Gas Company Asks Increase In Local Rates

A request for a 10 percent across-the-board increase in local gas rates was laid in the city commission's lap today by the Texas Gas and Power Co.

The petition was filed with the city shortly before noon, Saturday, March 3, in the office of City Secretary Ed Vicars.

Mayor C. A. Huff was out of town when the petition was filed with the city and unavailable for comment. However, the mayor, late Monday morning, said he knew the petition had been filed and added that he doubted the commission would take any definite action on it today because of the public hearing on the Southwestern Public Service Co's rate increase request.

He added, though, the commission would discuss the gas company's request in the same manner it approached the telephone and electrical rate increase petitions.

In his formal request to the commission, J. W. Garman, president and general manager of the gas company, said the request was being made because of the consistently shrinking amount of return on the company's investment. He pointed to the rate of return for 1950, the report showing a 2.5 percent rate of return of net income as compared to 4.3 percent for 1949.

This is the first time the company has sought a rate increase since 1931. The only change since that was the minimum charge that was upped from $1 per month to $1.50 per month.

Garman added that increased costs in equipment, material, wage rises and increased taxes had forced the company to request the boost.

The increase would send the cost of gas from 30 to 33 cents per thousand cubic feet for the first 30,000 cubic feet; from 18 to 19.5 cents for the next 170,000 cubic feet; 16 to 17.8 cents for the next 2,000,000 cubic feet, and 13.5 to 14.85 cents for all over 2,000,000 cubic feet. The minimum bill would be jumped from $1.50 per month to $1.85 per month.

Volunteer Workers Begin Solicitation On Red Cross Drive

Volunteers went to work Monday on the official Red Cross drive, which began here with a morning meeting in the Palm Room of the City Hall with Herman Whitley in charge.

Donations have been coming in for about two weeks in the advance drive and Whitley said that "the prospect of meeting the $11,395 goal looks good."

Other special programs to advance the drive will be staged during the next two weeks.

Recently, Mrs. Lillian Snow received a letter from her son, Charles, from Japan, where he had been taken to a hospital from the front lines in Korea.

The letter said in effect that the Red Cross is doing more than he had ever seen the organization do to make the wounded in the hospitals more comfortable.

"It almost makes me feel badly because of the way I used to howl about the donations they asked," the letter said.

U.S. Rearms

(To survey the U. S. mobilization scene, take the temperature of the countryside, and check on the progress—or lack of it—in the great defense buildup, the Associated Press assigned a special correspondent to visit key areas of the home front. He has just returned from a trip through the Middle West and summarizes general impressions in the accompanying story—a series of four daily articles. This begins a series of Associated Press reports which will cover the nation's major production areas.)

Child Has Narrow Escape In Fall From Fast-Moving Auto

Five-year-old Norma Jean "Stormy" Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, 1415 E. Francis, had a narrow escape yesterday when she fell from a fast-moving car.

Mrs. Collins was driving the car four miles out of Lawton, Okla. They were on their way home from Marlow, Okla., where they had been visiting Mrs. Collins' brothers, who were home on furlough.

Collins, who is employed in Cabot Shops east of town, left last night for Lawton where his wife and daughter are in the Southwestern Hospital.

The father has reported "Stormy's" condition as improved this morning. She was unconscious throughout the night. Her ankle and wrist are sprained and her body badly scratched and bruised.

Collins said he is hoping to bring her home by the end of the week.

Four Killed As Blizzard Grips The Midwest

(By The Associated Press) A new blizzard and cold wave knifed into the snow-plagued upper Midwest region today leaving at least four victims frozen in western Canada and Montana.

The storm, accompanied by intense cold, scudded across western Canada and Montana and pushed into Wyoming and the Dakotas. Cold wave warnings were issued for Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

A mild cold wave was to have slipped into the Texas Panhandle this afternoon and is expected to produce a few snow flurries late tonight or Wednesday. However, temperatures will not drop below 22 to 30 degrees by Wednesday.

