Man Dies After Fighting Grass Fire Near LeFors

A heart attack due to exhaustion suffered in fighting a grass fire 2 miles north of LeFors Saturday afternoon caused the death of Ora Van Hiltan, 51, Shell Oil company pump-jack operator who resided on the Finley-Banks lease.

Mr. Hiltan aided other men in fighting the fire which started at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Pampa firemen were asked to send help but as there were only three men on duty the department was forced to decline.

However, the firemen did recruit a party of volunteers who were taken to the fire in the automobile of Glenn T. Hackney, county farm agent.

Mr. Hiltan collapsed shortly after he arrived at his home. A doctor was called and the man taken to the Pampa fire station where firemen and the doctor resorted to use of the inhalator in an unsuccessful attempt to revive him.

Survivors are the widow, a stepson, Pvt. Walter E. Lessert, U. S. A.; two brothers, Ray of Pawhuska, Okla., and Lee of Houston; sister, Mrs. Maud Rury, San Diego, Calif.

Mr. Hiltan had been a Shell employee for 17 years and had for 10 years been a resident of this county. He was a member of the LeFors Baptist church and the Baptist Brotherhood.

Funeral services are pending the arrival of relatives. The body is at the Duenkel-Carmichael funeral home.

Compromise Seen On Pay-As-You-Go Tax

Returns Fall Off as Payers Wait Decision

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Well-informed congressional quarters said today that the treasury looked with favor on a compromise for the Ruml pay-as-you-go plan proposed by Rep. Robertson (D-Va) which would erase 142 personal income tax obligations in the lower brackets and impose a 20 per cent withholding levy on net taxable income for current collection purposes.

Treasury officials will unfold their suggestions formally Tuesday when the house ways and means committee, reemphasized the adoption of either the Ruml, the compromise or any other current payment plan would not remove the requirement for the millions of income tax payers to file their 1942 returns by March 15.

Mr. Massa is a gas engineer with office at 311 Rose building. He has been head of Gray county's rationing unit since it was first formed on January 14, 1942.

Reason for the resignation of Chairman Massa was that the work of administering the office dealing with the rationing of food, gasoline, tires, and tubes, had increased so much that he could not afford to take the time needed for that job from his own business.

Work Constantly Grows This was followed by the designation of the agency as the Gray County War Price and Rationing board when price ceilings went into effect.

In the beginning, there was little work for the board as their duties dealt only with applications for purchase of new tires, tubes, and automobiles. The board handled all its business in one weekly meeting.

In time, however, more and more regulations were made effective by the office of price administration, which has since been merged into the board's work.

An office was first established at the chamber of commerce. Two employees were all that was needed for a while, but the work has been increasing so much that today there are six employees and 13 members on the board.

McNutt Declares Colleges May Be Forced to Close

Haverford, Pa., Jan. 30 (AP)—War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, predicting that some private colleges may have to close for the duration of the war, said in the grim days that lie ahead there is no place in our society for institutions which fail to render national service.

McNutt, in an address at 130-year-old Haverford college's first mid-winter commencement exercises, called for continued voluntary cooperation by the nation's colleges in the war effort.

Stating that geographical location and physical accommodations were the determining factors in selecting larger institutions for specialized units of the army and navy, McNutt said there is also a place for smaller colleges in particular forms of the training program. He commended Haverford for its new course in meteorology for See McNUTT, page 4

It's Shocking--The Way Those Gremlins Have Been Cavorting

The Gremlins carried things to shocking lengths this week. People are jumping all over the place. Who wouldn't, with sparks crackling off their toenails? Paper running through newspaper presses, snap in twin, telephone conversations got crossed up, one man said his own pair of trousers bit him.

Several rapid changes in the weather account for it. The air is charged with static electricity, which gathers in the oddest places. "When I touch a coathanger," said one complaint, "it bites me with a blazing blue spark."

"My car has gone berserk," says another. "When I open the door, the faithful old vehicle snaps at my feet. When I try to touch the steering wheel or the gearshift, I never get electrocuted."

Over at Shamrock recently Mrs. Luther Petty thawed a cream separator. When she began separating milk, fire flew from it and landed on the ceiling. The room she wasn't hurt, however, and none of the parts was missing or broken.

The woolen clothing of the soldiers is especially attractive to electric currents. One man admitted he was getting leary of touching any metal at all. Another reported that when he pulled off his trousers sparks flew from his toenails with a crackling sound.

Roving Reporter Crosses Equator and Delves Into Mysterious Rites In 'Realm of the Raging Main'

By ARCHER FULLINGIM, Vls. Hq. Co., Navy 8185, Fleet Post Office San Francisco, Calif. AT SEA, EN ROUTE, Jan. 7—(Delayed)—The Roving Reporter of the Pampa News who will have been in the Navy four months, Jan. 14, is now a member of Ancient Order of the Deep. Having crossed the Equator and having been initiated, "then and there, into the solemn mysteries of 'The Realm of the Raging Main, he is and should be recognized as a Trusty Shellback, and the R. R. has a card, duly signed by 'Neptunus Rex, Ruler of Raging Main, to prove that he is a 'shellback.' The ship bearing the R. R. and his mates crossed the equator near the end of the year. It's no slushy business being initiated into the 'Ancient Order of the Deep.' It might be on a luxury liner, but it is not in the navy. The day the ship crossed the equator, initiatory ceremonies continued all day.

The initiation took place at the forward part of the ship, on a hatch covering below the captain's bridge. There was little done on this ship the day of the initiation except activities directed by Neptunus Rex, whose policemen dragged some tardy or unwilling sailors before his throne to take their medicine.

The initiation on this ship consisted of first running through a line of shellbacks armed with wet cloth clubs which pounded and resounded against your back and posterior.

U. S. Subs Sink Six Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The navy reported today that American submarines in the Pacific had sunk six Japanese ships, including a destroyer, and damaged a seventh.

Navy communique No. 266 said: "Pacific and Far East: '1. U. S. submarines have reported the following results of operations against the enemy in the waters of these areas: (A) One destroyer sunk. (B) One large tanker sunk. (C) Four medium sized cargo ships damaged. (D) One medium sized cargo ship damaged.'

"These actions have not been announced in any previous navy department communique. "South Pacific: (All dates are east longitude). "2. On the evening of January 28, a force of flying fortress heavy bombers (B-29) bombed Kahili in the Shortland area. Results were not reported."

Kahili is on the southeastern end of Bougainville Island near the enemy base of Buin and quite close to the strongly-held Shortland Island sector of the northwestern Solomons. It is an airfield and has been frequently attacked by American bombers for several months.

Today's report on submarine operations was the first since January 19. It raised the total of Japanese ships reported in navy communique to have been sunk by United States undersea craft to 123. In addition, 22 have been reported probably sunk and 32 damaged for a grand total of 177 vessels successfully attacked.

Roosevelt Stops In West Indies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The White House announced tonight that President Roosevelt stopped off in Trinidad, British West Indies, Panama Canal defense outpost, en route home from the Casablanca war conferences and was given an enthusiastic reception by the population during an inspection of American defense installations on the island bordering the Caribbean.

A dispatch dated Port Au Spain, capital of the British colony, was made public by the white house. It was said the President was met by his personal chief of staff, Admiral William D. Leahy, who was waiting at Waller field when the President's big plane landed.

The dispatch, filed by Captain George E. Durno of the Army Air Corps ferrying command, a former White House correspondent, said that Admiral Leahy had started out with the President for the Casablanca conference, but was forced by an attack of influenza to stay in Trinidad until the President's return.

Hitler's Anniversary Party Broken Up By Two Daylight Raids

Daring RAF Raiders Swarm Over German City And Toss Words of One Year Ago Right In Der Fuehrer's Face

By The Associated Press Berlin was bombed twice Saturday in its first daylight raids with RAF Mosquito bombers furnishing the fireworks for the Nazis' gloomiest anniversary of Adolf Hitler's rise to power and delayed the broadcasts in which his henchmen called for courage and sacrifices.

Hitler was not there. He was with his troops on the Russian front as they reeled before Red army blows of steadily increasing power. But he sent home a message barren of victories and meager of cheer.

He told his people that although it might cost them the loss of their lives and the ruin of their homes, someday Germany would win.

There was little to support any such Nazi hope in the news of the day as the RAF dared German air power over the heart of the Reich, the British Eighth army stabbed into Tunisia from the east, and the Russians announced the recapture of the Caucasus oil center of Maikop and the rail junction of Tikhoretsk, drove to within 60 miles of Kursk, and opened a big new offensive south of Leningrad.

Britain's 400-mile-an-hour Mosquitoes raced in over Berlin house-tops punctually at 11 a. m., the moment Reichsmarshal Goering was to begin his speech on Hitler's 10th anniversary of rule, and again just before noon when he finally spoke.

The Mosquitoes and the heavier bombers which attacked Emden and northwestern Germany also by daylight flung Goering's words back in his teeth, for it was the fat Reichsmarshal who pledged in 1939 that Germany never would be bombed.

Over the Berlin radio, as millions of Germans tuned in for Goering's speech, the RAF supplied its own sound effects, the dull thud of explosions.

Apparently Goering and his uniformed and be-ribboned audience hustled to shelter, for repeatedly during the next hour the announcer which has been gathering strength week by week actually in Marshal Goering's speech.

The sound of the explosions and the reasons for the delay were not explained over the German radio, but it sought to minimize the attack with an announcement later that "three British planes penetrated into Germany under cover of thick clouds today" and said the raid was for "propaganda purposes only."

Hitler's message to the German people, read over the radio by Propaganda Minister Goebbels, found the Fuehrer still posting in his favorite role—the peace lover, the protector of Europe from Bolshevism.

Goering, in his delayed speech, purported that the Soviet offensive which has been gathering strength week by week actually in Marshal Goering's speech.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the present Soviet attack is being made with the last available Soviet reserves, put on their feet by the Soviet command with the utmost brutality."

He tried to twist the Nazi defeat at Stalingrad into a sort of future victory.

That much heralded intuition was saying loud dividends on the battlefield.

The Russians announced in a special communique that they had captured Tikhoretsk, accelerating the closing of the Russian trap around Rostov, 95 miles to the northwest. And had won back the oil field center of Maikop.

This indicated general gains along See HITLER, page 4

You'll Get 13 Pounds Of Butter This Year

Civilians will have an average of 13 pounds of butter this year, compared with 16 pounds last year, and a normal average of 17 pounds, the Agriculture department estimated today.

A summary of the butter shortage said the principal causes were: 1. Men in the armed forces eat about double the amount they ate as civilians. 2. The armed forces are putting away reserves to make sure they will have supplies when and where they want them. 3. Production at present is at the low point of the year. 4. Last year an unusual amount of milk that formerly went into butter was used for other dairy products. 5. Many civilians earning more money now want to buy more butter than formerly.

