Men 38 to 45 Must Get Essential War Jobs

Group Faces Draft, Says Gen. Hershey

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)— Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, announced tonight that beginning May 1 men in the 38-45 year old group must leave the list of "non-deferable" occupations or face the possibility of induction.

Since April 1 the same rule has applied to younger men of draft age who were advised that if they had such "non-deferable jobs" as waiters, bootblacks, elevator operators, and messengers, they could not be deferred regardless of family or other dependency status.

At present men over 38 are not being drafted regardless of reasons for deferment.

Hershey announced the new policy in a letter to local selective service boards in which he said "because of a rapid depletion of available manpower the national interest at this time demands that men within the ages liable for military service (18-45) who have qualifications that are not now being used in the furtherance of the war effort, and who at the same time are not acceptable for service in the armed forces simply by reason of age or physical disability, be required to employ their efforts in those essential activities in which shortages of necessary manpower threaten the successful prosecution of the war effort."

The new rule on non-deferable occupations was listed as one of these steps. Others included: An order that 4-F men (classified physically unfit) between 18 and 45 who have had dairy farm experience return to such work, or possibly be inducted for limited military service despite physical disabilities.

A request that draft boards and county agricultural war boards circulate men between 45 and 64 who have had dairy or general farming experience to return to such work.

The new plan announced by President Roosevelt, that men over 38 already in the army will be asked to get into agriculture or other essential activities before being released from the army because of age.

Hershey told draft boards that "the letters (letters to men with farm experience, to be written by draft boards) to registrants in Class 4-F and those between the ages of 38 and 45 will inform them that if they do not contact the county war board within the time prescribed that fact will be brought to the attention of their local selective service board so that consideration may be given to requesting waivers of physical disabilities and age or both, which would permit their induction into the armed forces."

Seger Predicts Tunisian Victory in 60 Days

By TEX DE WEESE

Voicing an optimistic outlook, Dr. Gerhart H. Dr. Seger, now an American citizen and publisher of a German-language newspaper in New York City, expressed his views in an interview following an appearance at Friday's luncheon meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis club where he spoke on "The Nazi Fifth Column in America." He also addressed an audience in the Junior High school Friday night under auspices of the Pampa Rotary club.

Dr. Seger is not a member of the school which foresees a long war with Germany. His optimistic answer was a reply to this direct question which we put to him: "As a former member of the German Reichstag, of course you have a definite idea when the war will end?"

"Not exactly a definite date," he replied, "but I am very optimistic about it."

Then he went on to explain why he thought there would be a speedy collapse in Germany, once the Allies actually invade Europe.

One of the factors that will make this possible, too, he explained, is the unending bombing of British and American cities which has been dealing out to the people of German cities during the past two or three months.

Dr. Seger went into much detail to explain that there is no parallel between the bombing of England by the Nazis and the bombing of Germany by the RAF and Yanks.

"You will hear some argue," he said, "that if the Nazi blitzkrieg couldn't shake the people of England, then the British and American bombings of Germans will not shake the Germans."

"Those who say that forget about the unending psychology held by the English people and the German people. You must remember that the English people were prepared for what finally came. They were

Heaton Couple Hit by Car

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Smith of Heaton were injured when they were hit by a 1936 Chevrolet panel truck, while walking west on West Brown street late last night.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Gray and West Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Huerengardt were riding in the Chevrolet that struck the couple, with Huerengardt, 40, driving.

They met another car going east on Brown and were blinded by the lights so that they did not see the truck until they were within five feet of them.

Smith was knocked to the left side of the road, his wife to the right. The husband suffered shock and bruises. His wife was rendered unconscious by the blow and was still unconscious an hour later at Worley hospital where the two were taken in an ambulance, called by Huerengardt, who stopped immediately after the accident, and later made a report to police.

Driver of the other car, whose lights blinded Huerengardt, did not stop. Police Chief-Ray Dudley said apparently the driver did not know of the accident and continued on his way.

Ages of the injured couple are between 40 and 50.

Investigation of the accident was by Chief Dudley, and Patrolmen Jim Boswell, Joe Mullins, and Ernest Winborne.

Pampa Thanked For Large Supply Of Rags Given Field

Aircraft mechanics at the Pampa army air field won't be scurrying around looking for rags to wipe down planes, clean parts and generally keep things shined around the hangars for quite a while, thanks to the generosity of the residents of Pampa and environs.

More than 500 pounds of rags were donated by local residents in a recent drive conducted by The Pampa News. The rags, of every size and color—from grandpa's red flannels to Aunt Bessie's petticoat—are now in use at the base.

According to officials at the sub-depot supply office, securing rags has been a headache to date, for they have been as hard to get as new tires. Now, however, the supply contributed by the residents of Pampa has more than met the demand and will last for some time.

Commissions For LaGuardia, Movie Producer Flayed

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Senator Truman declared today that Col. Darryl Zanuck should be sent to the front instead of back to civilian life as the movie producer has requested, and at the same time observed New York's Mayor LaGuardia has no "more business being a brigadier general" than Zanuck has being a colonel.

Zanuck was defended by Undersecretary of War Patterson, who said the producer has made heavy personal sacrifices to serve in the army.

Truman (D-Mo.), a captain in the last war and chairman of the senate's war investigating committee, spoke up at a committee hearing into the relations of the army and Hollywood.

"I know the mayor was an air officer in the last war," Truman said, "but I don't think he has any more business being a brigadier general than this fellow (Zanuck) has being a colonel."

"I don't believe in letting fellows back out in the middle of a war," he said. "Why don't you send him to school and make a real soldier out of him? With his experience I think you could very well use him at the front. That's where we are going to need men."

Patterson, testifying that Zanuck "unwisely" continued to draw a salary from Twentieth Century Fox, a motion picture concern, for several months after he was called to service, said his request for a return to inactive status has not been acted upon and assured the committee his view will receive full consideration.

The forecast of LaGuardia's appointment also drew comment from Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the senate military committee. He said in a statement that "it would seem on the face that the majority of our country's largest city is in Hollywood, and that a decision for Mayor LaGuardia to make."

Newspapers To Launch Bond Drive

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The nation's newspapers are coming to you for $13,000,000,000 more—for Uncle Sam.

It's the second year loan drive April 12. Newspapers have been assigned a leading part in conducting it.

The government calls it the biggest war financing operation in history.

Its initial stages will last about three weeks, and it is designed to sell the American public $13,000,000,000 worth of war bonds.

Divide that figure by the number of people in the United States, and you arrive at the conclusion that—on the average—about $100 worth of bonds will have to be sold for every man, woman and child in the country if the goal is met.

Secretary Morgenthau and Frank E. Tripp, president of the Allied newspaper council, said in a communication to all newspapers:

"The people of your community look first to the newspapers for leadership when united action is needed and this loan can only succeed through such action. Speaking for the treasury and the Allied newspaper council, we ask you, therefore, to give this drive your enthusiastic support both in your news and editorial columns and by enlisting sponsored advertising support."

The treasury is floating the second war loan to:

- 1. Finance the war. 2. Help avoid inflation. 3. Meet the $13,000,000,000 goal, the treasury says you can help if you:

- 1. Diversify into the purchase of extra bonds every cent not absolutely needed for food, shelter and other necessities of life for the three weeks beginning April 12. 2. Buy at least one extra bond each week for that period. 3. Forego some of the things you have been planning to buy. 4. Buy bonds beyond those you may be buying through pay roll savings or regular bond purchases.

Both the treasury and the newspapers are getting set to put over the biggest of all war bond drives.

You get some idea of its scope when you realize that to date Americans have bought about $14,000,000,000 in war bonds.

Under the direction of Secretary Morgenthau, the treasury has mapped full plans to launch the drive with the aid of the American press, radio, advertising and motion picture industries.

The press got going two weeks ago when leading publishers and representatives of the Publishing and Press associations met with Secretary Morgenthau and heard his explanation of the drive, the need for it, and how it is to be conducted.

Americans Strive To Oust Germans Blocking Junction

Grim waves of American infantry beat Saturday against the rugged and heavily-mined Axis defenses protecting Marshal Rommel's inland flank which lay wedged between the United States army corps to the west and the British Eighth army on the Gulf of Gabes.

On the steep slopes of the barren brown hills east of El Guetar, Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., renewed his attacks to clean the enemy out of positions now blocking the expected junction of the Americans with the British.

The Americans made a sudden bid for a break-through early when a tank column traversed a narrow track across an enemy mine field along a road leading toward the coast.

Many German tanks immediately counter-attacked, however, and the American armor pulled back to let the infantry resume operations toward widening a gap in the enemy defenses.

Front dispatches reported some German panzers were knocked out and several others were damaged before the tank battle was broken off.

Mins by the thousands, in a variety of sizes and deadly trickery, have become one of Rommel's most potent defense weapons.

The Americans strove to develop technique for rapidly clearing the cleverly concealed infernal machines.

Pacific Rest Home Heaven To Soldiers

By MURLIN SPENCER

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN A SOUTHWESTERN PACIFIC REST CAMP, (Delayed) (P)—Private Paul Phillips kicked the loose sand at the foot of his cot with a polished shoe and said:

"This is my idea of heaven." If you had been at Buna or Sanda or Soputa or any of the battered, rain-soaked New Guinea villages like them, you would know what this Hiles, Mich., youth meant.

Heaven on earth in the eyes of a battle-worn soldier is any place where there is dry sand underfoot, dry clothing, big steaks on the fire, fresh vegetables in the pot and fresh milk for the asking.

It is a place where a soldier can get out and play catch with a football as Sergeant Lewis Shannon Jefferson, Wis., and Private Peter Paet, Detroit, Mich., were doing.

It is a place where a soldier can get out and listen to Corporal Edward Vatassek, Anita, Pa., play his guitar—and know that a Jap won't hear you.

Uncle Sam is "going all out" for the soldiers of this regiment which saw probably more action than any other in the battles around Buna.

Fresh meat and vegetables, beer and ice cream—all they can eat and drink—are filling out hollow frames.

Private Myron Frazier, Merrill Wis., estimated, however, that each soldier averaged a pound of meat a day. He should know. He was slicing huge steaks in a tent.

One hundred and fifty men will put away about 150 quarts of milk per day, probably more. They'll use 50 pounds of potatoes per meal and top it all off with 12 gallons of ice cream. Chances are, too, they'll do a little piecing between meals.

Results of the feeding already are noticeable. Phillips has added 12 pounds; Private Edward Sienko, Milwaukee, 10 pounds; and Private Lavence Ekdahl, ones Co., Lauder, Tex., 22 pounds.

