The British government moved last night to check concessions Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia gave American and British interests.

The day's developments included:

London—The British minister to Addis Ababa was authorized to tell Emperor Haile Selassie that London advises him to withhold the concessions.

Addis Ababa—An official communication disclosed details of an oil concessions to American interests and one involving the water of Lake Tana to an English corporation.

Trento—Premier Mussolini in a speech after the conclusion of war maneuvers, said "those who do not know how to grasp the wheel of destiny in historic moments perhaps will never grasp it." He disclosed plans to call 200,000 more men to service.

Success in tests that may revolutionize warfare methods, using ultra short wave to paralyze operation of plane, war-hips, and motorized land equipment, is believed near by Guglielmo Marconi, above, wireless telegraphy inventor, who announced in Italy that his experiments are in an advanced stage. Lindy's 'Heart' Pictured

NEW YORK, Aug. 31. (AP)—The mechanical secrets of the robot glass heart which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh built to maintain life outside the body were revealed officially today for the first time by a Rockefeller Institute publication.

The success of his heart, announced last June without explanation of its mechanism, was hailed by scientists as one of the great achievements in medicine.

The heart is a single piece of glass, roughly resembling an old-fashioned pump, in which an end of the kidney, liver spleen, or other organs of the human body can be kept alive indefinitely.

It is the first robot, in which artificial life can be kept going as long as the medical scientists wish, in plain view of their eyes, where they can study the otherwise hidden progress of disease.

The Lindbergh device—its proper scientific name a perfusion pump—supplies not only the heart beats of human pressure and rhythm, but artificial blood and air to maintain life.

Yet it is a device of marvelous simplicity. As diagrammed by Lindbergh himself it is three glass chambers, connected, one above the other, in vertical position.

In the top-floor chamber lives the organ endowed with artificial life.

The bottom floor chamber is filled with the artificial blood which medical scientists have long known how to create, but which they previously lacked the means of using readily.

The second floor bulb, lying between the artificially living organ above and the blood chamber below, serves to regulate to human-like rhythm the flow of artificial blood.

This artificial life stream is driven through a glass artery directly from the bottom floor reservoir into the top one containing the living organ. After running through the organ, the artificial blood passes by a different route down into the lower floor reservoir, to be used over again.

SLASH LEAVES CALIFORNIA IN DRASTIC STATE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31. (AP)—A doleful picture of the California oil situation was presented today by State Oil Umpire J. R. Pemberton as the third day of halved crude oil prices passed and gasoline prices were reduced further.

"The bears," the rugged individualists, and those opposed to all forms of cooperation regulation have had their way," he said.

"Crude oil has collapsed completely in the intensely competitive oil fields and in spite of advice, preaching and dire warnings, the price of crude oil has been cut more drastically than it has ever been before."

DALLAS, Aug. 31. (AP)—The Dallas News says Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas railroad commission issued a statement today charging that certain major oil companies planned to cut the price of gasoline as a means of forcing down the price of crude so that they might fill storage with cheap oil.

The News says the statement was dictated by Col. Thompson, now on vacation at a lodge near Red River, by a "M. M. Jones" friend here by telephone. The story adds:

"It (the statement) came after reports conveyed to him that a reduction in the tank wagon price of gasoline had been decided upon by the oil companies."

DECISION IS RESERVED IN GAS HEARING

Three Federal Judges Will Soon Announce Ruling On Validity of Gas Statute.

HOUSTON, Aug. 31. (AP)—A three-judge federal court reserved decision after hearing here today on a suit of the Texas Panhandle Gas company attacking validity of the new Texas gas proration law.

Pending a decision the court continued in effect a restraining order prohibiting the state railroad commission from compelling the plaintiffs to abide by the ratable taking provisions of the statute. The three judges previously had heard two other suits attacking oil or gas regulatory measures.

"We have come to a time when we should reconsider what we have been thinking and saying (with regard to gas legislation)," Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson told S. A. L. Morgan, of Amarillo, attorney for the Texas Panhandle Gas company.

"We should be very reluctant to allow the present restraining order to lapse in the meantime," he added after consulting with his associates.

Judge T. M. Kennedy of Houston and R. J. McMillan of San Antonio, "The state has tried three times to write a valid gas law. Each time we have had to strike it down. Maybe it has succeeded this time, so that it becomes a matter for our discretion. In my opinion, we should abstain if should we prevent you from doing what you have been doing all along until we had fully made up our minds on the matter."

State Senator Clint Small of Amarillo made the closing argument for the gas law, of which he is the author. He said the statute is a proper exercise of legislative authority to stop gas waste through stripping and carbon black plants and that it set up reasonable ratable taking provisions.

"By stopping the stripping plants and the carbon black plants in the sweet gas area," Small argued, "we protected this plaintiff. If it hadn't been for us, he would have had his property confiscated by those people. We thought it not unreasonable in view of that fact, and to assist us in correcting the evil we were trying to correct, to ask him to do with his property as others were doing with theirs."

GAS ORDER IS NOT TO HURT INDUSTRY HERE

DISPLACEMENT FACTOR USED TO EQUALIZE EFFECT

A new gas-oil ratio effective Sept. 1 and carrying out provisions of H. B. 266 will not adversely affect casinghead gasoline and carbon black plants in the Panhandle field, although readjustments will doubtless involve some expense, it was stated here yesterday.

The new connections which likely will be necessitated will result in creating some temporary employment, it was added, will broaden the market, and will not seriously affect the supply of gas to the plants. Inevitably, however, some new connections will be necessary and some improperly completed wells will be in need of attention.

But the order directly applies to only thirteen wells, Railroad commission records showed.

With the new ratio is a displacement factor designed to equitably distribute the energy of the field.

The well producing the maximum amount of gas in the field was producing with a gas-oil ratio of 9.160 cubic feet per barrel of oil, was allowed 131 barrels of gas daily; therefore, 131 times 9.160 gave 1,200,000 cubic feet. This is the displacement factor.

There are 1,179 wells producing gas that is processed by gasoline plants for its gasoline content. These wells produce 184,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day. Under the new gas-oil ratio, 13 of these wells will be affected, representing approximately 32,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Of more than 2,400 oil wells in the field that produce casinghead gas, under the new ratio it will be necessary for a number to be connected with gasoline plants to supply the gas that has been affected by the ratio. There are approximately 1,200 unconnected wells, most of which could be connected for this purpose, it was stated.

Fears that the order would force the closing or moving of plants in the Pampa area were declared to be unfounded.

Claiming to have enlisted a dozen aviators already, Hal Duberrier (above), of Chicago, who says he was a member of the famous Lafayette Escadrille, is recruiting an air force in France for service with the Ethiopian army in event of war with Italy. Eight of his aviators are Americans, he says.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER FORCES CAR OFF ROAD

TRAGEDY TAKES PLACE THIRTY MILES FROM SANTA FE, N. M.

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 31. (AP)—Mrs. Harold L. Ickes, 61, wife of the secretary of the interior and a politician in her own right, was killed tonight in a motor car collision which state police charged to a hit-and-run driver.

With three companions in a taxicab she was plunged into a ditch 30 miles north of Santa Fe while enroute here for a fiesta, opening tomorrow, from her summer home at Collidge, N. M.

Mrs. Genevieve Forbes Herrick, well known newspaper correspondent and a house guest of Mrs. Ickes, was injured critically.

Also injured was Ibrahim Seyfullah, attaché of the Turkish embassy in Washington, and Frank Allen Gallup, N. M. taxicab driver. The "hit and run" driver struck the Ickes car as it emerged from the steep-walled canyon of the Rio Grande, 10 miles north of Espanola.

Espanola, a tiny adobe settlement, is in an isolated spot in the rugged cash that the river traces from the desert tableland on the Taos plains down to the hilly country in the Santa Fe area.

State police under Capt. E. J. House first identified Seyfullah as the writer, but a later check of effects dispelled the confusion and Herrick was located in Washington.

New Mexico state police announced the death of Mrs. Ickes and reported the car in which she was riding to Espanola, N. M., near the scene of the crash, had been struck by a "hit and run" driver.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Albert Sidney Johnson, of Dallas, chairman of the state public safety commission, which made the selection.

