House to Probe Army and Navy Desk 'Loafers'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—An investigation into Rubber Administrator William Jeffers' charges that "Army and Navy loafers" were interfering with war production was ordered today by the house naval committee.

The action was taken at the request of Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) after he read to the committee a newspaper story of Jeffers' remarks before the council of state governors at Baltimore yesterday.

10 Teachers Are Re-Elected

Re-election of 10 faculty members for the 1943-44 session of Pampa schools, at the same salary level as for 1942-43, with the provision that these salaries may be raised following interviews, was ordered by the board of the Pampa Independent School district at its regular meeting last night.

Recognizing the increasing cost of living, the board decided that some flexibility should be established and the salaries set for the new term are subject to increase. If the board sees fit, after talking to the faculty members.

Those re-elected were Doyle E. Osborne, high school principal, $2,820; Tom Herod, assistant, $1,980; Winston Savage, junior high school principal, $2,400; Herman Jones, assistant, $1,710; B. R. Nuckels, B. M. Baker principal, $1,800; Josephine Thomas, Horace Mann principal, $2,000; J. Aaron Meek, Sam Houston principal, $2,100; Harlan Yoder, Woodrow Wilson principal, $1,850; J. C. Frejan, high school coach, $2,640; Hood Willis, agriculture teacher, $2,400.

At its preceding meeting the board had re-elected L. L. Stone as superintendent at a salary of $4,200, the contract dating from July 1, 1943.

Accepted at the session last night was the resignation of E. C. Sidwell, member of the past three years. His term would have expired in April.

In a letter to the board, Mr. Sidwell offered to make his services available for the board's benefit, even though he was not a member. No new member will be chosen to fill Mr. Sidwell's place, it was decided by the board, inasmuch as the school trustees' election is coming in April and the board felt it was not worthwhile to appoint anyone for such a short time before the election.

A letter will be sent Mr. Sidwell by the board thanking him for his work as a member.

State Blamed For Loss Of Rights

U. S. Control Is Fought By Governors

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—The council of state governments today prepared to speak its piece on manpower and defense and heard Governor J. M. Broughton of North Carolina blame the states themselves for "much of the almost terrifying expansion of federal encroachment upon the original domain of the states."

But, Broughton predicted in his prepared address "We may discover in the years immediately ahead that Washington is more disposed to pass the buck to the states than to raid their jurisdictions."

The council's manpower and defense programs, expected to embrace the state governmental group's most important recommendations, were scheduled for presentation just before the council adjourned its three-day sixth annual general assembly late today.

"Those of us who believe in the fundamental principles of state's rights and local self-government," Governor Broughton said, "may as well concede frankly that much of the almost terrifying expansion of federal encroachment upon the original domain of the states has come about because state governments failed to meet the challenge of the new day."

"Inadequate educational opportunities, archaic labor laws and regulations, unrelieved hardships and inequities suffered by the working people," he continued, "led them all too frequently to look for relief to the federal government."

Veterans Must Sign Up for Field Trip

All members of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and their auxiliaries, who desire to visit the Pampa advanced flying school tomorrow must register with the chamber of commerce by 6 o'clock tonight, officials in charge of the trip said today.

The veterans and members of the auxiliaries will meet at the Liberty Bus station at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning to be transported to the field, where they will have lunch and inspect the post.

British Commandos Raid Norse Coast

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—An authoritative British source said today that a small scale commando raid was made last Saturday night on the coast of Norway and was very successful, but further details were withheld.

Reuters reported a German news agency broadcast yesterday which said the British commandos had struck Atarvik, on the southern coast of Norway. This broadcast said German defenses had repulsed an attack of seven British torpedo boats, probably sinking two of them.

"TODAY ON THE HOME FRONT"

Every American needs to know all he can about war on the home front, what it is doing and will do to his life, and what he or she should do about it.

The Pampa News brings its readers a new and vital service beginning today with a column, "Today on the Home Front," written from the national capital, and from other points as developments call for it, by two top-notch Associated Press Writers and reporters—James Marlow and George Ielke. The first will be found on the back page.

These writers will gear their efforts to telling you such things as why your job is or is not important in wartime, why sirloin steak is scarce, why congress is this way or that way about your tax bill, how soon you or your son may be drafted, how the battle of production is going and why.

Marlow is currently visiting touring production centers in the mid-west, while Ielke holds down the Washington end.

Service Station Hours Will Be From 7:30 A. M. To 7:30 P. M.

If you hold an A. B. or C gasoline book and want to buy gasoline in Pampa, you'll have to buy it between 7:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on six days of the week only.

That was the agreement made by a majority of filling station owners at a meeting held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the committee room at the chamber of commerce.

Reason for the meeting was to decide on a universal policy in response to the order of Harold Percy Le Roy Satterlee, state highway administrator, setting forth the hours during which filling stations might be open for business.

Effective date of the order was to have been last Saturday, but the ruling was first made known to the public through the Associated Press in a story published in Sunday's newspapers.

At that time neither the filling station owners nor the county war price and rationing board had received any official notice of the order.

Yanks Thinking Only of Attack, FDR Tells Army

BELFAST, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt in a message read here today at ceremonies commemorating the first anniversary of the landing of United States troops in Northern Ireland, said: "From now on we think of attack—determined, unrelenting, smashing attack."

The message was delivered at a ceremony at city hall by Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle, temporary commander of U. S. forces in the European theater in the absence of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"One year ago the first great convoy of American troops to cross the Atlantic in this war was landed in Northern Ireland," the President's message said.

"There has changed greatly in these twelve months. "We no longer think of defense. That is past."

"From now on and henceforth we think of attack, determined, unrelenting, smashing attack."

"Our troops and those of the United Kingdom, Canada and the other dominions of our allies have charged at invasion."

"They will go on to Berlin. The road to Berlin is long and hard, but it is very sure."

United Nations Are Believed Preparing For Europe Invasion

By The Associated Press

A flame of open revolt in France, crisis in North Africa and ever blackening defeat in Russia formed the composite picture confronting Adolf Hitler and his satellites in World War II today.

At the same time, the behind-the-scenes atmosphere was rife with signs of momentous events in the making on the part of United Nations leaders, perhaps leading the way for the long-awaited invasion of Hitler's "European fortress" in the coming weeks or months.

Censored dispatches from London said far-reaching war plans of the Allied nations were taking shape, and reported that as one phase of the talks an agreement over the North African political squabble had been reached by Gen. Charles De Gaulle and Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud following mediation by the United States and Britain.

