This acreage is located approximately four miles southeast of Muleshoe on the Wallace Ranch.

Well drilling is to start May 31. It is estimated that by June 1, 35 employees will be

Other Agricultural Aspects Looking Good

Cotton planting in Bailey County is in full swing this week with farmers experiencing excellent weather.

Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley reports that corn is 100 per cent planted and most of it is up now and off to a good start.

He said that growth and emergence of the seed has been slow due to the cold weather in April but that the good weather last week has had a good effect on the growing. He also stated that the excellent moisture has had good effects on the growing.

Tanksley reported that the cotton and grain sorghum is now being planted on both irrigated and dryland farms. He stated that farmers have been fortunate that there has not been any need for pre-irrigation before planting due to the excellent moisture condition.

Oldtimers in the area are saying that Bailey County has the best moisture conditions for planting this year than they have had in many previous years.

Most of the vegetables in the area have also been planted including onions, bell peppers, potatoes and some early carrots. Many of these are already experiencing good growth.

Tanksley said that there are quite a few fields of wheat, triticale and other small grains that are making excellent progress and most are heading out now with good yields predicted.

The crops are now beginning to look real good for a superior crop this year if conditions hold out.

Next week should be another week of good planting if the weather continues dry and warm.

Daniels Retires From Local ASCS Office

Charles Daniels, Bailey County Executive Director of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, has retired and moved to Corpus Christi, Texas.

At the present time, Bernis Camp is in charge of the ASCS office in Muleshoe.

A replacement to this position will be appointed at a later date.

1973 Fertilizer Application Presents Unique Problems

LUBBOCK -- "Old timers are saying we have never before had a year like this on the Texas High Plains."

So says Jim Valentine, soil chemist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service whose job it is to assist West Texas farmers in planning their programs of fertilizer use.

"Extremely late harvests hampered fall fertilizer applications, and continuing wet soil conditions have greatly curtailed applications for the 1973 crop," Valentine asserts.

"Much of the acreage is still unfertilized."

The situation is further complicated, he says, by severe shortages at the dealer level of nitrogen materials other than ammonia. All phosphate materials are reported to be in very short supply.

"Because of these unusual problems, post-plant applications merit careful consideration," the Lubbock-based specialist declares. "In many cases these can be as effective as pre-plant applications. And there is still time to have soil tested for nitrate nitrogen and phosphorus, along with other plant nutrients. County Extension agents can supply information on sample collection and mailing."

Many of the heavy soils are showing considerable nitrate carryover resulting from heavy applications, Valentine reports. In this condition exists, lighter applications or the possible omission of nitrogen may be in order for this growing season.

"Most soils contain sufficient nitrogen to get the crop started; therefore, nitrogen can be applied as soon as possible after planting when moisture conditions are favorable for cultivation. For sorghum and corn, applications made 35 to 40 days after planting can be expected to produce top yields. Regardless of the carrier used, the nitrogen will soon be changed to the mobile nitrate form which is readily available to the rapidly expanding root system. Care should be taken in all instances to avoid root pruning," he warns.

Valentine reports that phosphorus is not nearly as deficient as nitrogen in the area, as a whole.

"If soil tests show adequate phosphorus, the grower is well ahead and phosphate applications for 1973 can be omitted without reduction of yield,"

Sidressed application of phosphate presents more of a problem because it does not move appreciably from the point of application. When applied after planting it should be placed three to four inches deep so that the permanent roots will have a continuous supply. The earlier the application can be made the greater will be the chance for response. A rain or an irrigation likely will be necessary before it can be utilized, Valentine advises.

Seasonal Agriculture Jobs Reduced In Several States

The Texas Employment Commission reports that seasonal agricultural jobs for migrant workers have been greatly reduced for the 1973 season in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Bert P. Darden, TEC Manager in Lubbock, advises migrant workers not to go to these states to seek work unless they have an official job commitment from an employer. Migrant workers interested in working the harvest in these states should contact their nearest Texas Employment Commission Office and get details on any official job openings.

Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin will employ about the same as in 1972, except that officials warn that workers should have firm commitment for jobs before coming to their state; Michigan and Minnesota report a decrease in their states needs because of the increased mechanization in such activities as sugar beet cultivation, cherry and asparagus harvest, and decreased acreage in strawberry and pickles; Ohio is the only state reflecting any increase in labor needs. This is due to projected acreage increase in tomatoes and pickles to be planted in 1973. Any increase in workers needed is contingent on the effect of the late freezing and flooding.

Darden reports that the reason for the decline in workers needed this year is due to mechanization in harvest methods. Free wheelers will again encounter a great deal of difficulty in securing employment and their migration should be discouraged. Such action is particularly important this year in view of the uncertainties surrounding the refunding of projects or organizations that normally provide supportive services to migrant workers who become "stranded" in the above six states. Major crops that are involved consist of cherries, asparagus, tomatoes, cucumbers, sugar beets, apples, blueberries and strawberries. Darden asks that migrant crews who need further information about out of state work, contact the nearest office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Army Offers New Enlistment Options

Beginning May 1, the United States Army will offer two new enlistment options for service in the Regular Army which pay cash bonuses of $2,500 for a four-year enlistment. Titled the U. S. Army Cash Bonus Enlistment Option and the U. S. Army Training and Cash Enlistment Option, both are available to young men who qualify they will graduate at the end of the school term.

Under the Cash Bonus Enlistment Option, young men without previous service may volunteer for the artillery, armor or infantry. The offer also applies to former servicemen, if they have served less than three years and have been out of service more than three months.

The bonus is payable upon successful completion of basic combat training, advanced individual training and the award of a military occupational specialty which certifies the soldier is qualified to perform in his military job. The bonus, of course, is subject to normal deductions.

The combat arms option may be combined with a number of other combat arms opportunities including airborne training and duty, Special Forces, Ranger, U. S. Army Europe, U. S. Army Korea, U. S. Army Alaska, U. S. Army Hawaii, or the 193rd Infantry brigade in the Canal Zone. The enlistee may also select duty with one of the infantry or armored divisions stationed in the United States such as the 1st, 4th or 9th Infantry or the 2nd Armored Division. Also available is the 3rd Infantry Division, now in Germany.

Requirements for enlistment under the Training and Cash Enlistment Option are identical to those for the other program. This option, however, seeks to meet Army needs for a variety of technical skills including many in communications, missiles, radar and electronics, and nuclear weapons.

Under the Training and Cash Enlistment Option, enlistees complete basic combat training before going on to the advanced individual training leading to qualification in the field they have chosen. Most of the jobs require extensive training and provide the soldier with a solid background in electronics, communications or maintenance to use in his civilian career. The cash bonus is paid the enlistee when he is awarded the military occupational specialty certifying him qualified in his field.

For further information on these two $2,500 cash bonus enlistment plans, call Sergeant Joe Barra at 1-505-763-7209 or visit his office at 1215 Main St. Clovis, New Mexico.

Ceremony Unites Miss May, Taylor

MRS. BILL GILBREATH

Miss Janis Lee May and William Frank (Bucky) Taylor III were united in marriage on May 12, 1973 at 2 p.m. in the Ford Memorial Chapel, First Baptist Church Lubbock, Texas. Reading the double ring ceremony was Rev. D. C. DuBose of Muleshoe.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Joe May of Snyder. Taylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor, Jr. of Muleshoe.

The couple stood before an altar centered with a large candelabrum with a memory candle in the center.