Phillips Is Given Scare Of Life As Busby's Boys Hold Up For 6 Innings.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE

2:30 p. m. today—Pampa Road runners vs. Amarillo Shamrocks.

2:30 p. m. Monday—Phillips 66 of Berger vs. Phillips 66 of Pampa.

8 p. m. Monday—Huber Black-faces vs. Collico of LeFors.

A badly shaken Phillips baseball team went back to Berger last night, lucky to be still in the running for big money in the Junior chamber of commerce baseball tournament. The "66" boys from Berger held on to a narrow lead, defeating the Busby Indians of Pampa, 7 to 2. For six innings the former Harvester youngsters battled the veteran Oilers to toe before cracking.

The Indians went out of the tournament, but two great battles will long be remembered. On last Sunday, the Indians gave Amarillo a bad scare.

Errors caused the downfall of the Busby youngsters. Keeling, who chunks the ball for Shell in the two-1 league, limited Phillips to six hits, but five errors and some erratic work by his catcher cost him most of the runs. Haddock, on the mound for Phillips, allowed only four scattered bingles. He fanned 12 and Keeling mowed down nine.

"Fuzzy" Feltner, Indian right fielder, was the hero of the game. Besides hitting a double, Feltner raged near the fence after a foul ball and took it one-handed. Red

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 31.—The swift stroke of Emperor Haile Selassie in the early part of his reign to block Italian economic penetration of Ethiopia.

An official communique confirmed the concession, made as the emperor prepared for a feared Italian invasion.

Diplomatic quarters here appeared stunned.

(The British foreign office instructed its minister to Addis Ababa to inform Emperor Haile Selassie Britain advises him to withhold the concessions. The announcement said the concessions would necessitate consultations among signatories of the 1906 treaty dividing spheres of economic influence in "opla"—namely, Britain, France, Italy.

(A government spokesman in Rome said the action could in no way deter II Duce's East African plans.)

The agreement was seen in some quarters as a blow to Italian economic aims in the Hinterland of Italian Somaliland and the only oil-bearing portion of interior Ethiopia, also an Italian colonial possession.

The communique explained an oil concession was granted to the African Development Exploration company, Incorporated in Delaware, for development of oil resources.

At the same time another concession was granted separate English interests, a corporation known as the Lake Tana conservancy syndicate, giving it the right in perpetuity to build a dam and pumping station at Lake Tana, head-

Most Grocery Stores to Stay Open on Monday

Many Pampa stores will be closed tomorrow, Labor day.

Divorced, clothing, and hardware merchants were among the first to announce all-day closing.

Most grocery stores will remain open throughout the day, however, a canvass yesterday showed. Because two holidays, including Sunday, come together, a number of merchants felt that they should not close Monday.

Baseball golf, Panhandle horse races, and picnic trips will be among the amusements for Pampans generally.

The Javece baseball meet, with good weather is expected to draw huge crowds Monday afternoon and evening.

Suspect Is Held In Tourist Case

DALLAS, Aug. 31. (AP)—The attempt to unravel the mystery of the desert disappearance more than three months ago of four Illinois tourists was given fresh impetus tonight as Dallas detectives arrested a young suspect questioned last night.

The possibility that the 24 year old slender, chestnut haired man, who was arrested on suspicion of safe robbery, was connected with the tourist case was investigated when it was found that the youth fitted the description of the man believed to have slain the quartet.

Among other marks, he wore a tattoo on his left arm similar to that of the man reported to have forged and cashed travelers checks belonging to the missing tourists.

AMARILLO, Aug. 31. (AP)—The final trial for many of the southern veterans of the war between the states will be held here Sept. 3-6.

Eyesight dim, faculty of step, some of the aged soldiers undoubtedly will answer the annual confederate roll call for the last time.

Of the several hundred thousand survivors of the "war-year" conflict in the 60's, not more than 7,000 remain. Many are too feeble to travel and several have passed away since making reservations for the reunion here. Death annually thins the ranks by about 20 per cent.

About 1,000 veterans are expected.

Schacht Throws Down Gauntlet To Jew-Baiter

BERLIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's "economic dictator," threw down the gauntlet to Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, today by reinstating a Reichsbank official who had been sent to a concentration camp.

Dr. Schacht, who is president of the Reichsbank and minister of finance, insisted that the "honor" of the man, Emil Koeppen, be fully restored.

Dr. Schacht in an address two weeks ago denounced "unregulated individual acts" against Jews and "other state enemies," warning "Jew-baiters" they were causing serious damage to Germany's business.

In addition to being a Reichsbank official Koeppen managed several apartment houses. He evicted a man named Riecker for non-payment of rent in November, 1934, and Goebbels' Berlin newspaper, Der Angriff, launched a bitter attack upon Koeppen, saying he acted contrary to social principles of Nazi Germany.

Aroused by this, an angry crowd stormed Koeppen's home, broke windows and forced his suspension from the Reichsbank and forced his arrest.

Ricketts Known As 'Lawrence Of Finance' In East

LONDON, Aug. 31. (AP)—Francis M. Ricketts, the secretive Englishman whose name was on the front page of newspapers throughout the world today in connection with concessions in Ethiopia, is a "mystery man" even to his wife.

London business circles, seeking to throw light on the past activities of the promoter credited with obtaining concessions for American and British firms, could describe him only as a man with a house in London, a country place at Great Shefford, Berkshire, a castle in Wales, and a proclivity for "dashing off here and there" in specially chartered airplanes.

The promoter, it was learned, was once a director of a British development company which was granted rights along the Tigris by Emir Faisal of Iraq. In the Near East, where he has quietly conducted negotiations many years, he is known as the "Lawrence of finance."

Mrs. Ricketts, living at the castle in Wales, said today she knew nothing of her husband's enterprises, explaining he did not discuss business matters with her.

The current edition of the Harvester football squad saying swell things about "Chinch" Barrett beams have done. "Chinch," truly their god-father is the No. 1 Harvester fan. He is the fellow who takes food to the camp, rustles up beds, transportation, who defends them regardless—all in the hope that on each Thanksgiving day they'll shirt not only the Sox but the shirts, pants and shoes off Aparillo's Golden Sandies.

Afraid he would lose it or get robbed, he bought a meal ticket. A Young Democrats club was organized here this week with Charlie Bairfield as president.

WELLINGTON, Aug. 31.—The world may be filled with forgotten men and women, but he or she, as the case may be, does not live in the Eller community, Collingsworth county.

When it came time to vote on the special amendments last Saturday, the Eller community was found to have only one paid poll tax. Still, Eller is a voting box and as such it due all consideration accorded any other legal voting box.

Have Two Judges.

Having only one poll tax, the Eller box fell into the classification of 100 or less voters—and only two men were employed to hold the election as the law requires. Each of these men were paid at the rate of $3 a day for their services, totaling $6. The fee for returning the box was $2, and the total cost of the election at Eller was $8.

However, the lone voter at Eller did not seem interested in the entire seven amendments—and only voted on two of them. Thus, the Eller box only cast two-sevenths of a complete ballot at a cost of $8. Whether the single ballot was the paid poll tax, an "over" or an "under" or an absentee ballot is not known.

Could Build Road.

The county thought perhaps the procedure of Eller's voting machine might get a little bit too high in cost so they looked around. Finally, they found that they could remedy the situation by merely building a road from Eller to China Grove, the nearest voting box, which is now accessible only by horseback. They are still scratching their heads.

Furthermore, the community is Eller, not Eller—and there may not be but one vote there, but that vote is just as good as anybody else's vote.

Russia Is Again Warned To Drop Overthrow Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—The United States tonight warned the Soviet union that future friendly relations depend solely on the Soviet's strict adherence to its pledge of non-interference in this nation's internal affairs.

Reaffirming the American government's declaration that the Soviet union has permitted flagrant violations of its non-interference pledge, Secretary Hull tonight issued a statement warning Moscow that the third international's subversive activities must end.

The announcement, made as a public statement, and not sent to Moscow, followed a warning that continued subversive activities by the communists would result in "the most serious consequences."

Houston Is Still Ahead In Building

DALLAS, Aug. 31 (AP)—Building permits issued in Houston this past week amounted to $329,840. This was more than during any other week this year; although the port city has consistently led Texas cities in volume.