In France, the pro-Nazi Vichy government proclaimed a state of siege in ancient Marseille, France's second largest city, after Swiss reports told of angry Frenchmen fortifying their homes and firing on German soldiers attempting to evacuate the city's port district.

A Reuters (British News Agency) dispatch from Switzerland said the Germans had brought up artillery to shell the revolting Frenchmen into submission and declared house-to-house fighting was in progress.

DNB, official German news agency, said 40,000 persons had been arrested in the city.

Nazi occupation authorities ordered the evacuation and razing of the Marseille port district apparently as part of a defense measure against possible Allied invasion from North Africa.

On the northern shores of the dark continent, the Axis faced the prospect of a split in French ranks as the victorious British 8th army swept on past Tripoli en route to Tunisia, and American troops, boldly accepting a Nazi challenge, smashed through Axis lines in a raid to a point only 35 miles from the coast.

Proposal to Continue Lend-Lease Is Offered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A bill to continue the administration's lend-lease authority for another year was introduced today by Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) of the house foreign affairs committee, as especially needed now when the United Nations are on the march to victory.

In a statement accompanying the bill, Bloom declared that "now that the nation is at war, I know that there will be few among us who will question the wisdom of the lend-lease act."

"The principles of lend-lease," he said, "were sound in 1941 and 1942 when we were fighting a defense struggle on which the fate of the world depended. They are even sounder at a time when the United Nations are on the march to victory."

Bloom said that the lend-lease act would expire June 30, 1943, unless renewed, and added "the congress was foresighted in 1941 in anticipating the necessity of lend-lease aid to the countries opposing Axis aggression. What was not so obvious then is crystal clear now."

15 Tons of Bombs Unloaded on Rabaul

By The Associated Press

Striking by night and day, Allied warplanes were officially credited today with raining havoc on Japanese shipping, airdromes and motor transports in Burma and the Solomons, with more than 15 tons of bombs unloaded on the enemy base at Rabaul in a single phase of the offensive.

Rabaul is the big enemy stronghold in New Britain, a major source of supply and reinforcement for Japanese troops in northeast New Guinea and in the Solomons.

Dispatches said Allied night bombers, darting in low despite intense anti-aircraft fire, blasted a 2,000-ton vessel believed to be a munitions ship and set towering flames that lighted the entire Rabaul harbor area.

De Gaulle, Giraud In Agreement

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—General Charles De Gaulle, fighting French leader, and General Henri Honoré Giraud, high commissioner in French North Africa, were reported today to have reached an agreement as a result of mediation by the United States and Britain.

Military leaders of the United States and Britain, it was reported, played a part in the talks.

Fighting French sources here had maintained for weeks that any disagreements could be quickly ironed out if representatives of the two French factions met.

The principal barrier between the De Gaulle and Giraud camps has been the fighting French charges that Vichy men had not been eliminated entirely from key positions in North Africa.

De Gaulle and Giraud themselves were always understood to have a high regard for each other.

With the time approaching for the final showdown in the battle to drive the Axis out of North Africa, some quarters had expressed fears that a split in French ranks would create a serious situation.

French fighting units which have been active under dual leadership are counted on to play an even more important part under the agreement, it was said, details of which were not available.

The United States is rushing modern equipment to the French troops.

'Walking the Bear' Will Become Popular in U. S., Consul Says

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD DALLAS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Come the first blossoms of spring, walking the bear, romantic and time-honored Latin-American method of getting acquainted, will get its premiere in the United States, Luis Perez-Abreu, Mexican consul, said today.

As Abreu pointed out, the system certainly has its points. All you need to play walking the bear is a boulevard or square and a lot of enthusiastic Senotes and Senoritas. A moon is to be desired and music is a big help but not essential.

In every town and village in Mexico, the bear is in evidence at least one evening a week. Men walk slowly around the square to the right and the girls walk to the left. In this way, a young man gets to survey the field before making a choice.

When a Senor spots a likely Senorita, he smiles at her. On the next trip around the square, he smiles again. If she returns his glances with proper admiration, they presently will be making the rounds in the same direction.

"You see much flashing with the eyes," Abreu explains. "With the eyes you can say 'I love you' or 'I hate you.' Some flashes say 'I'll look you up tomorrow,' while others say, 'Why not tonight?'"

The consul will introduce the custom first at a Latin-American housing project here and then he wants to extend it to Anglo-American communities.

"So many soldiers and sailors have no sweethearts," he declared, "and so many nice young ladies would like to remedy this condition. Our custom is a splendid and respectable way of getting acquainted."

Should the bear ever get started in this country, Senor Abreu thinks, it will continue to walk with no further pushing required.

Brother... quit being so human!

Remember 1933—when times were tough?

Maybe you didn't have a job. Maybe you and your wife and kids didn't eat too well—dress too well—have too much fun. Maybe you swore then that if things were ever different, you'd make up for it.

Chances are, today, things are different. You've got a job. You're getting good money. And you'd naturally like to have a little fun with it. You'd like to buy some of the "extras" that you and your family never had during the hard times.

It's only human to feel that way. But right now—we've got to quit being so human!

Right now, over in England, a bunch of fellows are getting ready to tackle one of the bloodiest jobs ever given an Army. In the Pacific, another bunch is playing hide-and-seek with an enemy that thinks the right treatment for a wounded prisoner is a bayonet through the guts. Others are sweating in Africa—still others are on cold, dreary fog-bound islands near the Bering Sea.

That's their job.

But it's our job to give them the tools they need to win—by buying War Bonds! And so far, we aren't doing our full job! Right now, there are still people who ought to be buying War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—but aren't.

While plenty of people in the Plan are investing more than the 10% Uncle Sam needs, a lot are setting aside less than they can.

The fellows who aren't yet in the Plan—or, being in, haven't hit their 10% yet—aren't unpatriotic, or 5th Columnists, or anything like that. They're just human. They just haven't realized their Country's bitter, crying need—now! They haven't realized that Americans have been licked in battle for lack of planes, ships, tanks, and bullets—tools that the money we'd like to spend for fun has got to buy!

Uncle Sam hopes that every single one of us will realize it—by February 1st. By that date, everybody on a payroll should be on a Payroll Savings Plan.

So, if you aren't setting aside your 10%, go on in and tell 'em you want to raise your sights. Not to 6%, or 7% or 8%—but to at least 10%. If you can put in more than 10%—do it. If you aren't yet in on the Payroll Savings Plan—Sign up tomorrow!

