Sunday School Lesson
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance
TEXT: JOHN 4:37-42

The theme of this lesson is "Jesus Winning Souls." It deals with the aftermath of the meeting of Jesus with the woman of Samaria at Jacob's well, and in view of all the circumstances it might fittingly have been called "The Unconventional Christ."

There and there in the Gospels we have incidents that show quite strikingly how unconventional Jesus was in relation to the customs of his day. Certain Pharisees who were careful to mingle only with their own sort, complained that He received sinners and ate with them. Some who were meticulously careful about cleanliness complained that He ate with unwashed hands. It was not that they also had washed them with their tears. Here in our neighboring village to secure food were amazed when they found Jesus, upon their return, conversing with this woman of Samaria.

To be conversing in a public place with a woman was against the custom of the day; and this against a convention was all the more marked when it concerned a woman of the Samaritans, with whom the Jews had no dealings. The Samaritan woman was greatly impressed as Jesus in His conversation not only showed that He knew her, but revealed her to herself. There was apparently a moral awakening there, because the woman was so impressed and aroused that she went into the city, telling of this remarkable man and saying, "Come see a man, who told me all things that ever I did; can this be the Christ?"

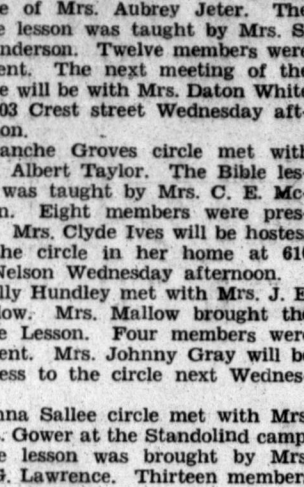

The men of the city came out to meet Jesus on the woman's testimony; and the record concerning them is very satisfactory. They were impressed not only with the wonderful power of the Master, but they evidently gave themselves to Him in faith, as the text witnesses that they believed not because of what she had said, but because of what they had discovered in the Christ for themselves.

In the interval between the woman's departure for the city and the coming out of the men, Jesus took occasion to say to the disciples some deep and pertinent things concerning their privilege and responsibility. When they showed Him the food and were surprised that He did not quickly eat, He said, "I have meat to eat that ye know not." The disciples were frankly puzzled, wondering where He had secured food, but Jesus followed this up with the mystical saying, "My meat is to do the will of him that sent me."

We may call that a mystical saying, but it reflects the practical reality of a life so completely devoted to God's will and God's work that this might be called the very foundation of living.

U. S. WOOL INDUSTRY
Approximately 59,000 persons in the United States today are engaged in the wool-growing industry. The industry produces about 450,000,000 pounds of "grease" wool annually.

Bath And Laundry Trailers Added To Towns-On-Wheels In Crowded War Works Areas

Compact laundry includes tubs, washing machines, ironing boards.

BY NEA SERVICE
COVERED wagon days—in a streamlined version—are coming back. The government is about to launch a long, long trail of trailers to ease the housing situation in overcrowded war-industry communities. They'll be as self-sufficient as the pioneer caravans, and a lot neater.

These mobile units will carry war workers to new jobs and serve as houses for them as long as they are needed. They will include at least the essentials of community living, even down to a rolling "city hall."

Besides a fully-equipped office trailer, the caravan will contain complete laundries-on-wheels, and trailers with full bathing and sanitation facilities. And when the need for the trailer train diminishes, it can be hauled away and put into service elsewhere, leaving no unsightly residue of shacks to clutter the trailer park.

The utility units are expandable and when opened up on the site measure about 20 by 21 feet. However, when folded up to be towed along a highway, they are reduced to approximately 3 by 22 feet. Utility trailers are being made in three styles. Laundry trailers contain laundry tubs, coin-operated washing machines, ironing boards, and adequate space for ironing. Another type contains toilets, lavatories, and showers, complete with mirrors, shower curtains and the usual bathroom equipment. Office trailers are usually an expandable trailer converted into a small administration building.

When the utility trailers are placed on the site, their wheels and undercarriages are removed, just as in the case of the trailers which are used for living quarters. This equipment is usually returned to the factory to be used again.

R. M. Greer with three present. Circle 4 met with Mrs. L. A. Baxter with 14 present. Mrs. O. B. Schiffman will be hostess to the circle at the next meeting.

Circle 5 met with Mrs. Paul Briggs with nine present. The Bible lesson was taught by Mrs. Ellen Chapman. Mrs. Gladys Davis was hostess to circle 6 with 15 members present. Mrs. Ernest Fletcher taught the lesson. Mrs. J. A. Jett will be hostess to the circle at its next meeting.

Mrs. Louis Tarpley was chairman at the reorganization of circle 7. Mrs. Clifford Williams was elected Bible study chairman; Mrs. Ray Miller, co-chairman; Mrs. C. B. Tilstrom, young peoples chairman and Mrs. Emmett Forrester publicity.

Circle 8 met in the home of Mrs. J. C. Volmert with 5 present. Mrs. F. E. Leech taught the Bible lesson. The union will meet at the church Wednesday to study "Things We Should Know."

Hitler Bleeds Europe Further To Keep Going
By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Writer

Hitler is carrying on a gigantic, ruthless campaign to mobilize the economic resources of the entire continent, including labor, as part of his preparations for holding his fortress of Europe against the anticipated Allied blows of 1943.

Daily it becomes more evident that the bond of the global Creeping that the Germans will eat no matter who goes hungry—applies not to food alone but to all wealth and the means of producing wealth. Hitler will stop at nothing in this campaign; he will paralyze all Europe if need be to get what he requires for his war machine.

The fuhrer's meeting with his stooge in charge of Rumania, Marshal Antonescu, announced by Berlin yesterday, was part of this campaign. One reason Antonescu was summoned to headquarters no doubt was to receive orders to put down the rising clamor against the spilling of so much Rumanian blood in Russia and to make sure flow of Russian manpower into the eastern front remained steady. For that purpose Kettel and Zeitler sat at the

Texas Dairymen Concerned Over Supply Of Feed
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—While the administration is putting increasing emphasis on food production, Texas dairymen are concerned about obtaining sufficient feed to assure adequate yield from their herds.

Representative O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, new congressman, has been in conference with officials at the agriculture department, explaining the situation in which dairymen of the San Angelo area find themselves, with stocks of cotton seed meal and cakes on hand sufficient to do for only a few days.

Taking the matter up with Paul Leaming of the Southern division of the agriculture adjustment administration, Fisher learned that the number of animal units in Texas was standing at a peak of 112 per cent, while the number of feed units (primarily grain feeds) is only 90 per cent.

Leaming informed him that the country as a whole is getting short on livestock feedstuffs, more because of the increased numbers of all kinds of livestock than because of a lessening of feed production, and the current shortage is particularly acute in protein supplements, such as cotton seed meal.

