

2 AMERICANS HELD IN CHINA FOR ESPIONAGE

ATTEMPTED TO ASSIST FRENCHMAN TO ESCAPE

HANKOW, China, Aug. 30. (AP)—Investigation by Chinese authorities into the operation of an alleged international espionage ring in China resulted today in the detention of four foreigners, including two claimed to be Americans.

The arrests followed closely the trial and conviction of a man giving his name as Joseph Walden, who was sentenced to 15 years in prison by the Hupeh high court. Walden who throughout his trial maintained a tight-lipped silence regarding his activities, claims to be a Frenchman.

The following statement was authorized by the United States consulate:

"The Chinese authorities informed the United States consulate yesterday that two men whom they had taken into custody earlier claimed to be American citizens. A consular official interviewed the men and examined their papers. As they appeared to be United States citizens, the Chinese released them into the consulate's charge. The men are not Hankow residents."

SEANGHAI, Aug. 30. (AP)—Two men claiming to be Americans arrested by Chinese authorities at Hankow (two were described as Julius Lemcke of Michigan, and Eugene Brinson of Georgia, by Feltham Watson, United States district attorney here, who was advised of the men's alleged identification by the United States consular authorities in Hankow.

Lemcke is reported to be a long-time resident of Shanghai while Brinson is believed to be a recent arrival. According to Watson the men are being held in the British consulate jail at Hankow awaiting the United States attorney's orders. Watson believed it likely they would be brought to Shanghai for trial in the United States court of China.

Watson said the Chinese said the men attempted to assist Joseph Walden to escape from the Chinese prison during the latter's trial. Brinson, 30 years old, gave his United States address as 202 55th St., Savannah, Ga., and is said to be employed here by a chemical concern.

Lemcke, 50, a garage employe here, is said formerly to have lived at 164 Addison St., Jackson, Mich.

Teams In Dixie League Play To 250,000 People

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Aug. 30. (AP)—The Dixie league expects to operate two eight-club branches in 1936. Milton Price, assistant to President J. Alvin Gardner, announced.

Here to attend the East Dixie division play off between Pine Bluff and Jackson, Price revealed that the Arkansas-Mississippi loop is completing a highly successful season. Even second division clubs, he said, enjoyed their share of prosperity as the eight teams played to nearly 250,000 fans during the season.

The enlargement is expected in the West Dixie league with the probable admittance of Kilgore and Overton, Texas, to membership.

Texas Football Tickets Go Fast

AUSTIN, Aug. 30.—As the time draws near for the opening of the 1935 football season in the Southwest, the business side of the collegiate sport appears to be on the upward trend again.

At the University of Texas, business manager Ed Olie reports a 400 per cent increase in advance ticket sales over last year at this time. The Loughorn pre-season sales campaign was put in motion one month earlier this year than ever before, and reports are that the choice seats in the center sections have almost all been taken by early orders. Though these orders include a heavy demand for tickets to all games, three of the season's leading contests, the Rice game in Austin on Oct. 26, the Oklahoma game in Dallas on Oct. 12, and the traditional Thanksgiving Day game at College Station, are leading the field. Besides the encouraging advance sale of reserved and general admission seats, a surprisingly heavy sale of business men's season tickets is also reported. A sharp price reduction for these all-year passes was announced early this summer, and to date the order already exceeds the total sales of last year, indicating an increased interest in Longhorn sports in Austin and neighboring towns.

A 21 per cent improvement on

Arizona ranges over 1934 has been reported by the agricultural statistician stationed in Phoenix.

State Officer To Be Honor Guest Of Baptist Societies

WOMEN AND GIRLS TO ENTERTAIN FOR MRS. HOWELL

Mrs. W. D. Howell, state secretary of the Baptist Missionary union, will be the guest of Baptist women here over the week-end and will be honored on several occasions.

She is to conduct the installation of officers for First Baptist Missionary union at the Sunday evening service, and will be the speaker then.

