92nd Congress Adjourns After Giving President Nixon Twin Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 92nd Congress, battling with President Nixon to the end, killed about a dozen major bills as it passed.

Even before adjournment Wednesday night, the Democratic-controlled Congress had its two-year record thrust into the national political campaign.

Nixon accused the legislators of excessive spending and raised the issue again in his response to his twin defeat on the last day of the session.

Congress overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion water-pollution control bill and killed the $250-billion federal spending ceiling he sought along with unlimited power to make the cuts to achieve it. Nixon characterized the votes as an invitation to a tax increase.

Democrats replied that the President exaggerated the cost of the clean-water bill, that he has repeatedly vetoed funds urgently needed for education, health and other programs treating social ills, and that he has protected the Pentagon budget from their effort to pare what they call wasteful spending.

Nixon's only major domestic legislation to survive Congress was the $30.2 billion revenue-sharing bill which he plans to sign in ceremonies Friday at Constitution Hall in Philadelphia.

But Congress killed the welfare-reform plan which Nixon repeatedly called his most important domestic proposal. It killed antibusing legislation, all of the President's broad government reorganization proposals, and all of the various national-health-care plans.

Congress fought and lost battles with the President on foreign policy and military issues in both the 1971 and 1972 sessions.

Amendments calling for an end to U.S. involvement in the Indochina war cleared the Senate three times in 1971 and twice in 1972, but none ever got through the House.

A watered-down version of a proposal by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to fix a time for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam did go to the White House last year but Nixon announced he would ignore it.

Congress ratified the arms-limitation agreements worked out by the President with the Soviet Union.

Despite many objections, members generally approved funds for new weapons projects Nixon said were necessary despite the agreements. It was in the domestic field that Congress balked at several key Nixon proposals, and tried to enact others he rejected. He vetoed some, including a broad new child-development program.

In the 1971 session, Congress did give the President the economic and tax legislation he said he needed to control and stimulate business.

Among the major bills cleared in this year's session:

—A constitutional amendment barring discrimination on the basis of sex. Awaiting ratification by two-thirds of the states.

—An $8-billion, 20-per-cent increase in Social Security benefits for 28 million Americans, together with the taxes to pay for it. This measure also provides automatic future increases tied to the cost of living index.

These were important measures passed in 1971:

—A $15.8-billion tax cut for individuals and business. Attached to this was a plan of government financing of presidential campaigns which takes effect in 1972.

—Legislation authorizing the President to control wages, prices and rents through April 30, 1973.

—A constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18. Ratified by the states.

—A $250-million loan guarantee for Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

—A requirement that all needy school children be given a free or reduced-price lunch.

TWO INJURED — Larue Barnett Cleveland, Miami housewife and her 18-month-old daughter, Denise Annett, were taken to Highland General Hospital by Metropolitan Ambulance for examination and treatment after their van struck another car and overturned. They were traveling south on Perryton Parkway when a car driven by Edward Henry Koetting, 38, 2125 N. Sumner, pulled in front of them from 23rd St. Koetting was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

OFFICIALS ISSUE STATEMENT

Planned Merger Of Gas Firms Has No Affect On Local Unit

Today's announcement that Pioneer Natural Gas Co. of Amarillo and Houston Natural Gas Corp. of Houston had agreed in principle on a merger of the two utilities would have no effect on the local branch of Pioneer in Pampa.

That was the statement of Pioneer officials this forenoon. No personnel changes in the Pioneer organization are contemplated, they said, and Pioneer, after the merger, plans to continue its operations as a separate entity in its Pampa and other service areas.

Burton P. Smith, president of Pioneer and Robert R. Herring, president of Houston Natural Gas, said the proposed terms of the merger calls for the exchange of one share of Houston Natural common stock for each 2.25 shares of Pioneer common stock. They said the merger, which could be consummated as early as January 1973, would be subject to satisfactory mutual investigations, approval of directors and stockholders of both companies, and other conditions.

Pioneer has 7,468,132 common shares outstanding and Houston Natural has outstanding 6,767,031 common shares and 748,472 convertible preference shares. The stocks of both companies are listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Pioneer is engaged principally in intrastate transmission and distribution of natural gas in the Texas Panhandle and West Texas. The company serves 235,000 customers in 69 communities including Amarillo and Lubbock, and operates 9,824 miles of transmission and gathering lines. Pioneer subsidiaries carry on oil and gas exploration and production, extraction of natural gas liquids, sales and service of franchised lines of heavy construction equipment, and uranium exploration, milling and marketing. Consolidation operating revenues for the 12 months ended June 30, 1972, were $94.3 million. Net income was $9.6 million of $1.28 per share.

Houston-Natural's primary business also is natural gas. It serves more than 345,000 customers in Houston and 116 other Texas Gulf Coast communities and utilizes a 2,300 mile intrastate transmission and gathering system generally paralleling its marketing area.

FBI Probes Sale Of Space Items

LaMarque, Tex. (AP) — The FBI and Justice Department today were looking into the sale of space items had technical material relating to the Gemini 7 space flight, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

Glen V. McAlvoy, regional inspector for NASA the past 10 years, said the items had been advertised by a flea market in this Gulf Coast town.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the person involved may have sold government property."

A 50-per cent owned affiliate recently completed a 36-inch pipeline system for the movement of new gas reserves in West Texas some 500 miles to the Gulf Coast. Related activities include oil and gas drilling and production, and natural gas processing.

Veterans Day Observance Scheduled

Observance of Veterans Day is scheduled at Pampa's two cemeteries Monday morning by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion Auxiliaries.

Commander Ross Neugin of the VFW will start the "Parade of Flags" at Memory Gardens at 7 a.m. in tribute to departed servicemen.

Taking part in the services there will be Mrs. Thelma Batson, Mrs. Libby Shotwell, Mrs. May Hatcher, Ross Neugin, Capt. L.Z. Sullivan, Tracy Cary and Bryan Halliburton.

The Gold Star Mother will be named at the services.

The annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the VFW Auxiliary is to be held Friday and Saturday.

Auxiliary members will be stationed at both Pampa banks and in the Postoffice lobby.

The traditional Veterans Day falls on Nov. 11 but has been moved ahead to Oct. 23 this year under the Congressional Monday Holiday Bill.

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT REPORTS

GNP, Inflation Up In 3rd Quarter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy slowed down in the July-September quarter, but still scored solid gains while the rate of inflation edged up, the government said today.

The Commerce Department reported that the Gross National Product, market value of the nation's output of goods and services, advanced at a 5.9-per cent annual rate during the third quarter compared with 9.4 per cent in the second. The rate of inflation moved up to 2.2 per cent compared with 1.8 per cent in the second quarter.

Although the growth rate was slower than in the previous quarter it was well within the

Edinburg's Convicted Killer Wounds Two Prison Guards

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A convicted murderer held on the second floor of the Hidalgo County Jail wounded two guards with a firearm today, Sheriff Claudio Castaneda said.

Some time after the shooting began, scores of law enforcement officers still surrounded the two-story, brick jail in downtown Edinburg.

Circumstances of the shooting and how the prisoner obtained the weapon could not be determined at once.

Sheriff Castaneda identified the prisoner as Geronimo Quintanilla, recently convicted of murder and sentenced to 50 years in prison. He was in the jail while appealing.

The board had deferred the student request until late on the agenda pending the arrival of Ben Sturgeon from an out-of-town business trip because of his reputation as a friend of the students and his previous fair stand on the dress code issue.

The board's move last night was seen as a vote of confidence for Don Walker, new Pampa High School principal.

Action on the activity status of married students was again deferred due to a lack of pertinent information that should be in hand by a special called meeting Nov. 1.

On that date the board will also begin shaping the future of certain buildings and campuses in the light of projected enrollment figures over the next four years.

Three school buses considered obsolete went to highest bidders for a total of $2,810 for the three.

Other business was that of routine reports requiring time all out of proportion to their importance objectively analyzed.

The board adjourned near midnight.

Passer said prospects are excellent for the administration to reach its goal of a 3 per cent inflation rate at the end of the year. According to the GNP figures, the rate of inflation increased by 3 per cent in the first three quarters of the year.

The department said that GNP increased by $22.8 billion in the third quarter to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.162 trillion. In terms of current dollars, this was a growth of 8.3 per cent.

But in subtracting the effects of inflation, the government figured it as a real gain in output of 5.9 per cent.

In the previous quarter, the GNP increased by $30.3 billion.

Another acknowledged the necessity of oil imports to supplement domestic production but called for federal action to establish minimum import levels while permitting U.S. wellhead prices to increase.

The gas resolution said vast potential reserves exist but that decontrol of wellhead prices is necessary to provide the industry with adequate incentives and capital to support a maximum exploration effort.

The independents now plan a new "dedicated sustained" effort to persuade the administration and Congress to eliminate federal price controls over natural gas moving through interstate pipelines.

Nixon told the independents they are confronted with the challenge of establishing industry programs within the framework of government policy to serve the mounting energy needs of the nation's technologically advanced society.

"Your programs take on added national significance as government and industry work together to avoid a deepening natural gas shortage," the letter said.

"I believe it to be imperative that government policy encourage the creative genius of the free enterprise system in exploring and developing our domestic energy resources consistent with our environmental, social and economic goals.

He commended the association for "constructive service to the nation's energy needs, and on its effective promotion of the conservation and effective allocation of our resources."

statement near noon Wednesday saying "despite my disappointment that no competitive rate bill was finally passed and my belief that the need and the legislative desire for competitive rates has been well established, it is my judgment that it would be fruitless to call the legislature back for a fifth called session to deal with insurance reform. The differences between the two houses of the Legislature at this time appear too great to be worked out."

