

They're calling it a Christmas miracle down in LeFors...

By JULIA CLARK
Staff Writer

When people get the spirit of giving in their hearts, great things may occur. In the town of LeFors this Christmas, they're calling it a miracle.

The principal of LeFors school, Jess Baker, said the students usually draw names for the Christmas gift exchange during the first week of December.

"We have people in the community who are bad off," said Baker. Many students explained they could not take part in the gift exchange because their fathers were laid off of work. After talking with his teachers, they decided to make Christmas 1982 a "Christmas of giving instead of a Christmas of getting," he said.

Baker presented the plan to have the children bring a can of food to school instead of a gift to exchange to the president of the Lion's Club, asking if it would be responsible for finding a needy family. The members liked the idea and, decided to add a turkey as their donation to each box of food collected.

In a small town news travels fastest by word of mouth. (LeFors has less than a thousand inhabitants, the school has 240 students.)

The school children went home and told their parents of the Christmas of giving.

Many cans were brought to the school those first couple of days of the program, said Baker. Then the donations tapered off a bit, but, after reminding the children that there were just a few days left to give, "the movement caught on and lots of food came in," he said.

Money was sent to the Lion's Club for the "needy family box," one LeFors citizen contributed one dozen eggs per basket of food, another contributed five pounds of potatoes for each basket.

Some gave toys for the children.

"What amazed me, in a time of depressed economy, that people would come together," to give like that, Baker said.

Baker said some of the members of the Lion's Club in LeFors are retired folks, who have neighbors on Social Security. Some of these elderly couples were facing a bleak Christmas as well as those families whose bread - winner was out of work.

The program to collect canned goods for a needy family or two started about December 3 and ended less than two school weeks later, on December 23, with the delivery of 19 baskets of food to needy families in LeFors.

"Because the people came together with a loving response in an event of giving and sharing, we hope to do this again next year," said Baker.

As one LeFors citizen put it, "If there is 10 percent unemployment, then 90 percent of us have jobs - we should be able to take care of our own."

All they saved were a cowboy boot and Doodles

The fire came just when family's future plans were coming together

By JULIA CLARK
Staff Writer

They had it all together. The plan for the rest of their life was in motion.

That all changed Tuesday.

"Mommy! Look up at the ceiling. See the smoke!" exclaimed six-year old Joey Day.

Tricia Day grabbed her nine month old daughter, and two-year old son and the four of them ran out of the burning house Tuesday.

"Joey ran next door and called for help," she said.

Before the fire, Tricia and Vernon Dell Day Jr. had everything going for them.

About a year ago Day decided to leave his job with the Santa Fe Railroad to settle in one place rather than continue moving from one place to another with each transfer.

Their oldest child, Joey, was almost six and would be starting school in the fall and his parents wanted him to have the security of going to one school and making lasting friendships.

Day's grandparents wanted to move to Borger, so they sold Dell and Tricia their home on south Finley in Pampa.

The Days lived for about nine months in a camper trailer in back of the house while they fixed up the house. It was pretty cramped quarters for the five of them, but it was worth it, because they knew they would have a home of their own when they finished.

The whole family pitched in and helped with the painting and repair work that had to be done. New plumbing was installed.

Finally, about four months ago, the Days and their three small children moved into the house.

They had their first Christmas in their "first owned" house, and were ready to realize their life plans.

Tricia had just graduated from real estate school. The plumbing was all paid off.

And then the fire.

The house has been declared a total loss. They have to start over.

For the present, Dell and his family are living with his uncle, Kennie Day at 2440 Comanche, but they would like a place of their own.

They hope the insurance will cover the cost of a furnished apartment or house, because, "We have to make the house payment, and we can't do that and afford rent at the same time," said Tricia Day.

All of their clothing was either burned or so badly smoke-damaged that it is unsalvageable.

"Mommy, where's my other boot?" asked two-year old Jeffrey, clinging to the one possession he had - one cowboy boot.

"It's all gone, Honey," said his mother, tears filling her eyes.

Janelle Cochran of the First National Bank of Pampa will receive any funds sent to help the family.

All the children's clothing and Christmas gifts were destroyed.

Tiffany, nine months, can use size one dresses and shoes.

Jeffrey wears size 4 tall shirts, 2 slim pants, and size 8 shoes.

Six-year old Joey wears size 5 shirts, 5 slim pants, and size 11 shoes.

Tricia wears size 3 - 5 jeans, 10 blouse and 5 - 7 dresses.

Dell is a 32 - 32 in pants and 15 - 15 1/2 shirt.

Jeffrey, 2, and Joey, 6, hold the only two things they were able to save from the fire...Jeffrey's cowboy boot, and Doodles, the family dog. (Staff photo by Bruce Lee Smith)

More rains due the flooded Mississippi delta this week

By JUDY GIBBS
Associated Press Writer

Rains returned today to the coastal waters off Mississippi and Louisiana and threatened to move inland where rising rivers forced 375 new evacuations and sent two rock-laden barges ramming into a railroad bridge.

The National Weather Service predicted more rain would fall today on flood-ravaged areas of the two states where more than 2,600 people have been driven from their homes, including 375 rescued by civil defense officials Wednesday in Columbus, Miss.

The flooding is the worst in Louisiana in 20 years and the worst in Mississippi in 10, the National Weather Service said.

By week's end, forecasters said, the floodwaters will move into southwestern Louisiana, where two barges full of rocks intended for roadfill tore loose from their moorings on the swift Calcasieu River on Wednesday and battered a Kansas-City Southern railroad bridge so badly it had to be closed. No one was injured, but residents were advised to take precautions for expected flooding.

Elsewhere, power knocked out in a Midwestern blizzard that ended Tuesday was restored as the area continued to dig out from under heavy snowfall, some places in subzero temperatures.

In Minneapolis-St. Paul, where 16.5 inches fell Tuesday, most main roads had been cleared, but side streets remained clogged.

Bus operations were limited in Denver, still recovering from the heaviest one-day snowfall in its history Dec. 24. "It's the pits," said Kathy Joyce, spokeswoman for the Regional Transportation District.

At Stapleton Airport, airlines were trying to deal with a pile of unclaimed baggage including undelivered Christmas presents and thousands of dollars' worth of ski equipment.

Unseasonably warm temperatures that have delighted many Easterners were wreaking havoc on the New England ski industry.

Now they're taxing your phone bill

By NORMAN BLACK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Starting in January, consumers will see their telephone bills rise by 2 percent as Uncle Sam begins collecting more tax.

Under the terms of a tax bill passed by Congress last August, all telephone companies must begin levying a 3 percent excise tax on their customers' bills Jan. 1. The current tax is 1 percent.

Officials at the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the United States Independent Telephone Association estimate the 2 percent hike will generate an extra $1.3 billion next year for the government.

Instead of collecting about $630 million from their customers for Uncle Sam, the nation's roughly 1,500 telephone companies will collect a total of about $1.9 billion in 1983, according to AT&T's Pic Wagner and Hank Wieland of USITA.

They said the tax applies to all telephone service, both local and long-distance. Thus, even if a customer doesn't place any long-distance calls, he will still pay the 3 percent tax on his local service charge.

The telephone increase is part of a massive $100 billion tax law that affects a variety of other areas like cigarette taxes, medical deductions, airline travel and interest and dividend withholding.

First implemented during World War I as a "temporary" measure, the excise tax has ranged as high as 25 percent on long-distance calls and 15 percent on local service. The tax stood at 10 percent for almost 20 years, then began a scheduled phase-out by falling 1 percent annually over the past decade.

It had been scheduled to expire this year.

The new law specifies the 3 percent rate will remain in effect through 1985.

"We had really hoped that this would have been allowed to expire," said Wagner. "Simply put, this tax directly increases the cost of telephone service to our customers. But we recognize the government has financial problems, too."

"Historically, as an industry, we have fought this as a regressive tax," added Wieland. "None of this revenue goes to the telephone industry, and we really don't want to be the tax collector for the government. We also think this hits lower-income people more, but I guess the government sees it as an easy source of revenue."

For she's a jolly good fellow...

Dorothy Neslage of Pampa became the first woman ever to become a Paul Harris Fellow Wednesday at a meeting of the Pampa Rotary Club. The honor was conferred on her by her husband, Fred, who with her children contributed the $1,000 necessary to become a Harris Fellow to the Rotary Foundation in her name.

Neslage is the eighth person in Pampa to be so honored, and the only woman in the entire world. But she's used to receiving typically "male" honors—she was the first woman to receive the highest honor of the Adobe Walls Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and the first woman to serve on its executive board.

She has spent most of her life in community service, as well as raising 11 children, all of whom hold the highest honors in Boy and Girl Scouts and who have all gone to college.

Travis Lively, Sr., another Harris Fellow, introduced Neslage at the meeting, saying, "Anything a good citizen would do, Dorothy has done it." She participates not only in religious activities at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, but also in many civic endeavors as well. She received the "Outstanding Adult Leadership in the Community Award" from the Pampa Key Club in 1974, and was named Woman of the Year at West Texas State University (WTSU) in 1980. Eight of her eleven children attended WTSU.

Some of her children, who range in age from 22 to 40 years old, were able to be at the meeting to watch Fred put her Harris Fellow necklace over her head. She is proud of her family, and Lively called her a "mother par excellence."

Her husband, who is also a Harris Fellow, said the contribution was made because Dorothy has done so much for people in her lifetime.