The $329,840 included $100,000 for a theater, $52,000 for an automobile sales room and many smaller projects, including a $25,000 residence, and brought Houston's total for the year so far up to $4,353,746. Although construction for the Texas Centennial exposition began to make itself felt in Dallas with the issuance of a $40,000 permit for remodeling the administration building at Fair Park, that city's still behind Houston, although, although in second place in the state. Its permits for the week amounted to $110,427 bringing its total for the year so far to $2,354,664.

was supposed to be stampeding toward the left, predictions were heard that by 1936 Mr. Roosevelt might find himself the leader of the right, the last hope against extreme radicalism.

Instead, the most conspicuous movement against him today is a movement of right-wingers who are appealing to the conservatives to defeat him in 1936.

Predictions were heard that the congressional session would produce new radical leaders of dangerous power, who would capitalize for political purposes the tremendous congressional swing away from conservatism.

Instead, the one man on capitol hill whose power and renown have increased almost hourly is Senator Carter Glass, who stands militant and against many of the policies of the administration.

What does all of this portend for the coming campaign year? It will be interesting to see.

POLITICS at Random

Looking back over the eight months of the congressional session, one of the most difficult things to understand is what happened to the "wild men" who were supposed at the turn of the year to be in complete possession of capitol hill.

Political memory is notoriously short, but perhaps readers will recall that after the elections of 1934, one of the paramount topics of speculation was whether President Roosevelt would be able to hold within reasonable bounds the untamed spirit of radicalism which had been voted into legislative power.

The inflationists were rampant. The Townsend plan was sweeping eastward like a prairie fire. The forces of revolution and communism were rising. Could the President stem the tide?

There can be no question that the session has witnessed an appreciable swing leftward in legislation, although the trend has fallen far short of many predictions. The interesting thing, however, is to inquire into the origins of this trend.

Bills Modified. The first legislative proposal of the session was the $4,800,000,000 work relief appropriation. It came, not from "wild men" in congress, but from the White House. Actually, it was received amid some indications of shocked surprise at the capitol and congress demurred for weeks before accepting it.

They followed a long list of measures, submitted with Presidential approval. They included the utilities bill, the social security bill, the bank bill, the AAA and TVA amendments, the Cuffey coal bill, the wealth taxes, the bill to prohibit gold clause suits, and others. The record is that almost every one of these measures was modified by men in congress to take out some of the more extreme provisions.

Only with respect to one important issue—the bonus—did the President find it necessary to use the veto. The inflationary threat never arose except in that bill. The Townsend plan and other leftist movements which the country heard so much of eight months ago mustered only a handful of support at the capitol.

What actually happened was almost the reverse of what had been advertised.

Glass' Power Increases. It may be recalled, too, that less than a year ago, when the country

No Gas Ruling

Full application has not been made by the Railroad commission of H. B. 266, the gas regulatory and conservation measure, and until full details are worked out, any fear of drastic changes in the Panhandle oil field is considered premature and ill-advised. While the oil-gas ratio will doubtless be lowered, a displacement factor involved will ease the effect of this step, commission officials state. Rumors of changes in the field proved, on investigation yesterday, to be false. Definition of gas wells is contained in the new law, and is not of Railroad commission origin. The B. C. D. is actively engaged in a study of the probable effect of the law and orders based upon it.

Mrs. R. L. Moseley and daughter, Myra, returned this week from a two-week trip to Houston and Galveston. They visited Mrs. Moseley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith of Houston. be unfounded. It was pointed out that all other fields of the state have similar regulation. The order is expected to result in a greater ultimate recovery of oil, though conservation of the gas-drive for the crude oil.

The new order, signed by K. I. Dunn, deputy supervisor follows: To all operators of oil wells and purchasers of gas produced from oil wells:

Quoting paragraph five and six from page 2 of the Panhandle Order, Oil and Gas docket No. 108, dated August 28, 1935 and effective 7:00 a. m. September 1, 1935:

"It is necessary to restrict the daily amount of gas produced from oil wells in order that equal withdrawals from the reservoir might be accomplished. To do this, it is necessary for the Railroad commission of Texas to establish a maximum gas-oil ratio for all oil wells in the Panhandle field.

Therefore, it is ordered by the Railroad commission of Texas that, effective September 1, 1935, no well producing both oil and gas shall be permitted to produce gas in excess of twelve thousand (12,000) cubic feet per barrel of oil produced unless specially authorized by an order of the Railroad commission to vary therefrom. The gas-oil ratio shall be the relationship of the total volume of gas in cubic feet to the total volume of oil in barrels, produced from any specific well. Any well which, by reason of its location or mode of completion, is producing with a gas-oil ratio in excess of that authorized by the Railroad commission shall be allowed to produce daily a total volume of gas equivalent to that of any other well producing from the same common source within the limits set by the commission."

Since the oil well producing the maximum amount of gas in the field, within the prescribed gas-oil ratio of twelve thousand (12,000) cubic feet per barrel of oil produced, is a well producing one million two hundred thousand (1,200,000) cubic feet of gas per day, no oil well in the Panhandle field may produce in excess of one million two hundred thousand (1,200,000) cubic feet of gas in any one day.

Any well producing both oil and gas where the gas-oil ratio is in excess of one hundred thousand (100,000) cubic feet per barrel of oil is classified by House Bill No. 266 as a gas well.

PHARES

over the task of assisting the commission in the organization of the new department.

The department was created by the merger of the Texas Rangers and the highway patrol. Appropriations for its maintenance begin tomorrow.

Phares, a veteran peace officer, has been head of the patrol ever since its establishment under the state highway department.

In selecting him as director under the new set-up, the commission had in mind the utilization of men already trained in the state who have given excellent service and have evidenced ability to extend the scope of their work, Johnson said.

As far as possible, the commission intends to fill vacancies from existing forces, Johnson said. He said that the commission desired that the merit system should be applied in the matter of promotion as well as in selection of new personnel.

Three executive positions, in addition to the director, are provided in the law creating the public safety department, and acting director Phares is expected to announce some of these appointments within a week or ten days.

Orders already have been entered for the purchase of fingerprint equipment, motor cars have been ordered for the use of patrolmen, ammunition has been provided for, and arrangements have been made for an eight-weeks school to train the 26 new highway patrolmen authorized by the law. Examinations for these posts were held today in eight cities with nearly 1,000 men taking examinations.

Engineering completions show that 240,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity will be required during the building of the Colorado river aqueduct.

"WHAT TIME IS IT?" Subject of REV. GASTON FOOTE 10:30 a. m. Today at the FIRST METHODIST CHURCH 8:08 P. M.—"LABORERS TOGETHER" Special Guests: Labor Union Members and Families —Follow the Light of the Revolving Cross—

Right After LABOR DAY. ... We shall look at our houses, to see if they had better be repainted or reroofed before the rigors of winter set in. ... We shall figure the needs of the coal bin (or perhaps decide to install that oil burner we've long wanted). ... We shall take stock of the living-room, bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen and clothes closets, to find out what replacements are needed. And if we are as foresighted as we ought to be, we will buy now for future as well as immediate needs. For September is the month of advantageous buying; of inviting close-outs and attractive pre-season sales. Knowing where to find exactly what we want is certainly knowing how to save money. Look on the pages of this newspaper—in the advertisements. There is no better or easier way. Remember: Money saved through judicious buying is money earned—and as real as that gained from any wage increase. Read the advertisements.

4,703-BARREL WELL IS COMPLETED IN KELLERVILLE SECTION

12 LOCATIONS ARE REPORTED IN PANHANDLE

LEGISLATION DOES NOT AFFECT DRILLING ACTIVITIES

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE, Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

Drilling activity in the plains district is going ahead with no indications of falling off due to the recent gas legislation or decrease in the allowable factor.

For the last week there was an increase in the number of wells started over the number of wells completed with Gray county still the leader in active drilling locations.

Hutchinson county had a spurt with the announcement of five new Phillips Petroleum company locations.

Gray county had 6, with Hutchinson county 5, and Carson county 7. Completed wells added 13,181 barrels to the field potential.