Hoping to alleviate the meal shortage in the San Angelo and other areas of Texas, said Leaming, the AAA and other federal agencies are shipping soy beans to Houston and vicinity for processing and distribution.

Fisher said B. F. Vance, AAA administrative officer at College Station, Tex., had been asked to keep in close touch with the department here on future variations in the urgency of the feed supply. The department is understood to be planning a drastic reduction in acreage to be allotted for production of short staple cotton, said Fisher, and would encourage planting of higher oil content than cotton seed. Observing that the bulk of the cotton in West Texas is of less than 1 inch in length, the minimum which government set for the staple to be classed in the essential category, Fisher asked that growers give him their views on the potential change-over. While acknowledging that the return of oil per acre was higher from peanuts than cotton, great numbers of growers undoubtedly would encounter difficulties and possible loss in trying to convert.

Concern about the livestock feed situation also was voiced here by Worth Wright, a foreman on the famous King ranch in South Texas. Visiting with Representative Richard Kleberg of Corpus Christi, one of the owners of the ranch, Wright said that shortage of labor had resulted in a reduced yield in 1942 of Rhodes grass for feeding. Normally, he estimated, the ranch turns out about 100,000 bales. The grass was available this past year and all necessary equipment was on hand, but because of inability to get enough help the output was reduced to about 60,000 bales.

U. S. Cracks Down On Sugar, Coffee From Below Border
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Residents of border communities who have been supplementing their ration allowances of sugar and coffee with purchases in Mexico, where such items are not rationed, are going to have to get along without these additions to the family larder.

The customs bureau has issued instructions to collectors to prohibit individuals from bringing in from Mexico any sugar to supplement their home supplies, and to require the surrender of equivalent ration stamps for any coffee brought in for the same purpose.

Care for my Car for my Country?

WHY SHOULD I?

Sonny, what you do to your car is your business, although chances are you won't be able to get another while the war is on.

But what your daddy does to his car is the nation's business!

The American way of life is geared to the motor car. Every automobile is a vital part of our country's transportation system. It takes the war worker to his job, transports munitions, and carries civilians in their many essential travels which form the basic pattern of U. S. business.

Every car that is laid up for whatever reason places an additional burden on the already over-taxed railroad, street car, and bus systems. That is why cars and tires must be used wisely, must be preserved to play their part in holding war production at maximum.

Your Phillips 66 Service Man is pledged to help you Care For Your Car... For Your Country. And though you drive less miles, don't make the mistake of assuming that your car needs less care.

Reduced driving may actually increase crankcase dilution of oil by unburned fuel... may increase sludge because of added condensation of moisture. Both greatly reduce the motor protection and lubricating efficiency of your oil.

Your battery, with charging time cut down, will need more frequent inspection. And spark plugs must be scientifically adjusted to prevent waste of fuel.

Remember, every Phillips 66 Service Man is specially trained to make your car and your tires last longer and go farther. Enlist his aid, when you stop at any Orange and Black 66 Shield for Phillips 66 Poly Gas, famous for fast starting pep and extra mileage... and Phillips 66 Motor Oil, 100% paraffin base.

Fluidity Of War

The current war industries conversion program is a headache to many communities. It involves more or less shutdown temporarily, which in turn means unemployment, a slowdown in the flow of wage dollars, an upset in the normal routine.

When the need for a shift in production emphasis first was announced, boards of trade and chambers of commerce sent delegations to Washington to protest. These protests did not get far.

Maj. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, chief of ordnance, recently explained the inevitability of such changes in direction with unusual clarity, and illustrated it understandably.

In the British Isles for a time, as we can hardly forget, there was an enormous use of anti-aircraft ammunition against Nazi bombers. American industry had to be geared up to supply the shells.

Then recently there was a period of almost three weeks during which not a single anti-aircraft gun was fired for any purpose. Our production, geared to heavy use, piled up a big reserve.

So long as United Nations industry and materials cannot possibly supply all of everything we need, it would be criminal to keep on turning out millions of unnecessary anti-aircraft shells. So there was a shift. But if, next week or next month, Hitler were to start another major air blitz against Britain, U. S. industry would have to return to the production of such shells as a prime essential.

American war production has outstripped our ability to transport men and material to the battle fronts. We have built up reserves of many weapons. Now we must concentrate on getting them where they are needed for use.

Also, there is need now for changeover from the weapons of defense to those of offense. We need more ships to transport and supply expeditionary forces; more bombers to open the path for our attacking soldiery; more fighters to protect the bombers; more mobile tank busters to demolish Hitler's mechanized forces. Our ordnance observers at the fronts have discovered uses for new weapons and new variations of old ones.

To shift production to supply these needs inevitably will mean unpleasant dislocations for individuals as for industry as a whole. That is unfortunate. But the men who are fighting and dying for us also are suffering dislocations, and you don't hear them beefing about it.

COMMUNISTIC — WARING LINKS A. P. SUIT, WAGE CEILING (Los Angeles Examiner)

With penetrating clearness, Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, in his address before a group of publishers in New York, pointed out the Communistic trend in two New Deal proceedings that to the unobservant eye would seem unconnected.

They are the decree that no one will be permitted to earn more than $25,000 net a year and the suit brought by the Attorney General against the Associated Press on the ground that it operated in restraint of trade, and was therefore a monopoly, because its members voted not to grant an A. P. franchise to a Chicago newspaper.

The $25,000 ceiling decree was taken bodily from the Communist platform of 1928. It is confiscation of property.

The suit against the A. P. naturally accords with the wage ceiling order, as the destruction of liberty of private action accompanies like a shadow the confiscation of property.

Commander Waring lays his finger right on the motive of the astounding decree when he says: "Its purpose is to stifle personal endeavor, private enterprise, free initiative and ambition."

Nothing could be plainer, for how far would we have got if the industrial giants of this country of the past and present had been limited to a $25,000 net income?

We would be unprotected today—enslaved by Germany and Japan.

It is now proposed to put this arbitrary ceiling on ALL income.

That, says Commander Waring, is "just another step along Communistic lines."

Of the Associated Press suit, Commander Waring says boldly—and truly: "It is not intended as a suit to stop a monopoly. It is intended for the very purpose for which it is being done—to stifle private interest, private energy, private ability and say to them: 'you have got to work under a regimented form of life and Government.'"

From the commander of the American Legion these words plainly indicate how the New Dealers in power in Washington are threatening the very war morale of millions of Americans by their Communist decrees and suits:

"There is no use winning this war and winning this peace—and then coming back and finding ourselves living in an alien land or in a land where the rights that we were born to have, that our forefathers gave us, have been taken away from us by regimentation of bureaucrats who only live and exist on the sweat and blood of honest American initiative and labor."

In those words we hear the voice of every real American in service and in every American working for our American way in factory and mine.