Smith added that he remained firm in his conviction "bolstered by the legislative deliberations of the past 30 days, that our insurance system is desperately in need of reform."

The governor, who lost a bid for re-election in the May primary, said he would include recommendations for "thorough reform of our insurance regulatory system" in his January address to the next legislature. The legislature convenes its 1973 regular session before the next governor takes office.

"I am hopeful that, because of the exposure and public attention that this issue has received during the past 30 days, competitive rates and other insurance reforms can and will be approved," he said.

"PUMPKIN MAILED"
RUTLAND, Mass. (AP) — "You can mail anything as long as it's got the right postage on it," says Mrs. Harold B. Jones.

And she proved it by mailing an unwrapped but adequately stamped pumpkin to her granddaughter for Halloween.

It carried two 50-cent stamps. "I wanted her to have that particular pumpkin," said Mrs. Jones, "and I know she loves to get things in the mail, just as all children do."

U.S. And Russia Agree To Open 2nd Round Of Arms Curb Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to open the second round of strategic offensive arms limitation talks in Geneva on Nov. 21, the White House announced today.

The new set of negotiations will seek a permanent treaty to follow up on the interim curb on offensive nuclear weapons signed by President Nixon during his Moscow summit in May.

The brief announcement of the date for resumption of the talks was made simultaneously in Washington and Moscow.

The announcement read by Ziegler said:

"Pursuant to the agreement reached during the summit meeting in Moscow last May to continue active negotiations for limitation of strategic offensive arms, the governments of the United States and USSR will resume talks on this subject on Nov. 21, 1972, in Geneva, Switzerland."

The new talks will focus only on offensive weapons. A permanent treaty covering defensive missiles was signed by Nixon in Moscow and ratified later by the Senate. Congress also approved, after extensive debate, the interim agreement freezing the bulk of both countries' arsenals of long-range nuclear missiles for five years.

At the Geneva talks, the United States is prepared to press for a permanent curb not only on long-range missiles but also on other categories of nuclear weapons.

Ziegler said Geneva was selected as the site for the talks because it was "inconvenient and expensive" to alternate the negotiating sessions between Helsinki and Vienna, as was done in the initial SALT talks.

Freezing Temperature To Continue In Area

Pampa's first official freeze of fall season came at 10:30 a.m. this forenoon when the mercury dropped to 32 degrees, according to Darrell Sehorn, the U.S. Weather Bureau's official observer here.

The mercury held fast after sliding from 33 degrees at 7:30 a.m. It was still 32 degrees at 12 noon today.

The outlook was for continued cold tonight. The official forecast at noon today called for cloudy with showers and intermittent light rain through Friday, but a little warmer Friday.

This afternoon's high was expected to climb only into the mid-40s. Tonight's low is expected to drop again to freezing at 32 degrees with a high tomorrow in the mid-50s.

The freezing temperature this forenoon brought an early taste of winter to the Panhandle-Plains sector and thunderstorms paced the cold front's march through the rest of the state.

It was the liveliest frontal system so far this fall, and the cooler air put to rout a record-breaking hot spell in some sections the past several days.

Early morning temperatures tumbled to 32 degrees at Dalhart and 33 at Amarillo in the Panhandle, and readings elsewhere in that area stood mostly in the middle to upper 30s. Marks in other sections ranged from the 40s to 60s at most other points and stayed as high as 73 at Corpus Christi, 74 at Houston and 77 at Galveston.

In general the temperatures near dawn were 20 to 25 degrees lower than at the same time Wednesday.

Top readings Wednesday afternoon ranged from 60 at Amarillo, already behind the front, up to 94 at Alice in South Texas.

Santa Day Parade Set For Nov. 3

Pampa's annual Santa Day parade and kick-off of the Christmas shopping season has been set for Thursday, Nov. 3.

Preliminary plans for the event were made yesterday at a meeting of the Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by co-chairmen J.C. Roberts and Ken Plotner.

Highlights of Santa Day will be the appearance of Santa Claus and the giant parade in which old Saint Nick will ride one of the city's fire trucks.

There will be four divisions in this year's parade including non-commercial, commercial, children's pets and decorated bicycles and motorbikes. There will be first, second and third prizes awarded in each division.

The parade will start downtown at Craven and Cuyler Sts. and wind up in Coronado Center. Santa Claus will greet boys and girls and have free candy for them.

Parade entrants were urged by committee members to begin planning for their entries in the holiday pageant.

Harris Brinson, high school band director, attended yesterday's meeting and assured the committee Pampa's two junior high schools and senior high school will enter bands in the parade.

Out-of-town participants also are invited to take part in the Santa Day parade.

Price Aides Are Victims Of Robbers

WASHINGTON — Three aides to Rep. Bob Price have written off $160 but not as campaign expenses.

Mrs. Mary Ann Walter, Miss Anne Nicolls and Ron Martinson were dining at an Italian restaurant near the capitol Tuesday night prior to the return of two of them to the 13th district to campaign for the congressman's re-election.

Three men wearing stockings over their heads and armed entered the place, scuffled with the owners and made off with patron's purses and billfolds.

There were no injuries in the incident.

THE POLITICIAN WHO CAME IN OUT OF THE COLD — U.S. Rep. Graham Purcell visits with diners in Furr's Cafeteria Wednesday evening when the cold kept his bus caravan from drawing the expected crowd on the parking area of Coronado Center. Purcell Campaigns In Pampa

U.S. Rep. Graham Purcell came to town yesterday with a glad-hand for prospective voters and a good word for those in the wheat business.

Purcell, who inherited the Panhandle area and a worthy opponent in the reapportionment shuffle, stepped off his chartered bus into the unseasonable cold as his caravan stopped at Coronado shopping center.

Head of a powerful house committee, Purcell has been probing the recent wheat-to-Russia controversy without regard to party lines. He told the News he thought the wheat business.

Purcell was referring to wheat men from five states who gathered in Oklahoma City to map a campaign to recover some $68-million lost in the nation's largest international wheat deal.

He had no encouragement regarding the recovery but he did feel he could do much to help wheat people get pending legislation enacted if he was re-elected.

Pending is a bill that would restore the value of domestic wheat certificates to the level farmers had expected when the Soviet wheat deal was consummated.

Because the cold kept the expected crowd of supporters inside, Purcell went through a number of stores greeting Pampans.

Asked if he could do anything about the weather if elected, he unhesitatingly answered: "I'll introduce a bill!"

The district governor told the group the theme could be carried out by sharing their lives in service in their homes, through association, through recreation and through exploration.

Bush emphasized the need for personal involvement of Kiwanians in the various club programs which he said includes youth, drug abuse and aging projects.

Delegations from other clubs from Division 6 attended to welcome the district governor on his official visit. They included Wheeler, Shamrock, Wellington, Clarendon, Memphis and Vega.

Wheat germ and sour cream make different soft cookies.

A Cookie for All Ghosts, Goblins

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Keeping cookies on hand is a delightful chore. The major problem is for the baker to resist oversampling each batch. A hearty cookie with a different flavor and texture incorporates wheat germ and dairy sour cream. These are ideal for the Halloween crowd.

SOFT SOUR CREAM COOKIES

- 2 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup wheat germ
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 3/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 2 eggs

- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon wheat germ
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Measure flour, 1/2 cup wheat germ, salt, baking powder and soda onto wax paper. Stir well to blend. Cream butter, granulated sugar, brown sugar, eggs and vanilla until light. Add blended dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with sour cream. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Flatten slightly. Combine 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon wheat germ and cinnamon. Sprinkle about 1/4 teaspoon on each cookie. Press in lightly. Bake at 400-degrees for 10-12 minutes. Store in container with tight fitting cover. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

four hours. Add kidney beans and cook about 20 minutes more.

- 1 pound hot sausage
- 3 lbs. ground chuck
- 3 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 3 large onions, chopped
- 4 garlic buds, minced
- 6 Tbsp. chili powder
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 2 large cans tomatoes
- 1 Tbsp. salt
- 1 Tbsp. oregano
- 1 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 3 cans kidney beans

Saute onions and garlic in oil in a very large skillet until transparent looking. Remove onions and garlic and add meat. Cook and stir until it loses its red color. Add all of the other ingredients except kidney beans. Stir well. Cook at very low temperatures for

What's in a Name Of a Cut of Meat

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Just what does the modern slogan "the consumer's right to know" have to do with the buying of meat?

For one example, there are more than a thousand retail names for cuts of meat. Yet there are basically only eight wholesale cuts from the meat animal. This means that many different names refer to exactly the same retail cut.

"Surely, this incredible array of fancy names lowers the confidence of the average shopper. It is devastatingly confusing. But today the meat industry is being seriously challenged to simplify meat cut identification. Consumers are demanding it," says David H. Stroud, president of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

"It is just common sense—not only from the consumer's standpoint, but also from the industry's—that we develop a common national system of names for retail cuts. Then a man or woman could go into any store anywhere in the country and get exactly what he or she wants by simply asking for it by the generally accepted name," says Stroud.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board is active in this campaign for national terms of identification.

Massachusetts has a new law this year. It requires butchers to state the basic meat, beef, lamb or pork, and the primal cut, such as chuck, round, loin, etc. After these have been stated, the butcher can add his own designation within reason.

Many names such as "daisy roast" have an almost traditional reality to Massachusetts people, for example.

Connecticut is thinking about such a law. New York state put its new law into effect in July.

Before the New York state law was passed, names of meat cuts had been acquired by usage, caprice, merchandising zeal and mere chance. The new law is designed to help consumers shop with confidence. It gives specific definitions for many different cuts.