Arrangement of yellow roses and white gladiolus marked each side of the altar. The family pews were marked with white bows. Organist Miss Cathy Moxley accompanied herself as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the prayer bench.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white voile designed with a square neckline, natural waist. The bouffant skirt extended into a chapel length train. A deep flounce bordered the train. Imported Nottingham lace attached the flounce to the skirt. Camelot sleeves extended to lace cuffs and lace medallions were scattered over the sleeve. Imported Nottingham lace outlined the neck and extended into the skirt giving an apron effect. Her three tier veil of illusion was attached to a voile and Nottingham lace camelot cap. She carried a white Bible topped with a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

The bride carried a handkerchief, which belonged to her maternal aunt the late Mrs. Grady Payne, as something old, she wore a necklace given by the groom as something new; something borrowed was a bracelet belonging to her paternal aunt Mrs. Wayne Rogers; and something blue was the traditional garter. Her birthday penny had been placed in her shoe by her father.

Miss Patricia Perry of Amarillo was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Cyathia Bars of Odessa. The attendants were attired in long yellow polyester dotted Swiss dresses, with scooped neckline and short puffed sleeves. Lace accented the high waistline and deep flounce which bordered the skirt. They each carried a cascading bouquet of yellow daisies.

Nick Scott of Lubbock served as best man. Groomsman was Mike Chauveaux of Claude, Texas. Ushers were Kenny Taylor Muleshoe, groom's brother and Thomas May of Snyder, bride's brother.

The bride's mother wore a pink street length dress with a pink orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a pale green princess style dress and her corsage was a white orchid.

A reception followed the ceremony in the chapel parlor. Guests were registered by Mrs. Steven Kuss, cousin of the bride.

The table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a separated three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. An arrangement of yellow roses and white gladiolus, crystal and silver appointments completed the table decor. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Rob Kellogg and Miss Peggy May, cousin of the bride. Rice bags were distributed by Pam Huffman, cousin of the bride.

For a wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride chose a pastel green dress with white accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

The couple will reside in Lubbock where they will continue their studies. Mrs. Taylor is a senior elementary education major at Texas Tech University. Taylor is a senior physical education major. He is a member of the Phi Epsilon Kappa.

The auxillary at the High Plains Baptist have a number of men in their auxillary. Many are husband and wife teams but most are retired men who are looking for a way to keep busy.

She told something about their Junior Volunteer program at their hospital. They are very selective in choosing the teenagers for volunteer work. But they are the bright spot in the daily hospital routine, and their services are very important.

Mrs. Green said it was reported that the Auxillary had had an outstanding year, and the volunteers have shown much enthusiasm and interest in their service at the hospital and the nursing home.

Some of the things that have been accomplished are the purchasing of the Islette Infant Incubator and remodeling the nursery in the hospital. An electric bed has been bought for the Nursing Home, a color television and wall clock for the Dayroom of the home; pictures hung on the walls and a glass insert in the door of the dining room of the Nursing Home. Also updated the walking blood files for the hospital and a Bennett machine. All of these totaled approximately $4500.

WASHINGTON REPORT BY
Lloyd Bentsen,
United States Senator

POSITIVE TRADE ACTION--
President Nixon recently proposed the first major trade legislation to be considered by the Congress in 10 years.

And, while I am still studying details of his complex proposals, I believe the President is absolutely right to urge that we take a comprehensive, new look at the way we do business in the international trading market.

At the end of World War II, with the world clamoring for our goods, it was necessary for us to prop up the fragile economies of the war-ravaged nations of Europe and Asia. These countries were in no condition to compete with us on the world market, so we adopted the role of the generous benefactor. But the situation has changed over the past 20 years and our role must change too, if we expect to keep pace.

In '71, the United States experienced its first international trade deficit since 1886. And the deficit increased substantially last year. The official deficit for the year was $7 billion -- a figure that is startling enough. But, when such items as insurance and freight are added in, the imbalance jumps to a totally intolerable $14.5 billion.

It is difficult to determine how our international trade position will be affected by the dollar devaluation of earlier this year, the second devaluation of our dollar within the past several months.

The world monetary system is an intricate web of such complication that it almost defies understanding.

I am in sympathy with the economist who once observed: "Only two men in the world fully understand the international monetary situation--and they don't agree."

NO MORE DEVALUATIONS--
I do agree, though, with Arthur Burns, Chairman of our Federal Reserve Board, who feels it should be national policy that this last devaluation of our dollar be exactly that: our LAST devaluation.