AMONG THE COMICS (The Daily Oklahoman)

Are these new deal champions not going rather far afield when they plead so fervently for the Republicans in the next congress to save the country from the evils of inflation?

The next congress is not going to be a Republican congress. Neither house nor senate will be under Republican control. Everything in Washington from the White House to the imitation catercombs will be controlled by a non-Republican caucus. Then why should the representatives of an all-government majority be pleading with a mere minority to save the country from anything whatsoever?

Of course these pleas supply a forecast of what the country can expect. Every mistake and every calamity of any imaginable nature is going to be charged against the Republican party, even if that party lacks the power to control a single department of the government. If inflation comes,

Common Ground

BY R. O. BOYLES "I speak the past-word primer, I give the stem of democracy, by God I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." —WALT WHITMAN.

It seems that the less an individual is capable of managing himself, the more he wants to manage others. And this trait in human nature is less capable manifest in our national ideals. The less capable we are of running our own government, the more we seem to want to ally ourselves with other nations and run the governments of other peoples.

When our government was honest enough to pay its bills as it went along, to tax people on a uniform rate, when it was honest enough to pass no discriminatory laws and more nearly respected the inherent rights of all the people, then we had no itching to run the governments of the rest of the world.

But now that we know no universal rules by which to run our own government, when we cannot furnish employment for all our men, except in war times when our ever-increasing standard of living has vanished, when we have had the worst and longest unemployment in our history, when we have more covetousness and strife and decadence than ever in our history, we hear our leaders proclaiming that we must make a permanent alliance with our allies—so as to educate and police the rest of the world.

We will not do the things we should do at home in the line of respecting the inherent rights of our own citizens, yet we are so vain and proud and arrogant as to think we can teach the rest of the world how to live by the sword rather than by example.

The fact of the matter is, the worse we become as an example, the more we are determined that we are capable of using the sword to bring peace and happiness and prosperity to the rest of the world.

Our nation is like the business man or the farmer, who attempts to do so much more than he is able to do, that he eventually finds his farm grown up with weeds or the sheriff selling his property. We need certainly to pick the beam out of our own eyes before we attempt to pick the meat out of the eyes of the governments of the rest of the world.

Oh, consistency thou art a jewel!

ROOSEVELT, AN INDIAN GIVER

Roosevelt has given organized labor and the farmers "Indian" gifts in the past in exchange for their votes. He gave the farmers bonuses for not producing and gave labor fictitious wages. Now he is obliged to take away from them the right to use these money gifts. He does this by requiring the recipients of this "Indian" credit money to get a coupon in order to be able to use this counterfeit money created by fictitious credit to buy many things. If he continues to refuse to permit the government to tax all consumers in proportion to the benefit the government renders to them he will soon be obliged to issue coupons for most everything.

Yes, if there ever was an "Indian giver," it is Roosevelt. He is obliged to take away from them the things that he would have had them believe he was giving them. He gave them no real money. He gave them counterfeit, manufactured, borrowed credit money from the banks.

God's laws are immutable. If they are violated by an individual or by the government, the violator must pay the penalty. We are paying the penalty in the loss of our self-respect by being obliged to ask the government to make our decisions for us that belong to ourselves to make.

WHERE FLATTERY STARTS

Nothing needs to be guarded against more than flattery. It has often been said that one of the best tests of character is whether or not a man could be flattered or insulted. As Irving Babbalanza remarked, "Man would not succumb so easily to flattery if he did not begin by flattering himself; his self-flattery is closely related in turn to his moral indolence."

It will not be attributed to the administration that has rendered it nearly inevitable: it will be attributed to a minority that will lack control of a single committee of congress.

If inflation comes, the evil will derive from the refusal of the administration to provide adequate safeguards against its ravages. A positive welcome sign to inflation was hung out when the administration brought about the rejection of the Gore anti-inflation bill many weary months ago. The administration has supported the policies of which inflation is made. It took no step towards warding off inflation until western farmers asked for practically the same consideration that the government had already given freely and gladly to the labor forces. Even with inflation knocking at the door the administration is still giving labor about everything that labor asks for.

This is not a Republican administration: it is a new deal administration. And if the country falls before the onrush of inflated prices, nobody but the administration will be to blame. These appeals to the Republicans to protect the administration really belong in the comic supplement.

"The higher type of man seeks everything new wants in himself; the inferior man seeks everything he wants from others."—Confucius.

"HONESTLY BUT FOOLISHLY"

Sen. Sheridan Downey, whose knowledge of Washington should by this time be a wide one, said the other day that United States Department of Agriculture officials have been "honestly but foolishly" misled as to the critical farm situation in this state.

It is hard to understand how this can be so, unless the USDA "experts" have enclosed themselves in the proverbial ivory towers, refusing to hear any word from outside their own walls. California farmers knew six months ago what the situation was going to be. They laid the knowledge before the people in the newspapers, over the radio, in letters to Washington. All this must have been completely ignored.

Washington has for a long time regarded the western part of the United States as some sort of stepchild devoid of enough wisdom to know its own needs. Washington has attempted foolishly to apply the same rules to the west that fit the eastern seaboard.

Now, when the vast production of the west is needed as never before, when the resources of this region are needed to win the war, Washington has not yet awakened to the necessity of allowing western men to have a hand in decisions governing the west.

This sort of "honest but foolish" government must go, or it is going to take a long, long time to win the peace that will follow this war.

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

TOUGHER: The Navy has released a semi-confidential document explaining the facts and philosophy which underlie the renegotiation of billions of dollars of war transactions. In an apparent answer to widespread criticism that these reviews upset industrial planning and eliminate financial gains, the Knox spokesman insists that manufacturers are making big money from the government.

"War contracts have been profitable, he says. 'A few major Navy contractors have published income statements for the first nine months of this year (1942). During nine months these companies earned a larger aggregate profit after taxes than they enjoyed on the average during 1936-1939. Obviously their aggregate profit for all of 1942 will further exceed their 1936-1939 average. Their larger profits, in spite of heavier taxes, arise out of the enormous volume of war business.'"

"Profits are spotty. None of the companies is operating at a loss, although some of them did occasionally during 1936-39. A few of them probably will not net during 1942 as much as they averaged during 1936-39. Half of them, however, have already earned after taxes more in nine months of 1942 than they averaged annually during 1936-39."

"We are told that the tax law will eliminate the possibility of inordinate profits. Actually the tax law cannot do so."

In other words, Uncle Sam is going to get tougher than ever. Both services hope to recoup a total of almost twenty billion dollars.

TYRANNY: The selection of Vice President Wallace rather than the Secretary of State to deliver the address outlining our postwar program was due partly to the fact that he heads the greatest global organization in the world, the Board of Economic Warfare. F. D. R. appreciates the possibilities of this agency so keenly that he sided with the Iowan in an intramural controversy against such able cabinet members as Cordell Hull and Jesse Jones.