Three of these were in the Kellerville area and were wells which have been on for some time waiting to test. The largest was for 4,703 barrels.

Active work is in progress in the Kellerville area on the Phillips Petroleum company's booster station being built on its Lela lease.

NEW LOCATIONS, Gray County. Danciger Oil & Refining company started two locations on its E. G. Barrett farm in section 128, block 3, I&GN survey.

Dixon Creek Oil & Refining company No. 5 Wm. Carberry is 990 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the west line.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 3, Holmes is 2,610 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the west line.

COMPLETIONS, Gray County. Bradshaw Oil & Gas company No. 2 Arnold in section 149, block 3, I&GN survey.

Wheeler County. Helms Oil & Gas company had three wells on its Keller lease in section 48, block 24, tested last week.

MARKET BRIEFS

STOCKS STRONGER

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP)—Shares perked up fractions to more than a point in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market scored a gain of 3.4 points, closing at 48.0.

Transfers totaled 491,380 shares, the smallest volume since July 29. Many traders deserted the board rooms yesterday for an early start on the Labor day holiday.

Observers said the same forces were at work that have produced a demand for shares in recent weeks: Comparatively satisfactory business news, the push of idle money in search of profitable employment and a hopeful view of the long-term pull help by investors.

The decline in automobile production for the week ended today arrested little attention in brokerage circles.

1-MINUTE SAFETY TALKS

By Don Herold

BOLD, BAD MONTHS

Look out for September, October, November and December. They're bad babies. They're out to kill.

They're worse than any other four months of the year, automobile-accidently speaking. They're 40 per cent worse, for example, than January, February, March and April.

The thing that amazes me about this whole automobile business is that we know so much about it, and do so little to stop it.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

(Note: The following is one of a series of weekly articles taken from the Texas Archives at the University of Texas. This collection, considered the greatest single historical treasure on the North American continent, has been catalogued and is now being translated by the University of Texas.

As will be seen from the translation of a letter from the Texas Archives in the library of the University of Texas, this letter, written from Vera Cruz on January 14, 1814, by a certain Apalache to a number of his friends, thus describes the situation in Spain.

"This will inform you that, on day before yesterday, the Brigantia 'Hermosa Rita,' landed here after a 54 days trip from Coruna. It brings the following news: On the 30th of October Pamplona surrendered and 38,500 Frenchmen fled across our battlefield. There were in addition, some 700 wounded in the hospitals. On November 1 the Spanish general took possession.

AUSTIN, Aug. 29 (AP)—At the end of 1813 the danger from Napoleonic agents was seemingly quite remote. At this time the Emperor's cause was rapidly waning and he was so harassed in Europe that he had but little opportunity for intrigue in the Spanish Dominion in America.

As a matter of fact, Napoleon was steadily losing ground before the victorious Wellington. Reasoning, perhaps, that a plant laid upon the throne of Spain was better than a useless captive in France he released Ferdinand VII from his imprisonment on condition that he drive the English from the Peninsula.

Plainview Family Marooned 3 Days In Palo Duro Camp

AMARILLO, Aug. 31 (AP)—Although never in danger, O. T. Britt, a farmer of near Plainview, his two daughters, a son and Margaret Enech, 14, Plainview, were marooned several days in a canyon camp at Palo Duro state park, 20 miles southeast of here.

The enticed stay of the picnic party ended today when they abandoned their motor car and walked five miles up the Canyon trail. Heavy rains had damaged trail crossings and made motor traffic impossible.

Supplies for the marooned four were furnished by Ben Mead, Amarillo artist, who Tuesday took an art class into the canyon for a summer session.

Sons Seeking Definition Of 'Open Saloon'

AUSTIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—Texas legislators would like a concrete answer to a simple question raised by repeal of statewide prohibition—What is a saloon?

The amendment directed the legislature to enact laws to banish the "open saloon," but defining the term is like seeking the answer to "How long is a rope?" or "How old is Ann?" Nobody claims to have the correct answer.

Do swinging doors, shining mirrors reflecting polished glasses and a bar with brass cuspidors and sawdust on the floor constitute a saloon?

The dictionary, often leaned upon by legislators, is a vague on the subject as members. One says a saloon is any place where intoxicants are sold; another, that it is a room where liquors are dispensed at retail while a third offers the information that the common term used to describe a place with a bar over which intoxicants are served.

The legal dictionary which defines words and phrases adds little but confusion to the picture although numerous court decisions construing the word are reported.

U. S. A. Alone Threatens To Shun Olympics

BY ALAN GOULD, (Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK (AP)—The international angles to the current Olympic controversy are somewhat curious, if not actually confusing, to the ordinary bystander.

The political, racial and religious disturbances in Germany have had their reaction no doubt in most European countries. Policies of the Berlin government have echoed sharply in various forms of capital. Yet the United States alone has actually threatened to refuse sanctions for its Olympic athletes, if German discrimination against German Jewish athletes exists, in any form.

The attitude of the rest of the athletic world appears to be that Germany's internal affairs are one thing, the Olympics another. The general theory is that barring world wars, the games go on. They operate under the Olympic Code as prescribed by the International Olympic organization, not under any local rules. Germany, in other words, furnishes the site and not the influence under which the games are held, Rome and Tokyo are rival bidders for the 1940 games, the award of which will have nothing to do with the international politics or policies of Italy or Japan.

U. S. Reacts Quickly

What's the answer, then, so far as the United States is concerned? Why has there been so much agitation in this country, involving Catholics as well as Jewish opposition to sending an American team to Berlin, if the rest of the world isn't disturbed?

In the first place, this country is susceptible to quick reaction in racial or religious matters. Its organized groups, everywhere, are keen to resent discrimination or anything that smacks of the Jew deal. Based on accumulated evidences, which has been widely publicized, many Americans feel that German Jews, as well as German Catholics, have not had a fair chance to qualify for their Olympic teams.

These critics are not swayed by any argument that the cases of such discrimination are few or far between. They stand on the principle of fair play. They have been emphasizing it in resolutions, in Congress and in athletic councils. They insist Germany has violated the Olympic Code.

The most recent instance cited is that of a German girl high-jumper, of Jewish extraction. Although she had an excellent record, one of the best in Germany, she was not allowed to compete in the national championships since she was not and could not be a member of the German or Nazi "light athletic association," which corresponds to this country's Amateur Athletic Union.

Up to Olympic Committee

There is also the case of Fraulein Helene Mayer, generally rated the world's best woman fencer. She won the 1932 Olympic title at Los Angeles. She is of part-Jewish ancestry. Unwilling to return to Germany under present conditions, she has been attending school in California. She has no intention of going back to her native land to try for the Olympic team again. There has been some intimation she would be welcomed but that, say the anti-Nazis, is just propaganda.

It all boils down, finally, to this question: How far should this country's athletic leaders go in shaping its Olympic course or policy on the basis of Germany's domestic af-

Bankhead Act Challenged By Georgia Chief

Macon, Ga., Aug. 31. (AP)—Carrying in federal court his fight on the Roosevelt administration's farm program, Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia today filed a petition challenging constitutionality of the Bankhead cotton control act.

A hearing was set for Sept. 5 in Columbus.

United States District Judge Bascom Deaver did not grant a temporary order restraining collection of the six cents a pound penalty tax on cotton produced in excess of quotas allowed under the Bankhead law. Instead, he ordered the government to show cause at the hearing in Columbus why the petition for injunction should not be granted.

Governor Talmadge, who for months has been assailing the Roosevelt administration, and especially its farm policies, was en route to Sioux Falls, S. C., to make a Labor day speech there when the suit was filed.

Best's Governor Talmadge, a group of Putnam county farmers named as plaintiffs, and W. E. Page, internal revenue collector, and several cotton ginners as defendants.

VETERANS

to attend the forty-fifth annual gathering of the United Confederate Veterans. It will mark the fortieth reunion of the sons of confederate veterans and the thirty-sixth for the Confederate Southern Memorial association.

Men who fought under Lee, Jackson, Beauregard, Forrest and other southern leaders will be asked to decide whether they will meet jointly with the union forces they opposed on the battlefield more than 70 years ago. The G. A. R. has extended such an invitation.