Two Skelly Oil Officials Here Are Promoted

Promotion of George Berlin of Pampa, district superintendent of the Skelly Oil company since 1937, to the position of traveling superintendent, at Tulsa, was one of a series of changes in Skelly personnel announced today.

Berlin has been with Skelly for 16 years, has resided in Pampa or near here for 17 years, and was district foreman before being made district superintendent in 1937.

Mr. and Mrs. Berlin and their sons

GEORGE BERLIN

Norwood, 4, and Brent, 6, will move to Tulsa sometime this week to make their new home. Another son, Flint, 18, is in the navy. He is a Pampa High school graduate, was on the 1942 Harvester football team last year, and received honorable mention as an all-state tackle.

Remaining in Pampa to complete the school year will be the Berlin's daughter, Doris, 18, a junior in Pampa High school.

As traveling superintendent, Berlin will have charge of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas, for the company.

Berlin is a member of the Pampa

DALLAS BOSHER

Kiwanis club and of the advisory board of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

Succeeding Berlin as district superintendent will be Dallas Bosher of Skellytown, former district foreman, the same job held by Berlin prior to his promotion to district superintendent. Bosher's office is on the Vicars lease, near Pampa.

Bosher has been with Skelly for 20 years, the last 16 in the Panhandle. He came here from Oklahoma in 1926.

Mr. and Mrs. Bosher will make their home on the Vicars lease, which is 3 miles west of Pampa on Highway 152. They have three children, two daughters, and one son. The son is Arthur, 25, in officer candidate school at Ft. Belvoir, Va.; daughters, Agnes, 23, in nurses training school at North Texas hospital, Amarillo, and Dorothy, 21, employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company at Amarillo.

Succeeding Bosher as district foreman at Skellytown is M. N. Osborn, Keller, Okla., district foreman. He has been with the company 21 years, the last 14 in the Panhandle.

W. W. Hughes, Skellytown local foreman, succeeds Osborn as Keller-ville district foreman, and C. W. Steele, clerk in the district office near Pampa will be Skellytown warehouseman. He has been with the company for 10 years, the last two in the Panhandle. Replacing him as clerk will be William Lenox of Tulsa. All of the personnel changes were effective Thursday, April 1.

A farewell party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Berlin was given by Skelly production department employees and other friends at Kellerville last week, when a satin quilted comforter and other gifts were presented them. The program was in charge of Mrs. Lawrence Frary of Vicars lease.

Three Airmen Missing Nearly Year Found

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The rescue of three members of the army air forces who had been missing in action for nearly a year was announced today by the war department.

Second Lieutenant Marvin C. Hughes, Baird, Texas; Second Lieutenant Eugene D. Wallace, Los Angeles, and Private First Class Dale E. Borden, Chillicothe, Mo., were picked up by the Royal Australian air force March 26 on the northern coast of Japanese-held New Britain, in the same general area as the enemy base at Rabaul.

No details of the rescue were reported. The men had been listed as missing in the southwest Pacific area since last May 24.

Hughes is a former student at McBurny college, Abilene, Texas.

Tax Payments Total $4,731,981,878 WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—March income tax payments totaled $4,731,981,878 which was $1,649,354,732 greater than ever before in a single month the treasury disclosed today in its daily statement for March 31.

Although receipts from all sources were at a record high level of $5,206,314,233 they fell far short of meeting March expenditures totaling $7,353,703,861, of which $6,743,806,218 was spent for war activities.

Oil Marketing Survey Finished

HOUSTON, April 3 (AP)—Steps to effect economies in the marketing of petroleum products in the District 3 of the petroleum administration for war were outlined in a report filed today with the district marketing committee.

The report was submitted by a subcommittee at a meeting of the marketing committee in Dallas last Tuesday. It was compiled under the direction of A. F. Reed of El Dorado, subcommittee chairman, and vice president of the Lion Oil Refining company.

Eight sample counties in the six states comprising district 3 were surveyed—as a basis for the report. The counties included Jefferson county, Ala.; Jefferson county, Ark.; Iberia Parish, La.; Pike county, Miss.; Chaves county, N. M.; and Harris, Lubbock and Navarro counties, Texas.

Since September 1942, the month selected for the survey, conditions have changed substantially, the subcommittee said.

"Service stations have closed for economic and manpower reasons and a number of bulk plants have been discontinued," the report added.

Numerous trucks have been taken out of operation and held in reserve due to economies in truck delivery and the use of manpower in the marketing of petroleum products "has been drastically reduced," the report said.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exclusively prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the aching, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The manpower "push" is on. Thursday was the deadline for "non-deferrables" to get into other jobs, or sign up with the U. S. employment service and so get a 30-day extension of deferment.

Thursday also was the deadline for the 48-hour minimum work week in designated labor-shortage areas, except for those employers who have submitted applications to continue working shorter hours.

The pressure is on for men in the 38-45 age group to go into essential industry or farming.

And next week state selective service directors will gather for a conference which some sources say, may have to do with changes in regulations to clear the way for drafting of fathers.

The whole manpower situation focuses attention once more on the question of drafting labor for work in industry and on farm.

Here are the pros and cons as aired before congressional committees:

Principal argument offered by proponents of national service legislation is that it would provide for efficient use of the nation's manpower in the war effort—would assure that manpower isn't dissipated in non-essential work.

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson summed up the views of those favoring such a draft:

"If it is democratic to tap a man on the shoulder and send him to fight the Japs in a New Guinea jungle, can it be undemocratic to select a man or woman to load shells work on an airplane or stay on a farm?"

Arguments of those opposed to a labor draft center principally on contentions that it would be undemocratic and that it isn't unnecessary in the first place.

They say progress is being made by the War Manpower commission in organizing the nation's labor markets.

They ask whether it's fair to draft somebody to help someone else make money.

William Grotton, president of the AFL, says a labor draft would be "involuntary servitude," and Philip Murray, CIO president, declares there is "no unwillingness" of labor to go where it is needed.

Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt says a labor draft is "inevitable."

President Roosevelt says it's a question of timing, wants to delay it as long as possible.

Air Base to Stage Own Variety Show Next Friday Night

Cast to Be Composed of Soldiers

Lights out! Curtain going up! That will be the theme next Friday night, April 9, at the post recreation hall of the Pampa army air field when the men of Uncle Sam's Army Air forces stationed at the base present their first "all-soldier" variety show.

The show to be presented is written, directed, and produced entirely by the men themselves.

Directing the series of rapid-fire numbers, which are to be given for the entertainment of the field's military personnel, are Pvt. Elmer Foster and Pvt. George Bingham of the public relations office, both of whom had wide experience producing shows prior to joining the armed forces.

Friday's presentation is in the form of a "star" and upon its success may depend the future of such productions. However, a preview held last night of several of the show's numbers left little doubt in the minds of those present that the Pampa "soldier show" is here to stay.

Some of the acts to be presented, according to Directors Foster and Bingham, are: Pvt. Ham Fisher and Luke Colburn, a guitar duo that really "sends"; the Victory quartet, recently-organized Negro group that is heralded as "big time"; Pvt. Olin Eddie, tap dancer and tight-wire walker; Cpl. Bill Bennink, who gets sweet music from a carpenter's saw; S/Sgt. Don Esterline, Pampa field's Nelson Eddy; a piano and vocal duo featuring Miss Orpha Jean Hayes and Miss Rhoda Cornelius, "borrowed" from the sub-depot; and the post orchestra, with vocalist Barry Shuman. According to Private Bingham, who will act as master of ceremonies, a "surprise" act has been developed and will be presented during the evening.

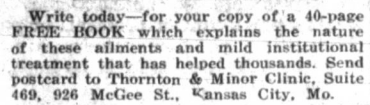

The show, which is slated to run for an hour and a half, will be held in the recreation hall, starting at 8:15. A capacity crowd is expected.

Soldiers Can Receive Aid From A. E. R.

Service men stationed at the Pampa army air field who have legitimate money problems or financial burdens are being urged to present these problems at the army emergency relief office, which is now located in the post library building, T-2-06, where Lieut. Benjamin Beck is in charge.

Army emergency relief—just what its name implies—is an organization founded at the suggestion of the secretary of war to provide relief for members of the military personnel and their dependents.

Here's how it works: When a man in service finds that his dependents are in need of money or if he himself has a legitimate financial need, he goes to the AER office and presents his case. If the relief is granted, a loan of cash (or other things, such as clothing or food) is given to the soldier or his dependents.

The AER works closely with the American Red Cross, which investigates local cases for the organization and makes a report. A grant of a million and a half dollars was given by the Red Cross to the AER when that division was organized. Since that time, its assets have been added to by gifts from stage shows, football and other athletic events, radio programs and so on.

Even if the soldier is uncertain that his difficulty is the concern of the AER, he may file a summary of his case and learn if he is eligible for aid.

The army emergency relief office at Pampa field is not the use of the men at the field, but also for civilians who live in the Pampa area and who have relatives in the army.

If the civilians are dependent on the man in service, or if some financial emergency arises that they cannot cope with, they are eligible to apply for aid through the AER office at the local base. However, it is suggested that the family request the soldier to apply for relief through his own camp, AER office, but if that is impractical—if he is overseas or has refused to apply for aid for those for whom he is legally bound to provide, then the dependents may present their case at the local office.

In other words, a man may be fighting for this country on Guadalcanal, in Tunisia, or on the high seas, yet he'll know that should some unforeseen financial emergency arise, his dependents will be cared for by the army emergency relief. It not only helps the man's family in time of need, but it makes the hard lot of a fighting man that much easier.

SQUADRON CHATTER

MEDICAL DETACHMENT

The Red Cross building, a part of the hospital, was the scene of the season's most successful event, for it was there that the medical detachment dance was held Thursday night. Right here, this reporter would like to take the time to thank Major Adler, since it was his party for his "boys" and it was very much appreciated by all of the chest.

There were a lot of "swell" girls present and they seemed to enjoy the affair very much.

During the intermission the post special services presented a real variety show for us, featuring a Negro quartet, excellent guitar playing, musical saw, and some vocal numbers by a couple of very nice looking girls.

Dance sideliights: Well confidentially, your reporter had a terrific time and wouldn't have missed it for anything. One outstanding act was by Lt. Edward J. Galligan, has proven himself to be a real, dyed-in-the-wool, "jitterbug"! 1st Sgt. Louis Day enjoyed himself immensely by beating the skins before the second half of the dance started.