Pampa blood donors set new record

Pampa blood donors set a new record at Coronado Community Hospital Wednesday, according to a hospital spokesman. More than 137 people responded to the holiday season plea for donors.

Coffee Memorial Blood Center records show that 122 people were able to donate blood during the one-day campaign, with only 15 turned away for medical reasons.

"We are very pleased with the tremendous response from the community in meeting this need," CCH Administrator Norman Knox said. "The people of Pampa can be proud of the response in this call for blood donors."

The blood center noted that seasonal demand for blood due to accidents and other causes has resulted in a shortage of donors in past weeks, which was hopefully alleviated with Wednesday's blood drive.

Blood center employees were on the telephone half a day on December 24, trying to locate donors to tide them over through the Christmas weekend.

Knox said Wednesday's blood drive was the largest turnout ever for the hospital-based drive. "Usually we average only about 70 to 80 donors," he said. "This time, the public response was outstanding. Thanks to donors like these people, lives can be saved."

Fort Hood soldier killed in blast

FORT HOOD, Texas (AP) - Army officials today were investigating what caused a pressurized container to explode, killing a soldier who was unloading it.

The soldier was unloading containers of jet engines about 10:50 a.m. Wednesday when one of the pressurized containers exploded, said spokesman Maj. Tony Geishauser. "He was killed instantly," Geishauser said.

Spec. 4 Eric Grant, 22, of Kissimmee, Fla., a 6th Cavalry Brigade soldier, was pronounced dead on arrival at Darnall Army Community Hospital, Geishauser said.

The jet engines were being taken to an impact area where they would be used as targets for tanks and artillery pieces, he said.

TSTI offers new measurement course

AMARILLO - The Instructional Administration office of TSTI - Amarillo recently announced the approval of a new instructional program that will begin enrolling students during the Spring Quarter of 1983. All educational programs offered by TSTI are approved by the State Board of Education acting through the Texas Education Agency.

Industrial Instrumentation Technology is an 18-month associate degree program offering an emphasis in skill development by employing "hands-on" training in process control and measurement. The student will obtain and apply knowledge in electrical and pneumatic control systems. The installation, repair and troubleshooting of complex control measurement in industrial systems are taught, as well as the numerical control of machines and processes.

The increasing use of microprocessors and microcomputers in instrumentation requires knowledge which TSTI students will receive. Students learn to apply control and instrument systems for energy and chemical plants as well. All phases of training in Industrial Instrumentation Technology are accomplished with quality training, modern equipment and input from an advisory committee formed of instrumentation industry leaders.

Instrumentation technicians perform a variety of functions for industry including management of sophisticated electrical and pneumatic instrumentation systems, installing and troubleshooting such systems, the control of systems with microprocessors and microcomputers, and the management and programming of industrial robots.

Border Patrol looking for some job applicants

By RANDALL HACKLEY

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Wanted: 300 to 400 hardy applicants no older than 35 for adventurous work that sometimes includes deadly shootouts along the Mexican border. Annual starting pay: $13,369.

The U.S. Border Patrol is looking for new agents. Turnover through attrition and retirements among the nation's 2,600 border patrolmen this year have caused a loss of nearly 15 percent of agents. To compensate, government recruiters are now canvassing the Southwest and local universities, officials say.

Agents, who patrol for illegal aliens along the 3,000-mile long U.S.-Canada border, the Strait of Florida and the busy 1,700-mile U.S.-Mexico border, are needed immediately, says Alan Eliason, chief patrol agent of the El Paso sector.

"And we're not that selective," Eliason says.

To qualify, agents - males and females - don't have to be a high school graduate. They must be between 21 and 35 years old, but there also is no height or weight requirement, Eliason said.

The Border Patrol, an arm of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, needs more agents now because the economic problems in Mexico have caused a 50 percent upsurge since summer in the number of aliens trying to illegally enter the country, he said.

Apprehensions through 1982 from San Ysidro, Calif., to Brownsville are up at least 10 percent over last year, border patrol data show. That means more work for agents, and more need for new agents in the field, officials say.

"All they need is to be bright, honest and in fairly good condition," says Larry Richardson, chief patrol agent for the McAllen sector.

Border patrol work, however, can be deadly.

Last August, Presidio patrolman Paul Conover was involved in a near-fatal shootout with an illegal alien along the Rio Grande that left him in critical condition for two months with back and colon injuries.

One off-duty patrolman was killed in Rio Grande City four years ago, and two other agents were seriously wounded in the mid-1970s in South Texas border incidents, Richardson said.

An agent stationed in El Paso was killed about four years ago in a border shootout, Eliason said.

"There is an inherent risk in the job. We don't take it lightly," he said. "Some of these aliens are violent."

Violence is most pronounced along the U.S.-Mexico border, the busiest crossing point in the border patrol's territory.

"But generally, we win about 90 percent of the shootouts, which is a good feeling," Richardson added.

Apprehensions have risen since August because the Mexican peso was devaluated for the second of three times this year. Times remain tough throughout Mexico, which makes the U.S. even more attractive for jobs, says Barry Dixon, sector intelligence agent in McAllen.

Officials also continue to see an increase in the number of El Salvadoran nationals apprehended in South Texas, the nearest crossing point into the U.S. for those fleeing the war-torn Central American country.

About 9 percent of those apprehended this summer were from El Salvador, Dixon said.

Some who aren't apprehended, though, aren't home free in the United States.

Last October, four Salvadorans died in Edinburg after suffocating in a tractor-trailer. Another Salvadoran was found dead in a nearby canal, and several others smuggled into the U.S. were hospitalized.

About 19,000 illegal aliens - 99 percent are Mexican nationals - were apprehended last August in the El Paso sector, the second busiest in the country behind San Ysidro, which is near San Diego. That was up 33 percent over the 14,000 captured in August 1981, Eliason said.

McAllen figures show apprehensions rose by 50 percent the last four months of this year, with illegal aliens seized from 20 different countries, Dixon said.

But the worse is still to come after the annual year-end lull, when fewer aliens traditionally try to illegally enter the U.S., officials fear.

"We're looking for all hell to break loose here after the first of the year because of the economic situation south of us," said Richardson.

Man who loses Canadian chief's job files $5 million slander suit

MORRILTON, Ark. — The police chief here has filed a $5 million lawsuit against the Morrilton mayor - elect for remarks he made in an interview with a Pampa News reporter.

Morrilton Police Chief Robyn Masingill filed the suit against mayor - elect John Davidson in Conway County Arkansas Circuit Court Tuesday.

Masingill was hired last month as the new police chief in Canadian, but the city council later withdrew the job offer, after stories in The Pampa News revealed Masingill was convicted of evidence tampering and still faces trial on two felony charges in Arkansas.

In the first articles about Masingill's past troubles in Arkansas, Davidson told the newspaper that he entered the mayor's race in order to fire Masingill.

The man who will be sworn in as Morrilton mayor Saturday said he successfully defeated the incumbent mayor on a platform of ousting Masingill from office.

"The police department lost all its integrity and respect in this city," Davidson said during the telephone interview December 2.

He said then that the only reason he ran for office was "get rid of the police chief."

Informed Masingill had accepted the police chief's job at Canadian, Davidson said then that he "can't wait until he leaves the state."

"I told him I would fire him the first day I take office. That's what I wanted to get done," Davidson said at the time.

The mayor - elect said he would fire Masingill because of the police chief's conviction for evidence tampering and pending felony trials.

Davidson said Masingill continues to serve as police chief in Morrilton, only because Masingill's "backers" on the city council preside on the police committee which runs the police department. And he said those Masingill supporters who refused to take action to fire the chief after his conviction were all defeated for re-election.

"They are strictly backers of the police chief. They all went by the wayside. The citizens rose up en masse and threw him (Masingill) out of office," Davidson said in December.

Because of the above remarks made by Davidson, Masingill claims in his lawsuit that he lost the Canadian job.

Masingill previously denied Davidson's information.

Masingill submitted his resignation as Morrilton chief to be effective December 31. Before the Canadian council withdrew its offer, he was to start work in Canadian January 1.

After he lost the Canadian job, Masingill took back his Morrilton resignation.

Though he claims Davidson's remarks cost him the Canadian job, Canadian City Manager Van James and Canadian Mayor Therese Abraham never mentioned Davidson's comments as a reason Canadian officials changed their position on Masingill.

Both officials previously said Masingill lost the Canadian job because the chief failed to tell them about his Arkansas conviction.

The Canadian City Council hired a new man for the job Tuesday.

Masingill's suit charges Davidson with making slanderous remarks which impugned Masingill's integrity and honesty. The suit charges that Davidson made the remarks "maliciously, with knowledge of their falsity, with reckless disregard of their truth and with the intent of interfering with a job which had just been secured."

The slander suit asks for $2.5 million in compensatory damages and $2.5 million in punitive damages.

Masingill's lawyers who filed the suit are Tom F. Donovan of Dardanelle, Ark. and William H. Craig of North Little Rock, Ark.

The Pampa News was not named in the lawsuit.

Weighed 550 lbs.

Mom seeking reason dead son was fat

HOUSTON (AP) — A 550-pound man who couldn't stop eating has died and his mother says she hopes an autopsy will explain her son's appetite.

Glen Thraikill, 22, died about a month after suffering a mild heart attack, said his mother, Mary Eva Thraikill.

Thraikill, who died Sunday at Eastway General Hospital, had difficulty breathing because his excess fat interfered with the expansion of his lungs, relatives said.

