President Inspects Southern Army Posts

FDR Pleased With Troops In Training

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN, April 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt is making a second major inspection of America's expanding war effort and has seen tens of thousands of fit, bronzed troops which, he indicated, will be used to hammer out or maintain a second front in Europe.

Weaving through the southeastern states by special train and motor, he has visited a marine corps base, a WAAC training center, and five army posts, and reviewed division after division of fit-looking fighting men, with months of toughening behind them.

Ahead of them may be glory on the European continent. "The troops you have seen will do a good job in Europe," a reporter asked at a press conference aboard his train.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that he would say so from what he had seen of our troops in North Africa and here back home.

The chief executive permitted an announcement today that he had toured Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Arkansas as a sequel to the swing through the southern states to border and coast to coast last fall, checking up on military and war production establishments.

He left Washington April 13, and, briefly and chronologically, here is where he has stopped and what he has seen:

April 14, Marine corps base at Parris Island, S. C., where new recruits were getting basic training that turns out men for one of the world's greatest fighting units.

April 14, Maxwell Field, Ala., near Montgomery, where fledgling pilots receive the rudimentary schooling which enables them to become crack aviators. Units also were present from nearby Paine and Craig fields, which offer actual flying instruction.

April 15, Fort Benning, Ga., near Columbus, where basic training is provided for troops that drop from the sky by parachute and top men from the ranks are pushed forward.

Police Office Is Remodeled

For the second time in 13 years the "bullpen" has been removed from the office of the Pampa police department.

This time it appears to be gone for good as a semi-circular knotty pine booth has been constructed to take its place.

The "bullpen," a "picket corral," was first built around the sergeant's desk in the office back in 1930. There it remained except for one two-year period when it was removed.

With the installation of the police radio system it became necessary to protect the equipment on the desk which includes a microphone.

Besides that, the police department wanted to make its desk and office as efficient and neat as possible.

The booth measures 22 feet around in 45 inches high and the counter is 18 inches wide. Both the interior and exterior of the booth have been stained and painted brown. A strip of inlaid blue-green linoleum covers the counter and the same material covers the floor on the interior of the booth.

There are built-in drawers and shelves and the desk itself is a part of the booth.

Police Chief Ray Dudley said it was planned to paint the floor of the police department office at a later date.

Hitler Observes Grim Birthday

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—Adolf Hitler celebrated his 54th birthday today with his armies on the defensive in Europe and its outposts, and little to tell the German people to relieve the grimness of the situation should he decide to make his usual anniversary address to the nation.

The Berlin radio pictured him as spending the eve of his birthday at headquarters—the location of which was undisclosed—listening to broadcasts that marked the beginning of Germany's annual tribute to the Fuehrer. There still was no indication whether Hitler himself would speak.

The Germans had been urged to hang out flags, and talks and martial demonstrations were to occupy the people today.

The first broadcasts brought pronouncements of propaganda ministers Goebbels and Reichsmarschal Goering from the microphones and it was a grim birthday theme they sounded for the nation.

"The war is in its fourth year and has reached its hardest stage so far, and the end or a way out of its burdens and sufferings are at present nowhere in sight," Goebbels said.

"If the people must shoulder great risks to preserve their existence," he added, "it is better to ban the devil of doubt and discord and to concentrate steadfastly on a historical mission. If that begins to be found wanting, it is the beginning of the end."

Goering issued a proclamation to the army and the people hailing Hitler as "the first soldier of the Reich."

"We will show the world our knowledge that our arms cannot be conquered and our certainty of the eternal greatness of Germany," he said in a tone slightly more hopeful than Goebbels'.

Diplomatic quarters here predict that Hitler may make another peace offer, if only to sell his satellite countries the newest propaganda line that the fortress of Europe is defending itself from outside aggression—with Soviet Russia as the bugbear.

The house coinage, weights, and measures committee unanimously refused to approve the senate bill extending for two years from next June 30 the President's authority over the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

Meanwhile, a senatorial demand for open sessions at the forthcoming international food conference was coupled today with the assertion that if the deliberations at such a meeting must be kept from the American people, it has been called too soon.

Senator George (D-Ga.) told reporters he felt present arrangements barring the press from contact with delegates and from attending any but formal opening and closing sessions of the May food conference at Hot Springs, Va., "cannot but have a bad effect on American opinion."

The Georgia senator, who heads a special committee to study post-war economic planning, said he didn't see why the whole food question couldn't be discussed openly, adding: "If the preliminary conversations have not been held which would permit public discussion on these problems, then the call for the conference is premature."

The house also heard leaders of opposing factions in the pay-as-you-go tax fight making one "last" attempt to raise some sort of mutually agreeable measure out of the ashes of previous compromise attempts.

With Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts saying "today will settle it one way or the other," one party member said "so long as the Republicans who support skip-a-year and the opposing Democrats might, from sheer exhaustion," agree to cancel about 50 per cent of either 1942 or 1943 taxes to put the taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go program.

Tommy's Fifth Wife To Be Becomes No. 7

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—A water heater explosion has rekindled romance for Thomas Franklin Manville who says he is going to make 23-year-old Bonnie Edwards, who was wife No. 5, wife No. 7.

The 48-year-old heir to the asbestos fortune was burned about the face recently when he investigated with a match to see why the gas was not burning in a hot water heater in his New Rochelle, N. Y., home.

He went to a New York hotel the next day and hired a day and night nurse to apply wet compresses to the burns. Hearing about this yesterday, Bonnie said she rushed to his room, had a scuffle with a nurse as to who should apply the compresses, lost the point but received a proposal from Tommy.

Bonnie lived with Tommy 17 days after their marriage in November, 1941. In Ridgefield, Conn., and divorced him in Reno in January, 1942. A short time later he married Billy Boze, who divorced him in Reno on Feb. 10.

Tommy declares, "I've never been out of love with Bonnie," and Bonnie says, "this time we're really going to get along."