In a brochure the V. P. explains, though he does not say so openly, that the B. E. W. is an economic League of Nations in itself. Describing his main objective as one of obtaining strategic materials for the Allies and preventing them from reaching the enemy, he continues: "It is thus clear that 'export control' in this new role becomes only one part of a vast international undertaking which involves foreign relations, international exchange, shipping and rail and truck transportation as well as involves technicians, engineering development, labor, health, housing, capital."

"It is not an isolated little negative force by itself, but part of the entire war effort which seeks to marshal all the forces of the United Nations for complete and absolute victory over tyranny everywhere. It really comes down to a gigantic job of coordination."

LOAN: Commercial bankers and manufacturers of consumers' goods have cracked down on Rolf Nuregen's scheme for "installment buying in reverse" as a means of preserving postbellum prosperity. They are inclined to regard it as a move which would give the government complete control of the production and purchase of commodities.

Many important people consider the Office of Price Administration official's plan desirable but quite impracticable. A questionnaire circulated among financiers, makers of durables and lend-lease stores brought such answers as these: "Wistfully thinking, of course we would like to see something come out of it. My enthusiasm leans toward 'yes,' but the hard business

Around Hollywood

On the sets: After a two-year absence alarming to walk right into a scene which runs uninterruptedly for two minutes and 45 seconds, and which involves a lot of movement and business," ask Warner Baxter, who made such a return recently for Paramount's "Lady in the Dark."

He dropped out of the running two years ago with a nervous breakdown. He decided to begin what he now laughingly terms "a series of annual farewell tours," when the offer of the role of the publisher in "Lady in the Dark" came along.

"Well, what did you do for the two years?" inquired Director Mitchell Leisen, trying to make conversation and set Baxter at ease. "Oh, just puttered around at a lot of hobbies," said the star.

The long scene proceeds. The training of 18 years in Hollywood and eight years on the stage before that, apparently isn't dissipated during a two-year absence. "Print it," orders Director Leisen, a little surprised and quite pleased. "And what did you say you had been doing in those two years?" he grins once more at Baxter.

"Just puttering," repeats Warner. "Just puttering. Oh—and, er, reading an occasional script—just in case."

NOW THE WHIP TAKE

Producer Hunt Stromberg has discovered a new way to remove a lady's clothes without offending the Hays office censors. But it's a good bet that the lady won't let it become a habit.

The lady is a beautiful dish named Stephanie Bachelor, who plays a burlesque queen with Barbara Stanwyck in the film version of Gypsy Rose Lee's "G-String Murders." For a Russian "dance" sequence in the film, Miss Bachelor's partner is a Cossack with a big whip. The censors, of course, will not permit a lady to remove her clothes on the screen but there's nothing in the book about what a whip can do.

So as Miss Bachelor dances, her Cossack partner cracks his whip. First her hat goes spinning into the wings. Then the Russian whisks her long flimsy coat from her shoulders as deftly as a French maid. It's hard on the nerves but easy on the eyes, and Mr. Hays is happy.

NEW DEATH SCENE

Hollywood learned a long time ago that you can steal a picture with a good, heroic death scene. Veronica Lake has such a scene in Paramount's story of Army nurses on Bataan, "So Proudly We Hail." Veronica and a group of nurses, including Claudette Colbert and Paulette Goddard, are captured by the Japs. Veronica sacrifices herself so the other nurses may escape by carrying a hand grenade right up to some unsuspecting Jap soldiers.

There's an explosion and that's all. No pathetic closeups, no dialogue. Just Veronica, grenade in hand, walking to her doom, with the actual death depicted by the expressions on the faces of the other nurses.

And Here's Dope On That $25,000 Salary Limit

By PETER EDSON

Pampa News Washington Correspondent

In addition to putting limitations on salary increases and decreases, regulations of the new Salary Stabilization Unit in the Treasury Department put a ceiling on the amount which may be paid to anyone during a calendar year. These regulations have the effect of limiting salaries to a maximum of $25,000 a year after the payment of federal income taxes.

The way this figures out, a man may not receive more than $54,428.57 gross salary, bonus, etc., in 1942, nor more than $27,200 in 1943. The difference is explained by the fact that income taxes will take a bigger nick out of a salary in 1942 than in 1943.

Income from sources other than salaries—dividends, for instance—are not included in this restriction because when Congress wrote the law, stabilization was limited to wages and salaries. The specific limitation of $25,000 net was not the idea of Congress, however, but a figure set by the President, "to provide greater equality in contributing to the war effort."

While there are very definite provisions in the Salary Stabilization Unit's regulations on salary limitations, these restrictions will apply to only 20,000 or 25,000 people in the United States, so the general rule will be to handle each of these cases separately. Individual attention is necessary, anyway, for no two of these cases will come out alike.

"UNDUE HARDSHIP"

In fact, where an over-$25,000-a-year salary man can establish that the restrictions work an "undue hardship" on him, he will be allowed to make a little more than $25,000—enough more to correct the hardship.

For instance, if Mr. Hundred Grand used to make $100,000 a year net and give $10,000 to charity, it might be a hardship for him to give $10,000 if his net income were limited to $25,000. The government might therefore allow him enough more salary to make the $10,000 donation. But if Mr. H. Grand could get by with a 10 per cent of $25,000 gift to charity, or $2,500, he might not get any extra salary allowance.

On fixed obligations such as insurance payments, payments on indebtedness and payments of federal income taxes, the Salary Stabilization Unit will probably be less charitable. To show undue hardship in being able to meet these fixed financial obligations, the high-salaried man will have to prove that, after resorting to his income from all sources, exempt from stabilization control or unexempt, he is still unable to make these payments without selling some of his assets at a substantial loss.

To give an idea of how hard-hearted Uncle Sam is going to be about such cases, it can be mentioned that having to draw money out of the bank, having to sell real estate, Victory bonds or any other security, or having to pay the price paid for them or even at a little loss, will not be considered an undue hardship.

YOU CAN'T BEAT THE RAP

Beating the salary stabilization rap for the high-salaried guys will be practically impossible. Taking out a lot of new insurance now to give yourself greater obligations won't be allowed. Putting the wife on the payroll to receive part of the husband's salary won't be allowed. Incorporating yourself won't be allowed. All the officials of the Salary Stabilization Unit are experienced income tax collection men. They know the tricks.

Then, too, the penalties for violating the regulations of the Salary Stabilization Unit are particularly severe. There is a basic criminal penalty of $1000 fine or one year in prison for an employer or employee willfully violating regulations.

On top of that, the entire amount of any unauthorized salary payment is to be disregarded by all departments of the federal government. This means they'll be disregarded in determining costs or expenses of an employer having a contract with the United States, in determining ceiling prices under the Emergency Price Control Act or any other law.