For example, "T-bone steak" means meat that comes from the short loin of cattle and has not less than one-half inch diameter of tenderloin muscle. "Porterhouse steak" also comes from short loin but has not less than 1 1/4 inches in diameter of tenderloin muscle.

According to the new New York state law, no one can sell packaged meat unless the label clearly states the "true name" of that cut. The "true name" has two parts:

one identifies the species of animal, such as beef or lamb. The other part tells the primal area or the section of the animal from which the cut came—such as tongue, heart, shoulder, brisket round, flank, etc. Only one of these primal areas may be listed on the meat label.

A name in addition to the true name "may be used as long as it approximately describes the cut or the use or the cooking method." But any additional names cannot be false or confusing.

Cream Shadow. Cream eye shadow is best for those with dry complexions. Powder tends to cake and crack particularly on dry eye lids. And cream shadow will not hurt delicate tissues on the lid.

Deviled Ham and Egg Sandwiches

Cake with Vanilla Frosting Beverage

VANILLA FROSTING

Good way to use an extra egg yolk.

- 1/4 cup butter
 - 2 cups (about) sifted confectioners' sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 egg yolk
 - 3 tablespoons cream or milk
- In a medium mixing bowl beat butter with 1/2 cup of the sugar. Add salt, vanilla, egg yolk, cream and 1 cup of the sugar; beat thoroughly. Beat in remaining 1/2 cup sugar or enough to make good spreading consistency. Use to frost top and sides of a cake baked in a square pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches).

FINGER SALAD PICKUPS

When eating outdoors, it's easier and more fun to have "finger salad pickups" than a tossed or gelatin salad. They are novel and nutritious. Cherry tomatoes are as full of Vitamin A and C as regular tomatoes and more fun to eat as finger food. Fresh strawberries can easily take the place of a fruit salad bowl and still supply lots of Vitamin C. Many finger foods can even add to the protein for the day. Try stuffing celery stalks with peanut butter or colorful cheese spreads, or boil eggs and serve cold with seasoned salt.

Want a pretty garnish for salad or sandwiches? Cut small sweet gherkins in thin lengthwise slices from tip almost to end and spread the slices apart like a fan.

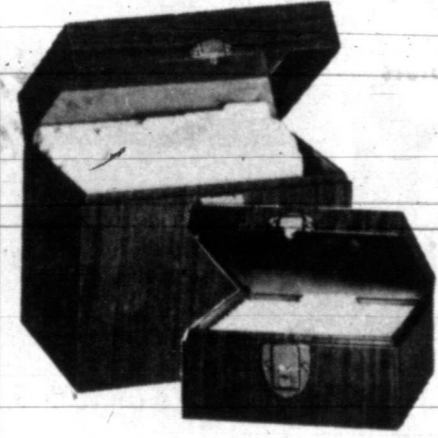

Pasteurized milk allowed to stand without refrigeration is likely to develop undesirable off-flavors instead of a clean sour flavor. When a recipe calls for sour milk, it's best to use buttermilk.

Democrats In Childress Set Rally

CHILDRESS (Sp.)-Democrats of Childress County are making final plans for what they expect to be the largest political gathering in the Northwest Texas and Panhandle area this year. On Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 6 p.m. they will kick off their Second Biennial Old Fashioned Political Rally and Chili Supper at the City Auditorium in Childress. Tickets are on sale from all area Democratic County chairmen at only $1 each. In 1970, with virtually every candidate on the ballot in attendance, including Senator Lloyd Benson, Gov. Preston Smith and Congressman Graham Purcell, over 2,000 persons ate chili and enjoyed the old-fashioned political rally. Virtually all state-wide candidates and area and local candidates are expected to attend. There is even the possibility of one of the national candidates attending. It would be the first time a national candidate has come to Childress since Franklin D. Roosevelt made a whistle stop here during the 1930s. Governor Smith issued a proclamation declaring the week Chili Week in Texas. "The Deerslayer" was the last of James Fenimore Cooper's "The Leather-Stocking Tales" to be published, in 1841.

VFW Ladies Auxiliary Here To Hold 'Buddy Poppy Sale'

The Ladies Auxiliary to Pampa Post Veterans of Foreign Wars, will conduct its annual 'Buddy Poppy Sale' Friday and Saturday. The VFW has conducted an annual 'nationwide poppy sale' since May 1924. It is now a tradition, setting a time of remembrance, of the obligation, we owe departed comrades and their dependents, a symbolic way of saying, we have not forgotten. Mrs. Georgie Mack, president announced, revenue from the sale is used to assist veterans and their families; to provide funds for the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo and for the National Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich.; for the children and widows of deceased veterans; and for emergency and disaster programs.

Free Cut Of Long Hair 'Offered' At Pecos Jail

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — If you're a longhair and you land in Reeves County jail here, you're guaranteed a free haircut. By law officers. Prompt service. No waiting.

"We run a jail like any other in Texas; no better, no worse," says Sheriff A. B. Nail, who has represented the Law West of the Pecos, at least so far as Reeves County is concerned, for the past 16 years.

"We cut their hair because that's the jail rule," the sheriff told one recent visitor. "We shave their beard if they have one and we make them take a shower—all for sanitary reasons."

"You know, hippies with lice are not uncommon," he added as an apparent afterthought.

Asked about the reputation his deputies have gained for being unduly tough on males with long hair, who can get picked up for hitchhiking or even walking on the wrong side of the highway, Sheriff Nail said:

"Eighty-five per cent of the people in this jail are—were—longhairs. That indicates to me that practically all thugs wear long hair. It's a kind of badge."

BOYLE COLUMN

New Kind Of Education

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Most adults smugly feel that the education they got is better than the one their children are getting.

Since most of them have forgotten three-fourths of what they learned in school, that would be hard to prove.

But if the purpose of education is to prepare the student for life as it is, then all present educational systems should be scrapped and a new start made.

Here are suggested changes for such a program from a man somewhat disillusioned to find that the formal learning he received hardly qualified him to cope with the problems in living he ran up against later:

Except for students intending to specialize in certain fields, all advanced courses in science, mathematics, art, music, rug weaving and square dancing would be dropped.

So would all ancient or modern foreign languages. The only language studied would be the English language or, rather, the American version of it.

This would be divided into two branches: (A), the writing and understanding of useful English, and (B), the writing and their clothes. It's the type of dress that pushers use. So there might be a tendency for my deputies to be suspicious, though certainly they don't put 'em in jail just for long hair."

The sheriff sat at his desk on the first floor of the county courthouse. Above his head was a blown-up photograph of a pretty, smiling girl in a western hat.

"My daughter Penny, aged 16," he said. "The sweetheart of the sheriff's posse."

Sheriff Nail denied that he is hard on the hitchhikers who pass through Pecos in a steady stream all summer, westward bound for New Mexico or California. In fact, he used to hitchhike himself, he said, riding the freight trains all over the country, "but that was back in the Depression and I didn't try to rob anyone."

Things are different now. Texas vagrancy laws have been declared unconstitutional but "there's a state law against hitchhiking and we apply it."

Hitchhikers picked up in Reeves County can expect it to cost them a $10 fine or two days in the jail, plus the loss of a head of hair.

and understanding of Government English. A special course in how to solve crossword puzzles and acrostics would be presented. The writing of poetry would be allowed but not encouraged, and no prizes given for it.

After mastering his ABC's, the student would have no further dealings with arithmetic except in these general courses: how to figure out grocery store prices, how to make a bank account balance, how to balance an unbalanced family budget, and how to fill out income tax returns—local, state and national.

After a basic course in psychology, each male student would spend eight years studying how to get along with a woman, each female student would spend eight years studying how to get along with a man.

Just for laughs, a course would be offered on "How to Be a Human Being in a Time When Most People Act More Like Antic Animals."

The graduate of such an educational system might not know very much, but he sure would be equipped for today's living. And isn't that what it's all about?

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

Bill wonders why baseball's immortal Gil Hodges died of a heart attack right after playing golf. For many people think golf is not a strenuous game. But it is 25 per cent more fatiguing than laying bricks! Scrapbook this case!

CASE V-522: Bill Z., aged 24, is a baseball player.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you probably recall that Gil Hodges died last Easter."

"He had a heart attack following a golf game."

"But he was only 47 years old! And next day our own former Governor Ellington, of Tennessee, also died of a heart attack while playing a round of golf with his friends."

"Yet he was only 64: Is golf that strenuous a sport?"

"Why, when President Eisenhower suffered a mild heart attack, the doctors allowed him to play golf during his convalescence!"

"So, Dr. Crane, what are the facts?"

STRENUOUS SPORTS
Obviously, golf is not as severe a strain on the heart as are tennis, track and several other sports.

But it involves more energy than many people suppose, even including occasional physicians!

For a golfer expends 25 per cent more energy than the average bricklayer.

Yet President Eisenhower was permitted to play golf while recuperating from a heart attack!

And you housewives also engage in more strenuous exercise than a bricklayer while ironing clothes or hanging wet laundry on the line!

Do you think I'm joking?

That table shows the "Calories per minute" that are demanded for various types of activity and are derived from Dr. E.E. Gordon's report in our magazine titled "Modern Medicine:"

Task	Cals.-Min.
Lying in bed	1.0
Seated, reading	1.2

Fast typewriting	1.8
Playing piano	2.5
Normal Walking	3.6
Making beds	3.9
Laying bricks	4.0
Ironing	4.2
Bowling	4.4
Hanging laundry	4.5
Playing golf	5.0
Dancing	5.5
Sawing lumber	6.8
Riding horse at trot	8.0
Playing Tennis	10.0

Heart attacks are usually linked with middle age and upward.