Georgia Convicts Made Own Whiskey

REIDSVILLE, Ga., April 20 (AP)—How three whiskey stills were found in Georgia's state penitentiary prior to the mass escape of 25 of the inmates today by Warden H. R. Duval.

Duval said one still of 50-gallon capacity was found in the prison canteen plant, in a wing of the main building, and the two smaller ones had been found. The discoveries were made March 16, just after he took over as warden, Duval said.

This disclosure came after Duval told how convicts planned weeks in advance for last Friday's mass break, working hour after hour to cut through specially hardened bars with steel wire, then put them back in place with soap. Confessions by two reconverted prisoners aided in the revelation. Eleven fugitives remain at large.

Planes Defeat Subs In Convoy Battle

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—Allied planes helping to defend two important convoys probably destroyed five Axis submarines and seriously damaged many others in a four-day running battle with a U-boat pack in the Atlantic in mid-March, the air ministry news service announced today.

Flying fortresses, Liberators and Sunderland's attached to the coastal command took up the defense of the convoys as soon as they came within range of the British coast and sharply reduced the scale of the wolf-pack, though an unspecified number of Allied ships were lost, the announcement revealed.

Farm Money Is Rejected By House

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The house approved a 1944 agricultural appropriation of $715,999,662 today with a limitation that none of the funds shall be used for incentive payments to encourage greater production of war crops.

The measure as adopted also deprives the farm security administration of any funds and discontinues crop insurance programs.

The maximum payment of farm benefits to any one person was fixed at $500 by 119-80 voice vote.

The house coinage, weights, and measures committee unanimously refused to approve the senate bill extending for two years from next June 30 the President's authority over the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

Hitler Broadcast Rudely Interrupted

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—A powerful ghost voice interrupted the Berlin radio's birthday tribute to "Our beloved Fuehrer" today by shouting:

"The entire German nation curses today the hour that man was born."

The voice continued: "This henchman has been in power too long. German people awake! The time has come to finish with the Nazi gang. Down with Hitler and his gang. On the day of Hitler's downfall, the war will be over."

The ghost was on the same wave length as the Berlin radio and the Nazis were unable to stifle the voice.

10 Sea Scouts Are Drowned In New York

ISLIP, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—Police and coast guard authorities today searched the waters of Great South Bay for the bodies of three teen-age sea scouts who with seven companions lost their lives yesterday in a tragic climax to a career Easter vacation cruise.

Their skipper, Frey Mayer, 30 of North Bellmore, L. I., was the sole survivor of the disaster which occurred when their 36-foot converted cabin cruiser foundered in the bay two miles from shore.

Mayer was rescued by a passing ship after two members of the crew leaped overboard and tied a line around him as he fought to forestall unconsciousness. The rescue vessel also recovered the bodies of five of the boys. Two other bodies were found later in the same area by coast guard searchers.

Mayer related this account of the tragedy.

A huge wave smashed the hatch door of their boat, sweeping one of the boys overboard. Two others launched a dinghy and attempted to rescue their shipmate, but a wave capsized the dinghy and Mayer said he saw no more of the three boys.

Waves pounded the cruiser which took water rapidly. This forced her bow downward and the boat began to sink. The boys who had donned life preservers were hurled overboard as the craft's bow sank deeper.

The next few hours were a nightmare as Mayer swam around the stricken cruiser, encouraging the boys to keep their hold on the vessel's side. One by one the boys dropped off, exhausted by the waves and the chill of the water.

Ickes Ups Oil Quota For Texas In May

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Petroleum administration Ickes certified to petroleum producing states today a daily May production rate of 4,237,400 barrels of all petroleum liquids, an increase of 51,300 barrels over the total certified for April.

Most state quotas were little changed, except for Texas, where the rate was increased by 60,000 barrels daily to meet requirements of the war emergency pipeline at the Longview terminal in East Texas.

Certified daily production rates for May compared with April included: Oklahoma, 37,000 and 37,300; Arkansas, 73,000 and 78,600; Louisiana, 359,000 (unchanged); New Mexico, 105,700 (unchanged); Texas, 1,562,000 and 1,562,000.

German Attacks In Kuban Area Increase

MOSCOW, April 20 (AP)—Large-scale German attacks have increased in the Kuban area of the Black sea coast, and reports today said the Germans had attained numerical superiority in some places, but despite the weight of their attacks they were reported to have gained neither any major success or any new territory.

Sharp midnight assaults, supported by a squadron of tanks, gave them a wedge in Soviet positions in an undisclosed sector but the Russians said they had thrown the Germans out. The Germans lost 400 dead in one sector, said the midday communique.

The Nazi attacks were mounted from near the sea of Azov to the heights of Novorossiysk and the German air force continued to lend the ground troops heavy support. The Germans were met, however, by determined Russian air resistance and effective anti-airillery fire, which combined to down 17 enemy planes since yesterday.

Sweden Accused Of Aiding Nazis

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—Dingle MacKintosh Foot, laborite member of Parliament, told the House of Commons today that Sweden is exporting to Germany, in addition to raw materials, certain classes of goods outside "the strict category of war materials" which "may be used either for civil or military purposes."

COLONEL GETS AWARD COLLEGE STATION, April 20 (AP)—The distinguished service medal is being awarded Col. Maurice D. RAF Attacks Transport Systems

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—British light bombers and fighters struck again last night at the creaking German transport system over a big stretch of occupied Europe and Germany.

The air ministry news service said the RAF's lighter ships ranged against Nazi rail lines and roads from Brittany, through Northern France and Holland, and into northern Germany, and whittled down German transport shipping in the channel.

Two aircraft were missing from the night's missions, the news service said.

"The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, said four enemy bombers which struck at Holland and northwestern Germany last night were shot down and that a fifth crashed into the channel."

"The Paris radio went off the air early today, the federal communications commission reported in Washington. This followed reports that the Luxembourg and Danish radio stations had quit the air, signs of Allied aerial activity."