Because of the advanced age of the veterans—most of them are near 90—this year's reunion may be the last. Although the U. C. V. was uninited for months after the 1934 convention, several cities, including Dallas and Shreveport, La., have said they would invite the veterans to meet at a public meeting next year.

Veterans are thrilled by the possibility of hearing President Roosevelt address them by radio on the night of Sept. 3. Governors James V. Alfred of Texas and Clyde Tingler of New Mexico, will welcome the "boys." The United States Marine band will play their old marches—and the grey-haired old men who marched under the "Stars and Bars" in their youth will not be allowed to march in the grand parade.

Next Tuesday night dignitaries will gather at a public meeting, Col. Walter L. Hopkins of Richmond, Va., commander-in-chief of the S. C. V., will preside. Others listed as speakers include Rep. Marvin Jones of Amarillo; General W. F. Mills of Dallas, commander of the U. C. V.; General Rice A. Pierce of Union City, Tenn., commander-in-chief of the U. C. V.; Mrs. A. Wilson of Atlanta, Ga., president-general of the Memorial association and Mrs. W. E. Massey of Hot Springs, Ark., president-general of the U. C. V.

THOMPSON

a very large major with a large affiliation in Texas, and that the cut had been postponed until after Labor day only by intervention of an outside company.

Ikkes Quoted

"The objection initiated by the Standard of California Friday had been opposed by the eastern company, allegedly because itself had expected to start the price cutting. It was reported that the California reduction came on the heels of the adjournment of congress with no prospect of federal oil legislation for some time to come, as Secretary of the Interior Ikkes pointed out in commenting on the price slash."

The statement credited to Col. Thompson said:

"The railroad commission of Texas is in possession of information deemed by us to be either responsible and reliable, which under conditions now obtaining in the oil industry, we think should be called to the attention of the people of Texas."

"At the present time oil held in storage by most of the major oil companies has been reduced to a large extent, a certain of the desire to fill up their storage with cheap oil. Information in our possession and the actions of some of the major companies in Texas and elsewhere convince the railroad commission that very likely an attempt will be made in the near future to reduce the price of oil. It is the duty of the major companies to cut the price of gasoline in order that this cut may be reflected in the price of crude oil, with the result that they will be able to purchase large quantities of crude oil at low prices to fill up their empty storage tanks. It is beyond the slightest question of doubt steps have been taken and are now being taken in concert by some of the major companies to bring about, if possible, a reduction in the price of gasoline for the purposes above mentioned."

Major Dissatisfied

In addition, some of the major companies are dissatisfied with the order of the railroad commission of Texas promulgated this week which prevented the placing into effect in East Texas of a production formula by which the wells of independent operators would be seriously injured, or possibly absolutely destroyed, to the great benefit of their companies.

"There do not exist in the oil industry in Texas any conditions whatsoever which warrant in the slightest a reduction in the price of gasoline at this time, and if such a reduction is brought about by the major companies above referred to it will be for the following reason:

"First, to bring about a cut in the price of crude in order that they may fill their empty storage with cheap oil;

"Second, as punishment to Texas for the fight this state has made to retain control of its oil production; and

"Third, as a threat against the railroad commission indicated that the people of Texas because of the order by this commission this week thwarted the attempt of some of the major companies to gain absolute control of the vast East Texas oil fields."

The News says friends of the railroad commission indicated that in case of a drastic price break a complete shutdown of all Texas oil fields, a weapon used in East Texas in the past, might be ordered by the commission. The East Texas field during a price depression was shut down while the commission tested potentials and Thompson was described as being not averse to checking producing capacity again.

ETHIOPIA

batches notifying him of the starting deal as reported by the Associated Press, told important newsmen the American commercial venture presented no question of involving this nation in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Mr. Roosevelt, while calling the purpose of the neutrality resolution "absolutely excellent," indicated some dissatisfaction with the provision for a mandatory embargo on munitions shipments to belligerent nations, which expires next Feb. 29.

"This section," he said, "requires further and more complete consideration between now and that date."

"Here again the objective is wholly good. If it is the policy of this nation to avoid being drawn into wars between other nations, but it is a fact that no congress, and no executive can foresee all possible future situations."

"History is filled with unforeseeable situations that call for some flexibility of action. It is conceivable that situations may arise in which the wholly inflexible provisions might have exactly the opposite effect from that which was intended. In other words, the inflexible provisions might drag us into a war instead of keeping us out."

"The policy of the government is definitely committed to the maintenance of peace and the avoidance of any entanglements which would lead us into conflict. At the same time it is the policy of the government by every possible means and without entanglement to cooperate with other similarly minded governments to promote peace."

FISHER

in Germany, more than in any place else," mentioning the bustle, the hurry, and a rather friendly people. Berlin is a land of parades, he said, stating that every few hours in Berlin one might see soldiers or the Hitler youth marching. He said that the present aim of states in modern Europe seems to be the desire to "do something to satisfy the working classes," but that they are not as successful in achieving that state as they would like to be.

Mr. Fisher recommended that if dissatisfied Americans should take a trip to Europe, they would return satisfied with America which he said yesterday is "the beautiful continent." The local educator half-jokingly retorted that New York was one of the foreign countries he visited. He found Russia to be the most interesting country before he arrived. It was his opinion that Communism as created by Stalin Russian dictator, has little to offer the United States. However, he said children and youth are being given creditable opportunities, and that Russian children appeared bright, aware of their chance.

In London, Mr. Fisher and his party were escorted through parliament by a member of the house of commons who explained the functioning of the government. The party was later the guests at a banquet given in their honor.

During the entire tour, Mr. Fisher continued study on subjects, did the other educators in the group, and will be given credit for his work. The trip afforded the school men a rare opportunity to study at first hand and observe the educational standards, methods of the countries; also to study their social, economic and religious life.

The great question to Ethiopians is what will Mussolini say and do. Most Ethiopians believed the Emperor's surprise maneuver in opening the country to Americans provided a kind of insurance against war.

Bureaus Report Tropical Storms

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 31. (AP)—Two tropical storms, one in the Bahama Islands and one in the southern Gulf of Mexico tonight brought warnings from the weather bureaus here and at New Orleans.

Northeast storm warnings were ordered displayed from Miami to Fort Pierce, Fla., tonight as the Bahama storm moved closed to the mainland although still several hundred miles away.

The storm, first reported at 1 p. m. today about 60 miles east of Long Island, Bahamas, was central tonight over or near the northern end of the island. The weather bureau here said it was moving "rather slowly west northwest" attended by strong shifting winds and squalls over a considerable area and probably by gale force winds near the center.

The storm, the weather bureau said, probably will reach the vicinity of Andros Island in the Bahama group early Sunday. Andros is several hundred miles due east of Key West, Fla.

FRIENDLY AIR WILL FEATURE COOKING TALKS

All Women Invited To School That Opens Soon

"Beauty is the car-mark that God gives to virtue" is a statement to be found in the literature sent out by Beulah Mackey Yates, lecturer and noted cooking school leader, who will conduct the coming Kitchen Chautauqua in this city starting Sept. 9. The quoted statement above is written in connection with many other things of interest to housewives who are interested in better and more artful cooking.

All through the sessions of the Kitchen Chautauqua emphasis is placed upon simplicity, yet the beautiful, completeness, but every short cut to save time, worry and vexation; good style and fashion, because the old apple pie can be given many new dresses; romantic, in that it offers many a thrilling discovery and many a satisfaction beyond the ordinary, filled with hints on modern ideas about home-making and house-keeping, yet each one fully explained, in a language that is easy to listen to and to fully understand. Neighboring in its very fashion, and friendly in its every nature.

Mrs. Yates claims that "friendly talking is the golden chain that holds the human family closely together," most particularly that part of humanity who manages the home—the housewife. So, in her own words, "The sessions of the coming cooking school will be spirited with neighborliness aplenty, friendliness that will be thoroughly enjoyed by all, and usefulness, in that every problem of the home-life-babbling-kitchen experiences will be discussed with a frankness, and post graduate authority that all who visit the school may profit well."

The oft repeated fact that this cooking school is not free to every housewife in this city and surrounding communities, cannot be stressed too much. It is free. You and everyone are invited, and you are doubly welcome. Be sure to attend every session.