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

If you are ...

1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—boost that 10% if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager—and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank, or wherever Bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

If a refusal to eat for long enough to take a man's life is ever justified, it is justified to warn people what the Administration's policy will lead this country to.

MONTGOMERY WARD'S SERVICE TO EVERY CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES

Montgomery Ward's announcement in their advertisement that they would not in the future compel their employees to remain as members of labor unions, even if ordered by the President of the United States, is a real service to every man, woman and child in the United States.

We need more leadership like that of the Montgomery Ward company. They have the true, patriotic, American spirit. They have great courage. They are willing to be persecuted by the government, to sacrifice profits in order to stand for the Christian and American principle that all men are equally free and must not be exploited by any group.

Yes the heads of the Montgomery Ward Company are great leaders. They should have the respect, the admiration and the support of every man in America who believes in American and Christian principles.

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

HUSH: Principal Capitol Hill opponent of the Ruml pay-as-you-earn tax plan was Bob Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee.

Bob, a salty, stubborn spirit, figured that the losers might escape paying a nickel in the current year under the forgive-and-forget scheme. They would not have to pony up on their 1942 official salaries unless they made big money in 1943 which most of them won't—they will go scot free.

The amount involved is picayunish in view of the sums we are appropriating and spending. Assuming that the one hundred who were not re-elected last fall would give Congress an average levy of twelve hundred dollars on their ten thousand dollar salaries, the total would be only one hundred and twenty thousand dollars. But that is a lot of dough to the man who came from a mule-worked farm to his present position of eminence.

Mr. Doughton may change his mind, however. Few weeks ago Henry Morgenthau flattered him by asking him to fly to his home state and open a bond drive. When the Carolinian returned from the trip, he said he was so bitter against the intended reform.

Neither was the secretary. He opposed the shift at first but soon discovered that public sentiment was against him. Author Ruml recently conferred with treasury impost experts Rauloff Paul and Collette in the upstairs room of a Washington hotel. It was one of those hush-hush confabs. Since that time both Messrs. Roosevelt and Morgenthau have shown sympathy for the proposal. They will eventually adopt it—and so will Mr. Doughton—but they do not purpose to drop the Manhattan financial credit for forcing them into it.

MONEY: Bernard M. Baruch has defended and justified his wedding party for the Harry Hopkins WEIRLIGIG, 16 January '43 by 43¢ per share. It includes the million dollar to the armed services and foreign charities. But treasury statisticians point out that the snow-haired New Yorker's contribution to the Army, Navy, Russian and Chinese relief societies may not have cost him much more than the superficial figures indicate.

Here are the official calculations. These also apply to other philanthropists: A man with a ten million dollar income who gives away a million chops eight hundred and eighty thousand dollars from his personal income. He saves in dividends average five million dollars, he avoids paying six hundred and sixty thousand dollars. He saves in diminishing proportions. But he wins great kudos for a minimum of outgo.

General dissemination of these schemes for beating Old Man Whiskers worries Mr. Morgenthau's associates. Numerous benevolent organizations seeking money issue pamphlets emphasizing the prospective March 15th thrift inherent in handsome donations. And the boys and girls and corporations are responding in such a large way that Uncle Sam may be out of luck month after next.

DEAL: Total war has not outlawed the exchange of economic intelligentsia in which the salaries of belligerents have indulged since the first cave man scraps. But even our most realistic and cynical diplomats were apple-carted when they learned that the Japs are permitting the sale of Dutch and Malayan rubber to the Allies.

The news would not be publishable except for the fact that the transactions are carried on with the knowledge of the occupying military leaders and these men dominate Tokyo's foreign policy. Tojo apparently knows about the trade and the samurai want foreign exchange to line their own pockets or to replenish the imperial treasury.

The precious commodity is smuggled in small boats to Australia, where it is transhipped to New York. A prominent Chinese in that city—his name is known to the federal authorities—acts as go-between. He will probably arrange a multimillionaire from his entrepreneurial.

Such seemingly inconsistent Alphonse-and-Gaston courtesies are nothing new. Cotton from the South reached northern factories during the 1861-1865 unpleasantness and was made into Yankee uniforms. The French and Germans swapped coal and iron ore during the First World War. Italian armies in Ethiopia bought their beef from the British province of Kenya, despite Eden's anti-Mussolini attitude. We permit Sweden to deal with South America, although it is suspected that some of her imports trickle through to the enemy. C'est la guerre!

DREAM: Henry A. Wallace has steadily backed away from his post-war program of a quart of milk a day for every member of the world family. The vice president insists that he was misunderstood and misquoted, although his speech is on record.

A scoundrel member of the Roosevelt official circle recently flayed the fowian's scheme with this remark: "Who skimmed the dream off Henry's philosophy of a quart of cow for every drinker on earth?"

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

You've all heard of Hollywood's wacky merry-go-round on which comedians become villains, villains become heroes, dancers become singers and singers become dancers.

Well, this is the story of how Hollywood turned a young man into a literary Jekyll and Hyde—a comedy writer by day and horror story writer by night.

His name is Ken Englund and he is called Hollywood by winning an RKO studio story contest with a spine-tingling thriller titled, "The Phantom of Crestwood."

Remember pictures like "nothing but the Truth," "This Thing Called Love," "Good Girls Go to Paris," "Springtime in the Rockies," "The Doctor Takes a Wife," "There's That Woman Again?" Lots of laughs. Ken Englund wrote the screen plays by day.

But in his spare time at night, Ken Englund locks himself up in his study, forgets Hollywood and writes mysteries, psychological horror stories, character studies of husbands who plot to kill their wives, and wives who plot to kill their husbands. Good ones, too.

But does Hollywood ever give Ken Englund a chance to write a horror story? No.

"Englund on a horror yarn? Don't be silly!" shout the producers and the directors and even the studio gatekeeper. "Why, he's the best comedy writer we've got."

So Englund doesn't even go to the trouble of discussing his pet theory, that comedy and psychological horror stories have more in common than meets the eye. "Take it this way," he says. "When Cary Grant drops a banana peel and Irene Dunne slips on it, it's comedy. But if she broke her back, became a cripple and plotted to kill Grant, then you've got a horror story. Or take it this way: The irate, misunderstood wife lets off steam by throwing dishes at her husband. That's funny. But if she got smart and started to slowly poison him to death, then you've got a horror story."