Devaluation treats only the symptom and not the cause of our international economic problems.

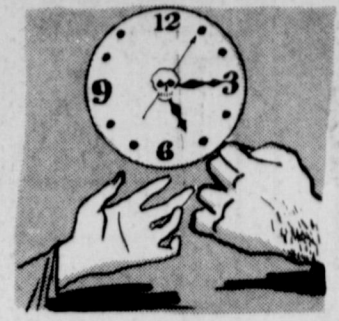

The cause of these problems is a growing number of barriers to U.S. exports and we

Last To Die

Husband and wife both perish in an automobile accident. Seemingly, they die at the same time. Yet, if one has outlived the other even for an instant, that may make an enormous difference to their heirs. It may decide whether the husband's relatives or the wife's relatives inherit the estate.

Accordingly, in this "common disaster" situation, strenuous efforts are often made to figure out which of the two victims was the last to die.

In a recent case, double deaths occurred when a speeding truck rammied into the passenger side of a car. Both husband and wife died instantly.

But since the wife--sitting on the passenger side--had been struck first, a court concluded that the husband must have lived a fraction of a second longer. By this split second, the wife's relatives lost out on their claim to a share of the estate.

With common disasters becoming more frequent, many kinds of evidence have been found useful in deciding who died last. Anything from the position of the bodies to their physical condition may provide the telltale clue.

On the other hand, there may be no evidence at all, good enough to be trusted in the courtroom.

In another case, a mother and daughter were found dead of asphyxiation. The only "evidence" as to which one died last was that the daughter probably held out longer because she was younger.

But a court said this was plain guesswork, and turned down a claim put forth by relatives of the daughter.

Suppose the victims really did die simultaneously (or, at least, no one can prove otherwise). To cover this situation, most states have passed a Simultaneous Death Act. This Act lays down specific rules to settle the various conflicting claims that may arise.

A better solution in many cases is to have a "simultaneous death clause," tailored to your individual wishes, included in your will. In these days of high-speed transportation, such a contingency is well worth taking into account.

ON PRICE SUPPORTS
The Agriculture Department told Congress recently that if price support programs are ended for major crops farm income will be sharply lower and thousands of a marginal farmers will be forced from the land.

CONGRATULATIONS, GRADUATES!
WE WISH YOU SUCCESS IN YOUR ENDEAVORS!

Muleshoe Band Plays In Six Flags Contest

The Tenth Annual SIX FLAGS Over Texas Concert Band Festival was held in Arlington, Texas, May 10-12.

Fifty-five bands from five states took part in the competition sponsored by the big theme park. The bands played before a panel of three judges in the Golden Palace Ballroom of the Inn of the Six Flags.

The bands traveling the greatest distance to appear in the event were from Mayfield and Henderson County, Kentucky. Other states represented included Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico.

The Muleshoe High School Band performed at 11 a.m., Friday, May 11.

Because of the size of the entry list, judges listened to band music from 7:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m., during the height of the competition.

The judging panel includes James Jorgenson, Director of Bands at the University of Redlands; William E. Rhoads, director of Bands at the University of New Mexico and Dr. Mark Hindsley, former Director of Bands and Professor of Music at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Hindsley is also a past president of the College Band Directors National Association and the American Bandmasters Association.

All bands entered in the competition must have won a first division rating in their state competition during the spring of 1972, or a first division title in the SIX FLAGS contest during the past two years.

The bands competed in five categories: Junior High and Classes A through AAAA.

To accommodate the band members, SIX FLAGS Over Texas operated on a special schedule Friday, May 11. The entertainment center opened that day from 2 p.m. until 11 p.m. On Saturday and Sunday the Park observed its regular schedule with the gates opening at 10 a.m. and closing at 10 p.m.

Editorial

Overlooked

Generally overlooked in the furor and excitement over the Watergate bugging and cover-up are President Nixon's two major continuing programs for the nation: limiting spending and getting the budget in balance again while the country enjoys prosperity and working out new foreign relations policies in the economic and defense fields.