His heart could not pump adequate blood through the lungs and his blood oxygen supply dropped, causing carbon dioxide to build up and affect his brain, according to relatives.

Services were scheduled today. Jesse Guillian, owner of the funeral home handling the arrangements, said a special casket was being made and more than one gravesite would be used to bury Thraikill at Forest Park Lawndale Cemetery.

Mrs. Thraikill said she had authorized an autopsy to determine if there is a medical explanation for her son's problem.

Relatives said he became so obese as a child that he could not attend public school and required tutors to help him with his studies.

Playmate shoots child in heart with pellet gun

HOUSTON (AP) — An 11-year-old boy was in stable condition after being shot in the heart with a pellet gun during a fight with a playmate, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Tommy L. Hairelson Jr. was admitted to the intensive care unit of Texas Children's Hospital Wednesday afternoon after the pellet struck him in the upper chest, penetrated his heart and was carried through his bloodstream and lodged near his pelvis, police Sgt. George Sturgis said. Hospital supervisor Della Austin refused any further comment on the boy's condition.

He said a 10-year-old boy had fired the .177-caliber weapon through a crack in the victim's door. The two boys had been wrestling minutes earlier, Sturgis said.

"It was just a little kid fight," he said.

The 10-year-old was released to his father's custody and the case was referred to the Harris County Juvenile Probation office, Sturgis said. He said the pellet gun was confiscated.

Texas woman gets heart and lungs

HOUSTON (AP) — A 26-year-old woman was resting in stable condition today after she received a complete set of transplanted heart and lungs, according to a spokeswoman at the Texas Heart Institute.

The woman, whose identity was not released, was suffering from a lung ailment that "affected the right side of her heart," said spokeswoman Hazel Haby.

The surgery, which lasted about 90 minutes, ended at 12:45 a.m. today, Ms. Haby said.

The transplanted organs came from a 32-year-old woman who was killed in an automobile accident, according to the spokeswoman.

The operation was the fifth of 35 heart transplants scheduled to be performed by Dr. Denton Cooley and other surgeons over a two-year period using the drug cyclosporine, which keeps the body from rejecting foreign tissue, Ms. Haby said.

Heart transplants were first performed at the hospital by Cooley in the late 1960s, but were suspended until the discovery of cyclosporine.

Ms. Haby also said doctors at the Texas Heart Institute are "very encouraged" with the progress of a 50-year-old Texas heart transplant patient.

"The patient is waking up and can move his arms and legs. All vital signs are stable," Ms. Haby said Wednesday.

The heart came from a 21-year-old man who was killed in a motor vehicle accident, Ms. Haby said.

The donor's kidneys were transplanted Wednesday into two patients at Hermann Hospital, said Susan Fox, a spokeswoman at that hospital.

A Louisiana man in his late 30s and a Texas man in his late 40s were "doing well" after their operations, said Mrs. Fox. Their names were withheld, she said.

Ms. Haby said the heart transplant began about 10:42 p.m. Tuesday and was finished shortly before midnight.

She said the recipient, whose name was not released, was suffering from cardiomyopathy — failure of the cardiac muscle.

A patient who received a heart and two lungs on Nov. 23 died of double pneumonia on Dec. 15.

Group wants federal investigation into Texas nursing home murders

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A plea bargain that allowed a nursing home to plead no contest to an involuntary manslaughter charge in connection with a patient's death is a "travesty of justice" and warrants a federal investigation, a reform group leader says.

Barbara Frank, program associate for the National Citizens Coalition for Nursing Home Reform, said the Washington-based group asked the Justice Department to investigate the deaths of eight patients at a Texas City nursing home between 1978 and 1979.

"It's such a terrible situation and such an unjust situation that we feel it really warrants a major investigation by Congress," Ms. Frank said.

"We have a fear that other nursing home operators who consider taking improper actions are going to take a look at a situation like this and have no qualms about bending the rules because they see that they can get by without," she said.

Visiting State District Judge Larry Gist approved a plea bargain Monday to let Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers Inc. of Houston plead no contest to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the October 1978 death of Edna Mae Witt.

The single count was the only one retained from 256 in indictments issued in 1981, said David Marks, former assistant district attorney for Galveston County.

Marks was fired by District Attorney James Hury after trying to block the agreement, alleging his boss had made a "back-room deal" with an attorney representing Autumn Hills.

All murder charges against eight former and present employees were dismissed.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Bubble wrath

Sometimes it's hard to find heroes these days.

The wire - service story seemed pretty straightforward. There's this entrepreneur in College Park, Md., you see, who's opening a hot - tub emporium, called Making Waves. The idea is to let people loll around in the tubs in what promotional brochures call "complete privacy," in locked rooms if that's desired.

The locked - room aspect got a local pastor all riled up, especially since the proposed enterprise is close to the University of Maryland campus. "I'm 31 and I'm not stupid," proclaimed Barry Wood of the New Covenant Christian Community Church. "It wasn't so long ago that I was in college so I know what's going on. Unless they've got strong moral principles, college students have strong sex drives and if you make it easier for them to indulge in sexual activity, they will." Pastor Wood wants the city council to deny a business license to the hotbed of hot tubs.

We'd always thought that the good Lord gave everybody sex drives, even those with strong moral principles, and if He did it, He must have done it intentionally. But that's a side issue. It looked as if we had a pretty good case of yet another community activist wanting to use the power of government to enforce morality, a process that usually weakens respect for government and respect for morality, which is a pretty good trick.

Before we had much of a chance to get up on our high horse, however, we read to the end of the article. And there was the noble entrepreneur, saying he didn't mind a little regulation, so long as it was the kind of regulation that benefited his business instead of hurting it.

"We want to be regulated," said co - owner Cal Klasner. "We're happy to do anything that shows the community that Making Waves is being run above - board. In fact, we've worked with Prince Georges County officials to come up with licensing requirement for spas like ours."

Those words ought to perk up the ears of anybody who's dry behind them. If there's a licensing scheme drawn up by government officials and an existing business that hasn't, sooner or later, overtly or covertly, been used to exclude potential competition and - or keep prices up, we'd like to hear about it.

What we have in College Park, it would seem, is a pastor who wants to use government to enforce his brand of morality taking up the cudgels against a spa owner who wants to use government to curb the potential competition. As we said, it's getting tough to find heroes these days.

Unemployment

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN

It's imperative that the best minds in the country address the problem of long - term unemployment.

The unemployment I refer to is not that which is caused by the current severe recession. Many people who lose their jobs because of low demand for goods and services will get them back or find new work as the economy recovers.

The most serious unemployment is that caused by the gradual change from smokestack capitalism to computer capitalism. Stepped - up automation of plants and offices is a fact of life. As new computers and automatic equipment are devised, companies will need fewer employees. To be sure, the computer revolution creates new jobs. However, "high tech" enterprises don't require the same number of workers as the old smokestack industries and the pre - automation offices.

This situation indicates that the country is faced with significant long - term unemployment unless new job opportunities are created. The make - work jobs programs promoted by politicians don't address this revolution in the workplace.

Most new jobs today are being created in small and often new companies. Those who find employment with such firms are happily situated. However, the new, small enterprises aren't likely to absorb all the workers who seek employment. The new unemployed, or as someone has said "the new needy," often are white - collar workers or college - educated young people who trained in nontechnical fields such as history, English, psychology and social science.

This situation is one that prevails in all the advanced countries. The situation in the U.S. is acute because of the abysmal failure of the American public school system to provide a sound basic education. Many of the public schools in the nation are blackboard jungles where academic standards have been deteriorating for years and where political concerns prevail over educational considerations.

The Economist, published in Britain, recently addressed this issue, saying that "About three million of the worst - educated Britons are on a slow - turnover scrapheap where they are growing used to unemployment as a way of life." The U.S. has a similar problem, especially in the black community.

How is the U.S. to find employment for the long - term unemployed? Individual searches of the "help wanted" columns is not a completely satisfactory answer. The ablest minds in the nation need to study the dimensions of this problem, present the realities, and come up with remedies. The country can't afford to be indifferent to the long - term unemployment caused by the computerization of industrial and office procedures.

A new proletariat, made up of people who want to work but can't find work will pose a very serious danger to the stability of a free society. America must address this problem with speed and determination.

They put their dole first

Many Europeans say they don't like the idea of American nuclear weapons on their territory. They say it runs the risk of making their countries nuclear battlefields. As far as some of them are concerned, this fear overrides the possibility of Soviet invasion.

But are these the only options for the Europeans? Not according to NATO's commanding general, U.S. Gen. Bernard W. Rodgers. He maintains that some of our nuclear weapons in Europe could be withdrawn without a loss of deterrence if NATO countries would increase their spending on conventional armaments.

But many Europeans aren't inclined to do this because it would mean less expansion or cuts in their domestic welfare programs.

Thus apparently they put their dole before either their national security or the limiting of nuclear devastation. It doesn't seem to occur to them that in the course of invasion and massive destruction, the dole would be the first thing to go.

Negotiators greeted with traditional bread, salt

KIRYAT SHMONA, Israel (AP) — Lebanese, Israeli and American negotiators began their second round of negotiations today after residents of this Galilee town welcomed them with an Old Testament offering of bread and salt and the cheers of schoolchildren.

The negotiators met around a doughnut shaped table in Beit Edelstein, the community center, which like many other buildings in Kiryat Shmona bore the scars of Palestinian guerrilla shells.

