Lewis Goodrich Appears Certain of 31st District Judgeship

Rogers Carries Gray County By Big Margin

Lewis Goodrich, Shamrock lawyer, apparently was victorious in his race for the judgeship of the 31st district, on the basis of returns at 12:30 a. m. today, with a total of 3,904 votes in the four counties, as against a total vote of 3,486 votes for District Attorney Walter Rogers.

However, there were 440 votes still uncounted in Gray county boxes. Voting Precinct No. 5, located at the city hall, McLean, reported late Saturday night that 177 votes had been counted, and that the remaining 263 would be counted today.

In Rogers county, Goodrich carried all of the other three counties in the district. Voters in Lipscomb county gave him 236 votes, and Rogers received 89, on the basis of unofficial reports from judges last night.

In Roberts county, Goodrich received 259 votes, as against 138 for Rogers.

Wheeler county, Goodrich's home county, the vote was overwhelming in favor of Goodrich: Goodrich 2,079, Rogers 403.

The Gray county vote as far as it has been reported, gave Rogers 2,285, and Goodrich 1,119.

The present judge, W. R. Ewing, had announced early this year that he would not seek re-election after having held the post for the past 30 years.

Early in the year, H. B. Hill, Shamrock attorney, had announced for the race. But ill health had prompted his withdrawal. It was after that, that Goodrich announced his intention of running. Rogers, in the interim, had announced his candidacy.

Noted American Writer Is Dead

PARIS—(AP)—Gertrude Stein, 72, beloved and puzzling American writer who opened her heart and her home to hundreds of American soldiers during World War I died last night in the American hospital at Neuilly, a Paris suburb.

There has been no earlier reports that Miss Stein was ill and hospital officials declined to state the nature of her illness or how long she had been confined to the hospital.

A native of Allegheny, Pa., Miss Stein published more than 20 books and other works—most of them so abstract as to verge on and sentence structure as to leave even professional critics in a quandary.

Such typical phrases as "a rose is a rose is a rose" and "pigeon on the grass, alas" gained Miss Stein a world-wide—if headshaking—literary reputation.

Despite her famous close-cropped hair and peculiar literary style, Miss Stein was a simple, direct person who came as a fresh breath of America to the troops who sought her out.

Blind Man Seeking Mercy for Meanest

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Blind newsdealer Edward Hoffman asked mercy Saturday for a youth he trapped on charges of trying to pass Japanese currency at his stand.

A police magistrate, however, ordered 19-year-old John Capeheart to appear again Wednesday to answer accusations of larceny by trick.

Just last week by a customer who gave him a Japanese note for a dollar bill, the 38-year-old blind man said he recognized Capeheart's voice as well as the texture of the paper currency Friday. He grabbed the youth's hand and held him for police.

More Scandal Is Uncovered By Committee

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate war profits investigators turned their scrutiny Saturday on a reported sale of Washington influence on war contracts to a firm that did not get the help it paid for.

Another focus of Mead committee interest was a story that superior officers had instructions to shield the son of a munitions manufacturer from harm during his war service.

Members disclosed that these reports had been turned over to the staff of the war investigating committee with instructions to determine the truth or falsity of both reports.

At the same time Chairman Mead (D-N.Y.) announced that Lindsay C. Warren, the comptroller general, has been summoned to a public hearing Monday to explore the possibilities of checking on improper war profits through facilities of the general accounting office.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) disclosed that a Detroit concern had been mentioned in the reported transaction with a Washington purveyor of "influence."

From another member of the committee, who declined to be quoted by name, it was learned that the committee had offered to obtain a war contract for a fee and had then reneged on his part of the transaction after getting the money.

This member said that the contract was reported as not involving the companies in the Garsson munitions combine.

The second of the two new lines of inquiry resulted from a request by Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.). It was based, the senator said, on a published statement by Joseph Garsson, formerly a captain in the chemical warfare service, that throughout his army career his commanding officers were under instructions to "take care of Garsson."

Garsson is the son of Murray W. Garsson, one of the promoters of the munitions combine.

Decontrol Board Named by H.S.T.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Saturday named the men of "judgment and fairness" who will form the decontrol board set up under the new price control act.

Roy L. Thompson, chairman. He is a Southern banker and economics professor and has been president of the Federal Land bank of New Orleans since 1938.

George H. Mead. He is a Middle Western industrialist, organizer and board chairman of the Mead Pulp & Paper Co. of Dayton, O. He was chairman of the industrial advisory board under the NRA and later an industry member of the war labor board.

Daniel W. Bell. A veteran treasury department official, he finally became acting director of the budget and treasury undersecretary, resigning to take a position with a Washington bank.

These men, subject to senate confirmation, will have the final say on what items shall or shall not be under price ceilings. They will be paid at the rate of $12,000 a year.

The decontrol board is charged with determining whether meat, dairy products and other items conditionally exempt from controls after Aug. 20.

The senate amendments struck from the bill house provisions extending the coverage to employees of freight forwarders and trucking concerns affiliated with railroads.

The amendments were agreed to by a roll-call vote to 189 to 64.

Arnall Demands Apprehension of Georgia Killers

MONROE, Ga.—(AP)—The head of the Georgia state police told newsmen yesterday that he had been hampered in his investigation of the massacre of four Negroes near U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark announced he was offering rewards totaling more than $100,000 for a solution of the mob killing of two Negro farm hands and their wives.

Grumly, he said, "I am directing the Georgia Bureau of Investigation to keep its investigators in Walton county until the guilty parties have been identified and turned over to law enforcement officers."

In Atlanta, Governor Ellis Arnall announced he was offering rewards totaling more than $100,000 for a solution of the mob killing of two Negro farm hands and their wives.

Grumly, he said, "I am directing the Georgia Bureau of Investigation to keep its investigators in Walton county until the guilty parties have been identified and turned over to law enforcement officers."

Meanwhile, preparations for the burial of Roger Malcolm, his wife, George Dorsey and his wife, victims of the lynchings, were attracting scores of visitors to the funeral parlor in which their bodies lie.

There were expression of public concern over the lynchings. Grand Dragon Samuel Green of the Ku Klux Klan said his organization "had nothing to do" with the mob action, but that he expected Arnall "will try to pin it on us."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, through Secretary Walter White in New York, charged in a telegram to U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark reports of actions of officials in Walton county indicated they had knowledge lynchings were to take place.

To this charge, Sheriff E. S. Gordon of Walton county replied: "You just tell 'em it's a damn lie. I don't care who said it."

In Birmingham, Ala., the Southern Negro Youth Congress wrote U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark asking that martial law be declared and a house to house search conducted for the slayers.

Trucks Are Routed in Local Cleanup Drive

"Everything goes" were the words voiced by members of the joint Lions club-Junior chamber of commerce health and clean-up committee as they announced truck routes for one of the biggest clean-up drives ever staged here, beginning tomorrow.

Dr. M. McDaniel, chairman of the joint committee, said yesterday that this week's drive may turn out to be one of the biggest steps in the march to stamp out nearly all health threats before any disease reaches the epidemic stage. (Story on this page tells of first polio death here.)

The remainder of the zones are: Zone 2—bounded on the north by the city limits, on the east by Dun-can, Mary Ellen and Cuyler and on the west by West and Hobart streets. Zone 3—bounded on the north by garbage ready. Tomorrow, the trucks will cover an area bounded on the east by Terrace, Yeager, Hill and Houston streets, on the west by Cuyler, including all of Mary Ellen and on the north by Harvest street, which runs in front of the senior high school.

This first pickup will take in the Santa Fe railroad, on the east by the underpass north, including the Carr Terrace addition. The city has been laid out in seven zones and one zone will be thoroughly covered each day for seven days.

World Looks to Paris as Prime Ministers Meet

PARIS—(AP)—Top diplomats and a sprinkling of military experts from 21 nations will meet in the sprawling Luxembourg palace at 3 p. m. (8 a. m. CST) Monday to open debate on peace treaties to shape the future of 83,000,000 inhabitants of five former enemy countries.

Convoked by the United States, Russia, Britain, and France, the Paris peace conference offers 11 invited nations the chance to make recommendations—but recommendations only—on pacts with Italy, Romania, Finland, Hungary and Bulgaria.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes set out Saturday for the peace conference opening Monday in Paris, leaving behind for later broadcast a statement that "the time of availing myself of new and terrible war" depended on quick removal of frictions left over from the recent conflict.

Senator Connally (D-Texas) drew the assignment to read Byrnes' statement over the NBC network six hours after the secretary left by plane with assurances from President Truman that he has the support of the entire country "in his efforts to get a just peace for the world."

LONDON—(AP)—Ernest Bevin, blunt, outspoken foreign secretary, fell sick Saturday and his mid-range chief, Prime Minister Attlee, stepped into his shoes as head of the British delegation to the peace conference.

The last-minute shift, giving Attlee the foremost role in a comparatively unfamiliar field of direct across-the-table dealings, was announced by the foreign office, which said the hard-working Bevin was "slightly indisposed" and has been ordered to take at least a week's complete rest.

Wow! Just About As Hot as Election

Saturday's temperatures took a four degree jump over Friday's to become the second hottest day of the year, July 14 being the hottest with 104 degrees. Saturday afternoon between 2:30 and 3 o'clock, the official temperature was 103 degrees according to the Pampa weather bureau.