Though the sensations which almost daily develop in the Watergate affair are fascinating, and important, they are nevertheless not as important as where the nation is going, domestically and internationally.

Most Americans support the President in his refusal to sign money bills which will keep the government in the red, spending more than tax revenues, and forcing a tax increase. And most of them support his efforts to end the U.S. combat role in Asia and work out a new, long-range relationship with Europe.

These are the two major thrusts of 1973 and if an agreement can be reached on Cambodia, stopping the fighting there, and a trade war between Europe and the United States avoided, the President will have accomplished much in 1973, on both the domestic and foreign fronts.

Armed Services Day

Saturday, May 19, is Armed Services Day. We should observe it properly.

In many cities and towns across the country, programs will include speeches, parades and other ceremonies. Altogether, there will be a general expression of public appreciation for the loyalty of our soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen.

We hope that the programs will not be perfunctory, that parades will not constitute the only accomplishments of the day. In the hearts and minds of all citizens should arise an acknowledgement of the debt we owe service men today and in the past, the confident prayer that, in case of peril in the future, other brave and courageous men and women will carry on to preserve our freedom.

On this day we should especially remember the men who gave their lives for our country. We should not overlook the wounded and disabled who will, in many cases, not be present in the parades. Let us also interest ourselves in the welfare of the wounded and in surviving orphans of soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice.

VANISHING AMERICAN

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D.C.—John Connally's long-predicted switch to the Republican Party could be of major significance in the South but chances are against the Texas' nomination as the G.O.P. presidential nominee in 1976.

Connally's changeover to the G.O.P. follows examples in Virginia and especially South Carolina, where the momentum really began in the 1950s. The former Supreme Court justice, Secretary of State, Senator and assistant President (under Franklin Roosevelt), comes from Byrnes, was the first big switcher.

Byrnes supported Dwight Eisenhower, rather than Barry Purnan's candidate, Adlai Stevenson—having broken with Purnan. There might have been something personal in that; nevertheless, Senator Strom Thurmond, long a prominent Democrat, a former judge, Governor and then Senator, also switched.

Since that time two of the state's six Congressmen have become Republicans. Thousands of the state's congressional delegation are now Republicans, and several prominent state leaders have switched. That there is a "switch" in the state's six Congressmen have become Republicans. Thousands of the state's congressional delegation are now Republicans, and several prominent state leaders have switched.

Texas, of course, is the largest of the South, it has the greatest number of electoral votes (28) and has seldom seen a Republican in a White House. Disappointment to Republicans in 1960 and President Nixon had never carried the state until his landslide victory last year.

Connally, an ex-Governor and long-time Democrat, gives the Republicans new support and momentum there and his changeover will help the G.O.P. in that state and in neighboring states and in the South.

But his chance to win the G.O.P. nomination in 1976 is certainly an 180 proposition for converts in American political history has been so honored, so quickly, it may be true, as some Connally brothers hope, that the Watergate affair might Vice President Spiro Agnew, and that G.O.P. delegates will want a name and face unencumbered with the Nixon Administration three years hence. President Nixon, of course, will have a major influence on events.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Farm Prices Decline... Feed Wheat Production Increases... Cook-Off Contest Is May 19.

What goes up must come down, at least that is true for farm prices. The all-farm products index of prices received by Texas farmers as of April 15 is down 10 points from the previous month. The livestock and livestock price index was down five per cent from a month ago.

Hog prices averaged $24.50 per hundred pounds, down almost $7 from a month ago. Beef cattle at $40.50 per hundred pounds are down $2.50 from a month ago. Calves at $56.50 per hundred pounds are $6.50 under a month ago.

Sheep at $16.50 per hundred pounds are $2.10 under last month. Lambs at $28.10 per hundred pounds are $4.50 below a month ago.