I SAW

Headlines like "Great Battle Imminent," "Armies Face Across 286-Mile Front," "German Ambassador Delivers Declaration Then Leaves St. Petersburg." They were published in Ft. Worth and Galveston papers of August, 1914, 28 years ago. Yellowed tatters of the newspapers were found back of an old mirror above a dresser being repaired at a local furniture store by Robert McCann of 534 N. Warren.

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIRKLE PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30 (AP)—The headlines catch the eye—48,000 military planes, 56,000 combat vehicles, 21,000 anti-aircraft guns, 8,100,000 deadweight tons of merchant shipping turned out in 1942 and much more to come in 1943. But—

Behind those headlines there's a continuing problem of man-to-man relationships between employer and employee in the nation's war industries. Suppose you had a shipyard that employed maybe 1,000 men and for years had been turning out harmless river barges and then suddenly war came and the navy said: "We want you to build ships for us, and fast."

Here is why Second Lieut. Rose L. Smothers, Lubbock, district recruiting officer of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, is coming to Pampa on Friday, February 5—to secure recruits like the one shown above receiving instruction in wire-testing from a signal corps officer. When she has completed her training she will take her place with the army, prepared to relieve some soldier for front line combat duty. Lieut. Smothers will be in Pampa from 5 p. m. to 8 p. m., Friday, February 5, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., the next day, and from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. Monday, February 8, at the army recruiting station at the postoffice. District goal is 584 enlistments before March 31. The lieutenant started today on a two-weeks trip over the Panhandle, that begins at Dalhart, will end Friday, February 12, in Amarillo.

Virus Believed Responsible For Cancers, New Discovery Shows

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Discovery of a mysterious new substance produced by mammalian cancers, which quickly causes cancer when inoculated into another animal, was announced today in Science, the journal of American scientists. The new substance is invisible. It is in a water-clear extract taken from tissues, not in, but close to living cancers. The mysterious substance resembles a virus. Viruses are usually invisible and are the known causes of many human diseases.

Wharton Butchers Caught Between Federal, City Meat Regulations

WHARTON, Texas, Jan. 30 (AP)—Caught squarely between a city ordinance and an Office of Price Administration regulation, Wharton meat dealers are in a stew. Federal meat restriction order No. 1, which went into effect last October, provided that the amount of beef, veal, lamb, mutton or pork a man or company could butcher and deliver for domestic trade was to be based on the amount butchered and delivered in 1941.

High-Ranking U. S. Officer Was Nearly Interned in Ireland

AN AMERICAN BOMBER COMMAND STATION, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Jan. 30 (AP)—The pilot of a Flying Fortress who flew a high ranking United States officer from Great Britain to the "unconditional surrender" conference at Casablanca and back to Britain disclosed today that on the return trip his big bomber was lost for hours in fog and bad weather over the Atlantic before it made an emergency landing in northern Ireland with only 45 minutes' gas supply left.

(The high officer was not identified for reasons of censorship.) After an almost "zero" ceiling had forced him to fly for several hundred miles only 150 feet above the ocean, the pilot, Capt. Clifton Pyle of Marshall, Tex., said he sighted unfamiliar land which he and his crew finally determined was Eire. Pyle said he was haunted by the fear he might be forced to land in the neutral country with his high-ranking passenger and be interned there for the duration of the war. He made his gas "stretch" by thinning it with more than the usual amount of oxygen and finally reached an airport in northern Ireland with his tanks nearly empty. "On the trip to Casablanca the weather was good and the flight uneventful," Pyle said, "but coming back we ran into fog and bad weather off the coast of Spain. We were supposed to get a 'fix' on our position at a certain point over the Atlantic, but when we arrived there we found our radio had failed."

After flying for a long time in thick fog entirely on instruments, Pyle said he asked his distinguished passenger if he advised continuing as they were or going down below the "soup." The passenger left it to the crew.

Pyle said he decided to go below. The fortress came out of the over-cast about 500 feet above the water, he said, but the ceiling dropped lower until he was forced to skip along only 150 feet from the waves.

"We finally sighted land, but didn't know whether we were off the coast of England, France or Ireland," Pyle continued. "We flew north along the coast and finally decided it must be southern Ireland. "Our gas was getting very low and we knew if we landed in a neutral country we were liable to be interned—and here we had a high-ranking officer aboard. We really were doing some sweating until we reached northern Ireland."

The crew refused the plane and it again took off for England, only to run into more bad weather. Pyle decided to land at once when he sighted a balloon barrage.

"If we hadn't had such an important person aboard we would have gone up into the soup and flown over the balloons by instrument," Pyle said, "but we didn't want to take even the slightest chance."

The passenger continued on to his destination by train and the bomber reached its station the following day.

Pyle sandwiched the trip to Casablanca between raids on targets in Axis-occupied Europe. On Jan. 13, the day before taking off for North Africa, he brought a fortress home from Lille in northern France on two badly damaged engines, with its hydraulic system shot out of commission, its radio compartment damaged by flames and one crew member wounded.

Since his return Pyle participated in Wednesday's daylight raid by American flying fortresses and Liberator bombers on the shipyards at Wilhelmshaven—the first raid by American fliers on Germany itself. An Intelligence officer, First Lieut. Harold A. Fox of Easton, Pa., said that Pyle insisted on making the trip.

"It was our first trip to Germany and I didn't want to miss it," Pyle

Willow Run Bomber Output Still Lags

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Breaking some of the official silence about the Ford Motor company's huge Willow Run bomber plant, the War Production board said today that "there have been many disappointments in connection with the Willow Run operation, and the plant, even now, is far from peak production."

"Discussions about the reasons explained, 'It was something we had all been waiting for.' Fox said Pyle had been selected to make the Casablanca flight when the commander of this station was asked for his best pilot. Crew members included Sergeant J. C. Hickman, radio operator, Comanche, Okla.

The report listed manpower as the most serious problem at Willow Run, which it noted was 30 miles west of Detroit.

Rate of Air Mishaps Lower Now Than In 10-Year Peace Period

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The war department reported today that the accident rate for army planes in the United States is lower now than in the 10-year peacetime period between 1930 and 1940.

Some figures were made public in a letter from Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, to Senator Maybank (D-SC). Maybank said he had received many communications calling attention to fatal air accidents and has asked the war department for data.

Lovett reported that activities in the army air forces had been expanded in the past year "beyond the realization of even the best informed public," adding:

"In the first eight months of 1942 (the latest completely tabulated figures available) 74.3 per cent more hours were flown than in the whole 10-year period from 1930 to 1940. 88.5 per cent more miles were flown from January through August 1942 than in the entire 10 years. This eight months' mileage was equivalent to 48,000 trips around the world. (That would be approximately 1,000,000,000 miles at the equator.)"

"In spite of this extraordinary expansion, the rate of accidents per 1,000 hours flown was lower in the 1942 period than the 10-year peacetime average."

Bob Hope's Brother Does His Dirty Work

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30 (AP)—Actor Bob Hope is too busy to answer his fan mail so one of his six brothers, Jim, autographs his pictures, dissuades Hollywood amiteen girls from leaving home to see the comedian and returns jokes and gags submitted to Bob's ether audience.

So testified Brother Jim's wife today. She's Mrs. Marie Towns Hope and she is in Judge Jess E. Stephens' court seeking $2,300 from Bob through an assignee. She contends she was the comedian's part-time secretary working with her husband, at $12.50 a week and was paid only $25 in all.

Mrs. Hope's lawyer asked her what kind of a radio program Bob appears in. She said, "It is termed a comedy show."

Rationing Books To Be Issued in Schools

FORT WORTH, Jan. 30 (AP)—The big job of signing up Tex. consumers for war ration book No. 2 in preparation for the forthcoming rationing of processed foods and meats by the point system will be carried out through the public schools, as were the registrations for sugar and mileage rationing, State OPA Director Mark McGee announced today.

Definite dates for the registration have not been set, but it is expected to take place during the latter part of February.

FDR, En Route Home, Stops in Trinidad

PORT AU SPAIN, Trinidad, Jan. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt paused at this island, site of a United States base, en route home from the Allied War command in Africa today and was surprised to find almost the entire population waiting to give him a spontaneous reception.

When his motorcade passed through Port Au Spain thousands of people lined the streets, waving and cheering.

He spent the night at the U.S. naval base while traveling by clipper on his way to North Africa, so this was his second visit this month. Mention of the first stop was not permitted for security reasons, however.

On both stops he slept at the Macquerie hotel, formerly a famous Trinidad seaside resort which has been taken over by U.S. naval forces.

Rangers Capture Three Convicts

HOUSTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Texas Rangers had accounted tonight for three of the five convicts who escaped from Eastham State prison farm some two weeks ago as they obtained a confession from one of the five that he participated in the robbery of J. W. Padillo here and of a cafe in Schulenburg.

The state officers said Ollie York, 28, of Giddings, sentenced to life on convictions in Lee and Victoria counties for burglary, theft and robbery, admitted he is one of the trio who took Padillo's car on the night of January 22 and left its owner bound to a tree.

Early the next morning, York told the officers, he and the other two convicts robbed the cafe and kidnaped one of its employees.

York was arrested near Corpus Christi Thursday by Border Patrolmen, turned over to Rangers and brought to Houston. The convict will probably be taken to the state penitentiary Sunday, the Rangers said.

Meanwhile they continued their search for the remaining two escapees, both of whom York said were involved in the Houston and Schulenburg robberies.

The first two of the five convicts were slain at Gladewater last Monday by Rangers and county officers.

swift bombers that can carry four 500-pound bombs and attain speeds up to 400 miles an hour.

The British raids apparently were heavy only in a psychological way. Berliners were kept busy running to shelter and keeping an eye on the sky while listening to their leaders simultaneously spur them to total effort and threaten death to shirkers.

Neither Hitler, Goering, nor Goebbels tried to predict when the promised German victory would come. Goering dwelt for some time in his 90-minute talk on why Germany ever attacked Russia in the first place, totally attributing it to Hitler's "intuition."

Goebbels made a long speech promising severe penalties for any attempted sabotage of the German war effort before reading Hitler's proclamation. Evamaria while he was speaking a Reuters dispatch from Zurich said 17 German workers at Dusseldorf had been condemned to death for sabotage.

The second raid did not delay Goebbels' speech and the reading of Hitler's proclamation as far as could be determined here. British listeners heard nothing to compare with the confusion caused by the first raid.

One returning pilot, Sgt. J. Massey, was quoted by the air ministry news service as saying: "We made for the center of Berlin and bombed. Only one thing startled me—the stillness over Berlin. We saw only one squirt of flax on the way out."

RAF bombers during the day also raided the Emden naval base and other targets in northwest Germany. Wellingtons were used on these attacks, and four were lost.

In Germany, meanwhile, gaunt, stern-faced Admiral Karl Doenitz, commander of the U-boat fleet, was elevated to supreme command of the German navy as the Germans placed their hopes of victory more and more heavily on undersea war.