A mother and her two children perished during a horseback ride from their stalled car in the Montana blizzard. More than 35 passengers of three stalled buses were marooned overnight in 20 degree below zero cold in Alberta, Canada. In British Columbia, the frozen body of Mrs. A. Wesner, 40, was found a short distance from the spot she left a midnight bus during the storm.

The storm—third in the Midwest in seven days—cut visibility to zero and sent the mercury skidding far below zero in Montana and North Dakota. It brought the week's storm death toll to at least 20.

Overnight temperatures of 30 degrees below zero were forecast for northern Montana. The mercury was not expected to rise above five below to 15 below zero today in North Dakota.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour raked parts of Nevada. The winds tipped away 40,000 square feet of roofing in a low-cost housing project at Carson City, forcing 27 families to leave. The gale also smashed Carson City shop windows and snapped off big trees at their bases.

The Montana exposure victims were Mrs. Ross Christy, about 28, her daughter, Linda, 3, and son, Sammy, nine months.

They were driving nine miles to the ranch of Mrs. Christy's sister-in-law when the car stalled in the blizzard and 10 degree cold. Wind-whipped the horseback rider's sister-in-law brought to their rescue and the Christys started the mile trip to the ranch on one of the horses. The horse turned up at the ranch riderless. Rescuers found the bodies after an all night search.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon for Mrs. E. O. Conyers of South Bend, formerly of Pampa and Stiglytown. She died Sunday.

The Conyers moved from Pampa in November when Mr. Conyers was retired from the Magnolia Oil Co. They had lived here 22 years.

Survivors other than the husband are one son, Francis, who lives in California, one daughter, Miss Jeannine Conyers of Galveston, two grandsons and one granddaughter, a sister, Mrs. Campbell of Plano and one brother, Jack Brock of San Antonio.

Funeral services and burial will be in Plano.

Army To Call Medical Officers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced yesterday that 500 medical and 100 dental officers of the Medical Service Reserve will be called to duty during April.

Those being ordered to duty are men who were trained at government expense during World War II and who had less than 90 days' active military service.

Five-year-old Norma Jean "Stormy" Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, 1415 E. Francis, had a narrow escape yesterday when she fell from a fast-moving car.

Senators Split Sharply Over Labor's Mobilization Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic and Republican senators split sharply today over the effect of labor's walkout from the defense mobilization setup and what to do about it.

Calling a Senate labor subcommittee together (10 a.m. EST) to hear government officials, Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) said the fate of the whole anti-inflation program hangs in the balance.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a member of the group, told a reporter he thinks a mountain is being made out of a molehill of disagreement over manpower controls.

Taft criticized labor leaders who he said are trying "to divide the country into classes when there should be no classes in the mobilization effort."

Humphrey summoned Chairman Cyrus S. Ching of the Wage Stabilization Board and Arthur Flemming, manpower advisor, for testimony behind closed doors.

Humphrey said Economic Stabilization Director Eric Johnston and representatives of the United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC), which withdrew from participation in all government mobilization efforts, will testify later.

The committee delayed calling Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, who was reported about to make a trip to Key West, Fla., to talk over the problem with President Truman.

The ULPC, representing virtually all union labor except operating rail unions and John L. Lewis' mine workers, began taking its case to the public in a series of broadcasts. The aim was to enlist support of consumers and civic groups in a fight for tighter price controls, more rigid rent controls and new tax legislation.

President Philip Murray of the CIO launched the week-long campaign with a speech broadcast from Miami last night. Murray said inflation now "steals food from the tables of our families and bullets from the arsenals of our armed forces." He added "It is not just a labor problem."

On another phase of the mobilization effort, the National Production Authority (NPA) gave civilians a spokesman charged with seeing that the home front gets its fair share of goods and services.

Lewis Allen Weiss of Los Angeles was named late yesterday to head NPA's Office of Civilian Requirements. In effect, his job will be to compete with defense programs in obtaining scarce materials for civilian use.

Some of our reasons are physical and the technical problems of tooling up to make newer and more destructive machines than we used in World War II.

Some are economic... to rearm without cutting too deeply into the high American standard of living... to produce for civilian use along with, and in addition to, producing weapons.

