New House Tax Bill Calls for 1941 Rates on 1943 Income

Plan Faces Republican Opposition

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—A new pay-as-you-go tax bill, cancelling approximately 44 per cent of 1942 tax obligations, emerged from the ways and means committee today as the democratic majority sought to compromise the weary house deadlock.

House Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts promptly bid for republican support for the plan, asserting it results in "forgiveness of about $5,500,000,000" and holding out this olive branch of conciliation: "My republican friends need not fear that such action would be construed as a defeat for them or a victory for the democrats. It would be a powerful message to our enemies of legislative unity."

It would be construed as a legislative victory for all of us. But the measure gained committee approval on voice vote, with the outnumbered republican members sitting silently by—and their silence then and statements later served notice they will continue to urge a version of the Ruml skip-a-year-bill.

Indeed, the action which will bring the second floor showdown on taxes came only after the committee, also vocally, had rejected the modified Ruml plan and another compromise advanced by Rep. Robertson (D-Va) to abate the six per cent normal and first 13 per cent surtax on '42 income.

By agreement, the ways and means bill will reach the floor for a single day of general debate Monday, May 3, but a free-for-all fight is expected to develop the following day, when both the republicans and Robertson expect to offer their substitutes with the likelihood still other compromises may be proposed.

Gray County Is Shy $147,000 in Bonds

Sales of Victory bonds in Gray county in the second Victory loan campaign were up to $482,778 Saturday with the addition of $17,100 reported in bond sales Saturday by S. D. Steenis, drive chairman. Remaining to be raised to make the county's quota of $620,000 by April 30 is $147,222, or a daily average of approximately $21,031 if the goal is to be reached on time.

Up to Saturday the total amount raised in bond sales was $482,778 which included $30,000 in Victory bonds purchased by Montgomery Ward & Co., in Dallas and credited to Gray county through the company's store here. Mention of the $30,000 was contained in an earlier story in The Pampa News but the "official" notice was not given until Saturday after the county chairman had been notified.

Incidentally, figures quoted are based on issue prices, and not maturity values, of the bonds. CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., April 24 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., announced at a press conference today that the second war loan campaign was within a billion dollars of its $13,000,000,000 goal. The drive closes April 30.

Up to last night bond sales since April 1 had totaled $12,014,000,000, he said, of which $9,276,000,000 was from non-banking sources and $2,738,000,000 from banking sources. Morgenthau came to Cedar Rapids to lead a bond-selling rally tomorrow and participate in a nationwide radio program.

Thomas Opens Move For Oil Price Rise

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—A congressional move to force a 50 cents a barrel increase in the price of crude oil was started today by Senator Thomas (D-Okl.) in what he termed an attempt to prevent a decline in war vital petroleum production. Thomas told reporters he would introduce in the senate Monday a resolution calling upon Price Administrator Prentiss Brown to approve an increase in the price of oil roughly equal to the 3.5 per cent rise in the average level of all prices over the 1919-1928 period.

The Oklahoma senator said that crude oil prices now range from 85 cents to $1.40 a barrel, depending on grades, and that there has been no appreciable increase in price in the last five years. BUY VICTORY STAMPS

Many Drivers To Get Top Grade Tires

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Millions of motorists will become eligible for top grade tires May 1, an office of price administration announcement disclosed today—coincident with the news that manufacture of "Victory tires" from reclaimed rubber has been stopped. The OPA statement said every motorist with gasoline rations for more than 240 miles a month may buy grade I tires a week from today.

All B-bookholders—except those in the Eastern seaboard area where rations have been cut—will thus be eligible, whereas previously a mileage ration of 560-a-month had been required for the top tires, and those with 340-to-560 mileage rations got grade IIS.

Simultaneously, rubber director William Jeffers' office confirmed that production of the "Victory tires" was halted March 31, although no previous announcement was made. News of the action came just as Jeffers was in the midst of a squabble with military officials over whether the synthetic rubber program has retarded production of aviation gasoline.

The decision to make grade I tires more widely available was based, OPA said, on information from Jeffers that supplies of grade II tires are "inadequate to meet requirements of motorists eligible for them." It added that comparatively more grade I tires are available in relation to those eligible for them.

To adjust the situation, the new ruling classes grade I and grade II tires together in the former grouping. The grade II class has included pre-Pearl Harbor tires of lower quality, factory "seconds," damaged new tires and the "Victory" line. Grade I tires were standard-quality, pre-war casings.

Under this arrangement any motorist who drives more than 240 miles a month will be able to take his choice of that entire group, depending on the price he wants to pay. Motorists who drive less than 240 miles a month must remain content with retrade and recaps, but half of the "victory tire" production is expected to aid them. A spokesman before the office said the tires being retrade will be diverted into recaps or retrade where, he said, it will go about two and one-half times as far.

Only about 1,000,000 of the low-mileage "victory" casings were produced before the cutoff order came. Several retrade tires were given for it. Officials said the tires' performance See TIRES Page 2

War News Found on Inside Pages Today

This is Easter. You will find on Page One of today's Pampa News no stories of the war, no stories about crime. On that first Eastertide the glad, glorious assurance of an empty tomb lent wings to the feet of the disciples and they went out bearing good tidings, bearing a message which brought comfort to broken hearts, bearing to all the world a message of joy and peace. And so, on this Easter day, there is no news on Page One that bespeaks fear and foreboding, no news of the alarms and the anxieties that fill the hearts of men. All news of war and crime has been cut down and moved to inside pages.

The editors of The News today offer you an Easter respite on this page—a respite from news that is not good. And they join with you on this glorious holy day in the remembrance that it was on this day that Jesus heard the trumpets of victory blow. And, that— Over a world Spent with the struggle, asking release, Praying that conquest and war shall cease, Weary of conflict and craving for peace— Over a world Sad and repentant, Christ, our Lord, prays!

Government Intervention Threatened

By the Associated Press Members of the United Mine Workers at the Newark, N. J., plant of the Celanese corporation of America decided last night to end their two-weeks-long strike a few hours after President Roosevelt threatened government intervention unless they returned to work by noon Monday. Howard Gill, president of UMW Local 12566, announced in Newark that members of the union voted unanimously to go back to their jobs Monday morning "at the president's request." The president telegraphed union officers that the government would take steps to protect "the rights of the patriotic workers who desire to work" and the company's legal rights.

Gill, reporting that picketing had been halted, said Mr. Roosevelt's telegram assured union members that the president would "see that the proper agencies give the proper hearings that are necessary. That is all we wanted in the first place." Mr. Roosevelt said the strike "is a clear violation of labor's no strike pledge. The strike, which started about two weeks ago, arose out of a jurisdictional dispute.

The celanese case was one of a double-headed problem the government had involving the United mine workers. Latest development in the second situation was the convening of a war labor board hearing on the soft coal wage dispute, an opening session not attended by Lewis nor any operators were represented.

Air Base Holds Easter Services

Although the flying training schedule at Pampa's army air field continues throughout today, Easter Sunday will not go by unnoticed by the cadets, enlisted men and officers stationed at the huge top of Texas flying school. Lt. Maurice P. Garner, post chaplain, has arranged a series of special Easter services for the men at the field. These will supplement which many of the men in khaki will attend. Catholic and Protestant Easter services are being held throughout the day at the chapel on the field, with special music being furnished by the Pampa High school girls' choir.

Good Friday services were also arranged and conducted by Lt. Garner. BUY VICTORY STAMPS

Lower Prices On Meat Expected

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—OPA Administrator Prentiss M. Brown announced today new ceiling prices on beef and lamb will be one to three cents per pound lower than recently published OPA schedules and will go into effect May 17. Standardized regional prices on beef, lamb veal and mutton were to be lowered on a week-by-week basis at least until the end of May. This means that all the following stamps are good until May 31: The red "E" series, usable starting tomorrow; "F," usable starting May 2; "G," valid starting May 9; "H," usable starting May 16 and "J," valid starting May 23.

This is the same system used this month, but eventually officials hope to put meat rations on a monthly basis to give householders more flexibility particularly for the purchase of high point roasts, hams and other items taking large blocks of points. At present, available meat supplies do not permit the monthly system. BUY VICTORY STAMPS

Gas For Victory Gardeners Allowed

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—OPA Administrator Prentiss M. Brown today authorized up to 3300 miles of additional rations to victory gardeners, who must travel to distant plots.

The extra rations, which must be obtained from local boards, are limited to persons regularly cultivating a tract of 1,500 square feet or more of vegetables. In addition, the gardeners must show they must drive to the plots, and must promise to share their cars with other gardeners as far as possible.

The maximum of 300 miles extra rations would mean 20 gallons of gasoline, and would be good for six months.

Wheeler To Close Highway 152 Gap

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
WHEELER, April 24—P. S. Bailey, district engineer for the state highway department was in Wheeler this week and informed County Judge D. A. Hunt that a contract for paving the remaining gap of Highway 152 east of here to the state line would probably be set next Tuesday, April 27.

Paving of the strip, with an oil stabilized base and asphalt surface similar to the now existing pavement from Wheeler to the gap, was to have gone forward last summer but has been held up because war projects have been using so much asphalt and the material was frozen with the exception of vital jobs such as repair work.

Additional grading and drainage work on the road was completed about April 1.

It is expected that hard surfacing will start soon after the contract is let.

Congratulations to Sgt. John T. Smith, chemical section, on his recent promotion. The "G. I. ### Army Is Kind-Hearted—Permits Detroit Twins To Serve Here At Mother's Request

Two soldiers now stationed at Pampa's Army air field have positive proof that the army has a soft spot in its collective heart for its men. They are Marvin and Merlin Walker, twins, formerly of Detroit, Mich. who are now stationed together. How these two boys got together makes an unusual story. Marvin enlisted last November 5 in the air corps, and his brother followed him into the army the 27th of the same month, but was assigned (he's not sure why) to the Infantry. Thus, their paths strayed, never to cross again until they both reached Pampa.

Spend a Day With Army Air Field Private

If you've been to the movies and seen a police radio man "calling all ears," Private William Bader, 29, of the 1101st Liberator, New York City, has at Pampa Army Air Field, who has a job in the control tower operators at the Pampa base, whose task it is to see that airplanes get off the ground and land again with a minimum of hazard and without waste of time or fuel.

Sitting in the glass enclosed tower, high above the flight line, Private Bader has an unobstructed view of all the countryside surrounding the field, and with a pair of powerful glasses, can see approximately 15 miles away.