Our post band, consisting of eight men, with the "jive" was very, very good and kept everyone dancing with their fine music.

Our drummer boy, Pfc. Don Curry was in his glory, banging away on the drums. Another of our boys, Pfc. Eddie Cephar was playing the electric guitar.

Corp. "Jee" Perez, Teddy Jaime, technician fourth grade, and Bob Garrett, technician fourth grade, were all trying to "out-dance" one another. We still would like to know where Bob Garrett got his Indian dance.

At 12 o'clock the girls had to catch the bus back to town and so faded into the night like Cinderella. So ended our first dance. We only hope that we can have another one, soon! —By Sgt. R. A. Satterlee.

The day of the unsung, unknown ground crew technician in the army air forces is a thing of the past.

For the mechanic—the man who keeps the planes in the air out at Colorado Springs, Colo., following their wedding at the post chapel Friday night.

Mrs. Doughaday, the former Miss Gret'n Ann Bruton, is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Bruton, Malone building, Pampa. She is employed at the post sub-depot office.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Doughaday, of Paducah, Ky., and is first sergeant of the 454th base headquarters and air base squadron at the air base.

Witnessing the ceremony, which was performed by Lieut. Maurice P. Garner, the post chaplain, were Sgt. Parker S. Presley of the 454th, and Miss Martha Pierson of Pampa.

The couple left on Friday night on their wedding trip to the Colorado resort city, where they will stay until time for the groom to report back to his post on Thursday.

Members of the armed forces stationed at the Pampa army air field will not take part in any of the traditional army day parades on April 6, 1943, according to Col. Daniel S. Campbell, commanding officer of the Pampa base.

THE GREATEST COMMANDMENT CONTEST

Readers of this column will remember the announcement of a contest with two different sets of judges to award six prizes for the best explanation of the first and greatest Commandment.

I have asked the President of the Ministerial Association of Santa Ana to select the set of judges who will judge from a more or less orthodox, or revealed religion, standpoint. The only request I made of him was that he invite one Catholic to be a member of the committee of three to judge.

The other three judges will be men who believe in a natural religion, as contrasted to a supernatural, or a revealed religion. These judges have not yet been selected.

To review the terms of the contest: Six prizes will be given for the clearest, plainest and most understandable explanation of what Jesus meant when He said, "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind."

The first prize awarded by each set of judges in each contest will be $40; the second prize, $20; the third prize, $10. Each set of judges will award three prizes totaling $70.

The contestants need not be readers or subscribers of the paper. The contributor should confine his explanation to not over 600 or 700 words. All manuscripts should be in the office of one of the papers carrying "Common Ground" by April 6, 1943.

Why the Subject

The reason for the contest is that the writer of this column believes that the kind of understanding people have of religion will largely determine the happiness, tranquility and prosperity of the people.

If we have a proper conception of the first or the most important commandment, or impersonal rule of human conduct, we will probably have a very good government that will free the spirit of men to attain the greatest amount of happiness.

We can enter the contest without even believing that Jesus ever made the statement attributed to Him. In that case he can express what he believes this commandment should mean in order that we may live in peace, happiness, progress and tranquility.

Remember the closing date—April 6.

IS THIS DEMOCRACY?

The United States has already loaned or given away $38,000,000,000 to other nations. The President of the United States has the right to cancel this debt when he "deems" necessary.

There is quite a different meaning between "deems" and "finds". "Finds" would have to be supported by evidence. "Deems" is at the will of the President.

The question is how much of a democracy we are when we give the President of the United States the right to cancel $38,000,000,000 worth of debt without power to ever give to any man to permit him to cancel $38,000,000,000 worth of debt owed to the people of the United States if he "deems" it necessary?

We are far afield from the Bill of Rights democracy that respects the inherent rights, that belong to every citizen.

Undoubtedly the day will come when people will regret this kind of a lend-lease program that gives the President so much power. People do strange things under the effects of war hysteria.

reduces unemployment below the figure of approximately ten million."

The New Deal has remained in power since the war, and has been compelled to conduct the war with the institutions of free enterprise which it had failed in eight years to destroy.

It is fortunate for the country that free enterprise survived, for it is the productive, administrative and executive know how of management and labor under the American system of free enterprise which is winning the war.

Since the war is being won, and can only be won by the American system which the New Deal tried for eight years to destroy, it is obvious that the victory will not stem from New Deal "planning."

Nevertheless, the New Deal is still in power—biding its time until it can safely return to its original and basic philosophy.

The same people are retained in power by it—thousands of them in influential and key governmental positions, controlling the vast bureaucratic structure of supergovernment created by it.

They have the same antipathy for free enterprise and for the character of life stemming from it.

Consequently, as Senator Taft says: "The capital is full of planners of all kinds. Every economic panacea any long haired crank ever thought of is being dusted off and incorporated in a magnificent collection of glittering landscapes supposed to lead to Utopia."

"Nearly every one of them rests on the huge expenditure of Government money, without telling us where the money is coming from, when we already face a debt of more than two hundred billion dollars.

"If we do not develop a constructive plan of our own, the country is likely to drift into policies which can only mean bankruptcy, the destruction of private savings, and I believe the end of our American way of life as we know it."

It is certainly true, in the words of Senator Taft, that "our first job is to win the war."

But it is equally true, again in his words, that there must be an American plan "for the restoration of the American republic after the war."

Does it not occur to us all that the American system of free enterprise, which has been so useful and beneficial and utterly indispensable and irreplaceable in this war, offers us our best chance for prosperity and happiness after the war.

It is the same system which made America the most prosperous and happy nation, the most free and progressive and just nation, in our century and a half of national experience before the war.

Do we not, therefore, agree with Senator Taft that: "The restoration and full development of private enterprise, to a point at which it provides full employment, depends on maintaining the great principle and individual incentive which has created America."

But there is no agreement with him among the "theoretical Communists" of the New Deal. It is indeed our first job to win the war. But after that it is clearly our patriotic American job to restore our free, productive and progressive American Republic which the New Deal tried to destroy before the war and will try again to destroy after the war.

News Behind The News

PERISCOPE: Perhaps the American public will realize the grimness of the battle against the U-boats when it digests the following facts obtained from unimpeachable sources. Admiral Doenitz's U-boats have enlarged their wolf pack tactics. They now hunt in echelon—several fleets thrown into the attack one after the other. A convoy may dodge the first group only to run into a second or third.

We are trying to overcome these deadly combinations by employing escort vessels, small aircraft carriers with planes and helicopters, and other secret weapons. Land-based Sunderlands, Lockheed Hudsons and Fortresses can form a protective umbrella six hundred miles off England or Nova Scotia, but beyond is the graveyard of the Atlantic where the enemy is now operating with alarming success.

When a submarine's periscope rises above the waves the hull is visible. Its charge is six hundred feet in diameter. An aviator can sight any pigboat submerged less than forty feet. When the sea is covered with white caps, the keenest-eyed lookout in a crowd's nest cannot sight the hostile engine which drives the device at forty-five miles an hour for a distance of two thousand yards. A runaway can actually travel seven miles at thirty knots before it is spotted.

ESCAPE: One of the most destructive agents invented by man is the modern German torpedo. It is twenty-three feet long and is propelled by a four hundred horsepower engine which drives the device at forty-five miles an hour for a distance of two thousand yards.

AGITATORS: President Roosevelt's policies in a series of months have launched several movements aimed at "appealing" a motley band of Dixie Democrats. With 1944 around the corner, the Administration is determined to make sure that delegates at voters in this section of the country will not misbehave at the convention or at the ballot box.

POLITICOOS: Washington looks for several major shifts in the Cabinet within the next few months. F.D.R. frequently changes his mind, but it is known that he has discussed reshufflings with his closest advisers.

According to the proposed schedule, Henry L. Stimson will step into the shoes of Secretary of War, with Frances Perkins moving to the job now filled by Paul V. McNutt.

Paul, who has not been a shining success as Federal Security Administrator, could probably have the diplomatic assignment of Mexico City. Most important transfer of all would be the promotion of Under Secretary of War to the job of Secretary of War. The able and popular New Yorker runs the Department now, and his elevation would be nothing more than formal recognition of his ability.

The chief objection to Patterson's advancement, provided the President

Many Jobless Draw Benefits

BY PETER EDSON PAMPA NEWS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

There are today approximately 225,000 U. S. workers drawing state unemployment insurance, and you can add that to your pet list of inconsistencies of war, taking into full consideration the fact that there is supposed to be a manpower shortage.

This figure has dropped 70 percent from a level of 800,000 as of a year ago, and from a peak of 1,268,000 in June, 1940, but Federal Bureau of Employment Security officials do not believe this number will ever be entirely eliminated, even when the armed services have their 11 million men and women and civilian industry has reached the idyllic and Utopian condition of social "full" employment.

Examination of the various classes and the conditions of the quarter-million workers now drawing unemployment compensation gives a little light on why this must apparently be so, according to the Social Security Board point of view.

In the first group are war industry workers temporarily laid off. The cause of the layoffs may be shortage of materials, lack of parts for assembly, making necessary a retooling of the factory. State unemployment compensation offices now have a better checkup on workers than they ever had, so applicants for unemployment insurance must present proof that they have left a good job for good cause before they can begin to draw benefits.

Also, there is a compulsory waiting period before the temporarily unemployed can begin to collect in most states, so there is little chance to take the record cash-in while playing absences.

NON-ESSENTIAL UNEMPLOYED Second group of workers drawing benefits includes those former employees of industries now considered non-essential to war production.

During the time they're looking for an essential job in a war industry, these people can collect compensation, but here again, no workers compelled to take jobs that require extreme inconvenience in travel to and from work or the taking of a job in another community, requiring a worker to move or be separated from his family. The Indiana proposal that all unemployed must take farm jobs met violent opposition, so was never ordered.

Workers living in communities remote from war production centers make up the third and probably the largest of the groups of unemployment insurance beneficiaries. Twenty per cent of all the benefits paid go to workers in the New York City area, which not only got comparatively few war contracts and is today the biggest surplus labor supply area in the country. This New York labor market situation is of course an old story, but one about which no one has been able to do anything constructive.

Most surplus workers are in the needle trades. Many are older workers, unable to learn a new trade, unwilling to move out of New York.

WORKING WIVES Working wives, on the fringe of the labor force, make up the fourth group. Many were persuaded to take better, judgment, sometimes through sheer patriotism and desire to help win the war. When layoffs come, these working wives are often the first to be dropped, but having been gainfully employed, they are eligible for benefits if they register with the employment offices as willing to take another job.