But many young people, even in the teens or twenties, also get them.

Floating tiny clots of blood may thus lodge in a coronary artery and plug it (coronary embolus).

Or the artery's walls may be thickened via tobacco and other irritants, until it is plugged (coronary thrombus).

Prevention consists chiefly of regular, athletic exercise in your youth to develop larger hearts with bigger coronary arteries.

Plus the avoidance of tobacco, obesity and probably cholesterol foods that may dam the blood vessels via fatty deposits.

During an attack, the only effective remedy is oxygen! And quickly!

So breathe fast and deeply, for the air contains 20-per cent oxygen.

You can thus help your hampered heart IMMEDIATELY with the air's oxygen, without waiting 30 minutes for an ambulance and bottled oxygen!

So send for my booklet "How to Break the Tobacco and Liquor Habits," enclosing a long, stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Alcohol also fools heart patients by deadening the pain, so they then tend to exert their wounded heart unduly, hence, a coronary attack!

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Mellott, Indiana 47958, enclosing a long, stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

You don't have to be an old-fashioned girl to love this old-fashioned shawl, just as lovely now as it was 77 years ago in an 1895 fashion journal. Updated directions for this crocheted fringed square, a genuine replica of the one in Grandma's day, are available through your local paper.

Old-Fashioned Shawl

By JUDY LOVE

The good old days had a lot going for them—including what you could get for your money. For instance, I discovered an old magazine in an antique shop, dated March 1895. For 15 cents, you could get a fat little book filled with advice on fashions of the day (complete mourning costume, calling costumes, bonnets, Mother Hubbard wrapper—marvelous, i.e., uncomfortable things to wear).

The magazine also had advice to mothers about their sons. "The mother who has seen much of the world will warn her son of the pitfalls and allurements which will be set to entrap him."

One of the most fascinating offerings in this 77-year-old magazine was a set of directions to crochet a shawl. We followed the instructions, and are delighted to share the pleasure of this pretty shawl with you needleworkers.

It's a truly delightful, feminine shoulder-shrug, with a lovely old-fashioned look that's charmingly new. The work is begun at the center, and the mesh pattern increases in size as the shawl increases. The completed shawl is marvelously large and swiny—it measures 32 x 32, excluding the fringe. Because of its soft, open pattern, it creates a look of opulence and luxury.

The old-fashioned directions have been updated for you by Coats and Clark, and the revised instructions can be worked in Red Heart Knitting Worsted. You'll need 20 ounces of the yarn, to be worked with a size H crochet hook.

We had it worked in white, which can be worn with many different outfits, from casuals to very dressy fashions. Wear it in a triangle, as shown, or fold in half and toss over your shoulders for a different kind of cover-up. Two sides have a long, flowing seven-inch fringe. The original directions suggest that "shawls of this description may be made of two colors."

POLLY'S POINTERS

Sweaters Come Through In the Stretch

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. H. G. F. who has trouble with her Orlon ski sweaters stretching should put them in a bag (a pillowcase will do) and wash in the washing machine in cool water and then dry in a cool dryer. I take them out while still damp, pat into shape and let them dry flat.—MRS. R. B.

DEAR POLLY—To be sure that Orlon sweaters do not stretch, Mrs. H. G. F. should always be sure they are THOROUGHLY dry. Wash in the machine, toss in the dryer but do make sure they are absolutely dry before removing. I find they stretch if just a wee bit damp. Above all wash and dry according to the manufacturer's instructions but always make sure a sweater is bone dry before wearing it.—LAVERNE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I have a "mother-in-law tongue" plant that blooms. My mother-in-law has one but hers has never bloomed nor has any other I have seen. I wish someone would enlighten me as to whether or not this is a usual thing or if I have a freak or extraordinary plant. Hope someone can satisfy my curiosity.—MRS. P. R. H.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with manufacturers and dressmakers who put tiny fasteners at the back neck-line of dresses instead of having the zippers go all the way to the top. Those who live alone and have no one to fasten them often have to change to another dress when they cannot reach the fastener. It is either that or go out feeling half-dressed and having to remember to ask a friend to do it before making an entrance at a party or some other place.—FLOSSIE

DEAR POLLY—I have found that it is possible to remove water marks from wood furniture by rubbing the spot with a piece of felt that has been dipped in dark staining furniture polish. (Polly's note—The kind I use is labeled "Scratch removing polish" and looks almost like iodine.) If the whiteness does not disappear after several minutes of firm rubbing with this, apply the polish with the finest steel wool Rub very gently and with the grain of the wood. Our mahogany piano had such a spot and this is what the piano tuner recommended for it. I hope you like my hint as much as I liked so many of yours that have benefited me so frequently.—SANDRA

DEAR POLLY—When making some long play pants I had no elastic for the waist on hand so I used the elastic top from an old pair of panty hose. This band was already the correct size and worked perfectly. As this elastic is not so strong it is more comfortable and stretchable than what I would have bought. Also a good idea when sewing for children.—ZULA

Does honesty pay?
Readers write in

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: The woman who wondered whether she was "Honest or Stupid" for returning that which she had found, was obviously disgruntled because no rewards were offered.

If one expects to be rewarded for honesty, it means that honesty today is a rarity, and I don't believe it.

A number of years ago I was stranded in Durham, N. C., after having lost my wallet. A Negro bellhop paid my hotel bill plus breakfast, and when I obtained cash by wire to send me on my way, I left a repayment plus a reward for his kindness to me.

When I returned home I found a letter with the reward money returned to me from the bellhop, stating there was no price on his friendship to man. I was deeply moved by his action and shall never forget it. By the way, I am white, which made no difference to my black humanitarian friend.
H. A. L., PANORAMA CITY, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: You gave a good answer to the woman who asked "Does it pay to be honest?" ["Honesty pays in the currency of honor and self respect."]

May I add a postscript? In determining what is right, I find it is helpful to consider the alternative.

With regard to the abovementioned situation, the alternative would have been to keep the items she found instead of returning them to their rightful owners, rationalizing, "I probably won't even get a 'thank you.'"

This type of rationalization would surely create nagging guilt feelings which would be harder to live with than the resentment of unexpressed gratitude on the part of the owners.

Again and again I have found that considering the alternative has made the immediate unpleasantness much easier to bear, and helped in making the right decision.

THE REVEREND C. W. KIRKPATRICK
LUDLOW, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "Honest or Stupid," I wish to relate an experience I had some years ago in Philadelphia:

While shopping on my lunch-hour in the five and ten cent store, I noticed a woman's large pocketbook setting on the counter. It was a shabby bag of expensive quality. I looked around to see if anyone appeared to be looking for it, and since no one was, I looked inside for the owner's identification. I felt so guilty searching a stranger's purse you'd have thought I had stolen it.

There was a wallet bulging with several hundreds of dollars—maybe more. I was too nervous to count it. Also, a large bunch of keys, and several credit cards, bearing the owner's name and address.

I felt so conspicuous, and half fearful that I would be approached and accused of stealing it, I rushed immediately to the Lost and Found Department and turned it in, leaving my name and address.

Several days later I received a nice note and a lovely handkerchief supposedly from the "owner" of the purse. She mentioned that altho she had only "a few dollars" in her wallet, she was grateful to have had her keys and credit cards returned!

I quickly realized that her purse had not been returned intact. Most of the money had been removed. Imagine how I felt!

I learned a lesson then and there. If I ever found anything again, I would NOT turn it in. I would leave MY name and address at the Lost and Found, with instructions to have the owner contact ME. That way I'd be sure of its safe return.
REALLY STUPID

DEAR ABBY: Concerning rewards for being honest: I was raised on a farm in Indiana by a father who didn't spare the rod, and I thank God for him every day of my life. When other kids were being rewarded for being "good," my father used to say, "It's not what you'll get if you're GOOD, it's what you'll get if you're NOT GOOD you ought to worry about."
84-YEAR-OLD HOOSIER

Want to Make a Dress of Lace? Of Course You Can!

(Twelfth in a Series.)

By Mabel S. Obenchain

Are you going to be a "member of a wedding"? A dress of lace, that beautiful and feminine fabric is the answer. Lace fabrics come in heavy weights of cotton and blends, in delicate spidery weights of silk and synthetics. It is in widths from 36 inches to 48 inches.

Choose simple straight line patterns to make up in lace. Choose styles without buttonholes and with few seams so that the lace design is not too cut up. Simple, tailored designs are suitable for the heavy cotton laces; for the finer laces choose a style with soft fullness. When there is a repeat pattern in the lace fabric, allow extra yardage for matching.

If you use a lace with a finished edge, be careful in selecting your pattern. Plan the border which is usually scalloped to be at the hem edge of the skirt which should have a straight hemline and a straight side seam. Circular or flared skirts are not the right choice for a finished edge lace; and patterns with center seams should also be avoided.

With the exception of some garments of heavy, firm lace, almost all lace garments, because of their open construction, need backing or lining or a suitable undergarment. Backing is made from a transparent (net), very sheer (marquisette, organza, organdy), or opaque fabrics (taffeta, peau de soie, polished cotton). Choose washable fabrics for washable laces.

Check the design of lace before cutting. If it consists of regular repeats, match the designs at seams, as for stripes or plaids. When placing pattern pieces, check to see that the designs are symmetrical on corresponding parts of garments, as for large prints. When matching designs at seams, use slip basting.

Use general mercerized thread for cotton lace. On very fine black or white lace, use fine 70 to 100 thread. Set your machine stitch 10 to 12 stitches to the inch for heavier lace and 12 to 14 for sheer lace.