Each plane intending to leave the field files a flight plan with the dispatcher, whose office is on the flight line, from where it is relayed to the control tower by interphone. In addition, airways traffic control, a government agency set up throughout the nation according to districts, notifies this field of all traffic headed this way, giving its flight plan, time of take-off and estimated time of arrival here.

With these facts in mind, the men in operations and in the control tower have a good idea of what aerial traffic conditions will be in the area surrounding Pampa—and can direct it much in the same manner as a policeman handles vehicular traffic on the ground.

When a pilot approaches Pampa Field, he picks up the microphone of his two-way radio and, speaking on a certain frequency known only to stations in this area, says: "Pampa Tower, from 123" or whatever his plane number happens to be.

Private Bader, or whoever happens to be on duty at the radio when the call comes in, replies, "123 (or whatever the ship's number is) from Pampa tower."

Then, with contact made, the pilot's message is received and he is given information that he should know in order to land—such as wind velocity and direction, given in code, other traffic and directions as to the runway on which he should land.

When the message has been received and understood, the person receiving it says "Roger." By this time, instructions have been received and understood and the recipient wants to indicate that he will or can carry them out, he says "Wilco," which is a contraction for "will comply."

Private Bader works a different shift each day, as do the other men assigned to control tower work. Frequently, he works the night shift, which is slightly more complicated than the day work, for pilots must have additional information, such as weather, visibility, ceiling—and field lights must be played on the runway he is to use. In addition, planes use their bright white landing lights to add to the aids used in night flying.

A signal flash light, called a "bisect light," is always on hand in case something should go wrong with a pilot's radio when coming in to land. A green flash means the field is clear and that the red should come in to land on the lighted runway, while a red flash means to circle the field and await the go ahead signal.

Sgt. Willard L. Galloway is in charge of the control tower at Pampa, and has another man in each shift delegated to be in charge when he is off duty. Galloway's task is to see that work in the control tower is carried out efficiently and to make sure that all receivers and transmitters are in proper working order and are on the correct frequencies. There are several frequencies used here, one for students, one for military aircraft, one for civil aircraft, and one that is a combination frequency for both civil and military aircraft.

All of the control tower boys are attached to the third airways communication unit, which covers five states and has headquarters at Fort Worth, but they are stationed with the 454th base headquarters and air base squadron at the local field. Their physical training, special military classes, drill, etc., are carried on in the time when they are not on duty, so that their shifts in the tower are not interrupted.

Private Bader has been in the army since August, 1942, and he's really seen the country while being trained for his important post at Pampa. From Camp Upton, N. Y., he was shipped to Atlantic City, N. J., for basic training and classification. From there, he went to Madison, Wis., for a three months radio-mechanics course, thence to Boca Raton, Florida, for more technical training, after which he was assigned to Kelly Field. Upon completing training there and finishing a control tower operator's course at Oklahoma City, Okla., he was sent to Pampa, arriving here early in April. After all that training, Bader knows his job—and, like all the other control tower men here, he is doing his bit to "keep 'em flying" at Pampa.

Marvin came to Pampa shortly after the field was opened last fall and was assigned to specialize training at Oklahoma A. & M. college to study engineering operations. He left for school February 12—just nine hours before his brother, Merlin, arrived here at Pampa.

Merlin's assignment to this field can be attributed to a mother's desire to have her twin sons stationed together. Mrs. Wm. Walker, the twins' mother, of 16129 Tuller avenue, Detroit, heard in January that the army had a new regulation, making it possible for twin brothers to be together. She immediately got in touch with high army officials, and Merlin's transfer from the infantry to the air forces and Pampa, came through—just in time for him to miss seeing Marvin.

"This story had its end last Wednesday, when Marvin came back from school and met his twin, Merlin, for the first time since he left for the army on November 5.

Some "twin-like" coincidences that follow the Walker boys like shadows are: both are corporals, both held identical jobs in civilian life (engineering work in Detroit automotive plants), both worked as a clerk in the 1104th squadron orderly room (Merlin taking Marvin's job when the latter went to school), they have a brother, Warren, in the infantry, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., and both have a three-day pass coming up with a trip to Amarillo planned.

Amateur Night Staged At Miami

MIAMI, April 24 — A two-hour amateur program sponsored by the senior class of the Miami High school was given Monday night and proved to be a huge success according to the large crowd which attended.

Supt. E. M. Ballengee was master of ceremonies, and individuals, classes and organizations from both the school and the community participated in the event, and fifteen numbers were given on the program. 1st prize, $3 to the sophomore class. 2nd prize, $2 to the Bran Dance group. 3rd prize, $1 to the F. F. A. class. Honorable mention went to the Men's Service club for the sponsorship of "Snowball White and his Assistants."

The numbers presented included stunts, music and dancing. This program was given instead of the annual senior play and the proceeds will be used by the seniors in their activities.

Fifth Class Of Cadets Arrive

A new cadet class—43-F yesterday moved into barracks at Pampa Army Air Field, left vacant by the graduation Thursday of 43-D and started to work in earnest on the last nine weeks of training to become pilots in the fast-growing army air forces.

The new class, brought here from various basic flying schools, underwent "processing" yesterday and today, and will start flying early this week. The cadets checked out flying equipment Friday and met their instructors Saturday.

This class is the fifth to arrive at the Pampa twin-engine army flying school since it started training army pilots last fall. It is said to be one of the largest classes to be assigned to this advanced flying school.

Meanwhile, 43-E passed the half-way mark in its final training schedule leading to wings and commissions and became "upperclassmen" around the cadet area.

Newspaper Sales Are Increasing

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Clare Marshall of the Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Gazette declared Tuesday in an address at the opening of the American Newspaper Publishers association convention that the American people are showing their confidence in the press "by buying more papers than ever before in history."

Marshall is chairman of the opening session which, adhering to custom, is devoted to the informal discussion of problems peculiar to newspapers with less than 50,000 circulation. Declaring that Americans enjoy argument and debate, Marshall said: "While we retain our American prerogatives, complaints and criticisms will always be with us. We of the press have contributed our share of them, and during war we are targets along with government, of some well-directed shots. Wisely or not, the American people show their confidence in the American press by buying more papers than ever before in history. Instinctively they turn to the newspaper for the truth."

He praised the way Byron Price and Elmer Davis have conducted the office of censorship and office of war information, respectively. Marshall predicted that in the future newspapers may find it necessary to place more stress on interpretive writing. He explained that by such writing he did not refer to "deliberate coloring of news or the individual commentator type of reporting, but to the conscientious ef-

Servicemen Can Defer Payment Of Property Taxes Until Six Months After Discharge

Payment of taxes due on property owned by a serviceman can be deferred until six months after the man is discharged, according to Ray L. Ellis, American Red Cross field director at Pampa Field.

This is in record with the soldier's and sailor's act of 1940 and is one of the rulings the Red Cross is sometimes called upon to explain he said.

He told how the Red Cross recently aided a soldier who didn't know about the tax provision of the act. The soldier brought to the Red Cross office a postal card which notified him that his house and lot back home were to be put up for auction within three days because the back taxes had not been paid.

"Immediate action was necessary, so the field director called the tax assessor by long distance and pointed out to him the law which made possible deferment of taxes until six months after the man's discharge from the army," Ellis related.

"Although the court readily agreed to defer the taxes, the soldier sold his car and used the money to make a substantial payment and now he is paying the balance a little bit each month."

When a soldier brings his problem to the Red Cross, he may need money, advice, or merely information, Ellis concluded, "but whatever his need, the Red Cross makes every effort to aid him."

Has Your Family Moved, Soldier?

Soldier, has your family moved recently? If so, has a correct forwarding address been left at the post office formerly used?

Red Cross field director, Ray L. Ellis, suggests that soldiers of Pampa Army Field be sure about this, for thousands of vital messages concerning servicemen, as well as a large number of undelivered allotment checks have been returned to Washington in the last few months stamped "unclaimed."

At the request of the war and navy departments, Ellis said, Red Cross home service is attempting to trace the persons to whom these messages were originally sent.

Although the correspondence unit of Red Cross home service is usually able to locate the majority of emergency addresses, it frequently takes several months to trace persons who moved without leaving a forwarding address.

"Difficulties in locating people often are complicated by the large scale shifting of population toward war industry centers where persons are seldom listed in city or telephone directories because of their transient status," Ellis pointed out.

To facilitate the delivery of messages of importance to a serviceman's family, all persons listed as "next of kin" on service records are urged by Ellis to leave forwarding or emergency addresses with the post office when they move.

Officers Hold First Of Series Of Dances

The first in a series of regular dances was held last night at the Pampa Army Air Field officers' mess dining hall, when the officers and their ladies danced to the music of the post orchestra, directed by Sgt. Albert Fish.

According to officers in charge of the event, these will be held at regular intervals, as a part of a new program to foster fellowship and sociability.

Dancing was from 9 until after midnight, with one of the evening's high spots being a floor show staged by several members of the "G. I. Varieties," popular soldier show, written and presented by enlisted men of the post.

The committee in charge of the affair was: Capt. Theodore Keller, decorations; Capt. Richard Coffee, refreshments; and Lt. Harold B. Smith, entertainment.

The dance was arranged for and sponsored by the officers' mess council.

Air Forces Publish Their Own Magazine

One of the most popular magazines of the day, Air Force, is being distributed free to enlisted men, officers, and cadets stationed at Pampa Field.

Air Force, published by the army air forces for its personnel, is now being distributed to all AAF personnel on the basis of one to a certain minimum of men in order to conserve paper.

Published monthly, the magazine contains much important information for men of the air forces. Personal accounts written by men in battle, especially pilots, fill every page and are invaluable to the men of the air forces.

The magazine is also intended as a medium for the exchange of ideas and information among air force personnel.

Cardinals Nip Cincinnati 2-1 on Four Red Errors; Cleveland Wins

Victory Is First For St. Louis

CINCINNATI, April 24 (AP)—Four errors blew a ball game for Cincinnati's Reds today as the St. Louis Cardinals won 2-1, taking advantage of three miscues in one frame to chalk up their first score in 27 innings of the infant season.

Mid-season pitching by Elmer Riddle, in scattering seven hits, went for naught, while it was not until the eighth that the Reds were able to connect with Harry Gumbert, who started for the world champions. Then, Max Marshall's single and Frank McCormick's double were enough to bring Howard Krist to the scene and the Rhinelanders' lone tally came with Marshall scoring as Eddie Miller bunted out on an attempted squeeze play.

