Slaying of Navy Wife Admitted

ALBANY, Ore., April 17 (AP)—Another alleged confession, laden with references to weird, impelling voices, was added today to the state's evidence against Robert E. Lee Folkes, young negro dining car cook on trial for the lower 13 murder of a naval officer's attractive bride. The statement, admitted to the trial record only after a long legal argument, represented Folkes as having said he was driven by the mysterious voices to enter the sleeping berth of Mrs. Richard F. James and cut her throat when she started to make an outcry. It was the third alleged confession to be introduced, the other two having come from Los Angeles officers who arrested and questioned Folkes several days after the tragedy aboard a southbound train out of Portland on the early morning of January 24. The third statement was taken, prosecutors said, when Folkes was returned here for trial.

The voices—"A big one and a little one," Folkes was quoted as saying, drove him to the berth in dimly-lit car D, urged him to climb in over the sleeping woman, and to cut her jugular vein when she resisted.

"When I got into the berth and was astraddle of the woman," prosecutor Harlow Weirick read from the statement, "a squiddy little voice told me to go ahead; and I plunged the knife into her."

NEW YORK, April 17 (U. S. Dept. of Commerce)—Buses exhibited at selected stock specialties in today's stock market but further lightening of commitments retarded many gains. The two-hour volume of around 100,000 shares compared with better than a million last Saturday. The last got off to a fairly steady start, and, while minor fractional advances were distributed near the close, minor markets were plentiful. Oils were aided by talk of a boost in crude oil prices; earnings, both actual and prospective, provided props for the carriers. Action of the senate in voting against an extension of the president's power to develop the dollar-chilled gold mining stocks. Shares on most of the time some eventually selected included Standard Oil (N.J.), Houston Oil, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio, Bethlehem, Consolidated Edison, Curtis Publishing, Paramount Pictures, Woodworth, Warner Bros., Schenley, Hiram Walker, Goodrich, Frigidaire, Kuppenott, Westinghouse, Boeing and Philip Morris. Home-stake and McIntyre, however, among the solids, were down a point or so each. Occasional losers were Western Union, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Du Pont, General Electric, International Harvester and Johns-Manville.

Motorists Needed To Make Unique Gas Saving Test

Every patriotic Texas citizen interested in conserving our resources and saving gasoline for Victory will welcome the achievement of an American inventor. Already thousands of car owners are using his invention and they report gas savings up to 30% as well as more power, smoother pickup and quicker starting. The device, called the Vacuum Gas Saver, operates on the super-charge principle. It is entirely automatic and allows the motor to breathe. The manufacturers, the Vacuum Carburetor Co., 7817-8226 W. State St., Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, are offering a Vacuumatic free to those who will test it on their own cars or trucks and help introduce it to others. Write them today!—Adv.

Farmers Declare Food Quota Will Be Met by Them

(EDITOR'S NOTE: An optimistic viewpoint from the Central Midwest highlights the fourth of six articles in which Associated Press reporters are picturing for readers of The Pampa News the national farm scene, section by section.)

KANSAS CITY, April 17 (AP)—The farmers of the central midwest figure that they and their fellow Americans on farms in other areas will come through with the nation's needed food supply.

Sure, they're having troubles and probably will have more—help shortages, machinery breakdowns, priorities, rationing and the weather.

Give them a little encouragement, a little help, a little new machinery, a break on the weather, and they say they'll do their part and more.

Take the help problem—and there is a farm help shortage. The experts have propounded several solutions—high school boys, women and children, assign the soldiers.

Farmers say that no one of those suggestions holds the answer. Talk aren't very strong for the idea of having green hands help out, or of herding city boys around showing them what to do, or of relying on women.

Farm machinery is a problem. New machinery is short.

But Frank Spink, of Kansas City, secretary of the Western Retail Hardware Men's association, and someone in W.P.B. had the foresight to insist on ample materials for repair parts, and "implement men and farmers give thanks daily to this individual" because these parts are helping keep the old machinery in operation.

Farmers also do more pooling of machinery than ever before, although farmers are noted for their neighborly assistance in times of need.

While some farm land will be idle this year because of the farmers' inability to obtain help, most of the good, productive farms in this area will be worked.

Most reports are that farmers are planting more this year than ever before.

Many farmers, when they talk freely, say, in substance:

"Get rid of the red tape, get rid of all those papers and questionnaires we have to sign, take off the restrictions, and let us alone!"

"There you have the farmer's plea: A little help, machinery, repair parts, good weather, keep out of the way and stand by for results."

Don't sell the farmer short just yet, he says.

Lack Of Profit Incentive Forces Out Independents

AUSTIN, April 17 (AP)—Lack of profit incentive is forcing independent oil producers to sell their properties to major companies at an alarming rate, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson asserted.

In 1941, independent operators discovered 77 per cent of Texas' new fields, while in 1942 their discoveries declined to 48 per cent, his statement claimed.

The statement was issued shortly before Thompson left for Washington to urge the need for a crude oil price increase before the House Small Business committee and the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee.

"We are going to be short of crude oil with which to make gasoline unless prompt encouragement is given to wildcatting," Thompson predicted.

"We are consuming oil five times as fast as we are discovering new oil pools."

Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Illinois cannot produce any more oil daily than they are now producing without great damage to the wells."

"G. I. Varieties," composed of 40 persons from Pampa army air field, was presented at the Borger High school Thursday to aid that city's war bond drive.

Lieuts. Edward C. Alloo, J. Dickson and Harold B. Smith spoke briefly on war bond purchases of men in service and what our armed forces are doing, spurring the sale of additional bonds.

Following the show, members of the cast were guests for a supper at the American Legion hall, where the post orchestra, featuring vocalist Barry Shuman, proved a sensation.

Saturday night, "G. I. Varieties" was presented in the recreation hall of the Cactus ordnance plant, 12 miles north of Dumas, for employees of the plant.

Rainbow Division Is Formed Again

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—The famous Rainbow Division—officially the 42d Infantry division—will be reconstituted July 14 at Camp Crozier, Okla., secretary of war Stimson announced today.

In command will be Brig. Gen. Harry J. Collins, a native of Chicago and graduate of the Western Military academy at Alton, Ill., who has been assistant commander of the 89th division.

So nicknamed during the first World War because its troops came from all parts of the country, the re-activated Rainbow will have men from every state and the District of Columbia.

The original division had a distinguished record, including the breaking of the Kriemhilde Stellung sector of the Hindenburg line, and suffered 13,919 casualties.

Tuberculosis, Flu Increase in Texas

AUSTIN, April 17—The state department of health today reported continued above-median incidence of tuberculosis, dysentery, influenza, measles, meningitis, typhus and whooping cough. Tuberculosis, the report said, remains in first place in mortality among the communicable diseases.

Chemically-treated wood resists rot and has an estimated length of life three to 10 times that of untreated wood.

Despite a steady growth in population the United States in 1940 had fewer children under 15 than it had in 1920.