In all, from 40 per cent to 60 per cent of those receiving unemployment compensation today are women—single, career women as well as working wives—whereas the normal percentage of women on the benefit rolls is 26.

Men about to be drafted made up a fifth large group of beneficiaries. If a man is about to be called up for service, he is likely to be among the first to be laid off, if his plant is forced into a temporary shutdown. While waiting for his number to be

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press Writer)

What guarantees are our hard-working statesmen going to be able to devise against the whelping of another war-mongering Hitler when once we have ended the present conflict?

The Nazi Fuehrer himself practices wholesale sterilization to prevent perpetuation of elements he doesn't like. That's an idea. But sterilization of entire militaristic nations doesn't seem to fit in with civilized practices.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, speaking Friday before the Canadian parliament in Ottawa, gave an answer for one angle of the complicated problem in declaring as regards Germany, Italy and Japan:

"There is only one security for mankind in respect of us all of them: to ensure that they are totally disarmed and in no position ever to try their strength again."

Our own Under Secretary of State Welles carried the matter rather deeper in an address the same day in New York City before the chamber of commerce of the state of New York. He said:

"In attempting to put an end to war we face a problem that the human race has never yet been able to solve. But of one thing I am perfectly sure: The greatest obstacle to success is defeatism—the assumption that nations are by nature so antagonistic, that foreign peoples are so untrustworthy or that the technical problems of constructing peace machinery are so great that the task is a hopeless one."

Recently I have talked with thinking people in various countries on this subject. The consensus seemed to be that intensive training will have to be employed after the war to make the aggressor nations peace-minded. It would have to be done through the medium of Axis nationals who are serious of peace—and those people exist.

Forceful propaganda does work wonders at times. I refer to the terrific bombing which is being carried out, especially against the Nazis.

That bombing will help to knock toleration of Prussian militarism out of German heads—and prussian militarism is the real source of Europe.

The Allies had a chance to knock it out in the last war, but quit as soon as the Germans yelled "Kamerad." The German civilians were hungry, but they never knew what bombing or shellfire was like. Had they experienced the frightfulness which their armies inflicted on the invaded countries, they probably wouldn't have been so quick to follow Hitler and the Prussian military machine into a fresh aggression.

This time the Allied nations are set to carry the war through to unconditional surrender. They want no armistice, such as we had before.

Called by the name of unemployment insurance.

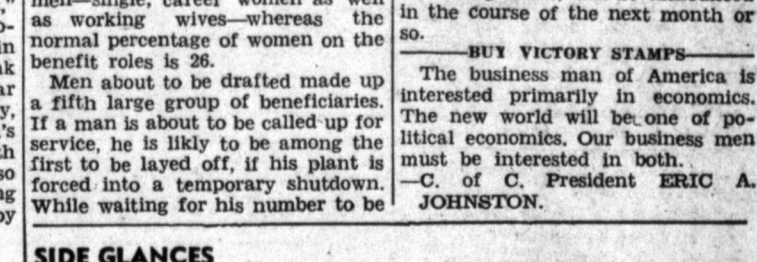

Two out of three workers now are being covered by federal-state unemployment insurance programs, the figure of 225,000 workers now receiving benefits represent only a little over one-half of 1 per cent of the 40 million workers under job insurance. This is of course not the entire number of unemployed in the United States today. Social Security experts estimate the total unemployment at the present time may number 15 million, believe it or not, but that figure will never get below that figure. The minimum to receive benefits may get as low as 125,000 or about half what it is now. A statistical study on this entire situation now being made, will be announced in the course of the next month or so.

THE BUSINESS MAN OF AMERICA is interested primarily in economics. The new world will be one of political economics. Our business men must be interested in both.

—C. O. C. President ERIC A. JOHNSON.

O'Daniel Will Return To Fight FDR Veto

DALLAS, April 3 (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel (D-Tex.) terminated his Texas visit today with the announcement he was returning immediately to Washington to help over-ride President Roosevelt's veto of the Bankhead bill prohibiting inclusion of government payments in figuring farm parity prices.

He cancelled his engagement to address a joint session of the Texas legislature at Austin, Tuesday. "This Bankhead bill is not a war measure, but deals with domestic problems," O'Daniel told newspapermen. "Inasmuch as Texas is a great agricultural state and is adversely affected by the President's veto, I intend to do everything I can to help over-ride the veto."

Seniors Picnic at Lake McClellan During Two-Day Class Holiday

Climaxing a two-day holiday for the seniors with an all-day picnic at Lake McClellan Friday. This all-day picnic took the place of the annual Caribbean trip. The day before the seniors presented the Kid Day Assembly. All seniors were dressed as two and three year olds and presented one skit in assembly. Stealing the show was Frank Guntaulas as the Darling Young Man on The Flying Trapeze. Assembly visitors found themselves the "goat" for many of the skits.

At the picnic held at McClellan 90 seniors attended. Steak, beans, potato salad, ice cream and cokes were the meal of the day. Then the seniors took to the lake for boating and swimming. Mrs. Francis Alexander, Mrs. Tom Clark, Mrs. Russel Holloway and Mr. B. G. Gordon and Miss Margaret Jones were the sponsors who cooked the meal.

Sagebrush By The Sage

Now that all those dignified seniors have regained their poise and grace that they have always possessed, here we are going to give you some of the latest low-down on some of them.

Anna Lois Heard and Charlie Riggin are always together. Could it be that the flame hasn't died? Girls in high school are getting mysterious phone calls. A boy will call a girl and say that he has met her and then ask her for a date. The girl is all baffled at that and so it goes.

Anna Barnett is sure to have some one on the string but who is it? Several people are trying to find out but have had little results.

Those playing on the A team are Norma Rae Austin, Beth Bailey, Doris Davis, Ruby Kyle, Fay Moorehead, Laverne Roberts, Mary Ann Speed, and Tommie Woodard.

Why is it that Martha Pierson seems to always have a house full of cadets visiting her? What is Rex going to think?

Since there are so few boys in school, nowadays, why doesn't some one consider a certain name—name—Neal Holden.

By the end of this school term the Spanish II class is to have read and made reports on some book written in Spanish, states Miss Virginia Vaughan.

The main difference in the two classes, even though the study is the same, is that the algebra class uses letters in solving their problems while the advanced arithmetic class uses numbers.

Yes, it's true you may not have as much meat to eat in the future as you have had previously. You have already found that candy is scarce when you "jog" down to the cafeteria between periods, and the red sign "EMPTY" on the "coke" machine is found to be lighted more often.

There were one each of the following: artist, teacher, auditor, housewife, interior decorator, physical education instructor, missionary, defense worker, dramatist, and scientist.

Are you the type who always "gripes" about such shortages? Meat rationing, as well as other things rationed, is a military necessity and a protection for the civilian. It does not mean that you will go hungry.

There were one each of the following: artist, teacher, auditor, housewife, interior decorator, physical education instructor, missionary, defense worker, dramatist, and scientist.

When you feel that you are mistreated by having a meatless Tuesday, think — think deeply about these things.

Deadline For Senior Pictures Is April 15

The deadline for senior and group pictures for the senior edition is 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Miss Margaret Jones, Little Harvester sponsor, announced Wednesday. Individual senior pictures must be made at Smith's Studio in the 50 cent size.

Student Council Will Have Amateur Program April 14

Student Council is planning the first money-making campaign of the year. It will be an amateur program to be given April 14 during the assembly period.

120 Band Members Perform at Base Tuesday Night

Transported in seven army trucks and a Liberty bus the Pampa Junior High and Senior High school bands made the 12 mile trip to the Advanced Twin Engine Flying School near Pampa March 30.

Smelser Promotes Several Students Taking Military Drill

The physical education classes, under the direction of Miss Mary Smelser, are learning military drill.

Algebra Classes Study Solving Problems

Algebra and advanced arithmetic classes, under the direction of Miss Mary Herriage, are studying the solving of problems it was announced recently.

Meatless Tuesdays in View

Yes, it's true you may not have as much meat to eat in the future as you have had previously. You have already found that candy is scarce when you "jog" down to the cafeteria between periods, and the red sign "EMPTY" on the "coke" machine is found to be lighted more often.

Only Four Girls Do Not Plan Further Schooling

From a survey made by Miss Margaret Jones of the plans of the senior girls after they have finished school, it was found that only four did not plan further schooling.

Shop Class Receives New Shipment For Model Airplanes

Shop classes that are making model airplanes received a new shipment of the model airplanes Monday, Mr. Paul Boyer, shop teacher said Monday.

Gene Lunsford Is Selected As Junior Rotarian

The Junior Rotarian for April is Gene Lunsford, blue-eyed Gene Lunsford. Gene is seventeen years old, his birthday being December 22. He hails from Megargle, Texas.

English Students Are Writing Letters

Writing business letters is the latest phase of English to be studied by Miss Margaret Jones' senior class for entering the different classes.

Algebra Classes Follow Text Book

The first year algebra students are divided into two different groups. One group is more advanced than the other, and the assignments are somewhat different.

Junior Red Cross Decorates Windows

Attractive scrapbooks are in the display windows by the gym. They were made by the Junior Red Cross this week, states Mrs. Robert Sanford, head of the Junior Red Cross in Pampa High school.

Paul Boyer Leaves Pampa High School

Prior to his leaving Pampa High school for a position in Houston, Mr. Paul Boyer gave this farewell message: "I deeply regret leaving Pampa High at this time, and I want my students to continue their work wholeheartedly and conscientiously under their new instructor."

Biologists Dissect, Sketch, Smell Fish

That "fishy" smell that followed you all over the building last week was not the results of the latest exploits of the chemistry class, but it did come definitely with science.

SKIRTS, BLOUSES PROJECTS

The homemaking classes are starting on the skirts and blouses project. Mrs. Leslie Hart, teacher, Wednesday afternoon. The students are now completing their class projects; then they will begin new projects.

Smelser Promotes Several Students Taking Military Drill

The physical education classes, under the direction of Miss Mary Smelser, are learning military drill.

SPORTSMANSHIP AWARDS WON BY PAMPA BOYS AT SHAMROCK

Although not faring so well on the "flits won" side of the ledger, Pampa fighters carried back from the Shamrock Invitation Boxing meet, held March 25 and 26, an honor that means almost as much to any good sport.

Only High Schools Set Records in War-Shattered Texas Relays

National Shot Put Mark Is Broken

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AUSTIN, April 3 (AP)—Texas schools dominated their own Texas relays more than at any time in the 16-year history of this track and field carnival today, but not with record-breaking performances and partly because travel restrictions kept most traditional standbys at home.