There have been four other days in July and one in June that made Pampans hunt the shrub and a tall cool drink. On July 7, 15, 23, and 26 the temperature was 109 degrees. June 6 had a temperature of 100 degrees also, which was the warmest day for that month.

Austin Furore Is Omen of Trouble

AUSTIN—(AP)—Pro-Rainey forces seized control of the ward 2-C precinct convention here last night after a brief, sharp struggle involving key personalities in the continuing fight among Texas Democrats.

Spreading the faction fighting to Dr. Homer P. Rainey was Herman Jones, who led the pro-Roosevelt faction to the Chicago convention in 1944. Lead-off man for the opposition was Charles E. Simons, who was deposed as secretary of the state executive committee when pro-Roosevelt Democrats took control of the party machinery in the Dallas convention in September, 1944.

The battle in gubernatorial candidate Rainey's home election ward could be interpreted as a forerunner of what may happen in county conventions next Saturday, and in the state convention Sept. 10.

The pro-Rainey group took the reins on a 55 to 38 set vote involving election of a nominating committee to name delegates to the county convention.

Jones got the floor after convention preliminaries were disposed of. He offered a motion that a nominating committee of three be elected to select county convention delegates. Simons quickly moved to oppose. He wanted the chairman to name the committee. Although the motion to table was apparently defeated on a voice vote, Simons called for a show of hands and the count against his motion was 55 to 38.

"I assume you already have your list of committee members ready," Simons said.

"You are right. It won't take long," Jones responded. This drew a laugh from the session which was generally good humored.

Small Vote Is Out, It Holds Final Answer

The outcome of the race for county judge between incumbent Sheriff Kyle and John Studer only 109 votes separating the two candidates and about 440 votes yet to be counted in two incomplete boxes.

White, who took neck and neck with Studer almost all the way, received a total of 2,222 votes, as against 2,063 for Studer.

To win, however, Studer would have to get 305 votes out of those remaining to be counted, therefore it is considered likely that Judge White has been re-elected.

White still to be counted are about 400 in a box at the county courthouse, and about 40 votes to be counted in Voting Precinct Box No. 5, which is located at the city hall, McLean.

Despite the fact there was a great deal of interest shown in all races during the last days of campaigning, there was a smaller turnout at the ballot boxes than had been expected.

In the race for county attorney, Bruce Parker held a considerable lead over E. S. Via, who sought to unseat Parker. Parker received 1,929 votes, Via 896.

Charlie Thut was unopposed for his reelection as county clerk. F. E. Leech was also unopposed in his race for reelection as tax assessor-collector.

Heirens to Admit Heinous Crimes

CHICAGO—(AP)—William Heirens, his attorney announced yesterday, is ready to formally confess three of the most lurid crimes in Chicago's history—the mutilation slayings of six year old Suzanne Degnan, a 33-year-old former Wave and a 42-year-old widow.

Asked his position if he is offered a confession in consideration of a life imprisonment recommendation, State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said, "I will consider it."

Malachy Cochrane, one of five defense counsel, said the strapping, 47-year-old University of Chicago student and wrestling enthusiast would place before Tuohy on Tuesday complete details of these three killings.

Polio Is Fatal To Local Boy, Died Saturday

Thomas James Kilpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kilpatrick, 1005 E. Fisher street, died at 8:10 a. m. Saturday at a local hospital after a three-day attack of polio.

The 7-year-old youth known as "Jimmy" was a pupil at the Woodrow Wilson school. He had been stricken last Monday, according to reports, with the usual symptoms.

The death certificate, signed by Dr. Ralph M. Bellamy who was out of town last night, said the boy had died of "acute poliomyelitis," and that it was of the "bulbar" type. Dr. Roy A. Webb, county health doctor, said "bulbar" indicated that the disease had attacked the basal brain region.

Connally Returns Without Run-Off

By The Associated Press
The first runoff since 1934 was indicated in the Texas governor's race last night with late returns from the Texas Election Bureau showing Beauford Jester and Homer P. Rainey leading the 12-man race.

Jester was far in the lead with almost 40 percent of the total vote cast up to midnight. He had taken an early lead and held it.

The votes in the governor's race, 96 counties out of 254 reporting but with only five complete; Jester 58,652, Rainey 35,168, Grover Sellers 22,047, Jerry Sadler 16,658 and John Lee Smith 14,943. Caso March was next with 2,833. Votes for others in the race were in the hundreds at midnight.

Senator Tom Connally won easily for reelection, without a runoff. He polled 34,201 votes, far more than the needed majority over his four opponents.

Closest race was that for attorney general, where Price Daniel led Pat Nell, Jr., 22,482 to 69,980. This was a two-man race, and the winner will have no runoff.

The contest for lieutenant governor was a see-saw affair from the first, with Jo Ed Winfree taking an early lead on votes from his home area, then losing to Jester to Allan Shivers and Boyce House. At midnight, Shivers led 58,652, House was second with 45,425, and Winfree third with 21,051. Shivers, in the lead, had only 34.7 percent of the vote and a runoff was indicated.

Although only 99,000 of the state's potential 1,800,000 votes had been counted at a late hour last night, the Texas Election Bureau said it was a "definite trend" in most races, it had held firmly through the night.

Votes in other races:
Railroad Commissioner—Olin Cullerson 74,365, Mac Coker 26,422, Ike Lyons 7,525.
Agriculture Commissioner—J. E. McDonald 39,180, R. E. McDonald 27,195, W. R. Chambers 23,629, Benjamin F. Hill 19,059.
Comptroller—George H. Sheppard 79,629, Clifford E. Butler 27,343.
Treasurer—Jess James 74,692, Clarence Williams 33,157.
The Negro vote was heavy. There was no disturbance of any kind reported.

In Houston, M. L. O. Andrews, chairman of the Harris county democratic committee, said the Negroes seemed to be voting as an "absolute machine."

Andrews said he would give "a most kindly reception" to a request by Victor Anderson, a county democratic leader, to have the executive committee request the legislature at the next session to return control of the primary to the party.

The Negroes were voting for the first time in a Texas democratic primary. The supreme court held they could vote in the open house at the next session to return control of the primary to the party.

The Negroes were voting for the first time in a Texas democratic primary. The supreme court held they could vote in the open house at the next session to return control of the primary to the party.

First county to report a complete count was Kenedy, the King ranch county. It went heavily for Grover Sellers.

Duval county lived up to previous records by voting in a block. Duval gave 1735 votes down the line to Grover Sellers, Tom Connally, Olin Cullerson, J. E. McDonald, Jesse James, George Sheppard and John H. Sharp. Only rank in the second vote was in the open house at the next session to return control of the primary to the party.

The Texas Election Bureau said that according to incomplete returns at 11:30 p. m., Rainey had 32,000 votes in the open house. Partial reports showed a decisive lead in Hutchinson county and narrow margins in Archer, Houston and Ector.

Homer P. Rainey and his wife had to stand in line for five minutes in Austin before they could cast their ballots at a fire station voting box across the street from their home.

In Corsicana, Beauford Jester cast ballot Number 835 shortly after noon at ward three in the Navarro county courthouse. He was to remain there and hold open counties for friends and supporters while re-

Truman Clears to States All Tidelands

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The house Saturday passed and sent to the White House a senate-approved bill giving states clear title to tidelands areas often rich in oil deposits.

The roll call vote was 188 to 67. The measure reverses the Federal claims raised in recent years, to the submerged lands along the coasts and inland navigable waterways.

Speculation started immediately as to whether President Truman would sign or veto the legislation.

Bums Sweep Twin Bill from Pirates

BROOKLYN — (AP) — Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates was elected from each game yesterday as the National league leading Brooklyn Dodgers celebrated Leader Leo Durocher's 40th birthday by beating the Bucs twice by identical 4-3 scores.

Little Eddie Stanky broke up the first game with his third single in the ninth, the blow scoring Eddie Miksis with the winning run. Stanky drew two passes in the second game to boost his total to 86 and both were turned into runs. He also clocked for a single, in the seventh frame, to drive in Bruce Edwards with what turned out to be the deciding run.

Frisch was banished in the fourth inning of the first contest by Umpire Dusty Borgess for protesting a called strike on Frankie Gustine. Under the new National league rule he was allowed to return to bench for the second game and in the ninth inning was chased by Umpire George Barr when he protested a home plate decision in which Al Giofriddo was retired.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Shut out 8 to 0 in the opener, the Chicago Cubs jumped on four Philadelphia Phil pitchers in the nightcap for 15 hits to win, 9 to 0, before an estimated 18,000. The Cubs scored five runs in the fourth inning of the nightcap on a double by Bill Nicholson, four singles and a walk.

South All-Stars In 5-4 Win Over North

Scott's Scrap Book

By SCOTT ROFFERTY

Occasionally, minor league club owners and managers can overdo the idea of having a "day" dedicated to such-and-such ball players and it begins to irk the fans. We see no reason why the dedication of today's double-header with Lubbock as "Oley Day", should be a case of this sort.

We do not need to use up time and space to extol the merits of Oley, who consistently fine job at second base has been one of the highlights of the current baseball season. We believe that enough fans have seen this boy to really go out there and boost him.

While we're on the subject of infielders, we don't want to forget Earl Harriman, the Oilers' hard-working shortstop and a West Texas-New Mexico league veteran.