Members of the Young Women's Auxiliary will compliment her with a tea Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. W. Jamison. She will speak to girls of the senior and junior G. A. at an informal meeting Monday morning in the home of Mrs. C. E. Lancaster. On Monday afternoon she will be the honor guest at a social meeting of the women's organization.

Advances in rank were made by three members of First Baptist Girls' Auxiliary Wednesday afternoon, when they met at the home of Bernice Barrett.

Yuleta Davis, Margie and Frances Coffey passed the tests for the rank of Maiden. They were the first in the new organization here to have passed these tests, and will start now the study of tests for the next rank, that of lady-in-waiting.

At the recent church campment at Miami, demonstrations were given of the various steps, and requirements in study and memory work. Several members of the group are at work on the first tests.

After an interesting program, the hostess served a plate lunch and led punch.

Lunsfords Given Farewell Party

A farewell party was given Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Nat Lunsford, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Vandenberg. Music by Pete Connor, Cleo Vandenberg and Nat Lunsford was a part of the informal entertainment.

Those present were Messrs. and Mrs. W. T. Broxson, Jack Bass, E. L. King, Archie Wilson, Lunsford, and Vandenberg; Mrs. Dick Jeffers, Amelia Saline, M. J. Lunsford, M. M. Walker; Messrs. Earl Parker, Doc Buzbee, Burnett Lunsford.

They presented remembrances to the honorees, and gifts were sent by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown, John Buzbee, W. E. Napier, J. H. Tucker, and Travis White.

Recent Marriage Here Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Hattie Vandenberg and Archie Wilson, last Thursday evening at 9 o'clock in Calvary Baptist church. They are at home here now.

The Rev. J. L. King, pastor, read the service. Several close friends of the couple were present. The bride wore a white ensembles with the trimming.

A surprise charivari was given Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Tuesday evening by a party of friends who gathered at the L. C. Vandenberg home.

KNIFE IN SKELETON
LUBBOCK, Aug. 30.—A skeleton with a knife directly in the back and an iron arrowhead in the side was uncovered by two Texas Technological college archaeologists in 25 of Arrowhead Ruin, Glendale, Pa., N. M., where students of Texas Technological college were scavenging from July to August this summer.

The most perfect mechanical man ever devised will be in the lobby of the La Nora theater today and Saturday. Free passes will be given anyone who can make it smile and a cash prize to anyone who can make it laugh.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

The day Dolly Madison invented ice cream, I imagine what a dull world it would have been if she hadn't she worked about twelve hours concocting complicated mixtures with her own hands, letting them stand and then adding them to other mixtures. Difficult, time-taking formulas for dessert were the fashion then. Anything that took less than six hours to fix wouldn't have been considered fit to serve guests.

Today, it's just the other way around. The simpler a dessert is and the less time it takes to make, the more beloved it is of our guests who have friends within her gates.

Cake Again Acceptable
We still want to make the most of the fresh fruits in market but the evenings are growing cool enough to make cake acceptable with the fruit. If you buy plain cup cakes, or if you make them yourself, an attractive way to serve them is to spread the top and sides with jelly. Sprinkle with shredded coconut and top with whipped cream. Arrange a circle of sliced peaches or other fruit around the base of each cake.

Or the same idea can be carried out with a sponge cake or angel food. Cover top and sides of cake with jelly, sprinkle with shredded coconut and top with whipped cream. Arrange a circle of fruit around the base of each cake. This makes a handsome dessert served on a large flat plaque and passed.

Or try this: Moisten a square of sponge cake or other plain cake with fruit juice and put a thick slice of half of a fruit on the cake. Garnish with whipped cream and a contrasting fruit. Or use ice cream or sherbet instead of whipped cream. If you use halved peaches, fill the cavity of each peach with raspberry sherbet. Or try pistachio ice cream with a slice of fresh pineapple.

Making Crusts for Tarts
Berry tarts are another easy-to-make dessert. The trick of making the crust is baking the crust on the OUTSIDE of the patty pans rather than the inside.