How did Ken Englund, the horror story writer, get mixed up with comedy? It goes back to when he was a 15-year-old high school student in Chicago. He entered the RKO studio story contest and won $750 and a screen credit for "The Phantom of Crestwood."

State Paper Is A 'Best Seller'

By PETER EDSON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

Somewhat to its surprise, the Department of State has a best seller on its hands in its first publication since 1942, the 25-cent, 144-page, paper-backed thriller officially titled "Peace and War—United States Foreign Policy—1931-1941."

The initial order was for 2500 copies. That just took care of the State Department, other interested government officials and the press. As it was purely an undocumented, historical introduction to a complete volume of official papers which will be out around Feb. 1, the State Department's research and publications division thought the demand for this introduction would be small. But the first edition was gobbled up overnight, and congressmen and others began calling up and asking for 50 copies or so apiece.

A rush order for a second edition of 50,000 copies had to be given to the Government Printing Office, but that's probably just the beginning. Private publishers are beginning for reprint rights, and the little book may find its way eventually to the news stands for display alongside "Ghastly Confessions" and "Murder Omnibook." Government red tape interferes with this last project a little, for the Government Printing Office won't sell on consignment and won't allow book dealers who will pay cash in advance to make more than 25 per cent on their sales, whereas the custom trade is a 40 per cent commission.

Regardless of those restrictions, Office of War Information will bring out a smaller, pocket-size edition with reduced margins to save paper, and arrangements are being made to publish the work in Spanish, Portuguese, Swedish and German at least.

Today's War Analysis

Editor's Note: After traveling in India for several weeks following a visit to Chungking, China, DeWitt MacKenzie resumes from New Delhi his regular column, "The War Today."

NEW DELHI, Jan. 26 (Delayed)—Looking at the world through the big end of a telescope—that is, across the flaming battlefields of Europe and Africa towards the ultimate battlefields of Asia—it seems increasingly clear that this India from which I am writing will be needed as a major base—perhaps the major base—for defeat of the Oriental Huns.

That is a fact which we shouldn't allow the smoke of the European conflict to obscure for one moment. India is vital to the Allied cause. The point is that in order to uproot and drive the Mikado's forces from the continent into the sea it will be necessary to recapture Burma and use that back door to China to equitably crush Kai-Shek's armies. India will come into its own as the arsenal and strategic jumping off place for this grand finale.

So far as concerns the military position there is no indication, either, that the Japs intend to try invasion or that if they did that they would be successful.

India has a right to feel secure in that respect. As to the political situation, the statement that things are wholly in hand undoubtedly represents a studied view of authorities. Certainly they are the ones who should know better than any one else what the exact state of affairs is and their apparent confidence is reassuring.

Just when India will be called upon for its supreme war effort is perhaps something which even the Allied high command cannot predict with certainty right now. Of course, operations are being conducted continually against the Japs in Burma and neighboring territory but it wouldn't be surprising if a grand offensive were not staged until Hitler has been knocked out.

Suppose, that an all-out drive against the Mikado does not come until next fall. Will China be able to hold out until then?

I believe so, barring some wholly unexpected development in the meantime. It should be borne in mind that actually there has been little warfare on a big scale in China for a long time. Things have been largely at a standstill.

Pittsburgh Hires Clark Shaughnessy To Rebuild Its Football Team

T Formation To Be Used By Tigers

By MAREN GRAHAM
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh once mightily gridiron Panthers, licking the wounds from such defeats as 50-7 by Minnesota and 59-19 by Ohio State last year, welcomed today a new coach, Clark D. Shaughnessy, and his famed "T" formation.

The Pitts hadn't had such beatings since they started to play football in 1904, not only that but earlier, they had sent four teams to the Rose Bowl — more than any other eastern college — and even had one of their aggregations turn down a trip to the west coast in 1927.

The board of trustees last night unanimously approved a motion to hire Shaughnessy, with the full rank of professor. A veteran of 29 years coaching with Tulane, New Orleans, Loyola, Chicago and Maryland, Shaughnessy is a graduate of Minnesota.

Jimmy Hagan, Pitt athletic director, explained he has picked out Shaughnessy when the athletic board instructed him to get the "best coach available" to succeed Charley Bowser, who expects to be in the navy by the time his contract expires on March 15.

"But there positively will not be any change in our Simon pure athletic policy," Hagan insisted.

Bowser succeeded Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland, now a lieutenant commander in the navy. Jock quit four years ago in protest against a sudden athletics deflation policy which eliminated direct aid to athletes and put Pitt's athletic program under supervision of Major John Griffith, high commissioner of the Western (Big Ten) football conference.

Shaughnessy said he did not ask any change in the athletic setup. "I think Pitt has the proper ideals," he said, "I think it is fine to have good athletic teams. But I like to see the athletes come from the student body in a natural manner. Sell the school to the athlete, not hire the athlete to my idea."

The new coach is expected to receive between $10,000 and $12,500 a year. Bowser was reputed to have received $7,500. Sutherland $12,500.

Shaughnessy said he first used some of the "T" variations with the ill-fated Chicago Maroons, before they abandoned football explaining:

"It didn't make much difference then what we used. We just showed up for the games, mostly to the stadium."

Making it two in a row, the soldiers team at the Pampa arena beat the Diamond shop quintet 32 to 29 in a basketball game at the field last night. A week ago the post team whipped the same opponents 32 to 23.

The post team had an easy time in disposing of the shop team, leading 19 to 5 at the half.

A. L. Weathered was high point man for the Diamond Shop, with 15 points, leading Tibbets of the post quintet, who scored 11. Tibbets made five field goals and one free throw; Weathered, seven field goals, one free throw.

Frnka, Jones Will Instruct Coaches

WASO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Henry Frnka, whose Tulsa university team went through the regular season undefeated and battled Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl, and Ralph Jones of Lake Forest university, Illinois, one of the leading authorities on the T formation, will be head instructors of the eleventh annual Texas coaching school.

Harry Etler, president of the Texas High School Coaches association, today announced selection of Frnka and Jones and also said the school would be held in Waco Aug. 9 to 15.

Howard C. (Bully) Giestrap, line coach at the University of Texas, will instruct in line play. Frank Kimbrosh, head coach at Baylor, will lecture on backfield play.

Selection of the all-star high school football squads to meet in the climactic feature of the school will be announced later.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The three New York baseball clubs, which can quarrel furiously over nothing at times, agree that they won't let any of their players train by themselves in warmer climates after the northern camps open.

