Owners Win Decision on Air Base Land

Payment Will Be More Than U. S. Offered

Owners of the four sections of land on which the Pampa Army Air Field is now located will receive from 50 to 75 per cent more for their property than the federal government originally offered, under a decision given by Judge James C. Wilson in federal court in Amarillo yesterday.

The government had appealed from the award made by a local committee, comprised of C. P. Buckler, chairman, C. L. Thomas and John W. Turcotte, that fixed the value in January of this year, at $155,892.50.

Landowners had signified their willingness to accept the valuation made by the committee. The case went to federal court in Amarillo two months ago.

Trial of the Pantex land cases in which the former owners seek to get more for their land than the government offered opened in Amarillo federal court yesterday afternoon, involving 15,000 acres.

In passing on the Gray county case, Judge Wilson said he realized that there were certain values that owners of land may be entitled to consider themselves, but that, under the law, these values could not be taken into consideration in assessing the compensation to be paid the landowner.

For instance, the landowner's desire to keep the property and not sell it at all because he wanted to maintain his home there could not be taken into consideration.

Another illustration was that if a man enjoyed a piece of property for sentimental reasons he would be entitled to consider that in fixing his own valuation upon the land but that when it was considered no amount could be allowed for sentimental value.

He called particular attention to the fact that landowners were not to be criticized for insisting upon receiving the full value of their property as it was the duty of the government in taking their property to pay this full value and they were not only within their rights in asking this but it was equally the duty of the government to offer that amount.

Owners of the land connected with the case are B. C. Priest, Roy J. Priest, Mrs. Elizabeth Lockhart, A. B. Lockhart, Mel Davis, D. C. Davis, C. V. Davis, Mrs. Mae Scaggs and E. E. Cole.

More Data Asked On Oil Price Boost

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn of the house advised representative Disney (D-Okl.) to submit to War Stabilization Director Vinson additional information to support a demand for an increase in the price of crude oil.

Rayburn so advised Disney yesterday after a meeting of Vinson, Disney, Rep. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), Jim Abernethy and J. K. Hamm, Texas oilmen and Ernest Thompson, Texas railroad commissioner, in the speaker's office.

"We were after the 35-cent per barrel increase recommended by secretary Ickes, the petroleum administrator for war, but turned down by the office of price administration," Disney said. "There were no commitments."

Congressmen Begin Work on Ways To Provide Employment After War

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Congress, having liquidated the national resources planning board, will consider other means of drawing postwar economic blueprints when it reconvenes in September, probably with principal emphasis in private enterprise and state and local controls.

Rep. Ramspeck (D-Ga.) the house Democratic whip, said today "plans must be made in the earliest possible time, else we will have widespread unemployment when the war ends." Machinery for dealing with the problems was put in motion before last week's recess. The senate set up a postwar planning committee headed by senator George (D-Ga.) and the house and ways and means committee directed a subcommittee headed by Rep. Lynch (D-NP) to study legislation for meeting the peace.

Meat Situation Reported Better

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Improvement in the nation's meat situation, easing to some extent the beef scarcity to civilians, was foreseen by packing company spokesmen today after the unloading of a heavy volume of cattle at the country's major live stock centers yesterday.

Some 80,000 head of cattle arrived at the country's 20 biggest markets, including the highest run in seven months at the big Chicago yards. Indications were, said both government and packing company spokesmen, that farmers were ready to unload their stock.

The increased receipts at the packing centers came only a few days after the war board announced it was mapping a program designed to lessen the beef scarcity. The board is scheduled to submit recommendations this week to government agencies on measures aimed to move cattle from ranges and farms into markets, thus boosting beef supplies.

68 Million Wheat Acres Set as Goal

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Calling on farmers to mobilize every crop acre and farming facility for a record harvest next year, Marvin Jones, head of the war food administration announced today the government in 1944 wants 280,000 acres of crops planted and meat, dairy and egg production maintained at high levels.

The projected acreage is an increase of 16,000,000 over that planted for 1943 harvest.

"The program recognizes that demands for food will be imperative for several years," Jones explained. He promised that considerably more machinery and fertilizer would be available for the 1944 crop.

Jones said there was need for more dry beans and peas, soybeans, potatoes and peanuts. He said the WPA would continue to support prices at levels designed to bring the total production volume.

A specific goal of 68,000,000 acres of wheat was set for 1944, compared with 54,149,000 acres for harvest this year. Goals for other crops will be announced as soon as this year's yields can be determined.

The outline of the 1944 plan urged farmers to produce as much milk, eggs and meat as possible with available feed supplies. It said the pork output was likely to be 65 per cent above 1936-40 levels, and that beef and veal may be 78 per cent above those levels.

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) suggested today that the republicans consider "borrowing" a democrat, Senator Gillette of Iowa, as their candidate for the presidency.

He said the republicans should "throw out those things that won't work and perfect those that will, if properly applied."

