Plot Is Seen In Tulsa Case

TULSA Okla., March 30 (A) County Attorney Dixie Gilmer today delved into the financial dealings of T. Karl Simmons, wealthy Tulsa oil man, with Mrs. Ella B. Howard, trim Fort Worth divorcee who is held on a charge of murdering his wife. Gilmer subpoenaed from the First National Bank and Trust company the financial records of the oil man from Jan. 1, 1936, to March 29, 1942. "I want to find out just how much money has been paid to Mrs. Howard, and the purpose of these payments," Gilmer said. He said he would introduce any records of transactions between mons and the 44-year-old divorcee at her preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Simmons, 55, widely known horsewoman, was shot to death in rsday. Mrs. Howard told county authorities that Mrs. Simmons had forced her way into her room, threatened to kill her and in a struggle over a pistol, was wounded

Gilmer, in asking a delay in Mrs. Howard's preliminary hearing until Friday, told Common Pleas Judge Grady Cornett in a hearing yesterday that Simmons, in a signed statement, related he has known Mrs. Howard for eight years and gave her $20,000 in 1942.

There is some kind of a plot and I am not sure but that somebody may have extorted some money from somebody," Gilmer told the court. Judge Cornett postponed his

Filibuster Against Usury Bill Ends

AUSTIN, March 30 (A)-The house today offered to horse trade the senate in adjusting differences between the two branches on a bill increasing old age assistance expenditures.

The bill, approximating an unexpended balance of approximately $1,164,000 for benefit payments, is in a free conference committee. House conferees had been instructed to demand that the balance be made available for immediate expenditure. This instruction was rescinded today and conferees were authorized to agree that the balance be expended over the next five

Preparation Of Farm Sheets Is Nearly Complete

Preparation of the 875 farm plan sheets for Gray county is now 75 per cent complete, the office of the county farm agent said today.

Although the farm plan forms were used last year, the 1943 sheets provide the most thorough and accurate farm census ever taken in the United States. The 1943 form includes questionnaires on livestock, fencing, machinery, credit, and manpower, with the latter listing all persons residing on the farm 10 years of age or older, all hands employed three months or longer, and all share croppers. Acreage of 1942 crops is also grain sorghums. Goal is 200 acres of soy beans and 35,967 acres of grain sorghums. Farmers started filling out the forms on March 15 and the sheets are to be all signed and tabulated and copies sent to the state AAA office by April 30. In McLean today getting the forms filled out by farmers of the McLean community were Ava Swaf-ford and Sybil Dehnert, of the farm agent's office and Raymond and Wednesday of last week the same kind of work was done in Mc-Lean by Knorrp, Miss Swafford, Adaline Dean, and Minnie Olive Montgomery. Awfully Naive

John P. Frey, president of the A. F. of L. Metal Trades Council, thinks that William L. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, "must have been awfully naive" to trust the C. I. O. when that agreement against jurisdictional disputes was arranged last December.

Perhaps he was. Or he may just have been outsmarted in a battle of wits. The public, at least, was "awfully naive" when it believed that the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. were going to waive selfish interests to advance the war effort.

We, the public, were so anxious to believe in the good will of President Murray of the C. I. O., Hutcheson, and their associates in the anti-jurisdictional strike parley, that we took their assurances hook, line and sinker.

Now we learn from Peter Edson, NEA Washington correspondent, that we were being played for

The two organizations adopted a publicized agreement to arbitrate all jurisdictional questions and then added a secret clause, which even their own rank- the Revolutionary War so that the bare majority ing associates were not told about, which said in could do anything they saw fit with the minority to either party. But isn't it a pretty gesture?"

As Mr. Edson points out, the C. I. O. reserved its legal right under the Wagner Act to organize A. F. of L. contract plants and demand elections to toss the A. F. of L. out on its ear.

Mr. Hutcheson is no fool, but a keen man. The same is true of his A. F. of L. co-negotiators. President Tan Tobin of the Teamsters and President Harry C. Bates of the Bricklayers.

They must have known that Murray and President R. J. Thomas of the C. I. O. Automobile Workers and President Julius Emspeck of the C. I. O. Electrical Workers would use the legal rights they reserved. But they thought that the A. F. of L. could similarly cut into C. I. O. territory, and the Devil take the hindmost. They forgot that the C. I. O. has more to gain from raiding, and less to lose, than the A. F. of L.

Meanwhile the public, which wants nothing except to win this war before the world becomes bankrupt both of money and of virile manhood, was left rapidly approaching a totalitarian governmentholding the bag and singing praises of unioneers who had betrayed us.

LEND-LEASE DEBATA (The Chicago Tribune)

Some people, reading about the furious debate in the house over lend-lease, may have jumped to the conclusion that the question under diswas whether lend-lease should be continued. In fact, almost all the members of both parties are in favor of continuing to give help the various allies. The question is a much narrower one: Shall congress and the people be furished a clear and accurate accounting of the help we are giving our allies and the help they are giving us in return or shall the records be guarded as official secrets?

That's where the difference of opinion comes. The Republicans are in favor of publishing a good deal more information about lend-lease than has been forthcoming and the administration forces apparently are determined to obscure the facts as much as possible.

The present lend-lease act requires the President to publish a quarterly statement of operations, but the accounting has been sketchy and there has been nothing to show what we are getting in return by way of lend-lease from our allies. A great deal more could be told without danger of divulging secrets to the enemy. The my who has had battlefield acquaintance with the guns, tanks, and planes sent by us to our allies will learn nothing from reports of lend-

Congress, we believe should make a compreensive survey of the gifts we are making to our allies and of their contributions to us. There are many mysteries to be explored. Rep. Sol m, speaking with the authority of the chairman of the foreign relations committee, says for example, that Harry Hopkins is not concerned with lend-lease. In Mr. Bloom's own words, "he don't do nothing." The American people had suped he was the boss of lend-lease. They are entitled to know who is the responsible head of the organization.