Two state schools—Texas and A. and M.—each took two championships in this war-tattered Texas relays, and the only outside team to edge in with a title was Oklahoma A. and M.

The college-university class drew less than half the contestants of normal years, but this was not so in the high school division where the only records were set—one of them a national mark.

Dewitt Coulter, black-haired football giant from Masonic Home (Post Worth) threw the shot 59 feet 1 1/2 inches to better the national school-astle record set in 1930 by Elwyn Dees of Lorraine, Kas., by three and one-half inches.

One other record was broken and another tied. Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) ran the 440-yard relay in 43.4, and Charley Parker, Jefferson's Dashman, unbeaten for two years, raced the 100 yards in 9.9 seconds.

The relay time, hung up by a team of Bill Eagle, Jack Grieder, Homer West and Parker, was five-tenths of a second better than the old record set by Jefferson in the preliminaries. The mark until today was 44.4. It was made by Goose Creek last year.

Howard Payne was the only school other than Texas and Texas A. and M. to win two relay crowns. They did this in the college division.

Ralph Tate of Oklahoma A. and M. was the standout individual of the relays. He won the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.3, with Bill Cummings of Rice, National A. A. U. champion, finishing third behind Doug Jacques of Texas. Tate also took the broad jump with 24 feet 9 inches, and ran a fine lap on the mile relay team to beat out Texas A. and M. for the only out-of-state victory.

Texas won the spring relay and took the distance medley while Texas A. and M. won the two-mile and sprint medley.

Thomas Jefferson led in relay winners in the high school class, taking the 440 and the sprint medley, while John Reagan of Houston won the mile relay.

Two records were considered in danger in the university class—the high jump and the pole vault. But Pete Watkins of Texas A. and M. lacked five-eighths of an inch of reaching the mark in the former and was tied for first by Donovan of Drake, while Billy Moore of Drake went only 13 feet—a foot and three-eighths of an inch under the record—in the pole vault.

Watkins has leaped six feet eight and Moore has soared to 14 feet in their specialties but they couldn't come close to that today.

Little Jerry Thompson, Texas' great long-distance runner, won the 3,000 meters by 200 yards over Dave Clutterham of Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., but his time of 9:01.4 was far off the record set in 1940 by Don Lash of Indiana at 8:34.1.

A crowd estimated at 4,000 sat in perfect track weather for the 27-event program.

Miss Jackie McKay of Madisonville, was crowned queen of the relays by Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president of the university.

Matty Didn't Think Anybody Could Hit Him Safely — And Big Six Generally Was Right

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Christopher Mathewson was broad-shouldered, slightly knock-kneed, stood six feet, one-and-a-half inches and weighed 195 pounds.

Big Six was the number of New York's principal fire-engine house of the period, and Sam Crane, baseball writer, wrote: "Mathewson is certainly the Big Six of pitchers." He was, and the name stuck.

Matty had an imperturbable and unshakable air in the box. There was a contemptuous look in his pale blue eyes. He despised the opposition in a big, indolent sort of way.

It rather annoyed Matty to think that a batter suspected that he could hit him safely, and generally he was right. The batter couldn't.

Because the incomparable right-hander spent practically his entire career with him, it was to be expected that John McGraw would call Matty the greatest pitcher who ever lived.

But Connie Mack saying the same thing is the finest compliment ever paid a ball player. Mack is as much an American leaguer as McGraw was a National leaguer, and had some fair to middling pitchers down through the years—from Waddell, Bender, Plank and Coombs to Robert Moses Grove. The Old Man also saw a lot of a few others, including Walter Johnson.

No pitcher had his stuff.

"With Johnson, it was brute force," explains Mack. "With Mathewson, it was knowledge and judgment, perfect control and form. It was a pleasure to watch him pitch when he wasn't pitching against you."

Andy Coakley, who opposed Matty in the World Series of 1906 and 1908, agrees with McGraw and Mack.

"Mathewson developed his own stuff," asserts the veteran Columbia coach, "and had stuff no other pitcher ever had."

"He was the greatest guesser I ever saw. He was fast enough, and at his best threw a beautiful curve and what I would call a fallaway. The latter was almost a straight drop which broke around the knees. He threw this ball three out of five times; yet a hitter would never get it when he was looking for it."

"Mathewson did not develop the fadeaway for which he is remembered until he was almost through. It was the opposite of the screwball ball thrown by Carl Hubbell, a southpaw. It required a twist of the wrist, and consequently was hard on the arm."

Three-eighths of an inch under the record—in the pole vault.

Watkins has leaped six feet eight and Moore has soared to 14 feet in their specialties but they couldn't come close to that today.

Little Jerry Thompson, Texas' great long-distance runner, won the 3,000 meters by 200 yards over Dave Clutterham of Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., but his time of 9:01.4 was far off the record set in 1940 by Don Lash of Indiana at 8:34.1.

Tex Hughson May Win 30 Contests

By JUDSON BAILEY
BROOKLYN, April 3 (AP)—The funny thing about Cecil (Tex) Hughson is that about this time a year ago he was ready to quit baseball. Now he is booked as a potential 30-game winner for the Boston Red Sox.

Few persons not connected with the Red Sox knew of his intentions a year ago. But last spring Tex had a sore arm and he was doubtful of being it fixed. He hurt it in August, 1941, soon after joining the Red Sox.

The trouble was still there last spring and finally Hughson told Manager Joe Cronin that unless he could get his arm in shape there was no use staying around. The Red Sox were in Miami to play an exhibition game and Hughson was sent to a young doctor and was left in Miami when the Red Sox pulled out.

"I don't know how many I will win," he said soberly. "It's true I'll have a chance to win more games, but I know I can't win them just by myself. I'm going to miss that Don Duggan in Springfield, he's the greatest centerfielder I ever saw—with no exceptions."

The folks at home were telling me before I left that I wouldn't have to face such tough hitters this year. Well, I told them I wouldn't be having such tough ones on my side this year, either. We have lost the first four men in our batting order—Dimaggio leading off, Pesky, Finney, and Williams."

Hughson, however, is in wonderful shape and the big Texan was due to get his first competitive trial of the season today in an exhibition game with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Canadian, Indian Give Cleveland Colorful Crop of Rookie Hurlers

MUNCIE, Ind., April 3 (AP)—Cleveland has one of the most colorful rookie pitching combinations in the major leagues in Paul Calvert of Montreal, Canada, and Allie "Chief" Reynolds, in Indiana from Oklahoma.

Both are college graduates, Calvert majoring in commerce at the University of Montreal and the "Chief" receiving his B. S. degree at Oklahoma Aggies. Together they won 35 games for Wilkes-Barre last year.

The 26-year-old Indian had a hard time getting started in baseball because his father, a minister, would not allow him to play the game on Sunday. Reynolds finally left home, got married before he was out of high school, and enrolled at Aggies with a fine reputation as a football player and track man.

He went out for baseball to try and cut down his weight, and after three years of starring on the mound he found several major league clubs chasing him when it came time to graduate. Giving up a teaching career, he signed with Cleveland in 1939 and was farmed to Springfield, O., Cedar Rapids, Ia., and then Wilkes-Barre.

Last year he won 18 games, getting a new earned run mark in the Eastern league of 1.56, leading in

Steers Beat Owls In Season Opener

HOUSTON, April 3 (AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns registered a 10-2 victory over Rice yesterday in the opening Southwest conference baseball game of the season.

Jim Collins set the Owls down with three scattered hits and every Longhorn except Catcher Rex Travis hit safely. Texas scored in five innings.

Joel Hunt Joins Topeka Air Base

TOPEKA, April 3 (AP)—Lieut. Joel Hunt, former head football coach at Georgia and Wyoming universities, will take charge of athletics and recreation at the Topeka air base, Commander Earl T. Vance said today. Hunt reported for duty here yesterday.

He was on the coaching staff of Louisiana State university when called into service last year. He also spent five years with the St. Louis Cardinal baseball organization.

Baker Happy With Indians

MUNCIE, Ind., April 3 (AP)—Del Baker's switch in baseball jobs, from manager of the Detroit Tigers to a Cleveland Indians coaching berth, was a happy conversion—for Del Baker.

While many might consider the change a bad break, Baker, who piloted the Tigers from 1938 through the 1942 season, says he is completely satisfied and happy in his new duties as coach of the Indians, who are in training here.

"I'm happy in my new job," Baker said, "and perhaps I would have to think twice before accepting another position as a manager."

Baker, for years a Detroit catcher, emphasized that he had no ill feelings about losing his managerial post. "President Walter Briggs always treated me swell and I have a lot of respect for him," he said. "Lon Boudreau, Cleveland manager, is quick to praise the steel-haired Baker as a valuable acquisition."

"You ought to see what he's doing with Pitcher Al Milnar," exclaimed the 25-year-old skipper. "Milnar always had a hesitation in his wind-up and it even got so bad the batters could tell what he was going to throw. Well, Baker has been working on him all spring. Now he's windmilling the ball without a hitch. He may win a lot of games for us this season, Baker deserves all the credit, although he won't admit it."

called to put out a grass fire at 800 E. Foster.

No hose was strung at any of the nine fires, only the booster from the trucks being used.

Hardest hit on the damage list was the house fire in Hughes-Pitts addition, a new house, and the rig timber fire south of town.

What caused the fires? Firemen say they are at a loss to understand, except that extreme dryness of grass makes fires doubly liable to happen now.

AMERICANS

sive since March 19 had destroyed more than twice as many enemy aircraft as the Allies had lost in carrying out a series of heavy, far-flung attacks.

Including Friday's operations, a total of 172 Axis planes had been shot down.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in North Africa, returned from the Tunisian fronts to report that British, American and French forces were "continuing to make satisfactory progress" in their campaign to smash the Axis out of Africa.

He said every British and American citizen and every British and American soldier "had a right to draw pride and inspiration" from the record of the Allied troops and fliers who had driven Marshal Erwin Rommel from his Mareth fortifications and are working in harmony and union toward the "eventual complete defeat of all our enemies."

In Russia, where the fighting is bogged down almost completely in the morasses of spring, the Soviets triumphantly published their first front map of the war to document their reconquest of 185,328 square miles in their great winter offensive against the Germans.

The Red army captured another town in the Caucasus to tighten its semi-circle around the Nazi bridgehead at Novorossisk, wiped out 450 Germans attacking the Donets river line and also seized a crossing over that river, Moscow announced early Sunday.