Press lace, using heat according to fiber content.

When pressing heavy lace, cover ironing board with terry cloth and press on wrong side.

When stitching on very sheer lace, cut strips of tissue paper about 1 1/2 inches wide and place underneath layers to keep lace from catching in feed dog of sewing machine. After stitching, the tissue may be pulled away.

A standard 3/8-inch seam may be used; press open lightly and catch-stitch edges invisibly against the garment. Or you can stitch on the indicated seam line, then again 1/4-inch beyond the seam line. Trim close to the second stitch and press lightly.

For hems, in an unlined garment, turn hem seam under 1/4-inch and machine-stitch, turn up to desired length and slip-stitch.

Buttonholes should be avoided on lace. Hooks and eyes or tiny buttons and thread loops are preferable. Machine-made buttonholes can be made on backed garments.

Where to Take the Opener?

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another Jeff Rubens problem. You find yourself in an inferior six-diamond contract. Inferior because six no-trump depends on picking up the queen of hearts. At six diamonds you also must worry about a potential diamond loser.

Rubens' explanation of how you reached six diamonds instead of either three or six no-trump is that your partner misbid. That is as good an explanation as any so we accept it.

The Rubens' problem is: How do you plan the play?

The answer is that you win the club lead in dummy and lead a trump toward your hand.

Why do you do this?

Your only worry is that the trumps may break 4-1. If they do and West has four to the jack-nine, you will have to lose a trump trick. If East has four to the jack-nine, you can find out about it with two trump leads and finesse against East.

If you win the club in your hand and lay down the ace, a smart East may drop the nine to give you the option of playing the king next on the theory that West started with jack-5-4-2.

If you lead the first diamond from dummy, East is much less likely to make that nine-spot play. If he does you pay off to him.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20
Aries [March 21-April 19]: Yesterday's deeds and lapses linger to confuse today's efforts. Distraction is dangerous when you handle tools—concentrate.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Imagination comes alive—keep notes for later reference as you proceed with routines. Strangers are not to be trusted.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Where it may seem you are getting your point across, to others it may seem that you are hindering people you need to please.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: You have a chance to be helpful by making introductions. Personal affairs get in the way of formal duties despite all efforts.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Letting well enough alone is difficult today, so is just staying put where you have the best chance of creative expression.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Because of your precise planning you prevail when others lose. Most people have contrary opinions. You know what to believe.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Apparent indifference to your needs is probable. Your pride goes in your pocket as you settle for the best arrangements.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Details can be misleading. Set aside a percentage of any income for savings. Responding to emotional provocation is an error.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Conflicts are rampant. You have a choice of which you will involve yourself, or you can stay out of them altogether.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Discontent breeds further difficulties, so just simmer down and quietly persist trying to get what you really want.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Formal announcements may be in order, perhaps vindicating some of your pet theories. Read contracts before signing!

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: You can be talked into many risk moves. Social doings turn out more expensive than anybody had thought.

Big Property Tax Reduction Said Possible Through Assessment Practice Reform

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer
In the first half of 1969 two men bought houses in the northwest section of Atlanta, one for $30,500 and one for $30,000.

In 1970, the house purchased for $30,500 was assessed for property tax purposes at $3,360. The house purchased for $30,000 was assessed at $7,570.

At the current tax rate of $62.55 per $1,000 of assessed value and with a $2,000 homestead exemption for each, the man with the $30,500 house had a tax bill of $85.06 while the man with the $30,000 house had a tax bill of $348.40.

The law says that, based on the sales prices, one house should have been assessed at $12,200 and the other at $12,000 and the tax bills should have been $638.00 and $625.50.

This example of inequity in the assessment of property taxes comes from a study by the Atlanta Urban League, but almost everyone knows of similar examples in their locale.

The people who make a profession of studying the property tax think that some taxpayers might get the largest real reductions in their taxes through reform of assessment practices, which one tax expert says are not as good in some parts of this country as those used 2,000 years ago under Caesar Augustus.

How can you tell if assessment reform is going to raise or lower your own property tax bill?

You can go to your local assessor's office and ask to see the assessments for your neighborhood and compare yours with others for property you consider to be of similar value.

Some reformers suggest that this data be published annually in publications of general circulation to make this comparison easier.

If after looking at the records you decide you are overassessed, you can usually file an appeal. But most citizens don't know what is required to win a reassessment.

Arlington County, Va., does what many reformers think every locale should do. It sends a notice with the tax bill that the taxpayer has 30 days in which to appeal and tells him where to do it.

Proving your case becomes more complicated; the procedure varies from place to place. Reformers want appeals procedures everywhere to allow the taxpayer to use studies of the prevailing ratio of assessments to sales prices in their area. A number of courts have ruled ratio studies are valid evidence in such cases.

Getting a study of the prevailing ratio of assessment to sale price in your area isn't always easy. For one thing, you can't usually count on the ratio fixed by law, because that often is not followed in practice. The reformers want state governments to make such studies in very tax jurisdiction in their states and publicize the results annually, again in an easily accessible place.

So if you learn from the state study that your town's average assessment is 40 per cent of market value and your assessment is 60 per cent of your home's market value, you can take that evidence to a review board and win a reduction.

Another major reform proposal, taken from the theories of 19th century American political economist Henry George, is taxing only land and not buildings or at least taxing land more heavily and buildings less heavily than at present. The usual technical name for this is a "site value tax."

The National Commission on Urban Problems estimated that land makes up on the average about 40 per cent of buildings about 60 per cent of the market value of property. But nationally the property tax is levied at about 23 per cent on land and 77 per cent on buildings.

Many see landlords' fears of a higher assessment as a barrier to their improving their properties, particularly in low-income urban areas.

Further, proponents argue that higher taxes on land will prevent speculators from sitting on undeveloped land waiting for a windfall profit when its value rises.

And this assessment reform can mean tax cuts for homeowners. In Southfield, Mich., a Detroit suburb, land taxes were sharply increased in 1963 and the average tax bill of the homeowner was reduced by 22 per cent, according to Ted Dwartney, the assessor there at the time. This is because the new tax base was larger even though the taxes on buildings were reduced.

In Arlington County, Va., a heavier tax on land helped produce a striking example of urban renewal without federal subsidies, because it forced landowners to put up buildings which produced more revenue so their investment would remain profitable. In the Rosslyn section, just across the Potomac from Washington, a 100-acre area of petty commercial, industrial facilities and slum housing was turned into a high-rise office building, apartment and hotel district after some land assessments were raised by 40 per cent in the 1950s and 1960.

One five-acre commercial property had its assessed value increased from $15,000 to $975,000 in 1950. Twenty acres of vacant residential land were increased to $2,500 per acre and the owners protested at first but then sold the land a few weeks later for $5,250 per acre.

The assessor, Fred A. Gosnell Sr., a prominent real estate appraiser, managed to quiet many of the protests over higher land assessments by taking out his checkbook and saying, "Will you sell it for that?"

Harvesters Get Ready For Caprock Longhorns

Pampa takes on Caprock in Harvester Stadium tomorrow night in the district opener for each squad. It will be the 10th meeting of the two teams. The Harvesters have the edge in the series, winning six of the previous nine games, including the last three in a row. Caprock came into the old District 3-AAAA in 1963. That year Pampa won the game 14-7. Besides the victories in that game and the last three, 1969-70-71, the Harvesters won in 1964 and 1966. Caprocks wins came in 1965-67-68. The Longhorns won the '67 game 14-0 over a Pampa team that went 0-10. That season was the nadir of Pampa football fortunes. Only one other time, since records have been kept in 1960, had Pampa gone through an entire season without at least one win. Pampa goes into the game with a 3-2 season record, having beaten Dumas, Perryton and Canyon, while sustaining losses at the hands of two very good teams, Hereford and Carlsbad, N.M. Caprock enters the contest with a 4-1 mark, the best in District 3-AAAA. The Longhorns have defeated Odessa Ector, El Paso Andress, Canyon and Lubbock High, while losing to Perryton. Based on common opponents, the Harvesters should be favored in the game. Pampa defeated Canyon and Perryton handily, while Caprock was held to only three first downs the entire game in the loss to Perryton. However, Pampa has been picked to be the upset victim of Caprock by at least one source, the Harris poll. This morning's Amarillo Daily News carried that information in its weekly Harris Poll rundown. The Harvesters were to go through their usual Thursday light work-out today in preparation for the contest tomorrow night. One shift in the line-up for the Harvesters was announced last week. Coach "Buddy" Williams moved sophomore Howie Lewis up to the varsity where he was sharing duties at split-end with Rick Smith. Tomorrow night's game gets underway at 7:30.

West Texas State Gets Set To Tackle Huskies

CANYON—West Texas State University's Buffaloes, fresh from a record-breaking offensive effort against New Mexico State University, will tackle the Northern Illinois Huskies at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The Buffaloes rushed for 578 yards in the 63-14 victory over New Mexico State and that total is a new Missouri Valley Conference single game record, bettering the old mark of 534 set by Tulsa against Kansas State in 1951. Three Buffalo backs—Cole Fraley, Billy Pritchett and Rick Schleider—exceeded 100 yards in rushing. Fraley had 162, Schleider 145 and Pritchett 139. In Northern Illinois, the Buffaloes will be facing the biggest team they have met this season. The Huskie front defensive four averages 250 pounds per man. Northern Illinois, which has a 3-3 season record, features the power running of 230-pound junior Mark Keller. He has 683 yards and has scored six touchdowns. Tailback Jerry Latin is next with 393 yards and two touchdowns. To match that, the Buffaloes have three running backs with at least 300 yards. Fraley leads the team with a total of 455 yards and Jimmy Lisle has 300. The Huskies hold a big edge over the Buffaloes in passing.