More particularly, they are entitled to know dled, and what is the ultimate destination of the vast expenditures. The recipients of the money not likely to be overscrupulous in requesting aid or in the use of what they get unless they are in that the records are to be audited by a

UNION NOW PROPAGANDA

I have just been reading a new book written by a Norman Angell of England. He attempts to set forth the reason why the people of the United States should join with England and the other Allies in forming a united world government. The book is written under the head of, "Let the People Know."

Norman Angell about 50 years ago was a anch hand in California. He later returned to England, having been born in England, and served for a time in Parliament. He was winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1933.

He sets forth the necessity of letting the people know so that they can better decide what they want to do. As an example of the necessity of this, he points out that Hitler, before he had the physical power to compel obedience, spent a great deal of time and energy in explaining to the people his ideas. He points out that it is even necessary for a man who expects to be a dictator, to do this in order to get people to follow him. Then it is by all means necessary for this to be done under a democratic form of government.

It is one of the cleverest books defending the acts of the British Empire I have ever read Norman Angell admits in the book several times that he is a socialist. He does not think England has gone far enough in what might be called social legislation. He does not, however, define what he means by democracy.

After I have read the book, I am convinced that he thinks democracy is a dictatorship of the proletaire. He does not seem to realize that the United States was not a pure majority rule nation. He seems to think that Americans fought He disregards Jefferson's statement that, "An "Nothing in this agreement shall mean anything elective despotism was not the government we fought for.'

England is rapidly approaching a bare major ity government in their labor and social legislation. If we want to become more socialistic, we want to unite with England and adopt her Beveridge plan.

The real motives of the war seem to be, ac cording to the author of the book, that we are fighting so that our country and England and our Allies can grow into democracies "with social security systems and labor movements more advanced and developed than any other in the world": that a bare bribed majority can do any thing it wants to with the minority.

The more I read of such books written by Englishmen, the more I believe that we should rededicate ourselves to the Declaration of Inde pendence and to this nation not aligning itself with nations like England and Russia that seem ceive the enemy while we employed to have lost sight of the inherent rights that belong to the individual. England seems to be a government that does not respect the rights of an individual—a dictator of the proletaire. Former Governor of Oklahoma, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, said, if we are to have a dictator, it might better be a single dictator than a dictator of the masses As he pointed out, it is easier to educate an individual than it is the masses. And if the individual cannot be educated, it is easier to kill emands reorganization of OPA to eliminate social and economic theorists from its personnel, he is not talking generalities. Under Leon Henderson as Price Administrator the principal positions at OPA were filled with college professors. The Deputy Administrator for Price Control was an conomics professor; the Deputy Administrator or Research was a college president; the Deputy Administrator for Rationing was an economic professor; the director of price control for industrial materials was an assistant professor of economics; the director of price control in retail stores was an assistant professor of government, and the director of fuel and gas rationing was an assistant professor of business administration. All were on leave from their academic duties. All, according to Senator George, ought to be persuaded to return to the campus.

BACK TO THE CAMPUS

If Senator George succeeds in reducing the cademic atmosphere of OPA to what might be called a normal level he should turn his attention to another matter. One of the most persistent notions of the Administration is that when a representative of the general public is to be appointed to a board or commission, a college professor is the ideal, almost the inevitable, choice. For example, three out of the four public members of the National War Labor Board have this academic background. Nobody will deny that a college professor is a member of the public—usually a very able and fine member. What will be denied is that college professor is invariably a perfect representative of the public or of public opinion. Senator George might explore this rayth.

UNCONQUERABLE SWITZERLAND

(New York Times)

Switzerland stands today an island in a Nazi ocean. Hitler could occupy the country at any time if he cared to pay the price in soldiers and ammunition. He can freeze its inhabitants by denying them coal. He can reduce them to penury by shutting off their exports and imports. By all material tests they are in his power. Materially they have had to conform. They do make goods that go into the Nazi war machine. But spiritually they refuse to be conquered. Recently news came from Berne that the federal council had forbidde the circulation of a German "Konversations Lexikon" because statements in it insulted Switzerland. Perhaps the Swiss didn't mind being called "a medley of criminals, particularly Jews." be called a criminal by a Nazi is to receive a high compliment. To be called a Jew by a Nazi is to be classed with those who have suffered martyr dom for freedom's sake. But the Swiss would cer tainly see red on being told that "the Switzerland of today is a backward state detached from the German empire." When the Swiss see red they act, even with Nazi bombers a few minutes' flight away. Thei outspoken newspapers have long provoked indig nant comment in the Nazi scandal sheets. They suppressed their own Nazi party in 1940. Their pastors have vehemently denounced anti-Semitism Last September they hooted the Nazi film of the Dieppe raid off the screens in Zurich. They protest vigorously when United Nations planes fly over their mountains, but they never shoot any down. Hitler may yet, in some last despairing thrust, occupy their country. He won't conquer it.

Fredendall did hold that front with only a skeleton force. The strategic reasons for mobilizing only a few untrained United States troops men recently visited Chester, Pa., to with not enough tank and air support on the flank of Germany's ablest general are still unknown here. Perhaps we lacked sufficient manpower and supplies for such a key sector or, like George ington at Trenton, we hoped to demore powerful units elsewhere.

But we did not outsmart the "desert fox," and Le hurt us worse than newspaper cable reports indicated. The effect of his victory on our fighters' morale was extremely unfortunate, despite our recovery.

So Fredendall is paying the pen alty for his misfortune But the inside fact is that Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower, commander of our North African army inspected and approved the disposition of our soldiers only a short time before Rommel hit them. The case is another instance of a subordinate taking the rap to save the face of the "big boss." How long "Ike" will last in his present job is a much asked question in military circles in the capital.

About 10 years ago John stood before the only statue to the famous Virginian then located in Washington. Mr. Boylan sadly shook his head and remarked in the presence of a ewspaperman, who also worshiped Old Tom as one of our great presidents. The words won no headlines, but every year thereafter on Jefferson's birthday, Mr. Boylan arose solemnly in his place and repeated his original remarks without the change of a comma.

Eventually the house began to pa attention. They created a Jefferson Memorial commission with the legislator as chairman. Some say they did it only to prevent him get on a quarter but as I didn't from making any more addresses. But he persisted and finally won an appropriation for the edifice. On April 13 it will be dedicated.