"You know a ball player's idea of training," snorts Secretary Eddie Brannick of the Giants. "They work out a few minutes then go play a round of golf." "We're going to urge them all to some road work before they report," adds Ed Barrow of the Yankees. "We always do."

The Dodgers' Branch Rickey says he'd like to get five or six players together for preliminary work about March 1 so he could be sure how their conditioning is coming along.

Small Schools Show They Can Play Basketball As Well As Larger Ones

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—That a large student body, a roomy field-house, membership in a potent conference or even a huge stadium doesn't necessarily build a basketball reputation is evidenced by the records established this season by some of the smaller schools.

Playing in the shadows cast by their bigger and more widely known brethren, they are compiling triumphs with all the speed of a Russian army.

Right now Bowling Green State and Toledo university, a pair of Ohio schools, have records of 15-1 and 10-1, respectively—and their teams probably are no better nor any worse than those of Western Michigan Maryville, Mo. Teachers; East Central Oklahoma State; Southwestern, Kas.; Texas Wesleyan; Hamline of St. Paul; Rhode Island State; Glenville, W. Va.; State; Western Kentucky; Duquesne; East Washington of Cheney; and Whit-tier.

The all-freshman five knit into a unit in time to hand Dartmouth its only defeat of the year and already Davage Minor, 6-foot 2-inch negro, is being rated superior to the famed Bob Gerber of a year ago.

Both Illinois and Indiana battered Iowa to remain deadlocked at the top of the big tent standings while Southern California continued its romp in the southern half of the Pacific Coast conference with the 41st straight victory over the University of California at Los Angeles.

Kansas, winner of 12 straight before bowing to Camp Crowder, holds its Big Six edge after Iowa State took a surprising wallop from oft-beaten Missouri and Pennsylvania.

The new member, Earl Friddle, is a product of Indiana, and what the Toledo Partisans didn't know was that virtually every member of the bumper fresh crop was all-something or other in the Hoosier state the previous year.

Barney Ross Cannot Attend His Party

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Corp. Barney Ross of the United States Marines will not be able to attend the party on Feb. 17 to receive the Edward J. Neil memorial trophy, awarded him by the New York Boy-Writers association as the man who did the most for the sport in 1942.

Lieut. General Thomas Holcomb, commandant of the U. S. marine corps, advised the writers today that Corp Ross "is still on duty outside the continental limits of the U. S. and it is highly unlikely that he will return prior to the evening of your dinner."

Ross was voted the trophy, named for the former Associated Press sports writer and war correspondent, for his act of heroism on Guadalcanal in November when, with two wounded companions, he was isolated in a fox hole. He held the enemy at bay during the night, killed 10 Japs. He was promoted to corporal on the field and recommended for decoration for bravery.

DALLAS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Ensign Owen Lloyd Parry Jr., All-Southwest conference tackle at Baylor university before his graduation in 1937 and for three years a member of the New York Giants profession-al football team, has been ordered to duty by the navy department.

He will report Feb. 15 to the naval school of indoctrination at Fort Schuyler, N. Y., for temporary duty, the navy announced today.

Steve O'Neill May Do Catching

DETROIT, Jan. 26 (AP)—It would probably be a last word commentary on the manpower shortages in baseball if manager Steve O'Neill, hero of the 1920 world series, appeared behind the plate for his Detroit Tigers next season.

Until a year or so ago Steve took his turn with the other catchers in batting practice, and if anybody could stage a big league comeback at 51 he might be the one to do so. But he hasn't backstopped regularly since 1934.

Steve is the third former catcher in a row to manage the Tigers, and the club has otherwise favored the gaunt-fingered fraternity in passing out key non-playing jobs.

The Tigers officially named three catchers today as candidates for the berth vacated last summer by George (Birdie) Tebbets, who is now in the army, and only one of the three is well-known to Briggs stadium patrons. He is Edward (Dixie) Parsons, the man who relieved Tebbets in the first-string job last August.

The others are Paul Richards and Albert Unser. Neither is exactly a youngster and both are well-traveled on the professional circuits, but until now Briggs stadium has seldom provided a backdrop for their activities.

Yank Escapes Booby Trap

WITH THE AMERICAN TROOPS IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 19 (AP)—(Delayed)—A Jap booby trap exploded today virtually in the face of an American soldier, but unlike many others he lived to tell the tale without even a scratch.

He is pint-sized, young Private Orvil L. White of Vernon, Texas, a member of a unit commanded by Lieut. Charles Peterson, Jr., of Glasgow, Mont.

White was assigned to a detail this morning beyond the confines of Higgins roadblock. Because of stray Japs meandering about it is essential to do much policing to keep them from finding weapons or ammunition.

"I saw one of our Garand rifles sticking in the ground almost up to the operating rod," said the youngster. "I reached for it, pulled and there was a sudden explosion underground. Mud and dirt were thrown in my face. I went back and saw the Garand rifle still sticking in the ground."

A Jap apparently had tied the end to a hand grenade, which was buried maybe 18 inches below the surface.

This was the first booby trap reported since these particular troops arrived in this area.

House Advocates Oil Price Advance

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—The house of representatives of the Texas legislature today by resolution asked Texas members of congress to urge the OPA to permit the price of oil to advance 50 cents a barrel to parity.

Rep. Marshall Bell of San Antonio, speaking to the resolution, sharply criticized the oil price policy of the OPA under the administration of Leon Henderson and expressed hope that price revisions necessary to insure future petroleum reserves could now be obtained.

Cash Farm Income In Texas Rises Sharply

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Texas farming was a billion dollar industry last year for the first time in history.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business research reported today that farm cash income increased from $616,000,000 in 1941 to $908,000,000 in 1942.

Government subsidies will add an additional $75,000,000 to this total, the bureau estimated.

The bureau report indicated that preliminary computations of farm marketing are an understatement of from six to 10 per cent.

Aid for Soldiers After War Urged

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, says it will be the country's duty and the arm's responsibility to help the men in the armed forces find jobs upon their return to civilian life.

The army, through the war department, will help develop a method of reversing the action of selective service to give the service men employment, Patterson said in a broadcast address last night.

Plastic Golf Ball Being Prepared For Divo-Diggers by Science

The newly developed pellet already has been put through exhaustive laboratory and field tests and has proven itself 90 per cent as efficient as the present rubber, core-wound ball.

And there's nothing in the rule book which prohibits the new ball's use except the law of supply. It probably won't be manufactured for general distribution until after the war.