Thus, if a movie star's $1000 per week salary were increased to $1500 a week without authorization, the penalty would apply on not just the $500 per week increase, but on the whole $1500.

This wage and salary stabilization order has teeth in it.

Today's War Analysis

By GLENN BABE

Associated Press Staff Writer

Amid the clamor over the political situation in the French empire there is danger of overlooking the fact that French fighting men, dedicated to the liberation of their country, are getting ahead very well with the immediate job of expelling the Axis from Africa.

In fact, during the last few days, while the American fifth and British first and eighth armies have been concentrating on their dispositions for the knockout blows against Nehring and Rommel, nearly all the Allies' African successes have been scored by Frenchmen.

Some of these fight under the Lorraine cross of the Gaule and some under the banner of Giraud. A Fighting French column under General Leclerc has accomplished one of the brilliant military feats of the war, a 1,000-mile advance from the heart of Africa to drive Mussolini's army from the Fezzan region of southern Libya.

In central and southern Tunisia Giraud's men are keeping up a relentless pressure on the enemy, scoring valuable tactical gains and ranging deep into the desert near the Tunisian and Libyan frontiers.

And while the politicians are hickering over the best way of unifying all Frenchmen in a position to fight Hitler, these soldiers of two factions have established contact across the African wastes. Just how is not disclosed; perhaps by plane, perhaps by motor or even by camel patrols traversing the several hundred miles still separating the main forces. But at least they have formed a liaison with every prospect that it will be strengthened until there is a strong French sector between the American and British in Tunisia.

Another heartening indication that Frenchmen are rapidly getting command of the situation in the anti-Hitler alliance is the appearance of the new Lafayette Escadrille on the Tunisian front. The roles have been reversed: while in 1917 American fliers fought in French planes and under French command, in 1943 Frenchmen fly America planes under American command.

Altogether there is plenty of evidence that there are hundreds of thousands of French soldiers more interested in the redemption of their country than in the squabble for political power. Moreover, there are signs that the elements of discord in that tragic turmoil in North Africa, which undeniably confronts the United Nations with one of the most dangerous tests of their unity, are being isolated and dealt with.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Five to ten thousand American housewives will be enlisted in a couple of weeks to help the government run food rationing according to the facts of actual housekeeping.

They will be selected, on a voluntary basis, by regular census-takers so that they will represent a cross-section of American housewives, according to regions, races, income levels, urban or rural status.

Their job will be to tell the office of price administration—through the census bureau—what kinds of food—especially canned, dried or frozen—the people are eating.

Unsung Hero Flyers Serve As Human 'Clay Pigeons' For Anti-Aircraft

Uncle Sam's deadly anti-aircraft guns not only "Keep 'em Falling" when used against enemy planes, but, being geared to fire horizontally, they become double-duty devils that can blast tanks.

By JAMES CULLINANE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

CAMP DAVIS, N. C., Jan. 13.—High on the list of unsung heroes in this war are the Army Air Force pilots stationed here as glorified clay pigeons for the anti-aircraft artillery.

Through skies which even the mosquitoes abandoned long ago as too dangerous, the pilots fly day after day above nests of spitting guns. By night they fly back and forth on instrument courses, blinded by the beams from batteries of 800 million candlepower searchlights.

The pilots are attached to the tow target squadrons at this AAA training center. Wherever they go they see the AAA motto, "Keep 'em Falling," emblazoned on a poster of a plunging plane.

Students Scare 'Em
For the vicious 90 mm. cannon the pilots flying at 10,000 feet tow a wind sock 28 feet long and 7 feet in diameter 3000 feet behind their plane.

"When a real gun crew is firing, they hit the sock," one of the pilots explained, "but when those students are firing—One time I saw four shells burst right in front of my plane. Then four more burst right behind me. I figured they couldn't miss me the next time, so I got away from there."

Sometimes the tow planes come down with pieces of shrapnel or machine gun bullets in them, but not often. "They haven't downed a plane here yet," the pilots boast.

To test the marksmanship of the crews of the automatic weapons batteries, the pilots swoop down to 1,800 feet, towing long flags behind them.

Stratosphere Not Safe
And as these realistic tests go on, officers of the anti-aircraft artillery board are at work in a low white building here on plans to make even the stratosphere untenable for war planes.

Already, say these tight-lipped officers, American secret plane locators and the fast-firing, sleek 90-mm. gun (it shoots 18 shells a minute) are blasting enemy bombers out of the sky if they come below 25,000 feet. Dive bombers—the terror weapon unleashed by the Germans over Poland, the Lowlands and France—are becoming obsolete under fire from the 40-mm. gun, the Swedish Bofors cannon which shoots 120 shells per minute.

Ground strafing of moving troops has been made suicidal, say the AAA officers, by the American 50 and 30 caliber machine guns which spit 650 bullets a minute into the sky.

Whether the United States has an anti-aircraft gun which can reach into the stratosphere will first be known when a sealed cabin Nazi bomber is blown to pieces. But, says an AAA board member:

"We can send shells wherever man can take airplanes. The bigger the gun the higher it can fire."

The 90-mm. guns are the darlings of this anti-aircraft artillery training center. These "Gay 90's" fire shells with fuses which can be set to explode at and pre-determined range.

Rival crews manning the 40-mm. automatic cannon insist that the "Gay 90" is too slow—that the "40" is really the pilot's nightmare. The "40" hurls 120 shots a minute into the air and can tear a plane to pieces at 10,000 feet.

Vote Contest Set Wednesday

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—Texas' new legislature was in adjournment today—preparing for further organizational activity next week which will pave the way for the beginning of major lawmaking processes.

Members were awaiting the naming of standing committees by presiding officers of house and senate.

Ahead of these appointments however was the inauguration next week of Governor Coke R. Stevenson and Lieut.-Gov. Elect John Lee Smith.

Farm Labor Supply Termed Most Pressing Problem In Pampa Area

Farm labor to plant and harvest the additional food crops which American farmers are being urged to produce by leaders of the United States and the other United Nations to produce in 1943, under the national farm mobilization program, is the most pressing manpower problem in the Pampa area, according to Lonnie Hood, manager of the local United States employment service office.

"Plans are being developed, according to Mr. Hood, to recruit and distribute the available workers in this section.

"The United States employment service, in cooperation with the farmers, the workers, the USDA war board and other groups, aided in meeting the farm labor problem in this locality in handling the 1942 crops," said Mr. Hood. "This office made 1,385 farm placements last year. We are now developing plans to aid in furnishing labor to produce the crops in 1943, in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture, other national and state agencies, farmers, organizations, and individual farmers.