He succeeded grand Admiral Erich Raeder whose shift to the assignment of admiral inspector of the navy the Germans said was occasioned by his age and health.

Lamka Writes To His Jaycee Pals

"Every muscle in me has ached, either because it has been overworked, or because of sympathetic pain for the others," writes Pvt. Charles Lamka from Sheppard field to members of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce in a letter received here by Vernon Hall, Jaycee secretary.

"We in the basic training center of the air force now take the same training as does the infantry," Private Lamka explains.

"That is an outgrowth of the fact that, though the air force is supposed to do its fighting in the air, it is very often the case that a bunch of mobile enemy troops do not know the rules and run and fight the ground crew on the ground. Those guys sure are causing us new soldiers a lot of grief."

The former manager of the Pampa Ice company tells how his day starts at 4:30 a. m. with drill, exercise, hike, and running the obstacle course.

"We go on 4-mile hikes, running one minute and marching quick time four minutes. Then we go on 10-mile hikes to be covered in an hour and 40 minutes. Of course you can drop out but you have to stay out there and finish the course if it takes all day. Later we will make 20-mile hikes with loaded packs. Some fun!"

"I would appreciate hearing from every one of you fellows," he concludes.

His address is: Pvt. Charles E. Lamka, A. S. N. 38340259, 408th Technical School Squadron, Sheppard Field, Texas.

Steps Taken Here To Prevent Spread Venereal Disease

City, county, and army officials conferred on plans for venereal disease control in Pampa in the future, at a meeting held late Friday afternoon in the BCD committee room at the city hall.

Venereal disease is at a record low here now but officials believe in taking every safeguard to see that this situation does not become worse through lack of proper vigilance.

Purpose of the meeting was to coordinate all plans for control. Attending the meeting were County Judge Sherman White, District Attorney Walter Rogers, City Attorney Robert F. Gordon, Mayor Fred Thompson, City Mgr. Steve Matthews, Dr. R. Malcolm Brown, city health officer, Dr. Roy A. Webb, county officer Ray Dudley, chief of police, and the following army officers:

Lieut. Col. Daniel S. Campbell, commanding officer of the Pampa air base, Major M. W. Adler, post surgeon, Major W. B. Marschner, adjutant, Second Lieut. R. T. Russ, provost marshal, and Lieut. L. R. Randles.

Ice Cream Fast Becoming Delicacy Of 'Days Gone By'

The colder the weather, the more ice cream Pampans and other Texans eat—that seems to be the only explanation for the soaring ice cream production in Texas last month, as reported by the bureau of business research of the University of Texas.

Locally, the situation is this, according to a local drug store owner:

There has been a gradual rise in Pampa each winter for the past eight years in the amount of ice cream sold during the cold season. Reason is that customers have learned it is not a question of eating a cold food that causes one to become colder—the idea is that the energy produced from the food is what counts.

First Butadiene Unit Goes Into Operation

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 30 (AP)—The first petroleum butadiene plant for the government's synthetic rubber program—a unit capable of turning out raw material for rubber enough for 1,300,000 tires annually—has begun operations here, the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana announced today.

The plant here has a rated capacity of 6,000 to 9,000 tons of butadiene per year depending upon the qualities of the petroleum fractions used, the announcement said. Butadiene is a principal ingredient for making synthetic rubber.

2 Wells Tested In Gray County

Gray county led in the number of oil wells tested in the Panhandle field during the past week, with two. Hutchinson and Carson counties had one each.

In Gray, Magnolia's Fee 227 No. 57 had a potential of 70 barrels; Texas company's Benedict 5, 256 barrels.

Skelly's Schafer Ranch 167 was the biggest producer, with a potential of 482 barrels. The well is in Carson county. In Hutchinson, Phillips brought in their J. A. Whittenburg 65 for 129 barrels.

Three gasers were on the week's report.

In Moore county, Phillips' Knapp 1, 14,900 million cubic feet, and the same company's Wynn 1, 30,000; in Potter, Canadian River Gas, Masterson 3-6, 108,000.

Butter supply melting as more goes to armed forces; rationing ahead	Butter	Fats, only 2 oz. of which may be butter	Butter and margarine	Butter, fats and olive oil	Butter and margarine	Butter and fats

Butter is scarce in the U. S. these days, but the situation isn't nearly as bad as in other countries. Europe has been rationing butter and fats since 1940, but rationing doesn't always mean butter is there to buy. In countries like Greece, Yugoslavia, Norway and Poland, butter is but a memory. U. S. shortage is due to unprecedented use during past months and WPB order freeing part of cold storage stocks to insure adequate supply for fighting forces and lend-lease. Don't feel too bad if you're low on butter for, as a war photographer put it, "there is no butter on Guadalcanal."

War Ration Book No. 2 Already Here

The latest "best seller" has arrived in Pampa. Copies of War Ration Book 2, issued by the office of price administration have been received by the Gray County War Price and Rationing board.

There are 24,000 in the lot, one for every man, woman, and child in Gray county.

Just when the books will be distributed and how the registration will be held are questions the board hasn't decided, pending the Panhandle school of instruction for rationing boards of Gray and other Panhandle counties to be held on February 9 in Borger, but it will probably be either late in February or early in March.

First Wheeler Man Of July '41 Draft Killed in Action

Special to The NEWS. SHAMROCK, Jan. 30—Mr. and Mrs. M. McLemore of 2 miles west of Shamrock received a telegram from the War Department Monday afternoon stating that their son, Pfc. Garland McLemore was killed in the service of his country in the Southwest Pacific on Saturday, January 9.

Pfc. McLemore, 22 years old, entered military service on September 21, 1941. He was first stationed at Ft. Bliss, near El Paso, and was then transferred to Camp Roberts, Calif. After a few weeks training there, he was sent to Seattle, Washington, then to San Francisco, Calif., from where he sailed overseas in March of 1942.

His parents believed that he was in Australia.

Garland was born in Wheeler county on June 29, 1920, and attended Shamrock schools. He was the first Wheeler county youth who registered in the second registration on July 1, 1941 to be inducted into service.

Besides his parents, he is survived by three brothers and seven sisters. The brothers are Carlos, Douglas, and Oliver; sisters, Mrs. Edith Troxell, Lavada McLemore, Mrs. Freda Mae Wright, Juanita, Bessie, Bonnie and Imogene McLemore.

Mr. and Mrs. McLemore heard from their son last the latter part of December. He told them in his last letter that he had received his Christmas packages.

The message from the war department stated that a letter concerning his death would follow.

Robison Brothers Brothers in khaki and blue are Pfc. Chester R. Robison, 28, left, and Fireman Third Class L. D. Robison, 18, right, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Robison of Cortez, Colo. The family resided in Pampa up to six years ago. Since May, 1942, the private first class has been stationed at White Horse, Canada, with the 18th engineers. He was in Skellytown this past Christmas on a visit with his sister, Mrs. C. L. Armstrong. Chester went to school at Erick, Okla., worked with his father, a teamster, in construction work, in the South Field, near here. ### Young Americans Doing Great Job Flying Supplies in North Africa

By DON WHITEHEAD

AT A DESERT LANDING GROUND IN LIBYA (Delayed)—Now the time has come to tell about some hell-for-leather young fliers who got no glory but had a big part in driving Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps into Tunisia.

Most of the lads aren't old enough to grow whiskers but they did and are doing a man-sized job out in the desert transporting supplies to fighter and bomber groups right under the nose of the enemy. They fly the aerial supply line for both American and British fighter and bomber squadrons operating against Rommel. It's tough, hard work requiring a high degree of technical skill plus a heart full of courage.

In a lampit tent on this desert landing ground, Colonel Jerome B. McCauley of Denton, Texas, the commanding officer, talked about his boys and the job they're doing.

"They've worked like hell," the colonel said. "More than half of the men are flying more than a hundred hours a month. They're

Rubber Workers Out On Strike in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Jan. 30 (AP)—The entire Memphis plant of Firestone Rubber company shut down today as the result of a strike of United Rubber Workers (CIO).

F. M. Dickinson, union representative who described the walkout as unauthorized, said it resulted from a company notice it no longer would guarantee workers in the tire room 70 cents an hour. He said negotiations were underway but the workers "took the bit in their teeth."

Ex-Soldier Gets 99 Years for Slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 30 (AP)—A 99-year penitentiary term was assessed against William Lubarski, former soldier, by a jury in the Hondo district court late Saturday after finding him guilty of murdering Warren F. Simmang, 19, of San Antonio, last August 31.

The jury was out an hour and a half, according to Dist. Atty. R. J. Noonan, who headed the prosecution.

The body of Simmang, a civilian employe at the Hondo air base, where Lubarski was stationed, was found in an irrigation ditch alongside the Hondo-San Antonio highway, the morning after he was killed.

Phillips Operates New Fuel Plant

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Jan. 30 (AP)—The Phillips Petroleum Co. disclosed today it has in operation the first large commercial plant employing a recently developed process for the production of 100 octane aviation gasoline blending agents.

The disclosure of the new plant and process came as invitations to inspect it were issued to a group of technical representatives from the petroleum industry, the government, engineering concerns and oil companies participating in the aviation gasoline program. The new process will result in appreciable savings of many critical materials, company officials said.

Five New Louisiana Wells Completed

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 30 (AP)—The minerals division of the State Conservation department announced today in its weekly reports of minerals activities the completion of five new oil wells with an initial daily production of 904 barrels. The division listed 16 permits for new well locations as having been issued.

working overtime without complaint and flying the tails off these transport ships. "I know they're young, but they've learned flying technique that's marvelous. And they share the work. When it comes time to unload a plane, the pilots, the crew chief and the radio operators all pitch in and help if necessary."

And he might have added that colonels and majors as well have callouses on their hands, because I've seen them roll up their sleeves to give a private a lift with a heavy cargo that had to be moved in a hurry.

The group began desert operations last Nov. 23, the day after arrival from Cairo from the United States. They flew their ships over the Atlantic and across Africa without losing a plane.

After getting organized they began pouring supplies to the front. They carried millions of pounds of cargo, including thousands of gallons of gasoline. In addition, they evacuated upwards of 700 casualties from forward areas. They have carried jeeps, tractors, rations, bombs, ammunition, water, engines, plane parts and—on one occasion—turkeys.

It's a risky business but these men have become used to taking calculated risks. During the entire campaign they've lost only three aircraft in operational missions. This record is even more remarkable when you realize the fliers graduated from transition school at home only last August. They had six weeks training in the Texas maneuvers' operating in close formation, and then came to the middle east.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Reluctant Women

Various surveys agree that American women show little enthusiasm for war work, either in factories or in voluntary war services, and suggest that intelligent recruitment methods will have to be adopted if the majority of women are to be interested.

The number of women in war industry has reached 4,000,000, but the National Industrial Conference Board reports that employers find that most women feel no personal urge to go to work in factories.

There is no social pressure upon women to assist in the war effort, the board's inquirers report, and, on the contrary, women still feel that such work would impair their social standing.