The Cards really made hay in the sixth. Debs Garms' field, Stan Musial singled and took second as Frank McCormick fumbled the ball. Ray Sanders walked; Lonnie Frey fumbled K'n O'Dea's grounder and the bases were filled; Harry Walker filed and all runners held; then Musial dashed for home, was momentarily tripped but when catcher Roy Mueller dropped Bert Haas' return, he scored.

The Cards' second run, in the eighth, was manufactured on successive singles, with one out, by Musial and Sanders. Musial took third on Eddie Miller's fumble of Sanders' ball and scored as Mueller miscued for a passed ball.

Anglers Are Cautioned Not To Jump Date On Fishing Season

Don't "jump" the fishing season and don't fish without a license were twin admonitions given to Gray county anglers Saturday by George A. Inman, warden for the Texas game, fish and oyster commission in Gray and 14 other Panhandle counties.

Inman said that while the fishing season did not open until May 1, some fishermen were fairly "rarin'" to start fishing and might be tempted to violate the law.

He also commented that he expected more fishing to be done this year than last, due to meat rationing.

Season on game fish opens on May 1 and in conjunction with the new season, Warden Inman listed these rules:

1. Resident citizen of Texas must procure an artificial lure license, priced $1.10 when fishing with artificial lure in fresh water; otherwise, there are no exceptions because of age or any other reasons.
2. An artificial lure is defined as any manufactured bait or imitation of a natural bait.
3. Size limit is not less than 11 1/2 inches on black bass, not less than 7 inches on crappie.
4. Sale of bass, crappie and white perch is prohibited.
5. Bag limit makes it unlawful to take in any one day more than 15 bass, 15 crappie or 15 white perch.
6. Be sure you have permission to fish on private lakes, creeks or other fishing spots.
7. Be sure you have a license, which locally can be obtained from hardware stores and which is good until August 31.

Warden Inman represents the game department in Gray, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hansford, Hutchinson, Roberts, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Donley, Childress, Hall, Briscoe, Armstrong and Carson counties.

Mile Runners Still Competing

HOUSTON, April 24 (AP)—A track feud of several years standing will reach its climax May 8 when Bob Porter and Jerry Thompson battle it out for the southwest conference mile championship.

Regardless of who wins, a new record is expected to go into the books.

Porter, the long-striding Rice sophomore, never could beat Thompson, now the University of Texas'

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 (AP)—The boys around Broad and Locust Philadelphia's bash boulevard, can't see those 2-1 odds favoring Beau Jack to retain his lightweight title against Bob Montgomery May 21. They claim Montgomery has regained his old form since he had his tonsils yanked out and can pace himself better over the 15-round route.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Lynn C. Doyle, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "The press notices the new 'clink' Ball has been getting won't help business. We must get hold of the first foul that works its way up to the press box and look for the 'made in Japan' label."

FRANKLIN FIELD FILIBUSTER
Frank Palmero, Gus Dorazio's manager, tells friends that he was talking on the long distance phone to Luke Carney, manager of Fritzie Zivic, when Carney collapsed and died. Judge Landis' official baseball guide probably will be on sale about May 1, and Temple's Ray Morrison to the list of football coaches who have added match teaching to their duties for the duration. He used to teach it at Southern Methodist and Vanderbilt.

M. F.—Meaning More Power.
At least two guys in the army's military police department—who don't give extra use to the initials M. F.—There's Murray Patrick, the first big league hockey player to join the U. S. Army, who just graduated from the M. F. officers' candidate school at Fort Custer, Mich., and Clayton Heaster, who big Greensboro, N. C., golfer whose weight has shot up from 220 to about 250 since he's been in the army. . . in this case, M. F. means more pounds.

Chicagoans Taken To Track By Naps
CHICAGO, April 24 (AP)—Turf fans poured out of street cars and elevated tracks today and were hauled a mile to sportsman's park in horse-drawn "carry-alls" to inaugurate Chicago's 163-day horse racing season.

The opening marked the start of the city's war-time experiment to hold meetings on tracks easily accessible by public transportation.

More Carriages For Babies Due
WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The stork is being kept so busy that 100,000 more baby carriages will be manufactured this year than last.

After hearing that 1942's 800,000 failed to meet the demand, the War Production board decided yesterday to expand second quarter quotas to 316,620 one-baby and 5,827 two-baby jobs.

No Eggs
The first time was when Bob beat Jerry here last spring in the freshman division of the annual triangular meet between Rice, Texas and Texas A. and M. The next engagement was two weeks ago at Baton Rouge in the Rice-Texas-LSU meet.

On each occasion Bob won by letting Thompson set the early pace, then turning loose with a terrific stretch drive. At Baton Rouge Porter ran the fastest mile in his life—4:24.

The boys will meet at least two more times this season. At Austin May 1 in the Rice-Texas-A. and M. triangular meet, and here a week later in the southwest conference meet.

Texan Wins Javelin Throw At Penn
PHILADELPHIA, April 24 (AP)—In a thrilling finish, army beat out Cornell to win the half mile college relay championship, principal morning event of the 49th annual Pennsylvania relays today. The winning time, over a track that still was a bit heavy, was 1:28.2.

J. Garland Adair of the Brooklyn navy yard, former southwest conference champion from the University of Texas, took the javelin throw with 188 feet 9 1/4 inches.

Jobs Draw Harvester Grid Players Away From Spring Practice
If it wasn't for the "root of all evil" Coach C. (Buck) Prejean would know each day how many boys he would have reporting for spring football training.

The chance to pick up extra money at various jobs is proving a better inducement to the 1943 Harvester spring football squad than the desire to be trained now so as to shine as gridiron heroes this autumn.

When spring football training started on April 10, Coach Prejean had 44 boys out. Then the number increased to 47, then to 50.

Jobs, however, have cut the number down to half as the boys seek the pay offered by working after school and on Saturdays for a construction company, at a florist firm, among other kinds of work.

Spring training is due to end Tuesday, May 9, keeping within the one-month limit set up by inter-scholastic rules. A game is to be arranged with the ex-Harvesters before the season ends.

Kentucky Derby Won't Be Same

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 24 (AP)—That old feeling is gone from derbytown this year. The feeling that mint juleps are going for an out of every faucet instead of water and fireworks are going to go off on every street corner.

Or sure, the Kentucky derby is still the same old big thing of the year down here, Christmas and Fourth of July rolled into one. But something is missing.

This is a war-time derby from the word go. Derbytown is getting ready to crowd this one in next Saturday in its working clothes.

The town is jammed and a lot of the boys and girls are going to get to the downs somehow next Saturday if they have to bounce out on a pogo stick.

But on every side you hear strong promises and plans to prevent absenteeism from local defense plants.

Riverland Takes Excelsior Handicap

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Riverland, five-year-old son of Coldstream from the Louisiana farm stable, easily won the $10,000 Excelsior handicap today at Jamaica before an estimated crowd of 30,000.

Clubs Authorized To Use 1942 Baseball

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—National league clubs were authorized today to use their supply of 1942 baseballs, replacing the dead 1943 spheres, and the results immediately were apparent in the batting averages.

The old ball, much livelier than the one which has been in use during the first few days of the new season, was employed both at Ebbets field where the Brooklyn Dodgers buried the Phillies under an 11-4 score.

Brooklyn and the Phillies jointly piled up 23 hits including two doubles and a home run while at Boston the Giants and Braves drove out 19 hits including two doubles, a triple and two home runs. Earlier in the season with the admittedly dead 1943 ball in play, eight of the first 12 major league games played ended in shutouts, most of them low-hit affairs.

Airmen Fail in Valiant Effort to Rescue Texas Flyer Downed in Freezing Waters off Aleutians

By EUGENE BURNS

OVER RAT ISLAND, Alaska, on a Liberator, April 7 (Delayed) (AP)—We're looking for a lone grave on Rat island on our return from dropping three tons of explosive on Kiska.

A downraft dips our bomber over the island's southern end and so we see a cross, directly under us. The lashed four-foot driftwood cross, I was told, stood on a mound of sea-polished stones. Under that, wrapped in two U. S. blankets, is a fighter pilot's body.

I look back. "What's that flicker?" The navigator replies: "Must be spider's tag twisting in the sun."

The identification tag, wired to the rude marker, reads: "John W. Livesay P 4600 Nolan Street Fort Worth, Texas O." (P is for religion—Protestant—and O is for blood type.)

That grave faces the North Pacific whose storms are worse to battle than Japanese. It is within sight of Kiska where Spider straggled and bombed.

At 11:14 a. m., March 15, Lieut. Lyle A. Beam, 23, of Secor, Ill., led Spider's last flight. On his wing was Lieut. Frank C. Shorin Jr., 23, of Wilson, N. C. Behind Spider was his "best flying friend," Lieut. John K. Geddes, 22, of Altadena, Calif., who had "flown his wing on 20 raids."

Young Geddes said: "We were strafing North Head (Kiska's most strongly defended position) at 10 feet, 330 miles an hour. I saw his right engine torch into flame and yelled: 'Feather your right prop, Spider.' We followed him out, 25 miles.

"Spider" pushed her within 300 feet of Rat island when he went down. Between the 15-foot surf rips, I saw him clear the sinking plane, lose his raft to the waves and then struggle for shore in the freezing water. Circling, I saw Spider knocked down twice.

"Flint (Knut W. Flint, 22, of Minneapolis) came up in his Catalina patrol plane. He flew over low. A wave hit his hull and jerked out his antennae while we kept milling around for 45 minutes, watching Spider's struggles, hoping, squeezing for him, hating to leave."

Lieut. Flint said: "If only his motor had conked out earlier, away from the surf. The waves were too much for my ship. Finally I decided to land to the lee of Rat island.

"As soon as I landed, engineer Flint (Sgt. Louis Fine of West Los Angeles, Calif.) Dr. Moffitt (Major Oscar P. Moffitt Jr. of High Point, N. C.) and Pilot Wilson (Lieut. James M. Wilson of Winona, Miss.) got ashore with emergency gear.

"Then I flew back to Livesay. He was putting up a terrific battle. He was 25 feet from shore with his shoulder out. I thought he would win. Then I flew back, giving directions to my crew."

Major Moffitt said: "The going was tough with soggy moss knee high. Our flying boots were full of ice water. We had 90 foot ridges to cross. But we hurried, knowing that a man can freeze to death quickly when wet.