If you want to glaze the fruit to give it that professional French pastry look, melt a clear apple or currant jelly enough to spread easily and cover berries after they are placed in the tart shells. A rosette of whipped cream may top each tart but don't make the mistake of completely masking the fruit with cream because you will spoil your lovely color effect if you do.

Fresh fruit served in sherbet glasses topped with a sprinkling of fresh grated coconut or whipped cream mixed with coconut makes a delicious dessert. This is a good way to use up odds and ends of fruit.

Here's an All-Star Team for the Olympics

Every one's a champion, and so patriotic Canadians couldn't resist the temptation to see what the Dionne quintuplets would look like as Olympic team candidates. Here they are in their cute shirts track shorts and athletic shoes with the Canadian maple leaf on the front. Who can tell? Maybe in a few years they'll really be skimming the hurdles or swimming for their native land. Left to right, Nurse Leroux, Annette, Yvonne (who seems inclined to cry at being left all by herself), Emelie, Cecile, and Nurse Lamoreux.

Method of Mastering Kitchen Art to Be Offered

"She saw six slender saplings." There's hard words to say in them there lines. What if they are hard, they can be said. There is a short, sure, certain method by which any line can be mastered.

"So it is with the great master art of cooking," says Mrs. Beulah Mackey Yates, the noted southern lecturer and kitchen happiness harmonizer, who will be here to lead one of the most useful and interesting seasons of the Kitchen Chautauqua that has come to this city in many moons starting Sept. 9. She has many surprises for the housewives. It is all free, not a cent of charge for any of it.

"One of the little things that I teach my housewives is to visit the Kitchen Chautauqua is that meals can be made more attractive and the testing laboratory of beauty for a meal is dependent upon, in a great part, a more perfected harmonization of the things that go to make up the meal-parts," says Mrs. Yates.

"There are new easy ways to gather kitchen-and-home-happiness, and I am glad to impart this knowledge to the housewives of your city and those who live in the neighborhood around.

"This will advance very materially during the coming twelve months because of the Centennial spirit that is being studied and recognized by the entire state. Nothing is more important than the centennialization of the greatest of all arts—the master art—cooking. Such periods bring us face to face with giving our dead-level-best to what we are about. It has spurred my efforts to do so, and I am happy to serve with it—happy of the opportunity to serve the women of this section of the country.

"The preparation of meals always so different, always so adorable, always so palatable, and always so happily-pleasing. That is the goal of my efforts to scatter such information among the housewives of America. It is a pleasant job that I have. I like it, and I am getting the greatest lot of satisfaction from the fact that my sisters, everywhere, like it. I love to please, just as all housewives do. It's a laudable ambition, isn't it?"

TAX ON LATE DRINKS LEVIED IN NAZI TOWN
LANDSTUHL, Germany (AP)—Registerers have to pay here for the privilege of "not going home until morning."

The town council set a tax of 10 pfennings per man on everybody found in saloons between midnight and 1 a. m.; 30 pfennings between 1 and 2 o'clock and 50 pfennings between 2 and 3—which latter hour is closing time.

Proceeds from the tax are turned into savings accounts of 50 marks (about $10) each for every fifth—and following—child of all large families. The bank books will be handed to the beneficiaries when they reach the age of 14.

BAND PLANS TRIP
LUBBOCK, Aug. 30.—The Matador band of Texas Technological college has accepted an invitation to present two concerts of one hour each in the Organ amphitheater at the California Pacific International exposition at San Diego Oct. 26. About 70 band members will give the concerts, according to D. O. Wiley, band director. A special train will leave Lubbock Oct. 23 for the coast carrying the Matador team, band, and boosters to the Tech-Loyola game which is scheduled for Oct. 25 in Los Angeles. The visitors will return Oct. 28.

PAMPA
Tonic of our city

Set Pampa Day.
Wednesday, Sept. 4, will be "Pampa day" at the Panhandle race meet. As a good will gesture, many Pampans are planning to be present on that day. An unusually interesting race program has been arranged.