Houston Gives Up On Duane Thomas

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers apparently have given up the idea of getting running back Duane Thomas to breathe some life into their wheezing offense. Tuesday's brief visit to Houston by Thomas created a lot of fury but signified nothing. "That was an exploratory thing and that's where it ended," Oilers Coach Bill Peterson said of Thomas' visit. "I'm going to explore everything possible to bring a winner to the Houston Oilers and that was an exploratory thing that's all over," he said Wednesday. Oilers General Manager John Breen said the Chargers were just asking too much for the controversial Thomas, who has not signed a contract with San Diego. He was traded to the Chargers by the Dallas Cowboys before the season started. "We couldn't get together with San Diego over what we would give them," Breen said. "They were just asking too much." Besides the number one pick there were other ramifications, not money but either players or more draft choices," Breen said. As far as I'm concerned the whole thing is dropped. Peterson said the Oilers got permission from San Diego to talk with Thomas by telephone but San Diego Coach Harland Svare didn't want any contract negotiations. "Svare was on the phone the next morning (Tuesday) saying that he really wanted him (Thomas) to play in San Diego and didn't want us to talk any negotiations, that might jeopardize their chances to sign him," Peterson said.

Shockers, Jr. Highs Play Today

Pampa's Shockers open a four game series with Amarillo's high schools when they host Palo Duro tonight at 7:00 on Harvester Field. The Shockers are seeking to come back from a 26-22 defeat at the hands of Borger last week. The loss to the Borger team was the only one the Shockers have suffered this year. After tonight's game the Shockers will play consecutively, Amarillo, Tascosa and Caprock to finish out their season. In other action the Lee ninth grade plays Dumas here on Lee Field while the eighth grade Razorbacks and Wolverines tangle with each other on the Shocker field. Pampa Junior High's ninth grade Reapers host Borger White on Harvester Field and the eighth grade travels to Borger to play Borger North. All of the junior high games are set for a 4 p.m. kickoff.

Meeting Scheduled

The Top O' Texas Ski Club meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank and Trust Co. for its first meeting of the season. The election of club officers and a demonstration of ski equipment are on the agenda for the meeting.

The Education of Vida Blue

By IRA BERKOW NEA Sports Editor OAKLAND — (NEA) — Vida Blue is an embattled example of how times and people change. "Once," said Blue, the 23-year-old Oakland A's pitcher, "a young man would run through a wall for a boss. Now young people will run through the wall only if it's soft enough. Otherwise they'll run up to it and stop. Young people today don't willingly accept orders unless they know the whys, the whos and the insides. And I'm part of the times. I've changed with the times." Just last year, to demonstrate vicissitude, Blue could hum that pea, as they say. But this year, as he says, "After I got in condition I'd do everything the same as last season, same strong push off the mound, same good snap of the wrist, same low followthrough—and oops, the ball poops out of my hand. I have no idea why." Thus, the physical (a 6-10 won-lost pitching record in 1972 after a 24-8, Most Valuable Player, Cy Young Award 1971 season) and the philosophical (nouveau youth power) may have mixed like a bad witch's brew for Blue. As everyone who has not been fettered in a cave knows, Blue was a holdout this spring until a month into the season. When he finally showed up for work, the magic of 1971, his first full big-league season, had vanished. Meanwhile, had the education of Vida Blue Jr., from Mansfield, La., continued rapidly and sadly. Blue found that Charles O. Finley, A's owner, an establishment figure to him, could be as stubborn as Charley O., the mule which is the team mascot. Because of the hoary reserve clause, Finley could keep Blue from playing major league ball unless he signed Finley's contract. Blue found that Dick Williams, the mustachioed and cold-eyed manager, need not be civil enough to discuss pitching changes that involved him. "I was upset because I wanted to be treated like a free man," said Blue. "Older people criticize young people for demanding their freedom. They want young people to simply accept. But youth today are different from youth of yesterday. Why, just a few years ago 18-year-olds couldn't vote. Now they can. Young people have worked hard for these changes." Blue found that losing—once a word so foreign to him it might have been Sanskrit—changed not only him but some people around him. "Coming to the park was no longer much fun," he said. Blue grew cynical after his quick catapult to fame. "Watch out for the backstabbers," he warns. The glad-handers disappeared with his victories. Blue also had problems with some teammates who resented his holdout (fearful they might miss playoff and series swag without his mighty wing); some were chagrined by certain attitudes (Reggie Jackson, for example, tried to befriend Vida during the holdout but met with a nervous coolness). And after the final playoff victory over Detroit, Blue attempted a joke to teammate Blue Moon Odom which was construed as a slam. Odom nearly socked him. Blue made other wobbly

SPORTS PAGE Houston Favored

DALLAS (AP) — The University of Houston was a solid favorite today in the second annual Southwest Conference Match Play Tournament, marking the first time new member Houston has competed in a conference event. The pullout of Texas' golden boy Ben Crenshaw to participate in the World Cup amateur competition in Buenos Aires, Argentina, gave the Cougars a slight edge over the defending NCAA champions. Texas has won two straight national titles. Houston took the crown 12 of the previous 14 years.

Basketball Roundup

By Associated Press Billy Cunningham had some traveling over the summer from Pennsylvania to North Carolina but all indications are the distance didn't effect him one bit. Cunningham, who left Philadelphia of the National Basketball Association to join Carolina of the American Basketball Association, showed Wednesday night he's still the same old player who is "great" in capital letters. The rangy forward led the undefeated Cougars back from a 20-point deficit to beat the Kentucky Colonels 105-100. In the fourth quarter he scored 17

Baseball OAKLAND—Right hander Jack Billingham, with sixth inning relief from Clay Carroll, stifled Oakland on three hits as the Cincinnati Reds blanked the Athletics 1-0 to cut the A's World Series lead to two victories to one. Tennis BARCELONA, Spain—Stan Smith of Sea Island, S.C., topped Jose Garro of Spain 6-2, 6-2, to move into the Spanish International Championship quarter-finals.

Area Football Roundup

In area football action this week Pampa takes on Caprock here. Borger goes to Amarillo tomorrow night and Palo Duro and Tascosa play in Amarillo Saturday night. The Wheeler Mustangs bid to make it three in a row as they travel to Valley High tomorrow night. The Mustangs beat Wellington 29-20 last week. White Deer comes off an open date last week and will host Sunray at Buck Stadium tomorrow night. The Bucks started slow, losing their first three games before winning in their last two outings. White Deer is 2-3 on the year having beaten Lefors and Phillips. McLean will be trying to get back on the winning path after having lost to Memphis 41-0 last week. The Tigers host Claude tomorrow night. Canadian is coming off a big victory over Shamrock last Friday, 36-15, and will try to make it four wins in a row as they take on Stinnett in Canadian. The Wildcats are ranked 5th in the state in Class A in the Harris poll. Lefors and Groom are both idle this week.

Cincinnati Beats A's, Makes Comeback Bid

OAKLAND (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds and Oakland A's entered the "Twilight zone" again tonight for the fourth game of the 1972 World Series. And because of it, both teams looked forward to another low-scoring game following Cincinnati's 1-0 triumph Wednesday night that cut Oakland's series lead to 2-1. "The twilight made the difference for me," said winning pitcher Jack Billingham after gaining the victory with ninth-inning help from Clay Carroll. "You'll see another good one tonight with Don Gullett pitching," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. "Maybe the rest will be one-run games too," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams.

The first two games of the best-of-7 series were played in Cincinnati last weekend, but the 3-2 and 2-1 Oakland successes were fashioned without any assistance from nature. When the Series switched to the Oakland Coliseum this week, the starting time for the contest in California was 5:30 p.m. That's the worst time for a hitter because of the fast-fading light. Cincinnati slugger Johnny Bench, who went 0-for-4 Wednesday night and struck out three times, had been apprehensive about the conditions. "I hate to hit in the twilight in Oakland," he had said. But while it hurt the major leagues' top home run hitter, it also didn't do too much for the Oakland team. "I don't usually strike out that many batters," said Billingham, who fanned seven Athletics. "The twilight no doubt helped me." There was no twilight, however, when Billingham tired in the ninth. The journeyman right-hander, who gave up three hits through eight innings, started the ninth by throwing three straight balls to Mike Epstein while the crowd of 49,401 at the Coliseum cheered. Anderson then decided that Billingham had gone far enough. Carroll then came in to preserve that shaky lead by getting Epstein on a bounce, Sal Bando on a soft line drive and George Hendrick on an easy hit to the mound. While he was in, Billingham, a right-hander with an unspectacular .500 lifetime record, was a superman as far as Oakland was concerned. He fed the A's a steady diet of sinker balls and allowed only three flies during his tenure. The only hits that he gave up were a bunt single by Joe Rudi in the fourth and infield hits by Dick Green in the fifth and pinch-hitter Gonzalo Marquez in the seventh. His only jam came in the sixth inning, when the A's had men on first and third with none out and the bases loaded with one man gone. John, "Blue Moon" Odom was equally good for Oakland, striking out 11 before running into trouble in the seventh inning, when the Reds scored the game's only run. Tony Perez singled and was Dennis Menke. Cesar Geronimo, hitless in his first nine World Series appearances, then placed a single to center field. Perez barreled around third, slipped and fell on a field made soggy by 10 straight days of rain. But he picked himself up and scored the winning run when Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris made no relay throw.

Washington Donates Shoes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins of the National Football League donated 100 pairs of used football shoes and some shoulder pads to the Collidge High School football team Wednesday. The gift came after a Washington newspaper told how the high school team was using dilapidated and broken equipment. It was instigated by wide receiver Charley Taylor.