Turkeys and eggs showed price increases during the recent month. Turkey prices averaged 33 cents per pound compared to 28 cents a pound a month ago. Egg prices reached an average of 58 cents per dozen compared to 53 cents a month earlier.

Wool and mohair prices remained unchanged from a month ago. In crops, wheat was up four cents at $2.20 per bushel. Grain sorghum was down a penny at $2.76. Corn at $1.70 per bushel was down two cents per bushel.

Despite price increases during 1972, livestock producers did not achieve full parity. No category of livestock achieved full parity throughout the year.

The average price of cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs in Texas during 1972 was $28.08 per hundred pounds.

The average parity price for those categories of livestock during 1972 was $42.06 per hundred pounds, thus the average price the farmer received was more than $6 under the average parity price during 1972.

RED MEAT production in Texas during March showed a nine per cent increase above a month earlier. Cattle slaughtered during March in Texas totaled 300,100, which is up 31,000 over the month ago. During the first three months of 1973, a total of 865,000 head of cattle were slaughtered in Texas.

Average live weight of cattle slaughtered was 834 pounds compared with 828 a month ago.

Hog slaughter in Texas during March was down 6,000 compared to a month ago.

Twenty-four state finalists will compete in Austin May 19 in the annual granddaddy beef cook-off, coordinated by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The contestants will be competing for the grand prize and category prizes of $200 each. The three categories of the contest are: tender cuts, such as steaks; less tender cuts, such as stew meat; and variety cuts, such as liver and kidney.

Winning recipes will be published. Sponsors of the cook-off are the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, the Texas Meat Packers Association, and the Texas Cow Belles.

John Tower
United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

Congress faces some very critical times in the weeks and months immediately ahead in determining how to check runaway Federal spending that has become a way of life in Washington. As one of my Senate colleagues said recently, we have piled debt upon debt, stacked deficit upon deficit, and incurred continuing financial obligations that are most difficult, if not possible, for our government to accommodate. A quick look at recent history of government spending clearly illustrates what he was talking about. During the 54 years since 1920, the budget of the Federal government has been in a deficit 37 times. In 32 of these years, the budgets were submitted by the Administration to Congress with deficits. During the 1960's, vast new government programs calling for the spending of added billions and billions of Federal funds were enacted. The present Administration inherited not only the fruits of these costly new programs, but it inherited the out-of-control inflationary economy that resulted. Congress has been caught up in this spending philosophy and has contributed to a fiscal strain that is moving rapidly toward the dimensions of a grave fiscal crisis. As a result of these vast new government programs of the 1960's, the Federal deficit in the last four years alone has amounted to a whopping $106 billion. The strength and capacity of our economy and borrowing power are not unlimited. Yet, the Congress in recent years has continued to establish new and more costly services and programs which increase Federal obligations and help to fuel the fires of inflation. The 92nd Congress alone enacted legislation authorizing the spending of more than $320 billion over the next five years to fund some 148 new and expanded governmental services and programs. A recent report by a joint Congressional committee established to study the budgetary process stated that failure to arrive at congressional budgetary decisions on an overall basis has been a contributory factor in the size of deficits. In other words, Congress has failed to provide any method to determine the proper level of expenditures, or to set any kind of ceiling that would match expected income. I have reached a decision on my own to support efforts by the present Administration to hold down spending levels. I played a small part in the recent vote by the Senate to sustain the President's veto of the Vocational Rehabilitation bill, although I was a strong supporter of many sections of that Act. But the facts are that the bill was fiscally irresponsible. It proposed an increase of more than $1 billion during the next two years, yet many of its new categorical grant programs would overlap and duplicate existing programs. Unless the Congress buckles down to the tasks facing it, there will be more vetoes of spending programs. I am determined to support efforts to check Federal spending this year. There has to be leveling off in Federal spending, and we must take new looks at many of our existing programs to see where we can economize.