Parent Study Is Important Part Of P-TA Course

BY MRS. J. M. CRAIN, Texas, State Publicity Director Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers. The Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers ranked second in number of study groups in parent education reporting for 1934 and 1935. According to Mrs. J. H. Emmert, Wichita Falls, state chairman of parent education for the Texas branch, membership in the study groups of the Texas congress was 8,785. California led with 831 groups, Texas second with 585, Nebraska third with 502.

These 8,785 members of study groups, constituting approximately 10 per cent of the members of the Texas congress, were conscious of the need for a better educated parent-teacher figure, providing untiring effort of study group leaders and district and local parent education chairmen, that thousands of parents realize that an educated person is not necessarily an educated parent, and that parent-teacher associations strive for the assurance of successful parenthood.

For the past decade or two parents have been prone to be overzealous in their desire to give their children every opportunity to develop individuality and personality. This fault may be attributed to the fact that parents were too closely disciplined in their childhood.

However, there is a grave danger that we may be developing a child without a sense of responsibility, undisciplined and unrestrained, that has developed neither personality nor individuality nor strength of character. A noted educator said recently that we were fast educating a child who knew well but one letter in the alphabet—the letter "T."

We can not blame this "capital-T" on the school life of the child, for schools have a tendency to make the child group conscious. Therefore, for the correction of this fault we must look to the old reliable bulwark—the home. Our present day mode of living has taken away some of the sturdiness of the home, but a little time and thought from the parents can restore it miraculously.

With this thought before them, "Home, the Index to National Life," the parent-education editors of the Parent-Teacher magazine have selected for their study group topic for the coming year, "The Progressive Home." The national office has released various materials covering this subject.

JESUS LOVED LITTLE CHILDREN: Mark 10:13-16.

And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them; and his disciples rebuked those that brought them. 14. But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God. 15. Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein. 16. And he took them up in his arms, put his hands upon them, and blessed them.

New Party Talk Significant

One can concede that Franklin Delano Roosevelt is a great president and a man of lofty purpose and still believe he is a man of and for the moment, rather than a leader of the democratic party for the future. In fact, talk of a second democratic party is more than a sporadic outburst of reactionaries. It is significant of a trend which will gain momentum as the huge cost of the Roosevelt program is realized.

We present today extracts from letters of two democrats, one an admirer and the other a critic of Mr. Roosevelt. Tom Ellison of White Deer goes a bit further than we can in praising the president, as follows:

"Franklin D. Roosevelt is known all over the world as the great American Apostle. He is like an armed warrior, like a plumed knight, like Caesar, like Mussolini. He is robed with absolute power, but yet he never uses it except on the side of Mercy. He is one of the greatest and grandest men that were ever president of the United States, and a man who is loved by the rich and worshiped by the poor. . . . When this great mastermind took his seat in the executive chair, he saw that millions of dollars would have to be borrowed to relieve our country of its deplorable condition. But my friends this debt will be paid."

Since the "soak the rich" program was brought forward, we doubt that the rich love Mr. Roosevelt very much. And when federal relief is abandoned next January and the only aid is work at $24 a month, the poor will believe that Mr. Roosevelt failed in his soak-the-rich program. This is the inevitable result of trying to stop the huge spending program and turn the needy back to the mercies of their neighbors. Neighborliness has decayed under the alphabetical program.

Nor can we entirely agree with the lamentations of an oldtime democrat of Comanche, Texas, who writes as follows.

"I never expected to live long enough to witness such a stunning departure from the basic principles of American institutions. And that, too, by a party whose very existence is founded upon states rights and rigid interpretation of the general powers of the national government. It is worse than socialistic — it is anarchy itself, conducted under forms of law. The entire nation has been Tammanized. I knew Tammany had looked with wistful eyes on national control, as it has of New York State since 'the time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary,' but when the people arose in their might and smote Tammany hip and thigh in 1928, I thought it next to impossible for such a revolution to occur; how little I knew of Tammany's fertility of expedient is proved by 1932. It is one of the most daring things I know of in all history — this appropriating of government credit to build up Tammany."

That the billions being expended will be distributed with political "wisdom" can hardly be denied, but the ultimate goal is the prevention of hunger.

If this nation, under our complex system and pyramiding of corporate control, is to become a nation of employes, then democratic self-government is doomed and state socialism is inevitable. The ownership of private property is the bulwark of democracy, of states rights, of individualism. When it dies, democracy will serve only to furnish the machinery by which socialism can be voted. That is the challenge to democracy and our party government.

BARBS

Max Baer to use crouch in his coming battle with Louis. After a couple of rounds, undoubtedly, a couch will be substituted.

Mussolini, whose sons just left for the African "front," evidently believes in hair-conditioning.

German barbers are commanded to report any "subversive talk" among their customers. So there is a place barbers' patrons are able to get in a word.

Fashion experts predict that women's dresses will be short. Italian and Ethiopian troops may get some consolation from our traffic casualties.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Aug. 31 (AP)—The state board of control is studying ways and means to beautify the spacious grounds around the huge granite building which will be a center of attraction during the Centennial.

Scores of persons visit the building daily. Invariably they comment favorably on the building but have little to say with reference to the grounds. Much work has been done recently on the building and there is need for much more, but improvements to the grounds have not kept pace.

A watering system to insure a constant supply of water has been needed. Much of the land is sharply sloped and rainfall drains off rapidly leaving low places green while the slopes yellow under a blazing sun. The need is brought into sharp relief when the condition of the capital grounds is compared with the thick lawns around the highway building. In contrast, the east slope of the capital grounds, across the street, presents a dreary view. The capital grounds are shabby when compared to the fresh, green appearance of the University of Texas campus.

Lack of funds has caused the delay in providing facilities for capital gardeners. The board of control hopes to convince the legislature of the need for betterment.

That hundreds of out-of-state visitors will visit the capital during the Centennial seems assured. Scores come daily now without the added attraction the Centennial will offer. A record of visitors is kept by the caretaker of the house of representatives. Virtually every state and many foreign countries are represented.

While all are impressed with the magnificent size of the capital, native and out-of-state visitors always show keen interest in the status and picture of Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin, and in the Texas Declaration of Independence and the articles of secession, which are guardedly displayed.

Troop 21 met Thursday for its visitors night. The meeting was called to order, the Scout oath given, patrol meetings held, and business transacted.

In the business session, the Eagle patrol challenged the Pirate patrol to a test-passing contest. The Pirate patrol accepted the challenge and business was closed.

Before the program was presented, the visitors were asked to say a word to the troop. The program consisted of music on the accordion and piano by Gerald Brown and songs by Barbara Johnson. The program was appreciated by all present and the meeting adjourned after benediction.

Visitors present were Mrs. Lee Otis Johnson, Miss Barbara Johnson, Mrs. L. D. Blasingame, and Tracy Cary.

DENMARK'S RELIEF ROLLS DRAIN CAPITAL TREASURY

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Denmark's present "everybody-must-be-happy" system of lavish public relief fast is becoming a heavy drain on the community and, its critics claim, is dulling the sense of responsibility of the individual.

The burgomaster of Copenhagen says 47 per cent of all unmarried men in the nation's capital are receiving public support in one way or another.

Sixteen per cent of all married couples are on the rolls and the number of single women dependents is growing, despite the fact that it is almost impossible to hire a maid servant.

LeFors Man Has Memory Of Jefferson Davis, Who Was Graduation Speaker

Dr. Harkins Says Negroes Idolized Southerner

Coming of the reunion of Confederate veterans to the Panhandle brings memories of the post-civil war period to Dr. G. W. Harkins of LeFors, who well remembers reunions held in New Orleans and the occasional speeches there by Jefferson Davis, the then former president of the Confederacy.

When Dr. Harkins was graduated with the class of 1887 at Tulane university, it was Jefferson Davis who delivered the commencement address. The class made a huge point with the class of 1823. He took part in the Black Hawk war in 1830 but resigned his commission because of illness, moved to Louisville, and married a daughter of Zachary Taylor. His wife died, and he took up plantation life in Mississippi. Politics interested him little, although he was known as a states-righter. He drifted into politics, however, and was sent to congress.