The midnight communique recorded by the Soviet Monitor identified the captured locality in the Caucasus as Prikubansky, presumably in the Anastasevskaya area 33 miles north of Novorossisk.

Little essential change, however, was reported in the long front between Leningrad and the Caucasus following the issuance in Moscow yesterday of official maps illustrating the huge strides made by the Russians during the winter.

magnitude and importance of the job outlined to them that they formed the committee called the Allied newspaper council.

This council pledged its complete support to the drive, and promised to carry the message—and keep on carrying it—to 130,000,000 Americans through their newspapers.

This is to be done both through newspaper advertising.

Basil L. ("Stuff") Walters, executive editor of the Minneapolis Star-Journal and Tribune, secretary of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and president of the Associated Press Managing Editors association, says he thinks the job facing the newspapers of the nation—to publicize properly the necessity of everybody investing every idle dollar in war bonds—is "the most terrific job that has ever confronted American newspapers."

It's even bigger than the newspaper scrap drive last fall.

A resident family of janitor lives, eats, and sleeps in each Brazilian theater.

TEACHER MOVES

Principal J. H. Duncan, above, with the LeFors Independent School district for the past 11 years, has moved to Shreveport, La., where he has taken a position as professor of science at Centenary college. Mrs. Duncan and their daughter Betty Gretchen joined him there yesterday, where the family will make their home at 135 College.

The professor came to LeFors as a football coach in 1932, and continued in that employment for two years, before becoming junior high principal, the position he held at the time he accepted the offer of Centenary. He resigned a week ago to take the new position. Work with the Boy Scout movement was his chief civic activity. Principal Duncan was scoutmaster of Troop 19.

Non-Coms Open Club in Pampa

Both civic and military authorities were present last night at the official opening of the Pampa Army Air Field's Non-Commissioned Officers Club, 306 West Foster.

Col. Daniel S. Campbell, commanding officer at Pampa Field; Major W. B. Marschner, executive officer; Mayor Fred Thompson, City Recorder Daniel McGrew, County Judge Sherman White and Sheriff C. H. Kyle, were among those present.

They were greeted by M. Sgt. Robert Anderson, president of the newly formed group, who expressed the feelings of all the "non-coms" when he said that the purpose of the club was to create a unity of thought and action among the non-commissioned officers, to build and maintain the efficiency and the morale of the men under them.

More than 100 members were present last night and joined in the festivities. The "Victory Four," a colored quartet, made up of members of 528th Squadron, sang several selections.

SEGER

told by their government officials that it was coming and that it would be terrible. So they expected it and got set for it. That's why they had the courage to endure it.

"But, in Germany it is different. The people of Germany were told by Goebbels and Goering that British planes never would fly over German territory, that England would be wiped off the map, and that the people of Germany would be secure in their homes. They were told there was nothing to worry about. For that reason, they weren't expecting it and weren't prepared for it. They still aren't prepared for it and its getting worse every day. Because they were not prepared for it by their leaders they are not psychologically set to endure it. They lack the courage to stand up under what is coming."

Dr. Seger believes the defenses of Italy will crumble quickly. Having spent some time in Italy as a German soldier in World War I, Dr. Seger said he had gained a pretty good insight as to Italian morale.

"The Axis partners are doomed," he said, "and when the break comes—everything will happen rapidly."

In his talk before the Kiwanis club, the speaker explained how the Nazi fifth column operates in the United States.

"They have a system," he said, "and it works."

Back in 1938, he stated, the Nazis circulated a questionnaire in every school and educational system in Germany. The parents of all the students were asked to fill it out. One of the answers to be filled in required the name and address of every relative of the family abroad. When completed it gave Hitler a complete check on every resident in Germany who had relatives in foreign lands. It worked the other way around, too. Nazi agents in this country when they ran into a German-American who wasn't sympathetic could immediately threaten that person by promising harm to relatives in Germany and it was done many times.

"The file was used for intimidation purposes," Dr. Seger said. "It caused many to do the bidding of Hitler whether they wished to or not."

The speaker said there are seven million Americans of German descent in this country and that five per cent, or 350,000, of them are Nazi sympathizers. While this percentage is small, he said, it still is a serious menace.

Of Cabbages and Queens

By JANE BARA

By far the nicest idea that has come this way in a long time, is the one dreamed up a few weeks ago by Mrs. H. E. Schwartz and Mrs. Paul Tabor. It was their idea to provide a place for the Cadets' wives to entertain, to become acquainted with each other, and to do the things they like to do in the way of playing cards, sewing, knitting and such. Their hospital instincts weren't dented by the coffee rationing either, and their pride and joy in demi-tasse cups are not being stuck back on the shelves, because the wives bring their own refreshments, and use their ration point books, then they are given the kitchen to prepare just what sounds best! And from here it looks like a huge success—

Mrs. Jack Hanna is to be the next hostess, come Friday at 2 and has invited all the Cadets' wives to attend to see, knit or what not—Mrs. Earl O'Brien will be present to give a lending hand for those just learning to play bridge.

With Easter coming up, it is no time to forget the boy friend in service. They will love you forever if you remember them with a sort of special gift, just for them. Something that is easy to send is a box of sweet cracker, some tasty nuts, gundrops, soap and cigarettes all done up in bright yellow and silver paper.

What a terribly dull affair life must be for contented people.

Among the out of town visitors in Pampa this week are Mrs. J. T. Kee, and Mrs. B. Norwood, of El Paso, The Dayton Whites, 403 Great, at host and hostess. Also of interest—Elwood White left Monday for training at Ft. Sill. Mrs. Guy Foley of Miami, is guest in the L. E. Lyles home.

Congratulations go to Delbert Hughes who has returned from Dallas—Delbert passed the Naval Reserve Cadet examination.

Angels are alright in their place, but for the most of us they are mighty dull company.

There's not much question about it, the Paul Schmieder's very blonde daughter, Heidi, with all her two years, has the most pergamating orbs that ever came my way, and they should be warning for 1957 quota males—it used to be when, if by chance; there would be no war going on, then the fellows got up a deadly family feud with the next door neighbor, and if they had a few spare moments on their hands, they occupied them with whose sweetheart was the best looking, the argument employed on both sides being battle-axes, clubs, etc., and if, when he got out, he met a man and broke his head—the other man's head I mean—that proved that his—the first fellow's girl was a pretty girl. But if the other fellow broke his head—not his own, you know, but the other fellow's—the other fellow to the second fellow, that is, because of course, the other fellow would only be the other fellow to him, not the first fellow, who—well, if he broke his head, then HIS girl—not the other fellow's, but the fellow who was—Look here—If A broke B's head, then A's girl was a pretty girl; but if B broke A's head, then A's girl wasn't a pretty girl, but B's girl was.—That was their method of conducting art criticism. Nowadays fellows just light a pipe and let the girls fight it out for themselves. . . . Maybe it is a good thing that the days of clubs and feuds has past, because Heidi flirts in pure innocence.

April weather is like a woman—it does not know its mind five minutes ahead of time. It's supposed to be charming on that account, so poets put it.

Braids, checked aprons, blue hair-bows, dirndl skirts, and ankle socks, Eugenia Phelps, Loretta McArthur, March winds April showers (we hope) and the entire absence of May flowers, all go to make up something or other that hits you around April first. The two above mentioned girls breezed by this desk bright and early April Fools' Day—dressed in above mentioned fashion—Let's just hope that their particular mode of attire doesn't become a permanent one.

"Court a Miss, she denies you. Let her alone, she will court you." —Ben Johnson

Seemingly—there is no end to the new ideas that our government directives can come across with—last January, Mr. McNutt, Manpower czar, turned over to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard the homework involved in getting workers on the farms so we can meet our food production schedule. Mr. Wickard responded with a four-point program, all of which counts heavily of farm maids. Now up in Washington five hundred of the nation's girls have enrolled as corn huskers to take the places of the Oakes, and the Arkies that have gone to war. Nope, there is just no end to what women can do to end the farmers' burden. Dairymaids from way back, they are tops in machine milking, butter-making, running separators, washing and caring for milk utensils, and mixing grains. You won't be in clover—but you'll make sure the cows are. To you, the glad apple will be the first one you snap off like an expert, without bruising the branches. When you make hay this summer, it won't be just for fun—but for fodder. Sounds like a good idea for those would be farmerettes—they did it in World War I.

The longer I live the more I'm convinced that folks are divided into Givers and Takers. The Takers seem to be getting more. They are getting, aren't they? But look around, and you will find that the Givers are having the best time of it. Getting the most out of life, even while they give.

Sweating cleans you out like gunpowder does the wash-house chimney.

In the way of fashion—California's craze for peasant blouses is catching. White jersey blouses with sun-bright flora, plus pretty rustic rayon skirts with big deep pockets, are the timely contributions to spring.

Vacationing down Mexico way this month are the Sam Leals' and son Jerry. They are down to get their quota of vitamin D and indulge in all the different varieties of Mexican food. Mrs. Leal will probably vacation from super modernistic to the gay colors of our southern neighbors when she returns.

I don't know why it should be so, but it's an undeniable fact that there is nothing that makes a man so supremely ridiculous as losing his hat.

Word comes this week from Bertou Doucette, stationed somewhere in the Pacific, in a letter to his mother, Mrs. A. H. Doucette, that the Yuletide spirit still reigns over there. Bertou wrote his mother that he had received his Christmas box with ear muffs, sweaters, cakes, muffins and candy all mixed up in one glorious mess. The irony of it all. The blazing red ear muffs reach him with the temperature hitting a new high.

Let us be so vain that we pride ourselves on thinking high thoughts, achieving great deeds, living good lives.

The raw materials which each month move into just one of our aviation industries for airplane engine making would fill a freight train 160 miles long.

Announcement Of Coming Marriage Is Made Friday

Announcement was made Friday of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Marie Farrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Farrington, to Sgt. Emmett A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson, of Sacramento, California.

The announcement was made at a breakfast at the Schneider hotel. Table decorations were of red and white carnations. By the side of each place setting, there were individual corsages of the carnations, tied with red, white and blue ribbon. On tiny cards was written "Marie and Bud, April 25".

Guests include Mmes. George Dwyer, J. H. Lewis, W. D. Benton, Lillian Phillips, Vivian Mann, C. C. Stockstill, Bertha Chetum, Winifred McLemore, Guy Farrington, and H. D. Balthrop.

Misses Helen Brewer, Jerry Terrell, Orveta Puet, Nancy Sparks, Leona Parker, Bonnie Lee Rose, Margaret Stockstill, and Margaret Tignor.