Many fans do not know that Harriman has been playing under a serious handicap all season. An old "charley horse" keeps coming back and Harriman's leg is constantly padded and bandaged to keep it from folding upon him. Despite this, Harriman's nitting stays well above the 300 mark, which, in itself, is unusual for a shortstop. Stats Marion considered by many as the greatest shortstop of baseball's career, is a mediocre hitter but is still up there.

The fact that Harriman was chosen on the all-star team over some good shortstops speaks for itself. A guy has to bet pretty good, in our opinion, to beat out Berger's Larry Gilchrist for a place on the dream team.

Not including last night's game, the Oilers have managed to win only four of 11 games with Lubbock's Hubbers. Let's hope they at least even the score before the season's over Sept. 8.

Many cars waste gas by using too rich a mixture. It is a good plan to have your carburetor inspected at regular intervals by a competent mechanic.

LUBBOCK — (Special) — Successive eighth-inning doubles by Lubbock's Al Carr and Jackie Sullivan scored one run to break a tie and give the South All-Stars a well-earned 5-4 victory over the North team in the annual West Texas-New Mexico league all-star game here Friday.

Bill Hair, who was the third North pitcher to parade the mound under the "three innings each" system for pitchers, was charged with the loss. The Berger hurler gave up both the run that tied the score 3-3 in the eighth but also walked in a run.

Lennie Heinz, rookie Lubbock hurler, received credit for the win. Heinz established the enviable record earlier this year of pitching 10 consecutive complete games, winning eight and losing two.

Lefty Bill Garland, Pampa's 16-game winner, started on the mound for the North and yielded no runs and only one scratch hit in his three-inning stint.

Amarillo's Colorado Bill Evans, the league's leading winner with 19 triumphs and the circuit's strike-out king, started for the Rebels and was touched for a run in the first when Berger's Vurdon Gilchrist singled. Henry Robinson of Albuquerque singled and Gilchrist scored on Gordon Goldsberry's long fly to center.

Northern Goldsberry greeted Abilene's Bill Werbowsky with a home run off the first ball pitched in the fourth.

The South got back in the ball game in the fifth when Abilene's Leo Thomas doubled and scored on William Scopetone's single. The latter was Lamesa's only representative of the game. Hayden Greer's South nine tied the score 2-2 in the fifth when Ed Krage of Abilene walked, Lubbock's Lee Forrest, the pitcher, sacrificed and Greer singled to score Krage.

The North went ahead again in the seventh when Gilchrist singled, Dick Woldt of Clovis sacrificed and Clawitter doubled to score Gilchrist. With Hair on the mound in the last of the seventh, Thomas scored on Scopetone's double. Miller reached first on an error and Carr scored when Hair walked Pinch Hitter Manager Bob Seeds with the bases loaded.

Alex DeLaGarza, Albuquerque, slapped the game's second home run for the North's final tally in the eighth.

Close Contests Seen in League

Some of the closest games of the season were reported in the Kiwanis softball league last night. The tightest games of the evening were played in the junior boys league. First Christian barely squeaked by Harrah Methodist as the Methodists made three runs in the last inning to bring the score up to 9-8. The First Methodist Juniors seem to have a losing streak on their hands as they lost their second game this half to the First Baptist 17-13.

First Methodist girls team came out of their losing column as they dealt the First Christian girls a 21-16 shellacking. Presbyterian girls eked out their fourth win over the Central Baptist in a 18-15 thriller.

Another close game was a senior boys contest between Presbyterian and First Baptist. The Presbyterian powerhouse struggled their way to a 9-8 win. Central Baptist won their game with First Christians 19-10.

Leiker Hurls 10th Triumph; Pampa Outhit

The Pampa Oilers, with the help of four Hubbers errors and some well placed hits, outscored the Lubbock team 10-7 here last night in the first of a three-game series. Big Ed Leiker allowed the Hubbers 12 hits but excellent fielding by the Oilers only allowed seven runs to be scored.

Tony Range, Oiler third sacker, was the fielding star of the contest as he threw out two men who hit hard line drives. He lived for one, fell, picked himself up and threw one man out at first and another man was caught as Tony threw himself at the ball and fielded it successfully.

Home runs were also the highlight of the game as three were hit. Richardson hit one over the right field fence in the third inning. Watkins, Hubber center fielder, clouted one in the second with no one on and Miller, Lubbock catcher and manager, knocked his in the first of the ninth with two men scoring ahead of him.

Lloyd Summers, veteran WT-NM leaguer was on the Pampa lineup in last night's game in the place of Al Zigelman, who is injured.

Manager Grover Seitz has named Leiker as "Oley Day" as the Oilers meet the Hubbers in a double header at 2:30. Lubbock ... 101 000 203 - 7 12 4 Pampa ... 302 013 01x - 10 9 2 Tumelson and Miller, Leiker and Summers.

Bill Garland, Hacker Sold

Bill Garland and Warren Hacker, Pampa Oiler mound axes, have been sold to the Shreveport Sports of the Texas league for an undisclosed price. R. L. Edmondson, co-owner of the Oilers said last night.

Garland, the league ace left-hander, has won 16 games while losing only six this year while Hacker has compiled a record of 12 wins and three losses.

Both hurlers will be with the club through the close of the West Texas-New Mexico league season September 8 and will also stay if Pampa is in the playoff between the top four clubs.

Hacker was absent from the club for three weeks earlier this first season as a result of a broken finger on his pitching hand. The injury was sustained when he was hit by a batted ball in a game with Albuquerque.

Garland, who was the property of San Diego of the Pacific Coast league before the war, compiled an 18-5 record at Berger in 1941 and was third in league strikeouts.

Garland pitched one-hit ball for three innings in the league all-star game at Lubbock Fri-day night.

Edmondson said a Shreveport scout had been watching the two players for several days.

The baseball office refuted a recent rumor that R. C. Oley, popular Oiler second baseman, had been sold to the Fort Worth club of the Texas league.

Mighty Assault Finishes Sorry 6th In Arlington; The Dude Is Winner

By CHARLES MUNKLEY

CHICAGO — (AP) — Mighty Assault, reigning 3-year-old champion and leading money winner, finished absolutely last in a six horse field today as The Dude scored an astounding upset victory in the $95,650 Arlington classic.

A throng of 45,000 witnessed The Dude's triumph which brought home, with stunning effect, the fable that Arlington park is the graveyard of champions.

The winner, purchased only a year ago as a selling plater for $4,000, is owned by Mrs. Al Gaal, New Orleans, La., for The Dude's victory, Mrs. Gaal collected $76,850, richest prize in classic history.

Assault trailed the field, two and one quarter lengths in back of Lord Boswell in fifth place. James C. Stone's Sgt. Spence, a 45 to 1 shot, finished second and John Marsch's Mighty Story, third.

Jockey Melvin Duhan, a 21-year-old lad from Kaplan, La., got The Dude out in the lead before the pack hit the first turn and made a one-horse race of it all the way. The Dude led at one time on the back stretch by six lengths.

At the finish, The Dude was a length and a half ahead of Sgt. Spence, with Mighty Story two and a half lengths behind. Then came Hal Price's Beadley's Athena, only filly in the race, Lord Boswell and finally the defeated champion.

Assault, with $39,720 piled up in winning six of seven stakes, including the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont stakes this year, is the highest 3-year-old money winner in turf history.

The Dude went to the post at odds of 6 1/2 to 1, paying $15.00, $6.80 and $6.00. Sgt. Spence ridden by Jockey Bobbie Campbell, paid $30.20 and $15, and Mighty Story $9.80 to show.

The crowd wagered $360,178 on the classic, a betting record for one race in Illinois. The sum of $191,395 was wagered on Assault, with $100,260 being bet to win $36,655 to place and $52,460 to show.

Assault went to the post favorite at odds of 7 to 1. The Dude ran the mile and a quarter in 2:02 3/5 over a fast track.

Assault made but one brief challenge, holding third place momentarily as the horses passed the three quarter mile marker. From then on however, Jockey Warren Mehrtens failed to get him going and he faded.

History-Making Congress Seems Homeward Bound

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The 79th congress slapped "unfinished" labels on many of President Truman's favorite legislative proposals Saturday and started heading homeward. The house today picked next Friday as the date for formal and final adjournment. The senate has yet to act on the resolution. Leaders foresaw possible difficulty in mustering a quorum after today. Many members already have left. Behind them lies a record of cooperation with two presidents—Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman—on the weighty problems of war, and of fierce bickering with both on major domestic issues. Before them lie the November congressional elections which republicans insist will give them control of the house of representatives for the first time since Herbert Hoover was president. The democrats express an opposite view. Probably no congress saw or helped make more history than the 79th. During its tenure the nation's only four-term president, died, the shooting phase of the world's worst war came to an end, and the nation started on the long and thorny road back to a peacetime basis. Certainly few congresses ever have treated so coldly the legislative requests of a chief executive. President Truman got from congress just about half the things he requested in more than a dozen messages to the lawmakers. The President's major fights were on labor legislation and price control, on both of which he sent to congress vetoes that were sustained. He got nowhere at all on his proposals for universal military training and for merger of the armed forces. But he fared much better, after a prolonged fight, on his requests for extension of the draft law and for a loan of $3,750,000,000 to Great Britain.