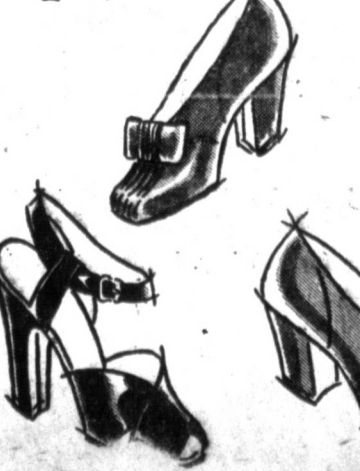

Pasteur's germ theory of disease, established in the 1870's, led to identification of the causes of many major ills.

The average length of life for Americans in 1860 was approximately 40 years, as against 64 years today.

Zalonis Wins Bond Contest

Pfc. Alvin Zalonis of the 853rd TEPITS, Pampa army air field won the first prize of $5 in the War Bond contest sponsored by The Pampa News for soldiers of Pampa field with the following answer to the question of "Why I am buying War Bonds."

"Investment, mind you, investment of your funds in War Bonds is a must when reviewing past privileges taken for granted, which are many. Buying War Bonds is a small sacrifice in anticipation of future happiness and security. Think before you waste, it may be your own future safety you spend."

Second prize of $3 went to Pvt. Max Kowalsky, Det. 908th QM co. Avn. (Serv.), with the following: "Donning khaki didn't satisfy my obligations to my country. It was equally vital to provide the sinews for our global war. In combat, I may be thankful that I actively participated in the soundest investment in the world. I have done my bit, now I will do my best."

Pvt. Nick E. Riley, 454th base Hq. & A. B. Sqdn., won third prize of $2 with: "You ask me why I'm buying war bonds and stamps—well, I've got four brothers in service and I feel that every little bit I can do to hasten the end of this war, will help bring us together again. Therefore I'm buying one bond every month."

The News also is giving honorable mention prizes of $1 to each of the following: Sgt. Hugh R. Best, 454th; Spl. Myron P. Reichardt, 853rd; Aniclo M. Orsini, 1103rd; Reuben Anderson, Jr., 454th; Cpl. S. G. Lemmons, 1104th; and Cpl. F. R. Ward, 454th.

Patrolman's Story Brief, To The Point

An Associated Press story telling how a state highway patrolman made a daily report could have applied to Charles H. Ballard, former patrolman stationed here, now in the U. S. army.

Ballard took the examination but failed to qualify for the finals, so he too might have written: "8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.—In Austin to take examination for promotion to sergeant."

"4:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.—En route home, still a private." It could also have applied to lots of other patrolman, who took examinations several months ago for promotion to sergeant.

Accuracy Taught Aerial Gunners, Bombarriers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of four columns on the United States aviation training program, obtained in a 14-day tour of flying training command centers.)

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE Associated Press War Editor HEADQUARTERS, AAF FLYING TRAINING COMMAND, Ft. Worth, April 17—The men in this command who are learning to do the actual business, the bombardiers and gunners, are being taught a pin-point accuracy which appears to be responsible for the big and overgrowing edge that we are getting in air combat overseas.

Of all the men being trained to make up the bomber crews, the gunners are the oldest and the only ones who are graduated as enlisted men instead of officers. Their age limit is 35 against the top of 26 for the others.

At Tyndall Field, Ala., during a tour of flying training command stations, I saw every phase of the shooting that helps produce the men who man the turret, waist and tail guns of our bombers.

These men fire everything from a BB machinegun to the 50 caliber machinegun, and are being trained to serve as radio operators, armorers or flight engineers since the air force has decided now that making a man a gunner and nothing else is too costly.

The use of weapons and the sound of exploding shells become commonplace to the student gunner. By the time the student begins to fire from an airplane at an aerial target under tow, it is the intention that he operate the turret controls automatically.

The bombardier cadets, who like the navigators and pilots are prospective commissioned officers, have a more complicated job.

They are taught to hit exactly what they are intended to hit. Bombardier cadets were seen at their training in the great school near Midland, Texas, where for 12 weeks they learn a flat target area spread over half a dozen level Texas counties.

This is an advanced school, under command of one of the earliest and ablest bombing enthusiasts, Col. John P. Kenny. While we were there, Brig. Gen. Isaiah Davies, the present commanding general of the 34th flying training wing but until recently himself the Midland commander, was back looking over his old command.

Flying on a practice mission at Midland was to me, one of the most interesting single incidents during a 14-day visit to all sorts of training fields in this command. The men bombed from levels of 500 feet and 11,000 feet, the targets being Japanese battleships painted in white on the ground. To crouch over

'House of Magic' Is Seen At Field Saturday

Did you ever see an electric light bulb lighted by an ordinary safety match? Did you ever see a toy train that would back up when you told it to and go forward at your spoken command? Did you ever see an electric lamp lighted by electricity passing through a man's body? Did you ever see a man shake hands with his own shadow, then wrap it up and put it in a box?

If you're a soldier at Pampa army air field, those are only a few of the things you saw at the General Electric "House of Magic" show Saturday night.

C. Edward Gulesing, a magician and a master of sleight-of-hand tricks, presented the G-E show for the "G. I. S." at Pampa.

Keeping pace with the new developments of the G. E. research laboratory, the science show featured new developments in the field of radio and engineering. The "House of Magic" demonstrations were first given at the Chicago World's Fair, and were later repeated at the one in New York. At the present time, four shows such as the one to come to Pampa are touring the nation visiting military camps.

Greater Oil Output

In May Is Sought

AUSTIN, April 17 (AP)—Texas' daily crude oil production in May should be boosted by from 30,000 to 272,000 barrels above the current average daily flow of 1,382,000 barrels, members of the Railroad commission had asserted today.

Estimates by the three commissioners of increased daily demand for Texas crude next month were:

Beauford Jester—100,000 barrels. Olin Culberson—272,000 barrels. Ernest Thompson—30,000 barrels.

At the same time the commission released a report indicating that refineries can handle an additional 47,550 barrels of sour crude daily.

"The current crude shortage, increased consumption caused by the war and the need to build up stocks of burning oils for next winter all point to the imminent need of greater crude production," Culberson said.

Advocating regular and orderly production "without waste from fields that can produce without waste," Jester asserted that intensified fighting in Africa and possibly in Europe this spring and summer necessitated an immediate boost in Texas' crude flow.

Thompson cited increasing demands of the big inch line as justifying a 30,000 barrel daily increase for May.

This Spring is Different!

—AND THE SPRING TUNE-UP OF YOUR CAR SHOULD BE DIFFERENT, TOO!

NO MORE TOP SPEEDS! You'll be driving at "35-and-under" this spring and summer—and that means that your car's timing, circuit breaker, carburetor, spark plugs, choke and heat controls should be adjusted for smoother performance at today's low speeds.

LESS DRIVING Your generator and voltage regulator should be put in top condition now to guard against the possibility of a rundown battery later on. Your battery itself should be checked, too—now and at regular intervals in the months to come.

CARS ARE BEING DRIVEN LONGER As your car's mileage goes higher—as your brakes, lights, tires and steering system grow older—a thorough check-up of all these safety features becomes vitally important to the security of yourself and your family.

SLOWER DRIVING—SHORTER TRIPS When you don't drive very much or very far, it's important to keep fresh, clean oil in your engine—because at slow speeds and during short trips your crankcase ventilation system has less chance to prevent oil dilution. Now's a good time, too, to have your car's lubricant changed for summer protection.