Forming Teams.
Deputy Luella Campbell of the Woodmen Circle stated today that she needed five more girls or women 16 years of age or older for an adult drill team and seven more girls for the Junior drill team, ages 5 to 16. Competition with drill teams of Amarillo, Tucumcari, and other cities will be arranged. Mrs. Campbell is staying at 524 Faulkner street.

License Issued.
A marriage license has been issued here to Henry Claude Smith and Jessie Ellis.

Find Good Fishing.
Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Duncan report from Jackson Hole, Wyo., that "the who hath not fished here has not fished at all." It is unusual to catch fish under 10 inches long, they write, on the South Platte and Snake rivers.

Truck Recovered.
Sheriff Earl Talley and Deputy O. T. Hendrix have returned from Fredonia, Kas., with a truck stolen here a week ago. They returned a couple charged with the theft, but while examining trial has not yet been held. The truck, Ford V8, belonged to the ITIO company.

International Sunday School Lesson By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Paul (Worker with Hand and Brain). Scripture Lesson: Acts 20:33-35; Philippians 4:4-14. Acts 20:33. I coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel.

Paul's Spirit of Contentment (Phil. 4:6). "I rejoice in the Lord greatly, that now at length you have revived you to thought of me." Paul's purpose in writing the Philippians was really to thank them for their kindness to him, but many other things were so much on his heart that he postponed this matter until the end of the Epistle.

HER OWN, HER WORLD ST. LOUIS (AP)—City hospital physicians protested, Mrs. Mary Appiano, 70, insisted before she'd budge an inch into the hospital to let them set the arm she broke in a fall, the physicians had to scurry around and see to it that a mongrel pup would be cared for. A social service worker was found for the task.

Belgians Grief-Stricken As Body Of Dead Queen Arrives

Children Are Still Unaware Of Death Of Mother

BRUSSELS, Aug. 30. (AP)—To the muffled roll of drums and the shrill notes of bugles sounding "Aux Champs" (last post), the dead Queen Astrid made her tragic homecoming today to the country which had grown to love her.

Banked with white flowers and lighted by six large candles, the simple coffin was placed in the palace chapel (Chapelle Ardente). The special train that bore the body from Switzerland as it drew into the downtown Gare Du Nord station at 8:40 a. m. (1:40 central standard time) found a city in deep mourning.

Borrowing crowds wept openly in the streets and behind them doors were draped with black crepe and shop windows were shuttered.

A deathlike hush fell over the crowd outside the station as the queen's body was lifted from the coach in which it made the overnight journey from Lovereine.

Sobs from the bareheaded crowd broke the deep silence as attendants placed the casket in the motor hearse outside the somberly draped station and stepped back to await the start of the drive to the palace.

Then drums, hung with heavy black velvet, began the funeral roll, and the notes from the trumpets of a band of army buglers rang out strangely and "cho" by in the usually bustling square facing the station.

The funeral will be next Tuesday, King Leopold left the train at Gare Du Luxembourg, before it arrived at the downtown station, and drove to the palace in an automobile to wait his queen's body.

Governmental and city dignitaries rode in six automobiles which moved behind the hearse as the sad procession to the palace began. Troops lined each side of the street as the cortege wound its way slowly up Boulevard Du Jardin Botanique and turned into Rue Royale, which led straight to the gates of the palace.

Children Unaware
Church bells tolled throughout the city. Hundreds of persons who packed the sidewalks, crossed themselves and whispered softly-voiced prayers as the body of the queen in a coffin covered with a wreath of roses passed along.

Many children clutched mothers' hands watching the mournful drama. Queen Astrid's three children played gaily in a garden in one of the royal villas, unaware that their mother never would return to them.

King Leopold was sad-eyed and fatigued from a troubled day and a sleepless night.

Before he left the train accompanied by his secretary, Baron Capelle, he bandaged his own injuries.

In the palace as he waited the arrival of the cortege he sat with bowed head, surrounded by his favorite court officials.

The funeral party halted briefly outside the palace, then the coffin was carried up the grand staircase to the flower-banked Chapelle Ardente on the floor which only a few days before rang with the happy laughter of the 29-year-old mother and her three children.