Mrs. Jack Water Is Shower Honoree

As a post-nuptial courtesy to Mrs. Jack Water, the former Miss Christine Austin, Mrs. E. B. Jones and Mrs. Sam Green entertained with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Green.

The guests were entertained with a comic mock wedding, directed by Mrs. V. A. Oglevie.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decoration and refreshments.

Presiding at the guest book was Mrs. E. B. Jones, with the following women registering: Mmes. J. C. Waters, C. A. Austin, E. B. Jones, Conney Terry, Walter Smith, B. Moore, Sam Green, V. A. Oglevie, Jack Pattillo, G. E. Groberg, and Miss Laverne Austin.

Those sending gifts were Mmes. Irma Miller, Bob Clements, W. F. Harlan, Frank Carpenter, D. M. Cover, Ed Bryant, T. M. Cross, Betty Brewer, Loyd Davidson, Fred Anderson, J. H. Hartin, I. B. Nobles, Dorothy Statton, C. H. Cannon, E. Crawford, Charles Statts, Gordon Gaston, Fred Hinkley, Lon Matherson, C. L. Lance, John Hand, and J. A. Arwood; Misses Glenda Davidson and Marida Lee Greer.

Pampa Girl Takes Drafting Course

Special to THE NEWS.—DENTON, April 3.—Among the defense courses offered at Texas State College for Women is a drafting course in which Miss Vera Vollmert of Pampa is enrolled.

The course is designed to train students for commercial or government jobs at the snap of a finger," asserted Miss Edith Brisac, professor in the art department.

Miss Vollmert is a senior majoring in costume design. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Vollmert.

Mrs. C. O. Drew Is Hostess to Club

Mrs. C. O. Drew was hostess to the Thursday afternoon Bridge club, held in the home of Mrs. A. B. Zahn, 822 N. Somerville, Thursday, April 1.

Tables were decorated with gay spring flowers, with place cards of spring flower motif.

Coming Marriage Of Miss Sara Bourland Announced at Party

Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Bourland announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sara, to James Edward Leverich, flying instructor at the Stamford Flying school, at a house party given Friday evening, at their home.

Mrs. R. S. McConnell received the guests at the door, with Miss Heidi Schneider presiding at the guest book.

The table was set at each end with ten and coffee service sets, and silver candleabra. Mrs. J. W. Graham poured, with Miss Jackie Hurst and Mrs. J. B. Massa assisting.

A large circular mirror, bordered by pink and blue sweet peas was the base for a silver airplane, that was used as centerpiece.

Reflected from the airplane wings, into the mirror was "Sara and Jimmy, April 21." The only lighting in the entire room was from the candles and a small light in the cockpit of the airplane.

Pink and blue mints, and individual squares of cake, decorated with tiny candy doves were served the guests. The napkins were of blue with "Sara and Jimmy" inscribed in silver.

Mrs. Chester Thompson played piano selections. Mrs. Raymond W. Harrah sang and gave a musical reading for the following guests: Mmes. Violet McAfee, Bryant Caraway, Ida Adams, W. D. Kelley, C. S. Boston, John Hestey, C. F. Benedict, C. L. McKinney Sherman White, E. B. Bowen, Clyde Blackwell, Ivy Duncan, Frank Culberson, and Arthur Teed.

Misses Lucille Saunders and Betty Culberson.

11 Brothers in Service, Girl Joins WAACS

Miss Patricia G. Smith of Dallas joined the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps to back up her 11 brothers, all in overseas service in the army.

Above she points out on a map some of the far-flung spots where her brothers are fighting. Patricia and two of her brothers are triplets. Another set of triplets is composed of Claude, Carl and Clayton. Besides a set of twins, Ralph and Roy, four others are Bert, Earl, Donald and Fred. Her father lost his life in World War I just before Patricia was born.

Rev. Stack to Speak At P. T. A. Meeting

The Rev. William J. Stack will speak "Sacrificing Cheerfully," when the Horace Mann Parent-Teacher association meets at the school, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Music will be furnished by the Horace Mann chorus under the direction of Miss Marion Reichling. Mrs. F. E. Leech will give the devotional.

Engagement Of Former Pampa Girl Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stallings, former residents of Pampa, now of Amarillo, announce the engagement of their daughter, Irene, to Lieutenant Raymond L. Scheffhout of the Army Air Corp, and son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Scheffhout of Oskosh, Minnesota.

Miss Stallings, who is a student of the Oklahoma College for Women in Chickasha, was accompanied by her mother to Waco, Texas where Lieutenant Scheffhout received his commission and wings last week.

Mmes. West-Payne Are Co-Hostesses

Mrs. Lawrence West and Mrs. J. C. Payne were co-hostesses to the Clara Hill Sunday School class Tuesday evening in the West home at 502 N. Warren street.

After the devotional and business session Mrs. L. C. Lockhart led the group in games.

Refreshments were served to one guest, Mrs. J. A. Grundy and the following members: Mrs. A. B. Whitten, Mrs. E. C. Rupp, Mrs. R. N. Landress, Mrs. Don Lasher, Mrs. Neil Garrett Mrs. Frank Shotwell, Mrs. J. W. Crisler, Mrs. Percy Rowe, Mrs. L. C. Lockhart, Mrs. Roy Kilgore and Mrs. Glenn Radcliff.

Girl Scouts Need Women to Serve As Instructors

The Pampa Girl Scout council is looking for women over 21 to give two hours a week of their time as leaders of Girl Scout troops. The council will give these women help and training for their jobs, suggestions on how to start and how to keep going with interesting activities.

The waiting list of scouting is growing longer every day. To be a scout leader is a tremendous opportunity for any woman. Her service to the nation will be multiplied and will not end when the war ends. The attitudes and knowledge that girls learn in scouting today can influence the whole future of America.

"I'd like to do more for victory—but I'm only one person and what's one person when there's so much to be done?"

Sometimes we hear men say that; more often we hear women say it—housewives or office workers who feel cut off from the exciting main stream of the war effort. And they're partly right. Saving one family's tin cans, mending sheets, and carrying a pound of waste fat to the butcher does seem like only a drop in the bucket. If these women could see their efforts multiplied by 10 or 20 or even 30 they'd feel that they were making a real contribution.

To see one's war contribution literally multiplied by 20 sounds impossible. Actually it is not impossible at all. At least one organization in Pampa stands ready to give volunteers a chance to do just that. The Pampa Girl Scout council has many girls on its waiting list who are eager to do more war work, eager to learn the ways of good citizenship (a war job in itself), eager to help their elders hasten the day of victory. The women who lead these girls are not only utilizing an important part of our country's potential strength, but are helping to combat the threat of increased juvenile delinquency among young girls who want to "do something" about the war, but who lack proper outlets for their energy and the stabilizing effect of scout standards and fellowship.

Many Pampa women will want to take advantage of the outdoor activity course which will begin Monday at the city hall, with Mrs. Lynn Boyd as instructor.

Mrs. A. D. Robinson has completed a course for leaders of intermediate scouts and this group plans to have a party to celebrate it's completion. The following women entered into the discussions that were part of the instructions: Mrs. Cleo Hoyley, Mrs. L. E. Fray, Mrs. C. O. Drew, Mrs. Edith Roth, Mrs. L. E. West, Mrs. R. B. Allen, Mrs. A. A. Proctor, Mrs. Ed Weiss, Mrs. J. L. McCrary, Mrs. John Mobley, and Mrs. N. L. Nichol.

To Speak

Father Henry Courtney, of the order of St. Benedict, Atchison, will conduct the Mission which starts Sunday night at 7:45.

Masses are to be held each morning at 6, 7, and 8 o'clock. Evening service at 7:45, each evening.

All are cordially invited by the pastor, Father William John Stack.

U. S. O. Features March Birthday Party at Dance

A collective birthday party was the theme of the USO dance held Wednesday evening in the Junior High school gymnasium. Some 300 soldiers and 85 Victory Belles attended the gala occasion.

Hostesses at the desk in charge of greeting guests were: Col. Mrs. Lottie Ochiltree, the majors, Mrs. Tom Bliss, Lynn Boyd, Mrs. Roy McCernan, and Mrs. Paul Tabor. Other hostesses were Mrs. Walter Biery, Mrs. Jack Hanna, Mrs. Dave Finkelstein, Mrs. Tom Leahy, Mrs. Ira Spangler, Mrs. L. P. Ward, Mrs. Bob Posey, Mrs. Mel Davis, Mrs. Chester Thompson, Mrs. Clinton Henry, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. Mike Roache, Mrs. Crawford Atkinson, and Mrs. W. C. deCordova.

These ladies also issued badges which are worn by the Victory Belles during the dance.

A large six-layer birthday cake adorned with candles and with the inscription "Happy Birthday" was placed in the center of the table. Spring bouquets of daffodil and forsythia were placed around the cake.

All soldiers whose birthday came in the month of March gathered around to blow out the candles on the cake, and each was asked to make a silent wish. In each place of cake there were small tokens, each having a particular meaning.

Attending from LeFors was Mrs. Hank Breining and eight Victory Belles.

LeFors to Have Home Nursing Class

Plans are under way for a Home Nursing class to start Monday in LeFors. The class will be held in the school auditorium with classes taught by Mrs. Joe Stephens.

The purpose of the first meeting will be the organization of the class, and Mrs. Stephens urges that all women interested register for the course.

Cadet Wives Are Invited to Attend Social Hour, Friday

The Garden club is inviting the Pampa Air Base Cadet Wives to attend the social hour planned especially for them, Friday at 4 o'clock, in the city club room.

The club members welcome all wives to attend. Special invitations will not be sent out, but it is hoped that all cadet wives interested will be their guests.

FLIGHT NURSES HAVE EXTENSIVE WARDROBE—Training for service in the newest and perhaps the most spectacular war activity open to the women of the United States is the Evacuation group of flight nurses, Army Nurse Corps, Kentucky. They minister to wounded soldiers being carried by air ambulance from active theaters to hospitals far behind the lines. Their arms loaded with heavy winter flying suits, these flying nurses of the Army Nurse Corps, march to their plane for a training flight. They are, left to right: Anna G. Ranaborn, Buchanan, Michigan; Patricia E. Corrigan, Chicago, Illinois; Ruth V. Finnie, Youngstown, Ohio; Geraldine L. Curtis, Warika, Oklahoma. E. and Irene McMullen, Macon, Georgia; all are second lieutenants.

A new shipment of yarn is on the way and there will soon be plenty of knitting on hand again.

Troop 2, Girl Scouts, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church turned in 42 knitted afghan squares last week.