State Election

(Continued From Page 1) ceiving election returns at his law office. Grover Sellers, after voting at Sulphur Springs 15 minutes before the polls opened, returned to his farm home and aided in baling hay. He was to go to his Dallas headquarters later in the day. John Lee Smith, who cast an absentee ballot at his home at Throckmorton, spent the day with his wife in Fort Worth. Jerry Sadler, who had to cancel part of his speaking engagements in the past two weeks because of the illness of his wife, was in Austin. He said he had no comment and said that his wife was "very ill." Voting progressed throughout the day in orderly fashion. At Marshall, the Marshall News-Messenger said military police, armed with pistols and clubs, were seen around voting boxes during the morning but were recalled to Barksdale field at Shreveport shortly before noon after unofficial protests had been filed by citizens with the commanding officer. At Tyler, District Attorney Craven Beard said he and a city policeman had seized approximately 400 printed "unofficial" ballots, mimeograph forms and printed approved lists of state, congressional, county and precinct candidates from a Tyler Negro church and barber shop. Beard said Negroes were showing other Negroes how to mark ballots.

Mitchell Heads Texas Sluggers

DALLAS—(AP)—Henry Schenz of Tulsa and Dale Mitchell of Oklahoma City are waging a tight battle for Texas league batting honors as the campaign rolls into the stretch. Mitchell was four points ahead of Schenz through games of Wednesday, July 24, figures released by League Statistician W. B. Ruggles showed today. Schenz, at bat 334 times, boasted an average of .352 with his 121 hits—second highest number in the league. His teammate, Clarence Madden, was two hits ahead of him. Mitchell, who had gone to the plate 219 times, was hitting .346. Tulsa maintained its leadership in club batting. Through mid-week they showed a 27.12 points better than second place San Antonio.

Barron Leading In All-America

By JERRY LISKA CHICAGO—(AP)—Determined Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y., bolstered his bid for the $10,000 top prize in the $50,875 all-American open golf tournament yesterday with a three-under-par 69 for a 54-hole lead of three strokes. Barron's total was 208, eight under par. Claude Harmon of Mamoroneck, N. Y., moved into the runnerup spot with 211 as he also banded a third-round 69. Ellsworth Vines, national tennis champion in the early thirties, slowed to par 72 for a 54-hole count of 212, four strokes off the pace. A stroke behind Vines was Ben Hogan, who batted a sizzling 67, to get back in the contention with 213. He was followed by Sammy Byrd, the former New York Yankee baseball star, who slapped a 69 for 214. Byron Nelson, perking for a two-under-par 70, his best showing in the tournament he won last year with a 19-under-par 399, was eight strokes off the pace with 216. Henry Ransom, of Dallas, Texas, Lewis Washam of Bethesda, Md., and Jimmy Hines of Chicago were deadlocked at 215.

Question Man in Old Frome Case

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Detective Sgt. Clem Hoyt said Friday that Texas Rangers had asked that Richard R. Thomas, who made a false confession of killing Suzanne Degnan in Chicago, be investigated in connection with the torture murders of Mrs. Hazel Frome of Berkeley, Calif., and her daughter, Nancy near Van Horn, Texas, March 30, 1938. Hoyt questioned Thomas in the state prison where he is serving an 18-year sentence for a morals offense against his daughter, and was told by the 42-year-old former radio singer that he was in a Springfield, Mo., mental hospital at the time of the Frome slayings. Federal Bureau of Investigation records show that Thomas was committed to the institution March 9, 1935, but do not give the date of his release. It is as if, suspicious of other men, one is emotionally loath to relinquish any prerogative for fear of total annihilation. This is the stumbling block upon which the United Nations threatens to come a cropper.—Dr. Howard P. Rome, University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist.

Canadian People Will Estate

CANADIAN—(Special)—A letter from the late Dr. W. A. Heap to Furman Williams has been filed for probate in the court here. The letter wills the estate of the doctor to Mr. and Mrs. Williams. The value of the estate is not known, but it is known to include patent rights to two of the doctor's inventions. One of these was a motor, a joint project which Dr. Heap and Mr. Williams had worked out. The other is a money changing machine. The letter indicates the dependency of Dr. and Mrs. Heap and their intention to commit suicide. Dr. Heap was formerly surgeon in charge of the Santa Fe hospital at Mulvane, Kans. He and his wife registered at a hotel here on July 8, and on July 11, the couple was found dead in their hotel room. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of double suicide.

Sister Kenny Finds Polio in Hometown

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny returned here today to find infantile paralysis epidemic in her adopted home city and immediately took up the task of helping to relieve the situation. Within an hour of her arrival by plane from San Francisco, where she landed yesterday after a three-month visit to her native Australia, Sister Kenny was at her desk at Kenny Institute, the center of activity in the polio-stricken area which she originated. "I will do everything in my power to help," she said when informed that 141 Minneapolis residents had been stricken by the disease since July 1. "I will take care of every patient that is brought to the institute. I will put forward every effort to help them."

Southwestern Public Service Has Moving Day

Monday will be open house for the Southwestern Public Service. The company will open its new location at 321 North Ballard Monday morning, according to an announcement today by Joe Key, district manager.

The new location will offer more parking space near the office, Key pointed out, and will be out of the area of heavy traffic. More counter and floor space will make it possible to accommodate more customers.

The service, by moving from its present location is helping to make more retail selling space available on Cuyler street, where more space is needed to keep pace with Pampa's increasing trade, Key said.

Southwestern Public Service has been at its present location 10 years. The building into which it will be moved has been under construction since early summer.

Battered Transport Pushed Up on Beach

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY OFF BIKINI—(P)—The transport Fallon, badly battered by the force of Thursday's underwater atomic bomb, was pushed up on the sands of Enyu island Saturday by tugboats which braved radioactive Bikini lagoon to save the ship for study.

Shifting winds and currents sent radioactivity soaring in the inner target area, hampering salvage operations and delaying attempts to assess over-all damage more thoroughly.

Boarding parties were put on some of the vessels, but there still was only limited small boat activity near the target array. Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, atom test commander, said he could not predict when inner targets might be boarded. It would still be two or three days, he said, before the support fleet moved into former anchorages at the eastern end of the lagoon.

Court Thought Exactly Same

LONG BEACH, Calif.—(P)—Judges are human, if this bit of transcript gleaned from municipal court records is any indication.

Question Attorney: Doctor, in language as nearly popular as the subject will permit, will you please tell the jury just what was the cause of the man's death?

Answer: Do you mean proxima causa mortis?

Q: I don't know, doctor. I will have to leave that to you.

A: Well, in plain language he died of edema of the brain that followed cerebral thrombosis, or possibly embolism that followed, in turn, arteriosclerosis, combined with the effects of a gangrenous cholecystitis.

Juror: Well I'll be damned!

The court: Ordinarily I would fine a juror for saying anything like that in court, but cannot in this case justly impose a penalty on you sir, because the court was thinking exactly the same thing.

Texas Able To Oil Allied Victory in Second World War

DENTON. (Special)—Texas was able to oil the Allied nations to victory in World War II because of proper petroleum conservation, Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad commission said in an address prepared for delivery here today to southwestern educators attending a resource-use workshop.

"Texas can proudly and truthfully say that Texas oilied this war," Colonel Thompson declared. "It was due to ten years of strict conservation and waste prevention in Texas prior to Pearl Harbor that Texas was able amply and easily to supply four-fifths of the war oil."

Colonel Thompson, former chairman of both the Interstate Oil Compact commission and Railroad commission, outlined the program of conservation developed by this state and its southwestern neighbors. The workshop, sponsored by the regional committee on resources-use education, is being held at North Texas State college to work up information on natural resources conservation for Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas schools.

"We have moved into an oil age and it has advanced our standard of living," Colonel Thompson said. "Our economy today is largely supported by oil and gas. This is particularly true in Texas, where our present and future economy is closely tied in with the success of oil producing, refining and marketing. The petroleum industry in 1945 paid 52 per cent of all state business and property taxes in Texas. Surely it is to Texas' interest to prevent all possible waste of oil."

Defining waste prevention as the use of "those methods which will leave in the ground, never to be recovered by man, the least possible amount of oil," the commissioner traced the development of oil conservation practices.

"It is entirely possible now to ascertain, within very reasonable limits, the amount of oil in each acre foot of the oil bearing reservoir," he explained. "Also we are now able to tell how many acre feet of oil producing sands or rock underlie each tract of land. The fair and just plan of proration gives to each tract its proper and just proportion of the oil in the field. Of course, we cannot expect to get out all the oil from about 20 per cent in the 1920's to about 70 to 80 per cent today."

Colonel Thompson discounted any predictions of an oil shortage.

"At the close of the first World War," he recalled, "the nation's known oil reserves were five billion barrels, and a hue and cry went up over the land that we were about to run out of oil. Since then we have produced and consumed about 24 billion barrels, and yet as of Jan. 1, 1946, we have known oil reserves of 21 billion barrels. Of this amount, Texas alone has eleven billion barrels, or 55 per cent of the nation's known oil, in fields already discovered and ready and able to produce the oil as needed.

"As far as the future public interest is concerned, let me say we are not going to run out of oil if we permit a fair price to be paid for oil to the producer. A fair price will cause the explorer or wildcatter to go out and find new oil fields at deeper and even greater depths. This will entail far greater costs and oil will have to bring more per barrel until another floor of oil is discovered, such as East Texas. "Let the law of supply and demand be free. Keep the government out of the oil business. Keep the oil business on its historic keenly competitive basis. Gasoline is far better today than it was 20 years ago and sells for about one-half of what it did then. Competition and research did this job—free enterprise at its best."