NO MORE HIGH-OCTANE GAS We use lower-octane gas today, so our flyers may have high-octane fuel. To prevent wasteful "pinging," your engine should be readjusted to its new diet. Whether you need a valve grind, carbon removal, or timing adjustment, we do the job right.

LESS GASOLINE In addition to giving your car a gas-saving, spring-time engine tune-up, you should also have it thoroughly checked for other causes of fuel waste, such as dragging brakes, leaky gas lines, or the use of lubricants that are too stiff and heavy for today's low-speed driving.

OLDSMOBILE SERVICE

This wartime spring, it's important that you get your car set not only for warmer weather, but also for the new kind of driving you're doing today. We offer a springtime service program specifically designed to do both of these jobs for you. Whether you drive an Oldsmobile, or some other make of car, why not come in and find out about this special Oldsmobile service!

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

URGENT PUBLIC NOTICE

From every fighting front comes a cry for help!

This is IT! This is the call you must heed—the plea you must respond to. On every fighting front America moves ahead. In the tortuous swamps of the tropics, on the raging seas, over the air of Europe and in Africa our troops are striking hard.

And from everywhere there comes a cry for help.

"More tanks, more guns!" cry the soldiers.

"More planes, more bombs" beg our flying squadrons.

They're ready, eager to strike at the enemy. And they turn to America—to YOU—for help.

And that is why your Government makes this urgent public appeal asking us to lend it 13 billion dollars during these momentous days. NOW... as America takes the offensive

... your dollars must take the offensive, too!

You must act at once!

Yes, it's going to be hard to dig deeper. It's going to be hard to give up all spending except for the necessities of life. It will be easy for the part-time patriot to find excuses for himself. But think of what the millions of men fighting this war are giving up! Think of the thousands who have given their lives and the many more who are prepared to do so. If you can still face this one fact squarely and fail to buy more War Bonds and still more War Bonds—then no appeal in the world can reach your heart.

Invest in your own security!

During this drive (beginning April 12th), you may be visited by one of the thousands of volunteers who are working to make this 2nd Drive a great success. Welcome him! Because he's there to help you make the safest investment in the world—at a good rate of interest.

Listen to what he has to tell you. See which of the various types of War Bonds and other securities is best fitted to your needs. And remember, every dollar you lend means another step towards security after this war. It means money to take advantage of the many opportunities that will be open to you when peace comes. Money that will guarantee you what you want in the future.

But don't wait for the War Bond representative to call. Go, right now, to your nearest bank or Post Office or place where they sell War Bonds. Buy all you can—and then more! Join the big offensive! Answer your country's call for help!

There are 7 different types of U. S. Government securities—choose the ones best suited for you:

Your Home

Has a Wartime Job to Do

It's not a production job, either. There's no need to tear out partitions, reinforce the floors and bring in a load of machinery. There's no necessity for converting your snug little home into a factory.

Quite to the contrary . . . the part your home has to play in this war is to be a cosier, happier, more beautiful home than ever before . . . inside and out. It can not . . . it must not show any signs of let-down. This nation is made up of homes and it's the homes we're fighting for; so we've got to keep them up!

This is not much to ask, yet it is vitally important. It simply means that we are to keep them fresh, clean, well painted, attractively furnished. When the living room suite plays out, we are to have it re-upholstered or buy a new one. When the rugs show unmistakable wear, we are to replace them. We've just got to give our home the same attention that we would give to our own personal appearance. We've got to keep it a worthy representative of America . . . fine and clean and beautiful!

Keep On Buying WAR BONDS!

"1. Is discharged by his last employer.

"2. Is laid off for an indefinite period of for seven days or more.

"3. Can establish that his present employment does not utilize him as his highest skill or that he is not being employed at full time."

But the order forbade issuance of a statement "solely on the ground that the individual's wage or salary rate is substantially less than that prevailing in the locality for the same or substantially similar work."

It directed that the statement show the worker's name, the name and address of the issuing employer or WMC officer and office, the date of issuance, and "a statement to the effect that the worker may be hired elsewhere in an essential activity."

Emphasizing that its terms bind employes as well as employers, the order said: "No individual shall accept new employment with an employer if the employer is prohibited from hiring him under this regulation."

But the order said also: "Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to prejudice existing rights of an employe under any agreement with his employer."

By imposing controls over worker-shifts from one employer to another, the McNutt-Byrnes regulations acted to plug the most obvious weakness in wage control as exercised by the War Labor board.

The WLB was empowered to hold down wage boosts by an employer to people he already had hired, but it was powerless to prevent an employer from taking on new workers at increased pay scales or to prevent workers from getting boosts by shifting to new employers.

McNutt is seeking to shift 3,200,000 workers this year from less to more essential jobs.

Of Cabbages and Queens

By Jane Bara

The day began in black and gray. The monarchs were like these before. But ended in a rush of green; For Spring had knocked upon the door. Helen McLaughy Things do go so contrary-like around here. I wanted to hit upon an especially novel, out of the way article for this column. Something that nobody has ever written or talked about before. Some discussion which would come upon the world as a starter—some subject that will attract by its novelty, invigorate by its surprising freshness. I had a beautiful idea the other day, but for some reason it didn't work out, and the only thing I have on mind today is the weather; as it is always wretched, according to us. The weather is like the government, always in the wrong. In summer time we say it is stifling; in winter it is killing. If December without snow we indignantly want to know what has become of our good old-fashioned winters, and talk as if we have been cheated out of something we bought and paid for; and when it does snow, our language is a disgrace to a Christian nation. We shall never be content until each man makes his own weather and keeps it unto himself. If that cannot be arranged we would rather do without it altogether.

Civilians do a lot of talking about keeping up the service men's morale, but from here it looks like they are doing a pretty fair job of it themselves.

Something out of the ordinary is now underway at the local U. S. O. center. A group of soldiers got together and decided to do some art work. There are only five or six in the group, and at present some of them are on leaves and furloughs. The U. S. O. however, has ordered art supplies for them, and before long we will probably be seeing some good results. Mrs. Pagan, U. S. O. hostess, is not to be out-done either—she is doing some chalk sketches along with the rest of them.

It is imagination, individuality, self-reliance and initiative that are going to win this war for America, not only on the field of battle but on the home front as well—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

How many persons ordering a complete dinner—cocktail, soup, salad, meat course, vegetables, dessert, and drink—eat all of the food that is placed before them. Well, that is the question among restaurant owners today, and it may not be long until there won't be any such thing as a full course dinner.

Have you started your Easter hat hunt? This year, despite the wartime austerity of life, you'll find the spring crop of headgear more varied, flattering and plentiful than ever. It's a bumper year for hats!

Are you planting a Victory Garden? This question is being asked every day, and some of the less energetic souls have dragged out their old straw hat and started to work in their onion patch, just to be able to answer "yes" to that question. In some cases it is purely a matter of self defense, but it is also a swell way to do your part, not to mention the amount it saves on your grocery bill, the number of ration coupons it saves, and the amount of pleasure it lends to your normal living. Somebody said something about it adding vim—vigor—and takes pounds off your figure. So with hopes for your gardening success I leave you among your corn stalks and egg plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harrah are working with a vengeance this year in their victory garden. Last year, Mrs. Harrah and Mrs. Don Hurst combined their energies, and produced a bumper crop in vegetables. It started out, I hear, as a Victory Garden, but before the summer was over they had a regular garden of it.