The town's chief rabbi greeted the negotiators with the traditional offering of bread and salt, and 2,000 schoolchildren cheered and waved Israeli and Lebanese flags.

The talks are aimed at ridding Lebanon of foreign forces and establishing a lasting peace along Israel's northern border. Israeli and Lebanese negotiators remain divided over which issue should be taken up first, but sources close to the negotiations said a compromise was in sight.

The sources, who declined to be identified by name or nationality, suggested the two issues could be discussed simultaneously, either in subcommittees or in some other format to be chosen at today's talks.

The negotiations began Tuesday in the southern Beirut suburb of Khalde and will alternate between here and there for their duration.

The first round saw Israeli and Lebanese negotiators present opening proposals.

Israel, determined that the talks must lead to a peaceful border with Lebanon, proposed a detailed agenda, stressing the normalization of relations as the key element of a withdrawal package.

Lebanon put top priority on regaining sovereignty over areas now controlled by Israel, Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization. The Syrians entered Lebanon in 1976 to quell the 18-month

Moslem-Christian civil war.

The Israeli plan included discussion of opening borders to commerce and monitoring a 25-mile-deep security zone in southern Lebanon with early warning stations and air and naval surveillance.

Lebanon remains reluctant, apparently fearing that such normalization will alienate its Arab brethren. To Lebanon, the major issue is the withdrawal of Israel's invasion army.

Lebanese officials said Wednesday they were counting on the United States to work out a compromise.

Soviets accuse Pope of anti-communism

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, in a stinging attack on Pope John Paul II, has accused him of being a rigid anti-communist who cloaks political rhetoric in prayer.

The unusual personal attack carried Wednesday by the official news agency Tass also accused the Roman Catholic Church of carrying out subversion in Poland and other East-bloc nations.

There was no explanation for the attack, which denounced the Vatican for using the "cover of religion" to engage in "anti-communist propaganda on a broad scale."

Condemnations of the church typically have been distributed by the government-run media by quoting articles written in other Eastern European publications and focusing on the church's role in Poland's chronic unrest.

The Polish-born pope was cited by name in an article Tass said appears in this month's edition of the journal Political Self-Education, published by the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee.

Tass said the journal takes note that Vatican policy is influenced by "the growth of aggressive designs of imperialism and the stepped-up activity of the opponents of detente," catchwords for the United States.

"Unlike his predecessors, the present head of the Catholic church ... has taken a much more conservative and rigid position vis-a-vis the socialist world," Tass said, quoting from the journal.

"It goes without saying that the present 'executor of St. Peter' prefers ... to speak the language of Christian prayer," Tass said. But it said the pope's statements are of a political nature and "the real thrust of his statements is clear."

It said the crisis in martial-law Poland was "born not in the wave of disorders that swept the country in 1980, but in the Catholic church."

Poland's martial-law government decreed martial law Dec. 13, 1981, after 16 months of strikes and challenges to the ruling Communist Party by the independent Solidarity union, which was formally outlawed in October.

Polish military rule will be relaxed at the end of this month, but many of the emergency decrees over the year have been entrenched in law.

Solidarity's leader, Lech Walesa, who was interned for 11 months after imposition of martial law, is a devout Roman Catholic. The Polish government took Walesa into custody earlier this month to prevent him from making his first public speech since his November release.

Tass said the political-journal article also maintains the Vatican trains and sends "specialists" in Roman Catholic propaganda to Eastern European countries.

Texan killed by police

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police have identified Danny Ray Barbo, 33, of Beaumont, Texas, as the man who was killed in a shootout with Oklahoma City police.

Barbo was shot in the head by officer Jerry Gates early Wednesday, police said. Barbo was wanted in Beaumont on assault and firearms complaints, investigators said.

Police went to a mobile home to question a man about a gun that was carried into a night club. Barbo, in the home, fired 15 shots at police and then chased Gates around a car while another officer called for help. Gates shot the man at close range, police said.

Dear Abby

This coming year, strive to be a "regular man"

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I was in grade school many years ago back in Roswell, N.M., a teacher read a poem to us. It was in the form of a prayer, and the thrust of it was, "Dear God, make a man out of me."
I can't remember who wrote it, but it was a gem. Have you (or any of your readers) ever heard of it? I would love to have it to keep.

NOSTALGIC IN PORTALES, N.M.

DEAR NOSTALGIC: The author was Edgar A. Guest. And what a timely piece with which to usher in the New Year. The poem:

LORD, MAKE A REGULAR MAN OUT OF ME

This I would like to be — braver and bolder,
Just a bit wiser because I am older,
Just a bit kinder to those I may meet,
Just a bit manlier taking defeat;
This for the New Year my wish and my plea —
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

This I would like to be — just a bit finer,
More of a smiler and less of a whiner,
Just a bit quicker to stretch out my hand,
Helping another who's struggling to stand,
This is my prayer for the New Year to be,
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

This I would like to be — just a bit fairer,
Just a bit better, and just a bit squarer,
Not quite so ready to censure and blame,
Quicker to help every man in the game,
Not quite so eager men's failings to see,
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

This I would like to be — just a bit truer,
Less of the wisher and more of the doer,
Broader and bigger, more willing to give,
Living and helping my neighbor to live!
This for the New Year my prayer and my plea —
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

DEAR READERS: Apropos the above: The expression "regular man" need not apply to males only. Edgar Guest meant it to describe a person of character and dignity.

In Yiddish the word is "mensch." And a woman can also be a "mensch."

No one defined a "mensch" better than Leo Rosten in his book, "The Joys of Yiddish" (Simon & Schuster):

"MENSCH, MENCH. Rhymes with 'bench.' From German: Mensch: 'person.' Plural: menschen.
"1. A human being. 'After all, he is a mensch, not an animal.'

"2. An upright, honorable, decent person. 'Come on, act like a mensch!'

"3. Someone of consequence; someone to admire and emulate; someone of noble character. 'Now, there is a real mensch!'

"It is hard to convey the special sense of respect, dignity, approbation, that can be conveyed by calling someone 'a real mensch!'

"As a child, I often heard it said: 'The finest thing you can say about a man is that he is a mensch!' Jewish children often hear the admonition: 'Behave like a mensch!' or 'Be a mensch!' This use of the word is uniquely Yiddish in its overtones.

"The most withering comment one might make on someone's character or conduct is: 'He is not (did not act like) a mensch.'

"To be a mensch has nothing to do with success, wealth, status. A judge can be a zhibob; a millionaire can be a momzer; a professor can be a shlemiel, a doctor a klutz, a lawyer a bulvon. The key to being 'a real mensch' is nothing less than — character: rectitude, dignity, a sense of what is right, responsible, decorous. Many a poor man, many an ignorant man, is a mensch."

DEAR ABBY: I am a young French woman who recently moved to Dallas. My problem is that I am afflicted with a French accent that is driving my Texas friends crazy! They love it, imitate me, laugh at my mispronunciations and never for one minute let me forget about my accent.

I have been more than patient with these rude people and have tried to get them to stop making such a big thing out of my accent, but they continue to tease me, saying it is so "cute."

What is the matter with these people here? How can I firmly, but nicely, tell these Texans to stop that nonsense?

A FROGGY IN DALLAS

DEAR FROGGY: You can't, but if it's any comfort, many Texans have been teased, imitated and laughed at because of their regional accent.

Any kind of accent sets one apart from the others, which can be a tremendous asset. So don't knock it, there, use it for all it's worth.

Start our program the first week in January, and you can be 17 to 25 pounds slimmer by Valentine's Day!

EMILY CHO

Fashion expert says

Clothes define the image

By CAROL DEEGAN
NEW YORK (AP) — "Clothing is a self-fulfilling portrait," says Emily Cho, fashion image consultant and author of "Looking, Working, Living Terrific 24 Hours a Day."

The president of a consulting firm, "New Image," she works with some 400 clients a year, from fashion editors and television personalities to women executives, putting together their personal wardrobes.

Often, Cho builds around clothing already in her client's closet, taking into account the woman's personality, body flaws, budget and lifestyle.

Cho was among the panelists who appeared here recently before a group of 400 women at a "beauty renewal" seminar sponsored by the Clairol Corp.

"When you've been an image consultant for 11 years as I have," Ms. Cho said, "the term, renewal, isn't just another word in the dictionary. It's a recurring miracle you share with every new client."

She said clothes are a woman's greatest tool — sending out messages about how she feels in different situations, whether it's interviewing for a job, going on a company picnic, or spending a romantic evening at home with her husband.

"How good you look, how confident you feel, how much of an impression you make on the people around you ... even how well you handle your job, will come from so simple a starting place as choosing the right clothes, clothes that will define your image," she said.

However, Cho said looking terrific doesn't necessarily mean spending lots of money. For example, she suggests changing a

"nothing" sweater or blouse into something more exciting by sewing on antique-looking buttons.

Or, she suggests that if a skirt is slightly on the short side, to wear stockings of the same tint that will continue the color downward and make the skirt look longer. Accessorize with flat shoes.

She said a woman's image should reflect something of herself and something of the person she'd like to be.

"All you need once you're dressed is to take one more minute to look at yourself in the mirror," she said. "Don't focus on the eyes, look at yourself as a presentation. Do you need a little sweater vest? Are there too many solids in our outfit? Would a print scarf help? Would a shawl thrown over your jacket give the image more drama and dash for that important luncheon?"

Cho listed the following "little lifts" to enhance a woman's image:

—Button the last couple of buttons of a cardigan sweater and blouse it over a belt for a sweater-jacket look.