Novelist Joseph Conrad's full name was Josef Teodor Korzeniowski.

Six Oil, Two Gas Wells Are Tested

Hermann Brothers, Lucas No. 10, 402 barrels of oil.

Herman Brothers, Lucas No. 12, 390 barrels in a railroad commission test.

Wheeler County Teci Production Co. Hunter, No. 1, 12 barrels, retest.

Teci Production Co., Stewart L-5, 20 barrels of oil.

Potter County Canadian River Gas Co. No. A-31, Elvins, 6,400 mcf of gas.

Sherman County Cities Service Oil Co. No. 1 Blankenship, 21,500 mcf of gas.

British Women Aid Education

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeature Writer

Ordinary women working together to keep ordinary families happy and content in their daily work may be a stronger force than governments in maintaining world peace, says the Downager Marchioness of Reading.

The tall dark-eyed British leader, who founded the Women's Voluntary Services (of Great Britain) in wartime and still heads it in an extensive peacetime program, is making her first visit to the United States in ten years.

"We are working to establish decency and freedom of living, and happiness and content in daily work," she said during a New York visit. "These are the things people want. When we get them we shall have contented people and families, and they make contented states which do not go to war to settle economic troubles. I don't believe it is working on the level of nations that is going to do this job of making world peace. I believe it will be done by making happy contented families."

Then swiftly Lady Reading sketched the work 800,000 peacetime WVS workers are doing to better the lot of ordinary families.

"In England we have a greater food shortage than we did during the war," she said. "So we evolved a scheme to meet it. We select a worker from each village and city street. They are taught the fundamentals of nutrition, instructed what foods are in short supply and given recipes using more plentiful foods. After they have tried out the recipes, they call on every woman in their district, confer with her on her nutrition problems and give her the recipes and instruction which meet her needs."

"To meet the clothing shortage we conduct household repair classes and run clothing exchanges where mothers can turn in a garment her child has outgrown and receive another in larger size. To help families whose furniture was destroyed during the war, we collected 9,980 tons of furniture in 13 months and distributed it. We do work with the aged and in child welfare and have 1,000 women working for the troops

Daughter Of Mine

By R. Louise Emery
Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Cecily's wedding is over at last. But never will I forget the exact thing I did to her. How can I explain to Corvus and Robert that they—my daughter and my husband—have been exalted all through the years for Cecily's sake? And that she wasn't worth it? Della hates me for what I've done to Cecily's life. But to go back to the beginning. Della, Cecily's mother, is a strange one. A long time ago she thought Myrtle Halston was a girl for her and for years she has tried to get even, although Miss Halston probably never gave Della a second thought. She was determined that Cecily should become everyone else and spend a fortune on dancing, music, and riding lessons for her. But she was completely selfish in her devotion to Thorne, her invalid husband.

IT always amazed me that I, too, had my definite place in Della's heart. I was her friend, but because I never allowed her to possess me as she did Thorne and the cat, I was on a carton-from-the-grocery-store basis except on one occasion just before Cecily was born. On that occasion my life depended on money. Della supplied hundreds of dollars with-out my asking her, and over a period of months. If I had said she would never have had a cent back for them and she knew it. The fact that I repaid her every penny doesn't detract at all from the marvel of her generosity. I learned through that experience that I was important to Della, although the baby made a difference in our relationship.

I had never known a baby before Cecily and since that time I have never seen one as utterly enchanting as she. Although Della is square and dark, Cecily was a golden child with a perfect proportioning of body that prophesied from birth the ultimate flowering of that beauty she brought to the altar today. I loved her with a passion that even Della's own—or Thorne's—did not exceed. Cecily to me was the very essence of life, the new sweet beginning of every-overseas. In other words, we try to help ordinary people with their pressing problems. The people of every country have their own pressing problems and in every one, woman can help solve them."

Lady Reading has had a brilliant and diversified career. Before her marriage in 1931, she was confidential secretary to the late Marquess of Reading who served his country as lord chief justice, special ambassador to the United States before we had even dared hope for it.

I rushed to Della's to tell her the news—anything made an excuse to get inside that house where Cecily was. I was bewildered when Della was not pleased at my information. Robert's increase in salary would not put us on anything like a financial par with her and I knew that she was not jealous on that score.

"I'm glad," she said stiffly, knowing that the moment demanded something decent of her, "because we have to move. Thorne is worse. The doctor says I have to take him to a milder climate. I'm putting the house up for sale—besides, I've always liked the idea of raising Cecily in a smaller place. You're so well settled now, I won't have to worry about you."

Not have to worry about me! Thorne was worse. My heart beat so hard that I had strength only for a whisper. "Where are you going?"

My apparent weakness seemed to reassure her. Some of the natural vibrancy returned to her voice. "Of course I don't really know yet—"

I caught her wrist and my fingers left red marks on her flesh. "Della—you'll not do this to me! You'll not leave here until I know exactly where you're going!"

She hesitated a moment, and then pulled away from me, laughing a little. "What's the matter with you? Of course I intend telling you!"

Robert was home when I came rushing into the apartment half an hour later.

"Mavis!" He dropped his book, alarmed. "What has happened?"

"We have to move," I choked. I stood in the middle of the room, breathing with difficulty. "Della's going away with Cecily. I have to go too."

"But my new position—" Robert reminded.

"I turned away from him wildly. 'I suppose there are other jobs—' "Not like this one."

I was trembling. "I won't stand in your way. You stay and take the chair. I'm going wherever Della goes."

He Would Not Embarrass HST

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Enos A. Axtell—who has President's Truman's nod of approval in the latter race for Rep. Roger C. Slaughter's fifth congressional district post—opened his campaign Friday night with the declaration that "I will not embarrass the President by voting with reactionaries."

But he added, "I do not mean to imply that I shall blindly support every and all administration measures."

In a radio address over a local station, Axtell described his stand as midway between those of Slaughter and his other opponent for the democratic nomination, Jerome Walsh. He urged a modified OPA until supply meets demand, then removal of government price controls. He spoke for the profit system, fair employment practices, religious tolerance and racial harmony.

Meanwhile, Slaughter addressed approximately 1,500 Kansas Citizens at a rally on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Nell Donnelly Reed, widow of the late Missouri Senator James A. Reed.

Declaring that the President had made a "test case" out of Missouri's Fifth district race, Slaughter said that the President was not now the same Harry Truman he knew as a senator. The President, he said, would "get his feet back on the ground" then the district's voters gave their answer to the President's statement in Washington "if Slaughter is right, I'm wrong."

Britain Accelerates Recruiting Drive

LONDON—(AP)—A broadshouldered, gray-haired police officer looked up from a pile of papers and grinned happily.

"The bombing of the King David hotel in Jerusalem won't hinder our recruiting. The kind of young men we're interested in aren't deterred by that sort of thing."

Munro, superintendent of the Palestine police force. The papers were part of the flood of applications and inquiries which are flooding the Crown offices in Whitehall as the result of an intensive recruiting campaign.

The Tri-Lingual, semi-military peace agency of the Holy Land is seeking 2,000 recruits in Britain. Munro estimated that 10,000 inquiries had been received since the campaign began July 1. Posters offering 20 pounds ($80) a month

Two Hospitalized In Atlanta Fire

ATLANTA—(AP)—A fire on the ninth floor of the Piedmont hotel sent two elderly guests to the hospital and routed hundreds of others into the streets of downtown Atlanta early Saturday.

The spectacular blaze, which Hotel Manager Sam Tarrott said was confined to three rooms on the ninth floor of the 11-story hotel, was brought under control quickly by two fire companies. The entire hotel was filled with smoke.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET
NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market concluded its third successive losing week with rallying tendencies appearing Friday while cotton futures over the five sessions slumped $21 to $24 a bale from the 23-year peaks of the week before.

Steels led a selective comeback in the final proceedings, apparently buoyed by the surprisingly good second quarter earnings summary of Bethlehem. Dealings were relatively quiet and a number of "blue chips" exceptionally thin on the comeback. Most pivots finished the day under their best and losers were plentiful.

Congressional restoration of the OPA on a restricted basis and the reluctant signing of the measure by the President, it was suggested, had been more or less discounted market-wise. Resumption of timid bidding, consequently, was credited to the belief that the list had been oversold.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite showed a net decline for the week of 1.7 points at 75.2. The week's aggregate of 5,246,439 shares compared with 4,659,589 the week before and 4,374,388 in the like 1945 period.

Rail issues slid to a new low level for the year and U. S. governments weakened once more in bond trading this week.

TEEN TALK

DEAR JUDY: Well, cookies any day now, you'll be able to step into a beauty parlor and have your fingernails painted by a male artist. One of the first male manicurists, 19-year-old Marty McKelton of Philadelphia just received his diploma in advanced manicuring. His first job will be in a beauty shop in Atlantic City. N. J. Marty says he also hopes to specialize in pedicures.

Speaking of toenails, how do you like the new Grecian sandals which show all of your feet but the soles? They're perfect for summer but I'll bet they're pretty cold for winter.

Gwen Kieley of St. Paul says some of the kids have made their own. They take worn shoes and rip them apart, leaving nothing but the soles. Then they tack fabric at the toe and either side of the shoe at the heel. When the front piece of material is drawn up in between the big and second toes it can be tied around the ankle with the side straps. Good for the beach, don't you think?