The Women's City Club in New York looked into reports that women of leisure were lagging behind their working sisters in willingness to devote free time to voluntary war service.

Only about two out of five were found to be enrolled for voluntary war work, and of these two-thirds give 12 hours a week or less.

The same explanations crop up in both surveys. There are children who need care and there is household work to be done. Nurses and maids are increasingly hard to get.

Also, explicitly or implicitly, there is a third reason which may be even more important. The average woman is not aware of any pressing need for her services.

The average woman apparently feels much as do a great many men — that the government has not exhausted its MAN-power resources.

This may not be correct. However, until Washington produces something in the nature of a "Baruch report" on manpower, the attempt to recruit women is going to face serious obstacles.

The volunteer situation, likewise, seems to be quite dependent upon improved public relations. Too many women assume that the civilian defense jobs are all filled. Too few, apparently, know that there is part-time volunteer work which could be fitted into their home and child-care programs.

American women are not slackers. They merely have not been impressed with the extent of the need and of the opportunity. That is a fault of government which can and should be remedied.

Good Hunch

This country is manufacturing enough small arms ammunition each month to fire 83 rounds at every individual soldier in the Axis armies, reports the War Department. That is good. We are looking forward to the day when a few months' supply can be utilized in that very way.

Educating Africa

The American Army is doing a splendid missionary job in North Africa, teaching the moral and ethical and human differences between human beings and Axis soldiery and, at the same time, impressing upon the world the superiority of American economic resources.

Some 3500 Italian children, mostly of prisoners of war, were given a Christmas party by our men in Eritrea, with presents and candy and motion pictures.

The American invasion fleet took with it much tea, sugar and cotton cloth. Rice, cigars, tobacco, shoes, pencils, razors and medical supplies have followed. These have been distributed among the natives in payment for services.

This is, of course, the exact opposite of the Axis policy of stripping occupied countries, enslaving and starving the people. Be sure that full details of such attitudes will percolate throughout neutral, occupied and puppet axis peoples, to or infinite benefit.

The Nation's Press

THE IDEA FRONT (The Christian Century—By Fred Eastman) There are two great fronts in this war; military and ideological. Newspapers, radio and motion pictures have stressed the dramatic events on the military front and given less attention to the basic ideas which are struggling for the possession of men's minds on the ideological front.

As a result the man on the street seems to think that if we can just knock out the military might of Germany, Italy and Japan, the war will be over and we won't need to worry about the ideological front. The matter is not so simple.

The fact is that unless we win the struggle on the idea front, a military victory may be only temporary. On the other hand, victory on the idea front will ultimately mean a basis for a just and durable peace. Defeat on the idea front will ultimately mean a defeat for the freedoms for which we fight.

What are these ideas which are in conflict and which are so important to the future of every human being on this planet? Reduced to simplest form, here they are:

Table with 3 columns: Concepts concerning, Nazi-Fascist Totalitarian Idea, Christian Democratic Ideas. Rows include Man, Race, Highest value, Supreme Loyalty, Religion, Government, Industry, Education, Press and radio, Methods, Other nations.

Between these two sets of ideas the peoples of the world must make their choice. To the extent that we of the democracies adopt the fascist ideas and methods, we lose; to the extent that we hold on to our democratic ideas and methods, we win—and humanity wins. This is the real issue now before us.

Common Ground

"I speak the plain-word principle. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterparts of on the same terms." —WALT WHITMAN.

ARE STRIKES EVER JUSTIFIED? A reader takes exception to my statement that "every strike is evidence of curtailed production". He says that with very few exceptions, every strike is evidence only of a "bug" in management.

A fair manager is immune to strikes with the exceptions noted. Then this same defender of collective robbery, called bargaining, says that "Such 'bugs' are in effect exactly like a collar gall or a protruding nail in one's heel."

So union workers—human beings—are like horses or inanimate nails! They have no responsibilities! Of course, this defender of labor unions can write no impersonal rule by which wages are to be arrived at. He can write no impersonal rule to justify any strike.

How any honest man, especially in these times when there are plenty of jobs at good wages, can justify a strike, when his employer is giving him as much or more than anyone else will pay him for equal service, is unexplainable.

The only explanation is that the man who is willing to strike in order to get more than anyone else in the world will pay him is that that man has no respect for the inherent rights of other people. He is a Prince of Privilege, a tyrant and an oppressor at heart.

He knows no impersonal rules but for. In short, he is not honest. Certainly strikes are not the responsibility of managers. If any other employer will pay labor more than the management, it is the right of the worker to take that job instead of striking to get more than anyone else will pay him or than he can get if he rents the land, hires the labor and hires the capital and renders the service himself.

And if he have not the ability to do this, or cannot find anyone else to do it better than their present employer, by what course of reasoning have they a right to blame the employer for a strike?

If it is right for labor unions to go together and fine a man who will sell for less or sell his services to the man prohibited, it is right for the employer to do the same thing. If it is not so, we would have no universal, impersonal rule. But we have already decreed by the law that it is not right for employers to combine to blackmail and intimidate and coerce the workers. Neither is it right for employees to combine to blackmail, intimidate and coerce an employer into giving more than they can get working for other people or for themselves.

Strikes most certainly do retard production. Even if an employer is obliged to pay more because of a strike. This retards the accumulation of capital and thus retards increased production.

THE DREADFUL PEACE OF HENRY WALLACE (The Chicago Tribune) Henry Wallace's peace speech, which seems to have echoes if not collaboration in England, reveals that the visionaries have succeeded in making their ecstasies odious. Mr. Wallace would add the international school teacher to the international policeman and establish a millennium of peace on a policy of coercion extending into the schoolroom and the college.

He would supervise the education particularly of Germans and Japanese to redeem the youth from the indoctrination received from the Nazi and Jap pluguggies. It is noted that this might require several generations. It is curious how the members of our cult of self-righteousness adopt Hitler's practices for the administration of their own schemes. The Nazi idea of a reconstructed Europe would require a policing of the underdog nations, regulating their activities, and controlling their education, their sources of information, and their interchange of ideas.

Can any one imagine a more infuriating humiliation of a populous country than an alien schoolmaster instructing the young people that their sires and their ancestors were cowards and villains by nature and training, and that their country had been the criminal cause of wars which had devastated mankind? The next war would come right out of the schoolroom. The treaty of Versailles has been denounced as the cause of the present war, but it was a model of intelligence and fair dealing compared with such a scheme as our self-righteous are now promoting for the cure of the world's ills.

It is easy to ignore common sense and draw diagrams for another world. It is pleasant to do so and it probably makes the person feel that he is better than other men, much better than people who look at him and his plans skeptically and say they won't work. The skepticism is supposed to reveal a depraved mentality.

The plans are beginning to be truly horrifying. The ridiculous can be disastrous if it gains ascendancy. An international Gestapo or elite guard undertaking to control the world's activities is a bad enough nightmare to contemplate, but the international pedagogy is infinitely worse. It might be inquired how the international police force, which is to protect all minorities and to restrain all inclinations to rough conduct, would at the present moment tackle the relationship of Hindu to Moslem, Serb to Croat, and Vichy French to De Gaulist French. Also it might be inquired whether the international police force would take cognizance of the fact that the 77th American congress did not pass a law abolishing the poll tax in certain American states and that a minority in this country feels that it is denied many of the rights to be found in the promised land.

Some of the hard headed men who are conducting this war will have as little to do with the visionaries as possible. It is difficult to imagine Josef Stalin showing much interest in what he is told of these schemes. Mr. Churchill may have a more difficult task of evasion. Whoever talks for France is very likely to talk and act much as M. Clemenceau did. But if there were no alternative to the proposals now being made by the cultists, it would be better for the world if the peace negotiators met to agree upon the probable date of the next war and went home, leaving the causes to inevitability and the chief actors to destiny.

BUY VICTORY BONDS What would Charlie the Smear Michelson and his mouthpieces be saying if, after 10 months warning from the state department that the Japanese planned to attack Hawaii, it had been Herbert Hoover and his secretaries of war and the navy who had permitted Pearl Harbor to be surprised?

ANNIVERSARY PRESENT

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER SOVEREIGNTY: A desire by our diplomats to promote military and civilian resentment against Hitler, leading finally to revolt, is one of the major factors governing Anglo-American tenderness toward Pochyities in North Africa.

Departmenters cannot advance this explanation publicly, but President Roosevelt's Casablanca assurance that the Allies do not seek the destruction of enemy populations confirms it.

In reaction to recent battlefield reverses, Nazi propagandists are trying to bolster home morale by depicting catastrophic calamities in the form of ultimate defeat. They aim to personalize the cruelties and despair which would ensue. Der Fuehrer is using this psychological technique on his generals to an even greater degree, recalling threats that the "war cranks" will be treated unmercifully. It is understood that some of his Wehrmacht chiefs would be glad to quit if guaranteed the status usually accorded the vanquished.

The first United Nations statesman to detect this strategy and move to counteract it was Stalin. His speeches he has emphasized that he has no quarrel with the Herrenvolk or even with the Berlin General Staff—only with National Socialist Party members who brutalized the Reich and brought on the conflict.

Thus, in playing along with the Darlan, Nogueses and Peyroutons, Washington and London seek to convince the Axis counterparts of these men that they have nothing to fear from a grand Allied triumph, and that the sovereignty of their nations will be respected.

OBJECTION: Senators Clark and Hatch may have outsmarted themselves by their warning to vote against confirmation of Ed Flynn unless he resigned his post as New York National Committeeman. Even though he took their advice, their action impresses some cynical colleagues as an attempt to go along with the White House without antagonizing angry constituents.

As author of the "clean politics" bill, the man from New Mexico apparently felt compelled to assume this semicircular attitude. Although he isn't a friend of the occupant of the Executive Mansion, the Missourian is a fairly regular partisan, he kicks over the can only rarely. And he comes up for re-election next year. Both are blessed with exceedingly faulty memories if they do not know that "foreign representatives" are specifically exempted from operation of the Hatch Act.

Thus the Bronx boss would not have violated either the spirit or the letter of that law if he had retained his political office while serving as a diplomat.

In raising this point as their most serious objection to approval of the Presidential selection, the pair intentionally brushed aside all other arguments advanced against the nominee. The New Yorker's general reputation as a typical Tammany ally constitutes the principal reason many Senators oppose his appointment.

DANGER: A concerted movement to break Washington bureaucracy's strangle hold on the nation is the most spectacular and significant factor in present day American public affairs. Although the subject has so many scattered spearheads that the uninitiated find difficulty in detecting its appearance, the political situation is the coming issue for future campaigns.

In trying to solve the manpower problem, organized Labor and management have formed an alliance. They demand that hiring be placed in the hands of their private agencies rather than in the United States Employment Service. Both groups fear the control which the Federal setup would possess if a man's chance for a job depended on a distant commissar. Retailers and wholesalers are clamoring for decentralization of the Office of Price Administration. No official at the Capital, they variety and complexity of the debatable points which beset them. Claude R. Wickard has been besieged by protests from farm bureaus. They insist that the food question can be answered more easily by appeals for patriotic cooperation than by arbitrary orders issued by the A.A.A.