But the biggest appears to be psychological, a question of attitude. So far as I have been able to observe, there is little or no general feeling of urgency anywhere.

I have visited parts of the South, the Middle West and travelled the length of the Atlantic Seaboard in the past few weeks. My impressions are the same in every section of the country: a let's-take-it-easy attitude.

Some military men and government officials are apprehensive, fearful of the possibilities of a further outbreak of war this year, this time in Europe. But very few people in factories, offices, on Broadway or Main Street, U.S.A., or in government generally, share opinions that can be classified as reflecting (a) alarm or (b) a sense of real emergency.

There are obvious factors contributing to all this. The attitude of defeatism about it was in midwinter. While the great debate on foreign policy has been prolonged in Washington, Congress has evidenced no rush to meet administration demands for such things as extension of the draft age—to include 18-year-olds—or heavier taxes to finance vast mobilization costs. When the nation was apprehensive, as it was at the start of the Korean War, and later, when the

Communists Shift Support Elements

TOKYO (AP)—Parka-clad American Marines attacking over new fallen snow drove slowly ahead today in central Korea. The Chinese Reds resisted bitterly.

The leathernecks were pushing toward the key communications hub of Hongchon, 15 miles north of recaptured Hoengsong. Some of the marine elements were 11 miles from Hongchon.

The Chinese Reds are believed to have concentrated their largest front-line forces at Hongchon. General MacArthur said another big Red force—the Chinese Third Field Army—is moving toward the front from northeast Korea to support the Communist Fourth Field Army.

MacArthur's report was the first indication of a large shift by the Third Field Army. He said it was comprised of several army corps, possibly up to 90,000 men.

Despite losses of an estimated 22,280 troops since the United Nations resumed its limited offensive, Feb. 21 the Chinese and North Koreans are believed to number 300,000 below Parallel 38 in South Korea.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of allied ground forces in Korea, told a news conference the Reds have plenty of men to launch a big counter-offensive.

But he expressed belief such an attack is not imminent. Ridgway added that his forces "at the moment" could stop a Red offensive.

The ex-paratrooper general spoke confidently of his Eighth Army's capabilities and praised the support he has received from General MacArthur.

On the battlefield, a six-inch snow fall slowed the determined allied push Tuesday through the craggy mountains and rice-paddied valleys across the peninsula east of Seoul.

The snowfall limited ground action in most areas. Allied fighter planes were grounded. UN tank and machine-gun fire on the east-central front, reported that American doughboys—unable to find Korean Reds—battled each other with snowballs. But he said they kept their weapons handy.

Units of the First Marine Division took Hill 338 three miles northeast of Hoengsong Tuesday after other elements punched to points four miles north and northwest of the rubble town Monday.

The Reds pumped artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire into the leathernecks Monday but fell back. Air spotters reported an estimated three Chinese battalions directly ahead of the marines, from five to six miles north and northwest of Hoengsong.

On the east-central front, Korean Reds fought bitterly from log bunked dugouts on rugged ridges near Taemi, a mountain stronghold from which they were routed Monday.

Speed Sought For Draft Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration leaders drove today for early Senate passage of the bill to draft 18-year-olds, with the old issue of Universal Military Training at stake.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) lined up with Senators Bricker (R-Ohio) and Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) in an effort to knock a UMT provision out of the manpower measure.

The administration's bill would set up the machinery for universal training, although it would not go into operation until the President certifies that the need for compulsory service had passed.

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, said the Senate will hold a night session tomorrow, if necessary, to get final action on the measure then. The House has not yet acted; its armed services committee is still holding hearings.

Taft told a reporter he doesn't think Congress should make a policy decision now on a controversial system which can't go in to effect until the international situation eases.

"I'm opposed to putting across UMT in this bill and I'll support the Bricker-Johnson amendment," he said.

However, Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) floor manager for the bill, predicted confidently that the Senate will beat down the UMT opposition. He also predicted the Senate will defeat an amendment by Taft to limit operation of the manpower measure to four years.

"We got over our toughest hump in defeating the 18 1/2 year old draft proposal," Johnson told reporters.