Thousands crowded outside the palace gates, waiting for the hoped-for word that they soon would be allowed to make their slow way to the chapel to pay their last respects to their beloved queen.

The grief of the huge crowd was doubly the greater because the chapel where Queen Astrid's body was tenderly placed was where King Albert, victim of another accident, lay in state less than 18 months ago.

Goes To Bier
Black bangles covered the walls of the tiny chapel and white dahlias and roses, among Queen Astrid's favorite flowers, banked the coffin right and left.

For a short time, while some court officials and a few others were admitted to the chapel, King Leopold waited in another room of the palace. Then when the others had gone he entered the room alone and kneelt beside the bier.

Premier Paul Van Zeeland, pale and visibly moved, and other ministers accompanied the funeral train from Arlon, France.

Prince Charles, Leopold's brother, was absent from Brussels. Queen Mother Elizabeth, and the king's sister, Marie Jose, crown princess of Italy, were expected from Naples today.

The three children of the royal family were joined in play by Van Zeeland's children, still not knowing the tragic fate of their mother.

After the king had remained for several minutes praying and sobbing quietly beside the bier, he retired and cabinet members and persons of the court were admitted.

At midday, the crowd outside the palace was permitted to file through the chapel.

Are you serving a MINUS MEAL?

Many wives, unknowingly, serve "minus meals." The food is well cooked, but it has little or no "bulk"—needed for regular habits.

"Minus meals" frequently cause common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in the diet. Headaches, loss of appetite and dull, listless days too often follow.

Correct the "minus meal" by serving Kellogg's All-Bran regularly. Its gentle "bulk" does not break down in the body as much as the fiber in fruits and vegetables. So it is more effective. ALL-BRAN also supplies Vitamins B and Iron.

Certainly it is safer to use this natural food in place of patent medicine. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If relief is not obtained, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, waffles, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
901 N. Frost.
"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, September 1. The golden text is: "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ" (John 1:17). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "There was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed" (Daniel 7:14). The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ, as the true spiritual idea, is the ideal of God now and forever, here and everywhere" (page 361).
Sunday, 11 a. m. Sunday school, 9:30. Wednesday, 8 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday and Friday, 2 to 4 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend our services and use the reading room.

Mrs. W. D. Howell, the recording secretary of the W. M. U. of the state of Texas, will be the speaker for the evening and an installation of the officers of the local W. M. S. will follow the address. The setting for the service will be a field of roses, dimly lighted—the field is to represent the world and the officers are the workers in the field. The music will be under the direction of a Y. W. A. member, Miss Loma Groom, and the special music will be given by a W. M. S. member, Mrs. C. O. Huber.
To the women of the church, a special invitation is extended to the entire community. A rich fellowship and a deep spiritual blessing awaits everyone who is present to hear this charming woman.
Several opportunities have been arranged for the women and the young people of the church to meet Mrs. Howell. A tea Sunday afternoon given by the Y. W. A., a meeting Monday morning of the two G. A.'s, and a tea Monday afternoon by the officers of the W. M. S. will all be given honoring Mrs. Howell.

MIGHT BE THE WEATHER
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Thomas Barrett, 18, negro, yawned as he slumped into a courtroom chair. "You seem to be sleepy," said the judge.
Barrett yawned again, then slept soundly, loudly in fact, while his mother testified he threatened her with a hatchet. He awakened long enough to deny everything, then went back to his snoring.
The judge gave him four months to sleep it off.

EVANGELIST SAYS LAW IS NOT VOIDED BY THE NEW COVENANT

"The Two Covenants" was the sermon topic of Evangelist C. A. Walgren last night at the Gospel tent located at Somerville and Montague.

Mr. Walgren said: "We agree that the old covenant was based on the Ten Commandments—the law, and that the old covenant was done away with. But, as we shall discover, this does not warrant the conclusion that the law also was done away with. "We are living under the new covenant, and therefore have nothing to do with the law," reason some. Those who make such an objection quote various texts that show how the law is definitely related to the old covenant. Then they quote texts which declare that the old covenant has been done away. Combining these texts, they jump to the conclusion that the law was also abolished. They remind us, too, that Christ is the end of the law; Rom. 10:4. They also quote another New Testament statement concerning the "ministration of death, written and engraved on stones"—the old covenant relationship—and declare that this was done away, and therefore the law written on stones was done away. (2 Cor. 3:7).