Rommel is on the run, trying to lead his forces out of the trap which is closing to annihilate them. Some of the fiercest fighting the whole war has been waged among the rugged Wadis and Jebels and the man-made defenses of this French possession. The casualties undoubtedly have been grievious. Yet not once have we heard any of the Allies say: "We are carrying more than our share of the load." than our share of the loa The straegy which laid the trap for the wily Rommel was plotted in a council of generals over which Commander - in - Chief Eisenhower presided, and one finds his person ality reflected in the great cooperation. One also sees the experi-ence and sagacity of the veteran British leaders, Alexander and Montgomery, in the plans which wrecked the Mareth line—among others presumably contributed.

More than generalship and un selfish coordination will have played a vital part when finally the Allies have fought their way through the remaining valleys of death to success. Among the points we must note are these:

1. Allied cooperation existed not only in Tunisia but extended to the continent. The unprecedented bombing of Berlin and other Axis cities recently has been, among other things, to force the Germans to keep warplanes at home for defense instead of sending them to Tunisia and the Russian front. 2. The great part played by the British and American air forces in phasizes the growing importance of this fighting army. The Mareth line probably couldn't have been mas-tered without the terrible bombing administered to Rommel's positions 3. Tunisia also reminds us of the great striking power which the Allies are piling up around the world.

4. Of general interest to all the Allies, and of peculiar interest to America, is the fact that our newly tried fighting forces—barring the air veterans who have been with Montgomery in Libya-have come through strong. There remains one interesting question: What will happen to Rommel when his last defense cracks? The most logical answer seems to me to be that Hitler will be a fool if he doesn't order the marshal to fly home. Rommel is too valuable to the fatherland to be allowed to fall into Allied nands if he can get physical life or welfare of one sol-dier or many soldiers. Political expe-diency could defeat us. Evil aggressors forced us against our will to fight. They compel us to have armed services and civilian production adequate to win the war. Labor union along with all other Americans would lose all in defeat. Shift another five million from workers to army, and we double the army supply problem at the same time that we reduce materially our already inadequate means to meet it. Let's look at facts: Officials estimate from 15 to 21 civilian workers are needed for every member of the armed forces. Normally forty-five million are gainfully employed for all national needs. But, let's be conservative, with only ten workers per soldier, we would need one hundred million workers for the proposed

THIS YOUNG MAN'S MILLINERY is merely a dramatic way of picturing the plight of the average car owner after trying to decide between the conflicting claims and values of all the motor oils on the market.

Trying to choose between them is some-thing of a headache, especially when you are neither a petroleum chemist nor an automotive engineer. You need facts to guide your choice of a safe and saving motor oil.

So read this frank, simple statement, if you want to know which lubricant to use in order to care for your car for your country. If you want our best oil, remember we definitely want our best oil, remember we definitely specify that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality . . . the highest grade and greatest value . . . among all the oils we offer to average motorists.

In times like these, when cars must last, it is almost impossible to over-estimate the value of quality in motor oil. Play safe by asking for Phillips 66 Motor Oil when draining winter-worn lubricant, or when making the recommended every-two-months oil change.

Bad Lose Cobb Stands Alone As Fiery Genius of Baseball

Only one ball player went into a base like this—Ty Cobb. Jimmy Austin of the Highlanders is the third baseman, Bill Dinneen the umpire. Charles Martin Conlon snapped the picture at the old hilitop grounds in New York late in the summer of 1909, when the Georgia Peach was at the peak of his phenomenal career. It has been called the greatest action picture ever made on a baseball field.

NEA Sports Editor Tyrus Raymond Cobb stands one as the fiery genius of baseball. Ty Cobb possessed a combination of talents that has been found in no one else, but it was his burn-ing desire to excel that made him the greatest ball player who ever lived. Cobb was so sincerely a bad loser that he became a terrific win-Cobb was the only player who not know how to play him. Cobb did everything different. Crowding and crouching over the plate, Cobb, a left-hand hitter, kept his hands a few inches apart on the bat, a grip used by no other batter this gave him more control over his while playing right field, he threw bat. When he hit to left field, his out three runners at first base in left hand came into play. When he hooked a ball to right, his left hand But Cob slipped down as he swung, giving a phantom mercury sweeping the him the leverage of the swinging slugger of today. He poked the ball into left field, pulled it to right, hit straightaway. He could bunt and toe to tag. He developed the fadedrag, and was safe with the slightest bobble.

Pitchers disposed of Babe Ruth even more dangerous after getting self. on base. There was a saving during Cobb's heyday that the ball was hot when he was on the paths.

Navy Holds Key to Irish Grid Hopes

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 30 (A)—The once mighty football legions of Notre Dame have dwindled to a corporal's guard.

Approximately 40 of the 48 were freshmen and there were only five leader winners, not one of whom plays in the backfield.

Leahy frankly admitted that the navy holds the key to Notre Dame football hopes. If special trainees sent here by the navy are permited to play and if there are enough good football players, things might look better in the fall.

Texan Fights In Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 30 (P)-Three vears ago Chicago Golden Gloves fans thought heavyweight Cornelius Young was quite a hero when he won his intercity match from his New York opponent. But now they'll root against him tomorrow night!

For Young, now an apprentice seaman in the coast guard stationed at Manhattan Beach, is fighting for the invading easterners as they seek their first team victory in the Chicago ring in the 16-year history of the amateur series.

Beaten out for the New York heavyweight title, Young got his break when titleholder Eddie Irwin declined to join the eastern squad university. So Cornelius comes here as the New York No. 1 heavy, and is slated to meet Chicago's champ, Walter Moore.

New York is bringing only five of its eight champions here. Flyweight Cliff Smith may draw either Jose Andreas or George Adams of Chicago's team as his foe. Billy nandez, astern 118-pound titleholder, expects to meet either Leroy Jackson or Bertrand White Lightweight Max Gonzales may be pitted against Chicago's Hunter and welterweight Ballesandro Carubia awaits the call to face Morris Corona, a Texas boy who holds the Chicago 147-pound title. The asterner's fifth champion resent is Alf La Brecque, light neavyweight.