This Is The Critical Year For The Nation's Immense Mobilization Effort

By BELMAN MORIN Associated Press Special Correspondent

This is the critical year for the great program to re-arm the United States, re-build the strength of its allies, and thus—it is hoped—forestall the threat of further Communist aggression.

It is critical because the gigantic American program—in the calculations of the Soviet Union, too—is still largely in the blueprint stage and necessarily must remain so for another six to 12 months.

By the summer of 1952, military men expect to be breathing more easily—that is, if there is not another Korea or a major outbreak in Europe. But this year is, at best, only a hatching stage for an immense mobilization effort.

Briefly here are the major objectives:

1. Maintaining Operation Korea—to prove to the world in general, and Asia in particular, that naked aggression does not pay.

2. Fortifying the western European allies under Gen. Eisenhower's leadership.

3. The buildup of U.S. home defenses in all categories, plus the strengthening of hemispheric defenses and our Pacific fortifications—with emphasis especially upon the buildup for the air forces and the acceleration of the atomic weapons program.

All this calls for tremendous expansion in the training of manpower as well as the production of armaments—at great cost to the American taxpayer. The goal in manpower for the armed forces has been set, tentatively, at 3,500,000 by the summer of 1952.

The Army's target for this coming summer, alone, is 22 or 23 infantry divisions.

The dollar cost for purely military purposes adds up to more than $61,000,000,000 for the two-year period.

This figure includes President Truman's estimate of nearly $41,

500,000,000 for military expenditures for the next fiscal year, beginning this July. It is only part of the overall cost, however. Many more billions will go into non-military foreign aid, civil defense programs, and the whole vast area of expansion in governmental activities—local, state and national.

The blueprints are piled up—but the program is already rolling. Industry is buckling into the tremendous task of spewing out the weapons, transport, clothing and all the thousand-and-one articles needed to put a fighting man in the field and keep him there in action. But even with the enormous production capacities of American industry, months will elapse before the United States is ready to fight.

Why? Some of our reasons are physical and the technical problems of tooling up to make newer and more destructive machines than we used in World War II.

Some are economic... to rearm without cutting too deeply into the high American standard of living... to produce for civilian use along with, and in addition to, producing weapons.

Read why Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is 'the woman's friend'

"Almost every month I suffered from cramps, headache, or backache—due to female functional ailments. What bothered me most was that I'd start feeling so nervous, tense and strangely restless several days before my period.

My druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve this distress. He told me to take it regularly throughout the month to help build up resistance against such female misery. (It tastes swell in a little fruit-juice.) I must say Lydia Pinkham's Compound is simply wonderful and gives me amazing relief—not only from monthly pain but pre-period nervous tension and tired, dragged-out feelings of this nature. I urge every girl and woman troubled this way to try Pinkham's Compound."

MOBILIZATION

Production figures went up in most factories during the emergency-attitude periods. In those same months, disputes between management and labor dropped off.

There were some instances where a manufacturer took a defense order on Monday, on Tuesday, he received a union "request" for a cost-of-living increase. There were reports, too, that some union leaders "discouraged" the incentive system in factories producing materials for defense.

But the record also shows the many occasions when unions ordered their members to end a strike in order to get on with critical production. The nickel-platers, making plated pipe for the Atomic Energy Commission, are one of many examples.

These evidences of attitude shifted up and down. Public opinion reacted quickly and faithfully to events, at home and abroad, as newspapers reported them.

Today, labor, industry and government all have complaints against each other, arising out of the defense effort. That is democracy in action, huge, loose-jointed and intensely individualistic.

In an explosive emergency — a Pearl Harbor, for example — these are all put aside. In less decisive times, they can become big and dangerous.

Attitude is a great factor affecting the speed and smoothness of rearming. But it isn't the only one.

The late Hermann Goering said, when Germany was arming, "The German people would rather have guns than butter." American industry believes it can supply both.

That obviously takes time and greatly expanded facilities for production. Automobile firms expect to go on making cars and tanks, simultaneously. They have the know-how, the experience of the last war, and they believe they can do it. Factories, generally, are trying hard to handle defense orders on top of their regular customer orders.