Joseph Dey, executive secretary of the United States Golf association, said today that a ball was lost on the golf course as long as it didn't exceed 1.52 ounces in weight, 1.68 inches in diameter and didn't travel faster than 250 feet a second when tested on the USGA machine.

Nowhere in the rule book is the ball's composition outlined or defined. After all, the early golf balls were made of packed feathers.

Manufacturers feel that if the plastic ball proves popular it can be sold for as little as 15 cents.

'Oomph' Boy McKay Gets Real Ribbing

Now when Roy comes into the dining hall at the University his mates yell:

Athletics Lead In Servicemen

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, who have proudly held the No. 1 spot in the American league service list with 19 players in the armed forces, have had to surrender that position to the Philadelphia Athletics.

A revised service list today showed the Athletics with 20 men working under Uncle Sam's colors. The Sox, however, have the honor of being the only American league club with a player in the Marines — Lt. Ted Lyons, veteran pitcher.

Of the grand total of 124 in service, 64 are in the army, 55 in the navy, two in the Canadian air forces and two are unclassified.

Pepper Martin Takes Course in Welding

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—Pepper Martin has a baseball manager's contract for 1943, but he's enrolled in an aircraft welding just in case.

The former St. Louis Cardinal managed Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league last year, and has been signed to pilot the Rochester team of the International league season.

He also plays the musical jug.

Fred Perry Will Not Take Up Tennis Again

SANTA ANA, Calif., Jan. 26 (AP)—"I haven't gone out on top. Why should I start again at the bottom of the heap?" asks Fred Perry, who says he's permanently out of tennis because of an elbow injury.

Perry, 34, said he was injured in a fall on the court while playing against Bobby Riggs in Madison Square Garden, New York, December 22, 1941.

"I knew the arm would never be the same," the former British Davis cup star explained. A United States citizen since 1940, he's now a staff sergeant in the army air force.

Ex-Dodger Is New Electro Coach

ELECTRA, Tex., Jan. 26 (AP)—Thurman (Tugboat) Jones, former ABILENE Christian college and Brooklyn professional Dodgers football star, is the new head coach of Electro high school, succeeding Harry Chambliss, who resigned to work as an engineer on a government project at Knoxville, Tenn.

SERIAL STORY 'I AM A MURDERER' BY MORRIS MARKEY

UNSOLED MYSTERY CHAPTER XXV 'It seems that we face a very clear situation,' Lieutenant Thatcher said. 'Quite clear,' Captain Meehan answered. Cynthia looked at them, at Mitchell Grace and Henry Prentiss. 'Please explain it to me,' she asked. Lieutenant Thatcher looked at Captain Meehan again, and nodded slightly, and Captain Meehan, staring at the steeple made by his joined fingertips, spoke quietly: 'The facts are simple. We are dealing with a man who appeared, literally, from nowhere, pretending to be someone else altogether. Such an assumption could be altered only by a message from your friend Mr. Stewart, saying that this Vaughan Dunbar really was his friend, and really bore a letter of introduction to you. Under the circumstances, I do not expect such a message. 'He used great shrewdness to work his way into your house. He committed his crime in the most ostentatious way possible—in full view of dozens of people. What does that tell us? Simply that he intends to vanish into the nowhere from which he emerged. Actually, he told us that much in the note he left behind. 'He knows that we shall never find a hint of the past from which he came—or at least he thinks he knows that. And he is equally confident that we shall not find the way into his future. 'And what does that mean to us, who pursue him? Just this: We know nothing of his trail before he came into your lives. And that trail has broken off now, as abruptly as it started. It breaks off at the automobile he abandoned, after managing with such cleverness to get clear of the immediate vicinity of this house. 'Where does it lead from there? Perhaps to another automobile, which he had planted in that selfsame parking lot. Or to any of several bus lines leading away from the place. Or to half a dozen railroad stations on two different lines, all within easy walking distance: Garden City itself, Country

Life Press, Hempstead, Nassau Boulevard, Mineola—of course we have checked them all. With no results whatever. 'We have notified every city and town in the country to look for him. All airports have been under special observation for days. The only comfort we may find is the fact that disappearing is very difficult business indeed. It does not happen often. And I think you know that we never give up.' He looked at Lieutenant Thatcher, who nodded approval. And Lieutenant Thatcher said: 'Our main chance now is to find out more about the early life of your father, Miss Merrivether.' ON Friday, a cablegram came from Bill Stewart. He had heard of Vaughan Dunbar some years ago. Had never met him. Understood he had died somewhere. Nor did fortune thereafter attend the inquiry into the earlier life of Colonel Merrivether. As a matter of plain truth, the first that could really be learned of him was his appearance on the Chicago scene, and subsequently at Denver and in Canada, about five years before the day that he called for Cynthia at the convent, and brought her out into the world. The knowledge that could be gained of him moved in the conventional channels of business, mining promotions and such kindred enterprises. But information about him, as a human being, was scant indeed. For there were no relatives that could be found, no old friends, and for that matter no old enemies. Mitchell Grace produced such files as existed, and told of the matters upon which his time had been occupied. They were, to the astonishment of all concerned, of trifling importance. A small handful of shares here and nibbling purchases of interest in mines or corporations. There were huge reserves of shares and bonds and of cash in several New York and Chicago banks. His will could not be found. And his lawyers, whom he had consulted most infrequently, had never drawn one for him. Which meant, of course, that in good time all of his wealth would fall to Cynthia. The excitement of the newspapers cooled and died. Men of the police visited Stone House less and less frequently. People at the Broken Hill club began to talk of other things than the dramatic death of Colonel Merrivether.