"Fine found Livesay face down, five feet from shore.

"Fine got him out, put on chemical heating pads and gave him first aid."

"When I caught up, I injected stimulants and wrapped him in blankets. Twenty-five minutes later, rigor mortis set into his right shoulder."

"We did not have strength left to carry him back the three and a half miles. So we cut tundra and hollowed a bed with hunting knives. We redressed him in his fleece-lined flying clothes and made a shroud with two army blankets. Then, tossing up beach rocks hand to hand, we made a mound."

"While we were doing this, a destroyer approached. (It was sent by the task force commander.)

"That done, we hacked a cross out of rounded driftwood and put his dog tag on it. We finished without talking, and stood quiet and then someone said: "Well, what are we waiting for? Let's get going."

Birds Flash Flight Signals

H. W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK—Here is evidence of a signal system between birds in flight. The signal operates with extraordinary speed. Five-thousandths of a second is enough time for a bird to receive the signal and alter its course of flight.

R. W. Gerard, University of Chicago, tells the story in Science, official journal of American scientists. He was driving in Vermont when about 50 birds in a flock flew alongside his car. They were only 15 feet from his window.

Car and birds were doing exactly 35 miles an hour. After a few seconds the flock wheeled away from the car. They did not do a column left. Every single bird wheeled at exactly the same instant.

Had a bird taken even 10 thousandths of a second to make the turn, it would have lagged, at 35 miles an hour, six inches behind its fellows. No bird, says Mr. Gerard, lagged that much.

He got no clue to the nature of the signal. It could be sound, or sight. Possibly the signal is something connected with the mysterious thing that enables homing pigeons to find direction. The bird signal and maneuver works faster than anything human columns can do.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two copies of the United States newspaper, Yomiuri, published immediately after the United States raid on the city, have come into the hands of the editors of the magazine, Newsweek. Max Hill, who was a prisoner in Tokyo at the time, saw the papers and wrote his copy against the background of his own experiences. In reading this story, it should be remembered that there was a strict censorship on damage and that every possible stress would be placed on non-military destruction.

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—The Doolittle raid on Japan's plane and munitions factories and the supposedly invulnerable Yokosuka naval base gave the Japanese war lords an unrivaled opportunity to whip their emotional millions into a frenzy of hatred against all white men.

It is the sort of hatred exemplified by the executions of the American fliers, announced by President Roosevelt yesterday.

I have read the morning and afternoon editions of the army-controlled Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri, which were published immediately after the raid of April 18, 1942, and now in possession of Newsweek magazine. The papers are typical of the propaganda fed to the Japanese masses for many years.

"Enemy attack was blind"

"School and hospital hit"

"That was one heading, and the story went on to say a boy was killed by machine gun bullets."

I was in a Tokyo prison at the time of the raid, and after I was taken to the internment camp in

Today on The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW & GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Saying "inflation" is like saying "wolf, wolf."

But the wolf already is inside the house, making goo-goo eyes at grandma's pocketbook.

We still have time, however, to roll out of bed and calm the beast.

One way, of course, would be to get the money out of sight—by saving it, particularly by putting it into War Bonds to save it.

That is what the government—which needs the money to help pay for the war—wants us to do in the present 13 billion dollar bond drive.

There are some other ways of keeping inflation on a starvation diet.

By really rigid price controls widely spread, stiffer taxation, holding down excess profits, stabilizing the income of workers and farmers.

The president is insisting on those steps now.

Inflation gobbles up the value of money so that it no longer will buy what it used to buy, say experts who have studied the animal.

The worst sufferers, of course, are those living on a fixed income, like people getting a pension or the families of soldiers and sailors who must depend on government allowances which doesn't advance with rising prices.

More civilians are employed and therefore have more money to spend on a dwindling supply of goods, the prices of which go up in the buying stampede.

Then the things the farmer buys cost more and he wants higher prices for his products. Thereupon industrial workers want higher wages to meet increased farm prices. Everything goes kiting unless strong controls are applied all along the line.

American living costs rose 22 percent since hostilities started in Europe in September, 1939.

One of the class, it seems, didn't feel very well on the way back. Health Officer Milo Rindge diagnosed it as scarlet fever and quarantined the whole class—and the teachers.

This Announcement will make some people blush!

Could this be you? ... "What a breakfast! Eggs without bacon. Coffee—just one cup of it—with-out heavy cream. Just a skimpy little pat of butter for my toast. Don't talk to me about sacrifice, I'm making plenty. And what about the 10% of my pay that goes into War Bonds every week?"

When THIS is your fellow American!

"We've been under fire night and day for 12 days. Advancing through heavy mud. Wet and tired. The nights are freezing cold. No hot food. Only our iron rations to keep us going. Casualties have been heavy. Yesterday, my buddy, 'Spike' Anderson, got hit. But today it's worthwhile. Today we stormed and took the Nazi position."

FROM every front comes a story of the heroism of our troops—of the unbelievable hardships and privations they are suffering. And now from our far flung battle lines comes an urgent cry for help: "Send us more planes, more guns, more ammunition." For today the fighting fronts blaze into new fury. In a last desperate effort to annihilate us, the Axis powers are throwing everything into the struggle. The next few weeks or months may decide the outcome of the war. And that's why your Government is calling on you to lend it more money. Thirteen billion dollars are needed—needed urgently and right now. This is a showdown fight and we've got to top the Nazis and the Japs with our efforts if we are going to win.

The Big Offensive Is On.

We're not playing at war. This is the real thing. Our boys are dying in defense of our country—casualty lists are mounting. The least we can do is to back up our men with every single dollar we can scrape together. Remember they do not stop to ask the cost—they pay with their lives. In the face of their sacrifice can any of us back here at home say that we are doing enough?

Millions of patriotic Americans are already putting 10% of their earnings into War Bonds every payday. We can be proud of this record—but 10% is not enough. Today we are confronted by a great and critical emergency. Thirteen billion extra dollars are needed and needed at once. That is a big sum of money, but not too big for America.

What does this mean to you? It means that it is your patriotic duty to put more money into Government securities regardless of what self-sacrifice it may entail. Give up some of your comforts, do without things you need—this is a vital matter.

And remember when you dig up this money that you are not giving a cent. You are merely investing it in the safest securities in the world. You will get it back with interest when the war is over. It will supply you with cash for the things you want when we are free to return to the ways of peace. It will mean security for you and yours.

What To Do

Thousands of men and women, volunteer workers, are calling on everybody possible, explaining the 2nd War Loan Drive and the different types of Government securities offered to meet every individual's needs. Welcome one of these representatives if he calls on you, for he is giving his time and effort freely to this patriotic cause. But don't wait for his call. Go to your bank, Post Office or War Bond booth. Lay down your money—more than you think you can spare—for extra bonds. Know in your heart that when your country called, you answered "YES"!

There are 7 different types of U. S. Government securities—choose the ones best suited for you:

U.S. TROOPS ARE SHIFTED SECRETLY TO NORTH TUNISIA

Allies Ready Troops For Final Battle

(By The Associated Press)
The Tunisian fighting front flamed into the most widespread battle of the North African campaign, with American troops joining their British and French Allies in an all-out offensive against Axis forces believed to have been left to their fate by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

As Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s American fighters, shifted swiftly from southern Tunisia to participate in the climactic attack, stormed within 30 miles of the naval base at Bizerte, an announcement from Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's headquarters yesterday said Rommel apparently had left North Africa.

What General Alexander termed the "final phase" of the Allied drive to crush the shrunken Axis perimeter in Tunisia was going full blast. The Allied armies, superbly equipped and eager for the kill, were plunging in at a half-dozen points, giving the enemy no chance to shift his outnumbered forces to oppose an individual thrust.

Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's British First Army, charging in from the west, was reported to have captured long stop line, fiercely defended German stronghold only 28 miles from Tunis and key to the Tunisian coastal plain. The British were said to have destroyed 16 tanks in bloody fighting for the important position.

A communique said the First Army had made "a considerable advance" along a 22-mile front despite bitter opposition and had captured the village of Goubellat, where its armor threatened almost hourly to crash through to the coastal plain and make Axis positions in the Enfidaville sector untenable.

"Such a breakthrough at any point from the west would force the Africa corps holding the Enfidaville end of the Axis line to make a break for Tunis and, eventually, the fortifications around Bizerte," Gen. Bernard Montgomery's great Eighth Army again in full cry at its heels.

Joining the Americans in the northern drive on Bizerte, a French column was reported to have advanced more than 12 miles in the Cap Serrat area, along the coast which would place it within about 23 miles of the naval base.

Allied fighters and bombers made a record total of 1,500 sorties in support of the ground attack, pounding Axis positions, air fields, transport and shipping. After the previous day's disaster, when the lost 21 huge troop-carrying planes over the Mediterranean, the Germans apparently abandoned that method of reinforcing their Tunisian forces, but British submarines were reported to have sunk or damaged 10 enemy ships from supply convoys, including a cruiser.

On the Russian front the Germans were reported to have given up their desperate counterattacks against the Soviet army which has been driving them back on Novorossiisk and threatening to erase them from the Caucasus. The German forces were said to have lost nearly 5,000 men and about 200 planes in their unsuccessful charges during the past week. More than 200 Russian bombers pounded the important east Prussian rail junction of Insterburg on Thursday night and Friday morning.

The navy reported that American bombers and fighters attacked the Japanese air base at Munda in the Solomon Islands again on Thursday, silencing enemy anti-aircraft guns and firing three planes on the ground. On Friday bombers and fighters assaulted Japanese positions at Rekata bay, a seaplane base on Santa Isabel Island.

Texas Bombardier To Broadcast Sunday

Lieut. Rhude M. Mathis of San Angelo will tell the home folks how he replaced his brother, Jack, in the Vegesack raid by means of a recording to be broadcast to America by the British Broadcasting company for rebroadcasting by Station WNEW, New York, at 10:30 a. m., (CWT) Sunday.

Broadcast will be repeated by the Mutual network at 6:30 p. m., Sunday (CWT), the eighth U. S. army air forces announced.

Coffee Is Shipped Entirely By Rail

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Coffee is now arriving in the United States by an all-rail route from El Salvador and Guatemala, via Mexico, the office of price administration has disclosed.

The amount of coffee obtainable from El Salvador and Guatemala is not sufficient to have an important effect on the supply in this country, OPA said yesterday, but added that the all-rail route will help relieve the shipping shortage.