Jerry Cooper, radio baritone, has been judging by the boys who sing his records at the broadcast. Jerry used to be a New Orleans train conductor. D'ya reckon anybody'll ever be able to out-Bing, Frankie and Perry?

The willy-nills have a new trick to drive onlookers blitty-by. They sit around for minutes at a time removing imaginary insects from their hands, fingers and legs. Are you hep? All you do is take your thumb and index finger and pluck at your skin. Sounds goofy, but the kids find it's an easy way to get older sister and her beau out of the living room.

Scatter chatter is that Harry James and Betty Grable may do a "Mr. and Mrs." radio series. . . . Alice Templeton will soon have a talking Myrah bird on his program. . . . People are still putting bananas in the refrigerator. . . . Johnny Desmond's teen age fans collect his mimeographed radio scripts to paper their rooms (wouldn't your mom love that). . . . Junior Achievement is setting up shop in Peoria, Ill.

Very few of the kids are using leg makeup this year. Most of 'em are either fan enough or just don't care. As a matter of fact most of the hens, except for lipstick, are strictly sans makeup.

The couple flew to Clovis in the plane owned by the bridegroom. There they were met by the bride's parents, who were the only guests for the wedding.

Iron Kinks Out of Your Packing Woes

By BETTE CLARKE AP News Features Beauty Editor. Weekend packing is a problem. Because just when you think you've got everything tucked away, you remember a pair of slippers, hair curlers or an evening dress.

If you are apt to be forgetful, one of the easiest methods for remembering is the head-to-toe plan. You start at your hair and try to remember all the things you'll need to make it glamorous. Then you take your stockings, bobbin pins and needles and set them on the bed, table or dresser.

When you've remembered down to the soles of your feet, and have everything set to pack, here are some pointers by Marjorie Rountree, who, as director of a radio show, is compelled to make a week-end trip 52 times a year:

1. Take four basic outfits—a costume for active sports, a pair of sporty slacks, for informal wear and for formal occasions. This usually narrows down to a summer suit and two blouses, an evening skirt, cocktail dress, a pair of slacks, slacks. The blouse can double either as top covering with a sports outfit or to complete evening formal wear.

2. Put shoes in individual shoe bags or wrap in tissue paper and pack in the bottom of your bag.

3. Put heavy clothing and suits over shoes.

4. Sheers, rayons and cottons are better rolled than folded. Place the dress on a flat surface, fold sleeve and begin to roll from the top down and around several layers of crumpled tissue paper or a cardboard tube.

5. Perfume bottles and cologne often will leak to ruin a favorite nightgown, negligee or dress. The wisest thing to do is pack bottles of cosmetics, cologne and powders in a heavy zippered case with a rubber lining.

6. Use the little pockets around the bag to hold comb, brush, hairpins, toothbrush and paste.

Mary has a few more tips that may help you reach your destination looking as if you had stepped out of a band box instead of a sooty train. She suggests removing all old makeup about ten minutes before you are scheduled to pull into your station. Then pat freshener and apply new makeup. She admonishes against planting your makeup in the bottom of your bag where it won't be available in a hurry. If you haven't a separate cosmetic bag, take a purse large enough to hold powder, lipstick and other makeup essentials. A small vial of perfume is easily tucked into a handbag and after a hot muggy train ride a dab of a nice scent will give you a lift.

KING CABBAGE. Cabbage is a good mixer. Almost anything in your refrigerator or on your pantry shelf probably will combine well with cabbage, adding novelty and appeal to both foods. Try cabbage with spaghetti or noodles, with chopped onion, peanuts, carrots, eggs or apples. Do it up brown in casseroles flavored with cheese. Feature it in cream soups, in steaming combination with spareribs or corned beef. One cup of raw cabbage supplies nearly half the day's need for vitamin C. Cabbage supplies are plentiful and the price fits in with low cost budgets.

WE, THE WOMEN

Conscience Calls for a Club Meeting

By RUTH MILLETT NEA Staff Writer. At a woman's club meeting in Oregon each member read a report on "What I Should Be Doing at Home Instead of Attending Club."

A husband thinking of his wife's own good might point out that if she wanted real recreation, swimming, fishing, golfing or just lying in a hammock would probably be more relaxing than going to a club meeting and coming home annoyed because Mrs. Smith tried to run things again or Mrs. Jones was bragging about how her husband managed to get a new car.

Or if she wanted to improve her mind, a husband might point out that listening to a book review is a pretty roundabout way of going at it, if you can read yourself.

And a husband might have been unkind enough to say, "Why go to the meeting to read your paper? Why not start staying home, as of today?"

A man thinking of his own interests might make a list that includes anything from turning his shirt collars or darning his socks

Letters Back Home from a Bride in Bavaria

Editor's Note: Here's another letter from Nita Polack, who's sharing the occupation of Germany with her soldier-husband—and sharing her adventures with you in letters made available through NEA Service, which appear each week on the Pampa News Woman's page.

DEAR SIS: In your last letter you asked if the frauleins were bold in their approach to unattached GIs. Sis, these girls are not only BOLD, they're possessive. Jealous of one another and they scratch and claw each other's hair over the American boys.

Here's a good example of what I mean. It's an incident an enlistment man told me. He said he had danced with the same German girl three nights in a row at the 700 club. The fourth night, he chose a different partner. They had scarcely started to dance when the first fraulein barged up to them, pushed his partner out of the way and told her to leave this soldier alone—she belongs to her, she said.

A serious argument between the girls started and their high-pitched voices got louder and louder as each claimed the soldier was her man. For a few minutes it looked like they'd knock each other's hair out by the roots. The GI finally got a word in and told them both in no uncertain terms that he didn't belong to either one; then walked out. But after that, he said he never danced with the same girl more than one evening.

Other soldiers have told me that if a GI dates a fraulein a couple of times she regards him as her private possession and advertises the fact to her less fortunate friends. Maybe in some towns GIs have to use chocolate and cigars to catch the eye of a German girl, but that technique doesn't seem to be needed around here. The soldiers of course, buy the girls drinks and give them cigars when they are at the club.

The last time Jack and I went to the 700 club we only stayed long enough for a couple of dances before it was so stuffy and crowded.

One day last week, Jack and I went with Sgt. and Mrs. Sandover and Sheila, their seven-month-old baby, to Chiemeese, about 60 miles from here, to see the castle of King Ludwig, the mad king of Bavaria. Words just can't describe the beauty of this ancient castle. Gold statues, cut glass chandeliers and a marble bath the size of a swimming pool thrilled us, but what caught my practical eye was the dining room table. At a push of a button it would descend through the floor to the kitchen to be set, then it would rise again loaded with dishes and food. I couldn't help thinking how many steps that device would save a harried housewife like me.

County Clerk Charlie Thut reported Saturday that just one citation has been recorded in the special record book for citations. Bright Dress Is Tonic for Blues

When the night's rest has been cut short, your mirror seems particularly spiteful or you've had a feud with a friend, dress up in your best bib and tucker. You'll need sprucing up as a prop to keep your spirits from diving to cellar-floor level. When her mood is off-key, a woman has a tendency to pull her most indifferent-looking duds out of her wardrobe. Results? A bad mood grows into something pretty dismal—in her mirror—there is none to be had. The "bad" day, says an expert—Perc Westmore of Hollywood, who knows a thing or two about the off-sets of glamor-girl studio clients—calls for your newest, most flattering and most gayly colored dress. And as for a hat, he says, the choice there should be, without exception, the most amusing one in your closet.

Sensitive People Resent Jokester

By ALICIA HART, NEA Staff Writer. The girl who can't resist kidding people or arguing with them is apt to lose her friends in the pursuit of her fun. A lot of people can't take kidding. Their egos are too sensitive. So, in order to keep their egos from being bruised or their self-confidence undermined, they avoid the girl who hands out the digs. The trouble with arguing every point or taking issue with people in conversations is that most people like to talk just for the fun of it, not for the mental exercise that they get out of it. Of course, nobody expects a girl to agree with everything that's said, particularly if what's said is opposed to her firm beliefs. But there is a difference between disagreeing firmly on a point of principle and taking issue on every point that comes up in a conversation.

Wheeler Might Go Independent

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Sen. Wheeler (D-Mont) said today he is being urged to run as an independent in the November Montana senatorial election—a course that might put President Truman on a political spot. While Wheeler told a reporter he has made no decision, he said influential republicans as well as democrats have asked him to make a three-man race of the contest that now lies between democrat Leif Erickson and republican Vales N. Ecton. Any decision by the Montanan to reenter the fight would bring about a situation in which Mr. Truman probably would be called upon either to extend again or withdraw the helping hand he gave Wheeler in the July 16 primary.

Health Units Now Total 47 in State

AUSTIN.—(AP)—Texas health service units in the past ten years have increased from eight to forty-seven full-time units, the state health department noted today. Now serving 60 counties, the 47 units are the result of greatly increased interest in public health needs and problems among the people of Texas, said the health department weekly report. Follomylitis cases reported during the past week numbered 61. This was 48 more than the seven-year median for the third week of July. Total for the state thus far this year is 452. Forty-four counties reported having no communicable diseases during the week, ending July 20.