—Push up the sleeves of a blouse, jacket or sweater.

—Twist two contrasting belts together before tying them around your waist.

—Add a touch of needed color with a narrow velvet or grosgrain ribbon under the collar of a blouse.

(Looking, Working, Living Terrific 24 Hours a Day; is published by Putnam's.)

Volunteers link U.S. -Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy-four-year-old Augie McCollom of Topeka, Kan., has helped improve the vision of some 60,000 citizens of Paraguay. McCollom, who is blind himself, coordinates eyeglass donations from local Lions Clubs and the Kansas Sight Foundation and sends them to communities in Paraguay.

The Kansas-Paraguay connection was established by the Partners of the Americas, a Washington-based non-profit volunteer network which links people in the United States with people in Latin America.

Forty-four U.S. states and 26 Latin American countries or areas are members of the Partners and they work together on a variety of community self-help projects, cultural exchanges, agricultural improvement, education and rehabilitation.

"One of the best things about Partners is getting to know the people of another country," says McCollom. "I'm a ham radio operator and I talk to people in Paraguay often. I'm probably better known in Paraguay than I am in Kansas!"

He is one of the 15,000 volunteers throughout the United States and Latin America who work on varied projects.

"Partners is successful because it operates within community organizations that are already established," says Partners' president, Alan A. Rubin. "For example, a 4-H club in Vermont might work on improving the health of cattle in Honduras, or a Brazilian soccer coach may give clinics at Virginia high schools and colleges."

For the U.S. resident who is part of the Partners network, his or her involvement could range from introducing visiting Brazilians to the community to saving lives in Bolivia.

"I don't feel there is a language barrier because you don't speak with your tongue, you speak with your heart," says Virginia Lane, who coordinates Georgia families hosting guests from Brazil. "I tell local families to be themselves and serve typical American dishes like hot dogs and hamburgers. We've found the Brazilians' main foods are similar to the food here in the South."

On a more serious note, a ham radio operator in Maine helped fight what could have been a disastrous polio epidemic in Bolivia by contacting Partners in North Carolina, Arkansas and Utah and arranging for 40,000 doses of polio vaccine, medical supplies, and two doctors to be flown to the stricken area.

Young and old benefit from the Partners' network, Rubin points out. The entire Nyack, N.Y., High School Jazz and Wind Ensemble traveled to their Partner country of St. Lucia to give concerts and teach local musicians. Previously four St. Lucia musicians had visited Nyack to participate in the Rockland County Arts Festival.

"No matter what commitment a volunteer makes, his or her perspective on the world is enriched by actually getting to know and work with people from other countries," says Jerry Perlich of Des Moines, Iowa, past president of Iowa-Yucatan Partners. "Through people-to-people links, we can do what governments can't do. We have developed an understanding and a relationship that is continuing and long-lasting."

Because Partners' projects utilize people's special skills, a little money can go a long way. Pedro McFarren of the Bolivian Partners Educational Subcommittee revitalized the economy of the entire community of Suriki in Bolivia with just $5,000.

For generations, Suriki residents had woven boats and furniture from totora reeds. But their art was dying out because they didn't know how to profitably market their handicrafts. Enter McFarren, who organized a reed weavers' cooperative and found outlets in Bolivia and Norway which wanted to buy the reed boats and furniture. Encouraged by the success of this one industry, the community is making plans to establish a restaurant and a trout farm.

President John F. Kennedy established Partners of the Americas in 1964 as an outgrowth of the Alliance for Progress.

Sweaters-warm, beautiful

By Judy Love

Big, bulky and beautiful. That's exactly what this handsome, easy-to-knit sweater jacket is. It's a warm fashion winner that you can turn out quickly on these cold winter nights — a perfect project for both the experienced and also the less-than-sure knitters.

You can pick your own color favorites, but we like it worked in a deep rich burgundy. The really easy-to-follow pattern requires two other colors — choose white, then a dark navy or black for the contrasting chevron stitch. You'll wear this flat collared sweater-jacket loose or snug the waist with your favorite soft-tie belt or one of fashion's good-looking conch belts. You'll like a million ... for a really small investment. (Color A, 8 balls for size 10-12, plus one ball each colors B and C. I suggest Bucilla Four Seasons, 3 1/2 ounces yarn.)

needles, you start with the back, and cast on 67 sts and begin your ribbing, a simple P1K1, then reverse for the next row, until you've worked 19 inches (for sizes 10-12). Remember to check your gauge. You'll save time and temper.

Easy to follow directions are available from your local paper, for sizes ranging from 10 up to size 16. Incidentally, there's a sharp, clear design diagram with the directions, so you'll have no trouble knowing exactly how to double check your pattern.

To order, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Ask for leaflet S617, and don't forget to include your name, address and ZIP code.

KNIT-KNACKS

Dear Judy Love: I am going to be knitting a skirt that calls for a circular needle. I've never used one — is it difficult? — L.C., Minneapolis, Minn.

Dear L.C.: Knitting with a circular needle is not complicated at all. Just be careful that your work doesn't twist, especially when you join the first stitch to the last to begin the next row. Once you've gotten a couple of rows on the needle, you will not have the problem of the work twisting. There is no seam when you work on a circular needle and you will have that same smooth fabric of stockinette stitch you obtain by knitting with four needles.

A circular needle is easier to work with than straight needles when you are finishing off a neckline, cuffs or any other small, round edge. Good luck and happy knitting! Judy Love (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

A FASHION WINNER — this beautiful sweater jacket to knit. It's big, bulky and beautiful.

New designer perks up hat scene

By Florence De Santis

NEW YORK (NEA) — Nothing perks up a supposedly-lagging fashion sector like a new talent. These days such talents are to be found in many an off-Seventh Avenue location, and Lee Black is no exception. He's designing the kind of hats that are making spirited young women everywhere want to wear them again.

For example, how about a "Guardian Angels" beret, with an added jaunty bow. In case you've missed all their publicity, the Guardian Angels are a group of young, streetwise New Yorkers who organized themselves as a crime prevention patrol and devised a distinctive beret for themselves. Trust

Lee Black to pick up on it as a new head look.

For something other than the perennial fedora to wear with business suits, Black gives the cloche a new look with a decided dip to the downturned brim on one side only, where he then perches the satin bow to finish the contrast band. In camel with brown satin, it's a fall fashion winner.

Black didn't start out to design hats. He liked designing jewelry, which he sold in a shop in New York's artistic Soho district. When he expanded the shop to carry other accessories, he also designed those, including some hats. Uptown designers frequently explore districts like Soho for new talents, and Bill Blass bought some of Black's hats to accessorize the Blass fashion shows.

Before he knew it, Black was doing all the Blass show hats, and that got him into millinery full time. After several years of gaining experience with such established hat firms as Mr. John, Adolfo II and Irene of New York, Black opened Black-Lentini Ltd. last year to create his own brand of flattery and fun.

One of his fall hits is an acorn-shaped crown that he uses to change the look of the fedora. With a pointed brim that turns up in back, the acorn crown also makes a Robin Hood look. It comes in a number of day and evening styles, with the day ones in many colors of felt. For evening, it is a black velvet acorn with a veil and a fan pin in pearl and diamond stones stuck into the back bow.

Designer Black likes hats for evening, because he thinks of them as fun. He'll forward-tilt a black velvet bellhop hat, run a black satin ribbon around it, make it sparkle with a sunburst of jet stones on the crown, and finish it with a perky, stand-up satin bow in back. It's meant to give a fillip to this fall's many versions of the tuxedo evening suit. For dresses, he whips up frou-frou head accents in feathers and glitter.

When a young designer like Black goes into hats today, he does it with the idea that they're part of the accessory picture.

Beauty Digest

By Diane Robbins, editor Beauty Digest magazine

Clean start

If your hair looks dirty soon after washing, it may be the way you shampoo and rinse. Start by thoroughly wetting head with warm water. Then massage a small amount of shampoo into your hair, paying extra attention to the crown and sides. Rinse for at least two minutes with warm water; then rinse again with cool to cold water to make sure no dirt-attracting shampoo film is left behind.

The blush place

Where you should apply blusher depends on the shape of your face. If yours is long, put blusher directly across the cheekbones in a horizontal line, along the hairline, and around the temples. If your face is round, suck in your cheeks and apply blusher in the hollows. Add some more to the temples and chin. A square face looks best with blusher directly over cheekbones and swept up to the temples. A heart-shaped face needs color high on the temples and near the hairline.

New Year's Eve reservations off

By The Associated Press
New Year's Eve revelers who drink and drive risk a visit to jail after their night on the town, but staying at home may be in style anyway if hotel and restaurant reservations give any clue.

Several states have enacted tougher drunken driving laws and many areas will have stepped-up police patrols on Friday night. In New Jersey, the drinking age rises from 19 to 21 when the clock strikes midnight.

Imbibers who have second thoughts about hitting the road will be able to get a lift for a happy New Year in some areas, where Good Samaritans will be serving up coffee and transportation to the tipsy.

A number of holiday nightspots report their reservations aren't as heavy as hoped, but some fancier spots say business is booming.

Reservations for the New Year's Eve party at the Marriott Hotel in Omaha, Neb., at $110 a couple, are "below expectations," said Keith Cook, sales manager.

"With all the spending for Christmas, people just are not in the mood to spend more money because there's not much money to spend in the first place with the economy," Cook said.