ON April 9, 1942, Bataan fell. Three weeks before, a reluctant Gen. Douglas MacArthur had left his gaudy but gallant fighting men on that Philippine peninsula and had flown to Australia on orders of his commander-in-chief. The sting of this defeat was momentarily lightened when U. S. bombers raided Tokyo nine days later, but its seriousness was realized even more fully when our last organized outpost in the Philippines, Corregidor, capitulated in May. The historic stand our fighters made on Bataan is yet to be avenged completely, for the war materials, the men, the bombers and the ships are not yet available for offensive in the western Pacific. MacArthur has made magnificent use of his limited numbers of American and Australian troops by clearing the Japs from southern New Guinea. Without a Navy, he has dealt the enemy heavy blows with airpower. "General MacArthur's airmen" is how the communiques start out these days, and they tell of scores like the 263 Jap planes and 35 enemy ships destroyed or damaged in March, 1943. The map shows some of the major victories scored against the Jap by allied forces in the year since Bataan fell. By the time two years have elapsed since that historic April 9, America may see the fulfillment of MacArthur's promise: "I have left the Philippines to shall return."

CAPTAIN YANK

Rommel Is Reported Removed

BY WILLIAM B. KING
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 24 (AP)—The Allied ground command gave official currency today to an engaging piece of captured evidence that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had been removed by some means from the African fighting scene, leaving his cornered Africa corps under command of Col. Gen. Jürgen von Arnim.

The basis for the crystallizing belief that Rommel had disappeared from Tunisia was a brief statement made public by the headquarters of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, the Allied ground commander, which said: "A document dated March 19 and recently captured by the (British) First Army was signed by Von Arnim as general officer, commander-in-chief, and not by Rommel, whose present whereabouts and new appointment, if any, are unknown."

The cryptic announcement immediately revived speculation on what may happen to the wily Rommel whose whereabouts long have been the subject of rumor and conjecture.

"That the Nazi desert fox would abandon his personally, bothhouse-trained Africa corps, now engaged in its fight for life, opened these possibilities:

(1) That he had been recalled to take charge of the defenses of Italy's mainland and Sicily and Sardinia because the German high command is convinced Africa already is lost.

(2) That he is in disgrace with Hitler and has been removed the same as many other German generals who failed; and

(3) That he had been wounded or killed.

Daylight Raids On Europe Are To Continue

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—American high altitude daylight bombing of Nazi war industry from British bases appears certain to be continued despite some questioning among British press commentators of its effectiveness due to recent indicated plane losses.

In the light of figures made public by Under Secretary of War Patterson on the recent Bremen raid, there remains no doubt that official Washington holds the losses justified by strategic and tactical results obtained as well as the new demonstration of integral defensive power of the big, heavy armed American planes.

Sixteen of them were lost on that flight, but revised figures show they shot 95 of an estimated 150 Nazi interceptor planes out of action, 63 of which definitely were destroyed.

That adds up to a score of 6-to-1 for the unescorted big ships although they were spotted an hour's flight from their target, the Focke-Wulf airplane factory at Bremen. Despite strong opposition, the bombers broke through to destroy or damage substantially half the great works.

The defensive record of the planes compares favorably with the work of General MacArthur's airmen in recent clashes with outnumbering Japanese fighters. An indicated enemy loss ratio of 5-to-1 has delayed even if it has not averted whatever major offensive move the Japanese may be preparing against Australia or New Guinea. A 10-to-1 loss spells Axis doom in Africa.

Yet the aspect of the Bremen bombing most emphasized in the Patterson account was not the loss ratio against the enemy; but the clear evidence that American daylight raiding over Germany is paying dividendary dividends on the Tunisian and Russian fronts as well as helping cripple Nazi war industries.

Three Injured In Accidents

Three persons, two men and one 5-year-old girl, all of Pampa, were injured in two accidents here Friday night.

In Pampa hospital are Clark Stone, 30, of 411 S. Gillespie, who suffered shock and bruises, and Jack Ironmonger, 22, R1001 Schneider, who suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, in an accident occurring at 5:59 p. m. Friday in the 300 block on Frederic street.

Stone, who was charged in county court yesterday with aggravated assault, and Ironmonger were riding on Ironmonger's motorcycle, going west on Frederic, with Stone piloting the vehicle, which failed to make a turn, cut over to the left and skidded 172 feet.

An ambulance took the two to the hospital. Investigation of the accident was by Jim Boswell, Pampa policeman.

The complaint against Stone was signed by Sam Fort, Texas Highway patrolman, and County Attorney Joe Gordon.

At 7:30 Friday night, Alice Joyce Horton, 5, 516 E. Browning, was hit by an automobile driven by L. F. Yoder, Danciger guard, who was en route to work. The child suffered a broken left leg.

Yoder was held blameless in the accident, according to the police, as he stopped immediately after the accident, and later came to the police department to make a report. The accident happened when the girl, whose hand was held by her 7-year-old brother, started across the street. Seeing the car approaching, the boy tried to pull his sister back. She broke loose and ran in front of the car, police said.

Yoder swerved his car in an effort to avoid hitting the child but she continued her way across the street and was struck. At the time of the accident, the automobile was traveling 18 miles an hour, Yoder told police.

He started to put the child in his car to take her to the hospital, but desisted on advice of spectators, who warned him of possible injury to the child by moving her, and waited until an ambulance came.

Investigation of the accident was by Boswell and Louie Allen, Pampa police, and Fort, highway patrolman.

"WAKE UP, AMERICA!"

Can a Peace by Force Be Lasting?

As debated by Hon. Lyle H. Boren Congressman from Oklahoma and Harry Desmond Farrer Lecturer, Author—Sabotage, How to Guard Against It

CONGRESSMAN BOREN OPENS: I understand a peace by force to mean a peace, the terms of which would be enforced by some armed might sufficiently strong to impose upon those unwilling to participate in such a peace the terms thereof.

MR. FARRER OPENS: A peace by force cannot be lasting no matter how benevolent the hands that hold the gun over peoples who must be forced to accept peace, or else. Wars are a form of historical epilepsy. You cannot hold the victims down. They must writhe and thrash until the spell has passed.

CONGRESSMAN BOREN CHALLENGES: I am entirely unable to understand what point my opponent is trying to make, unless it is that we cannot have a lasting peace by force, and therefore, ought not to have any peace at all, but continue the war until all the writhing victims have ceased to writhe and are dead.

MR. FARRER REPLIES: My logic is: you cannot set up within the borders of any conquered country a police force armed with weapons and arbitrary powers to dictate without breeding violent hatreds and promoting bloodshed. Hitler's Gestapo, the most ruthless police force in history, has failed to provide conquered France with law and order.

CONGRESSMAN BOREN REPLIES: There are three possible results in war: continue warring until the millions of people on one side are exterminated; or until they are beaten, surrender, and become peaceful under a superior force; or a stalemate. Peace is law, order, and progress. Law is a rule of action prescribed by a ruling power backed by the "business end of a Tommy-gun," whether that ruling power be a despot or a self-governing people.

Of Cabbages and Queens

By Jane Bara

Let's hope that this Easter Sunday will have a special meaning to us, even more than any Easter Sunday before.

One of the loveliest brides of this season, or any season, as far as that goes, is Mrs. J. E. Leverich, formerly Miss Sara Bourland, who was married Wednesday.

With Easter comes the inevitable Easter fashion parade, and today is no exception. Someone once said that the "Consciousness of being well dressed imparts a blissfulness to the human heart that religion is powerless to bestow."

Perhaps the man in your family had more luck in fitting his Easter suit. But just try (go on I dare you) to buy a dress without something having to be altered.

Life is what we are alive to. It is not length, but breadth. To be alive only to appetite, pleasure, pride, money-making, and not to goodness and kindness, purity and love, poetry, music, flowers, stars, God and eternal hope is to be all but dead.

A sign seen over in the U. S. O.—"Want To Go Kodaking?"—"You Furnish the Equipment—We Furnish the Girls." Looks like fun here.

The members of the Horace Mann Red Cross group are having a hard time getting their members together long enough to turn out much work.

Be pleasant every morning until 10 o'clock. The rest of the day will take care of itself.

From "Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing," the author comes across with such worldly contributions as this—"Poems of Passion Carefully Restrained So As To Offend Nobody"—and "Songs to Break the Tedium of Riding a Bicycle, Seeing One's Friends, or Heartbreak"

Your life's a wreck; you're tired of living, Of lending, spending, borrowing, giving; Of doubt and fear, of hope and question, Of women, children and digestion.

You take a bath, and sit there bathing, In water cold, in Easter scathing; You scrub till your sans an epidermis, And feel like a regular bathing Hermes.

The U. S. O. is sending out another call for Victory Belles to get on their dancing shoes and get to gettin' out to the U. S. O. dances.

Miss Dorothea Heard is spending the Easter vacation with her aunt, Mrs. William Blakney.

Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday, and see—that hurtful thing did not happen.

The more one goes the round of pleasure, the more difficult it is to get square.

First Lieut. and Mrs. Joseph Hodge, Jr., were visiting in Pampa this weekend, and are now vacationing on the Hodge ranch in Cebolla, New Mexico.

Cook your husband's meals carefully and you will not have to worry over his morals.

No matter how hard your life has been, there is a joy for every tear you have shed, only you did not know perhaps how to find the joy or how to dry the tears.

A wise man makes more opportunities than he finds.

The new lifting voice you'll be hearing over KPND will be that of Miss Ann Clark. Miss Clark is starting Monday with her new program at 9:15.

Mrs. Montgomery Is Hostess At Bridal Shower This Week

A shower was given Monday evening in honor of Miss Dorothea Thomas, in the home of Mrs. G. T. Montgomery.

Mrs. E. W. Hogan poured punch which was served from a lace covered table, centered by pink gladioli flanked with white tapers.

Attending guests were Meses. C. L. Thomas, J. W. Crisler, R. W. Talley, L. C. Graham, Skeet Roberts, W. D. Stockstill, Nannie Stockstill, J. L. Strope, Homer Taylor, W. F. Taylor, W. F. Taylor, Felix Stalls, Tom Clayton, Ducey Steele, Polk Valliant, A. B. Carruth, Joe Massengale, R. E. Montgomery.

Pink And Blue Shower Honors Mrs. Clay

Pink and blue was the theme for a shower given Thursday in the home of Mrs. G. F. Alexander in honor of Mrs. J. W. Clay Jr.