The Ken Carpenter At Army Air Field Not Noted Announcer

Warrant Officer Ken Carpenter, busy Pampa Air Base band leader, has been eyen busier of late trying to squelch a rumor which flashed over the field that he was the famous radio and motion picture star, Ken Carpenter, who does the announcing chores of Bing Crosby's Thursday night radio

How the rumor started is a mystery, as is the case of all army camp rumors. It took plenty of talking on the part of Carpenter to stop it, but that was nothing new to the recently-arrived post

Pampa's Ken Carpenter has been facing this problem for the past several years, ever since his famous name-sake achieved nation-wide popularity. Life for him has been one long "rumorsquelch."

Warrant Officer Carpenter comes from Des Moines, Iowa, where he was a member of the national champion high school concert or-chestra. While there, he won the national contest for alto saxo-phone in 1935 at Madison, Wis.

He played a tour of six European countries in 1939, which terminated because of the war. Band Leader Carpenter has also appeared as guest soloist on the Westinghouse "Musical Amer-icana" radio program, which features Deems Taylor and Raymond Page and his Hundred Men of Melody.

Carpenter came to Pampa sevweeks ago and organized the new post band, which he now directs.

Leaf Vegetables Yield Vitamin-Mineral Crop

Frederick Krause isn't grinning at the prospect of eating this heaping bushel of lettuce. He'll sell it, and at current prices, it repre a neat bunch of war savings stamp

Prepared by U. S. Department of CHARD FOR VITAMIN A

Raising their own food in Victory Gardens offers Americans an excellent opportunity to eat more of the healthful leafy green vegetables in which our diets are said to be low. Collectively, these vege-tables are rich sources of minerals and all the vitamins except D.

Leafy green vegetables require comparatively litle space for the amount of food they provide, an advantage that will appeal to any city gardener. They do not thrive in hot weather, but are fine crops for early spring before other vegetables have begun to yield, and for late fall when the midsummer crops

At the top of the leafy green list for small gardens, of course, is lettuce. It is easy to grow, and a source of Vitamin A and two of the B Vitamins. In the average garden, plantings can be made in the spring and one in late summer. Thus, seed that cost only a few cents will supply the family's needs for a consi-ply the family's needs for a considerable time. You can plant lettuce any time in early spring that the ground is dry enough to work. It likes rich soil and plenty of mois-

GREENS FOR MINERALS

The heading varieties of lettuce are more difficult to grow, but the most inexperienced gardener can be pretty sure of good crops from the loose-leaf varieties, of which Grand Rapids and Early Curled Simpson are probably the most widely grown.

Turnip greens are a top-flight source of minerals and vitamins, having all the important vitamins except D. If you plant the Sho-States but the United States de-goin variety, you'll not only have partment of agriculture has collectgreens, but also turnips to eat. For greens alone, however, gardeners usually rely on the Seven-Top leafy variety. This is another crop that can be planted just as soon as the garden soil is ready. garden soil is ready.

Spinach offers the same vitamins and minerals found in turnip peas are among the first crops that greens. If planted early, it will produce a crop quickly if the soil is rich, Long Standing Bloomsdale is a good home variety, and one-fourth ounce of seed is enough ble supplied with fresh produce for a 50-foot row.

CABBAGE IS A "MUST" The very smallest Victory Garden should have a few heads of cabbage. It is also rich in minerals and the important vitamins, and is as important in the diet to eat raw as to use cooked. If you have the space, you'll want to have at least one row of cabbage. Golden Acre and Glory of Enkhuizen, a half row of each, are recommended. Buy plants from a reliable grow-er, ask him how much "hardening they need, and set them 15 inches apart in the row. Late cabbage, for table use, and also for storing, can be planted between rows of beans. Well-liked varieties

Still another good leafy vegetable for early spring is Swiss chard. The big green leaves, which are tender and of good flavor, are rich in Vitamin A. Remove the outer leaves for eating, and the plants will keep on forming new leaves from the center. The Lucullus or Fordhook Giant variety is popular, and a half ounce of seed will produce enough chard for the average family.

Beets will be grown in millions of Victory Garens this year. Tops from thinnings made when the plants are about four inches high should be eaten as greens—not thrown away. They are a source of Vitamin A and also one of the mportant B Vitamins For all-around health, everyone should get at least one serving of green vegetables every day. So grow plenty of leafy green vegetables in your Victory Gardn, and then be sure to eat them.

Plant Seeds With Care

The garden general who gets his victory garden off to an early and healthy start has won at least onefourth of his summer's battle. Here's how to do it:

First, select disease resistant varieties, as recommended for your locality by a seedsman or county agricultural agent.

Second, be sure the soil is pre-pared properly, using sound gardening methods in plowing and fer-

Third, take care in planting seeds. After the garden has been plowed, raked and leveled, carefully mark off the rows. Place stakes at each end of the plot and use heavy twine to mark straight rows between them.

To plant small seeds, use the end of the hoe handle and make a trench one-half inch deep by dragging it along the twine, from stake to stake. For larger seeds, the trench should be made about an inch deep.

Study the planting directions on seed packets that tell you how deep seeds should be spaced in the rows and how far apart the rows should

This year, when seeds are extremely valuable, none should be wasted by planting too thickly or too sparsely. Bean and pea seeds should be spaced as the plants are to stand, without thinning. Small seeds such as those of carrots, collards, onions, parsnips, spinach and turnips should be sown three or four times as thick as the plants are to stand after thinning.

In thinning, do it before the plants crowd each other.

There is a rather widespread belief that colored dry beans, as produced by garden snap vines, are in-ferior to white dry beans not only in flavor but also in nutritive value, and are therefore not worth saving. But the Department of Agriculture says this is not true, and all beans too old for immediate use should be allowed to ripen on the vine for winter eating. We must save every ounce of food this year. You Must Plan Your Planting

Garden generals, like front-line renerals, plan their summer's campaign to fit the terrain and the climate in which they are to battle.