In Heb. 8:6-9, we read: "He (Christ) is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established on better promises. For if the first covenant had been faultless, there should no place have been sought for the second. Behold the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel. . . This new covenant, then, evidently is to be made with Christian people, but the Lord calls them of Israel and of Judah. "When Israel reached Sinai, the Lord said to them: 'If ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me. . . Ex. 19:5. The people replied: 'All that the Lord hath spoken we will do.' Moses then took the blood of the sacrificial animal and sprinkled it over the people in token of the ratification of their promise to keep God's law.—Ten Commandments, Ex. 24:7, 8. This was the covenant: (1) A solemn pact, (2) An agreement, (3) An offer made and accepted, (4) The agreement made for a lawful purpose, (5) It was based upon a consideration, and (6) It was made with all the formalities of law.

"The fault of this covenant was not in the law, for the law of the Lord is perfect." Ps. 19:7. The fault lay in the people, who had promised in their own strength to keep God's law. Further, the covenant was ratified with nothing more effective than the blood of animals. All through their history, it is to be remembered, the Jews were under the mistaken impression that they could obtain righteousness by keeping the law—as if it were possible for a weak human being, unaided by the power of Christ, to obey God's law. Evidently this was Paul's experience before his conversion. Phil 3:1-6.

"Let us examine the new covenant. We read: 'This is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts. . . and they shall be my people.' Heb. 8:10. Instead of abolishing the law, the new covenant makes the law more real than ever in the life of the Christian, by writing it in the hearts of God's children. The old covenant was no stronger than the promises of the people to obey the law in their own strength. The new covenant was established upon better promises. God promised to give them a new heart, upon which he would write his divine law, and a new spirit that will enable us to obey this law. Eze. 36:26, 27. The new covenant is ratified, not by the blood of an animal, but by the precious blood of Christ on Calvary.

"The man who accepts Christ, and thus comes under the new covenant, no longer strives to obtain righteousness by keeping the law. Upon this acceptance of Christ, the Saviour's righteousness is imputed to him. Rom. 3:21, 22. "Christ is the end (object) of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth." Rom. 10:4. To every one who believes on him, Christ brings to an absolute end the use of the law as a means of obtaining righteousness. The purpose of the law is to cause men to see their sinfulness, that they will go to Christ for his righteousness. His righteousness is not only imputed in justification, but is actually imparted in the daily living, as is clearly taught in Galatians 2:20. Thus are we freed from the condemnation of the law, and the 'ministration of death,' and come under the 'ministration of the spirit.' 2 Cor. 3:7, 8.

"Says Paul: 'To be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.' Because the carnal mind is enmity against God; for it (mind) is not subject to the law of God.' Rom. 8:6, 7. It is not surprising then that the Psalmist declared: 'Great peace have they which love thy law; and nothing shall offend them.' Ps. 119:165.

"Paul did not have this peace before his conversion. For he said:

"The commandment (law) which was ordained to life, I found to be unto death.' For after his conversion, he declared: 'The law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good.' He adds: 'For we

READY MADE WIFE

Chapter 34 SAFE OFFER

"Laurie," said Alberty, and a wave of heat came into his voice from the flame of desire that was consuming him. "You know I love you. Don't pretend! I am glad, I can't tell you how glad I am. You must break with him at once. What's the good of waiting? Let him get on with his job. I'll still be behind him, for your sake. But you mustn't work any more. You must let me look after you."

"Oh, thank you, Mr. Alberty!" she faltered. "But I would much rather work. I love my work. I should hate to have nothing to do."

"You will have everything to do—what all women love to do, especially when they are loved by a man as I love you. You shall have everything in the world, all the pretty clothes and jewels you want. We will travel. You shall have a villa in the South, an apartment in Paris or Rome—where you like. Whatever you want will be my joy to give you."