New things have been added to Mrs. Harrah's garden that are a bit unusual around these parts. Even strawberries.

Mrs. Hurst has turned her attention to her cattle, so she dons her western clothes and works hard.

Some members attending the panel discussion that was presented by seven students from the Pampa High school, at the meeting of the B and F W. club, were very impressed. These students came across with amazingly intelligent theories about the United Nations. And congratulations are in order for Jesse Bumpass for her excellent work with the students.

Now let's get personal. For it is a personal problem. We on the home front face one of the most personal challenges of this war to date. That challenge is whether or not we are willing to sacrifice to a sufficient extent to keep our government from billion dollars within the next few weeks. To do this job, you and I, and everyone we know are going to have to dig deep into our carefully salted away bank account.

This is the picture up to date—From the United States alone there has been 15,000 casualties. To win the war is going to cost more and more lives, and more and more money. But the price of freedom is not high. We cannot let our men down. It is not only an excellent opportunity the government offers us, but it is a patriotic duty of every person that calls himself an American citizen, to buy all he can in War Bonds.

Home on vacation this week from the University of Texas are Kirk Duncan, Jerry Thomas, and Richard Sacks. These boys are in the Army Reserve, and are expecting their call for active duty in a few days. They will return to Austin today.

On Love Stuff—Washington receives explicit reports on the reaction of servicemen to motion pictures exhibited in their cantonments. The data according to communicans from the field, shows that soldiers and sailors resent shorts in which a civilian walks off the stage with the girl on his arm. Doughboys and gobs do not want to see a "Civvie" emerge victorious in the war of love. Looks as though a fellow out of uniform hasn't much of a chance these days either.

Of interest to golfers—Miss Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta won the North-South women's golf title last week by defeating Jane Crum, of S. C. Her victory over Miss Crum was the smallest by which she had ever won any of her matches.

Perhaps by this time the idea has sufficiently gone the rounds, but in case no one has mentioned the "Good Neighbors" to you, it's high time you were finding out about it.

"The Good Neighbors" is a group of Pampa women, who have agreed to be real old-fashioned neighbors to the wives of the enlisted men here in Pampa.

The idea was developed when Major Adler addressed a group of women here, and told them of the need of these wives of enlisted men for a little bit of neighborliness every once in a while. As it is, these young wives are residents in Pampa for only four and a half months, therefore, they haven't the time to really become acquainted with neighbors who will run in with a bowl of soup when someone is sick, run errands, perhaps, or maybe just come in and spend the afternoon.

The club has been organized for about a month now; this week and last the club has been very busy. At present there are only 25 members. If there were a hundred women in the club, it would mean that each enlisted man's wife would be called on once in every month or two. If you will offer your services, telephone Mrs. W. B. Weathered, at 1383, or Mrs. A. H. Doucette, at 75. These ladies are co-chairmen, and they will be pleased to add your name to the Good Neighbors Service club. It is a fine idea, and is worthy of your cooperation.

Here is a bit of Cripps philosophy that was exposed to the literary world while he wasn't riding the hounds and drinking tea: "It is better to do a little thoroughly and with success than to fail ambitiously."—Sir Stafford Cripps.

From the deep south comes word that Lt. and Mrs. Clyde W. Boley are enjoying themselves in Lub. Mrs. Boley is the former Betty J. McAfee of 117 1-2 Foster. Lt. Boley is assigned to Barksdale Field, and is on duty there with a bombardment squadron.

Men who for years have been working with "Bill" and "Jim" now find themselves operating machines beside "Tully" and "Sally"—The men explain they don't skip out for manures or anything of the sort, but working with the feminine species has directed their attention toward neatness.

Here is something to turn over your giggle reservoir . . . I went down town. To take in the sights. I saw those things called incandescent lights. I know darned well what I'm talking about. Cause they put 'em up in bottles so you can't blow 'em out.

There'll always be an America, if we back up our men with the equipment they need. Buy the bonds that "outfit" the outfit fighting for you.

Davis Denies OWI Suppresses Truth

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—Fifteen recently resigned members of the office of war information staff said in a statement today they were leaving "because of our conviction that it is impossible for us X X X to tell the truth."

Among those signing the statement—immediately denied by OWI Director Elmer Davis—were Harold K. Guinsburg, New York book publisher, and Henry F. Pringle, Pulitzer prize winning author.

"There is only one issue—the deep and fundamental one of the honest presentation of war information," their statement said.

Davis told a press conference yesterday that he believed the resignations were due to a clash of personalities and that he hoped most of those who resigned would reconsider.

More and more letters came from our soldiers to the Red Cross about comfort kits. Formerly these were given only to service men as they embarked for overseas duty.

Metro Taps New Field In Historic Drama

BY BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Two musicals, one typical Damon Runyon comedy, an aviation picture, and a historical drama offer variety in theme to Pampa film fans this week.

Topping a new field of history previously overlooked by the movie makers, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has turned out a film with the background of the period immediately after the War Between the States, titled "Tennessee Johnson", showing Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the LaNora.

CROWN

Technicolor and romances are combined in 20th Century-Fox's "Thunder Birds", made at Thunderbird and Falcon fields in Arizona. Gene Tierney, Preston Foster, and John Sutton are the principals in this story of an RAF trainee's course. Showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

STATE

Great music of Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, the skating of Sonja Henie, are features of 20th Century-Fox's "Ice Land" in which Henie and John Payne are the leading players. Payne has the role of a U. S. marine whose unit is stationed on the island. Showing Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

REX

GEORGE WAS THERE

No one could overlook the sizable George Duval visually but somehow this writer omitted his name from the list in a story of those attending the send-off party for John Monroe, now manager at Wink. Apologies to Duval, who did a bang-up job as master of ceremonies at the party.

TITLES REFLECT CHANGE

That America's thoughts since Pearl Harbor have lightly turned from thoughts of love to the more serious business of the war's winning is interestingly reflected in the titles of motion pictures released during 1942, and just published in the new 1943 Film Daily Year Book, reference volume of the film industry. Statistics show that not a single feature attraction had in its title the word "Marriage," and the nearest thing to divorce

Glorifying Yourself

BY ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

Shoe rationing may turn out to be a blessing in disguise. Those of us who have complained for years about how tired we were after a shopping tour downtown, may discover that it was due to nothing more than wearing the wrong size shoes.

Today, salesmen are urging us to try on a size larger than we've been used to wearing, just to see if they aren't a mite more comfortable. They realize that your shoe coupon is far too precious to be wasted on shoes that are too short or too tight.

As a matter of fact, one authority believes that most people should wear a size larger and two sizes wider than they do. "Fit your foot not your mind," is the way a famous Fifth Avenue shoe craftsman puts it. And try this test. Insert your forefinger between your heel and the back of your shoe. If you can manage to slip it in, then your shoes are large enough to allow your feet to expand.

Walking is wonderful exercise. But it can be just plain torture if you don't walk correctly. Most of your weight should be borne on the forward part of your foot. And hit a good brisk stride if you want to streamline your figure. Strolling will never do anything more for you than provide a bit of fresh air.