Britain enjoyed a rainless night. A Reuters report from its correspondent in Zurich, Switzerland, said about 800 persons were killed in the RAF's massive raid Friday night on German-occupied Czechoslovakia, and that everything within an area of 50 acres appears to have been destroyed.

German experts, it was said, estimated it would take from three to five months to get the Skoda works and that again, and then only on a restricted scale.

Foul Play Feared In Man's Absence

HOUSTON, April 20 (AP)—Officers today sought a man who with today's Dupe, 40, local produce dealer, when the latter was last seen Saturday night as he left a filling station headed south with $1200 in cash on his person.

The man was in Houston alone some five hours afterward and a hotel clerk said he came to his room early Sunday, changed clothing and left.

County and state officers were searching between here and San Antonio for traces of Dupe, whose truck was found early Sunday morning. There were blood stains on the seat of the truck, on a blanket and on Dupe's hat.

Fierce Allied Aerial Offensive Continues; Ground Action Quiet

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 20 (AP)—The Allied aerial offensive, continuing its scorching pace against the Axis air ferry route and warplane nests, cut down 24 more enemy planes yesterday, bringing the 48-hour total to 112, of which 70 were Junkers-52 transports, a communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today.

Raising its total on the flaming Sunday battle over the Sicilian straits, when troop-loaded German transports tumbled out of the sky like leaves in a forest fire, Allied headquarters said three more enemy fighting planes had been accounted for by American pilots and their RAF and South African allies from the desert air force. This put the total of enemy losses in that single battle at 58 transports and 19 fighters.

The fierce, but somewhat slackened offensive was continued yesterday against Marshal Edwin Rommel's aerial ferry route and resulted in the destruction of 12 more Junkers-52's and eight fighters, the communique said.

Four more Axis planes destroyed in other fighting yesterday, and 11 in assorted actions Sunday brought the two-day toll to 112.

Against these losses, the communique said the Allies had 12 planes missing yesterday. Eleven were announced missing the day before, a two-day total of 23.

A Malta communique said two Junkers-52's and two Junkers-88 bombers were shot down by Malta Spitfires yesterday, and Valletta dispatches said a third Junkers-52 was accounted for by Mosquito bombers from the fortress island.

(In London it was assumed these three were in addition to the figures of the Allied headquarters communique, bringing the two-day total to 73 Axis transports or 111 planes.)

On the ground, the Germans mounted a counterattack in the central sector against French forces holding Oued Kebir, south of Bou Arada, but the French beat off the assault easily.

The communique said there was patrol activity elsewhere, but the fact that news was meagre from the land fronts was not taken as an indication no fighting was going on.

The Italian communique, recorded by the Associated Press from a Rome broadcast, said there was violent artillery fire along the front, and the Berlin radio said there was lively activity in which several "local enemy attacks" were turned back.

Well-informed military quarters in London said there were no signs of wholesale Axis evacuation of military forces from Tunisia despite the shooting down of transports loaded with military personnel. The passengers may consist largely of specialists no longer needed in Africa, it was suggested.

In fact the German counterattack and the scale of the continued air war was taken as indications that the Germans were determined to hold the Tunisian bridgehead standing as a guard to the stepping stones to the European mainland.

Bad weather restricted Allied aerial forays to some extent yesterday, but Flying Fortresses found a hole in the clouds to pound the docks and railroad yards at Tunis, and the

Allies Attack Five Jap Bases

(By The Associated Press) Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today that Allied warplanes, operating alone despite the enemy's mounting aerial strength, attacked five Japanese bases yesterday in the islands above Australia.

On both sides, the tremendous struggle for control of the southwest Pacific skies had slackened appreciably.

Targets hit by single United Nations planes included the enemy airbases of Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea; Gasmata and Cape Gloucester, New Britain; and Lea and Finschhafen, New Guinea.

A small Japanese ship was also bombed off Timor island.

On the Burma front, British headquarters reported that field marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell's forces ambushed 200 Japanese troops on Mawu ridge, along the Bay of Bengal, killing 25 and wounding "many more."

Otherwise, the situation remained unchanged as the British-held strong defensive positions after falling back on the Malay peninsula, while RAF planes raked Japanese ground positions in low-level attacks.

Check Equipment Now And Be Ready To Can

In getting ready for the canning season, a careful check should be made of equipment on hand. If no canning has been done before, it is important that a review of equipment be made. You will probably need some new jars and cans to fill your canning budget this year. Discard old glass jars that are cracked and chipped. Discard old jar lids, too, that are not in good condition. It also is poor economy to use old jar rings.

Fruits and tomatoes are processed (sterilized) in a boiling water bath. A wash boiler, bucket or any large container is all right if it has a tight cover, and deep enough to allow water to cover them to a depth of one or two inches over the top. The container should be fitted with a false bottom or rack to keep the jars from touching the bottom.

For canning vegetables other than tomatoes, a steam pressure canner is necessary. Because they do not contain much acid, these vegetables must be processed at a higher temperature than can be obtained in the boiling water bath.

Cook Acid and Non-Acid Foods Differently

Have the gauge on the pressure cooker checked now. Any county home demonstration agent can check it or show you how it is done. If you don't have a steam pressure cooker it is desirable to use some method besides canning to preserve vegetables other than tomatoes.

Other pieces of useful equipment include shallow pans, colander, quart and cup measures, handle of dipper, long-handled spoons, paring knife, cutting knife, jar funnel and jar tongs.

For purposes of "canning," foods are considered in two groups according to the quantity of free acid they contain. The acid foods are fruits, tomatoes, pickled beets, ripe pimientos and rhubarb. The non-acid foods include all other vegetables such as asparagus, peas, beans and corn and also meats and poultry.

The acid foods are processed at or near the temperature of boiling water (212 degrees F.) in a boiling water bath, or in a steamer without pressure.

Non-acid foods must be processed in a steam pressure canner at temperatures of 240 degrees or 250 degrees F. obtained by applying 10 to 15 pounds steam pressure.