She gazed at him in speechless amazement. "Mr. Alberty, are you asking me to marry you?"

He gave her a look that baffled her; it was so full of some suggestion that she could not grasp.

"My dear girl, I'm not the marrying man. But I will give you a position in which you will be honored and respected by everyone you meet."

She gave a cry and sprang from her chair. Before he could stop her she was at the door. She clung to the handle and flung swift, withering words at him, her eyes blazing. "How dare you insult me like know that the law is spiritual.' "Then in conclusion, we ask: 'Do we then make void the law through faith?' The clear, ringing answer comes back: 'God forbid: yea, we establish the law.' Rom. 3:31. That man, then, who says he has nothing to do with God's holy law because he lives under the new covenant, reveals instead that he has nothing to do with the new covenant. For the new covenant believer has the law engraved in his heart."

that? I won't stay here another minute. I'm going and I'm never coming back. I'll never set foot in this building again."

Her passion of outraged fury was exhausted. She opened the door quickly, white to the lips, and went out of the room, leaving Alberty staring after her with uncomprehending, but baffled and cruel and merciless eyes.

But the next day, about six o'clock in the afternoon, Alberty's car pulled up to the little tumble-down house in Westminster where his ex-secretary lived.

It happened that the old and rheumatic landlady was standing at the front door, having just parted from a visitor.

"Is Mrs. Rex Moore at home?" Alberty asked her.

Seeing a grand gentleman and a grand car, and knowing that Mrs. Moore had lately been mixed up with all sorts of people, the landlady directed him upstairs.

"Right at the top sir, you'll find Mrs. Moore. I'm afraid it's a bit of a climb."

So it was that Alberty came upon Laurie, unexpectedly and unannounced, when, after knocking at the first door, he found her in her pretty, simple, flowery sitting room.

Laurie stood with her back to her quaint old dormer window on the ledge of which flourished geraniums and cherry-pls. She was a figure of icy dignity, and looked extraordinarily young.

"I don't know why you should want to see me, Mr. Alberty," Laurie said. "I have nothing to say."

"But I have something to say," he retorted. "And it will be worth your while to listen to me. I am very sorry about yesterday; I was clumsy and stupid, and I don't wonder I offended you. It was altogether a mistake. But now I want to talk to you about Rex Moore."

There was no disturbing note in his voice. It was almost business-like. It was certainly deeply respectful and very friendly.

"The mention of Rex Moore's name decided Laurie.

"What have you to say, Mr. Alberty?" she asked coldly. "And in what way do you mean that the unpardonable things you said to me yesterday, were a mistake?"

"I misjudged you. For you to understand me, I must explain that I know you are not married to Rex Moore."

Her knees gave way and she sank into a chair.

"You know—that? How?"

She shook her head. She couldn't speak. "So, you see, there was a slight excuse for me, Laurie, as you had been living with Rex Moore as his wife without being married to him—"

She gave a cry. "What do you mean? You know this, and you never said a word to either of us! What do you think?"

"My dear girl, what is there to think? I suppose you had been fond of each other in Australia, and when you thought he was dead you passed yourself off as his widow. And when he came back—well, you were very glad to see him again, and carried on."

"You are all wrong!" Laurie cried, almost choking with indignation. "I will tell you the truth—not because of myself, or that I care what you think of me, but because he had nothing to do with it at all. He did not know me in Australia. I never set eyes on him until he came back from America the other day."

"I never set eyes on him until he came back from America the other day."

Mark Alberty makes, tomorrow, a terrible threat.

NEGRO EXECUTED HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 30 (AP)—Ben Boyd, Wharton county negro, was electrocuted in the state penitentiary early today for the murder of Robert Goughly, who was established to death in December, 1933. Goughly, a bystander, was wounded during an altercation between Boyd and another man in front of Goughly's cafe at Wharton.

For the first time in its 44-year history, Stanford university used its football stadium for commencement exercises.