The gifts were presented Mrs. Clay in clever sketch given by Bill Russell and Little Phyllis Ann Burns. Phyllis Ann brought the gifts in a bassinet.

A miscellaneous shower given to honor Mrs. J. E. Leverich, the former Miss Sara Bourland, was hosted Monday evening by Miss Jacqueline Hurst and Mrs. J. W. Graham Jr., in the home of Mrs. D. C. Hurst.

"A Light At The Window" To Be Given Tonight

An one-act play will be presented at the Church of the Brethren, 600 North Frost Street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock by players and singers from the Pampa High school.

100,000 Pilots Produced Annually

DALLAS, April 24 (AP)—Major Gen. Gerald C. Brant, commanding the Gulf Coast training area, declared here that the army air force is achieving a combat pilot production rate of 100,000 per year.

BOOKS in BRIEF

By MRS. JAMES TODD

"Texas," a world in itself," by George Sessions Perry.

The author of "Texas: a world in itself," writes: "In Texas we do things by counties."

Though the reader will encounter a few spectacular rascals in this story, Mr. Perry's Texans are mostly healthy, intelligent, humorous and courageous people.

You will hear such Sunday-meeting phrases as "Hold my Baby While I Shout," and will find that a tasty dish is "harrupin," and dried beef to a Texan is "jerky," also that a large quantity of anything is a "passe."

And to ensure our luck in the 12 months to come, we eat black-eyed peas on New Year's day.

Too, it is a known fact that a missing arm or crooked leg will fetch more votes in a county election than any other issue.

The author Mr. Kiplinger analyzes Washington in every aspect of life, and of the people who live there—from Roosevelt and the White House, Hull and the state department, down to the flood of war workers who make it the biggest boom town in history.

"Short Grass Country" by Stanley Vestal is the third of American Polkway books. It is bounded by the Ozarks and woodlands on the east, by the foothills of the Rockies on

Captain Wilks Chapman Marries Miss Kathryn Schultz Of Abilene

Kathryn Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schultz, became the bride of Capt. Wilks Chapman of Pampa, in a ceremony read early Saturday evening at the home of her parents, 542 Cedar, Abilene, Texas.

The Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of St. Paul Methodist church, read the service in the presence of members of the families of the couple and a few of their close friends.

Betty McIntosh, violinist, gave the wedding music and played Ava Maria as the couple said their vows. She also gave a group of prenuptial selections, including Intermezzo (Provost), Liebestraum (Liszt) and Love's Old Sweet Song.

Background for the ceremony was an altar arrangement of white flowers and greenery before a fireplace. Calla lilies, Star of Bethlehem and candytuft dotted the greenery, and tall white candles entwined with ivy flanked a white satin kneeling bench.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece, dawn-blue silk crepe suit, with trimming of self-colored, accordion-pleated ruffled jabot. Her hat was a toque of blue feathers with veil of illusion in halo draping. She carried a shower bouquet of red rosebuds and Star of Bethlehem.

Mrs. Park Grimes of Tulsa, Okla., the bride's sister, was her only attendant. She wore a two-piece brown faille suit with white trimming and hat and a corsage of yellow and white jonquils and shasta daisies.

Mrs. Chapman was graduated from the Abilene high school and Harvard-Simmons university. She received a B. A. degree from HSU and did work on an M. A. degree at the University of Colorado, Boulder. She was employed at Camp Barkeley as secretary to Major Robert H. Mitchell, chief of medical service at station hospital.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chapman of this city. He is a Doctor of Dental Surgery, and was graduated from Baylor Dental college, Dallas. He also attended Texas Tech, Lubbock, and was graduated from Pampa High school. He is a member of Delta Sigma Delta Fraternity.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Captain Chapman's mother, and his sister Wilma Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Lance Sears and daughter, Suzanne of Marynecal, Texas, and Mrs. Park Grimes of Tulsa.

Refreshments were served to the following guests: Meses. T. W. Fletcher, E. M. Culbertson, Jewel Little, M. E. West, E. C. Cox, L. B. Alondy, E. H. Kelly, H. H. Parker, A. W. Chisum, C. C. Teague, Jack Robertson, Ed Walker and Mrs. Floyd Cockrell.

We shall soon be in the high summer of military success—the spring of our liberation from the horrors and miseries of war has begun.

Notes 10 Pounds, Over Withdrawn

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—Sir Singley Wood chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today that the government was withdrawing from circulation bank notes of the denomination of 10 pounds ($40) and upwards.

Financial circles interpreted the move as an attempt to halt big cash transactions to avoid income tax and to hamper black market dealings.

Mrs. Allan Hilton Is Honored By Fidelis Patrons

Mrs. Allan Hilton was honored with a pink and blue shower Thursday afternoon, in the home of Dorothy K. D. Briscoe, by the Fidelis Patrons class of Calvary Baptist church.

A business meeting preceded the social hour in which Mrs. Ed Walker was elected secretary to replace Mrs. Hilton. Mrs. E. M. Culbertson was elected ministering chairman and Mrs. M. E. West, associate group captain.

During the social hour games were played and secret pins for the past three months were revealed.

A novel idea was used to present the gifts to Mrs. Hilton. She was given a ball of twine to follow the twine to a hidden table of gifts.

Refreshments were served to the following guests: Meses. T. W. Fletcher, E. M. Culbertson, Jewel Little, M. E. West, E. C. Cox, L. B. Alondy, E. H. Kelly, H. H. Parker, A. W. Chisum, C. C. Teague, Jack Robertson, Ed Walker and Mrs. Floyd Cockrell.

Italy Is Visited By Roosevelt

ITALY, Texas, April 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt not only visited Mexico this week but passed triumphantly through Italy on his way to and from the Republic to the South.

His first passage through Italy was Monday night. Many Italy folks saw the train as it stopped at the main street crossing and while the president did not venture out, secret service men and the president's Scotty, Fala, were on the rear platform.

V Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. FRED ROBERTS
Mrs. S. O. S. is being sent out by Mrs. J. B. Massa, production chairman, for women to give as much time as possible to Red Cross sewing during the next two months.

The local base hospital is a new one and not fully equipped yet. The nurses immediately need the wrappers and floor folders that they use to wrap the instruments and rubber gloves in when they put them into the sterilizers. We have made many of these but more are needed. They can be sewed in the Red Cross room on the machines there. If you have an hour or two come in the first week of this week for these must be finished immediately.

We made some alterations on hospital gowns for the base hospital this last week and Lt. Tommela, head nurse is sending some more in early Monday morning. Could we have a few volunteers to make these alterations at once? Lt. Tommela would like them back again this week for they are badly needed.

A request came from the hospital this week for the 300 property bags we had promised to make for them. The bags are all cut and tied up in bundles of ten and many can be sewed up easily in three hours. Are there 30 women in Pampa who will sew these?

This is part of Red Cross work that is Pampa's own particular obligation. Mrs. Massa says that of all our responsibilities this is one that we must put first. The local base hospital has no where else to go for help. We cannot let them down.

I spent about an hour in the Red Cross office this last Friday and realized again what a busy place that is these war days. Mrs. J. B. White was back from St. Louis and though her work was handled very efficiently while she was gone by her corps of volunteer staff assistants and home service workers, her desk is piled high with work. She needs a full-time volunteer office assistant such as the offices in both Amarillo and Lubbock have. The spindle on her desk must have at least a hundred telegrams on it. That means 100 cases that are open and still being worked on. The telephone rang a number of times while I was there and during one call Mrs. White made arrangements to get a loan for a soldier's wife. Mrs. Clyde Blackwell and Mrs. W. A. Rankin were working on the files and were really tired when they left at 12 o'clock after a morning's work. The office couldn't run at all without these volunteer assistants and home service workers who give so much of their time.

Stop at the Red Cross office some day and watch the activity going on there all the time or talk to Mrs. M. F. Roche or Mrs. L. L. Stone about the work their corps of women are doing every day.

A letter from a prisoner of war— from Zenitani War Prison camp, Japan, 8-3-42. Dear Mother: Waka was captured on December 23, 1941. We were captured and sent here to Japan. I have received very good treatment since I was captured. Once a week we go on a hike through the city and up in the hills, which is very interesting. We are going to get 500 books in our library in a few days and they should keep us busy until we get out of here.

Thousands of vital messages concerning servicemen killed in action, reported missing or taken prisoners of war, as well as a large number of undelivered allotment checks, have been returned to Washington because the families to whom they are addressed cannot be located.

This government announcement accompanied a request from the war and navy departments that the American Red Cross attempt to trace the persons to whom the messages were originally addressed, according to Mrs. M. F. Roche, home service chairman of the Pampa Red Cross chapter.

"Some of the messages or allotment checks may be for persons who have moved to Gray county or for former Gray countians, who have since moved away and have neglected to leave correct forwarding addresses," Mrs. Roche said. "To facilitate the delivery of casualty and other messages of vital importance to a servicemen's family all persons listed as the 'next of kin' on service records, should be sure to leave their forwarding or emergency address with the post office when they move."

One cable message to newly-announced prisoners of war or internees in the Far East, who have been officially reported, is being accepted by the American Red Cross to be transmitted at the expense of the sender, it was announced here today by Joe F. Key, chairman of the board of the Pampa Red Cross chapter.

The limitation to one is necessary in view of crowded communication facilities, Key said. After the first cable message is sent, others will be accepted for

'Keeper of the Flame' Teams Tracy-Hepburn

BY BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Outstanding picture of the week on Pampa screens is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's graphic adaptation of I. A. R. Wylie's best seller, "Keeper of the Flame," in which Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn have the leading roles. It's on the LaNora screen today through Wednesday.

It is the second time Tracy and Hepburn figure in a newspaper drama. Unlike "Woman of the Year," which was comedy, the new picture is a dramatic one, with Tracy, the newspaperman, investigating the death of a noted American leader, and falling in love with his widow, played by Hepburn.

Spencer Tracy, twice an Academy award winner, and Katharine Hepburn, both pictured above, in a scene from "Keeper of the Flame," opening today at the LaNora.

All the other films opening the week at Pampa theaters are comedies.

There's "Here We Go Again," Universal picture, with Charlie McCarthy, Edgar Bergen, Fibber McGee and Molly topping the cast, in a story of how a quiet vacation trip turns into a hilarious mix-up of romance, jealousy, Indians, and an elusive silk moth. The film opens a three-day run today at the State. Ginny Simms, formerly of Pampa, is included in the supporting cast.