The New Year's Eve ticket price has been cut from $10 to $5 at the Hummingbird, an Indianapolis nightclub where co-owner Steve Magers says business has fallen 40 percent.

But at New York's Waldorf-Astoria, where the party will be nationally televised on CBS, reservations are running ahead of last year, said spokeswoman Melinda Lande. The cost ranges from $200 to $225 a person.

Thousands are expected to show up for an equally famous celebration across town when a lighted "Big Apple" drops down 1 Times Square Tower at midnight. At nearby Nathan's, the famous fast-food restaurant expects to sell 3,400 to 4,000 hot dogs for $1.03 apiece.

President Reagan and his wife, Nancy, will be spending New Year's Eve at the 200-acre estate of millionaire publisher Walter Annenberg in Palm Springs, Calif.

To the northeast, and a few hours later, more than 1 million people are expected in Pasadena for the 94th annual Tournament of Roses Parade.

Influential Nicaraguans deserting Sandinistas

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — An increasing number of influential people, many of whom helped the Sandinistas seize power in Nicaragua 3½ years ago, are turning against the government there because of its radical policies.

Some like Eden Pastora, a top Sandinista fighter in the bloody one-year battle that toppled the authoritarian government of President Anastasio Somoza in July 1979, actively want to overthrow the Sandinista regime, objecting to what they view as a crackdown on freedom and dissent in Nicaragua.

Most of the opponents charge the Sandinistas have reneged on promises to set up a free, pluralistic society and are trying to impose Marxism on the country and building up its armed forces with Soviet equipment and Cuban help.

They object to press censorship, the ruling three-man junta's growing control over the economy, jailing of dissident business leaders and restrictions on travel inside and outside the country.

But the majority of these opponents say they are still revolutionaries and steer clear of the 17,000 pro-Somoza Nicaraguan exiles in Miami, Fla.; neighboring Honduras, and other Central American countries. About 2,500 of these exiles were national guardsmen under Somoza.

An estimated 36,000 Nicaraguans now live outside their homeland. The nation, about the size of New York state, has an estimated population of 2.5 million.

The latest major defector is Francisco Fiallos, 36, Nicaraguan ambassador to the United States. Fiallos quit the post Dec. 18, a week after government censors prohibited La Prensa, Nicaragua's only opposition newspaper, from publishing a controversial interview he gave one of its reporters.

Fiallos urged the junta to hold free elections. "But more than anything," he said, according to a transcript of the interview obtained by The Associated Press, "it is indispensable that there exists in Nicaragua unrestricted freedom of the press for the exercise of true and authentic democracy."

"I could not continue representing a country that prohibits me from presenting my point of view to the Nicaraguan people," he told a news conference in Washington, D.C., after he resigned.

Fiallos' predecessor, Arturo Cruz, quit about a year ago for similar reasons and now lives in the United States. Among other diplomats who resigned is Alvaro Taboada, ambassador to Ecuador.

Christmas at the White House

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Santa Claus has come and gone at the White House. President Reagan took some of his aides with him to this desert playground; others remained home in Washington, and others scattered across the country for brief vacations.

A peek under the White House Christmas tree turned up some information about the sort of gifts that were exchanged this year.

For Michael K. Deaver, deputy chief of staff, and several others at the top of the White House hierarchy, 1982 was the Year of the Diet.

In fact, Deaver claims such success at dieting that he is putting together a book on the subject. So, for 1983 — the year in which Deaver had threatened to quit so that he could go into business and boost his $60,000 salary — he was given a sabbatical. Not for business, mind you, but to take off on a "book tour" to promote his opus on every morning television show across the land.

To the deputy chief dieter, Richard G. Darman, assistant to the president and deputy to the chief of staff, there will be a new wardrobe. He insists on wearing his prediet suits, bunched up under his belt, as a public display of his dieting prowess.

James A. Baker III, the chief of staff, is about as well placed as anyone in the White House, and usually knows what is going on. But of late, he has been concerned about unauthorized news leaks. So, a box of corks was in order, and that is what he got.

For William P. Clark, Reagan's national security adviser, there will be an end to rumors. Clark, who began work in the Reagan administration as deputy secretary of state, came over to the White House last January to replace Richard V. Allen.

As one of Reagan's old-time friends, rumors have surrounded Clark. The latest is that he will replace Baker as chief of staff. Of course, 1983 could also see continued rumor about Clark — if he is the man spreading them.

Larry Speakes, the chief deputy press secretary, is fond of country and western music. He hits the C&W joints whenever he can on the road with Reagan. So, he should be pleased with his tourist guide listing each such bar in each town on the president's itinerary.

Kenneth Duberstein, Reagan's ace liaison chief on Capitol Hill, received 26 Christmas presents: 26 rookie Republican congressmen to replace the 26 members the GOP lost in the House in the election.

James Rosebush, the chief of Nancy Reagan's staff, also got his wish: a new pocketbook. One of his duties includes carrying Mrs. Reagan's purse, when it gets in her way. In fact, it happens so much that she has agreed to carry handbags that are color coordinated with his outfits, rather than with her own.

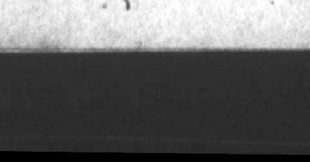

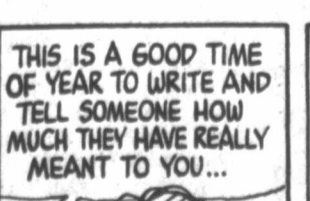

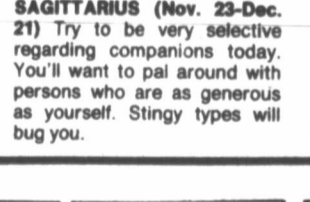

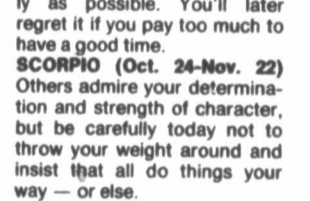

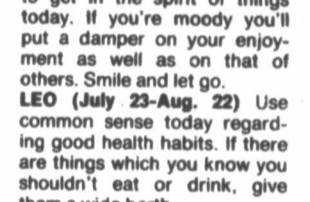

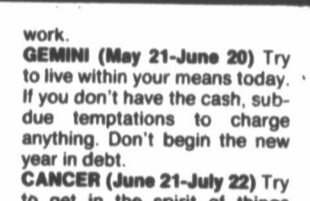

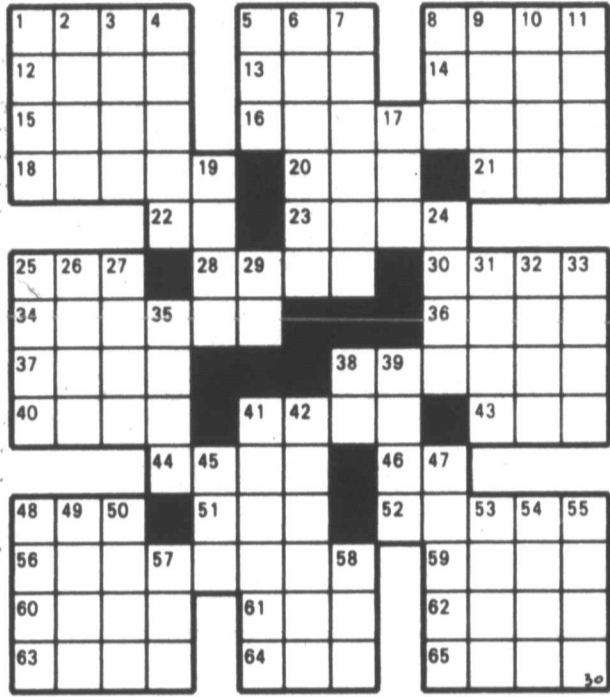

And, for the anonymous White House staff member who helped make up this list, there was a tip of the hat.

Allies who have been helpful to you in the past are likely to be even more so this coming year. You have several staunch supporters who will figure in your successes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll probably have more fun today if you spend time with a few select friends, rather than involve yourself with a large group. Be discriminating. Predictions for Capricorns in 1983 are now ready. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is one of those days when you're not likely to have everything go your way. However, you'll still have a good time if you're prepared to make compromises.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is not a good day to try to mix business and pleasure. If you're socializing, don't bring along your workaday contacts.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Social graces are extremely important today, so take pains to be polite to all. If you make a bad impression, it won't be easily erased.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be complimentary to those who warrant it, but don't try to use flattery today in order to butter up another. This play won't work.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to live within your means today. If you don't have the cash, subdue temptations to charge anything. Don't begin the new year in debt.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to get in the spirit of things today. If you're moody you'll put a damper on your enjoyment as well as on that of others. Smile and let go.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Use common sense today regarding good health habits. If there are things which you know you shouldn't eat or drink, give them a wide berth.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If your companions are in a fun-loving mood today, let go and get in the swing of things. Try not to introduce serious topics into lighthearted repartee.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Have fun and enjoy yourself today, but try to do so as inexpensively as possible. You'll later regret it if you pay too much to have a good time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Others admire your determination and strength of character, but be carefully today not to throw your weight around and insist that all do things your way — or else.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try to be very selective regarding companions today. You'll want to pal around with persons who are as generous as yourself. Stingy types will bug you.

Pampa advances to Fort Worth finals

FORT WORTH—When the going gets tough, the tough get going. That saying may be overused, but it sure fits the Pampa Harvesters.