Supporting the Mexican war, he resigned from congress and fought with distinction at Monterey and Buena Vista with General Taylor. He was wounded at the latter place, left the army in 1847, and was appointed senator to fill a vacancy in Mississippi. He was re-elected to this post as chairman of the committee on military affairs.

He ran for governor, was defeated, then was appointed secretary of war by President Pierce. He increased the strength of the army he was later to oppose. The slavery issue found him an able spokesman for the south. While on the issue of regulating the states as they desired. At the time of secession, he made an earnest explanation of the South's action in the senate, to which he had been again elected.

Davis returned to Mississippi and within a month found himself elected provisional president of the Confederate states. He appointed a cabinet, directed writing of a constitution based upon that of the United States, and located his capital at Richmond, Va. During the war he followed the army, the closest attention to movements of his armies. Lee was his choice for commander-in-chief—a celebrated selection.

After peace, Davis was arrested May 10, 1865, at Irwingsville, Ga., and imprisoned at Fort Monroe. In the next year, indicted for treason, he was admitted to bail of $100,000 signed by Horace Greeley and other famous northerners. The trial was never held. He was cleared in the general amnesty of 1868 but in refusing to take the oath of allegiance forfeited his right to vote. After visiting in Canada and England for a time, he settled in Biloxi, Miss., to spend the rest of his life writing his book, "Rise and Fall of Confederate Government." He died while passing through New Orleans and was buried in that city.

In his address to the senate, Davis declared that "the right solemnly proclaimed at the birth of the United States and which has been solemnly affirmed and reaffirmed in the Bill of Rights of the states subsequently admitted to the Union of 1789, indeniably recognizes in the people the power to resume the authority delegated for the purposes of government. Thus the sovereign states here represented have proceeded to form this Confederacy; and it is by abuse of language that their act has been denominated a revolution."

It is upon this thesis that states rights doctrines are sustained today, and upon which the Supreme Court has declared certain federal "new deal" legislation unconstitutional.

CHURCH AND ITS NEW CHOICE AS MINISTER

Paul A. Thompson, pictured here, is today beginning his work as minister of Central Church of Christ. He comes from Lakeview, where he has served as pastor. The church building, shown above, has been used since last November 1, when about 75 members and the Rev. E. M. Borden began worshipping there.

Three revivals have been conducted, by R. R. Price of Childers in January and again in June, and by Jesse Wiseman of Borger in April. A. C. Cox, regular song director, was in charge of all revival song services. Before Mr. Borden left for Riverside, Calif., on August 1, the membership had increased 100 per cent.

KING LEHR AND THE GILDED AGE. By Elizabeth Drexel Lehr. August publication Lippincott's, $3. Reviewed by May Stevens Isaacs. This is the story of New York society in the nineties and the early years of the 20th century. It is the personal memoirs of Mrs. Lehr and contains excerpts from the diary which her husband kept locked during his lifetime. The author's father was associated in business with J. Pierpont Morgan and the families' New York residences were on Madison Avenue only a few blocks apart. Elizabeth Drexel's grandfather had come to America in 1817. He arrived in Philadelphia a young and talented artist, with very little more than his few paints and brushes. Later, he entered the banking business.

Elizabeth Drexel was married to John Dahlgren in 1889 and a son came to them in Washington. They went soon after to Colorado on account of her husband's falling health and there some months later she met a gathering of young people, among whom the bent toward liberalism is commonly supposed to be far stronger than it is among their elders.

From among many available orators, a speaker commonly regarded as a staunch conservative was selected to make the republican reply. Both addresses were couched largely in general terms, with little specific mention of concrete governmental problems or individual legislative proposals.

The use of the radio is a new field in education. Through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting company a splendid series of addresses on parent education was given last year. These 26 broadcasts were by the foremost educators, psychologists, and parent-education specialists available. The response to this form of parental education was most gratifying; listeners were unanimous in their praise and appreciation. Many organizations sponsored radio listening groups, 52 of these groups reporting from Texas. This type of educational lecturing will be repeated this year. Announcement of speakers will be made at a later date.

AMATEUR NITE OF RADIO NOW IN NEW FILM

GEORGE RAFT, FRANCES LANGFORD STAR IN PICTURE

To "Every Night at Eight" hilarious romantic musical comedy which opens today at the La Nora theater, goes the distinction of utilizing the timeliness and current popularity of the amateur radio hour and bringing it to the screen for the first time as a basic theme for a motion picture.

This filmusical serves a two-fold purpose as well, not only in presenting George Raft in an entirely new characterization as an egotistical leader of an amateur dance band, but in introducing to film fans Frances Langford, radio songstress of considerable fame, who makes a highly favorable impression in her first screen role.

Crisp, crackling humor that so uproariously identifies the talents of that glib, adept comedienne Patsy Kelly, wise-cracking antics of the blond and attractive Alice Faye, the immensely laugh-provoking capers of the Three Radio Rogues, also stars of the air waves, the inevitably rib-tickling verbosity of Walter Catlett, combined with a romantic story and a half dozen or more catchy melodies, serve to make "Every Night at Eight" a screen confection of high entertainment.

The story concerns itself mainly with the adventures of Alice Faye, Frances Langford, and Patsy Kelly. Fired from their jobs in a mint julep factory the three decide to try their luck as a singing trio in an amateur radio hour contest. They lose to George Raft who takes them in hand, trains them as the Swance Sisters, and rides with them to success on the radio. Complications arise when Miss Langford falls in love with him.

The three girls finally rebel at their taskmaster's tactics of handling their private as well as their public lives, and desert their nightly broadcast to have one evening of fun at a swank yachting party. They realize their mistake, however, and return to their program in time to save Raft's skin as well as their own.

Outstanding song hits in the film include "Then You've Never Been Blue," "Take It Easy," "I Feel a Song Coming On" and several others. "Every Night at Eight" is a musical comedy whose appeal lies in its original plot, top notch comedy and the necessary romantic ingredients. Don't miss it.

At the Rex theater, opening today, is probably the last showing of the Will Rogers success, "Life Begins at 40." With Rogers is Rochelle Hudson, who comes from the

SEVEN CITIES OF CIBOLA TO BE WOVEN INTO CENTENNIAL THEME

DALLAS, Aug. 31.—The romance of sixteenth century Spain will be woven into the theme of the Texas Centennial Exposition, which opens here next June, by the division of the grounds into seven sections representing the Seven Cities of Cibola.

The seven legendary treasure cities, whose streets the conquistadores believed were paved with gold and whose walls were studded with jewels, were the "will-o'-the-wisps" which ever flickered ahead of Spanish exploration.

Cabeza de Yaca, shipwrecked on Galveston Island in 1528, first heard of these mystic cities from his Indian captors. He carried the news of the treasure trove to Spanish settlements south of the Rio Grande and several expeditions explored Texas in the hope of finding them.

Francisco de Coronado in 1540 crossed the prairies of West Texas, comedian's home town of Claremore, Okla.

In the current film, Rogers is cast as a country editor who acts as match-maker, leads an army of veteran hog-callers into battle, fights a frolicsome duel, and clears the reputation of a youth railroaded to prison.

It has been announced that the Rogers films now showing will be called in soon by the producers and that they will not be re-issued.

marking his trail with stakes and buffalo bones so he could find his way back, thus naming the Staked Plains in this section. He went north into Kansas and circled into Western New Mexico. He found no treasure.

The cities of the legend were at the rainbow's end. In New Mexico he captured half a dozen squalid Zuni pueblos, the lintels of their doorways being decorated with blue turquoise matrix. They were probably the jeweled cities of Cibola. However, he did open the Southwest for future Spanish settlement.

Arabs Would Hold Oil BEIRUT, Syria (P)—Discovery of oil at Palmyra brought strong demands in the Arabic press for a national petroleum monopoly, the argument being that Iraq and Persia blundered when they gave control of their wells to foreign oil companies.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

BY MARY E. DAGUE, NEA Service Writer.

Our grandmothers discovered the pleasant tang that plums have with winter roasts and fowl. And it's plum time right now.

My great-aunt Nancy used Damsons. I remember, for a chutney sauce she was justly proud of. My mother never thought of canning anything but greeneggs.