In the 1943 victory garden front, map the ground that is available to you. Then carefully draw your plan, showing which way the rows will run, what each will contain, and about how much production can be expected.

The ideal arrangement is to have a plot of land that slopes gently to ward the south, the better to catch the sunlight.

The rows should run across the hillside, not up and down it. Otherwise in heavy storms the soil may wash away.

Avoid planting near trees and shrubbery. Their long roots rob gar-of the plot. Larger plants placed on ones. Experts of the United States department of agriculture say the ideal victory garden in cities is from 30x50 to 50x100 feet. This, they say, will grow a good portion of the vegetables needed by the average family. BUY VICTORY STAMPS-

Pampans won't have as much trouble controlling vegetable insects as they think, in the opinion of Dr. H. G. Johnston, entomologist of the Texas Extension service.

The ideal strategy is to wage an offensive battle, beginning as soon as the first invaders appear in the garden and never giving them a chance to become established. This battle should continue at intervals of four or five days until the enemy is mopped up.

Insecticides necessary for the job include cryolite and calcium arsenate to control flea beetles, cucum ber beetles, cabbage worms and other insects which feed upon the fruit and foliage of the plants; nic-otine sulfate or pyrocide for plant lice, stink bugs, squash bugs and others which suck the juices from leaves and stems; and paris green to make baits for cutworms, sow bugs and mole crickets.

Generally, it is easier to control garden insects with a duster, but good results can be obtained with sprayer if done thoroughly. Information on constructing a simple home-made duster from a tin can, broom-handle and cheesecloth may be obtained from the county extension agents.

Plant lice, Dr. Johnston says, are probably the most common and destructive vegetable pests. They attack almost all crops, especially turnips, radishes, mustard, cabbage and other similar plants. They may be controlled by using a five per cent rotenone-sulphur mixture, or nicotine sulfate, as a spray or dust. Begin as soon as the pests appear and thoroughly cover the lower surface of the leaves. These insects are killed only when actually hit by the insecticide. In addition, destroy stalks as soon as the crop is harvested in order to eliminate breeding places for lice and bugs.

BUY VICTORY STAMPS STALKS VALUABLE

To get the most out of our vegetables, we are learning to use more stalks and stems. Parsley and cress stems should never be discarded. Chard stalks, especially the redribbed rhubarb variety, may be used like asparagus. Coarser leaves of endive and other greens usually served in cold salads may be cooked lightly and served with sauce And if you like greens of strong flavor, beet tops will fill the bill. One of the most attractive pentstemons is garnet flowered and called "Garnet." The plant is spreading in growth and produces succession of flowers from spring into late fall. The large, richly col-ored flowers are well placed on stems 12 to 18 inches in height. They are excellent for cutting and last a week or more in water.

Beets and Carrots Save Garden Space; Surpluses Can Be Stored

Prepared by U. S. Department of Agriculture for NEA Service

Root crops should receive special consideration, on two counts, for planting in victory gardens.

They yield large quantities of food for the ground space they occupy, and surpluses from late crops can be stored for next winter's meals.

For instance, a foot or row will produce three or four beets-the number in the average bunch bought at the market. A 50-foot row of beets, preferably of the Crosby or Detroit Dark Red varieties. is recommended for small victory gardens. Eight or 10 seed to a foot of row is sufficient, and when the plants are around four inches high, thin them to about three inches apart. The thinned plants, by the way, will make good greens for table use. A late crop of beets may be planted about the end of August. Those left in the garden when the season is over may be stored for winter use.

Carrots After Frosts
A single packet of carrot seed will produce enough carrots to go a long way toward providing the servings of yellow vegetables that every diet should include. Chantenay or Nantes are good varieties. Plant the carrot seed a little more thickly than the beets-15 or 20 seed to a foot of row.

If you'd like an early dish of carrots from your own garden, make only a partial thinning as soon as the plants are big enough to handle. Then make a second thinning when the young carrots are about half an inch in diameter. Prepared as creamed baby carrots, these thinnings will make a succulent dish. Carrots planted late can stay in the ground until after the first frosts. Then dig and top them for storing.

than beets and carrots. However,

Vitamins by the wheelbarrow load come from relatively small space when root crops are for good development they need soil that is deeply prepared and very rich. Parsnips are a source of thiamine, one of the important B vitamins, and also Vitamin C. Hollow Crown and Guernsey are excellent varieties.

In the north, where parsnips are used mainly as a winter vegetable, Parsnips occupy no more space they are planted early and given the entire season to develop. In the south, however, two plantings can be made, one in early spring for immediate use and another in August or September when the late summer rains occur. Parsnips are one of the few garden vegetables that can be left in the ground during the winter. In sections where the ground freezes hard, it may be good plan to dig at least part of a good plant them for storage

Salsify Is Hardy Crop Salsify, or "vegetable oyster," as some people know it, is grown in about the same way as parsnips. Sandwich Island is the leading variety. Salsify can be left in the ground all winter, also.

Southern gardeners usually plant turnips just as soon as they can work the ground, and use the crop before hot summer weather arrives. Then they plant a late crop in August or September. The young ten-der tops of this fall crop make just as good greens as the spring crop produced. But with northern gardeners, turnips are a late crop. The seeds usually are sown in July, from the tenth on until the end of the month. The Shogoin or Purple-Top Strap Leaved varieties are popular. In small gardens, the seed are best planted thinly in drills, with the rows 12 to 18 inches apart, and covered lightly. Turnips should not be allowed to freeze in the ground or in storage.

To store successfully, vegetables should reach full maturity and be free of cuts, bruises, and injuries from insects or diseases. Storage places should be cool and moist, but arranged so there is no danger from freezing

The carrot is probably a native of Europe and the British Isles. It was first improved as a vegetable in Holland. Most American varieties originated in France, but new varieties have been developed here.

The carrot is one of the best vegetables to grow. It has excellent food value and vitamin content. Carrots are high in vitamin C, contain a good amount of B-1 and also B-2.

They can be grown throughout the year and by successive plantings the the gardener can have carrots on the table at all times, raw or cooked in many styles.