CROWN

"A Night to Remember," Columbia, is an amusing mystery farce about murder and blackmail in a Greenwich Village flat, featuring Loretta Young and Brian Aherne. It's at the Crown today, tomorrow and Tuesday.

Transmittal only in cases of vital emergency, in compliance with an agreement with International Red Cross.

"We can accept one cabled message for a civilian presumed to be in the Philippines," Key stated. "The understanding on all cables is that delivery is not guaranteed and that postal messages must be used after one message has been sent. Great care must be experienced in accepting messages for transmission by cableman as international facilities are reserved for important communications."

The cost of sending a cable varies with the distance and length of the message. The charge is approximately $15 for a minimum 25-word cable to the Philippines. Since six of the words must be reserved for instructions to the International Red Cross, and since the name and address of the person cabled also must be counted in, the words left for the actual message usually number eight. The Red Cross chapter originating the message is billed by the Red Cross office in Washington at the time the cable is sent. If a cabled reply is received collect, another bill is sent the chapter for the additional charge. These charges are passed on to the individual.

REX

Jane Frazee and Robert Paige, above, have the leading romantic roles in Universal's Ritz Brothers comedy "Hi Ya Chum," showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Rex. Story is a mirthful combat between a law-abiding restaurant and a crooked establishment in a western boom town.

NEW WELLINGTON MANAGER
Horace Clark is the new manager of the Ritz theater at Wellington. He has been with the Griffith Amusement company for 13 years. The Griffith company also is the owner of the Pampa theaters. Manager Clark started at Altus, Okla., in 1927, was then assistant manager at Berger, and at Seminole and Ada, Okla. He comes to Wellington from Lubbock where he was assistant manager of the Broadway and Lyric theaters.

At Wellington, Clark succeeds Paul Cornwell, transferred to Clinton, Okla., to replace Bill Turk, former manager of the Ritz at Wellington, who has been called to the army. Cornwell was manager of the Ritz for the last two years.

MOVIES SHOW PATRIOTISM
As the screen reflects the demand for more entertainment, it is using this public contact for many other useful purposes, for the sale of Victory bonds and stamps, declares Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., in his 21st annual report, dated April 15.

Among accomplishments of the nation's theaters have been the following:
Four national campaigns among theater-goers contributed more than $770,000 for Greek War relief; $998,000 for the USO; $1,400,000 for infantile paralysis and over $2,000,000 for army and navy emergency relief.

In September, 1942, the theaters sponsored a special bond drive. Special shows were credited with the sale of $94,000,000 in Victory bonds; 50 Hollywood stars traveled 130,000 miles for bond rallies in 363 cities, which resulted in a total sale of more than $200,000,000.

For the entertainment of our armed forces, 4,700 complete film programs for non-admission showings in overseas areas have been donated to the war department.

"HANGMEN ALSO DIE"
Arthur H. DeBra, director of research for MPPDA, Inc., 28 W. 44 Street, New York, calls attention in a circular letter to the United Artists picture, "Hangmen Also Die."

"Czechoslovakia under the Nazi heel is the background of the story. It is not a pleasant tale but it is a fascinating one. It has all the suspense of a good detective yarn, which in some respects it really is. You will not draw the curtain of memory on it as you leave the theater; it will mature and mellow in your mind as its scenes are relived again in your recollection.

"The excellent cast, including Brian Donlevy, Anna Lee, and Walter Brennan, contributes greatly to the realism of the presentation."
Director DeBra adds that there is a superb blending of photoplay and documentary techniques that reflect the artistry of Fritz Lang, director, and Arnold Pressburger, producer.

The Easter motif was carried out in the decorations. The table was beautifully decorated with bowls of tulips, iris and spirea placed at intervals, were used, flanked with lighted tapers which furnished illumination. Easter place-cards were used.

Mrs. Euel Bradley, Worthy Matron, gave the welcome and Mrs. B. E. Kesh, past matron, responded.

Approximately 29 members enjoyed the delectable dinner.

It is a terrific blunder to assume that war promotes science. Ninety-nine per cent of scientific inventions have not been the result of the stimulus of war as many people believe. These inventions are only applied or adapted to war. War distorts science—namely, wasting energies on things which are not beneficial to humanity.

DARK JUNGLES

BY JOHN C. FLEMING & LOIS EBY

JEALOUSY

CHAPTER XVIII THE acid odor of wood smoke filled Barry's nostrils as he came down the steps of the estancia and stepped out into the early morning sunshine. Renaldo, his shirt sleeves rolled high on his muscular arms, his shirt open at the neck, was shouting orders and moving quickly among the numerous copper kettles that boiled over banked charcoal fires. "Looks like a busy place around here," Barry called when he was only a few paces away. "From now on it will be," Renaldo said good-naturedly. "We've got to get our shipment packed and sent out by mule train to Puerto Barrios for the steamer leaving there next week. "I must finish this batch of chicle and get it packed on the mules," Renaldo told her. "Then I must make a quick trip to the new grove to get the chicheros started there. But in a week—" "A week is too long," Barry's impatience burned through his voice. "I'm going alone." Renaldo's sharp dark eyes rested thoughtfully on Barry. "I know what you are enduring, Renaldo," he said gravely. "I am not a patient man myself when my work is not going forward. But believe me, it would be fool's haste for you to go now. In the first place, this fever of yours is treacherous. It would strike you down, addle your thoughts when you wish to be most lucid. "He's right," Allison cried to Barry. "Then," Renaldo went on, "I doubt you would reach Moncha Suma alive. The Indian girl died, you know. The tribe is up in arms. And your word will not be proof of your innocence. "It's got to be!" Barry cried irritably. "What other proof can I get?" "My friendship," said Renaldo quietly. "When I go with you, they will not harm you. And when I tell Moncha Suma that I, his friend, vouch for you, then he may absolve you from blame. That is the only way I know you may be able to accomplish your mission. "Barry drew a deep breath. "I suppose you're right." "And you will put in a word with the chief about his quicksilver mines?" Allison demanded of Renaldo. Renaldo nodded. "Yes, I will be glad to do that," he said. "Thank you, Renaldo." The Spaniard's eyes glowed as they met Allison's. Barry felt a new twinge of irritation. He deliberately broke up the glance. "I'm the one to thank you," he said hastily. "I appreciate you doing this even if I do sound grouchy." RENALDO'S hand dropped onto Barry's shoulder. "It's a great pleasure to do it for you—and Miss Topping," he said. He turned to an Indian waiting with his testing ladle. Barry and Allison strolled across the clearing toward the estancia. Allison was frowning. "There must be some way we can cut down that week," she murmured. "But I know Renaldo has to go to the new grove. He told me last night you and I are to be richer than the main one just north of the estancia. And he has to be there to hire a new crew of chicheros from the Indians coming over from Ledo." "You sound just like a career woman," Barry teased. "What's wrong with that?" Allison's violet eyes turned up toward him gleaming with the light of battle. "Nothing, nothing!" Barry retorted hastily. "I guess it's your own business. "I've been under that impression for a long time," she said gaily, "but you're slow about getting it into your head. Now Renaldo is a very smart man. He knows enough not to argue when a woman makes up her mind. "If it's about your going back to New York," Barry said, "I don't think he wants to argue any more." She gave him a mischievous, secretive smile. "Renaldo is a prince," she said, "and he worked up from a pauper. He told me how fendishly poor he was as a kid, and how ambitious. When he was a little urchin in Rio he did odd jobs, sold papers, ran errands, hedges. Finally he worked his way through law school at the university there. Father met him at Puerto Barrios and hired him on a percentage basis shortly before he died. He says it's the first chance he's had to get the profits from his own ingenuity. "Is he going to make his charm pay too?" Barry demanded as he opened the door for her. She sent him a wide-eyed stare of innocence. "I don't know what you mean," she smiled demurely. "But he did say once that a fortune teller told him he would be rich and powerful and marry a beautiful blond." (To Be Continued)

President Eats With Soldiers In Oklahoma

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL CAMP GRUBER, Okla., April 18 (Delayed AP)—President Roosevelt ate a chili con carne supper tonight with 208 enlisted men and a handful of officers at this Indian army camp and he told them that "I don't get as good a meal as that in the White House." "I only get butter for breakfast—one little pat at that," he remarked. "You are lucky to be in the army." Mr. Roosevelt came to Oklahoma on one phase of an inspection tour of war plants and military establishments before heading southward to Monterey, Mexico, for a conference with President Avila Camacho. He arrived at the camp late in the day and the entire 88th infantry division, commanded by Maj. Gen. John E. Sloan, and a stray black and white dog, passed before him in review on a parade ground two miles long. The review was preceded by formal honors and the lowering of the flag at post headquarters. A public address system had been installed at the parade grounds but Mr. Roosevelt passed up an opportunity to address the 15,000 men in the division. "Where do we go now," he asked Gen. Sloan, "the mess hall?" They did and the chief executive had four helping of chili, plus fried potatoes, macaroni, lettuce salad, radishes, crackers, bread and butter, candied carrots, cinnamon buns and coffee. It was the regular ration for enlisted men, the menu having been figured out months ahead of time. It was the same thing set before each soldier in camp without being told ahead of time with whom they were going to have their Sunday night meal. "I just want to take the opportunity while I am here—I believe you represent many units of this camp," Mr. Roosevelt said, "to tell you I was very happy at the efficient and fine appearance, both of the division in review and the men along the route." Next day President Roosevelt dropped in on a mile-long plant of the Douglas Aircraft corporation at Tulsa and rode down assembly lines where workers looked up in amazement and called a temporary halt on turning out Liberator bombers and Dauntless dive bombers. It was his first stop at a munitions production center during an inspection of war facilities preliminary to his swing down into Mexico. Mr. Roosevelt was impressed by the number of women employees whose standard costume was slacks and blouses. He told a press conference aboard his special train that more than half the workers in the plant were women. They take a 10-weeks' training course, he said, and the girls turn out excellent work. The plant, big enough to hold 22 regulation size football fields, was completed last summer and the President said he was glad that it actually was turning out planes. The Liberator bombers are put together from component parts and subassemblies shipped from the Ford Willow Run plant at Detroit in 76-foot truck trailers. There had been some delay in operations. America Is Concerned Over Argentine Japs

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull said this week there is deep concern among the United Nations over transmission of vital information to the Axis through neutral countries. Asked at his press conference about a remark of a former Argentine consular attaché in Tokyo that "the Argentine has been the eyes and ears of the Japanese government in the Western Hemisphere," Hull replied he had not had an opportunity to confirm the statement but thought that the United States and others of the United Nations had made very clear their deep apprehension and concern over the transmission of vital information from neutral countries to the Axis. The "eyes and ears" statement was made in New York last Sunday by Ramon La Valle, until recently Argentine consular attaché in Tokyo. La Valle said he had quit his country's foreign service in protest against Argentina's neutrality. He said he was informed the Japanese embassy in Argentina was sending more than 60 cables a day to Japan "with full information on United States war production." BUY VICTORY BONDS—READ THE WANT ADS

Garbage Man Complains Because Fort Sam Houston Waste Food Is So Light, Thanks to Good Planning

SAN ANTONIO, April 2 (AP)—Fort Sam Houston's waste food supply is so light that the garbage man is complaining.