Coast Guard Going To Freighter's Aid

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—A coast guard cutter and a navy tanker early today were rushing to the aid of a stricken freighter off the Mexican coast which radiated an SOS that a fire raging in the hold was out of control after 50 crew members had battled it for four hours. The blazing ship was the 10,000-ton New York freighter El Salvador Victory of the Luckenbach line. It was Los Angeles bound from New York and was reported about 12 miles off Magdalena Bay, Mexico, 850 miles south of here. The radio plea, received by coast guard authorities here, did not mention any casualties. PAMPA MONUMENT CO. Ed Foran, Owner Cemetery Memorials 801 E. Harvester Phone 1182

Assistance Plan Would Mean More To Poorer State

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate finance committee has approved a plan by which the federal government would pay more to poorer states than to prosperous states for old age assistance and aid to dependent children and the blind.

For the poorer states the proportion of federal money would be as high as two to one. It was written into a bill passed by the house to freeze social security payroll taxes at one per cent for employers and employees for another year, place 250,000 maritime workers under social security and make other changes in the welfare acts.

Here is the way the plan would work: Each state's income would be compared with the national average on the basis of department of commerce figures. One-half that percentage—but not less than 33 1/2 per cent or more than 50 per cent—would be the state's share of the contributions to the aged, the blind and dependent children.

For instance, if the income of a given state were 80 per cent of the national average, it would pay 40 per cent, the federal government 60 per cent.

The senate committee also adopted an amendment which would raise the federal contribution for maternal and child health services, crippled children and child welfare from $12,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Also approved was an amendment which would enable the few states which levy unemployment insurance payroll taxes on employees to utilize the funds for sickness benefit. The change was asked by California.

The latest federal figures show that half the people in the United States have only 3 per cent of the liquid assets.—Alan G. Rude of New York, vice president Universal Credit Corp.

Poll Tax Legislation Conceded Defeated

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Sen. Morse (R-Or.), a leading proponent of an anti-poll tax legislation, agreed with southern foes of it today that the measure has no chance of passing. Already approved by the house, the bill may come up in the senate next week.

Morse told reporters, however, that he saw no possibility of breaking an expected filibuster from southern senators. He added that he suspected democrats of "playing politics" with the issue.

Senators Russell (D-Ga.) and O'Daniel (D-Texas), in interviews, took the same view of the bill's chances. They said they were ready to filibuster, if necessary. Both described themselves as opposed to the poll tax, but believing that repeal is a matter for the states.

Departmental Merger Program Being Studied by Government

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON—(AP)—Does it get you down when you can't figure out what all the names and terms and titles inside the government mean?

What's the difference between a department, an office, a division, a bureau, an authority, a board, a commission? Is there a difference between them? Sometimes. Sometimes not. Why?

It just happened that way over the years. The government is like an apartment house which was built about 150 years ago to house so many families. Each family had its own apartment.

But the children grew up. Some single, some got married, some had children of their own, some got divorced. But all stayed in the same house or tried to. It got to be a big crowd.

So since the government grew up that haphazard way, don't feel frustrated when you can't draw a sharp line between the title of one agency and other.

Usually, and rightly, you think of a department as being one of the 10 cabinet departments. But some units inside an agency are called departments—just because someone wanted to call them that—like the "power department" or the "management service department."

An "office" and a "bureau" may really mean the same things, or different things. The main divisions of the state department are called "offices."

But in the post office department a "bureau" is the equivalent of an "office" in the state department. All this is confusing enough.

But when the senate committee created to investigate non-essential government spending took a look at the interior department set-up, it threw up its hands and said "hodge-podge."

The interior department has branches like these: The office of fishery conservation, the division of territory and island possessions, the U. S. board of geographical names, the bureau of reclamation, the geological survey, and the national park service.

The same senate committee gathered a list of government agencies doing "similar, identical or related" work and found that as many as 20 agencies may have units doing the same or similar work.

Here's part of the list, showing the number of units and what they're concerned with: Housing, 22; standards and inspection, 27; statistics, 29; map making, 24; education, 16; water-power and power, 16; insurance, 22; investigations, 48.

Some undoubtedly duplicate one another's work, and might be eliminated or rolled into one. Some very probably are necessary as they stand, separate.

A year ago President Truman asked congress for power to merge a batch of government agencies. Congress gave it to him and last May he offered a plan.

It did not pretend to be a complete reorganization job—which would be a huge task—but proposed merging the work of about 28 government agencies. Congress spiked some of the plan, approved some last week.

No one is suggesting a complete overhauling of the government. SUSPENDED SENTENCE HILLSBORO, Tex.—(AP)—Frank Harbom today received in district court a five-year suspended sentence on a murder charge in connection with the May 15 death of Manning Toon.

Harbom had entered a plea of not guilty and had asked a suspended sentence if convicted. The first quarter-year production of bathtubs in the United States for 1946 exceeded output for a like period of 1945 by about 60 per cent.

TO END A DILEMMA

The senate, before it adjourns, should turn its attention to the Bulwinkle bill which is designed to end the confusion caused by conflicting transportation policy and as a result of which the railroads are put squarely in the middle of an impossible situation.

The facts in the case are simple and so is the bill which has been reported out by a senate committee and which ought to come before the whole senate promptly for favorable action.

As is well known, common carriers operate under the Interstate Commerce Act. To meet the responsibilities which the law imposes upon them, they find it necessary to maintain cooperative arrangements for the efficient administration of matters of common concern. The Interstate Commerce Commission recognizes this necessity and has approved this kind of cooperation. But the anti-trust division of the department of justice contends the whole program is a combination in restraint of trade and thus illegal under the anti-trust law.

All this leaves the railroads and other common carriers in the position of being threatened with prosecution under one law for doing what another law literally forces them to do. They now ask that they be relieved of this dilemma and the Bulwinkle bill is the compromise answer.

If it becomes law, as it should, carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act may file with the Interstate Commerce Commission any agreement which they may make among themselves. Then the commission will decide whether the agreement is in furtherance of the national transportation policy declared by congress.

If the commission's reply is in the affirmative, anti-trust laws would not apply. If in the negative, the application of the anti-trust laws would stand. How can anyone possibly object to that?

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is one of Europe's most outspoken statesmen as witness his blunt assertion during debate in the house of commons that the Austrian situation "is very delicate at the present moment" and that he didn't know "whether Eastern Austria may even be cut off."

This statement of course is interpreted as referring to the possibility that Eastern Austria which is occupied by Russia and contains the major portion of the country's industrial capacity—may be severed and become a unit in the permanent Soviet zone of influence.

Naturally Moscow can draw all of Austria within the Soviet zone of influence so long as Britain, America and France continue to occupy their zones. There is small doubt, however, that withdrawal by the Western Allies would see Russia move in. It is given to wonder how long this strained position can continue, since the Western Allies are anxious to see an Austrian treaty signed so that all the powers can withdraw their troops.

Approps of this general situation, when I was in Austria in March, Dr. Karl Renner, the president, gave me his view of this imbroglio.

The unity of the world is our life, and the end of unity would be the end of Austria. I hope that there will be agreement between the Western Allies and Russia. I hope that in this agreement Austria will not be forgotten. We have a parliament and government which can govern all at all because there are four military governments. We hope a treaty will give us back the whole power over industry, agriculture, commerce and transportation.

Since then Austria has lost most of her industries to Russia. But yesterday came a sudden and remarkable reaction by the unhappy Vienna government. The legislature took the initiative and defied the Soviet by unanimously approving nationalization of key industries including some claimed by Moscow as reparations. This action was taken in face of Soviet warning not to do it, and thus the delicate situation of which Mr. Bevin spoke has jumped into the super class.

The reaction of Russia and the Western Allies wasn't immediately registered, but it is a tense moment.

Gracie Reports

Well, I see that even children have become victims of the tie-in racket. The Pittsburgh youngster set is complaining that it can't buy bubble gum that it wants unless it also buys candy bars. If this keeps up, when you see a dog with a bone you'll know that he had to take a can of Tea powder too in order to get it.

Actually, here's nothing new about the tie-in racket. For example, there's the old political tie-in deal where a man says, "I'm going to vote for J. Cheever Chiswell because he'll get our town a new post office. What if he does put his whole family on the public payroll?"

Or take marriage, for instance. If a man knows he can't get the sweetest, prettiest, cleverest little wife in the world without getting her hair blown, he just goes ahead and takes both. At least, Gracie did.

Common Ground

"Secondary Inflation"
Very few people know much about what causes a rise in prices. Nor do they understand what inflation means. They have seldom had an opportunity of reading a presentation on this subject by men who have had years of study on the subject, both nationally and internationally.

With this idea in mind, I want to quote for three days from an article in The Commercial and Financial Chronicle written by Melchior Palyi under the heading of "Secondary Inflation." I quote: "Our primary inflation, the money-printing on behalf of the Government, has remained (supposedly) but its heritage stays with us, consisting of accumulated purchasing power in the hands of the public—individuals, non-financial business units, private and municipal organizations—which approaches the staggering figure of $200 billion, having risen six-fold during the Roosevelt-Truman era. In the meantime, the population has grown by some 10 millions; prices have almost doubled; savings are far more widely distributed than they used to be; depression and war have engendered new hoarding habits, factors which should have the effect of enhancing the desire for 'liquidity.' But on the other hand, the urge for higher living standards combined with depleted shelves, reduced debts, deferred replacement needs, pent-up demand for durables; higher wages, increased security, etc., are a many psychological factors which militate against hoarding. The expectation of higher prices tends to strengthen the spending propensity.