For that reason, months will elapse before vast streams of weapons and equipment will tumble down the assembly lines.

So this is the critical year. The United States is arming. But there's a long way to go.

Bids on the project are to be let March 20 at Austin by the State Highway Commission. The city's part will be installation of storm sewers and running of curb and gutter. This will be the major part of the commissions discussion — whether to start curb and gutter and storm sewer work now, or wait until a contract is awarded by the state.

tion of one of the main east-west highways running to Hoengsong and Seoul. The Red's new positions were under assault by the U. S. Second and Seventh Divisions.

A combination American-French ground, artillery and aerial assault chased the Reds out of Taemil. But air reconnaissance Tuesday showed 1,500 Reds were moving into the area from the northeast to reinforce 3,000 to 5,000 North Koreans already there.

A Seventh Division tank infantry patrol drove more than two miles into Changpyong Monday in the Taemil area, but withdrew slightly south at dusk. Changpyong is a road junction 10 miles north of Pangnim.

Dr. Andries Voet, head of the ink division of the Huber Corporation in Borger, was guest speaker at the Top o' Texas Medical Auxiliary dinner at the Borger Hotel recently.

Dr. Voet told of a recent trip by trans-Atlantic plane from New York to Amsterdam, Holland and across Europe to Israel, to Rome, then to Amsterdam and back to New York. The talk was illustrated by colored film slides.

Most of the pictures were taken in Israel and showed the living conditions of the Israeli and the Arabs. Dr. Voet said that despite being subjugated for 2000 years the Israeli have shown an amazing readjustment upon return to their native land.

Depletion Allowance Cut Said Harmful To Marginal Wells

WASHINGTON — Plugging of many marginal oil wells throughout the nation would result from the Treasury's proposed reduction in the oil depletion allowance, Tom F. Grisham, independent producer of Abilene, testified in a statement prepared for a hearing today before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Grisham is president of Grisham-Unter Corporation and a member of the executive board of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, representing 26 counties.

"All wells, regardless of their initial production, finally become marginal," Grisham said. "When they do so, large sums of money must then be spent on secondary recovery methods, in order to keep them producing any oil in paying quantities.

"Should the depletion allowance be reduced, we would be forced to plug many of these marginal wells. Waste would result, since the oil left in the ground would never be recovered.

Citing his company's operations as typical of the small independent producer, Grisham said: "During the last thirty years, we have drilled many more dry holes than we have drilled producing oil wells. Prior to 1945, when we began to produce a substantial amount of oil, we netted or declared or paid a dividend, but instead, used all our income and some borrowed capital in search for oil.

"We are now producing more than 2,000 barrels allowable oil per day, which is a substantial contribution to the nation's supply in this emergency. We have built this production up the hard way. It has been a long pull, we

Henry Finds Sorrento Most Beautiful Village In World

By HENRY McEMORE — Like to tell of how he would stand on the balcony of his room of a morning and give concerts sometimes an hour long. This being the off-season in Sorrento I have a mammoth room and acres of balconies for less than I'd pay for a double room in New York. It is the room as the management has pointed out at least a dozen times that General Mark Clark occupied and is big enough for just around the bend of the peninsula; Mario and Tony who operate the best pizza place in the world (they cook in an oven 25 years old and whose 2,000-year-old duplicate can be seen at Pompeii); Peppe, mustachioed proprietor of the seafood restaurant which specializes in fried baby octopus; the Baralino hat store man; the chemist; Bigia, whose lace and embroidery store is the biggest in Sorrento; and two-thirds of the town's blades who lounge in the town square back of the garden of the Hotel Vittoria.

The Vittoria, which stands on a precipitous bluff, and is reached by an elevator that is cut through the rocks from quayside to the summit, is the hotel that was most beloved by Caruso. He always kept a suite here and always returned when engagements would allow. The natives

As a rule I'm not a garden stroller, but the one at the Vittoria has brought out my strolling qualities. It is a city block long and half a block wide, and is filled with flowers of every hue; orange, lemon, olive and almost trees, stately palms, and most of the varieties of Italian bignonia.