Today shoe stylists are concentrating on designing shoes that combine walking comfort and attractive styling. Make certain that the pair you purchase not only can be worn with several ensembles, but really fit. And you'll probably find you're never as fagged-out or short-tempered as in the "good old days" when you could buy all the uncomfortable shoes you wanted.

Here are vital defenses against malnutrition in wartime—recipes for fresh, non-rationed vegetables. They come from "Garden for Victory," the timely guide to vegetable gardening, cooking and canning, just prepared by National Headquarters of American Women's Voluntary Services, Inc.

Carrots Fried With Apples or Onions (serves 6)

Wash and scrape medium-sized carrots and cut lengthwise into thin slices. Slice apples in rings with the skin on, slice onions in thin rings. Place carrots and onions in a frying pan with a little melted fat or bacon drippings. Cover tightly and cook until almost tender. Add the apples, sprinkle with salt and sugar, and brown well.

Scalloped Onions and Peanuts

Cut the onions in quarters; cook them in boiling water until tender. Add salt just before the cooking is completed. Drain them and save the broth for soup. Butter a baking dish. Put in a layer of onions, and sprinkle over them some ground peanuts; add another layer of onions and peanuts. Pour over all a white sauce, well seasoned. Cover the top with buttered crumbs and brown the dish in the oven. Any vegetable may be scalloped in this way. Cheese may be used in place of peanuts if desired.

Carrrot Souffle (serves 6)

One cup carrots, boiled and mashed, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 cup medium white sauce, 2 eggs, salt and paprika.

Add the carrots, the onion, and the seasoning to the white sauce. Then add the beaten egg yolks. Beat the whites of the eggs until they are stiff. Fold them lightly into the first mixture, and turn this into a buttered baking dish. Set the dish in a pan of hot water and make the souffle in a moderate oven (350-400 F.) for 30 minutes. Serve it at once from the dish in which it is cooked.

BY RUTH MILLETT

She is the mother of four children, aged respectively 15, 6, 3 and 2 years old.

She has put the younger children in a nursery school, taken a war job—and here is how she is thinking about the situation:

"I believe the children are better off than if I were with them all day, for they have supervised play outdoors and in bright rooms. Their teachers learned in college how to amuse children and how to get them to eat and take naps."

Let's not kid ourselves—we women who are in full-time war jobs or who are considering them. Our children aren't going to be better off in a nursery school. They aren't going to be better off with a mother who must put her job before their wants and their needs—a mother who has little time for them.

We are just rationalizing if we tell ourselves our children won't suffer from giving up their mother to a war plant.

Here is the true story: The woman who goes into war work can contribute toward the family income—maybe help buy a home.

She will be helping Uncle Sam. But it is doubtful whether she wouldn't be helping him more, if she is the mother of small children, by staying home and taking care of them.

CHILDREN COME FIRST She will undoubtedly find work in a war plant easier than housework, if she is the mother of several small children.

"This War No Place For Spectators" Says Council Head

"There is no place in this war for spectators," says Mrs. Maurice Turner, president of the Women's Supreme Council, B'nai B'rith, "nor can any of us afford to be satisfied with what has been done in the past."

Thus Mrs. Turner encouraged B'nai B'rith women to increase their already outstanding war bond activities during the second war loan drive. "We have already sold more than $15,000,000 worth of bonds," she said, "and we are now engaged in a campaign of our own to sell enough extra bonds to pay for a minimum of 500 pieces of fighting equipment. Extra bond buying is the crux of the treasury's second war loan drive too and it's up to us to buy extra bonds as well as sell them. The women's campaign for 'Outfitting the Outfit' ties right in with ours, and is a spur to our efforts."

She isn't. If Uncle Sam needs her worse in an airplane factory than in her own home taking care of her own children—hell tell her so. Until he does, she had better stick to her woman's job.

If we women mess up the lives of a whole generation of children—just because we couldn't resist a pay check or the urge to be "heroines"—we aren't very bright.

Mrs. J. B. White, executive secretary of the Pampa Red Cross, left a week ago for St. Louis to attend a meeting of chapter secretaries and home service workers.

Mrs. J. B. Massa, Red Cross production chairman, has just sent in her quarterly report to the St. Louis area office and it is a fine one.

During January, February and March of this year Pampa's volunteer workers have knitted 237 garments for the men in our armed forces, 26 garments for those in army and navy hospitals and 6 for civilians in war-torn countries.

To furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded in time of war—to act in matters of voluntary relief—is part of the Congressional Charter of the American Red Cross.

The women of Pampa are not letting the Red Cross down. They realize their responsibility. That woman who said, "Can't the war be won without me?" realizes now that it is true that it can be won without her, but at the cost of more blood, more tears and more money.

Mrs. Randolph Taylor is anxious to have a few more women volunteer to line demolition gloves for she wants to ship them right away. These gloves are sent to countries that are being bombed to be used by air raid squadrons.

Our chapter has been able to purchase a buttonhole maker through the national Red Cross. Its some-

Metro Taps New Field In Historic Drama

BY BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Two musicals, one typical Damon Runyon comedy, an aviation picture, and a historical drama offer variety in theme to Pampa film fans this week.

Topping a new field of history previously overlooked by the movie makers, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has turned out a film with the background of the period immediately after the War Between the States, titled "Tennessee Johnson", showing Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the LaNora.

CROWN

Technicolor and romances are combined in 20th Century-Fox's "Thunder Birds", made at Thunderbird and Falcon fields in Arizona. Gene Tierney, Preston Foster, and John Sutton are the principals in this story of an RAF trainee's course. Showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

STATE

Great music of Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, the skating of Sonja Henie, are features of 20th Century-Fox's "Ice Land" in which Henie and John Payne are the leading players. Payne has the role of a U. S. marine whose unit is stationed on the island. Showing Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

REX

hitting on the station. All for $13 a week!

BORGAN ON SCREEN

Borgans saw a Borger man in a picture at the Rig theater there recently. He was Herbert Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harper of Borger. Harper played the trombone in a musical short of Johnny "S-at" Davis' band, and more recently was a member of Gene Krupa's orchestra.

SCATTERGOOD IN O. C.

Paul Cornwell, manager of the Ritz theater, and Jimmy Kelso, both of Wellington, had breakfast together in an Oklahoma City cafe recently with Guy Scattergood. Baines Kibber was in O. C. with a USO unit. No one knew the actor was in town until a waitress recognized him, called reporters. Then came the autograph and hand-shake rush.

GEORGE WAS THERE

No one could overlook the sizable George Duval visually but somehow this writer omitted his name from the list in a story of those attending the send-off party for John Monroe, now manager at Wink. Apologies to Duval, who did a bang-up job as master of ceremonies at the party.

TITLES REFLECT CHANGE

That America's thoughts since Pearl Harbor have lightly turned from thoughts of love to the more serious business of the war's winning is interestingly reflected in the titles of motion pictures released during 1942 and just published in the new 1943 Film Daily Year Book, reference volume of the film industry. Statistics show that not a single feature attraction had in its title the word "Marriage," and the nearest thing to divorce

Shoe rationing may turn out to be a blessing in disguise. Those of us who have complained for years about how tired we were after a shopping tour downtown, may discover that it was due to nothing more than wearing the wrong size shoes.