President Doesn't Want Fourth Term, Says Iowa Party Man

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Frank Comfort, democratic national committeeman from Iowa, said this week he understood President Roosevelt "has advised friends privately that he will not under any circumstances consider a fourth term."

"It that's the case," Comfort told a reporter, "there might be some fellows who are trying to push him in against his wish. As far as I am concerned I think that if the war is still going on the President is the logical man to keep in office."

He said he had heard "a lot of talk" among democrats and republicans about a fourth term and that the reaction was much the same as his—that there should be no change if the war continues next year.

Nurse Reveals Nazis Afraid Of Invasion

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—A French nurse who escaped from France by fleeing across the English channel said today German soldiers manning Nazi defenses on the Brittany coast live in constant fear of invasion.

When the invasion comes, said 28-year-old Mademoiselle Lucienne, it will find Frenchmen using pitchforks, shovels and clubs fighting side by side with Allied troops.

The nurse's true name was concealed because of relatives in France.

She described the morale of German troops as "very bad" and said the soldiers often get only one meal a day—a thick soup.

Mlle. Lucienne reached England a few days ago to join the De Gaulle forces, following daring, year-long efforts which finally won her freedom.

Concealing a bitter hatred for the Germans, she worked in a hospital caring for Nazi soldiers and learned much about what they were doing. She made friends with some and said one injured soldier tried to make love to her.

Silver streaks in her wavy black hair bore witness to her experiences following daring, year-long efforts which finally won her freedom.

"When the second front comes, you will see a mass rising of the French people," she declared. "Men, women and children will turn upon

Convicts Will Sign Up For War Draft

HUNTSVILLE, April 20 (AP)—Uncle Sam will soon have some 1500 men registered under the selective service act, and they won't be hard for the draft board to find.

With a special draft board set up inside the walls at the Huntsville state prison, all inmates of the prison system are being registered under the selective service act if not already registered before beginning their sentences.

Chief function of the prison board at present is to classify and examine all inmates who are currently eligible for parole.

On release from prison these men, if eligible for service and physically fit, may be immediately drafted into the armed forces.

While prison officials are unwilling to be directly quoted, it is understood that the new system may be the forerunner to release of many convicts for military service.

Easter Bells To Ring

LONDON, April 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons today that the ban on the regular Sunday morning ringing of church bells, invoked during the invasion peril of 1940, would be lifted to permit the bells to peal out for the brightest Easter Britain has witnessed since the start of the war.

AXIS

night and day assault on Luftwaffe nests kept going.

American Mitchells and Havocs, escorted by Spitfires, twice blasted Le Sabala airdrome, eight miles north of Tunis.

RAF Blisleys and French bombers carried out night attacks on La Marsa airdrome 10 miles northeast of Tunis on the coast, and also attacked Protville (El Kantara), 14 miles north of Tunis.

Americans in Warhawks accounted for a large part of the success in shooting down 70 Junkers-52's in the past two days. The wreckage of transports and fighters covered the beaches of northern Tunisia, much as burned debris littered Britain's beaches in 1940.

These night attacks were aided by naval aircraft which dropped flares to light the targets, it was disclosed.

As a result of the round-the-clock attacks, it was said, German and Italian air defenders must stand on a 24-hour basis which was certain to exact a heavy fatigue toll.

(The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, asserted that the German air force destroyed 13 Allied planes yesterday in Tunisia. It also declared that a German bomber formation carried out a successful raid against barracks and air field installations in the southern Tunisian coastal area.)

(From Axis sources by way of Stockholm, reports reached London that British destroyers had engaged Axis warships hearing a convoy toward Tunisia across in the Sicilian straits. The Axis reports said "violent fighting" was continuing early today.)

(A London naval source said he could not confirm that report or others, published in a London newspaper that the Italian fleet had put to sea.)

(The British radio quoted Swiss reports that all civilians, dock installations and war industries of Sicily are to be transferred to Italy's mainland.)

(Radio France, in a French-language broadcast recorded by the Federal Communally, in a broadcast, asserted that the Italian government already is distributing pamphlets telling Italian citizens to be polite to invaders.)

Some Shortages Of Food Seen

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—An office of war information prediction that American civilians face various shortages in a "serious food situation" drew nationwide attention today, underscored by the recent resignation of 15 OWI writers who indicated they felt the food report was either not strong enough or not issued soon enough.

After an extensive survey of national prospects, OWI reported that "conservatively and roughly estimated, and assuming average weather, civilians will have about three percent more food (this year) than in the pre-war years but about six percent less than 1942," although stating that more will be produced.

However, the OWI pointed out that home front food prospects are governed by many factors not completely predictable, adding that the purpose of the report was neither to "alarm nor reassure." It had been many months in preparation and Director Elmer Davis said it had been held up since January because of differences between federal agencies over the facts.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Buyers liked assorted rails, selected industrials and a few utilities in today's stock market but many leaders were left to shift for themselves at slightly lower levels.

Gains ranged from fractions to a point or so in the forenoon. There were reduced or transformed into minus signs near the close and final prices were well jumbled.

In the stock section International Telephone posted a top for the year but failed to follow through. Germans Drop Bombs On Old Monastery City

By HAROLD V. BOYLE

AN ALLIED HOSPITAL BASE IN NORTHERN TUNISIA, April 15 (Delayed) (AP)—A young British lieutenant lost his life today trying to remove a number of "butterfly" anti-personnel bombs dropped by an Axis night raider in a triangle formed by the famous Thibar Monastery and two Allied hospital units.

The bombs were the first of the type to drop on this undefended city which houses no military installations. One 500-pound bomb landed in a vineyard, 30 yards from the front of the Monastery, tearing out a great crater, blasting out windows of the Monastery and shredding two full-grown pine trees as though they were toothpicks.

A smaller bomb fell in a plowed field, within 50 yards of hospital tents and a Red Cross marker, which was ripped by the plane's cannon shells.

One yellow-cannistered "butterfly" bomb exploded as the lieutenant was preparing to detonate it, killing him instantly and wounding two British sergeants with him.