"All told, it is reasonable to assume that the amount of per capita liquidity more or less permitted to be hoarded in the course of the war, in 1929. That is a liberal assumption, indeed, which still leaves a spendable margin of at least $120 billion, additional to the purchasing power that arises out of current national income, of which 14 per cent only is being saved in liquid form, against 30 per cent during the war.

Mechanism of Credit Expansion
"But that is not the whole story. As we assume for the sake of illustration, that in the course of the next twelve months $10 billion Federal paper should be redeemed or not renewed on maturity and above what the Treasury records by using its own bank balances, the Federal Reserve would have to provide the bulk of the funds since there will be no budgetary surplus available, nor could the banks absorb more than a part of the 'disbursed' bonds. To that extent new cash is being put at the disposal of the public, which is likely to be deposited with banks. Suppose, to simplify matters, that all of it flows as demand deposits into the metropolitan commercial banks which are subject to a 20 per cent reserve requirement. Ten billions deposited in these banks would leave them with $8 billion excess reserves. Having $10 billion new deposits, they can proceed to expand fresh loans, which will reappear in turn as additional deposits in the same or other banks. In due course, as a result of the well-known pyramiding process, new deposits to the extent of $50 billion could be brought into existence without impairing the banks' reserve position.

"The point is that the cashing of a moderate fraction of the total bond portfolios opens the door for a vast expansion of the credit volume. It may take time, but there can be little doubt that the expansion actually would materialize. Briefly, we are in for a secondary inflation: one built on top of the previous. Cashing in our series 'E' bonds, e.g., not only turns that much of latent money into purchasing power, which is inflationary enough; it is likely to fan the inflation further by adding several times that amount to the already on the books.

"(At the end of March, 'Adjusted deposits' comprise all deposits in all banks minus inter-bank and Federal balances and items in process of collection. In other words, the figure represents the volume of deposits actually in the hands of the public, including municipalities.)

"The same sequence applies to the return of cash from circulation or to the influx of gold, if any. If the $20 billion held by non-financial business organizations and the $60 billion held by individuals all were cashed and the proceeds returned as demand deposits, the foundation would be laid for an additional credit expansion up to $80 billion, which could treble within a few days the excessive volume of purchasing power, and do so without the depreciation, incurring a cost of 20 per cent. This is how far the inflation—except might progress if left to its own self-inflaming tendencies. But, of course, it may be stopped long before; it will be stopped presumably some day due to the political uncertainty which the concerted skyrocketing of prices will engender."

THE INSTITUTE OF HUMAN RELATIONS

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Harry Bridges, Joe Curran, John L. Lewis, Phil Murray, Walter Reuther, A. F. Whitney, and the other big leaders of recent strikes should be compelled to go to Yale University. Up at Yale, it seems, they have what they call an Institute of Human Relations. In this I. H. R. is a Labor and Management Center. Directing the I. H. R. is a professor named E. Wright Bakke.

Now this Dr. Bakke has just evolved what he calls a "Tentative Theory of Adaptive Behavior" which, according to him, will prevent serious disputes and promote harmony in labor relations. If understood properly, the catch is, just try to understand it. Of all the professional gobbledegook ever laid out, this wins the double banana-split with cherries and nuts.

Dr. Bakke's hypothesis is stated in a course of nine holes, or "propositions" as he calls them. They're too long to reprint in full here, but a few sample quotes and pitch-shots will give you the drift.

Remember, this is a course in how to prevent strikes.

"Proposition 1 — Individuals act within a structure of living composed of goals, personal resources, the framework and resources of the society in which they live, and routine behavior. The first three elements place heavy compulsion upon the fourth."

Isn't that ducky? You want to know what makes Phil Murray and Ben Fairless behave the way they do, and the professor tells you that their routine behavior is compelled by the framework of their society. Having mastered this lesson, you may proceed to the next text.

JOBS SPELL SATISFACTION, HE EQUILIBRIUMIZES
"Proposition 2 — Normally this structure of living is in a state of equilibrium."

What the professor apparently means here is that when people have good jobs, they're satisfied. He merely says things the way he does to make them seem hard. But now he gives you his on-the-other-hand.

"Proposition 3 — If the equilibrium is unstable . . . men are aware of tensions with respect to their present situations . . . In such a case they are prepared for adaptive behavior."

This is truly wonderful. Don't call a strike any more. Call it "an adaptive behavior." Don't say men worry when they lose their jobs. Say, "Men are aware of tensions when their equilibrium is unstable." But get a load of what comes next.

"Proposition 4 — The introduction of any new force or factor into the lives of individuals creates a disturbance in their structure of living."

What the professor labored so hard to say here is that people get upset when things don't go right. But that's too simple.

"Proposition 5 — In summary, the tensions and anxieties of hopes produced by a condition of unstable equilibrium or disequilibrium in the structure of living are stimuli to adaptive behavior."

In words of one syllable, Professor, you might say, "When things get tough, folks don't just sit on their fat backs—they get up and yell till they get what they want, and if they don't get it they strike."

TO RECOVER EQUILIBRIUM, MEN SEEK SUGGESTIONS
"Proposition 6 — In order to reduce these tensions, men search for suggestions. The suggestions may come from several sources."

That latter sentence is particularly helpful. Who besides a Yale professor could think more than one person would have a suggestion?

"Proposition 7 — From the roster of alternative suggestions those experimental actions or responses are made which appear most likely to re-establish equilibrium by direct methods to exploit opportunities, reduce inadequacies, restore consistency, remove threats, or resolve conflicts; or by indirect methods."

You said it, Professor.

"Proposition 8 — If experimental action is rewarding, it tends to be perpetuated. If it is punishing, it tends to be discarded."

"Proposition 9 — If the experimental action is punishing, another alternative response is tried, until one is found which in practice is rewarding."

These two seem to boil down to the old saw, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." It's a pretty good rule to follow in labor negotiations, too. But it takes a professor from Yale to discover these great truths.

U. S. requirements for hardwood flooring in 1946 are estimated at 1,093 million board feet.

Cleanup Drive Is Planned Tuesday

SHAMROCK. (Special).—Shamrock will declare a half-holiday Tuesday afternoon to stage a thorough clean-up campaign which will be citywide.

Mayor Bill Walker has proclaimed Tuesday afternoon a half-holiday and business activity will cease while citizens roll up their sleeves and tackle the job of cleaning up the town. Club meetings and social activities will be postponed as housewives join in removing trash and debris from their premises.

Alleys, vacant lots, side streets and neglected suburban property where rubbish has accumulated, will get a complete going over. The clean-up drive is the beginning of a modern health program to be inaugurated jointly by the city and county which will include the employment of a full time health officer. The city is taking over garbage disposal and will buy a specially equipped pressure-pack garbage truck to replace the present hit-or-miss system whereby two independent trash haulers remove garbage from the premises of residents wishing to employ them.

Small Arms Sold to Peace Officers Only

A sale of 38 caliber revolvers and .15 caliber gas riot federal guns by the War Assets administration regional office at Fort Worth is now in progress. It will continue through August 28.

Eighty-one items, consisting of 77 new and used revolvers and four riot guns, are being offered for sale to law enforcement officers only. Individual peace officers may not apply. The weapon must be secured through the county and municipal law enforcement offices.

Included among the weapons are Smith and Wesson revolvers with 4-inch barrels (special police), federal laboratory breech loading, pistol grip reinforced to wooden shoulder stock riot guns, and Colt commando special six shell revolvers. Orders should be sent to the WAA regional office, P. O. Box 1497, Fort Worth.

Russia Deplores Test Made With Atom Bomb

LONDON.—(AP)—The Moscow radio said Friday that the Bikini atom bomb test, coupled with discussions of inter-American collaboration, constituted a "war scare" which imperiled the "dream of peace."

"The Monroe Doctrine has become a symbol of economic, military and political supremacy of the United States," Dr. I. Lemin said in an English language commentary. "Such ideas have nothing in common with the letter and spirit of the United Nations."

Shamrock To Get 20-House Unit

SHAMROCK. (Special).—City Attorney Thurman Adkins stated this week that Shamrock is to receive a veterans housing program, but that it will be different from the one originally announced.

The city is to receive 20 housing units instead of the 30 first scheduled, and the buildings are to be moved here from the Dalhart army air field instead of the McLean prisoner of war camp, Adkins stated.

Tech Enrollment Numbers 1,994

LUBBOCK.—Enrollment for the second summer term at Texas Tech totals 1,994, a drop from 2,304 students registered the first term but higher than any other summer total previous to this year. Veterans enrolled total 1,297. Prior to the summer term ending July 18 the high enrollment was 1,947, recorded in 1939.

THE DOCTOR CAN WAIT

★ How often have you heard it said, "I've paid all my bills except the doctor's. He can wait?"

When we have recovered, the fearful urgency of that night call is easily forgotten. In answer to our frantic call, what if the doctor had said, "Oh, it's nothing serious. Wait until morning and come down to the office." The chances are we would agree to pay double if he would come at once.

Health is not an item for trade and barter. In fact, the only wealth is health. Consider your doctor bill as your best investment in the continued enjoyment of life. As pharmacists, we stand ready to fill your prescriptions promptly and accurately.