NBA

13—Golden State Warriors NBA—Pacific Division

1971-72 finish: W 51, L 31—2nd place PROSPECTUS: Al Attles worked wonders with the Warriors, coaxing, encouraging, threatening his boys to the best record of any Warrior team, including the great old Philly clubs. Two big trades made them potentially strong and Attles got top mileage from them. Milwaukee's clearcut play-off romp did little to detract from a fine season. But this summer, after a federal judge awarded Rick Barry to the Warriors, he refused to report. With no great rookies in camp, and a new play-off format, Attles will be hard-pressed to beat out young Seattle for second place. FORWARDS: Cazzie Russell an All-Star? It came true in '72. He fired up the club with sizzling streak shooting and all-out hustle. Playing every night he averaged 21.4 ppg and was happier than on Knicker's bench. Clyde Lee (8.1) at other forward is demon rebounder (1,132 caroms) and tough to score against. God forward depth comes from Joe Ellis, vastly underrated defensively and crucial at times for clutch shots. Bob Portman (3.8) deteriorated, while one-time starter Bill Turner (2.9) will strictly be around for spot duty. Even without Barry it's strong and creditable front line. Rating: B. CENTER: Nate Thurmond is NBA's most underrated player. Period. Abdul-Jabbar hates playing him. So does Chamberlain. Note (The Great) clogs middle under tough pressure, refuses to give good shots, rebounds with best and still averaged 21.4 inside and outside. Backup Vic Bartolome is lucky to be around to watch Thurmond. Rating: A. GUARDS: Jeff Mullins (21.5) led club in scoring. A coach's delight. Fine shooter, plays with injuries, gives up ball, rebounds well for guard, even plays against small forwards in pinch. But Warriors' biggest surprise was Jim Barnett, a flaky 6-4, acquired from Portland. Attles helped him become a superb asset. He only averaged 12.4 ppg but many points were big ones. He clung to his man on defense, moved without ball, helped fast break and didn't foul out once. Ron (Fritz) Williams (9.7) came off bench to spell either starter. Nick Jones (3.3) a seldom-used sub. All four guards young. Thurmond's defense makes guards even better than separate talents suggest. Rating: B. PREDICTION: Without Barry the Lakers have too much depth, the Sonics too many young stars. Third in Pacific. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.) (Next: Los Angeles)

An Army substitute against Navy does not report to his designated official in a limited substitution situation. The illegal substitute punts the ball during the down from the Army 30-yard line. The official should: 1. Declare the ball dead at the Army 30-yard line and penalize Army 15 yards for a substitute touching a live ball. 2. Give Navy option of accepting the play or penalizing Army 5 yards from the previous spot for an illegal substitute. 3. Blow whistle before the snap and penalize Army for an illegal substitute. Answer: Number 2. Give Navy option of accepting the play or penalizing Army 5 yards from the previous spot for an illegal substitute. Rule: (3-5-2-a) No incoming substitute or replaced player shall be on the field while the ball is in play. Rule: (3-5-2-d) An incoming substitute must report to a designated official when substitutes are limited. UPSET CHOICE---

Major Likes Colorado Over Oklahoma; Picks Alabama, Arkansas in Big Ones

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Fearless Forecaster
Egad, friends, there are some stirring things in store for you football filberts this weekend—two big contests in the Big Eight, Oklahoma-Colorado and Nebraska-Kansas, the Alabama-Tennessee showdown in the Southeastern Conference and the Texas-Arkansas hoedown in the Southwest loop.

Jove, what a thrill it would be to witness all of those confrontations. But I shall have to settle for one and not wishing to slight any of those fine schools I shall not reveal my choice—um-kumph!

The biggest game of the day will bring the biggest surprise of the season as the Colorado Buffaloes defeat a mighty Oklahoma a stunning 28-22 defeat—kaff-kaff! My condolences to the Sooner fans but that's the way the Hoople System is calling it! In the other Big Eight battle the Nebraska Cornhuskers will vanquish valiant Kansas, 40-28.

Alabama rolling toward the Southeastern throne room will not be denied as it turns back a rugged band of Tennessee Volunteers, 27-22—har-rumph!

We were forced to push the Hoople Computers to the limit to come up with enough information to separate the fine Arkansas and Texas elevens. We—kaff-kaff—have narrowed it down to the margin of a field goal, 24-21, in favor of the Razorbacks over the Texas Longhorns!

The Air Force and Navy will tangle for the fifth time in their series and the Falcons figure to sink the Midies, 35-14. Meanwhile at Atlanta, Auburn will make Ramblin' Wrecks of Georgia Tech—heh-heh—as they defeat the Yellow Jackets, 26-21—kaff-kaff!

The Old Boy Himself

The Arizona State Sun Devils will continue their drive for the Western Athletic crown, blasting Brigham Young University 42-17. Remember, you read it first in the Hoople Forecast! Now go on with the forecast.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Congressional Pets

The reported devaluation of the dollar by raising the price of gold from $35 to $38 an ounce was nothing more than the recognition of a fact that already had occurred. The dollar actually had been devalued previously, the change in the price of gold being but a belated official ratification. The announcement of the change means that your dollars are worth at least 8 per cent less than they were sometime previously.

said that the treasury secretary now must pay these institutions enough additional tax dollars to make up the difference for the shrinkage in value. This shrinkage was computed at $1.594 billion.

This gift of tax funds to apparently foreign interests prompted Rep. H.R. Gross, (R-Iowa) to explain "It is hard to believe this legislation is brought here today for serious consideration because we are not going to do anything for the citizens of this country whose dollars were equally devalued and shrunk by the action that was taken the other day."

Isn't it strange that supposedly foreign interests and banks get better treatment from the U.S. government than U.S. inhabitants do? Favoritism legislation such as the public law involved here makes you wonder how it came to pass. A person would have to be exceedingly naive to suppose that the grant of special privilege is accidental.

Rights Of Parents

Recently 58,650 Englishmen signed a petition protesting bad language and sex on British television. The petition was brought to Parliament last December and calls on Parliament to take effective measures "to curtail excesses."

There is no society which does not have norms for good conduct. English parents, like those in other lands, attempt to train their children according to the basic norms of civility. Their protest is basically against the attempt of a small minority which exploits the media to attack parental standards of decency and civility. The petition of English parents shows that in a democracy there are legitimate and adequate means for defending parental rights, as well as those of their children. It also calls our attention to the fact that an undefended right will soon be lost.

Counterfeit Brotherhood

When brotherhood originates in the heart of the state instead of in the hearts of individual, it is counterfeit brotherhood. True brotherhood stems from the love one holds in his heart for this fellow man. Actions can perhaps be legislated — not love, not brotherhood.

The manner of giving shows the character of the giver more than the gift itself.—Johann Lavater, Swiss physiognomist.

When a thing is done, it's done. Don't look back. Look forward to your next objective.—Gen. George C. Marshall.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact was signed Aug. 27, 1928, by 62 nations who condemned the "recourse to war for the solution of international controversies," but did not reject defensive war. The World Almanac recalls. The pact was ineffective because it had no provision for enforcement.

U.S. Faces Energy Gap Problems

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Staff Writer
One of the best overviews of the much-warned-of energy crisis was presented recently by John L. McLean, chairman and chief executive officer of Continental Oil Co.

Discussing the nation's domestic energy gap and its implications for national policy before the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh, he predicted that by 1985, the United States may have to import approximately 40 to 55 per cent of its oil requirements from foreign sources, chiefly Middle East nations.

This is nearly four times as much as we currently import and could by the early 1980s, amount to a deficit in the U.S. balance of trade in fuels "in the $20 to $30 billion range."

The diplomatic and national security aspects of this whole situation demand a great deal of attention, he said, as does the impact on the world financial structure of as much as half a billion dollars flowing into the oil-producing countries between now and 1985.

Not only the United States but Western Europe and Japan will be heavily dependent upon the Middle East for their oil requirements. Russia, he says, will be the only major world power in the coming decade that will be self-sufficient in energy resources.

Nevertheless, McLean declares that the consumption of energy should be encouraged—provided it is used efficiently for socially desirable ends—because "it inevitably increases the overall efficiency of our economy."

He suggests a number of areas in which we could conserve energy without impairing economic growth. Some examples:

—About one-fifth of our energy is used for commercial and residential heating. Here significant savings could be made through better insulation.

—About one-fourth of our energy is used for transportation. Here significant savings could be made through the development of mass transportation and smaller and more efficient automotive engines.

—Another 25 per cent of our energy is used for the generation of electric power in processes which waste about 70 per cent of the energy input. Here significant savings could be made through the development of more efficient systems.

We will inevitably experience rising energy costs, says McLean, as the nation moves from a period of abundance to growing scarcity in energy materials, "but they can be absorbed in our economy without serious disruptive effects."

He notes that for the past decade, the real cost of energy in the United States has been declining. Today, we spend only 2.8 per cent of our national income for fuels, which give each man, woman and child in the country the energy equivalent of 1,350 full-time manual workers.

"Our most urgent problem," he asserts, "is one of adequacy and continuity of energy supplies, not one of energy costs."

To meet this problem, he calls for the establishment of a single, high-level government agency to develop a comprehensive national energy policy and to coordinate all the task of discovering and developing natural resources in the hands of private enterprises.

"Clearly," McLean sums up, "there is a wealth of opportunities for cooperative resources in the development of a sound framework of political relationships with the countries of the Middle East to promote stability and peace in that area."