Today, salesmen are urging us to try on a size larger than we've been used to wearing, just to see if they aren't a mite more comfortable. They realize that your shoe coupon is far too precious to be wasted on shoes that are too short or too tight.

As a matter of fact, one authority believes that most people should wear a size larger and two sizes wider than they do. "Fit your foot not your mind," is the way a famous Fifth Avenue shoe craftsman puts it. And try this test. Insert your forefinger between your heel and the back of your shoe. If you can manage to slip it in, then your shoes are large enough to allow your feet to expand.

Walking is wonderful exercise. But it can be just plain torture if you don't walk correctly. Most of your weight should be borne on the forward part of your foot. And hit a good brisk stride if you want to streamline your figure. Strolling will never do anything more for you than provide a bit of fresh air.

Today shoe stylists are concentrating on designing shoes that combine walking comfort and attractive styling. Make certain that the pair you purchase not only can be worn with several ensembles, but really fit. And you'll probably find you're never as fagged-out or short-tempered as in the "good old days" when you could buy all the uncomfortable shoes you wanted.

Carrots Fried With Apples or Onions (serves 6)

Wash and scrape medium-sized carrots and cut lengthwise into thin slices. Slice apples in rings with the skin on, slice onions in thin rings. Place carrots and onions in a frying pan with a little melted fat or bacon drippings. Cover tightly and cook until almost tender. Add the apples, sprinkle with salt and sugar, and brown well.

Scalloped Onions and Peanuts

Cut the onions in quarters; cook them in boiling water until tender. Add salt just before the cooking is completed. Drain them and save broth for soup. Butter a baking dish. Put in a layer of onions, and sprinkle over them some ground peanuts; add another layer of onions and peanuts. Pour over all a white sauce, well seasoned. Cover the top with buttered crumbs and brown the dish in the oven. Any vegetable may be scalloped in this way. Cheese may be used in place of peanuts if desired.

Carrot Souffle (serves 6)

One cup carrots, boiled and mashed, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 cup medium white sauce, 2 eggs, salt and paprika.

Add the carrots, the onion, and the seasoning to the white sauce, then add the beaten egg yolks. Beat the whites of the eggs until they are stiff. Fold them lightly into the stiff mixture, and turn this into a buttered baking dish. Set the dish in a pan of hot water and make the souffle in a moderate oven (350-400 F.) for 30 minutes. Serve it at once from the dish in which it is baked.

She is the mother of four children, aged respectively 15, 6, 3 and 2 years old.

She has put the younger children in a nursery school, taken a war job—and here is how she is thinking about the situation:

"I believe the children are better off than if I were with them all day, for they have supervised play outdoors and in bright rooms. Their teachers learned in college how to amuse children and how to get them to eat and take naps."

Let's not kid ourselves—we women who are in full-time war jobs or who are considering them.

Our children aren't going to be better off in a nursery school.

They aren't going to be better off with a mother who must put her job before their wants and their needs—a mother who has little time for them.

We are just rationalizing if we tell ourselves our children won't suffer from giving up their mother to a war plant.

Here is the true story: The woman who goes into war work can contribute toward the family income—maybe help buy a home.

She will be helping Uncle Sam. But it is doubtful whether she wouldn't be helping him more, if she is the mother of small children, by staying home and taking care of them.

CHILDREN COME FIRST

She will undoubtedly find working in a war plant easier than housework, if she is the mother of several small children.

Three Jeeps Is Goal Of High School Bond And Stamp Drive

Three jeeps is the goal of the school bond and stamp drive to be held in the high school auditorium at 9:45 o'clock Monday morning.

The rest of the stamps and bonds will be bought to finish buying the jeeps which the school wishes to buy. The total goal for the high school was $2700.

Members of the student council and Mr. Aubrey Steele, assistant principal, will be on hand to sell war stamps. Mr. E. C. Rupp speaks in behalf of the post office said that bond sellers from the post office would be present to sell bonds of the school.

Students are urged to ask their parents and friends who are going to buy bonds to let the school students buy them Monday at school so that the credit for them will be to the school.

Monday will be the last day for the bond and stamp drive for the three jeeps, one to represent each class in high school. One day these three jeeps will be seen running around in Africa with Pampa High school on the side of them. This is what your bond and stamp money will buy.

Many high schools all over the country have already sponsored jeeps and Monday students hope it can be said that Pampa High has bought three jeeps.

This drive at school will be conducted in the same manner that the first bond and stamp drive was. In the last bond selling drive in assembly $7500 of stamps and bonds were sold.

It's Time to Speak Out

The recent vote in the House of Representatives in Washington on the Gestapo bill, semi-officially called the War Security bill or the Anti-Sabotage bill, taken without a roll call so that the individuals voting for the bill would not be known, is an indication that the administration still has control of the "weak sisters."

For those who may not be familiar with the measure, let us hasten to say that it provides, among other things, that a citizen may be severely punished by the government if he suspects someone of seditious conduct and fails to report his suspicions to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

WHO'S SAVING PAPER?

Here's a suggestion from a young man on a middle western newspaper. We think it's worth considering. This is the background:

According to Sen. Raymond E. Willis of Indiana, the federal government has contracted for the use of 350,000,000 pounds of paper in 1943—an increase of 60 per cent over the 208,900,000 pounds consumed in 1941.

Common Ground

"I speak the past-word primaval. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."

DO METHODISTS NEED SEX ADVICE IN PRAYER

I recently commented on a rational point made by E. Stanley Jones on praying, in his article on "How to Pray" in the Christian Advocate, the official magazine of the Methodist Church.

The percentage of church membership, as to the whole population, is now about 20 per cent greater than it was 50 years ago. Yet, if we judge by what we have been reaping we are obliged to admit that our spiritual leadership has not produced very satisfactory results.

Listen to this as advice in the Christian Advocate. I quote: "For instance, suppose that while you are praying, your mind wanders. Don't be worried about that."

Especially is this kind of leadership of a church disheartening when it is remembered that E. Stanley Jones advocates the state doing things that people should do themselves.

And yet, the Methodist church leaders select an editor who gives more space to men like E. Stanley Jones than any other non-regularly employed person.

One cannot but wonder whether E. Stanley Jones is talking from experience when he admonishes about letting one's mind wander on sex while praying. It would seem natural to conclude that he is either doing that or he is highly little regard for the purity, intelligence and sincerity of the readers of the Christian Advocate.

FREE LABOR, THE BEST SECURITY

I was talking with an advocate of collective bargaining at a CIO meeting recently. He contended that had labor been free in France, and Germany, they would never have had a dictator.

And it is this kind of lack of freedom that is the inevitable result of the belief that 51 per cent have a right to control the selling price of the labor of 49 per cent that eventually leads to a dictator.

News Behind The News

UNEVEN: Our own assembly-line fighters have scored such dazzling records that we are inclined to overlook the production achievements of Great Britain.

In the first three months of 1942, making allowances for the difference in population, John Bull turned out a little less than two and a quarter times as much armory munitions as Uncle Sam did, and twice the weight of combat aircraft.

Before the war Britain raised one-third of her food; today her harvests supply two-thirds of her requirements. It may astonish rural communities to know that England today is the most highly mechanized farming country in the world.