Cabbage can be traced to the wild cabbage growing on the sea cliffs of England and the western European coast. It has been cultivated from the earliest times. It is one of our most popular vegetables and may be eaten in many different ways.

Flowers Urged As Part of Your Victory Garden

"And if you do garden, don't forget to plant a row or two of flow-ers. Life's satisfactions in wartime are few and far between at best, and nothing I know of will add a note of joy as quickly as a few flowers."

This quotation from a talk by Mrs. Claude R. Wickard, wife of the secretary of agriculture, will be welcomed by victory gardeners, who can make their vegetable plots beautiful by growing borders and

A victory garden is defined by the war production board as a garden chiefly devoted to food production; so flowers may be included without violating any of the rules governing the use of plant food.

The flowers most suitable for growing in vegetable gardens are the annuals which are grown from seed each year, and will produce flowers all summer if they are not permitted to make seed. Grown in the vegetable garden in rows, given the same care and cultivation as the food crops, they often do much better than in the ornamental bor-

Annuals have been marvelously improved by plant breeding. Their progress has been furthered by the very fact that some call a handicap -they complete a full generation in a single year, and thus plant breeders do not have to wait several years to see whether an attempted improvement has been achieved. breeders work fast compared with the perennials, where in some cases three years are required to complete a generation.

Improved annuals will serve any decorative purpose in the garden By selecting them of various heights and colors, a border may be planted entirely of annuals, which will vie in beauty with anything perennials can offer

For the new home, or the rented home, annuals offer a quick and economical garden. Their culture is so simple anyone can succeed at it, provided he is willing to spend two hours in reading directions, and planning his effect.

Vegetables Which Grow Well In Panhandle Listed Here

If you're a newcomer to the plains, you'll likely be puzzled as to what vegetables you can successfully plant. The plant husbandry department of Texas Technological school, Lubbock, has the answer.

Members of the department have been going almost nightly to communities in the Lubbock area, giving information on recommended vegetable varieties and methods of cultivation. They pass on this data for the benefit of Pampa and Gray county gardeners.

A list of 40 vegetables has been prepared that may be grown more or less successfully on the North Plains. All of these, depending on seasonal rains, will need additional irrigation for the best results. Out of the 40, the following are recommended as desirable:

Asparagus, beans, beets, carrot, antaloupe, corn (sweet), cucumber, Irish potato, lettuce, mustard, okra onion, pea, radish, spinach, squash, tomato, turnip, sweet potato.
Asparagus tolerates alkali and is recommended for every garden. Two or three years are required to get a good start. Mary Washington is the recommended variety.

Recommended varieties of beans are: (snap) giant stringless green pod, dwarf horticultural, Keeney's stringless refugee; (pole) blue lake Kentucky wonder; (lima) Burpees fordhook bush lima, Henderson's baby potato lima; (cowpea) Dixie sugar crowder, large blackeye.

Cantaloupe varieties: hearts of gold, powdery mildue resistant No. 45, golden beauty casaba (winter melon), honey dew (winter melon). Sweet corn: honey June, ioana.

Cucumber: green prolific, Arlington white spine (for slicing), Colorado, straight eight, Snow's perfection pickling, West India gherkin. Irish potato: cobler, soil require-

Potato seed: use certified seed where possible, northern grown seed preferable where possible. Most growers treat seed with corrosive sublimate after cutting to prevent spread of disease by knife. If whole seed are used treatment is unneces sary. Amout of seed: 12 to 15 bushels per acre.

General rules for irrigation of gardens: have soil well watered before planting; plan irrigation before planting; have garden arranged to water between rows not down the rows. Some plants do not like water around them and diseases may be spread from plant to plant by water. Water frequently or continuously during dry hot weather.

Fertilizer: Most High Plains soils are low in organic matter after have been farmed a few years. Additions of well rotted barnyard manure, plowed under in the fall will help. Ten to twelve tons per acre is about right; A field which has been seeded to alfalfa for several years makes a good garden if thoroughly plowed in the early fall.

Supplies of essential garden tools seed, and insecticides are reported to be sufficient to meet the needs of the expanded Victory garden program, put there are none to waste, the USDA has announced. eaf Lettuce Is Hardy Grower

Lettuce is a native of Asia but the exact country of origin is not certain. History mentions it over 500 years before the Christian era. Lettuce is now cultivated in many parts of the world.

Lettuce is a hardy plant and will stand frost. It does best during the fall, winter and spring. There are two types of lettuce, leaf and head. The leaf is most satisfactory for home gardens. The head lettuce often fails to make satisfactory heads and is then of poor eating quality. Successive plantings of leaf lettuce should be made at threeweek intervals from fall to spring to have a continuous supply.

The green leaves are high in vitamins A, B-1 and C. The white interior leaves are low in A, good for B-1 but contain no C. Scientists claim that the green coloring matter in the leaves is of more food value than the bleached portion in the interior of the head. Grow leaf lettuce for vitamins and health.

1943 Seed Is Urged

Victory Gardeners are requested to be careful in making full pro-ductive use of vegetable seeds this year. Seed growers last season made an excellent record in home productin of nearly all varieties of gar-den seed. Formerly, countries now under control of the Axis supplied many of these seeds. Of onion, beet, and carrot seed, there is no surplus, and total food needs of the United Nations call for special efforts to get full food value from the supply

Victory Gardeners can save seed by attention to these points, says Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg.

- 1. Plan the garden carefully in advance and estimate seed needs closely.
- 2. Use varieties that are rec-ommended for this locality.
- 3 Buy early and buy no more seeds than will be required.

The War On Weeds Vital

It's no secret weapon, but the hoe the garden general's big gun in his battle against weeds

The weed uses infiltration methods, sneaking into the ranks of carrots, beans, and other good victory garden soldiers to rob them of water, nutrients, space and sunshine.