Down by seven points to Fort Worth Paschal with 3:43 to go in the game, the Harvesters rallied to knot the score at the end of regulation time, then won in overtime, 62-60, Wednesday night in the semi-finals of the Lions Club Tournament.

Pampa will now meet the Fort Worth Dunbar-Southwest winner at 8:30 p.m. tonight for the tournament championship.

After the score was deadlocked four times in the first quarter, Paschal jumped ahead of the Harvesters in the second quarter and led right up until the closing minutes.

Paschal was leading, 55-48, when Pampa made its move. Phil Jeffrey hit two free throws. Terry Faggins scored on a fast break layup and Mike Nelson tipped in a missed shot to pull Pampa within one, 55-54, with 1:40 to go. After Morris Taylor canned a foul shot for Paschal, Craig Chapin knotted the score at 56-all with his 15-foot jumper. After a Paschal turnover, the Harvesters got the ball back with 0:31 left, but couldn't score again to send the game into overtime.

The three-minute extra period belonged to the Harvesters, who ran off six straight points on two baskets by Nelson and a pair of free throws by Chapin.

Nelson, who was held to only four points in the first half by Paschal's double-team efforts, rallied for 18 points to lead the Harvesters. Coyle Winborn and Jeffrey tossed in 14 points apiece while Chapin added 10. Ferguson had four points and Paul Prentice had two to round out the Harvester scoring attack.

Taylor paced Paschal with 19 points. Pampa is now 12-2 for the season while Paschal is 11-5.

Nelson poured in 33 points Wednesday morning as Pampa crushed Western Hills, 76-52, in the quarterfinals. Winborn followed with 13 points while Jeffrey had 11, Marty Cross six, Paul Prentice four, Alfred Buchanan three, Ferguson, Chapin and Randy Harris two points apiece.

Paschal pulled off one of biggest upsets of the season when it edged powerful DeMatha of Washington, D.C., 56-55, in the other quarterfinal game Wednesday morning. DeMatha was ranked No. 2 in the nation and was the tournament's defending champion.

Alabama downs Illinois in Bryant's last hurrah

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Bear Bryant won't have college football to kick around any more.

The final majestic line in the record book reads 323 victories, 85 defeats and 17 ties in a 38-year head coaching career, but it is the winning, winning, winning — the absolute refusal to settle for anything less than the best — which future generations of football fans will recall when they remember Paul William "Bear" Bryant.

The Bear and the Crimson Tide of Alabama wrote the final chapter to a fabulous career Wednesday night and sent the 69-year-old coach shuffling off into retirement with an exciting but sloppy 21-15 triumph over Illinois in the 24th annual Liberty Bowl despite a record 423-yard passing barrage by Tony Eason of the losers.

"This is a happy occasion, as well as a sad one, for everybody on our team because we not only lost a coach, but we lost a man who has been very inspirational in most of our lives," said split end Jesse Bendross, who scored Alabama's second touchdown on an end-around in the third period.

The Bear, of course, was not going to change his act at what he called "my last roundup," and he bowed out insisting as he had so many times in the past that "we won in spite of me. I had no input in what they were doing. The staff did a heck of a job. I don't recall making the right decisions all night."

To a man, the Alabama players sounded like Bryant clones, refusing to take any credit.

"I don't feel too good about the offensive player award because I made a mistake that could have cost Coach Bryant his last game," said quarterback Walter Lewis, who directed scoring drives of 76, 50 and 66 yards but fumbled the ball away at his 24 with 4:38 left to play.

The outstanding player award went to cornerback Jeremiah Castille, who had three of Alabama's seven interceptions, batted down a two-point conversion pass to preserve a 14-12 lead early in the final period and forced a fumble after Illinois completed a pass at the Alabama 2-yard line in the second quarter.

As it has so often, Alabama's defense kept the Bear from going out a loser.

"I am just thankful and happy that we could win one for Coach Bryant just like Notre Dame did for the Gipper," said linebacker Robbie Jones, whose interception at his 30 with 16 seconds left finally put Illinois down for the count.

NBA Roundup

76ers down Mavericks in overtime

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia 76ers used some movie time — and overtime — to beat the Dallas Mavericks.

"We saw the films from the game they almost won at Los Angeles and we knew we'd have our hands full," said 76ers Coach Billy Cunningham after Wednesday night's 126-116 National Basketball Association victory over the Mavericks.

"The players knew that when we came to Dallas that it wasn't going to be a pushover. They knew they would have to play to win."

The 76ers, the NBA's winningest team with a 24-5 record, needed a 32-point, 24-rebound performance from Moses Malone and 36 points from Andrew Toney to put down the stubborn Mavericks. Malone's rebound total was the most ever against the Mavericks by one player.

The 76ers, who have won 11 of their last 13 games, scored 10 straight points in overtime, burying Dallas 14-4.

"I've had teams score nothing in overtime and I've had teams hold the other team to nothing," said Mavericks Coach Dick Motta. "It was disappointing to come that close and lose."

The 76ers now are 10-3 on the road and 5-0 against the Mavs.

In other NBA games, it was New Jersey 104, Atlanta 99; New York 91, Cleveland 87; Wau,oppers 115

Artis Gilmore scored 24 points and Mike Mitchell added 21 as San Antonio defeated San Diego and snapped a three-game losing streak. The loss was San Diego's 29th in 30 road games.

Leading 80-75 late in the third quarter, San Antonio ran off 13 straight points to go ahead 93-75 with 1:03 left in the period. The Clippers never got closer than six points the rest of the way.

Seattle 109, Utah 92

Gus Williams scored 20 points to lead a balanced attack as Seattle rolled past Utah. Seattle played without center Jack Sikma, who sprained his right ankle in practice Tuesday.

Indiana advances to Classic finals

By JOHN NELSON

Bobby Knight was his usual, unassuming self.

His Indiana basketball team had just demolished Grambling 110-62 in the inaugural Hoosier Classic, and Knight was fielding questions about how it felt to be No. 1.

"We're still a long way from being a great team," he said. "It'll take a while to become that kind of ballclub, and if there's anyone who knows what it takes to be a great basketball team, it's me."

Indiana's 110 points were the most they have scored since their undefeated season, when they ran up 114 against Wisconsin. The victory raised the Hoosiers' record to 9-0.

The Hoosiers meet Nebraska in the title game of the tournament tonight at Indianapolis. Stan Clouby scored 14 points to boost the Cornhuskers over Cornell, 66-56.

Rated teams were involved in seven other tournaments. Fourth-ranked Virginia whipped Richmond 102-85 in the first round of the Richmond Times-Dispatch Invitational. No. 6 Alabama clobbered 10th-ranked Georgetown 94-73 in the title game of the Winston Tire Classic, seventh-rated St. John's beat Wake Forest 72-65 in the title game of the ECAC Holiday Festival, and No. 15 Nevada-Las Vegas upset eighth-ranked Tennessee 70-54 in the final of the Las Vegas Holiday tournament.

Ninth-ranked Iowa defeated Seton Hall 85-63 for the championship of the Rochester Classic. No. 12 Missouri beat Hawaii 73-58 in the semifinals of the Rainbow Classic, and No. 16 Villanova beat 19th-ranked Tulsa 75-68 on the opening night of the Cabrillo Classic.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Kentucky whipped Kansas 83-62 and 14th-rated Syracuse defeated Canisius 109-76.

Top Ten

Forward Jim Miller scored a season-high 19 points to pace Virginia over Richmond. Ralph Sampson added 18 points as the Cavaliers ran off nine straight points to take a 25-12 lead six minutes into the game. Virginia, 9-1, meets undefeated Old Dominion, which beat Virginia Commonwealth 90-85, for the tournament title tonight in Richmond.

Top sports announcers named

By DAVE GOLDBERG

AP Sports Writer
Not another list of the year's top performers?

Yes. Another list of the year's top performers. This one for television.

BEST PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER (Baseball): Vin Scully, who will finally get network exposure next season. Followed by Al Michaels, the best of the Scully clones. Professor emeritus: Red Barber, the master they both emulate.

BEST PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER (Football): Keith Jackson. He's become a bit predictable, but he knows his sport. If ABC would only stop embarrassing him by putting him on baseball instead of Michaels...

BEST PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER (Basketball): Dick Enberg. But turn down the volume a bit.

BEST BOXING ANNOUNCER: Howard Cosell can be very good or very terrible. Tim Ryan is knowledgeable and understated. Marv Albert is knowledgeable and overstated. Larry Merchant is knowledgeable but underexposed on Home Box Office.

BEST GOLF ANNOUNCER: ...uh. You know. That guy with the British accent.

BEST TENNIS ANNOUNCER: Jim Simpson, even if limited to cable. Bud Collins suffers from terminal cuteness.

BEST ALL-AROUND: Michaels by a head over Enberg with Bob Costas coming up on the outside.

BEST COLOR MAN (Baseball): Jim Palmer. Too bad he can still pitch.

BEST COLOR MAN (Football): Tie. John Madden and Merlin Olsen. One speaks loudly, one speaks softly, but each knows whereof he speaks.

BEST COLOR MAN (Basketball): Tie. Billy Packer and Al McGuire. Though neither's as good without the other.

MOST CONSISTENTLY INTERESTING (AND LEAST WATCHED) SPORTS SHOW: ABC's Sportsbeat. On which Howard really does tell it like it is.

BIGGEST MYSTERY: The whereabouts of Tom Brookshier.