If you have counted correctly, there are 12 women who have given over 50 hours of service to the Red Cross this month in the production department.

On Thursday of last week, the knitted officers-of-the-day met in the production room to consider new government regulations concerning knitted garments. When you are in the production room read the letter that is posted on the bulletin board and the one concerning sewed garments, too.

From now on all chapter-produced knitted articles are going to be for emergency use only and for that reason they must be perfectly made. Mrs. W. G. Kinzer said that she felt the new regulations were good, for if a group of men came in after their ship had been torpedoed, they would have to have garments that could be put on worn right then. (I knew that she was referring to small things as necks being too small to get into, etc. Mrs. Kinzer has re-knit many garments just because she feels that she cannot send off a garment that is not wearable.)

Only experienced knitters are to be issued yarn for garments such as sweaters, gloves, and socks from

WAKE UP, AMERICA! Does Congress Have Adequate Control Over Government Expenditures?
Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr. Member of Congress, New Jersey
MR. YOUNG OPENS: Adequate Congressional control over government expenditures means Congress should determine total amounts spent in a fiscal year and be informed how effectively this money is spent. Congressional procedures are deficient on both points. Instead of passing a budget bill, Congress passes a dozen appropriation bills. These 10,000-word bills are detailed beyond comprehension; the attention of Congress is thus diverted to considering specific allocations about which it knows little. Occasionally, Congress appropriates money in large amounts, then it can only hope that maligned bureaucrats will exercise prudence. Congress never knows how effectively money has been spent there is no post-audit system to inform Congress whether the country is getting a dollar's worth of government service for every dollar appropriated. Congress attempts to tell bureaucrats how they can spend the money, and the bureaucrats HAVE to spend it. Something is wrong. Most Congressmen know it. Every session there are countless proposals to give the Committee on Appropriations a larger staff; Congress appropriates money in power; or place the Bureau of the Budget under Congressional control. Anyone who has examined Congressional debates on, say, military appropriations before the war, would be amazed by the lack of interest shown by Congressmen in important public questions and their great interest in local affairs. REP. HARTLEY CHALLENGES: Rep. Young's bill would you remedy what you seem to consider the weaknesses of the Congressmen in general, the House Appropriations Committee, in particular, and what you characterize as "lack of interest" and in consideration of given appropriation bills on the floor of the Congress? Would you change the system of standing committees and investigate committees? Would you endeavor to set up special technical groups to duplicate the research of the executive branch? Have you in order to give Congress first-hand expert information from its own independent investigators? Would you dispense with the General Accounting System, Post-Audit System? MR. YOUNG REPLIES: Representative Hartley wants to change the subject; he wants to discuss cures for obsolete fiscal control and to skip over the weakness I have pointed out. These weaknesses, briefly, of the undue attention Congress gives to details and Congress' failure to debate and to determine broad questions of fiscal policy—in other words, to search after the pennies and let the dollars slide. I should like to ask you, Representative Hartley, how many times during your 14 years in Congress you have ever commented on an appropriation bill? But I am not blaming you for this indiscretion; the fault is in the procedure. Thirty-four foreign languages are used in the overseas broadcasting station. Red, white, and blue are the world's favorite colors for flags.

WAKE UP, AMERICA! Does Congress Have Adequate Control Over Government Expenditures?
Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr. Member of Congress, New Jersey
MR. YOUNG OPENS: Adequate Congressional control over government expenditures means Congress should determine total amounts spent in a fiscal year and be informed how effectively this money is spent. Congressional procedures are deficient on both points. Instead of passing a budget bill, Congress passes a dozen appropriation bills. These 10,000-word bills are detailed beyond comprehension; the attention of Congress is thus diverted to considering specific allocations about which it knows little. Occasionally, Congress appropriates money in large amounts, then it can only hope that maligned bureaucrats will exercise prudence. Congress never knows how effectively money has been spent there is no post-audit system to inform Congress whether the country is getting a dollar's worth of government service for every dollar appropriated. Congress attempts to tell bureaucrats how they can spend the money, and the bureaucrats HAVE to spend it. Something is wrong. Most Congressmen know it. Every session there are countless proposals to give the Committee on Appropriations a larger staff; Congress appropriates money in power; or place the Bureau of the Budget under Congressional control. Anyone who has examined Congressional debates on, say, military appropriations before the war, would be amazed by the lack of interest shown by Congressmen in important public questions and their great interest in local affairs.

Wife-Swapping Agreement Revealed
INDIANAPOLIS, April 3 (AP)—All innocent petition for the support of children filed recently in Marion county superior court revealed today a wife-swapping agreement rivaling an old balzac tale for frankness. Judge Emsley W. Johnson, Jr., identifying the couples only as Mr. A. and Mrs. A. and Mr. B. and Mrs. B., said he had learned this story in a hearing on the petition: "The terms of the agreement were carried out and now Mrs. A. now the mother of five children, has returned to live with her husband, Mr. A. But Mrs. A. refused to leave the youngest child in the B home, and filed the petition demanding that Mr. B pay for their support." "The evidence being what it was," Judge Johnson said, "I threw the whole case out and refused judgment to anyone."

Will Their Love Change to Hate In the Jungle?
Life in the jungle is a continuous battle for survival against the steady beat of the rain, never-changing heat, boredom, and loneliness. Far from the steady influences of civilization, a lone girl and a courageous man fight an age-old struggle. Will the jungle change their love to bitter hatred? Here is the story of two people who sought true love in the tropics, and who tried against terrible odds to keep their romance alive.

Morgenthau Hopes For New Tax Plan
 WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau has said he is hopeful new and "complete" tax legislation, embracing both additional revenue and a withholding plan, can be enacted by fall. He expressed doubt, however, that the withholding levy can be put into operation before January 1, as a result of house action earlier this week in sending back to the ways and means committee its bill providing such a collection system. Saying he was sorry the house has taken that action, he added: "We had hoped by July 1 to have a 20 per cent withholding program in operation which would have been a most helpful instrument in curbing inflation."

Nevertheless, he told his press conference, he was pleased that the house rejected the so-called Ruml skip-a-year plan embraced in the Carlson bill, which also called for a withholding levy.

WELL-ROUNDED FINISH
CHAPTER XXXX
 WHEN the glider train had left Sky Harbor in Phoenix, two individual planes had taken off immediately following. They carried gentlemen of the news-reels and gentlemen of the press.

They were turned back by the Superstition Mountain storm. Later, though, the sky train came spectacularly out of that storm again, but with only nine of its original 10 gliders! "Something's happened!" The news men began to shout about it. "That 10th plane—it had the girl pilot. Captain Carr's fiancée!" They got good photos of the nine ships cutting loose, and when Jimmy Carr's motor plane headed back to look for Number 10, the photographers' ships followed him. Half an hour later, one of the greatest aviation films on record was being made.

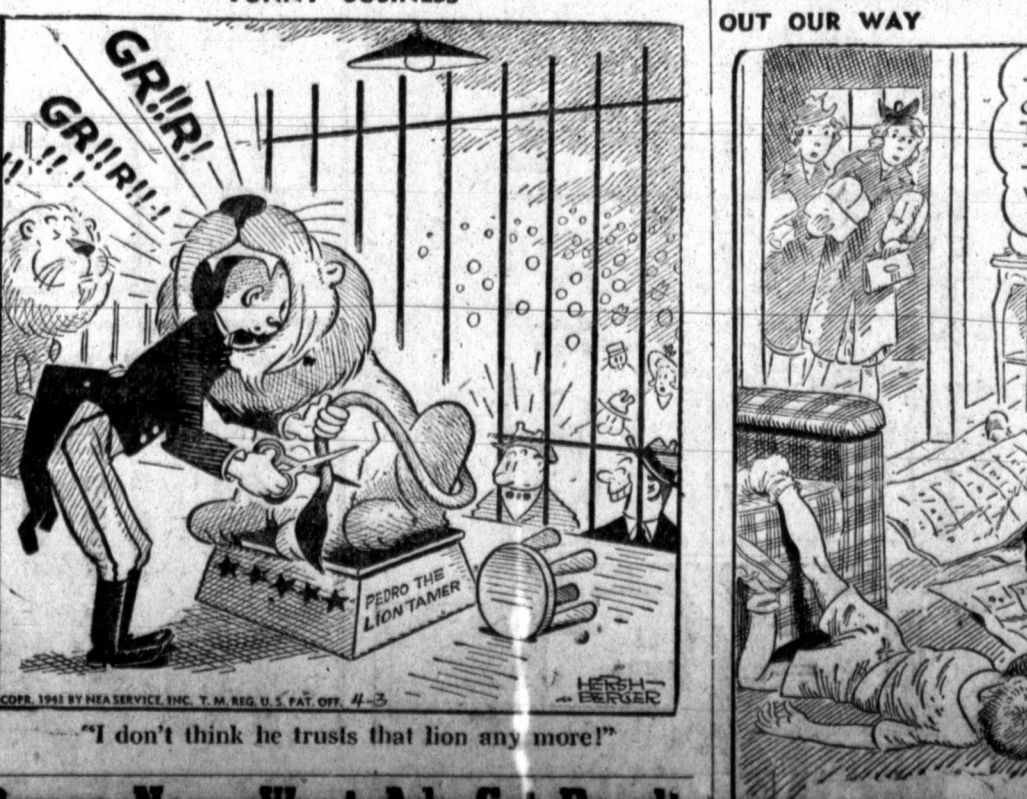

It showed Jimmy's ship dipping dangerously into the canyons of a storied mountain. It showed him spotting a white sailplane on a high and narrow slope. It showed him climb up for safety in jumping, then leap out in a parachute. When Jimmy leaped, his chute billowed quickly. Then he began to rock and tug. Thump! When he struck the slope he scrambled and rolled in loose rocks. "Jimmy! . . . Jimmy!" Pat was 40 yards or so away. Jim un buckled from his chute and ran toward the girl.

"Pat, are you all right? Are you hurt?" He was shouting frantically. "Yes! I mean, no! I mean—I'm all right! Are you?" They spoke no more, for a time. Partly because Pat Friday quite lost control of herself. She was sobbing in Jimmy Carr's arms. Sobbing, and hugging him, and pressing her cheek to his shoulder. "Little girl . . . little girl," he was saying, ever so gently. But the crying didn't last long. He kissed her twice on top of her head. Then he lifted her chin, blotted tears with a handkerchief, and leaned to kiss her full on the lips. "Pat darling," he said, then. She just clung to him, while the world swung around and around.