The zero hour for striking weeds occurs after each rain. As soon as the soil can be worked after a soaking, it should be hoed thoroughly. This cultivation should be shallow so that tender roots are not harm-

As the first purpose of the cultivator is to keep weeds out of the garden, it need not be done oftener than necessary to keep the garden clean. One other purpose, however, is to leave the surface in a loose condition so that it can absorb

The weeds that take root quickly, after cultivation, can be pulled by hand and carried out of the gar-

In regions where irrigation is necessary, the water should be applied thoroughly and deep, similar to the way it is deposited in a heavy storm. Frequent, light sprinkling of a gar-den can do more harm than good because it encourages only shallow root growth, which is killed easily if the ground dries

A good way to irrigate is to open furrows alongside the row of plants to allow water to flow gently along the roots. Straw, dry grass or leaves may be hoed lightly into soil be-tween the rows to retard evaporation of water and to keep down

A small stocky, well-rounded plant is preferable to one that is tall and rangy (unless, of course, its natural habit is such). A fullfoliaged or budding plant is preferable to one that is in full flower (flower production takes energy).

Avoid plants standing in poorlydrained, sour soil (evidenced by moss or slime); plants whose roots ere badly overgrown and pot-bound; shrubs or trees with broken balls in which the soil has fallen away from the roots, or shrubs with a dry, extremely hard ball; and diseased or pest-ridden plants.

You Must Hoe, Weed and Water Your Garden for Best Results

Victory gardens don't just grow like topsy—they have to be cared for and watched over and protected. In other words, to get the most out of your garden, you have to hoe and weed and water.

Cultivation of a garden should be steady and restrained—not too

Weeds should be kept under control by pulling or shallow hoeing. Deep cultivation of vegetables—that is, too much weight on the hoeshould be avoided in most instances because of the danger of cutting or disturbing roots that grow near the surface. If allowed to grow uncontrolled, weeds will rob the garden plants of moisture and plant food, and will shade them from needed sunshine.

As soon as the soil can be worked after a rain, it should be thoroughly hoed to kill the weeds that have sprouted and to put the surface in a loose, porous condition to absorb the next rain. Weed control is the main object, of course. Garden specialists and experienced gardeners point out there is no proved benefits from stirring an already cultivated soil that is free of weeds

As all experienced gardeners know, frequent light sprinkling or irrigation of the garden is the wrong way to provide the moisture required by the growing vegetables. If water is needed, the garden should be thoroughly and deeply soaked, as by a fairly heavy rain, and watered again only when the soil shows signs of becoming dry. Proper watering will prove a decidadvantage during dry periods, but if not done right it may prove injurious. Light sprinkling or irrigation serves to water the roots of shallow-growing weeds, but does not provide enough water for the rows of garden plants.

Some gardeners have had good results from soaking the soil thoroughly about once a week and then loosening the surface by light cultivation as soon as it can be worked. Of a small scale and over a limited area, watering a few plants can be handled with a sprinkling can, but when available a garden hose should be used. A good way of applying the water is to open slight furrows along the rows of plants and allow the water to trickle along these furrows. After irrigation the ground should not be worked until it has dried enough so that the soil is not sticky. Mulching between rows with straw, lawn clippings, leaves or other suitable material will help conserve moisture and keep down weeds.

Remember Your Table!

Every victory garden general should have a commissary depart-ment aide to determine the family needs for a year.

For Vitamin C, tomatoes should served six times a week.

Plant Potatoes, Corn, Greens At This Time

If your garden planting is tem-porarily suspended, either this year or next, between the seasons of frost-hazard and frost-free temperatures, there is no reason why you should allow the hoe, rake, and fork to become rusty, according to J. F. Rosborough, Texas Extension service

Even in mid-March, for example, you can begin planting vegetables that are reasonably resistant to frost

There are enough vegetables in that class to give gardeners a warm-up for the bigger job of planting when the danger of killing frosts is behind them. Potatoes, for example, should be put into the ground as soon as possible, Rosborough says.

Sweet corn, and second plantings of mustard green and lettuce—leaf lettuce this time—should be planted without delay. Head lettuce won't "head" in warm weather. Black Seeded Simpson is a good leaf va-

Home gardening has come to be of more and more importance to city and urban residents due to scarce or unobtainable fresh commercial vegetables. No one can afford to overlook the possibilities and opportunities which this form of outdoor activity offers. Many of the Plant in Rows advantages of having a home garden cannot be fully appreciated until one has successfully grown a garden and experienced the advantages for himself.

The following suggestions will help in planning the garden:

-It is not desirable to locate the garden in close proximity of large trees. Sometimes there are no alternatives. Shade and competition for plant food and moisture will affect the growth of vegetables planted under such conditions. Maximum exposure to the sun is always most desirable.

2—Don't locate the garden too far away from available water supplies. All gardens should be planned with the idea of using irrigation, even during the winter months.

ing during periods of heavy winter

4-Heavy soils can be improved by working in organic matter such as manure, compost, leaves, grass clippings. Sandy soils should receive a good application of manure.

5—It is advisable to limit the number of crops to a few that are relatively easy to grow and well liked by the family.

Is Good Advice

Victory gardeners who want good crops with the least work will plant their vegetables in straight rows, spaced far enough apart to enable cultivation to be done with a hoe or wheel hoe, with the gardener standing up.

This is the modern. American way. Gardeners who learned their tech-nique in Europe often broadcast vegetable seeds in beds, with paths between the beds. Then they stand in the paths, bend over, and pull up weeds by hand. This is the practice which started the idea that gardening is backbreaking work.

job to be done which is any greater strain than sweeping.

Such a gardener requires careful planning to make the rows straight and parallel, so that a cultivator can be quickly run down the aisle between the rows, destroying all weeds and breaking the crust of the soil in a few minutes.

Bow far appears the substitute of the soil in a few minutes.

Give your victory gardeners of the soil of the soil

How far apart should the rows be? There is no magic formula for this. Root vegetables, and others which do not grow tall can be spaced as closely as 10 inches in fertile soil; but at this distance it is difficult to cultivate them with tools, with-out disturbing the roots of your

The best method is to figure out what kind of cultivator you are go-ing to use, and how much room be-tween rows is necessary so that you can use it, without getting too close to the vegetables. Make this distance the minimum between your rows and allow more than this space for crops which grow tall, for those which sprawl or make vines, and for those which make large bushes.