He can't get enough to feed his hogs. Col. Charles K. Nulsen, who commands the big post here, takes the complaint with a smile and as evidence Fort Sam's "lick-the-plate-clean" campaign is working.

The hog raiser has a contract to buy garbage from the post. He complained the supply was so far below expectations that he had to purchase corn for his animals.

Colonel Nulsen recites these factors in the drive to keep food waste at the minimum:

Food is prepared for the number of men to be fed, not on the number of men in an organization.

Menus are shaped to provide all necessary foods but not in excessive amounts.

Left-over food and containers are sent where they will do the most good as glycerine, tin, steel and fertilizer.

Residual garbage is fed to hogs, providing ingredients for more ham, bacon and pork chops.

Mess officers draw their supplies from commissaries not on the basis of how many men are in an army unit but on the number likely to appear at mess for a particular meal. Thus food is NOT wasted on soldiers who eat elsewhere.

The army estimates that it takes 5.39 pounds of food per day to keep a soldier in fighting trim. The menus are designed to include in that amount every necessary element, including calories, proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals.

There is little left on the soldier's plate. Leftovers are not wasted. The army cook, like the civilian housewife, has a separate receptacle into which kitchen fats are placed, and eventually they become glycerine—which goes into explosives.

Tin cans are separated, to go to plants where their tin and steel will be separated and reclaimed. Bones go into another container, and become fertilizer.

From what is left, all material classed as "edible garbage" is segregated for sale as good for hogs.

Two Fort Sam Houston officers handling food conservation activities are Lt. Col. A. E. Carmichael, post inspector, and Capt. A. T. Ringrose, food and nutrition officer in the post surgeon's office.

Displayed in kitchens are instructions for the most economical use of coffee, tea, cooking fats and other foodstuffs.

Company and detachment messes have such signs as "Take all you can eat, but eat all you take" and "plenty of food for everyone, but don't waste a crumb." Unit officers check messes to see that meals are being properly and economically prepared.

Hugh Branch Is Prisoner Of Japs In Philippines

Months of anxiety ended Saturday for C. C. Branch and Mrs. H. H. Kealey of Pampa when they received a communication from the war department that their son and brother, Cpl. Hugh E. Branch, is a prisoner of the Japs in the Philippines and is believed to be in "normal" health.

Corporal Branch, who was graduated from McLean high school in 1935 and joined the army in March, 1941, was shipped out to the Philippines on Sept. 9, 1941, and the last word the family had from him directly was Feb. 24, 1942.

With the fall of Bataan and Corregidor a year ago, his relatives didn't know whether he had been killed or taken prisoner.

"We were glad to hear that he is alive, even though he is a prisoner of the Japs," his father and sister declared today. "We also were informed that we could write to him through the Red Cross."

Corporal Branch was a member of the 194th tank battalion, stationed at Fort Stotsenberg in the Philippines. A resident of Montana at the time he joined the army, he enlisted at Fort Lewis, Wash.

He has three brothers, J. B. of Arp, Tex., T. A. of Montana, a Clarence, now with the Marines somewhere in the Pacific; and two other sisters, Mrs. Joe Wheeler of Eagle Pass and Mrs. Guy Carraker of Houston.

Three other Panhandle men were listed Saturday by the war department as prisoners of the Japs at an unlocated camp, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington. They were:

Pfc. Martin J. Hegdal, son of Mrs. Blanch Hegdal, Borger; Cpl. Raymond E. McGee, son of Mrs. Rice McGee, 2440 Northwest 13th Ave., and Cpl. La Vaughn Odneal, son of A. L. Odneal, 1005 North Taylor St., both of Amarillo.

Transportation Will Be Tough This Year

DALLAS, April 24 (AP)—Less and less room will be available for the civilian who wants a vacation trip this year. T. O. Crutcher, assistant director of rail terminals, Office of Defense Transportation, said today after receiving from Washington a statement on the railroad passenger outlook for spring and summer.

"During the months immediately ahead, more pullman sleepers and more day coaches will be diverted from regular service to military service," Walker said, "and the supply of railroad passenger equipment is unexpanding."

For those who decide to try a vacation trip anyway, ODT offers

Cpl. A. K. Ayers of the post medical detachment, Fort Sam Houston, knows that the army will give him plenty of nourishing food, but a sign in the mess hall also reminds him not to let his eyes be bigger than his stomach.

Constant watchfulness is one of the ways in which the post of Fort Sam Houston eliminates food waste. Above, Capt. A. T. Ringrose, food and nutrition officer of the post surgeon's office, examines the interior of a garbage can to see if its contents conform with the post's conservation program.

Leaders from all walks of life will be required after the war. They will be those who have applied practical consideration to man's complete desire for a peaceful world of opportunity.

Fight For Civilian Supply Control On

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes was reported taking the lead today in a backstage campaign to separate control over civilian supplies and the War Production board.

Byrnes' advocacy of the move in chats with his former senate colleagues apparently gave new impetus to a bill vigorously opposed by WPB Chairman Donald Nelson and raised the question in some senatorial minds about Nelson's future status.

As approved by the Senate Banking committee, the measure would set up a separate agency outside the WPB with power equal to that of the army and navy in obtaining necessary supplies for civilians.

Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) arranged to report the bill formally to the senate today in preparation for a possible vote next week.

Sullivans To Visit Houston Next Week

HOUSTON, April 24 (AP)—The parents who have suffered the heaviest blow in this war will visit Houston's war industries next week to urge "more speed and more production."

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Sullivan of Waterloo, Iowa, who lost 114 sons in the Battle of the Solomons, will arrive in Houston Sunday.

Plans are being made for the Sullivans to visit as many Houston war plants as possible and, if time permits, they will visit industries in nearby cities, Admiral Foote said.

The five Sullivan brothers joined the navy together shortly after Pearl Harbor. They were aboard the cruiser USS Juneau when it was lost in the Solomon Islands.

A daughter of the Sullivans has recently joined the WAVES.

Eisenhower Declares Enemy Plenty Tough

CAMP CAMPBELL, Ky., April 24 (AP)—The enemy, says Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in North Africa, "is tough, resourceful and battle-wise."

Writing to Maj. Gen. Stephen G. Henry, commanding general of the 20th armored division, in appreciation of the fact a recent armored force officer candidate school at Fort Knox, Ky., had been named for him, General Eisenhower said he wished it were possible to send a message to every candidate.

"The message I would like to send would be: 'Your enemy is tough, resourceful and battle-wise; your duty to yourself, to your men and to your country is to be tougher, more resourceful and better trained than that enemy in every phase of battle activity.'"

General Henry said he felt General Eisenhower's words should be brought to the attention of every man in the armed services "to dispel the wishful thinking of anyone who believes this war can be won by anything other than training, heartache and bloodshed."

AUSTIN, April 24 (AP)—Don't turn your spring outing into a funeral, the State Health department warned today in offering timely advice to picknickers.

Wait an hour after eating before going in the water.

Never dive into unfamiliar waters. Leave the water if chilled or fatigued.

Don't enter the water if overheated.

Learn to float.

Mongols Could Show Japan How--But They Had Horses

(AP) Features

Let Japan stand as a symbol of the Good Little Man; let the United States stand as a symbol of the Good Big Man; and the burning international question simmers down to this—

Can a Good Little Man beat a Good Big Man?

The answer is YES—if.

The play's to get that answer is your history book. You can get it again and again if you want. Take the case of the Mongols.

The Mongols, like the Japanese, were Asiatics.

Like the Japanese, they had natural resources that were pitifully small. They lived on the flat grasslands of Central Asia—a loose-knit group of fighting, quarreling clans. Their chief assets were their own hardihood and their ponies.

Like the Japanese, they were molded suddenly, in the Thirteenth century, into a compact, fanatic, purposeful body of fighting men and women. The untaught genius who did it was Genghis Khan, greatest of conquerors.

Like the Japanese, they considered their destiny was to rule all peoples. And they started out to do it.

Partly by chance, partly by acute intellectual effort, they evolved a fighting machine simply beyond comparison for the times. It consisted entirely of cavalry, which provided maximum mobility. It got devastating fire power by accurate bowmanship in an age when other fellows clung to sword and shield. And it made the most of these advantages by competent generalship and perfectly drilled maneuvers, while opposing armies disregarded cooperation between knights and footmen.

Like the Japanese, the whole Mongol nations concentrated its efforts on keeping its armies in the field. Total was not invented in Tokyo or Berlin.

The Mongols swept clear across the Asiatic steppes, following the present-day route of the trans-Siberian railway, crushing every sign of opposition.

They killed everybody in sight, mercilessly, but without particular rancor. It was a part of their system to make sure that no fifth column would spring up in their rear. An alternative was to make virtual serfs of survivors, using them as mobile shields against the next foe, or as slaves to help support their armies.

Like the Japanese, the Mongols learned in advance all about their foes. From Christian merchants and other spies, they got complete reports on the lands to be conquered and used this knowledge to play off one faction against another.

The system was absolutely unbeatable. With it the Mongols poured into Russia, into China, into India, into Germany and Hungary. The flower of eastern European Christendom went down before them like a pack of cards. In their terror, the victims imagined they faced huge hordes, when actually they faced modest-sized armies.

The deaths of first one khan and then another saved Europe from practically certain conquest, although European kings still felt it couldn't happen there. When a khan died, the princes in the field went back home with their generals to choose a new one. Home was so far away that a journey there meant calling off grand campaigns, often an expedition against Japan China was saved perhaps by a wise administrator who tempered Genghis Khan's passion for mass murder, and by the more enlightened policies of some of the later khans.