As an example of the belt-tightening we will have to do, the President recently announced a major realignment of continental United States military bases. As direct American involvement in the Vietnam war has come to a close, the base structure that was built up here in the United States became in many instances outmoded. After extensive study, the Department of Defense concluded that the base structure that functioned well during the peak of the Vietnam years was overblown for the reduced Armed Forces needs of the post-Vietnam era. We no longer have the high training requirements of the Vietnam era and the logistical infrastructure in the United States is due for a change. Simply put, it would be a waste of the taxpayers' money to continue the present system of nationwide installations. The resulting savings are estimated to be $3.5 billion over the next 10 years.

Of course, we in the Congress will have to examine very carefully the base realignment package. I am well aware that the Defense Department has in the past used inaccurate or incomplete cost data to justify a base action such as the proposed 1971 closure of Ft. Wolters.

And, I am not yet satisfied that certain realignments here in Texas are entirely justified, and will continue my inquiries until adequate justification is given. We also need to re-examine our overseas installations, although we have closed most of our installations in Indochina and have brought numbers of troops home from Korea and the Philippines.

The sun and substance of all this is that there simply has to be some belt-tightening in virtually all areas of Federal spending. The very special interest groups must recognize the fact that we no longer can continue to pour more and more Federal dollars into ever-increasing programs.

I intend to do my part in helping hold down spending and to avoid a tax increase.

A Crown for Mother

You, as a Mother, are honored by your children on a special day — Mother's Day. How the little things they make for you with their own small hands please you and warm your heart.

It warms and quickens the heart of God when you honor Him on His special day. "Remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it holy." Exodus 20:8. Worship God on this next Sunday in the church of your choice. We should honor our loving Heavenly Father even as we expect our children to honor us.

Attend church on Mother's Day.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

ON PAY GUIDELINES

A Cost of Living Council official reports that the 5.5 per cent pay standard is only one of several guidelines the Nixon administration will use in judging acceptable wage boosts this year.

One Rural Accident Investigated

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated one accident on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of April, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

This crash resulted in no persons killed and no persons injured. The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first four months of 1973 shows a total of 13 accidents resulting in no persons killed and five persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety, Region #5, for April, 1973 shows a total of 544 accidents resulting in 24 persons killed and 283 persons injured as compared to April, 1972 with 445 accidents resulting in 44 persons killed and 232 persons injured. This was 99 more accidents, 20 less fatalities and 51 more injuries in 1973 at the same period of time.

The veteran officer reminds you that the accident rate has increased about 20% in the 60 counties of Region #5. We have more than seven million licensed drivers on Texas Highways. Summer vacation time is approaching and more people will be using the roads.

The 24 traffic deaths for the month of April, 1973 occurred in the following counties: Crosby, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn and Sherman, two each, and Clay, Floyd, Garza, Gray, Hartley, Oldham, Palo Pinto, Parker, Potter, Randall, Terry, Wichita, Wise and Wheeler, one each.

Lasso® hates Carelessweed!

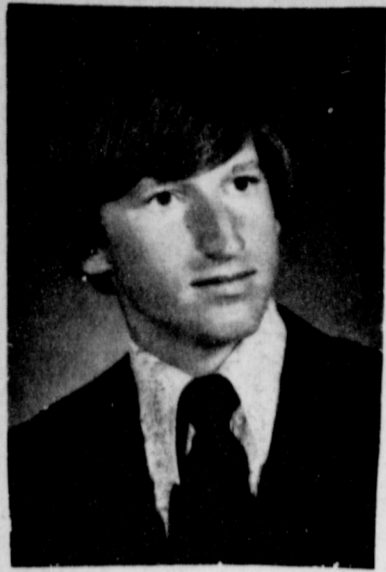

Lasso, the preemergence herbicide from Monsanto controls Carelessweed as well as other broadleaf weeds and almost a dozen annual grasses that compete with cotton. What's more, Lasso doesn't carryover to harm rotational crops. So even if your cotton gets hailed out, you can come right back in with soybeans or corn. You don't have to incorporate Lasso, either. Apply it preemergence at planting and you're through.

This year, use Lasso. And get the Carelessweed before it gets your cotton.