When closely guarded statistics of the two nations are released later this year they will show that the United States leads in mass production totals, but the uneven flow of raw goods, absenteeism, strikes, feather-bedding and other drawbacks here may continue to prevent our matching Britain's unit-per-head rate.

SPEED: England fashioned her new industrial empire within the sound of enemy guns. Luftwaffe attacks compelled dispersion. One factory which used to occupy a single site is now scattered over five counties with forty-two centers of production.

ICE: New England, which has just weathered the most desperate fuel crisis in its history, is immediately threatened with a fresh heatless winter despite the approach of warmer days.

Around Hollywood

Now we've heard everything. For a scene in a new Leon Schlesinger cartoon, "Wise Quackin' Duck," Duffy Duck does a strip tease, getting down to his "down" when someone tries to roast him in an oven.

The sudden turn to pictures with Russian backgrounds has many of Hollywood's stock exchanges screaming murder. Instead of sinking bows, they're wearing drag Russian peasant costumes and no makeup.

Three studios are bidding for Michael Hogan's new screen play, "On the Line." It's the story of a titled English society girl who becomes a riveter in a British war plant and learns the meaning of democracy.

All About OPA's Ideal Housewife

BY PETER EDSON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

Office of Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown's "typical housewife" is having political bricks thrown at her already. Said Republican Senator Harlan John Bushfield of Miller, S. Dak., "I know her. She's from my state and if she ever lost her can opener she'd be paralyzed. She used to be Democratic national committeewoman."

Cracked back Democratic Senator Scott W. Lucas of Havana, Ill., "If she'd been a Republican national committeewoman I suppose she'd have been all right."

The lady in question is Mrs. Philip Crowley of Huron, S. Dak., who was brought into the OPA to review all price and rationing orders and make sure that they made sense and could be understood by the average woman.

Mrs. Crowley used to sign her name Leone Crowley. OPA was afraid that might identify her with Leo Crowley, alien property custodian, therefore suggested she start using her husband's given name of Philip.

Price Administrator Brown has indicated to the Senate Agriculture committee that he will enlarge his "Typical" department in the near future. In addition to Typical Housewife Crowley, Brown has asked farm lobby leaders Ed O'Neal and Jim Patton to nominate "typical farmers" to sit in OPA councils, maybe to be joined later by typical storekeepers and other such types, all of whom would try to keep price and rationing procedure from going haywire.

COOKBOOK NOTE A couple of months ago, the army announced it was publishing "The Dehydrated Foods Cooking Manual," the first American cookbook to deal exclusively with recipes for preparing dehydrated foods—apples, peaches, cabbage, eggs, milk, potatoes, etc.—and even how to make them into pies, cakes and puddings.

The idea of "priority airmail" probably won't get any place. It has been proposed to light the airmail overburden now thrown on the commercial airlines, the suggestion being based on giving preferential handling to news matter, war business papers, bank communications and rush government official mail, possibly designating the priority mail by an extra stamp for which there would be an extra charge.

Today's War Analysis

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press Writer

Mussolini the Duce, who in his more prosperous days of the war played the bolshoi part of Hitler's braying ass, is now said to be feverishly preparing to defend Italy against an expected Allied attack as soon as the Axis has been defeated in Tunisia.

Guesses that the Roman dictator guesses thus far have been wrong but he may be right in this case. Certainly an Allied attempt to invade Italy is possible, especially with so many men and such large quantities of equipment at hand.

Supposing Duce's fears are well founded, what would be the effect on the general European situation if the Allies did overrun Italy? Well, in the first place it might have the startling effect of forcing Hitler to make a quick and radical readjustment of his battle line for a finish fight, to hold that part of the continent still in his hand.

Paradoxical though it seems, such an Allied victory might have the effect of lengthening the war somewhat. Hitler, dug-in on favorable lines and conserving his resources might be a more formidable enemy for a time than he is with his energy so widely spread as now.

So far as the loss of Italy itself is concerned, the Fuehrer would be much worse off than he is present, since his hold on the Mediterranean already is broken. In deed, he might be a gainer in the long run, since he would have to supply the Italians with coal and oil, and, of course, lose the fruits of vegetables which he has been getting from his ally, and would be deprived of any further Italian labor. In the matter of defense, the Alps along the Italo-German border provide a well-nigh impassable barrier.

The loss of the Balkans would be a greater blow to Hitler than that of Italy. In abandoning the Balkans Hitler would open the road for an Allied invasion of the Peninsula, with the help of Greece, Albania, and at least a goodly part of Yugoslavia.

Despite the Allied gains which would result from an invasion of Italy, the feeling is widespread among military men that the war is likely to drag along until the United Nations put an army ashore in western France. Hitler's forces must be got between two fronts and ground to pieces. Trying to beat him by attacking on one front likely would be a long-drawn-out job.

What Mr. Wallace wanted to do was get out in the country and talk to the farmers and common people. But every place he visited, he had to have parades, protocols and punctilious. Big worry in Washington is how those three suits are standing the strain.

SERIAL STORY DARK JUNGLES BY JOHN T. FLEMING & LOIS EBY

THE STORY: Allison Toppins, society girl, is off to Guatemala, to run her father's chicote plantation. Barry Fielding has tried many times to dissuade her. At Puerto Barrios, Renaldo, her father's attorney, also warns Allison to turn back. Barry accompanies them on the arduous mule-back trek through the jungle to the plantation. Allison's stubborn courage doesn't desert her until the end of the journey when a snake strikes her neck from under her. She faints in Barry's arms.

As they climbed higher and higher above the jungle skirts of the Caribbean the trail became more strenuous. The palm trees vanished, sharp ledges of rock dotted the slopes. The fetid heat of the jungle dropped away and the air was cool and clear. Vigorous pines, cedars and tamaracs rose like a vanguard. Jose pulled up at a mountain cascade of crystal clear water that sparkled in the sunlight. He watered the mules first and then cupped his brown hands to drink himself.

"Bueno" he grinned at Barry. Barry found the water cold and sweet.

"That mountain ahead," Jose said pointing, "is Santa Maria. It was near this spot that the Quiche tribe fought the Spaniard, Alvarado. There were only 12,000 Indians. A giant quetzal, the most savage of all the mountain birds, swooped down on Alvarado. He put his lance through him. The bird dropped lifeless to the ground and with him Tecum, the Quiche chief, fell dead also. The Quiches lost the battle and many of them were sold as slaves at public auction. They have never forgotten, senior, and to this day they hate the white race." A look of fright crossed Jose's face as he spoke the words.

"You are not afraid?" Barry asked.

"Going into Quiche country is always dangerous, especially with a white stranger. You can look at the old women but never look at the young ones," Jose warned. "It is part of the blood oath of the Chichicstenango. If they ever have anything to do with a white man the sentence is death."

"It is their mines that interest me," Barry said firmly, "not their women."

THE sun shone brightly as the men removed their mules and started on their winding trail but the wind swept down from volcanic peaks was cool. On the narrow path they passed many Quiche Indians dressed in the brilliant colors of their tribe. Their lithe, strong bodies moved over the trail with incredible speed. They carried stout jumping sticks, and swung themselves from rock to rock with the speed of deer. The younger Indians paid no attention to the white men but the older ones looked at them darkly and sped on their way.

