies for a foreign power.

Grocholski, 43, bespectacled, tall and lean-faced, told the tribunal he had known the ambassador for 30 years and in recent months renewed the acquaintanceship. He declared that the suggestion for contacting the WIN organization, which Grocholski earlier joined, was initiated by the ambassador. Grocholski insisted his role in the entire affair was minor and that the ambassador apparently wanted information in connection with forthcoming elections.

Grocholski, who also is accused of acting as a Gestapo informer during the Nazi occupation of Warsaw, categorically denied that charge.

lower—because of (1) the scheduled drop in excise taxes, (2) the end of excess-profits tax collections and (3) an expected decline in receipts from surplus property sales.

Despite this overall drop, Mr. Truman said collections from direct taxes on individuals will rise $483,000,000 to $18,120,000,000—assuming that the yield from excise taxes will remain at $957,000,000.

Mr. Truman said his 1948 revenue estimates are based on the assumption that business activity will average "slightly higher" than in boomtime calendar year 1946.

Obviously anticipating Republican protests at his program, the President said he defended his spending and tax revenue proposals which respectively, are about four and six times greater than the prewar average under Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"There is no justification now for tax reduction," Mr. Truman asserted, making it plain he wants a budget surplus for use exclusively in paring down the $259,300,000 national debt, which costs $5,000,000 a year in interest charges.

Mr. Truman did not mention threats by Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee to use a "sledgehammer and meat ax" in order to wrack Federal spending down to $29,140,000,000 next year. But he remarked in his message:

"The responsibilities of the Federal government cannot be fully met in the fiscal year 1948 at a lower cost than here indicated."

"Even if the cost were less, it would be desirable in our present

Chamber Leader Calls on Public To Regain Lands

PHOENIX—(AP)—David J. Guy, president of the chamber of commerce of the United States Chamber of Commerce, yesterday called for "rugged regional individualism" to regain from the Federal government control of public lands.

"The one over-all monopoly that hangs over the West is Federal land ownership," he said in an address to the 50th annual convention of the American National Livestock Association.

Declaring that between 1930 and 1940 natural resources became "the victim of a new ideology in construction," Guy said:

"In last November's election the people were clear and unmistakable in their demand for less direction from Washington. I believe that demand goes all the way down the line, from OPA to grazing, to the use of waters, to forestry and soil and mining."

"Federal authority has grown through the power of expenditure, it's outright waste, doing nothing or loans at low rates of interest," Guy told more than 1,000 stockmen assembled from throughout the nation. "For every dollar thus spent by the Federal government there is a consideration. The government extracts its round of incidents with Russians in Dairen."

The Soviets have occupied and administered Dairen since war's end. An August, 1945, Sino-Soviet treaty provides the city shall be open port, administered by China.

Hsiung said occupation of Dairen was an international question which could not be decided by military operations. The government will take only diplomatic steps to find an appropriate solution, he added.

The United States a few days ago asked that the Chinese and Russian governments open the port of Dairen. The request followed the withdrawal from Dairen of a small U.S. Navy carrier vessel 20 minutes before the signing of an ultimatum from the Russian commander. The vessel had overstayed by two hours its 48-hour permit.

"As a result of the war," Guy continued, "The West is experiencing a new life, an awakening to its natural resources based upon the further development of its rich heritage in natural resources. The Federal government owns more than a half interest in these resources and if its land acquisition policy continues, state control will be further restricted. This fact must surely becloud the sovereign authority of the western states and the free enterprise of their citizens."

The underground organization, WIN, meaning "freedom and independence," is one of the most widespread operating in Poland. A series of trials of WIN leaders are underway in which the government is charging that key defendants in addition to trying to overthrow the régime were forced to act as spies for a foreign power.

Grocholski, 43, bespectacled, tall and lean-faced, told the tribunal he had known the ambassador for 30 years and in recent months renewed the acquaintanceship. He declared that the suggestion for contacting the WIN organization, which Grocholski earlier joined, was initiated by the ambassador. Grocholski insisted his role in the entire affair was minor and that the ambassador apparently wanted information in connection with forthcoming elections.

Grocholski, who also is accused of acting as a Gestapo informer during the Nazi occupation of Warsaw, categorically denied that charge.

lower—because of (1) the scheduled drop in excise taxes, (2) the end of excess-profits tax collections and (3) an expected decline in receipts from surplus property sales.

Despite this overall drop, Mr. Truman said collections from direct taxes on individuals will rise $483,000,000 to $18,120,000,000—assuming that the yield from excise taxes will remain at $957,000,000.

Mr. Truman said his 1948 revenue estimates are based on the assumption that business activity will average "slightly higher" than in boomtime calendar year 1946.

Obviously anticipating Republican protests at his program, the President said he defended his spending and tax revenue proposals which respectively, are about four and six times greater than the prewar average under Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"There is no justification now for tax reduction," Mr. Truman asserted, making it plain he wants a budget surplus for use exclusively in paring down the $259,300,000 national debt, which costs $5,000,000 a year in interest charges.

Mr. Truman did not mention threats by Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee to use a "sledgehammer and meat ax" in order to wrack Federal spending down to $29,140,000,000 next year. But he remarked in his message:

"The responsibilities of the Federal government cannot be fully met in the fiscal year 1948 at a lower cost than here indicated."

"Even if the cost were less, it would be desirable in our present

Breach Widening Between Bogart, San Francisco

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—As mediator in the war between Humphrey Bogart and San Francisco, I can't report much progress in peace negotiations.

"I didn't say anything about the police," said Humphrey. "I think they dress very well."