And the trail of Vaughan Dunbar still ended where it always had ended, at the door of a Packard roadster in Garden City. JUST after Thanksgiving, Cynthia went to Honolulu. She closed the house, and carried Fred West's cousin Anne with her. Her spirits had risen, of course, because they were of a sort that nothing could keep subdued beyond a certain space of time. But in that setting it would have been hard for her to recover all of her old verve and gaiety. Her sense of decency and the fitness of things would have interfered. She knew this instinctively. And she had it explained, gently but categorically, by Henry Prentiss. And it was, as a matter of fact, Henry Prentiss who suggested Hawaii, and Anne. She liked both ideas immensely. The whole notion of change, of new scenes, seemed to revive her. Henry Prentiss and Mitchell Grace and Fred West drank wine with Cynthia and Anne in the sitting room of their quarters aboard ship on the night they sailed away. They were taking the long way 'round, through the Canal and touching at Los Angeles and San Francisco. There were no anguished faces nor heavy sighs—even if there was no carefree laughter. Henry Prentiss said, 'Well, now it's so long, Miss Pretty, and good traveling.' 'Goodbye, you old shoe.' 'Send picture postcards.' 'In all colors.' 'Saying, 'Wish you were here'—always saying that.' 'And, 'X is my room.' The gong boomed through the companionways and a piping boy's voice called, 'All ashore that's going ashore.' Cynthia said, 'You'll let me know quickly if—if anything—if they find—' 'Yes, Miss Pretty. . . Goodbye. . . Goodbye. . . Goodbye. The siren bellowed and drowned all last words. And Prentiss and Grace and West were on the pier standing and waving. And the ship wore out into the river channel. The three men got into a taxicab, and Henry Prentiss said, 'Gentlemen, the occasion seems appropriate for something a little serious in the way of partaking. Am I right?' 'Oh, yes, you are,' said Fred West and Mitchell Grace. Prentiss said to the driver, 'Tim Costello's bar on Third avenue. It's that one with sawdust on the floor.' (To Be Continued)

Banks to Handle Ration Coupons

Pampa banks will have an extra chore beginning Wednesday, January 27, when both the First National bank and the Citizens Bank & Trust company execute ration coupon banking. This is a war service that the government has asked the banks to undertake under which wholesalers and larger retailers will be required by the office of price administration to open ration bank accounts in the banks in which they customarily do business. Into these ration accounts wholesalers and retailers will deposit the ration coupons received from their customers against which they will draw special ration checks when ordering new supplies. Ration coupon banking is a new plan of handling a lot of work now done by 5,500 rationing boards. The plan does not affect the regular money or check accounts of the public nor will housewives, motorists and other individuals who purchase rationed commodities be affected. BUY VICTORY STAMPS

INCREASED PRODUCTION OF VEGETABLE OILS ARE SOUGHT

Government To Spend Hundred Million Dollars

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The government plans to spend about $100,000,000 in "incentive payments" to farmers for increased production of soybeans, peanuts, grain sorghums, flax, sweet potatoes and dried peas.

These crops, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said last night in announcing the program, are greatly needed to meet deficiencies in vegetable oils and proteins for animal feeding as well as human consumption.

The incentive payments, he added, are part of the department's program to aid farmers in producing maximum amounts of essential war products. In addition to the $400,000,000 already asked in the 1942-43 department budget for the soil conservation and domestic allotment act, congress will be requested to appropriate $100,000,000 for the new program.

A comparable program involving incentive payments, Wickard said, is being developed for increasing milk production.

The incentive program calls for payments of $15 an acre in excess of 90 per cent of the farm goal; peanuts, $30 an acre; flax, $10 an acre; dried peas, $15 an acre; grain sorghum, $8 an acre and sweet potatoes, 50 cents a bushel on the normal yield of the acreage planted over 90 per cent of the farm goal.

Acreage of soybeans would be increased from 10,500,000 to 12,000,000 this year; peanuts, 3,600,000 to 5,500,000; flax, 5,000,000 to 5,500,000; dried peas, 665,000 to 725,000; sweet potatoes, 757,000 to 1,000,000, and grain sorghum from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 acres.

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—A friend of ours named Joe dropped by to ask what's what with all these deductions from his paycheck.

He'd been reading about how congress is figuring on taking his income tax out of his check, too, in some kind of pay-as-you-go plan.

And the new price administrator had just predicted an increase of 6 per cent in prices this year.

And what would all this do to his way of living, please?

Well, Joe, we said, here's the situation right now:

The federal income tax, under present law, will take, roughly, 19 per cent of your taxable 1942 income total. Probably you haven't saved that much up, so it's got to come out of your 1943 income.

The victory tax takes 5 per cent of all you earn over $12 a week.

Social security takes 1 per cent of your entire pay, up to a total deduction of $30 a year. (Next year, unless congress changes it, the deduction will be 2 per cent; and some planners want to raise that to 5 per cent.)

Many Americans are devoting 10 per cent of their income to war bonds.

A great many people are paying 2 or 3 per cent of their paychecks in pension plans of government employment or private industry.

Many others are paying for insurance of various kinds through payroll deductions.

But, said Joe, "how about me?" He has a wife and two children. His pay is $50 a week.

Out of this comes: $5 for war bonds, $1.60 for victory tax. (That's under the "wage band" provision—there'll be an exact reckoning at the end of the year.)

$1.30 to be put aside for his 1941 federal income tax (he'll owe approximately $68 under the existing law).

$1.50 under a company pension plan, $1 for life insurance under a group policy.

$0.50 Social security deduction, $0.50 (approximately) for a group hospitalization plan.

These add up to $11.40 (that's about 23 per cent of his income). They leave him $38.60 a week. We'll see in a minute how that compares with department of labor figures on living costs.

Now—suppose congress enacts a pay roll deduction system for income taxes. The figure of 20 per cent has been mentioned frequently. This undoubtedly would replace the victory tax.

And in many cases, would mean an end to the voluntary 10 per cent for war bonds. Here's why:

In the case of our friend, a 20 per cent income tax deduction would take $10 a week off his paycheck. This would be $2.10 more than the total he presently is paying for war bonds, victory tax and income tax. His total deductions then would be increased to $11.50 (or 27 per cent of his income). That would leave him $27.10 a week.

So Joe wanted a look at the available figures on necessary cost of living.

The latest revision of the bureau of labor statistics' "maintenance level" was for Sept. 15, 1942. This standard was figured for 33 cities, allowing for regional variations in costs.

The top annual figures in this group for a family of four was $173.88 (about $33.30 a week) for Washington, D. C.; the lowest was for Mobile, Ala., $143.72 ($27.50 a week).

The halfway mark between the two extremes figures out to about $30 a week.

What kind of living does this provide for? Joe wanted to know.

The "maintenance level" is based on a computation of the WPA developer, above the minimum of "subsistence level" (or "emergency level") or relief budgets, but below the standard of the skilled worker.

It is stated that it doesn't approach the content of what may be considered a satisfactory American standard of living.

This "maintenance" figure covers food, clothes, housing, fuel and light for a hypothetical family consisting of a manual worker (one who wears overalls at work), his wife, a boy of 13, a girl of 8.

It provides for no household help, no automobile. This family would rent a four or five room apartment or house, with gas, electricity and a small radio; use ice for refrigeration; read a daily newspaper, go to the movies once a week.