"Last year, this office handled 743 migratory farm workers. We know now that the number of migratory workers who normally work the crops will be much smaller in 1943. This means that handling the new crop will require the utmost cooperation between all farmers, workers, farm and community organizations, and government agencies. Successful methods of recruitment of persons who can do farm work full-time or part-time in 1943, which were used last year, will be used again, as well as some new methods, now being developed. The USES will endeavor to recruit every man, woman and youth who can work full-time or part-time in handling the 1943 crops, and to distribute all available help equitably among the farmers. This program is going to require the services of everyone who can aid with the farm work, to handle the vitally needed food crops that we are so urgently asked by our government to produce," said Mr. Hood. "We are making the USES office in the local community a clearing house for problems of labor supply and demand. Likewise, the USES office is the place where everyone who wants to help by doing full or part-time work should go to find out how best to render that service."

Preferential Oil List Prepared

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—A new preferential list of fuel oil and gasoline consumers in the petroleum-short east was promised today by Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

Ickes said he was working with the office of price administration and the War Production board on a substitute for the cancelled original list, which omitted amusement places but gave all other fuel oil consumers equal rating.

Cancellation of the original list as decreed by Ickes yesterday restricted eastern gasoline and fuel oil re-sellers and industrial and commercial consumers to a ten-day petroleum supply limit.

This restriction, Ickes said, was intended to "provide for more equitable wartime distribution of the limited amount of petroleum products on the East coast."

Excepted from the restriction were homeowners' fuel oil tanks, filling stations, suppliers' bulk terminals and refinery storage.

Informed sources who declined to be named said the new preferential list would be less liberal than the old, and probably would designate classes which would not be allowed to get petroleum unless supplies were ample after others' needs had been filled.

The restriction order also expanded Ickes' authority over delivery of motor fuel and fuel oil to secondary suppliers, who buy stocks brought into their zone by others, and lifted restrictions on eastern inter-zone transfer of supplies.

The office of price administration announced it would make new photographers eligible for C gasoline coupon books for transporting non-portable equipment.

Photographers who qualify under the amendment, effective January 20, will be eligible for sufficient gasoline to take pictures for their publications.

Representative Hits Suit Against A. P.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The justice department's anti-trust suit against the Associated Press is construed by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) as a move by "bureaucrats" to break up the free association of editors of a free press.

Calling for "investigation and punishment" of what he termed "the great misdeed of attacking our free press," Shafer inserted in the Congressional Record yesterday a statement characterizing the suit as "An attempt against the life of our entire body politic."

Shafer, a former newspaperman, contended the purpose of the suit was to obtain an Associated Press membership for a publisher whom he identified only as "a person of tremendous wealth," who was "induced to take some of his millions and start a so-called newspaper dedicated to producing 60 tons of mercury daily is being imported from the United States for the area, the newspaper said.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"A lot of storekeepers in town are worrying about being able to get help these days, Judge. Men are mighty scarce and getting more so all the time."

"I know. Even the big companies are having quite a job getting them. Yep, and they need 'em too. Take the beverage distilling companies for example...they need a lot of manpower. Though they're not making whiskey any more, they're doing a 24-hour-a-day job of turning out alcohol for gun powder and synthetic rubber for the government."

"Makes me think back to the days before repeal when a powerful number of people were making liquor, too...only they were a bunch of law-flouting criminals doing it behind closed doors. And the government wasn't collecting a billion dollar excise tax either. Ever stop to wonder where the government could get all its war alcohol today if it weren't for the beverage distillers?"

CAUTION: Protect precious eyesight. Provide the proper light where close work is done:

The eyes of America are at work. Women are using their eyes unsparingly in the war effort—sewing, knitting, studying and other activities necessary for victory. Much of this work entails close vision for long hours at a time—and requires good light!

Good eyesight is a national asset. It should be carefully safeguarded against unnecessary strain. Therefore—whenever you use your eyes for close work—be sure you have the proper lighting where this work is done. Use a good reading or study lamp, one that is designed to provide adequate light without glare. Protect your eyesight!

Baseball Manpower Problem Hits Rickey

Durocher To Report For Physical

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Controlled by the imminent entry of Manager Leo Durocher into military service and with Pete Reiser and other stars already in uniform, President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers says "baseball's manpower question no longer is in the distance—it's here."

Outlook Bad For Minors, Says Terry

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Bill Terry, former star player, team manager and farm system boss of the New York Giants, planned to leave today for his home near Memphis after a flying visit to this city for a purpose, he insisted, not remotely connected with baseball. He came here to attend a banquet last night.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—It's a nature assumption that the first thing a fighting man ought to learn is how to fight and Col. Heinie Miller of the marines comes up with the idea that this requirement should make boxing the No. 1 sport.

Durocher has been notified to report to a draft board for a physical examination, Rickey revealed yesterday, and if he passes this "screen test" presumably will be reclassified immediately from 3A to 1A and placed in line for an early call to colors.

The explosive leader of the Dodgers for the last four seasons will be 38 years old next July 23 and is married, but has no children. He now is at Mayo clinic undergoing an annual checkup and told Rickey by telephone that he would take the draft examination upon his return to his home at St. Louis.

This development caused Rickey to comment that "we're liable to go into spring training with only three infielders—Bill Herman, Arky Vaughan and Alex Kampouris. When things get to this stage the manpower question no longer is in the distance—it's here. It's arrived."

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—A New Haven, Conn., bowling team arrived here by train and prepared to take a taxi to the alleys, many blocks from the city center.

"Bowlers?" inquired the taxi driver, noticing their bags. "Sorry, can't take you. That's pleasure. The subway is just around the corner."

WITH U. S. FORCES IN TUNISIA, Jan. 12 (Delayed) (AP)—White-clad nuns who operate a hospital in a small French town along the central Tunisian front have proved true angels of mercy to many wounded and ill American and British soldiers.

Their kindness has helped a soldier, Lt. Col. Capt. Gustave Stockens of Elizabeth, N. J., commander of the medical unit. "Ordinarily we have to set up in tents," he said.

The nuns also provided laundry equipment for the soldiers and paid for them to set up a delousing unit. Soldiers journey 15 miles or more to the hospital for hot showers, the rarest of luxuries for a front-line fighter.

Every morning they are visited by a plump little middle-aged nun. Although she knows no English she passes a word of greeting or joking gesture with each soldier and her smile is a language universal.

The German battleship Bismarck was chased 1,750 miles before the Royal Navy sank her.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Texas Tech's Red Raiders, who were fellow travelers with the Buffaloes recently on the trip to the Oklahoma City cage tournament, will come here Friday and Saturday evenings, January 15 and 16, as arch rivals in the Border Conference.

Tech has one of the strongest outfits in the conference and the Buffs are defending champions. West Texas State took a pair of games from an unexpectedly strong University of New Mexico five early this week, 60 to 47 and 57 to 46.

The Buffs, preparing for their long road trip next week, ardently wish to win this series with Texas Tech. Such victories would give them a six-game sweep on the eve of their take-off for Buffalo, New York City, and Philadelphia.

