Red Problem Brought Out Into Open

BY WADE WERNER
Former Chief of the Moscow Bureau of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—One of the knottier problems confronting United Nations peace-makers was brought into sharp focus today by Vice President Wallace's warning that a third world war appears inevitable unless a "satisfactory understanding" is reached between the western democracies and Soviet Russia.

The subject has been a matter of concern in official and diplomatic quarters here for some time, but until Mr. Wallace brought it into the open in his radio address yesterday the tendency was to avoid calling public attention to it.

Lack of a satisfactory understanding nevertheless was becoming apparent through the controversy between the Polish government-in-exile and Moscow over Poland's eastern border, and it pointed Soviet reminders that not only Bessarabia but Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania are considered integral parts of the Soviet Union.

Russia Double-Crossed?

In his address at Delaware, Ohio, the vice president said a third world war was likely "in case we double-cross Russia." Now Premier Josef Stalin and his associates do not hide their conviction that Russia was double-crossed in the first world war, in which she lost Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Bessarabia, part of White Russia and part of the Ukraine.

In 1939 she recovered her White Russian and Ukrainian areas from Poland, in 1940 took Bessarabia back from Rumania and incorporated Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia into the Soviet Union, while part of Finland came back into the union through incorporation into the Finnish-Karelian Soviet Socialist Republic.

Any "satisfactory understanding" with Russia, therefore, some students of eastern European problems point out, must take into account the Soviet viewpoint that what Russia regained in 1939-40 was territory she lost unjustly as a "victim" in the first world war.

Soviet Regimes Formed

The end of the "long armistice" between the two world wars also was, in a sense, the end of a "long armistice" in the Russian civil war. Marching westward in September, 1939, the Red army did not merely occupy territory; it opened the way for establishment of Soviet regimes where the previous attempts to establish them, years ago, had failed. When Red army troops appeared again in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania the bourgeois parliamentary regimes vanished and Soviet governments appeared.

Before the German invasion of 1941 wiped out all these gains the Soviet Socialist Republics of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania had been officially admitted to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and are listed now in article XIII of the Soviet constitution as constituent republics of the USSR. Other occupied areas were similarly incorporated.

When the Germans are driven out again, is the civil war to be reopened once more to determine whether the former bourgeois or the former Soviet regimes shall be re-established? Will the victorious Soviet Union be asked to amend its constitution so as to eliminate the new Soviet Socialist republics from the constitutional list?

There are some of the questions confronting statesmen who must seek a satisfactory understanding between the western democracies and Russia. They indicate it will be no easy task. Nevertheless the United States government already has announced its intention to press for United Nations conferences on postwar problems now, without waiting for the end of the war, on the theory that the longer knotty problems are postponed the knottier they are likely to become.

Austin Is Accused Of Breaking Meat Order

AUSTIN, March 9 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration has filed in federal court here a complaint against the city of Austin charging violation of the federal meat restriction order in the operation of the municipal abattoir.

The OPA asked for a temporary restraining order and upon hearing a preliminary and final injunction enjoining further operation of the plant.

Filed in the name of Prentiss M. Brown, OPA administrator and signed by Ben Foster, U. S. district attorney and national, regional and district OPA attorneys, the complaint set forth the requirements of the meat restriction order which limits the slaughter and delivery of beef for civilian consumption.

The motion for injunction was to be presented to Federal Judge W. A. Keeling's court in San Antonio this afternoon with a request for the setting of a hearing date.

Hemphill Agent Investigates Grub Control in Wyoming

CANADIAN, March 9—John O. Stovall, Hemphill county agent, is in Wyoming, accompanying a representative of the Gulf Sulphur company investigating the control of grubs in cattle. Damage caused in this way is one of the causes of the leather shortage.

Mr. Stovall has done extensive work along this line in Hemphill county, it showing the most results of any county in Texas.

For the past four or five years the Gulf Sulphur company has cooperated with the Texas Extension service.

LUNCH IS CHEAPER NOW

At the rate he was spending in the first six months of 1942, the average workingman will spend $387 this year for food that would have cost him $415 in 1929, according to figures released by the U. S. Department of Labor. Thus the worker's family "saved" $14 during the first half of the year because food costs were 7 percent less than in 1929.

Nebraska Youth Finds Big City Can Be Kind

CHICAGO, March 9 (AP)—A small town Nebraska youth, who suffered physical misfortune as a reward for exacting the role of good samaritan, has found big city hospitality is more than repaying him for his act of kindness—and also is paving the way to better his musical career.

A self-designated "kid from the country," Jim Hedge, 18, came here last fall to learn to compose music, study clarinet, piano and harmony. To finance his studies in music, Hedge worked for 18 months in a garage in his home town of Scottsbluff, Neb., where his father is chief of police.

Three weeks ago, however, an accident interrupted Jim's musical career. On his way to a theater, he saw a man in the gutter and aided him. When he discovered the man he had befriended had stolen all his money—$22—he chased him onto railroad tracks and was run over by a train. The thief ran away and Hedge crawled three blocks before he was found and taken to a hospital. His left leg was amputated below the knee.

He did not become discouraged, however, and expressed gratefulness that he had not hurt his fingers. "I can get along all right without my foot," he said. "Who ever heard of anybody playing a clarinet with a foot?"

Since his accident, he has received hundreds of letters from persons who read of his plight. County hospital officials gave him a private room, saying he was a "deserving kid." One of his regular visitors is Russ Morgan, the orchestra leader, who has promised to help him in his musical career and planned to use a song the youth had composed. Musicians from "name" bands are contributing to fund so that Jim can resume his studies after he leaves the hospital.