"The poor fellow, he was just married before he came over here," said a British hospital driver as four comrades shouldered the lieutenant's cloth-draped body on a litter.

State's Rights National Issue

ATLANTA, April 20 (AP)—No longer narrow, sectional or economic in scope, state's rights have become a national issue, Gov. J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina asserted recently.

"It cannot be denied that centralized government in its bureaucratic manifestations has attained proportions that are alarming," said the chief executive in a speech prepared for delivery to the southern regional conference of the council of state governments.

"The war has necessitated much of this," he continued, and un-sound linkages in government have undoubtedly sought to use the emergency to exploit schemes that are alien to our form of government—schemes that would wither in the normal light of true American principles.

"But we may take heart in the aroused consciousness of the states and of the people. We are not going to have in America either a dictatorship or a totalitarian form of government."

FDR Visits Army Posts In South

as candidates for officers' commissions.

April 15 and 16, Warm Springs, Ga., where Mr. Roosevelt spent a leisurely 26 hours seeing old friends and looking over an infantile paralytic foundation, which he was instrumental in establishing.

April 17, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where the chief executive saw for the first time a training center for the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

April 17, Camp Forrest, Tenn., where the President inspected the whole 80th infantry division, with every item of its equipment laid out for him to see and 10 months of concentrated training behind it.

April 18, Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Ark., near Little Rock, where he attended a Sunday church service with 3,400 officers and men in a tremendous gymnasium.

The chief executive told the press it was hard to pick out what impressed him most. He thought it was the great improvement in troops of all kinds, as compared with what he had seen on his trip last September. He said he thought the country was turning out snapper troops in better physical condition.

Morale in general he described as very, very high, and he asserted the men looked awfully fit. He spoke, too, of the permanent value of the educational and physical training programs in military camps.

The officers and men, he said, are eager to get in the show and get it over with.

Last fall, the chief executive said he had found Washington them to be war-spirited, and he declared he thought exactly the same thing now, after seeing the Southeast.

The people away from the battlefield, he said, have a much better sense of proportion and perspective than those in Washington. He remarked that he had not seen or heard of a single bloc. To a question whether he was "ready to prescribe inspections for other people in Washington," he responded that he thought it would be an awfully good idea.

On his recent travels, Mr. Roosevelt has schooled himself thoroughly on how marines and soldiers are going sternly about the task of learning to kill, both in the air and on land, and on how the WAAC's are training for more than a hundred different jobs that are prescribed in the manual of arms required by war.

In fact, at Fort Benning, Ga., which sinks of the upper layer of enlisted men and offered several open air classes for officer candidates.

At one of the classes, where a skull and crossbones sign proclaimed danger, he sat less than a hundred feet from the line of fire of machine guns and mortars splattering and tracer ammunition into an "enemy" position in the wooded hills of west Georgia. The men were learning how to solve a battle indoctrination problem under conditions which more nearly approached actual combat than anything the chief executive had seen.

The emphasis was entirely on military might as Mr. Roosevelt's special train rolled in and out of the southeastern states. He visited no war production plants. He passed through Okla., Arkansas and towns and the only crowds he saw were in khaki. He made no speeches. Morale undoubtedly got a boost.

Shipbuilding Under Pressure

Since the heat went on, American shipyards have done a job for which even Hollywood press agents would have trouble inventing suitable adjectives.

President Roosevelt demanded 8,000,000 tons of merchant shipping last year. Our yards gave him 8,000,000 deadweight tons, plus 800 smaller craft and other vessels delivered to the armed services.

For this year the goal, originally set at 16,000,000 tons, has been stepped up to 19,000,000, and the Maritime Commission says 20,000,000 can be produced if materials and supplies are available.

This latter figure alone, without consideration for what British Empire yards will turn out, almost equals the aggregate tonnage available to the United Nations a year ago.

That would be highly encouraging but for one thing. While exact figures are not available, there is every reason to believe that submarines last year just about offset the enormous production of our yards, so that at the end of the year we probably did not have much, if any more tonnage than at the beginning.

NOW, presumably sensing that the United Nations must be gathering their forces in the Old World to begin the kill some thin this summer, Hitler has sent wolf packs of large numbers of modern, efficient, long-range, strongly armed U-boats over here.

From all that can be learned, the submarine menace along our Atlantic coast line and in the Caribbean is worse today than at any time since Pearl Harbor. We can not tell what success the Naal tin fish are achieving, because the matter is strictly hush-hush, for reasons which many believe are not valid.

So while we can not praise the shipbuilding industry too highly, or give too much credit to the Maritime Commission, we must realize that the Germans are busy, too—and that our best efforts may not succeed in increasing greatly the tonnage of merchant craft available for winning the war.

Kitchen Fats

The nation's housewives still are falling down on one of their most important and yet easiest contributions to the war. They were turning in—even before meat rationing—scarcely a third of the kitchen fat needed for making explosives and for other equally vital military and naval purposes.

Close to 17,000,000 pounds a month—about two ounces a person—is needed. Housewives have been producing less than 6,000,000 pounds—around three-fourths of an ounce a person. That is not enough.

The Nation's Press

Those who live by writing, editing, and publishing newspapers and books cannot be expected to react favorably to H. G. Wells' declaration this week that the newspaper is "as dead as mutton."

The cinema gives us an insight that writers find hard to convey. By the radio is no newspaper. We have to take it as it comes. We can't turn pages and pick out what we want. The eye can skip; the ear cannot. The newspaper reader is the master of his time in choosing what he wants to read, and how much of it, and what he doesn't want to read.

As for pamphlets, they were tried two or three centuries ago. The newspaper replaced them.

HOW TO GET MORE OIL

Walter S. Hallam, president of the Plymouth Oil Company, in the annual report released over the weekend, declared that the country will be faced with an acute oil shortage in two years unless new reserves are discovered and developed.