Sorrento must have a hundred tiny restaurants where out-of-this-world food, and a good, clear Sorrento wine can be had for a pittance. The White Sail, where Peppe holds forth hard by the bay, serves the sweetest, tenderest shrimp to be had anywhere, and Mario's pizza — served by son Tony, who, to add a touch of style for Americans, slipped

Friends Meet After 47-Year Separation

Reunions of friends occur every day, but this week a unique friendship was renewed between Lewis Green, 743 Bruno, and Wiley Hicks of Woodward, Okla.

In 1901, the two boys enlisted in the United States Army as volunteers to fight in the Philippine War. They met in San Francisco, where their regiment was organized and were shipped immediately to the Philippine Islands.

They were charter members of Company M, 30th U.S. Infantry. "We fought the Filipinos and monkeys all over the islands," Green recalled. They served there for 31 months together, becoming "more like brothers than just buddies."

Fort Cook in Omaha was their stop in the United States, where they received their discharges. They traveled together as far as southern Kansas, where they parted with Hicks going to the Indian Territory and Green going to Woodward, Okla.

The two men corresponded until about 15 years ago, but had not seen each other for about 47 years.

Recently, Hicks wrote to the Retail Merchants Assn. here, asking about his friend and the organization turned the letter over to a veteran's official, who traced Green.

Last week Hicks arrived in Pampa, unannounced. "I had to tell Lewis who I am, but I was expecting to see him so I knew him right away. I don't think I would have known him any other way, though."

The two men have reared families and lived almost a half century since they saw each other, but they have no lack of things to talk about.

Forty-seven years is a long time to store away a lot of conversation!

Thirty Women Due Training

Only 30 women from the nation will be selected to attend the next class of the Navy's "Annapolis for Women" at Newport, R. I., the Navy said today.

The five-month course of indoctrination for WAVE officers commences July 1, but young women must apply before the end of March, it was announced by the Offices of Naval Officer Procurement at the Customs House in New Orleans and 1114 Commerce St., Dallas, where WAVE ensigns are selected.

Applicants must be 21-25 in age, single, graduates of accredited four-year colleges, and able to meet the Navy's mental and physical requirements.

Women who will graduate from college in June will be considered, if they submit statements from the college dean certifying that they will graduate.

This class will be the sixth to turn out completely trained WAVE ensigns since the school commenced operating in January 1949.

After indoctrination, WAVE ensigns are assigned to the shore establishment.

When Nasty Colds Leave You Weak And Rundown HADACOL CAN HELP

If Your System Lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, Which HADACOL CONTAINS

When a nasty cold leaves you in a weakened and run-down condition, HADACOL can help build you up if your system is lacking in Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron, important elements contained HADACOL. Many folks have found that this fine family formula helps overcome these deficiencies and soon they feel good again.

Mrs. A. Jimenez, 141 East 13th St., Fort Arthur, Texas, gave HADACOL to her young son, Floyd, after he had recovered from a bad cold when she heard how HADACOL was helping folks suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron. It helped him so much in regaining his strength and energy that Mrs. Jimenez says she is always going to have HADACOL on hand for Floyd.

Here is Mrs. Jimenez' statement: "My son Floyd was very subject to colds. He's eleven years old, and he was run-down, didn't seem to have an appetite at all and just simply lacked energy. I heard about HADACOL on the radio, and it was about this time that Floyd was just recovering from a siege of a bad cold. He was very run-down — lacked an appetite, and I started giving him HADACOL. After about a bottle and a half I could notice Floyd Jimenez an improvement. His appetite picked up and he had increased strength. I think HADACOL has done wonders for Floyd, and can't praise it enough. I have continued to give him HADACOL and intend to always have it on hand for Floyd."

Men, women and children of all ages are praising HADACOL for supplying Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron which their systems lack. Don't let that "After-Cold Run-Down Feeling" drag you down—HADACOL can help you too, if you suffer such deficiencies. Sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great after the first few bottles you take or your money back. Trial size, $1.25; large family economy size, $3.50.