The food is figured for "an adequate diet at minimum cost." The family would pay for its own medical care. No savings other than life insurance are figured in.

Everyone's situation is different, of course, we told Joe. But in most cases the war is going to mean a lower standard of living. And a lot of war workers getting much more than they ever earned before are going to find themselves pinned down by

Washington Mothers Carry Their Babies Around A La Papoose

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The nation's capital is going back to the Indians — for ideas on how to get along in these transportation-troubled days.

So baby is going to market on mama's back, a la papoose.

David Karro of suburban Arlington, Va., picked up the idea poking around among the noble red man's effects in the Smithsonian Institution. He built a pick-back papoose pack for Mrs. Karro to carry 10-month-old David, Jr., while she does the weekly shopping.

"About the only thing I mind," Mrs. Karro said today, as she hoisted her junior aboard for the trek to the grocery, "is the extra space it takes to turn around."

The idea spread to the Karro's neighbors. Mrs. Philip Arrow and Mrs. Wilbur Cohen prevailed on their husbands to rig them up with papoose packs—and the shopping trio (or sextet) upset the natives as they trudged down the street.

Except for the space question, there's only one trouble. Young David took innocent advantage of the fact that his mother's back was turned to pick up a few toys off the nearest counter.

So his father added a modern convenience the Indians never thought of — a semi-straitjacket attachment which keeps young Karro's hands from trafficking in trinkets.

Pampa to Get Cleanup Trophy

Pampa has been designated to receive a trophy "for distinguished achievement" in the national cleanup, and paint up campaign in which this city took part last spring.

City Manager Steve Matthews was informed in a letter received from Ralph W. Emerson, executive secretary of the National Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign Bureau, 1500 Rhode Island avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The trophy is being engraved and will be shipped to Pampa directly from the manufacturers, but owing to war time conditions of manufacture and transportation, it may be several weeks before the trophy arrives here, according to the secretary's letter, which is dated January 21.

"This bureau," writes Secretary Emerson, "extends its hearty congratulations to your entire organization and your cooperators in Pampa who put on this splendid campaign. Your record in salvage was so outstanding that we made a digest of it from your record and sent it to 'The Scrapper,' a publication issued in support of the government's salvage campaign."

"Your 1942 campaign in Pampa was a very definite and valuable aid to the war effort on the home front in the conservation of critical materials."

Organization of the city by blocks, each under wardens, the cooperation of clubs, and a unique parade in which all the city's street cleaning equipment was shown, highlighted the local campaign last spring.

The fact that the amount of weeds and services they can buy keeps getting smaller.

Tunisian coastal road they captured their hold.

A bulletin from British headquarters said Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 8th army scored new gains yesterday in pursuit of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces and occupied the town of Zaitia 30 miles west of Tripoli.

While the bulk of Rommel's legions apparently had retreated into Tunisia and joined the Axis Tunisian forces commanded by Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim, Axis rear-guard were reported still filtering through Zuara, 65 miles west of Tripoli, under violent bombing and machine-gunning assault by Allied warplanes.

Simultaneously, Fighting French headquarters announced that Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc's columns had entered Tripoli after a 1,200-mile drive across the Sahara desert from Lake Chad in the heart of Equatorial Africa.

On the west flank of the two-way Allied "squeeze" movement, other French troops under Gen. Giraud reported to have thrown back German attacks in the mountains around Ousseltia, 65 miles below Tunis.

A French communique said Gen. Giraud's soldiers halted the Nazis and then, with the arrival of U. S. armored troops, strengthened their hold north and northeast of Ousseltia.

The daring American thrust toward the Gulf of Gabes coast, apparently a small operation to test the vulnerability of the Axis coastal corridor, was made after German planes dropped a note asking: "Why don't the Americans come out and fight?"

On the Soviet front, Russia's armies drove their battle lines closer to the great German base at Rostov and deeper into the Ukraine today, spurred by Premier Joseph Stalin's rallying cry:

"Forward! To the routing of the German invaders and their expulsion over the boundaries of our motherland!"

Usually taciturn, Stalin warmly praised the Red armies, declaring they had driven 245 miles, captured more than 200,000 prisoners and routed 102 divisions—perhaps 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 troops—in their two-month-old winter offensive.

Soviet dispatches today said Russian guerrillas were operating "in the Rostov area" and credited them with wiping out 200 Axis troops.

Field dispatches said Red army spearheads were now aimed at the East from points 36 miles to the east and 70 miles to the north.

Other Soviet gains reported by the Russian command included the recapture of all of strategic Voronezh, about midway on the Moscow-Belaya Glinka, 90 miles southeast of Rostov.

In the Ukraine, Soviet troops were reported within 10 miles of the big Voroshilovgrad industrial center while other Red army columns advanced toward the steel city of Kharkov, the "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine."

Here's What We Mean by Thousands of Planes a Year

Have a look, Hitler. Here are some of the thousands of warplanes America is making in 1943 to more than double 1942's production of 48,000 aircraft. This double assembly line of four-motored B-24 Liberator bombers, in foreground, and C-87 transports, rear, is at Consolidated's Fort Worth plant.

Flashes Of Life

By The Associated Press
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The contemplated victory garden in Joseph Santoro's yard yielded its first crop yesterday—a white rowboat named "Win."

Police said four boys carried the boat two blocks from the river to deposit it in the yard.

"On the Soviet front, Russia's armies drove their battle lines closer to the great German base at Rostov and deeper into the Ukraine today, spurred by Premier Joseph Stalin's rallying cry:

"Forward! To the routing of the German invaders and their expulsion over the boundaries of our motherland!"

Usually taciturn, Stalin warmly praised the Red armies, declaring they had driven 245 miles, captured more than 200,000 prisoners and routed 102 divisions—perhaps 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 troops—in their two-month-old winter offensive.

Soviet dispatches today said Russian guerrillas were operating "in the Rostov area" and credited them with wiping out 200 Axis troops.

Field dispatches said Red army spearheads were now aimed at the East from points 36 miles to the east and 70 miles to the north.

Other Soviet gains reported by the Russian command included the recapture of all of strategic Voronezh, about midway on the Moscow-Belaya Glinka, 90 miles southeast of Rostov.

In the Ukraine, Soviet troops were reported within 10 miles of the big Voroshilovgrad industrial center while other Red army columns advanced toward the steel city of Kharkov, the "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine."