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON Behind the screen: Bud Abbott and Lou Costello will offer Marine Sgt. Barney Ross a fat role in their next M-G-M comedy when the former boxing champ and war hero returns to Hollywood late next month for a well-earned leave. The comedians are close friends of Ross.

There was a good deal of moaning and eyebrow lifting around Hollywood when Charles Laughton was cast as a thoroughly American admiral in Metro's latest hit "Stand By For Action." A great actor, sure, but why should an Englishman get one of Hollywood's American naval hero roles?

Well, we saw "Stand By For Action" the other night and now that the film is being released there won't be any cracks about Laughton playing an American admiral. He's great. The English accent is still there but he's thoroughly American. Just as American as the picture, which is a honey.

Watching Laughton on the screen reminded me of his first day on the set of the picture. He told me: "The difference between an American and an Englishman is not an accent, anyway. It's the sentiment which is a honey."

As a matter of fact, "Stand By For Action" isn't the first time Laughton has played an American. It was as an American in "The Happy Husband" and as a Chicago gangster in "On the Spot" that he first attracted the attention of a New York producer, Gilbert Miller. Miller saw "The Happy Husband" on the London stage and immediately asked, "Who is that middle-aged American in the cast?"

From a language chair at Columbia University for 14 years to a Hollywood studio, Laughton has played foreign accents in the caped career of Dr. Simon R. Mitchneck, another interesting example of obscure celebrity for which Hollywood is famous. For shunting the alien syntax from ping to purr, Mitchneck usually nets himself a tidy chunk of folding money. Before a foreigner can speak English correctly, he maintains, he must master the intonation and rhythm of the language. "I don't graft English," he explains. "I make my pupil identify its sounds in their own language."

Lenore Aubert, the captivating Viennese whom Sam Goldwyn will introduce in "They Got Me Covered," with Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, presented Dr. Mitchneck with quite a problem. Born in Yugoslavia and raised in Vienna, she arrived in Hollywood speaking English with a Germanic accent, than which nothing could be less popular these days. But in six months of coaching Dr. Mitchneck completely neutralized her speech into what he calls "no national accent."

With his speech classes Dr. Mitchneck combines a course in Americanization. "I believe," he says, "that to speak the American way one must love America and sympathize with its ideals."

OLDER THE BETTER Life not only begins for a Hollywood movie director when he passes 40, but gets much better at 50 and by the time 60 arrives, well, life is simply terrific.

Of the film industry's 80 leading directors all the top ones are 60 or over. Sam Wood, nearing 60, just completed "For Whom the Bells Toll."

Cecil B. DeMille will be 62 when he starts directing "The Story of Dr. Wassell." Mike Curtis, who directed "Yankee Doodle Dandy," is 55. George Marshall is 52. John Stahl 57. Roy Del Ruth 48.

BUY VICTORY BONDS Germans Counseled To Rise in Revolt MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 30 (AP)—The congress of anti-Nazi Germans meeting here broadcast a message today urging all German people to prepare a revolt against Hitler at the opportune moment.

The message counseled Germans to resist "today by sabotage, tomorrow by revolution." "Approaching judgment will be terrible for all Nazis and their accomplices," it said.

Civilian Student Corps Planned

By PETER EDSON The Pampa News Washington Correspondent Plans for the formation and enlistment of a "civilian student corps" are now being considered by a committee within the War Manpower Commission, to train and provide technicians needed for war industries.

Army and Navy programs for specialized technical education of an estimated 495,000 men and women in uniform are only a part of the story of how the colleges and universities of the country are going to be geared into the war effort. The special training programs and preliminary, basic education to officer and pilot candidates, technicians, WAVES and WAACS will use the facilities, dormitories, laboratories, classrooms and faculties of 400 or 500 of the colleges and universities.

But on top of this educational requirement for uniformed members of the armed services, there is a tremendous demand for specially trained civilians for the war industries, and ultimately it is possible that more than half of the 1700 U. S. colleges and universities will have some part of their faculty and plant devoted to this work, the federal government paying the bill.

The demand is for engineers, teachers, doctors, meteorologists, accountants, government administrators, radio technicians and specialists of all sorts to take top jobs, above the level of foremen. The foremen, the skilled machine operators and the craftsmen can be given the necessary training in trade schools and thousands of workmen are being up-graded for these jobs through the training-within-industry short courses of the War Manpower Commission and regular state vocational aid from the U. S. Office of Education.

For jobs above the trade and factory level, however, industries are now beginning to report they can't find qualified technicians, machine designers, men for chemical research, electrical engineers with specialized knowledge of some of the new radio equipment, and men of all kinds, teachers competent to give instruction in mathematics and the sciences. How many of each of these specialized technicians will be needed by the war industries, management itself does not know.

But the problem is now being studied by a special committee of educators, industrialists and Army and Navy officers. Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue, is chairman.

Two main problems confront this committee. The first is to induce qualified young men and women to take this training. The temptation of all youngsters now in high school is to quit school and get one of these high-pay war jobs immediately, instead of completing high school and going on for another year or so of further education. Also, the youngsters taking this civilian training will in all probability have to be mixed in with the uniformed students of the services. Will the students in civilian clothes feel they are at a disadvantage?

FINANCIAL AID NECESSARY The second major problem is to provide the civilian students with adequate financial aid for concentrated, year-round courses. With no spare time in which to work, many students would be financially unable to take this training. Student loans would have to be provided.

All such proposals are still in the think stage in Washington, and they have yet to be shaped into definite plans and submitted to the Bureau of the Budget and Congress for approval. Two government projects already in force, however, make a start in the direction outlined. Office of Education is now spending $30 million a year financially technical training of some 140,000 students at a time in 200 colleges and universities. This has begun in October, 1940, and has been responsible for placing many young technicians in war industry management and scientific jobs.

Also, the War Manpower Commission now administers a $25 million fund through which loans of not more than $500 a year or $25 a month plus tuition are made to needy students.

Today's War Analysis

By GLENN BABB Ten years ago last night the brown-shirted columns surged in triumph through the streets of Berlin, the thunder of their boots marking the cadence for their hymns of war. Adolf Hitler had just been called to be the chancellor of the Reich and the Fuehrer of the German people.

The world watched with a premonition of sinister events but its worst fears fell short, of the terrible visitations the Nazi decade brought. It seems longer than ten years; it is hard to recall the relatively unworried spirit of the times when mankind was not living under Hitler's shadow.

That night in 1933, as he watched his followers march, he revealed in the first of a series of triumphs without a match for their behalf meaning for the world. In the shadows was the aged Hindenburg, the commander who had lost the last war and though he did not know it, was handing German leadership to a supremely ill man who meant to challenge the world again.

Histories of our times doubtless will ring two dates in red the color of blood — Jan. 30, 1933, and September 18, 1931. The latter, which not many will recognize readily, was the day Japan fell upon Manchuria, she launched the Asian phase of the Axis adventure in Brigandage.

On those dates two bitter, venomous streams of revolt against the civilization of the Atlantic nations, by the standards of that civilization, were launched. Within a decade they were to be fused and to draw the United States into the greatest war of all.

There has been no human career quite as meteoric as Hitler's. The new leader of the Nazis, the resplendent Bonaparte rocket took 20 years for his flight. Many will say that the Hitlerian counterpart, with only ten years marked off, is near the final blackout.

Hitler has proclaimed that he was building his third Reich to last a thousand years. He has survived one-hundredth of that span and unless our own civilization is to be destroyed its end should come before the second decade is far gone. It is interesting to speculate just where history will say that Hitler reached his pinnacle. Perhaps that June day in 1940 when he stood in the gallery of the invalids in Paris and looked down, half in admiration and half in pity, on the tomb of Napoleon.

Perhaps the Napoleonic example has been so small to do with the urge which drove the German Fuehrer into Russia; perhaps something impelled him to try to show he could win where the other had failed. The parallel promises to run true as far as the Russian chapter goes. The Wehrmacht knows today what the road back meant to the grand army.

That 1933 spirit of victory, hope, fiery ambition is missing in Berlin today.

BUY VICTORY BONDS Enlisted Reservists To Be Inducted At End of '43 Semester WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The war department will today announce details of its plan to induct most of the enlisted reservists in colleges at the end of the current semester.

Medical, pre-medical and engineering students in the enlisted reserve will not be called to active duty until the conclusion of the first semester beginning in 1943.

Students in the reserve officers training corps, who are members of the enlisted reserve corps, will be placed upon active duty as soon as the army specialized training is started at their school. Arrangements will be made for voluntary induction of ROTC students who are not members of the enlisted reserve.

Yankees React To Times And Become Baseball's Busiest New Yorkers

Quit Turning Nose up in Air

By JUDSON BAILEY NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—The New York Yankees, who used to spend the winter in regal aloofness toward the trading efforts of the other major league clubs, have become the busiest barterers in baseball.

This month the American league champions completed two trades and the sale of Vernon (Lefty) Gomez within eight days and previously had maneuvered the winter's biggest multiple player swap with the Cleveland Indians.

It all goes to show how times have changed and how different the Yankees are going to look next season. They now have 30 players on their reserve list, the fewest in years, and about half of these are newcomers. Other changes may be yet to come.

Gone from last week's familiar array are Gomez, who was sold to the Boston Braves for an estimated $7,500; Infielder Gerry Friddy, who was traded to Washington yesterday along with Milo Candini, a minor league pitcher; catcher Buddy Ross; and Outfielder Roy Cullenbine, who was traded to Cleveland; Infielder Red Rolfe, who has voluntarily retired to coach basketball and baseball at Yale and Pitcher Red Ruffing, first baseman Buddy Hassett and Outfielder Tom Henrich and George Selkirk, all of whom have entered military service.

To compensate for this big turnover the Yankees have obtained an unspectacular assortment of re-fills including Pitcher Bill Zuber from Washington, where he won nine and lost nine last year; Outfielder Roy Weatherly and Infielder Oscar Grimes from Cleveland, where they batted .288 and .179, respectively; First Baseman Nick Kiten, who hit .294 for the Phils; and Infielder Billy Knickerbocker, a free agent who was with the Yankees once before without distinguishing himself.

Aside from the Yankee deals, the biggest business of the winter has included the Cincinnati Reds exchanging Eddie Joost, Nate Andrews and cash for Shortstop Eddie Miller of the Boston Braves; the Reds' sale of Paul Derringer, their big pitching Dean, and Outfielder Ival Goodman to the Chicago Cubs in separate transactions; Brooklyn's sending Johnny Allen and $30,000 to the Phils for Pitcher Rube Melton; the Dodgers signing Outfielders Paul Waner and Johnny Cooney after they had been released by the Boston Braves; and Washington swapping Paul Dean to the St. Louis Browns for Pitcher Elden Auker, who subsequently said he was quitting baseball.