To maintain even the existing supply of crude oil it is necessary to drill new wells to replace those pumped out and abandoned. Mr. Hallam pointed out that present prices for oil are lower than they were six years ago, although the costs of exploration have been increased.

Here again an old economic principle is demonstrated. The price of many commodities, such as oil, copper, and scrap iron, determines how much is produced and offered for sale. The lower the price, the less there is. When a price is set a limit is placed upon the amount that will be available.

Common Ground

"I speak the plain-word primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which I cannot have their counterpart on the same terms."

THE WORKER NOT APPRECIATED, LARGELY CAUSE OF OUR TROUBLE

Strange as it may seem, the real benefits that every working man performs to every other working man is not understood and thus not appreciated. We do not give credit enough to the worker.

But this is not the cause of people being out of jobs any more than machines cause people being out of jobs. The only reason for people being out of jobs is a lack of parity in wages or a free market to establish equal value for equal value.

There would be full employment and we would have produced during the last decade thirty or forty billion dollars a year more, had we realized the impossibility of any workers to take another man's job; had we, in short, appreciated the service to humanity that every worker performs.

And had we produced this thirty or forty billion dollars additional each year, it would have been distributed, willy nilly, among the producers. The average family would have had about $1000 a year more to enjoy.

Yes, we are paying a terrific price for our failure to realize that every worker is benefitting every other worker in the world when he works and produces wealth and he does no injustice or harm to other workers.

APPROBATION OR DISAPPROBATION MOST AFFECTIVE?

It probably depends upon the individual, whether or not approbation or disapprobation is more helpful. For a timid person, probably approbation is more stimulating to the individual than disapprobation.

On the other hand, a bluffer who is not seeking the truth, is probably stimulated more by having his errors pointed out, by having someone either explain that his acts are out of harmony with natural law; that if he continues to do that, he is either dishonest or mentally too lazy to think his actions through.

And if a man realizes that another thinks he is either mentally lazy or dishonest, it should cause him to make a very careful study and analysis of his acts.

Every one wants the approbation of people for whom they have respect. When one knows that another does not respect his intelligence or honesty, he either attempts to build up an alibi or he attempts to correct his way of thinking.

Of course, both approbation and disapprobation are necessary. It is much more pleasant to give approbation and dangerous to try to correct people's acts by disapprobation. Only courageous or foolish people will attempt to influence other people by disapprobation.

The problem is to know when to show disapprobation and when not to show disapprobation. We should always show approbation when a party is really performing a service that is beneficial to mankind.

Nelson Is Right

Donald Nelson speaks sound sense when he opposes establishment of an independent agency to represent civilian interests in wartime. He concedes that consumer interests have not been adequately safeguarded, and promises to see that they are given powerful representation. But he says, correctly, that a separate bureau would cut diagonally across all existing war agencies and would result in complete chaos.

The problems of supply—materials, transportation, prices, manpower, plant utilization—are one and indivisible. Two-thirds of our troubles in this war have come from divided responsibility — one agency butting its head against another and both being tripped by a third and a fourth and a fifth.

AND ALL SO USELESS

If those Oklahoma expatriates were going to the western coast to engage in essential war work or to work for the government directly, not one word of criticism would be heard.

But those people are not going to work in any war plant. They are not going to work for the government. They are going to work on the farm. They are going to work for private employers.

The whole transaction is a private transaction engineered by a department of the government at the government's expense.

There is no reason why those workers could not produce nearly as much food in Oklahoma as they can anywhere else, and that they could produce in Oklahoma without one penny of extra expense to the taxpayers. Manifestly it costs somebody a sizable sum of money to run down and assemble 500 people, dress them in clothing fit for traveling, and transport them across plains and mountains to open fields thousands of miles away.

There is no reason why those workers could not produce nearly as much food in Oklahoma as they can anywhere else, and that they could produce in Oklahoma without one penny of extra expense to the taxpayers.

News Behind The News

BY RAY TUCKER

MOSQUITO: The medical profession is meeting a new challenge with every resource it has. There is no known drug that cures malaria.

It can be revealed that this plant has been sent to a laboratory in the United States, for analysis and practical testing. Doctors eagerly await final reports, for they know that it was from the aborigines of Latin America that we got cinchona bark, the base of quinine, and that many other modern remedies are derived from Mayan, Aztec and Incan pharmacopoeias.

The U. S. medical corps is also stamping out conditions which breed tropical germs, as it did in the case of yellow fever. This plague had been killing forth persons per thousand in Panama, causing the region to be called the white man's graveyard.

One explanation of the drop is heavier imports. The government collected 66.4 per cent of gross incomes in 1942 as against only 46.5 per cent in 1941. Increased labor costs (42 per cent more in the latter year) accounted for the smaller return for the manufacturers, regardless of greatly accelerated production.

RENEGOTIATION: Original contracts has lowered the financial rewards of factories also. The war, navy and maritime reviewers have already recaptured about two billion on the comparatively few agreements examined. With the total bill for the conflict now fixed at two hundred and forty billion, it is expected that final savings from this procedure will amount to at least ten per cent in the form of money refunds or lower costs of weapons.

POSTWAR: The Churchill-Stalin call for close Anglo-Russian collaboration in peace days was based on the belief that the United States would again withdraw into an isolationist shell as it did after the first world war.

The real story is that the British Prime Minister and the head man at the Kremlin cannot rely on President Roosevelt because his pledges were ratified by a possibly hazy United States senate. They remember what happened to Woodrow Wilson's covenant and the League of Nations.

The Red commissar knows that he can make deals with Churchill with some assurance that they will be adhered to. "Winnie" or his sympathizers will undoubtedly control England for the next five or ten years, and any alliance which Moscow negotiates for that period will last.

DANCES: Old Washington acquaintances see deep irony in the unconfirmed report that fat, jolly, pink-pated Hans Luther has been placed under arrest by the Gestapo. Although he was no Nazi, the former German ambassador to the mass of records of men he had prescribed for forced labor in Germany.