Last season the locals lost only three games in a long campaign. They won 16 straight to take the Border Conference crown. Four victories against conference members this season to date are merely warm-ups, since the circuit title will go to the winner of a four-day tournament in Albuquerque, N. M., on February 17-20.

Game time Friday and Saturday will be 7:30 p. m.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Berlin radio broadcast today Tokyo report that the Japanese have begun the construction of rafts made of bamboo, with a surface area of 10,000 square meters, to transport army materials.

The building of such devices more than strongly hints of the shipping losses that the Japanese have suffered.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Reuters, British news agency, reported from Allied headquarters in North Africa today that the three high-ranking British air officials in the Mediterranean conferred recently in North Africa, presaging a three-way aerial attack against Axis forces.

Comments in London said that if the conference resulted in a unification of the air command, the need for which has been expressed in some quarters, one valuable result would be that flyers could shuttle between eastern and western bases in relay bombings of Axis positions.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—High school officials strongly back a program of emphasizing, rather than de-emphasizing, inter-scholastic athletics this year and feel it is their patriotic duty to do so.

This was revealed today by H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations, after a survey of school in 40 states represented in the organization.

"Our survey showed that last September many school officials were on the fence, not knowing whether to continue sports or not," Porter said. "As a result, about five per cent of the schools dropped 11-man football. But now they are almost unanimous in the belief that it is their patriotic duty to carry on."

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 15 (AP)—Hialeah park is giving away some of its famed pink flamingoes. Horsemen haven't yet reached that stage where they are willing to give away their valuable thoroughbreds but they're doing plenty of worrying since the ban on pleasure driving cut short Torpelo park's meeting and cancelled Hialeah's 46-day session.

Some 800 expensive, highly bred and trained race horses are marooned at Hialeah. Another 600 are over at Tropical. And it costs about $1 daily for feed and care of each horse. No wonder horsemen have a problem that is far more difficult to solve than the giving away of the birds.

Warren Wright's Whirlaway and 13 other Calumet farms horses have been sent to New Orleans, as have 17 of Herbert M. Wood's and 10 of Mrs. Ethel Jacobs' horses. But most of those still here are expected to remain through the winter.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Will Harbridge, president of the American League and officials of the Chicago White Sox headed the group of baseball personages attending the funeral today of Billy Webb, head of the White Sox farm system. Representatives of other American and National League officials were among the hundreds at the services.

Webb, who was 47, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He had been associated with the White Sox for the last seven years and for many years was a player in the international league.

DETROIT, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are always unusually secretive about salary matters, but word was out today that the bonus plan had been discarded for the 1943 season.

Last year the Tigers lopped off a tremendous portion of their 1941 payroll, reputedly the highest on record in major league baseball, and to sooth the distressed athletes the club inserted bonus clauses designed to pay extra dividends. Rudy York missed the biggest pot of $5,000 by failing to bat in 100 runs.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 15 (AP)—MIAMIANS may get to see some of the nation's best women golfers in action this winter, after all.

The Miami Country Club Women's Golf association said Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta and Dorothy Tainter of Rollins college are expected to compete in the annual match play tournament beginning Jan. 27.

Showing what the sports-writing business has come to, student papers at the Universities of Arkansas and Pittsburgh now have girl sports editors.

Elaine Kahn of The Pitt News finds it amusing to get letters addressed to "Mr. Elaine Kahn" by folks who apparently think it more likely that a boy would be named Elaine than that a girl would be named sports editor.

Allenstown, Pa., has borrowed the "Whiz Kids" nickname from the University of Illinois for a boys' club basketball team that has hit a 72-point average in 13 games. They're 14-16 year olds.

her out through the French doors and across the terrace, and sat down with her on the bench beside the dark rectangle of water.

"Did he take you away then?" Vaughan Dunbar asked. His voice was quiet indeed.

LIFE STORY

CHAPTER XI

THERE are caprices of human behavior which do not readily give themselves to capture within a neat, explanatory phrase.

"The Colonel? Why, what a perfectly ridiculous question."

"Great heavens! You haven't got the idea I'm sorry for myself?"

Whereupon, Fred West and his cousin Anne and a frowning Mitchell Grace trooped out of the room and got themselves into a motor car and went off to the dancing.

"I suppose not. No, of course it isn't. It was this way." Her words now came in a sudden rush.

"The truth is, Mr. Vaughan Dunbar, that I was never curious enough to ask the Colonel and he never bothered to tell me.

But now he lingered at his desk, looking at them in the dull light as if he might have something more to say.

"What? Oh, yes. Of course." Then he said, "Good night."

"You do go on, don't you?" He patted her hand again. "But tell me—see, you have stirred my interest a great deal—did you never hear anything more of your mother?"

Private Engaged To Ginger Rogers

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15. (AP)—Screen Actress Ginger Rogers, the titan-haired Independence, Mo., girl whose flashing feet first won her fame in a Texas Charleston contest 'way back in the 1920's, is engaged, the Los Angeles Times says today, to marry a private in the U. S. Marine corps, Pvt. Jack Briggs.

Briggs, the newspaper states, once worked as an actor at the same studio with Miss Rogers, but they didn't meet until three months ago—and since then they've seen each other not more than ten times.

WAVES Enlistments To Be Taken Sunday

If Pampa and Gray county women really mean business when it comes to joining the WAVES, the road is wide-open for them to qualify for enlistment on Sunday. By Monday, they'll be regular enlisted members of the service, in the navy just as much as Admiral Nimitz.

The navy recruiters will be in Pampa all day Monday, at the post-office, but women who want to speed their enlistment can take advantage of the offer for the enlistment Sunday.

Here's what the navy will do: If there is a sufficiently large group of prospective recruits to justify the expense, a navy bus will come to Pampa, pick up applicants at noon at The Pampa News, 322 W. Foster, take them to Amarillo for the tests, then return them to Pampa Sunday evening.

Mrs. Lillian McNitt, recruiter here for the WAVES, will be on duty all of tomorrow afternoon at the LaNora theater, to interview applicants and give information on the WAVES.

ed up a 26-mile advance to recapture the town of Sotnikovskoye on the fringes of the Kalmyk region, while other Soviet columns expanded their wedge along the Rostov-Batu railroad. One spearhead had already captured a town 20 miles west of the rail junction at Mineralskoye Vody, the Red army command said.

The German radio, conceding some territorial gains by the Russians, found a curious satisfaction in the situation with the comment that it would have been worse if Hitler's invasion armies had kept on winning!

The Soviet retreat into the vast eastern expanses of the Soviet Union would have confronted the German armies with almost insoluble supply problems.

Russian military quarters remained silent on Stockholm reports that Marshal Semenov Timoshenko was leading a new offensive to break the 17-month-old German siege of Leningrad, the old Czarist capital in the north, or that a Russian drive was developing in the Voronezh sector on the Upper Don.