The orange rim of the sun was silently slipping behind majestic mountain peaks as the weary caravan came into the village-of-the-market-place. Long rows of brightly colored tents, like strips of colored ribbon, were unfurled against the mountain side. In front of each were displayed the owner's wares. Thick blankets of red, green and purple, baskets woven in exotic design, silver pounded into bowls and jewelry. Jose rode over to an old Indian who sat in the shadows before his tent. He spoke briefly in the sing-song language of the Quiches. The old man pointed across the way.

"What does he say?" Barry asked.

"He says the chief and his council are sitting now in the large tent over there."

Barry took the letter from the waterproof bag that Renaldo had given him and slid from his mule. Together the men walked to the chief's tent. A young warrior guarded the entrance. Jose spoke to him at some length. Finally he turned back to Barry.

"He says Quiches do not like white men but Renaldo is their friend and he will speak to the chief."

Presently the Indian came out and motioned them inside. In the dusky light of the tent Barry saw the dark ring of faces. Jose spoke to the chief and then took the letter from Barry's hand. The chief read it and nodded. Jose spoke for a long time they told him. How the American del Norte had gone to war with foreign devils to protect all men's freedom—they needed quicksilver now and needed it badly. They would not molest this country or its people. They would gladly give them half of all they mined. After he had finished speaking, the chief talked to his council. They seemed excited and waved their hands.

"What do they say?" Barry asked.

"They say Renaldo is their friend but they do not know about the white men from the north," Jose answered.

Finally the chief raised his hands and beat them on the ground before him uttering some words.

"What is that?" Barry asked.

"He says the meeting is over, we should stay as your friends tonight and they will give us their answer in the morning."

One of the Indians led them to a tent. Barry drew a blanket around him and stretched out to sleep. His head felt light, dizzy, probably from the altitude. Jose stood silently in a corner.

"Aren't you going to sleep?" Barry asked him.

"I will take my blanket and sleep out under the sky," he answered.

Barry was asleep almost before the Mexican walked away.

Little Fishies Only Get 70 Per Cent Of Their Meat Supply

BY KENNETH L. DIXON WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—It looks like Helpless Herman, the faint-hearted fish, will have to join the marines for some fighting. Or else he'll have to eat the 30 per cent of all this is that there's something fishy going on down at the Office of Price Administration — which Wednesday gave Mama Fishie her meat ration book. The red coupons therein call for 70 per cent of the amount of meat fed the little fishes last year in the nation's finny hatcheries. And if you thought that Mabel the Minnow and her kid brothers and sisters subsisted solely on worms and stuff, you're just not an ichthyologist, chum. The OPA knew better. It said that there's no suitable substitute for meat in the diet of the growing members of the scaly set. The fish-wife must feed the real young-uns on livers, kidneys and hearts, while the adolescents thrive on lungs and cattle and hog meals. (Meats are spiced — which is what gets aroused in fishermen when the fish don't bite.) Nothing was said about where the fish would get the other 30 per cent of their meat diet. Of course, rationing is supposed to divide the meat up equally—but the OPA hasn't figured out how to enforce an underwater share-the-meat system. Which means Helpless Herman will have to get there first or learn to eat subbeams. Or else go out and eat some worms—and there's a catch in that.

Well Known South Texas Rancher Dies

SAN ANTONIO, April 17 (AP)—Funeral services for Herman Josey, 90, pioneer South Texas banker and rancher, who died at a hospital here

Dies Report Reveals Nazi Plot in U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—More than five years ago, the Dies committee reported today, Adolf Hitler and his Nazi party put into operation in the United States a "diabolical scheme" for spreading Nazism throughout the world.

Several years before the committee was created by the house in 1938 to investigate un-American activities, the special report to congress related, "Hitler had already planned in our midst many of his trusted agents who were carrying on their treasonable work unmoiled."

Most of these activities, the committee explained, were investigated and exposed in earlier reports, the latest report being intended to serve as a handbook for the various government agencies and the American people to acquaint them with the technique and tactics employed by the Nazis and further to identify all of the individuals and organizations who participated in this conspiracy.

The section of the report made public today by Chairman Dies (D-Tex) dealt only with Nazi activities, the committee explaining that subsequent sections would deal with the "fifth-column" workings of other Axis powers.

Long-waited and much-discussed in the house in recent months the report was the cause of an intra-committee split which preceded the resignation of Representative Voorhis (D-Calif) from membership.

Even before 1938, the committee reported, "many of the legitimate and traditional German societies in the United States had already been diverted to the cause of Nazism," and new organizations "like the German-American Bund and the Kyffhauserbund were growing in strength."

"The embassy and consular staffs of the Nazi government in America were swelled with agents who were not performing their legitimate diplomatic or commercial functions but instead were engaging in espionage in propaganda activities," the committee charged.

The committee claimed credit for having "exposed these people and destroyed their effectiveness and influence."

The report dealt in detail with these organizations and individuals and previous committee investigations of them:

German diplomatic and consular agents, German Library of Information, German Railroads Information Service, Transoceanic News Service, People's League for Germanism Abroad, an instrument of the Nazi party for the propagation of Nazi ideas and propaganda among the people of German extraction living throughout the world, American Fellowship Forum, Fichte Associa-

Dallas Food Hoarder Was Well Prepared

DALLAS, April 17 (AP)—Here's what OPA agents found in two food hoarders' homes here:

Fifteen hams hanging in a bathroom.

Two cases of razor blades.

Fifty-two pounds of butter.

Two new automobile tires.

514 cans of food, besides 840 cans which were declared when ration books were issued.

OPA will give the illicit food to the Dallas war chest for hospitals and needy persons, but the hams hang legally in the bathroom smokehouse, because no declarations were demanded on meat.

Joe Foster, chief attorney for the district OPA, said many reports of food hoarding have been made and that his division is digging into the facts.

Stimson Reveals Patton Ordered Not to Advance

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—American troops played an important part in the major victory over the Axis in Tunisia, secretary of war Stimson said Thursday operating precisely according to plans and orders.

Stimson said he believed reports critical of American operations in Tunisia, which he said have been circulated in recent days, had not been quite fair to the American troops. Specifically, he said, the Americans had not driven through to the coast in a move to intercept the northward flight of Marshal Rommel's forces because they were under strict orders not to advance beyond a designated line in the hills west of the coastal plane.

In the master plan of the Tunisian campaign, Stimson told his press conference, the major task was given to the British eighth army, while the Americans in Central Tunisia, the French forces in the Ousselet valley and the British first army in the north were assigned to "holding operations."

Despite the relatively small size of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 2nd corps—composed of one armored and three infantry divisions—the Americans were assigned, Stimson said, to "contain" the Axis forces on a front of approximately 100 miles between El Guetar and Fondouk.

They accomplished this assignment, while operating in difficult country against the best German armored and motorized units, the secretary continued, and Patton's thrusts forced Rommel to divert so much armor to the protection of his flank that the breaking of the Mareth line by the British eighth army was greatly facilitated.

General Patton was limited to the operations assigned to him," Stimson said. "It is possible that the Allied high command weighed the possibility of a thrust to the coast. Knowing General Patton, I am sure he would have welcomed such an assignment. I happen also to know that it was not given to him."