MOST TALKED ABOUT PERFORMANCE: Cosell at the Holmes-Cobb fight, which eclipsed the fight itself. Enhanced all the more when Howard said a few days later that he would do no more boxing.

Brazile named to pro bowl

HOUSTON (AP) — Linebacker Robert Brazile is the only Houston Oiler chosen for the National Football League's Pro Bowl this year and running back Earl Campbell will miss the game for the first time in his five-year career.

Brazile, Pittsburgh's Jack Lambert and Ted Hendricks of the Los Angeles Raiders will start at linebacker for the American Football Conference. It will be Brazile's seventh consecutive Pro Bowl game.

The game between all-star teams from the American and the National Conference will be played in Honolulu Feb. 6. Players were chosen by head coaches and members of the NFL Players Association.

Seven Cowboys named to pro bowl roster

DALLAS (AP) — Seven members of the Dallas Cowboys have been named to the National Football Conference roster for the 1983 Pro Bowl.

Five of the all-pro selections will start in the Feb. 6 contest, which will be played in Honolulu.

The honorees include quarterback Danny White, who will be making his first trip to the post-season contest.

Offensive starters will be running back Tony Dorsett, currently the leading rusher in the National Football League, and tackle Pat Donovan, who will be playing in his fourth Pro Bowl. It is the third time Dorsett has been named to the team.

Cowboys' starters on defense will be end Ed "Too Tall" Jones, tackle Randy White and second-year cornerback Everson Walls, who made the team in 1981 after leading the NFL in interceptions during his rookie year. Walls again leads the league in pickoffs heading into the final week of regular-season play.

Jones will be making his second Pro Bowl appearance. White has been named to the team five times previously.

Stratline: Sports

By L.D. Strate

Texas Tech University basketball games will be carried over KSNZ (1340) in Pampa, beginning Jan. 5.

"We're very pleased that we will be carrying the Red Raider games live and exclusively, starting with the first Southwest Conference game against SMU," said Phillip Zeni, managing partner of KSNZ.

Because of an earlier agreement to broadcast all Pampa High games, Zeni stressed that the Harvesters will have priority over the Tech schedule.

"There is only one scheduling conflict between the two schools, that will occur on Jan. 11 when the Harvesters play Borger," Zeni said.

Most Tech broadcasts will begin at 7 p.m., starting with the pre-game show, followed by the game and the post-game interviews and summaries.

Sixteen Southwest Conference games are included on the schedule, starting with the Tech-SMU game Jan. 5. The final game will be aired March 5 between Tech and Texas A & M.

Kellye Richardson, who starred for Pampa High and Amarillo College on the basketball court, is having an outstanding year for the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

The 5-10 junior is averaging 12.4 points per game (third on the team) and around five rebounds per game for the Red Raiders, who have a 5-3 record so far this season. Her seven assists in Tech's 77-70 loss to Stanford ranks her fifth among the single game all-time assist leaders.

Kellye isn't the only basketball talent in her family. Her younger sisters, Keava and Kerri, play for the Lady Harvesters. Keava, a 5-11 senior, leads the team in both scoring (13.7 ppg) and rebounding (7.0 rpg). Keava, a 5-10 sophomore, is averaging around six points per game.

A caller believes he can stump Putt Powell, Amarillo Globe-News know-everything sports columnist.

The question: What longtime Pampa businessman was head coach of the basketball, baseball, football and track teams at Portales High School in 1916?

The former coach grew up in Snyder and was raised in Portales. He played football for the U.S. Occupational Forces Sixth Infantry in Germany during World War I.

Put that in your crystal ball, Putt.

Persons who would like to know the answer may call the Pampa News sports department.

Here's my predictions for the four major bowl games—Sugar: Penn State 10, Georgia 7; Cotton: SMU 21, Pitt 6; Orange: Nebraska 14, LSU 0; Rose: UCLA 20, Michigan 19.

Flashback: Dec. 1960. Jessie Smartt became the first Pampa bowler this year to bowl a 700 series. Smartt became only the fourth bowler in city history to produce a sanctioned 700 series. Others were Leon Harris, Howard Musgrave and Buzz Hoover. Smartt had an even 700.

Mustangs capture Sun Carnival championship

By The Associated Press

Southern Methodist won the Sun Carnival Basketball Tournament in El Paso and Rice captured the consolation game in the Merrill Lynch Classic at Dayton, Ohio. But four other Southwest Conference teams found the going a bit tougher during the annual round of holiday tournament play.

Carl Wright scored 14 points to lead the Mustangs to a 53-50 win over Kansas State in the finals Wednesday night.

Rice's Tony Barnett had 18 points — including the tying three-pointer — as the Owls defeated Dartmouth 47-46 in overtime.

It was a different story for Texas A&M, Texas Christian, Texas Tech and Texas.

The Aggies blew a seven-point lead late in the game and lost the championship contest of the Connecticut Mutual Classic to Connecticut, 69-63.

The Horned Frogs fell 84-59 in the championship game of the Big Blue Classic at Logan, Utah.

The Red Raiders dropped a 53-49 decision to Virginia Tech in a consolation semi-final game at the Rainbow Classic in Honolulu.

The Longhorns lost to Santa Clara 76-62 in the first round of the Cable Car Classic in Santa Clara, Calif.

PUT YOUR FURNACE ON PART-TIME

RELIEVE YOUR CENTRAL HEATING SYSTEM WITH A KERO-SUN PORTABLE HEATER—AND SAVE MONEY.

Stay warm. Save money. Put a Kero-Sun portable heater to work for you and give your costly central heating system a break. With its advanced design, a Kero-Sun portable heater is 99.9% fuel efficient—far better than coal, wood, central gas and oil heating. The money you spend on fuel returns to you as heat. And it costs just pennies per hour to run.

In winter, heat a family room or rec room with a Kero-Sun portable heater and turn down your central heat. In the spring and fall, use one to heat a kitchen or workshop without firing up your central heating.

There are Kero-Sun portable kerosene heaters for nearly every kind of home and business. All are easy to operate. Smokeless and odorless in operation. Safety tested and listed by Underwriters Laboratories.

Give your furnace a holiday. Stay warm and save money with a Kero-Sun portable heater. See our full line today.

KERO-SUN HEATERS SAVE YOU MONEY WHILE THEY KEEP YOU WARM.

Wilderness center teaches youths responsibility

By PHIL LATHAM
The Lufkin Daily News

DAVY CROCKETT NATIONAL FOREST, Texas (AP) — It is a bumpy road that leads to Hope Center for Youth.

If nothing else, the dirt path that winds into the middle of the national forest is enough to convince a visitor that this is the wilderness.

But the boys and girls, ages 10 to 17, who come to one of the camps here are used to being isolated. For most of their lives they have lived on society's periphery. Hope Center is just another stop on the line.

They come here in various ways. As the victims or perpetrators of rape. As drug abusers or prostitutes. Many have been involved in car thefts or robberies. A few have had contact with murder.

With a boys' camp about 10 miles from Apple Springs and a girls' camp near Groveton, Hope Center is a receiving point for juveniles who for one reason or another have not followed the rules. For many, it is the last chance to adjust or be sent to the Texas Youth Council juvenile facilities. For others, it is a place to go after failing at the TYC.

But if the young people here can be classified as juvenile delinquents, they generally leave differently.

By independent studies, six months after leaving Hope Center — the time when the juveniles would be most likely to return to their former ways — 85 percent of those who go through the program are still in school and have not had any additional "negative" contacts with the police or court systems.

"Not everybody leaves here a perfect angel," the boys' camp director, Lyndon Langford, says. "We don't expect that. What we do expect is for them to leave here responsible adults who can function responsibly in society."

"Responsibility is the password at Hope Center. It is drilled incessantly each day by counselors and teachers. The campers are told repeatedly that the help they receive here will come mostly from within, that no one will do the work or make the decisions for them.

Both Langford and the girls' camp director, Jeff Jamar, say that making the choice to enter the camp is the first step for a juvenile in learning what responsibility really means.

"Entering is their decision, but they understand before coming that leaving is the choice of many others," Langford said.

To leave, a youth must get permission of his group of 10 or 12 campers and three counselors. Then Langford or Jamar arrange meetings with all the other people who would be affected by the release — family, juvenile probation officers and school officials.

"If anyone cannot be convinced to agree, the boy or girl stays at Hope Center.

"The average stay at the boys' camp is 12 to 13 months, while girls usually stay about 11 or 12 months.

Before entering the camp the juvenile must make three commitments: that he will not try to run away, that he will work on his own problems as quickly as possible so that someone else may take his place and that he will help the other people in his group work out their problems.

In return, Hope Center promises no one will be kicked out of the camp, no matter what the offense.

"We expect some problems," Langford said. "That's why we are out in the woods. Nobody gets too excited if the warehouse gets broken into. There aren't any punishments here. We want to work out the cause of the problem.

"If a kid goes out on homedays and steals a car, we will go to the court and tell them we will take the kid back. We will always take them back."

Each juvenile is responsible for building and maintaining their living areas, and a decision not to cooperate can lead to serious consequences.

"They find that if they don't cooperate they don't get a structure built," Langford said. "If they don't get a structure built and it rains, somebody is going to get wet or a lot of people are going to be crowded when the others move in."

Langford and Jamar say the designing, building and maintaining of structures is one of the most important therapeutic aspects of life at Hope Center.

"They feel a sense of pride when they finish something," Langford said.

The buildings, made of untreated pine poles, usually last less than a year and so everyone at the camp gets a chance to build them.