Paul Harvey News The Story Of Policeman Who Was Bound, Gagged

By PAUL HARVEY

The father had beaten his own small son so cruelly, so viciously, that the boy subsequently died of his injuries.

But did you know that the policeman who intercepted that beating was himself summoned before a review board accused of using "intemperate and unbecoming" language during the arrest?

And it's possible that infraction of regulations could influence a court in favor of that father!

Let me tell you how it used to be before we bound and gagged our policemen.

In the early 1800s, the high constable of New York was named Jacob Hays. He is credited with the "Hays collar" for dealing with street brawlers.

The outnumbered policeman would use his night stick to knock off the troublemaker's hat. When the guy leaned down to retrieve his hat, the policeman would shove him forward face first so that his prostrate body became a momentary barrier to hold back other rioters.

Question Box

QUESTION: One of the more "liberal" publications has accused the Nixon administration of playing politics because three members of his cabinet have said they favor tax credits for tuition paid in private and parochial schools. That same publication has indicated it approves the tax credit allowed for political contributions. Which is more political?

ANSWER: It is rather difficult to determine which political action is more political than another. Obviously the passage of a law to allow persons to take credit from their taxes for contributions to political candidates is nothing if not political. And there's little question that any other action to allow a tax credit if there is political action involved. Certainly a politician as politically astute as President Nixon will take steps to appease the persons who are indignant at being required to pay taxes to support government schools which they do not use or want, and who feel they should be given some credit for the money they are paying for training their own children.

It is ironic, but certainly not unexpected, that politicians would consider getting money for elections to be more important than schooling, despite their claims of favoring "education" and helping the children. As a matter of fact, nearly all politicians are more interested in being elected and re-elected than they are in any other single factor.

The News does not see tax credits for school tuition and contributions as the ultimate solution of school problems. It still does not eliminate the unfairness of persons being taxed to finance schools they neither want nor need. Tax credits are merely a step to alleviate some of the unfairness to persons who are being charged twice—once for schools they do not want and once for those they do want.

More Advice on Nose Bleeds

Dear Dr. Lamb—Your comments about nose bleeds remind me of a similar experience I had about a year ago. I had intermittent but persistent nose bleeds for about a week. The difference was I am an adult. Two specialists handled my case. They checked my blood pressure and suggested that the air in my home was too warm and dry. They cauterized twice, but I still had nose bleeds. Finally the doctor gave me a prescription for medicine which he told me was for my blood, and also told me to get a tube of surgical lubricant. I used the small finger to rub this into each nostril at night before retiring. The doctor thought the medicine solved the problem. Packing also was always effective.

Dear Reader—My faith in the fundamental goodness of people and their desire to help others is always restored by the many letters I get from readers making helpful suggestions about other people's problems. I received a lot of suggestions about nose bleeds.

It is true, particularly in older people, that the lining of the nose may dry out. The scaly scabs inside are irritating and may bleed. They also stimulate people to pick their noses, causing bleeding. Any good lubricant in the tip of the nose will help solve the drying out problem. A petroleum base jelly or Vaseline is useful or any of the surgical lubricants. The idea is to keep the lining moist and retain the natural moisture in the cells below the surface of the lining. The lining of the nose is most apt to dry out during the winter months when the humidity is sharply decreased in many heated houses. The air tends to dry out the nasal passages.

Some of the other suggestions for nose bleeders from different readers is the use of vitamin C that some claim has been very successful. Others have suggested stopping other vitamins, particularly cod liver oil and Vitamin A. Still other readers think they have gotten better success by taking vitamin A.

Other readers have asked about iron for nose bleeds. The purpose of taking iron is to replace iron lost from actual bleeding. Anyone who has persistent hemorrhage or loss of blood from any place, whether it be from an ulcer, nose bleed, hemorrhoids or menstruation, has a loss of iron. If the bleeding is persistent eventually this will deplete the body's stores of iron and they need to be replaced.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read the article about the 16-year-old girl's problem of stomach rumbling and growling noises. I agree that it is terribly embarrassing when this is so loud and frequent. Tell her to drink an eight-ounce glass of nonfat milk or eat four to six crackers before going out.

Dear Reader—Thank you for your good suggestion. One of the things that will contribute to rumbling of the digestive tract is hunger. Eating a small amount of anything will often help relieve the hunger contractions and in some instances will eliminate the problem.

Hurry-Up Tanaka Tonic for Japan

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If improvement of U.S.-Japanese relations has better prospect with faster decision-making, then Japan's new Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka may well be good for us.

He is proving to be much quicker at decisions than the Japanese people are accustomed to. The leadership habit there is to weigh and consider endlessly until a decision sort of comes into being instead of being made.

When economic trouble developed over the wide trade gap between our two countries, this slowness was a serious handicap to negotiations. Our irritations over it were a factor in the blunt, precipitate action we finally took in mid-1971 to restrict Japanese trade and force currency changes.

Tanaka's quite different make-up made a good impression on President Nixon in their Hawaii meeting. Realistically, hopes should be a little higher than before that deeper inroads can be made into the sticky trade gap dilemma.

Word from Tokyo is, too, that Tanaka is having a tonic effect in his own country. The Japanese often have seen decision delayed so long that the time for action went by without any, whereupon people glumly took the loss involved, shrugged, and watched their leaders agonize over the next one.

Tanaka's trip to China to establish a diplomatic link with Peking and break off such ties with Taiwan came extraordinarily soon after he took office. It really set the tone for his regime.

He, and his new, quick ways are proving very popular in Japan. It is recognized that he probably will make more mistakes than some of his predecessors, but this does not seem to be worrisome. The important thing is that the mood of the Japanese today is evidently a good deal brighter than it has been for more than a year.

None of this means a magic solvent suddenly has been introduced into the somewhat stiffened relations between Japan and the United States. A great deal remains to be accomplished.

Anti-Americanism still is running fairly high. The Japanese have not yet forgotten what they regard as the rude shocks of 1971, when we applied trade limits and Nixon announced his own trip to China.

However our heavy troop pullout from Vietnam may be seen elsewhere, to the Japanese it signifies a diminishing American interest and influence in Asia. Consequently, they place less trust than before in our written pledges to come to Japan's defense.

Obviously this makes the question of Japan strengthening its own armed forces a more crucial matter, and it will be hotly debated in the months ahead. Popular feelings against a bigger, tougher army continue to run strong in the aftermath of World War II, and the question will be very difficult.

And, notwithstanding the somewhat euphoric mood ushered in by Tanaka's impressive beginning, so will the U.S.-Japanese trade gap. Tokyo is well aware that its swift offer to buy $1 billion more U.S. goods was only an opening gesture, however welcome. Tanaka's talents will be taxed heavily to help produce longer range answers in the way of opening up the Japanese market.

Yet, as noted in previous reports, the Japan of late 1972 is also more independent in spirit. And soundings there make it clear Tokyo will go only so far, and expect America to make up additional ground by a much tougher attack on its own problem of lagging productivity.

H. L. Hunt Writes

SOVIETS ARE IN DIRE TROUBLE

Soviet communism is in such bad trouble that its dictators may not be able to save themselves even with the help of U.S. capitalism. Any one of three explosive situations within the Soviet Union could erupt at any time and bring about major upheavals.

The superiority of our profit-motive system becomes more obvious every day and deserves widespread reminders by Freedomists to fellow citizens through such methods as writing letters to the editor. Three "time bombs" now ticking in the Soviet Union should be heavily publicized. The longest simmering problem communists face is their inability to produce. Periodically they fall down and cannot feed their people.

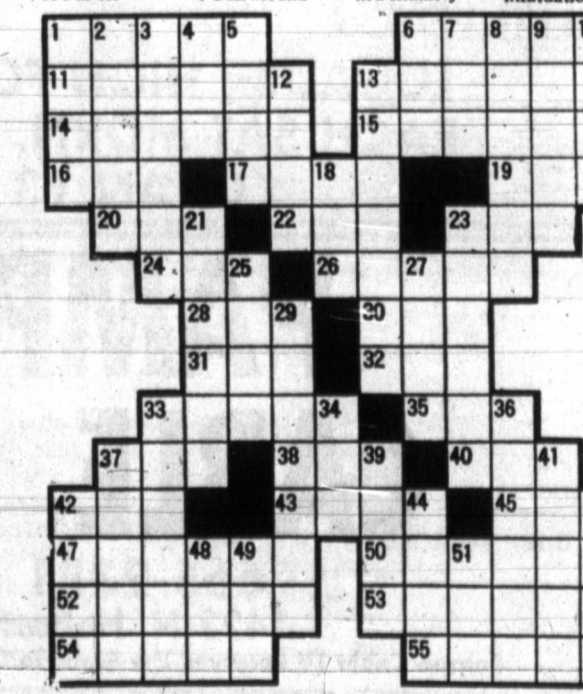

With their secret and controlled society they can keep many facts from the outside world until they can "make a deal" with capitalist farmers to rescue their floundering food production. The Soviets are hurting for wheat and their deals are disrupting world prices, driving the price of bread rapidly upwards.

A second long-simmering problem is the repression of captive peoples. Communist hypocrites mount propaganda campaigns in every free nation against "imperialism" while 100 million Russians keep 150 million Ukrainians, Georgians, Lithuanians, Latvians, Armenians, Kazakhs, Jews, Turkmen, etc., under tight rule, slowly destroying the traditions and culture of all these peoples. More than 100 different nationalities are on the verge of revolt against their communist Russian masters.

The third festering wound is the repression of scientists, intellectuals, the press and religion. Representatives of these groups are demanding more Truth and Freedom constantly. A new wave of communist purges soon will be required to keep the lid on all three of these explosive situations.