McAllen Plans For 1943 Grid Season

McALLEN, Jan. 30 (AP)—The McAllen high school football team is going right ahead arranging an attractive schedule despite the uncertainty of continuance of competitive athletics in Texas.

The Bulldogs, whose prospects for next fall are considered the best in years, have signed with Corpus Christi High for Sept. 16, the opening game.

Flying School Cagers Chalk Up Two Wins; Two Games on Monday Night

Piling up 31 field goals and six free throws, the Post basketball team swamped the Phillips quintet 68 to 32 in a game at the army advanced flying school's court Friday night.

Martin, forward on the Post team, led in the scoring with eight field goals for a total of 16 points. For the Phillips team, Laycock, forward, was high with 12.

The game was part of a double-header. In the other contest the Officers whipped the Diamond Shop team 31 to 25. Williams, Diamond Shop forward, was high scorer with 19 points, gained by three field goals, four free throws, while Moody, forward, and Fredericks, guard, tied for high on the Officers team with eight points each, all made on field goals.

Tomorrow night, a double-header will be played at the junior high school gymnasium when the Diamond Shop will have a return game with the Officers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The new baseball you'll see bouncing and soaring around the parks this year likely will be a fugitive from the fairway with a hide of horse but the heart of a golf ball.

For the war production board reported today that 720,000 baseballs of quality "equal to pre-war cork-cushioned center baseballs" will be made, using the left-over insides of golf balls that have been waiting for something to do since the golf ball industry was stymied by the war.

The new baseballs will have rubber-cushioned centers, and WPA gives its word they'll not be duds.

Blue and Gold Hot For Airforce Teams LUBBOCK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Add war shortages. South Plains Army Flying school has a rip-sporting basketball tozney going on among squadrons and detachments.

Southwest Conference Teams Will Return to Cage Wars This Week

By The Associated Press All Southwest conference basketball teams return to the wars this week after taking time out for mid-term examinations, but only four of them will figure in games counting in the standing.

Baylor has quite a week ahead as the cellar-dwelling Bears meet Texas A. and M. at College Station Monday night then trek to Fayetteville to clash with second-place Arkansas in a two game series starting Friday night.

Texas Christian, tied with Rice for third place in the standing also being able to the grind, meeting the Aggies at Fort Worth Saturday night.

Unbeaten Texas and Rice and Southern Methodist play service teams.

The Longhorns clash with Corpus Christi Naval Air Station at Austin Wednesday night. It will be something of a grudge battle since NAS defeated Texas by five points early in the season and has been talking loudly since then about not being able to find competition in the Southwest.

Rice meets the Corpus Christi flyers in a two-game series at Corpus Christi opening Friday night while Southern Methodist tackles Dallas Prairie Naval Air Station at Dallas Saturday night.

Looks Like Texas League to Slay DALLAS, Jan. 30 (AP)—Three Texas league teams were definitely committed tonight to continuation of baseball next season, indicating that the circuit will not vote to suspend for the duration at the annual meeting in Shreveport Feb. 13 and 14.

Rules of the league say that a three-fourths majority—or six clubs—must vote to suspend in order for that to be done.

The other five clubs either took no stand or made the statement that has become standard with them: "We'll go if the others do."

Okahoma City, Fort Worth and San Antonio announced they would vote to go ahead when league members were polled.

President Ernest Lorber of Beaumont said he would vote against suspending before committing himself. Shreveport, the defending champion, did not announce either way. President Bonneau Peters was out of the city and could not be contacted for a statement.

President Fred Ankenman at Houston said: "If the rest of the teams want the league to operate we're steady."

Don Stewart, president of the Tulsa club, said he will vote when the question comes up at the meeting, if it comes up.

Dallas announced through President George Schepps that it would operate if the rest of the league voted to go ahead.

Bowling Due For Some Hard Blows Before War's Over WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Bowling, the occasional or steady pastime of 12 million Americans, is due for some hard blows before the war is much older.

So much was revealed by the war production board today, and the board's reasoning that there will be little trouble for archery, ping pong addicts, badminton enthusiasts and billiard players will not soothe the feelings of the seekers after spares and strikes.

At any rate, the bowlers are better off than skaters, who won't see a new pair of skates for the duration.

New alleys cannot be built at the former rate, about 4,000 a year.

Wee Willie Pep Knocks 'Em Cold, Yelps for More

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Unless the peak-busters' union bars Wee Willie Pep for flagrant violation of the rules on overwork, he probably will whisk his record winning streak 'way up into the stratosphere this year with one of the busiest campaigns ever mapped out for a big-time thumper.

For, less than ten minutes after he polished off Lightweight Allie Stolz before a howling collection of 19,088 customers in Madison Square Garden Friday night, there- by running his string to 50 wins in a row, the featherweight package of Pep was hollering to large Lou Viscuso to get him another opponent for Monday.

With Wee Willie waiting for more fight, and large Lou, not at all opposed to giving them to him—especially after the dazzling stuff he showed in walloping one of the world's leading lightweights, last night—the plans were posted immediately to have the Connecticut jumper bean go to the post about every two weeks this year. And one of them is slated to be against Beau Jack, who holds half of the world lightweight title, early in March.

And from the way he floored Allie and "finished galloping" to take the decision, there doesn't appear to be anyone in the way just now to put a stop to Willie's string, which has no equal in the modern record books. Last night, he was so much more fighter than the boring battler who "hit-and-run" to the New York version of the featherweight title two months ago that he looked like two other guys.

Dodger Shortstop 'Signs' With Navy LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 30 (AP)—Brooklyn's Harold Henry (Peeewe) Reese will play on Uncle Sam's team for the duration.

The diminutive Dodger shortstop was accepted by the Navy today for training in Lieut. Comdr. Gene Tunney's physical education department at Norfolk, Va.

Although he was sworn in as an apprentice seaman, the lowest rating, "Peeewe" could come out of the school a chief petty officer, the highest non-commissioned rank, after eight weeks of training.

Danny Fortmann To Assist Pitt Coach PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30 (AP)—Danny Fortmann, star lineman of the Chicago Bears, today was named an assistant coach to Clark Shaughnessy at the University of Pittsburgh.

Shaughnessy, who resigned Monday as coach at Maryland to become successor to Charley Bowser at Pitt, announced the appointment.

In addition to his coaching duties, Fortmann will serve as resident physician on the staff of Presbyterian hospital here.

Shaughnessy said he had not decided upon other assistants.

Farewell Dinner Given Mrs. Byrd By Cabot Company

Employees of the Cabot company honored Mrs. C. H. Byrd with a farewell dinner at the Pampa Country club Saturday evening. After more than eight years of service with the company as secretary to Don Conley, Mrs. Byrd is retiring. R. G. Allen, the General Manager, acted as toastmaster and short speeches were made by Don Conley, C. L. Wooley, and Reno Stinson. Other entertainment was furnished throughout the evening. At the conclusion of the dinner, Mrs. Byrd was presented with a traveling bag as a farewell gift. A patriotic motif was used throughout the decorations. The table formed a large "V" with streamers of red, white and blue ribbon down the centers of the two sides. Red, white and blue carnations in "V" shaped bowls and red, white and blue candles carried out the patriotic theme. Placecards with miniature flags attached to them completed the table decoration. More than sixty Cabot employees attended.

Scrimshire, Thomas Marriage Revealed

Mrs. Clara K. Addington of Miami announces the marriage of her daughter, Mary Maurine Scrimshire, to Robert L. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Thomas of Pampa, which was solemnized in the parsonage of the First Christian church by the Rev. B. A. Norris January 2. The couple was attended by Miss Naomi Snyder of Minneapolis, Minn., Sgt. Glen Shawback and Harold Scrimshire, brother of the bride. The bride was attractively dressed in a two piece beige suit with ice blue accessories. Mrs. Thomas will continue her schooling in Miami where she will graduate this spring. Mr. Thomas is graduate of Pampa High school class of '42 and at present is employed by the U. S. Engineering department. He is enlisted as a cadet in the Army Air Force reserve.

Shamrock Girl Bride In Hollywood Wedding

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.
SHAMROCK, Jan. 30—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lummus announce the marriage of their daughter Rose Maud to Nestor John Moore, of the U. S. Navy, which was solemnized January 19 in an impressive single ring ceremony which was read by Dr. Harold L. Frope, at the First Baptist Church chapel in Hollywood, Calif. Miss Myrel Robinson sang "I Love You Truly" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life". The bride was attractively dressed in a suit of ice blue with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and pink rose buds. For "something old, she carried an heirloom handkerchief. Mrs. Moore was reared in Shamrock and is a graduate of the Shamrock High school and has been employed by the Eastman Kodak company of Hollywood for the past two years. Mr. Moore before entering the Navy was employed by the Eastman Kodak company in Rochester, N. Y., and was transferred to the Hollywood branch about a year ago. He is now in the photographic division of the Navy and will be stationed in Washington, D. C., for the duration, where the young people will make their home.

(Second of three stories)
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30—With the consent of the customers—and the censors, of course—Hollywood seems about to launch a new era of glamor. Many of the new films of 1943 will be jammed with charm and eye appeal. Besides the bumper crop of musicals, dozens of pictures will have predominately feminine casts. And even the melodramas of front-line fighting are being liberally garnished with beautiful nurses, ravishing refugees and alluring natives with cabaret cuties for the furlough sequences. The competition in the glamor department is going to be terrific, for in addition to the undiminished list of established actresses, hundreds of new faces and legs and curves will be battling for notice on the screen.