Welles Says We Don't Want Latin American Bases after War

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles has categorically disclaimed any intention of the United States to occupy bases in the other American republics on a permanent basis after the war.

So far as the western hemisphere is concerned, he told a press conference, the United States government has not taken and has no intention of taking any action for the acquisition of any permanent bases which would affect the sovereignty or territorial integrity of any of the American republics.

Welles emphasized the American position to knock down German Nazi broadcasts saying the United States would retain the bases it has occupied in Latin American countries for defense of the western hemisphere during the war. The broadcasts were described as lies.

Electric Range Making Halted

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The war production board today has halted all manufacture of new domestic electric ranges. Since May 31, some electric ranges have been produced on high priority ratings for military and defense housing requirements. This production is now prohibited.

Tax Extension Is Explained

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, has announced taxpayers may be granted additional time to file income tax returns due March 15 "if they can make a showing that they are unable to meet the deadline."

Instructions have gone out to internal revenue collectors throughout the country, Helvering said, but he emphasized that every case would be handled on its individual merits.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) told reporters Monday of advice from Helvering that district collectors had been instructed to grant extensions up to 60 days in justifiable cases because of the confusion existing over tax legislation and war conditions.

Helvering said, however, that he gave Gillette an opinion merely on an individual case which Gillette had called to his attention and that the internal revenue bureau had no intention of granting blanket extensions to taxpayers in filing their income tax returns.

District collectors, the commissioner said, have authority to grant extensions up to 60 days, but must obtain the approval of the internal revenue commissioner at Washington to grant an extension beyond that time. The law limits extensions to a maximum of six months.

In the case of an individual who requires an extension of more than 60 days, Helvering said he must file a tentative return and pay the first quarterly payment based on his estimated tax.

In the case of a corporation, a tentative return and the first quarterly payment based on the estimated tax must be made and additional financial information furnished the collector to obtain extension.

In every case, a taxpayer must pay interest at the rate of six per cent a year on any payments made later than the date on which they are regularly due.

Dependency Checks From Three Men Are Received by Woman

BEAUMONT, March 9 (AP)—A Port Arthur woman has been sentenced to 90 days in jail in federal court here on a misdemeanor charge of having accepted and cashed four service men's dependency checks of $50 each.

The checks were part of a total of $750 which federal investigators said she had obtained as alibums from three service men whom she illegally married. Her legal husband lives in Port Arthur.

Federal Judge Randolph Bryant also sentenced her to six months in jail on a second count which was suspended.

Eleanor Opposes 4th Term Talk

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Mrs. Roosevelt, asserting "it's too soon to begin to think about a fourth term," said Monday.

"We may all be dead two years from now."

"Nobody knows what will happen in the next few years," she told her press conference. "I think it is foolish to hurt the general effort by bringing in a question nobody knows about now."

"It stirs political feeling which may hurt the war effort. I don't believe in thinking ahead about things which will hold back one's efforts."

She pointed out that last year the nation's mills consumed more than 11,000,000 bales of cotton, running day and night to handle the need for camouflage fabrics, tenting, khaki and webbing, along with other military and civilian needs.

The nation had on Jan. 31 an estimated 16,800,000 bales of cotton,

King Cotton Is Toughened Up For War Work

NEW ORLEANS, March 9 (AP)—King Cotton is being toughened and conditioned here for the serious business of war.

In a big white concrete building along Pontchartrain lakefront, the king is getting tough. As one of four such regional laboratories established by the United States government, the southern branch quite naturally inherited cotton research.

A few of the laboratory's current problems which censorship will permit one to mention:

1. To create a cotton fabric for sand-bagging that will provide as resistant to weather, bomb-concussion and shrapnel as the burlap formerly imported.
2. To replace the sisal binder twine no longer available from the Near East for the nation's grain-harvesting machines.
3. Production of a cotton tire cord that can take the beating rayon takes, and then some.

Already the big white building has produced a cottonseed oil that pinch-hits for palm oil in the intricate business of tin-plating, an industry vital to the feeding of a country at battle.

"We can't say much about what we're doing, or preparing to do, or what we've done," says James A. Kime, technical assistant to the director, "but the work goes on."

Kime points out that last year the nation's mills consumed more than 11,000,000 bales of cotton, running day and night to handle the need for camouflage fabrics, tenting, khaki and webbing, along with other military and civilian needs.

The nation had on Jan. 31 an estimated 16,800,000 bales of cotton,

Laws Against Books Invalid

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The Supreme Court declared unconstitutional Monday ordinances passed by two municipalities regulating the distribution of literature.

A Dallas, Tex., ordinance prohibiting the distribution upon the streets of handbills containing advertising matter was held to infringe "freedom of press and of religion."

In another decision, the tribunal termed "administrative censorship in an extreme form" a Paris, Tex., ordinance prohibiting the solicitation without a permit from the mayor, of orders for books within the residence district of the municipality.

Both decisions were unanimous, but with new justice, Rutledge, not participating.

Work Is Stopped On Texas Rubber Plant

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The war production board today halted construction of facilities at two more refineries for the production and purification of butadiene used in manufacture of synthetic rubber.

The plants are at Beaumont, Texas, refinery of the Magnolia Petroleum company and a Wood River, Ill., refinery of the Standard Oil company.

The office of Rubber Director William M. Jeffers previously had announced that these plants were among those to be eliminated from the rubber program, and the WPB action formally revokes projects for them.