Wild plums, if you are fortunate enough to be able to get them, are good, too, for chutney. But you may use any firm-fleshed plum.

Damson Chutney.
Two quarts plums, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon each mace, allspice and cloves, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 lemon, 1 1/2 cups vinegar, 1 cup water.

Wash fruit and cook in vinegar and water until soft. Rub through a colander and add sugar, salt, spices, grated rind and juice of lemon. Cook until as thick as catsup. Seal in hot sterilized jars or keep in a covered stone crock.

Plum Conserve.
Four pounds plums, 2 oranges, 1 lemon, 1 pound seeded raisins, 1 cup broken nut meats, 1/2 cup hot water, 3 pounds granulated sugar.

Wash plums, remove stems and remove stones. Squeeze juice from oranges and lemon and put rind through food chopper. Put plums and hot water in preserving kettle, cover and bring to the boiling point. Add sugar, rind and juice or oranges and lemon and raisins and cook slowly until plums are transparent. Add nuts and cook ten minutes longer. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

TOMORROW'S MENU.
BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cereal, cream, crisp toast, grilled tomatoes, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Toasted mushroom sandwiches, salad of melon and grapes, cheese-cake, milk, tea.

DINNER: Fresh finnan haddie baked in cream, scalloped squash and tomato, buttered lima beans, mixed relishes, greensage pudding, milk, coffee.

Spiced Plums.
Choose large dark blue plums for the most delectable results.

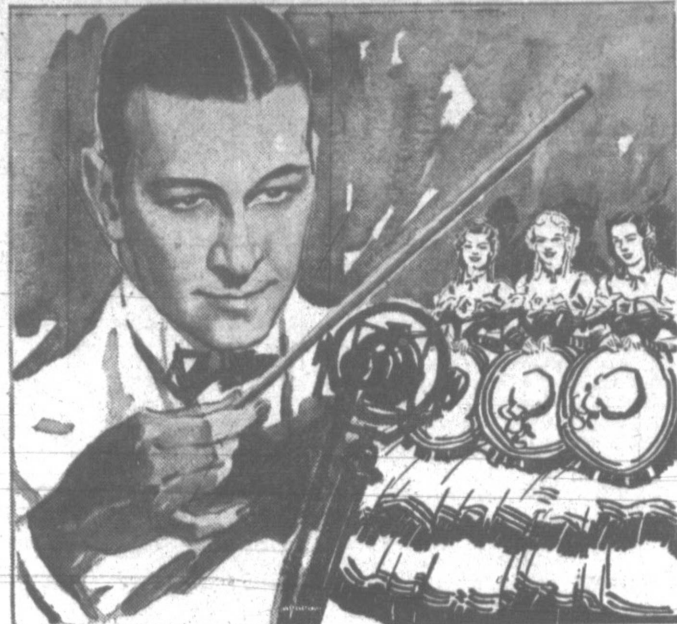

Nine pounds plums, 6 pounds sugar, 2 quarts vinegar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon.

Wash and dry plums. Boil vinegar, sugar and cinnamon for five minutes. Pour over plums and let stand 24 hours. Drain syrup from fruit and heat to boiling point. Pour over plums and let stand as before. Do this for three successive mornings. The last morning pack plums in sterilized jars and simmer juice for 20 minutes. Pour over fruit and seal.

It takes five successive mornings to make this sweet pickle. It is very easy to can plums and they keep excellently. Wash fruit and cook slowly in a heavy syrup until tender. Seal in hot sterilized jars. Canned plums make delicious steamed cup puddings for winter dinners or they are good to serve with a meat much as you would apple sauce or cranberry sauce.

POPULAR COLORS
MANCHESTER, Eng. (P)—"Martha green," "Jubilee blue" and "Margaret rose" have surpassed the regular run of ephemeral fashion colors, said Sir Henry Sutcliffe Smith at the annual meeting of the Color Users' association held here.

He Leads An Orchestra

George Raft is seen here as he appears in his newest picture, "Every Night at Eight," starting today at La Nora theater. It is the screen's first presentation of an amateur radio hour. In the supporting cast will be seen Alice Faye, Patsy Kelly, and the Three Radio Rogues.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter 35
THE TRUTH
She flung the whole story at him, scornfully, and he listened in amazement. As Laurie's rich voice rang out, he desired her more than ever, and hated Rex Moore more than ever, because it was so plain that she loved him and would willingly tarnish her own character to defend his.

"But why did Moore go on with it?" he asked, when she had finished.

"Because he said you'd never forgive him for deceiving you and pretending he had a wife. He said you thought such a lot of yourself and you couldn't stand being fooled, and he said I'd done well out of being his widow for two years, and I owed it to him to help him in his job, now that he had come back."

"You're a good pair of actors, I must say," remarked Albery very quietly, but with a note of concealed anger that frightened the girl. Then he fixed his glowing dark eyes on her. "And so it was all a pretense—your married life?"

"It was a pretense," she said dully. "We lived in the same flat, because we had to keep it up. Mr. Albery," she added, raising her eyes, "I've told you the truth, because I will not allow you to misjudge Rex Moore."

"He has treated me wonderfully. He forgave me for what was a wicked thing to do. It was not until I saw him that I realized I had been deceived you, too, and I ought to be sorry for that. But I am not so sorry, because, after all, I did work for you as well as I could."

"You need not be sorry, Laurie," he said, and in his voice trembled his overwhelming passion for her, which might have been a fine thing but for its underlying madness. "I think you are a wonderful girl. And I know you did it all for your sister."

She was the most beautiful, the most enchanting woman in the world to him, as she sat there, so white, her face working with such tragic emotions.

"Laurie, will you be my wife?" he asked.

"No, no, Mr. Albery, I could not marry you. I don't care for you."

"I will take the risk," he spoke slowly, suavely, as usual, and without sign of feeling. "You are the only woman I have ever asked to be my wife. All my life I have had a prejudice against marriage. The women I met never seemed worth while. From the first I loved you. Now I want to marry you, to make you a part of my life for good and all."

He came toward her, smiling, inspired by his own vision of their future; but she waved him away.

"Mr. Albery, I can't marry you. Please don't say any more!"

"I hope you will change your mind," he said. He himself was a changed man. Gone was every trace of the admirer, the lover. Even the friendly, considerate employer was no more.

He sat down in an armchair and looked at her with a face as unreadable as the blank, sightless carvings on an old Egyptian temple.

"I cannot change my mind," Laurie said.

"Perhaps when you have heard what I have to say you may change it," he remarked impersonally. "Or have you no interest in Rex Moore any more, now that you are going to ly as if she were addressing him in the office on business matters.

"Oh, so you make conditions!" His tone was mocking but indulgent. His eyes devoured her eagerly.

"I will marry you," said Laurie. "But everything must go on as it is. Rex Moore and I must be supposed not to get on and to have parted, and to be divorced later on in the ordinary way, as we have planned. You must wait until it is all settled."

"But that's preposterous! How are you going to play it out? If you are supposed to be getting a divorce, people must hear about it. And that means, if you're supposed to start proceedings at once, and get a decree, I couldn't marry you ostensibly for six months! Something else will have to be managed."

"I won't consent to anything that reflects on Rex Moore in any way," she said stubbornly.

"You only think of him." In his eyes flamed his hatred of the man, and that time she saw it, and shivered, as the old premonition of evil came back to her. "Of course, he'll have to take the blame in any case, in the eyes of the world. You can not."

"No, of course, he would not allow me to do that," she said. "But it must be managed so that there is nothing against him."

"My dear little girl," Albery urged, "don't bother your head about ways and means. Leave it to me. I'll fix it up with Moore. I can manage something that people will swallow whole."

"We'll save Rex Moore's face. And you and I will slip away somewhere quite quietly, where nobody knows us, and get married by a registrar, and nobody will be the wiser until the time comes when we can announce it."

Laurie's clearness of mind deserted her. She stared at him in confusion.

"You mean—you want me to marry you—soon?"

"My dear little girl, do you suppose a man who is madly in love wants to wait months when the woman is as free as air? It shall be made perfectly fool-proof."

Laurie has another disturbing blow, tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. McCullough returned Friday evening from Lake City, Colo., where they vacationed for two weeks. Fishing was good.