GALS AND MORE GALS
One studio alone, RKO, has seven pictures—such as "Government Girl", "Pretty Girl", "Prodigal Woman" and "Queens of Burlesque"—prepared to make the best of the actor shortage and the over-supply of actresses. Other films on neighboring lots will deal with girls in war plants, wives at Navy bases, lady harvesters, female test pilots, and all the women's uniformed services. The gals are even moving in on the realm of sagebrush and six-guns. Jennifer Holt, daughter of Jack and sister of Tim, is about to be featured by Universal as the new queen of the westerns. And Oma Munson, who played brother keepers in "Gone With the Wind" and "The Shanghai Gesture", soon is to emerge at Republic as a she-mance in horse opera. While fans are the only star-makers, expert opinion here is that four young actresses are most likely to be accepted as new stars in 1943. They are Janet Blair, Susan Peters, Alexis Smith and Betty Hutton. Three already have been hailed prematurely by their ballyhoo experts as top-flight players, but they also are justifying the praise. Miss Blair, for instance, is a former band canary who was catapulted into the title role of "My Sister Eileen." Before that comedy even reached the cutting room, she was rushed into a co-starring, singing and dancing role

Hostesses Honor Mrs. Kriegel With Shower Recently
SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.
WHITE DEER, Jan. 30—Mrs. C. Lawson and Mrs. A. L. Stovall were hostesses at a post-nuptial shower honoring Mrs. Melvin Kriegel, Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Stovall. Mrs. Kriegel is the former Miss Mildred Burrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burrell. At the guest book was Miss Evelyn Stovall and Mrs. J. W. Everly was in charge of the games, stunts and contests, all of which were based on some phase of courtship or marriage. Favours on the refreshment plates were small cut-out brides and bridegrooms. Since Mr. Kriegel is employed by the railroad company at Kingsville, the gifts were presented on an express wagon drawn by Gene Burrell. As he entered with the wagon, Aileen Stovall read a short poem of presentation. Present were Mesdames R. A. Burrell, Tommy Burrell, D. L. Lemly, M. C. Doss, Roy Matheson, J. W. Hardin, L. L. Vaughn Addresses Phillips Parent Teacher Association

Supl. R. E. Vaughn addressed the Phillips Parent Teacher association at a recent meeting in the grade school auditorium. In his amusing, yet thought-provoking presentation he emphasized the effect of the war on the everyday lives of high school boys and girls and advocated certain measures which could be brought to bear on the situation by parents, teachers and other authorities. He also praised the efforts of all Phillips students which secured scrap sufficient to buy the new maroon stage curtains. Following an invocation by Mrs. J. C. Alexander, a group of selections were played by the grade school band, directed by E. D. Crites. After a brief business session during which Mrs. Ralph Platzer discussed the proposed legislation for 1942-43, Fifth grade were hostesses for the social hour.

"A Woman's Best Years" Will Be Reviewed Feb. 8

Dr. Beran Wolf's "A Woman's Best Years" will be reviewed Monday evening, February 8, in the city club rooms at 8 p. m. This is one of a series of reviews being sponsored by the arts committee of the American Association of University Women of which Mrs. F. E. Leach is chairman. "A Woman's Best Years" is dedicated to "the women who are going to accept the challenge of the fourth decade with clear eyes and a good heart." The book surveys problems and obstacles confronting middle-aged women, and deals with such topics as the modern woman versus old man time, the dangerous age, marriage or a career, the importance of being irrational, saying yes to middle age, growing up or growing old, find your niche after forty. Abandoning its former policy the A.A.U.W. will make no admission charge to this review. The public is invited. A very special invitation is extended to Army men's wives and to all other new comers to Pampa.

Savage Speaks At Girl Scout Council Meeting Friday

Girl Scout council met Friday in the Girl Scout office in the city hall with Mrs. Bruce Pratt, commissioner, presiding. Each civic club has elected a representative to serve on the council. Luther Pierson from the Rotary club and J. D. Schroedel from the Lions club attended the meeting. Winston Savage gave a short talk and suggested that it was up to the Girl Scout council as well as the community club to help provide wholesome entertainment for our teen-age girls and boys. The council is well aware of the need for scouting at this time and Girl Scouts everywhere can give their time and energy generously to help keep the freedom they have inherited. The scout program is arranged so that each girl can help in the work for which she is best suited. In this time of war and up heaval it is hoped that the Girl Scout program is carried out. There were nine members present at the council meeting.

Odell Partin Honoree At Farewell Party

Mrs. Odell Partin and Mrs. C. R. Followell entertained with a farewell party honoring Odell Partin before he left for induction into the army recently. The group listened to violin and guitar music played by Don Childers, Jimmie Lankford, C. R. Followell and Odell Partin. Refreshments were served to Alexia Brown, Don Childers, Betty Chapman, Jimmie Lankford, Vernon Davis, C. R. Followell, the honoree and the hostesses.

Layette Shower Given as Courtesy To Mrs. J. W. Fish

Complimenting Mrs. John Welder Fish, Mrs. M. C. Boswell and Mrs. E. A. Berry were co-hostesses at a layette shower Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Boswell. Mrs. L. W. Barrett, Jr., poured coffee at a lace covered table centered with a low crystal bowl of baby breath and sweet peas. Color scheme of pink and blue was stressed in the sandwiches and cakes. The attractively wrapped gifts were arranged in a bassinet lined with blue satin. Presiding at the pink and blue guest book was Mrs. L. R. Williams. Registering were Mesdames Frank Bonner, D. M. Scief, L. C. Cobb, W. H. Peeters, James Gotcher, G. W. Cunningham, L. V. Grace, L. W. Barrett, Jr., Note Thomas, L. R. Williams, M. C. Boswell, A. E. Berry, H. Adams were elected chairman; Mrs. Olen Statton, vice chairman; J. M. Satterfield, secretary and treasurer; Maude Lee Greer, roll call chairman; Mrs. Amy New, civilian relief chairman; Mrs. Vernice Ogilve, production chairman; Mrs. Joe Miller, home service; Mrs. Kell Sorenson, home nursing; Mrs. H. C. Boyd, first aid; Mrs. Herman Ford, junior Red Cross. The annual roll call usually held in November will be held in March this year. Garments for those wishing to sew are still available at the library.

Carver to Speak On Factors That Favor Allied Victory

"Factors that Favor Victory for the Allies" will be the timely topic of discussion when E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist church, speaks at 8:00 p. m. Sunday. In announcing the sermon subject the First Baptist pastor stated that the message would be based upon the Scriptures and would not be optimistic views based upon what he termed "wishful thinking." Mr. Carver's subject for the 10:55 a. m. service was announced as "A Strike that Failed to Impede Progress." At the morning worship hour the choir will sing Sherwin's "Praise Ye the Lord." A hymn-sing of old-time favorites will feature the evening hour along with special music by the large chorus choir under the direction of H. Paul Briggs. The regular Sunday evening fellowship hour sponsored by the young people of the church for men in service will be held at 9:00 p. m. All men in uniform are invited to attend this period of fun and fellowship, it was announced.

Clarendon Man Is Highway Patrolman

William George Abbott will begin his duties in Pampa tomorrow as a Texas Highway patrolman, working with Charles A. Ballard. Patrolman Abbott comes to Pampa from Clarendon and succeeds W. J. White, who has been called into active duty with the armed forces. Assignment of Patrolman Abbott here may be only temporary since he is on the reserve list of the army air forces. Mr. Abbott is married and has one child, a son, William Clark Abbott, 3 1/2 years old.

Some are getting their pilot training in California, some in Michigan and other mid-west states, some in Florida. Down there, one whole squadron of Anzacs has married American girls. Miss Luxford was a leader in finding a home and headquarters for these visitors from down under. It's in the comfortable Phi Gamma Delta clubhouse. The New York club, first of its kind in the U. S., is officially known as the "American Hospitality Center for Australian and New Zealand Fighting Forces." Similar Hospitality centers have been established across the country, in Boston, Washington, Detroit, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The University of Pennsylvania Club joined in sponsoring the movement, which has been endorsed by the Australian and New Zealand governments and the British War Relief. Sir Robert Appleby is actively interested, as are many prominent Anzac-Americans. Like "One-Woman USO" Luxford, they believe the rapid spread of Anzac clubs is inspired by Americans' desire to repay the warm hospitality extended to our boys of the A.E.F. by the people of Australia and New Zealand.

That the charter granted the American Red Cross by Congress January 5, 1905, not only gives it certain powers but also places on it specific responsibilities?
That the Pampa Red Cross office is in the City Hall, the production room in the basement of the Post Office, and the Surgical Dressing Room on the top floor of the Court House?
That you may call the Red Cross office, 960, and Mrs. J. B. White, executive secretary, or Miss Elizabeth Sefcik, her part-time secretary, or a member of the staff assistance corps will be glad to answer any question you may have about the Red Cross?

Holiday Funeral Held at Canadian

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
CANADIAN, Jan. 30—Funeral services were held in the Stickley chapel Friday afternoon for Violet Ousley Holiday who died at her home here at 3:15 Wednesday, following a long illness.
Violet Ousley was born at Weatherford, Okla., May 13, 1897. She came to Canadian with her parents in 1919 and married Clem Holiday in 1923.
Services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. T. C. Willet, she having been a member of that church since she was 16. Scripture passages were read from the writings of Job, Isaiah, and St. Paul. A ladies quartette sang a hymn.
Responding to a request of the deceased, "Whispering Hope" was sung by Mrs. Grace Spiller and Mrs. John Wilkinson.
Relatives of the deceased are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ousley; Canadian, two brothers, Earl of Canadian, and Clell of Detroit, Mich.; a niece Miss Arlene Ousley of Detroit who came for the funeral, and a nephew Jimmy Ousley, son of Earl Ousley and somewhere with the fighting forces of the United States navy since the summer of 1940.
Funeral arrangements were in charge of the Stickley mortuary, in-terment in Canadian cemetery.

Glorifying Yourself

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer
As we were saying a while ago, cats, no less than eyes, have a charm-quotient. But the ears often are overlooked.
Now, jewelry designers are putting ears right out in the center of public attention, with bright and beautiful earrings.
Designer Monet "reads" personality in the shape and texture of a lady's ears and designs ornaments to suit various types. Here are some of Monet's "character readings" and jewelry prescriptions:
A small, rounded, well-formed ear set somewhat forward and outward—musical, and deserving of a light, delicate bauble. The large, broad ear—financial or commercial ability, and worthy of heavy though never dangling earrings. A stand-out ear—courage, worth accenting with any shape of earring that strikes the fancy, so long as the upper part of the ear is covered by the hair.

But a great deal can be accomplished to improve the ear's surface, regardless of its shape. The first essential, of course, is that the skin be perfectly clean. Scrubbing the ears every time you clean your face is indicated. This will improve the color and glow of the skin.
Of course you wouldn't saunter to work in a war plant with pearls at your ears—even if most superintendents didn't bar all jewelry. The simple ornament is in good taste in your office, however, and a real glitter number will make you look and feel festive.

This wrap-around frock has much more to it than meets the eye! At first glance, it looks like an attractive and useful garment for wear around the house. It's that all right, but it also makes an ideal maternity dress with generous lap-over. Then, as if these weren't enough, the pattern is perforated so that it can be used for making a clever wrap-around slip.

For these attractive patterns send 15c plus 1c for postage for each in coins, your name, address, pattern numbers and sizes wanted to The Pampa News Today's Pattern Service, 530 South Wells St., Chicago, Ill.

Pattern No. 8345 is in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40, 42, 44. Size 16 dress takes 4-1-4 yards 35-inch material, slip 3-5-8 yards.

Many other practical sewing suggestions for gifts and for your own wardrobe are plentiful in the Winter Fashion Book available at 15c per copy. Order it with a 15c pattern for 25c plus 1c for postage.

Captain Cleared In Ship Sinking

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Capt. Henry Nelson, skipper of the liner President Coolidge which struck a mine and sank while being used as a troopship in the South Pacific, disclosed in an interview that he had been given a navy court martial and cleared in connection with the ship's loss.

Captain Nelson, speaking at his home here yesterday, said that if the 22,000-ton ship had not been beached quickly "we would have lost at least 45 per cent of those aboard—she would have sunk in 20 minutes."