QUEEN: Here are some of the new ways in which the peoples of occupied Europe are pestering the Gestapo. In Doorn, Holland, where the ex-Kaiser once saved wood, the police force methodically collected the mass of records of men he had prescribed for forced labor in Germany.

Around Hollywood

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Maria Montez was talking about everything from Maria Montez to sashay puy 'Arhams' and 'no' puy 'Arhams' and 'no' puy 'Arhams' no smarter damsel in Hollywood than Maria.

But now that she's a fulfilled movie star, with star billing in "White Savage," Maria Montez has decided to stop acting like a movie star.

Maria, you may recall, is the gal who did everything expected of a film star when she crashed Hollywood three years ago. When fully dressed, she was the least dressed woman in town. She wore hats that looked like Flying Fortresses.

But now that she's going to change, she says she just felt the pulse of the public, during a nationwide personal appearance tour, and "what the public wants, Maria will give to them."

"I talked to everyone. They thought I was a conceited fool. I don't mind them thinking I am a fool, but a conceited fool. Sure, I acted like a movie star. It got results—just as I planned. It got me a lot of publicity. It got me a contract at Universal studio. That was the best idea I had. Maria she is no fool. When the public says Maria is a 'conceited fool' it is time to stop acting like a movie star. So Maria she stop. No more entrances, no more dressing like a movie star should—but doesn't."

There's something else, too, that Maria would like to change. She'd like to do comedy, and wear clothes for a change.

"These jungle pictures," she says, "bring me a lot of attention—just I plan. They go to get at the box-office—and make Universal a lot of money. But comedy—that is for Maria. I knew it the first time I worked with Bob Hope on the radio. He told me I had wonderful timing. Then I went on a personal appearance tour and made people laugh. It was wonderful—pretty soon I am even milking the laughs."

Despite her star rating at Universal, Maria Montez does not rate herself a great actress. "I am still a professional amateur," she says. "But what I don't know about acting, I made up by knowing my camera. The first day on the set of a new picture, I make friends with the cameramen and the men who work the lights. And my closeups—they are wonderful!"

(Maria has stopped acting like a movie star, but she's still no shrinking violet.)

SHE CAN DELIVER: "Cobra Woman" in her next picture will play a dual role—a good and a bad sister. This has her worried. "I wonder," she says, "whether I will try to steal scenes from myself. Do you think I will?"

Ever since "Arabian Nights," other studios have been trying to lure Maria away from Universal. But she says she won't be lured. "Paramount," she says, has Dorothy Lamour and Paulette Goddard. Columbia has Rita Hayworth, M-G-M has Lena Turner—and 20th Century-Fox is too far from my house."

For all her drum beating, we'll have to give Maria credit. She's one actress who admits she became a star because she fooled Hollywood into thinking she was a star. And now that she's arrived, she's proved that she can deliver. Which is a lot more than you can say for a lot of would-be glamor girls who fooled only themselves.

Service Men, Social Security

BY PETER EDSON, Pampa News Washington Correspondent

What to do about the social security benefits—the old age pension money and the survivors' insurance of men and women going into the armed services from private employment—is one that is still kicking around, unsettled. Forty-one of the states and the Territory of Hawaii have made provisions to freeze the status of workers going into the services with respect to their unemployment insurance benefits, but the federal government still pokes along on its part of the social security program.

The way matters stand now, every year that a service person stays in service the old age and survivors' insurance benefits from social security decline, and if the person stays in service for as long as five years, the benefits will be entirely canceled out.

That is a rather severe penalty for anyone doing his patriotic duty to his country. It makes it necessary that when the guy or gal gets out of uniform, he or she will have to start all over again, building up benefits.

The catches on passing an amendment to the social security law which would automatically freeze any benefits a worker may have accumulated before going into the armed services seem to be three:

SOME NOT ON SOCIAL SECURITY

First, not everyone going into the services has any benefits coming to him. The way the law now stands, it covers only workers in industry or commercial jobs. Agricultural workers, domestic servants, housewives and such aren't eligible for coverage under social security. But a lot of these people go into various branches of the army and navy, just as do people from commercial and industrial occupations.

The latter are no better than the former or vice versa, and to let the people who in civilian life used to enjoy the social security benefits hang onto all those benefits while their brothers and sisters in arms don't enjoy similar privileges is a decided gyp.

Second, the social security law specifically excludes from coverage all government employees, and that of course excludes those in the armed forces.

ARMY AND NAVY BENEFITS

Third, army and navy people have certain other benefits of their own in the way of allotments to dependents, which are not available to civilians. Also, the service people can take out war risk insurance which in a manner of speaking might be considered just another form of social security.

Giving the people in service those benefits plus social security might by some be considered too much. Anyway, that's the middle. What to do about it? A change in the law is the first requisite if anything at all is to be done, and there are two principal approaches to that question.

First, free the rights of all workers as of the time they enter the service and guarantee them the same rights when they return to civilian life. Second, consider military service as covered employment so that social security benefits would continue to accumulate. Under this latter approach, it would probably be necessary to extend coverage to everyone in the services, regardless of whether they enjoyed coverage before.

Senator Theodore Francis Green of Providence, R. I., has a bill before congress now, not only extending social security protection to all people in the armed services, but also providing that all costs for that protection be met by the federal treasury, without making any deductions from the soldiers' pay. That's a pretty generous settlement. About the only thing the Green bill would not give the service men is the enjoyment of both social security insurance and military pensions. Apparently double largesse of that kind was considered too good for even a soldier.

Today's War Analysis

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE, Associated Press Writer

That's a magnificent job of spade work the Anglo-American air fleets are doing over northern Tunisia to prepare the way for the final assault by the Allied armies on the last-stand defenses of the Axis in this small corner of Africa.

We should have a far different picture in Tunisia today were it not for this tremendous airpower which is destroying enemy bases, communications, supplies, reinforcements and warplanes. The Axis forces probably could hold out indefinitely.