Eighteen inches is a good minimum for most gardens; even a small wheel hoe can be used between rows that close. And when your decision is made, then measure the rows accurately. Don't guess at the distance. Make the rows straight and parallel, and your garden will begin to present a professional appearance from the time the first crops begin to sprout. BUY VICTORY STAMPS

Give your victory garden a spot in the sun; then, like a good sol-dier, fight it out on that line all

Besides a good sunny spot, these things are necessary for a successful garden:

1. Fertile soil. Choose a place where the weeds grow abundantly. If weeds won't grow, you'll have a hard time making vegetables grow.

2. Access to water. If drought comes, be sure you can reach the garden with a hose or other source of irrigation water.

In nearly all cities there are seed dealers who will test soil samples for you and tell if the ground is suitable for vegetables.

Grow The Vitamin Foods

Defore planning a Victory Garden this spring study the varieties it is possible to grow in your locality. Then choose the ones with the greatest vitamin ratings or with the most

The greatest shortages, this summer, are expected to be in perishable things, because shipping space is curtailed. Victory gardens are an ideal source of these vitamin and high-energy-content foods.

That is why the U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends that every Victory garden contain such green, leafy foods as leaf lettuce, cabbage, spinich, chard, collards, kale and turnip greens.

Tomatoes, too are in the front rank list, and are easy to can. Beets, carrets and onions are stored easily.

Other easy-to-grow vegetables include parsnips and salsify, that may be left on the ground all winter long; cabbage for kraut; and beans, a good, all-around soldier in any war garden.

Use Care In Planting Your Tender Crops

By J. F. ROSBOROUGH Extension Horticulturist Texas A. and M. College

(Written for The Associated Press) Most of South, East and Central Texas can proceed now with their planting of warm weather vegetables, with little fear of Jack Frost catching them. In West Texas it will be best to delay planting for another 30 days.

Since green beans, squash, cu-cumbers, okra, eggplant, pepper, to-matoes, and other warm weather vegetables will not stand frost, we have to be careful in timing their planting.

If fertilizer has not been applied, good results in stimulating quick growth can be obtained by putting down three to five pounds of 4-10-7 or 3-8-7 (victory garden fertilizer)

Plowing usually does a better job of soil preparation than spading; therefore you'll harvest a larger crop. Many cities have arranged for tractor plowing of victory gar-dens.

Garden Furniture, Umbrellas And Summer Rugs Are Scarce

By ANN FRANCE WILSON

WASHINGTON, March 30—If you're thinking of dressing up the back yard with garden furniture this summer you may run into some difficulty. There may be approxi-mately a two-week's supply of me-tal and rattan furniture left over from last year, and when this supply is gone there will be no more. WPB has banned the manufacture of all metal furniture and rattan is no longer being imported.

Other outdoor furniture, however, will be available and plentiful. Patterns may not be as varied as in pre-war days but there'll still be a good crop to chose from. The WPB order cutting the textile industry's dye supply won't effect materials used to cover this year's new furni-ture. Colors will still be bright.

GRILLS AND BARBECUES Only last year's grills or barbecues are available. These cooking devices have been termed unnecessary by the WPB and may no longer be manufactured.

BEACH UMBRELLAS

Unless you can find a beach umbrella or parasol left over from pre-priority days you won't be able to buy any this year. There's a ban on the manufacture of these shadeproviders.
SUMMER RUGS

Only early birds will find any imported summer rugs on the mar-ket. Some sisal and other imported summer rugs are still available and some are still being imported. But by and large they will be scarce. There are plentiful substitutes, however, made of domestic fibers and in many cases are such accurate reproductions of the real thing that you probably won't be able to detect the difference.

SCREENING Copper screening has been froz-en, making it absolutely unavail-able to civilians. Galvanized wire may be used for screens, but there is very little of it around. You need a high-priority rating to buy it, too. So if you're not lucky enough to find some dealer with screening left over from last summer, you might just as well give up the whole idea.

How to Use Fertilizers

The A-1 nitrogens are off to the wars this spring and so the garden generals will have to be content with substitutes for their home front victory gardens. Chemical nitrogen is used in ammunition. It also is a principal in-gredient of commercial fertilizer.

The war production board, recognizing the importance of victory gardens, allotted sufficient nitrogen to the fertilizer industry, despite war needs, to permit the manufacture of a special wartime garden fertilizer.

Heretofore garden fertilizers generally were composed of five per cent nitrogen; 10 per cent phosphoric acid, and five per cent pot-ash. Victory garden fertilizer is three per cent nitrogen; eight per cent phosphoric acid and seven per

It is applied at the rate of one pound per 24 or 25 feet of row.

Enough Tools, Seeds Foreseen For Gardens

The department of agriculture said today that many Victory gardeners in working toward the goal of 18 million home gardens in 1943, will need garden tools, seeds, and insecticides. Supplies of these es-sentials are reported to be sufficient to meet the needs of this expanded garden program, but there are none to waste. The department stated:

Wasting seeds, tools, fertilizer or insecticides is never desirable and in war-time is to be condemned. As badly as this country needs gardens, it cannot encourage waste.

The production of garden seeds in 1942 was at record levels so that Victory gardeners need not worry on this score. However, the un-initiated are more apt to waste vegetable seeds than tools or fer-tilizers. Each of the 10c packets of tomatoes, peppers, parsley, as well as some other kinds, contain enough seed to supply four or five gardens. gardeners shared their packets of such seeds, much unnecessary waste would be avoided. The department does not have free seeds for distribution.

The manufacturers of garden tools The manufacturers of garden tools are doing their share of war work. This means fewer styles, less frills for the duration. The Victory gar-dener must not expect to get every kind of tool that he might like to have. A hoe, rake, and spade are necessary. Wheel hoes and the larger tools, useful in the bigger gardens, are not being made. Those who do need such equipment should mage arrangements to borrow.

Supplies of insecticides and fungicides (spray materials) may be the most limited of any of the garden materials. Whenever the most com-monly used material is not available, it may be possible to get a Metal Lids Are substitute.