The vessel carried 4,000 troops when it sank somewhere in the Solomon area and only four men were lost, according to announcements by the navy and Secretary Knox last Dec. 15.

Captain Nelson said, however, that only two men, crew members, were found to have been lost when the first check-up was made.

Panhandle Field Has 360 New Oil Wells During '43

There were 360 wells drilled in the Panhandle in 1942, according to The Oil Weekly which last year forecast the number of Panhandle wells to within 2 per cent of complete accuracy. The publication's forecast says that the Panhandle should drill 343 wells in 1943 of which eight should be wildcats.

This information will be contained in the annual yearbook and forecast issue of The Oil Weekly, located at Houston, to be published tomorrow.

Although 20,824 wells were drilled for oil and gas in the United States in 1942 and demand for crude oil in 1943 will probably be from 5 to 7 per cent higher than was the case last year, there will be a reduction in the number of wells to be drilled this year, says the publication.

In 1942 the nation's oil production was 1,385,347,000 barrels.

Reasons for the 1943 decline are stated as steel shortage, low crude oil prices, and government restrictions on well spacing and the transportation situation.

Forecast for 1943 is 18,574 wells including 3,289 wildcat wells. In 1942, wildcat wells totaled 3,166.

The oil industry will drill in excess of 37,000,000 feet of hole during the present year and the drilling bill will run upwards of a quarter of a billion dollars, exclusive of land or lease rentals or bonuses. The Oil Weekly says. Added to this will be the heavy expenditures for geophysical exploration which is now at an all-time peak.

Refining and natural gasoline plant equipment and construction expenditures, including materials used in operating, but not including crude oil, will run between $457,000,000 and $512,000,000 during 1943, Petroleum Refiner, sister publication to The Oil Weekly, has forecast.

This will include expenditures during the year for aviation gasoline plants and plants to produce synthetic rubber ingredients which will be processed by the rubber companies.

Salvation Army Leaders to Take Harlingen Post

Capt. and Mrs. Frank White, in charge of the Salvation Army here since May, 1942, will leave Tuesday for Harlingen where they are being transferred by headquarters.

Succeeding them in Pampa will be Capt. and Mrs. Ivor Williams of Lufkin, for whom a welcome meeting will be held by the Salvation Army here on February 7.

Transfer of Captain and Mrs. White to Harlingen is due to the rapid shifting of Salvation Army officers on account of the war. Many are serving with the armed forces.

The Whites came to Pampa from Littlefield where they were temporarily assigned after leaving the army school at Atlanta, Ga.

They replaced Capt. and Mrs. Jack Smith, who were transferred to Paris. Captain Smith is now a second lieutenant in the army air forces.

"We regret to leave Pampa and the friends we have made here," Captain White said Saturday. "It seems as though we have to move before we've unpacked, but the war has made many of these changes necessary."

Tampans Are Able To Fish on Way to Work

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 30 (AP)—A number of Tampans are meeting the pleasure driving ban with equanimity — they use their automobiles to go fishing for fun, and all its legal.

Their route to work is right along the bay, so they leave home an hour or so early in the morning, take their fishing poles along, and stop for a little sport. With no extra gas being used, the OPA has no objection.

SEARCH REWARDED

CHAPTER XXIV

DURING these years I lived in Cleveland, O. The nature of my business affairs had taken me there, and I had settled into a small, obscure apartment. I lived in the utmost simplicity, and avoided friends. From time to time, I would change to another apartment, equally obscure—and at the same time I would change my name to a new one.

For, from the very outset, I knew that the clean execution of my aims must leave my own history, my own trail through life, a misty and confused one. The boy named Richard Frye was slowly erased from existence upon the earth. And in his place there emerged not a single, new individual, but a dozen wholly inconspicuous individuals.

It was this basic necessity, indeed, which laid the solid groundwork for the method which I was to employ in the final scene, although I did not realize it at the beginning.

I fell into the habit of playing roles: at first, from the simple need to allow John Hunter of No. 12 Cherry avenue to fade out of life in behalf of Charles McGraw of No. 67 Albemarle street. But every mortal soul, no matter what the steadiness and singularity of his purpose upon the earth, must needs find some amusement. And so I took to the amusement of creating brief characters when the mood came upon me.

One evening, I would be a debaucher in a Chicago cabaret—an immaculately turned out fellow of the world, easy to meet at the bar, a ready spender of money, requesting particular numbers from the orchestra and rewarding the players lavishly for playing them.

Again, I was a snarling dock-walker, or a cold and silent and dangerous figure in some lakefront dive. Once, I spent two days as a make-believe policeman—actually giving summonses to several unhappy violators of the parking and speeding regulations—without being questioned or suspected.

This succession of pretenses which were, I think, quite harmless in their effect upon other people, became my hobby. Until, at last, it dawned upon me that it was something more than a hobby—that it would perhaps play a critical part in my plan.

Of course, I had no real conception as to the manner in which the ultimate scene would be played out. I had wit enough to realize that the stage-management of that scene—in which my own complete safety would be of major importance—must depend exactly upon the setting and the circumstances in which I would at last find him.

I knew, with a complete certainty, that I would find him. It never occurred to me for a single instant that my search would fail, or that other, and higher justice would take its retribution before I could take mine. For, you see, I had my own religion—and I had faith in it.

I was in Chicago, on an errand connected with my sporadic business affairs, when I did, at last, find him.

Which is not to say that I saw him, nor recognized at the moment that my quest was at an end. I had brought along with me a small accumulation of my trade journals. And in one of them, on a bitter morning when the wind from the lake fluttered the curtains even through the closed windows of my hotel room, I came upon an item:

Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether has announced his retirement from all active interest in his gold and silver enterprises, and resignation from the boards of Twin Valley Smelting Company, Spillway Development Corporation, and other companies with which he has been associated. He will retire to an estate which he has recently acquired at Gull Point, Long Island.

I telephoned to the editor of the journal. "This is the Chicago Mirror," I said. "We noticed your item on Merriwether in the current issue, and we haven't got anything on him in the files. Can you tell us a little about him? Is he a Chicago man?"

There was a wait. "Hello. We haven't got much on him either. One of our boys picked up that bit of news, and we ran it. That's about all I know. He hasn't been in the news much, I guess. Maybe just some figure-head."

"Thank you." Telephone calls to the corporations listed produced a fact: All of them were singularly averse to talking about Wesley Hope Merriwether. "Colonel Merriwether has given instructions that he is to receive no publicity."

It was simply a matter of routine to complete my business affairs and take the train to New York.

GULL POINT was less than an hour from the city, and on my second day there I saw Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether, looking into his face as he was pointed out to me, passing in the street—and knowing that I looked into the face of Norman Tinker.

I felt no surge of elation. Such a moment had been ordained from the start of time.

I spent four days at Gull Point—as a salesman of drug sundries, this time, and living in a cheap room—meeting the small business people, and listening, and discovering the nature of this community called Gull Point. I learned that Colonel Merriwether had a daughter in his household, and I saw that daughter.

I saw also my mother in her hair and in the proud fine lift of her face. But, again, it must be confessed that my emotions were not profoundly stirred. Those emotions had been burned brittle on a day long ago, in the far distant forest.

During the four days, I learned enough to enable me to go back to the life of Paul Gray, in Cleveland, and to sit down and think. That thinking occupied the better part of three weeks. From it there emerged the basic pattern of the plan. Not the details, of course. Those must wait upon events; upon the imponderables of chance and of human caprice. But, in all of its essentials, the plan was formed.

It was a long-term plan, indeed. It contemplated serious use, upon the grand scale, of that playing-acting with which I had diverted myself in the past.

It required the creation of two characters, not one. For the preparation of them—or at least of the most important of them—I decided to go to California. The choice was obvious. Nobody knew me there, nowadays. And California, particularly the neighborhood of the moving picture studios, was the one conspicuous spot on earth where a stranger might appear out of nowhere and escape even the most casual interest in his past.

I spent a year in the Hollywood country before I returned at last to Gull Point; returned now as a gay and careless fellow, friend to all the world. And on the day that I took the lease upon a small, carefully chosen cottage, I signed that lease with the name of my new self—Henry Prentiss. (To Be Continued)

Cadet Parents To Be Welcomed In Pampa Homes

The hospitality of the "old West" will be in vogue in Pampa about the middle of February when the first graduating class of the Pampa Army Flying School receives their wings, according to Dan E. Williams, chairman of the army hospitality committee of the Pampa Board of City, Development and Chamber of Commerce.

Response to the appeal to open Pampa homes to the visiting parents of cadets has been very good, Williams declared this morning, however a large number of additional homes will very likely be needed, depending upon the number of parents who will take advantage of the invitations, he said.

The plan is to invite the parents of the cadets to be a guest for one or two nights at the time of graduation. "Every club, organization or individual who has been contacted so far has responded in the typical western fashion," Williams said. "Many individuals have volunteered the use of a room in his home for this purpose without being contacted. Others are needed. Anyone wishing to cooperate may telephone any member of the committee or the Chamber of Commerce office, telephone 383."

Members of the committee are Dan E. Williams, chairman, Lt. Harold B. Smith, public relations officer, Pampa army flying school, Crawford Atkinson, Fred Thompson, H. E. Schwartz, Joe Gordon, and Henry Ellis.

Pan-American Railway Fires on Increase

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30 (AP)—More fires along the Pan-American railway, "lifeline" to Central America, were reported last night to the office of the government owned railways here. Between Tonalá and Arriaga, in the southern border state, a 500-yard stretch on both sides of the track impeding the progress of trains, was reported burning. Smaller fires were reported elsewhere along the route. On the Mexico City-Torreón division of the National railways, a freight train was derailed, blocking other trains between Mexico City and Ciudad Juárez, Texas border town.

This Might Have Happened Here

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The following advertisement appeared in the "apartments wanted" columns of the Evening Star Thursday: This is my story: I'm homeless and harmless and 3 weeks old; My mother and daddy are out in the cold; To care for a home is all that we ask— We're aching to get the responsible task; Dad is an officer, assigned to stay here; Are you in Arlington, or reasonably near? We need a real kitchen, a bath, and a bed; If you think you can help us, oh, that's enough said! Be it Buckingham village, or district northwest, We'll cherish your things, from the simplest to best; Whether two rooms or twelve, it's a joy heaven-sent, And nobody cares how much is the rent. Please, telephone father and tell him we're saved. Before his mind snaps, and we all are depraved! BUY VICTORY BONDS. DENVER MAN KILLED

MCCALLEN, Jan. 30 (AP)—George W. Sheriff, 76, of Denver, Colo., was killed last night when he was struck by a car while walking with his wife. A retired carpenter, he had been here 15 days. Officers were seeking the driver of the car. BUY VICTORY BONDS. RAIL INCOME DROPS

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Co. reported net operating income of $5,220,964 for the year ended Dec. 31, against $5,958,046 in 1941.