Were not for the Allied air superiority, Marshal Rommel's position now would be fairly impregnable. He is sitting on a coastal plain inside a vast natural fortress. At his back is the Mediterranean, with the great ports of Bizerte and Tunis for bases. Protectors are on all other sides is a range of mountains which swings about him in a huge arc some 125 miles in length, from coast to coast.

Within this amphitheater near Tunis stood that great commercial city—antiquity, Carthage. And across the coastal plain were waged fierce battles until finally the proud city was destroyed by the Arabs under Hassan in 647 A. D.

The Allied armies are standing outside that arc. The only way they can get at Rommel is to force their way through the mountains, or up the coastal road which runs through Enfidaville in front of General Montgomery's famous Eighth army.

Actually we probably shall see several Allied forces driving at Tunis and Bizerte simultaneously through different valleys. However, that represents a difficult and costly job, for the enemy has fortified and heavily mined all routes through the mountains and as things now look will make a strong defense.

Forcing the mountain gaps is a task which must be done by infantry. The air can help, of course, by preventing supplies and reinforcements from reaching the Axis defenders, but the Axis defenses hidden among the natural concealments of the mountains are easy to reach with bombs. The ground forces will have to batter their way through.

Once the Allied offensive is under way, our air-forces will make it their business to keep the Axis cut off from all reinforcements and supplies by sea or by air. Anglo-American warplanes also will try to render useless the numerous air fields which still exist on the coastal plain, and thus prevent enemy warplanes from getting at the attacking Allied troops.

"What did he say when you came out?" someone wanted to know.

"When I came out," grinned the narrator, "the cab was gone."

The coasting was fine and Junior was angry at having to stay home and take charge of his baby brother while their mother went shopping. When she returned she inquired:

Mother—How long did it take to put your little brother to sleep?

Junior—Only one round.

TRUE The angel who went riding in a car and walked back home had best beware of airplanes 'Til her wings have fully grown.

DON'T LET OUR FIGHTING FORCES DOWN --- EVERY PENNY IS NEEDED. YOU LOAN YOUR MONEY --- THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES!

Winner Take All!

There is one stark and simple fact about war which you had better get straight . . . and quickly, too
THERE IS NO SECOND PLACE IN A WAR—IT'S EITHER WIN OR LOSE!

This war is being fought for tremendous stakes . . .

- ...for your life and your liberty.
- ...for your church and your children.
- ...for your freedom and your future.

And it's WINNER TAKE ALL. Don't forget that for a minute.

The winner will dictate whether tomorrow you shall be a free citizen of a free world, or a helpless serf to a "master race."

The winner will dictate whether you shall live and prosper under the Four Freedoms, or toil hopelessly in the darkness of a "New Order."

The winner will dictate . . . because the winner takes all.

The winner takes all. All you own, all you hold dear.

The winner is being decided right now . . . today . . . this very minute . . . on battlefields all over the world. Will you stand idly by . . . or throw all your weight on our side?

The weight of mighty tanks and planes. The weight of thousands of guns and millions of shells. The weight of billions of dollars . . . 13 billions which your country asks you to lend during this Drive.

Your country wants to borrow every idle dollar you have—every dollar except what you need for the barest necessities of life.

You'll have to give up some luxury or comfort which was dear to your heart. You'll have to postpone some pleasure which you had been eagerly anticipating.

But what of it?

Your sons and brothers and husbands are dying out there . . . fighting your fight. Surely it is no sacrifice to lend your dollars while they are giving their lives.

They need your help. They need the weapons your money can buy. If one of the War Loan volunteers calls on you . . . greet him with open pocketbook. Remember, Uncle Sam's goal is 13 billion dollars in April.

Don't wait to be asked. Go to your nearest bank, investment dealer, broker, Post Office or issuing agency and lay your money on the line. Remember, it's an investment you're making—an investment that pays a good return and insures a happier future for you and your loved ones.

So lend up to the limit.

You'll sleep better for it.

SERIAL STORY DARK JUNGLES BY JOHN C. FLEMING & LOIS EBY

THE STORY: Barry Fielding has come to Guatemala in search of a quicksilver mine operated by the Guatemalan Indians. He and his Mexican guide, Jose, finally reach the territory. The chief's council listen to Barry's plan that America needs quicksilver and promise to give him an answer the following morning. When the following morning comes, Barry is accused and held prisoner. Jose manages to steal two mules for their escape. On the trail again, Barry is suddenly attacked by a pack of wild dogs when the faithful Jose insists they find their way back to Allison Kopping's plantation and destroy the Guatemalan venture until he is completely well.

turned, his eyes were brighter and color has crept back in his cheeks. Allison had a letter for Barry. "A letter from Lila," she said. "The chicheros brought it in from Puerto Barrios a week ago, right after you blacked out on us. I didn't open it for three days—then I thought it might be something important—something that should be answered, so I read it!" "Was it important?" Barry asked. "She was worried because she hadn't heard from you." "I suppose I'd better try to answer it."

PAIGN period by National Chairman Frank C. Walker has found favor. At least, there has been no outspoken party objection inside national committee circles or out. Observers at party headquarters regard that as significant. They admit that the counterattack by Walker's Republican opposite number, Harrison E. Spangler, who informed Walker in an open letter that his committee could not consider a short-campaign deal unless it received assurances that Roosevelt would neither seek nor accept a fourth nomination diverted the discussion. A fanfare of party interchanges over the fourth term aspects resulted and continues: But no debate of the short campaign idea on its own merits of days or weeks.

Planes Bring Wounded Back From Alaska

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 20 (AP)—A 52-building army hospital here is a curative testimonial to the value of the airplane as a wartime ambulance. Speed in the air enables the army to bring wounded men from the Alaskan war zone—where most of the casualties are from aerial action—to Barnes hospital here within 12 hours after the men reach their bases from their battle missions.

Short Campaign Talk Continues

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Democratic plans for an interparty deal to streamline next year's presidential campaign have fallen into a Republican no-fourth-term ambush, but the Democrats haven't given up the idea as far as their own party is concerned.