Girl Admits She Did Not Object To Intimacy With Errol Flynn

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15 (AP)—Betty Hansen, the former midwestern schoolgirl who ventured to gilded Hollywood and now finds herself sharing courtroom billing with one of film's top names, undergoes new and hammering cross-examination today at the trial of Errol Flynn, charged with three counts of statutory rape.

Miss Hansen, blonde and 17, asserted in her direct testimony and steadily maintained under searching questioning by Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler, that the tall, dashing Flynn, ravished her in a bedroom at the fashionable Bel Air home of Mred McEvoy, former British bobbed racer, during a party last Sept. 27.

Denying she was film-struck and had pursued Flynn in the hope of obtaining a movie role, Miss Hansen declared, "The only ambition I have is to fly."

programs, which are open to the public and are not solely for the chapter members alone, were:

January meeting, set for Thursday, January 21, junior high school auditorium. "History and Development of Plastics," lecture by E. Fitzgerald of Tulsa, meeting arranged by H. V. Anderson, chapter chairman.

February, theme of meeting to be paraffin, also to be planned by the chapter chairman; March, pumping practice; April, geology of the Panhandle; E. N. Armstrong, May, of the FBI in guarding against sabotage in the oil field, George Berlin.

A program on the theme of priorities may be substituted by Mr. Henry for the March meeting. Synthetic rubber would likely be the topic discussed at a meeting in Berger, if one is arranged. Another probable topic will be explanation of the work done at a local ordnance plant.

Vernon Hobbs gave the report of the auditing committee which checked the books of Robert Westbrook, the chapter's secretary-treasurer, on January 6. The chapter now has the biggest balance on hand in its history, with all bills paid. Making the audit were Mr. Hobbs, Chairman Anderson, and Mr. Berlin.

Attending the advisory board meeting last night, were Frank Yealy, F. E. Shryock, R. T. McNally, Charles Hermann of the Borner Daily Herald, E. B. Emerson, of the Pampa News, Baker, Berlin, Hobbs, Allen, Anderson, Armstrong, and Henry.

is that over lend-lease, as far as the house foreign affairs committee is concerned at least. An Associated Press poll indicated that a majority of the members would recommend that congress authorize continuance of the program.

The suggested "restraining tax" idea, it was understood, embraces the sales tax principle but would carry exemptions of possibly $500 or so worth of purchases a year.

If such a law were written, with a $500 exemption, then coupons in small denominations would be issued in that amount to each gainfully employed person and he could use the coupons for making tax-free purchases until they were exhausted. Anything bought without coupons would be taxable at whatever percentage congress decided on.

Meantime, overwhelming strength appeared to be arrayed behind the pay-as-you-go principle for collecting individual income taxes. Although there was a division of opinion as to how it should be framed, one pay-as-you-go plan was reported authoritatively to be under discussion between treasury officials and congressional tax experts, by which lower bracket taxpayers might be put on a current basis with last year's tax liabilities skipped and high-bracket individuals forgiven part of 1942 obligations and permitted to pay the remaining balance in installments, thereby achieving full current-payment status in two or three years.

It was understood the plan discussed would provide for wiping out the rates on 1942 income — at least the six per cent normal tax and the 13 per cent first-bracket surtax. The lowest bracket includes persons with not over $2,000 of surtax net income.

Linguists Sought By Women's Army

That talkative quality or women can be utilized by Uncle Sam now — if the women can speak languages other than English.

From the Women's Army Auxiliary corps, the army is seeking to enlist 1,500 linguists over the nation, for interpreting and communications. They should be between the ages of 21 and 44, the regular age limits of the WAACs.

If your Japanese, Chinese, Russian, and Italian, is expert enough, there's a place for you. Likewise, if you know Spanish, Portuguese, French, and German.

Complete information on the enlistment of women as linguists can be obtained from Sgt. Robert D. Short at 10-12 Postoffice building here.

Million-Dollar Fire

Houston Houston Firm
HOUSTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—A four-story building housing the Phoenix Furniture company was razed by flames in the heart of downtown Houston last night, with damage estimated at $1,000,000 by City Assessor Investigator O. H. Theriot.

The fire was out of control for five hours, and for a time threatened the entire business district close by. Erich Neumann, a special detective, said an explosion in the rear of the building showered him with glass as he passed by at 10:15 p. m.

The Phoenix company is housed in the Lee building, which was destroyed. The fire also razed the three-story Palmer building, adjacent. Other neighborhood establishments were damaged considerably.

SHIRT-MAKER DIES

Two Men, Woman Are Executed

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 15 (AP)—The tangled threads of an edge-field county feud that caused five violent deaths were cut today as the state took the lives of two men and, for the first time, electrocuted a woman — all convicted of murder.

Mrs. Sue Logue, 43-year-old former school teacher, was the first to die. She was convicted along with her brother-in-law, George Logue, 55, and Clarence Bagwell, 34, of planning the murder of a neighbor, Davis W. Timmerman.

Bagwell, the last to go, was pronounced dead 22 minutes later, bringing to eight the number of deaths that grew out of a feud-like quarrel between Timmerman and the Logues. George Logue was pronounced dead in the chair at 6:32.

The three deaths by electrocution brought to eight the number of persons to die in the Edgefield county Logue-Timmerman vendetta that began years ago when Mrs. Sue Logue was a teacher in a rural school for which Davis Timmerman was a trustee.

First of the deaths occurred in September, 1940, when Sue Logue's husband, Wallace Logue, was fatally shot in an altercation with Timmerman over a calf. A year later Timmerman was killed by gunfire, and a few weeks after his death Sheriff Ward Allen, Deputy W. L. Clark and Fred Dort, a share-cropper, died in a gunbattle at the Logue farm, where the officers had gone to serve warrants.

Bagwell was convicted of the actual slaying of Timmerman. The Logues were convicted of being accessories before the fact.

Hemphill County Pioneer Expires

SHAMROCK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Word has been received here this week of the death of Mrs. C. I. Holden, pioneer resident of the Shamrock vicinity.

Six Prisoners Still At Large

HUNTSVILLE, Jan. 15 (AP)—Six convicts are still at large after breaking out of the Eastham prison farm dormitory yesterday, five others having been captured.

Frank Frisbee, 39, serving seven years from Tarrant and Oulbertson counties for theft and robbery, was slightly wounded in the leg by a guard before being captured, state prison officials said.

James M. Scott of Los Angeles, serving five years from Oldham and Potter counties for robbery, and an unidentified convict, also were recaptured quickly.

J. D. Taylor of Lubbock, serving 10 years for burglary, and Carl Anderson, serving 25 years from El Paso county for robbery, were caught at Crockett, said Capt. H. D. Purvis of Houston who was in charge of Rangers trailing the fugitives.

Five packs of bloodhounds were pursuing the others near Lovelady and Weldon and in the Trinity bottoms.