National Registration for War Service Gets Study in Congress

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—New draft legislation, including a proposal to require all adult men and women to register for service in the war effort, will be the subject of extensive hearings by the house military committee when the congressional recess ends in September.

By that time, Chairman May (D-Ky.) said today, the committee hopes to have available more data bearing on the prospect of inducting fathers.

"Whether we shall expedite legislation, already passed by the senate, to boost the government payments to dependents of drafted men will depend in a large measure on the outlook two months from now," May said.

May said he shared a general belief among committee members that the induction of fathers would

Two Naval Fliers Killed Near Waco

Landings Made Near Catania; U. S. Troops Advancing in West

British forces striking swiftly and audaciously up the eastern coast of Sicily have captured the port of Augusta and landed near Catania halfway up the coast, while Allied forces to the south have swept into three towns to seal off virtually the entire southeastern corner of the island, Allied announcement said today.

The succession of victories came with break-taking swiftness.

Augusta is a port 19 miles above Syracuse, captured Saturday. Catania is the Italian coast in the Allied drive to seize all that area north to Messina and close off Sicily from the mainland. Catania lies 30 miles north of Syracuse.

In rapid-fire succession, Allied headquarters announced capture of Florida, Palazzolo and Ragusa in an arc across the southeastern tip of Sicily in a tightening Allied noose.

American troops meanwhile were advancing in the west. Florida is eight miles inland from Syracuse, and Palazzolo 22 miles inland. Ragusa, a strategic rail and highway center, is 12 miles southwest of Palazzolo, and about 12 miles from the southern coast. This was a line drawn across the jutting corner.

The Allied communique said that bridgeheads had been extended as deep as 20 miles inland at some sectors. With capture of Ragusa American forces on the southern shores of Sicily formed a junction with the Canadians and British.

American troops in the western sector, on the south shores of Sicily, continue to advance and "an enemy counterattack with tanks has successfully been beaten off and a large number of prisoners, taken and some tanks destroyed."

Veteran British troops advancing along the east coast "encountered some resistance," the bulletin said, but "inland very good progress has been made."

The communique acknowledged some bombing of shipping by Axis planes, and the German communique declared "heavy losses" had been inflicted.

Overall, the battle was going well, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's personal visit to this new scene of Allied triumph.

The British pushing up from Syracuse were thrusting deeper one blade of a huge Allied scissors opening to cut off Sicily. The other blade was the American troops in the south.

These two great land thrusts were accompanied by continuing powerful blows of the Allied air force over Sicily, and big four-engine American and British bombers teamed for heavy blows yesterday and last night upon southern and northern Italian cities to tear new wounds in that besieged land.

American Liberators flying from Middle East bases struck railroad yards and ferry slips at Reggio Calabria on the Italian toe to disrupt reinforcements for Sicily, and British.

ELGIN FIELD, July 13 (AP)—Two officers and 15 enlisted men were killed at this army air base late yesterday by an accidental explosion, public relations reported today.

The names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Kiska Is Hit; Paramushiro Raid Rumored

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The navy announced today that army bombers had carried out three attacks on Japanese installations on Kiska island in the Aleutians Monday, but poor weather prevented observation of results.

Kiska has been bombarded by naval forces three times this month and has been bombed more than a dozen times. The navy forces apparently have been used to pour explosives into the enemy positions when fog and bad weather prevented heavier aerial action.

Secretary Knox said today that while "we have materially reduced our losses by sinkings in the North Atlantic," German U-boat warfare undoubtedly will break out forcefully somewhere else.

Knox told his press conference: "To kid ourselves that this thing (submarine warfare) is won now would be a mistake. We're fighting a resourceful foe. To assume that they're licked in the first round would be the worst kind of folly."

"I haven't any doubt that submarine fighting will break out somewhere else."

The secretary said no American navy losses had been reported in the Sicily action yet.

Questioned about rumors of an attack on the Japanese base of Paramushiro in the northern end of the Kuriles island, Knox said he did not "deny or affirm" the reports.

Invasion is World's Greatest Operation

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—Describing the assault on Sicily as the "largest amphibious operation ever attempted," A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, praised today the skill and determination of the British and American navies in carrying Allied forces to the beaches and expressed confidence in the "great task which lies ahead."

Alexander said the landings were carried out despite the "most difficult weather conditions."

In the two months between Nov. 8, 1942, and Jan. 8, 1943, he said, 1,000,000 tons of supplies, 400,000 men and 40,000 vehicles were landed in north Africa. From July, 1942, to May, 1943, 346 enemy ships totaling 86,000 tons were sunk in the Mediterranean, he added.

Canadian Troops Moved Safely

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—The large Canadian expeditionary force now taking part in the invasion of Sicily was transported from Britain to the Mediterranean without the loss of a man or ship, dispatches from Canadian press war correspondent Ross Munro disclosed today.

Munro, who made the trip aboard the convoy, now is with the Canadian forces in Sicily.

Army Says Corrective Measures Taken At Wright Engine Plant

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—Undersecretary of War Patterson said that the situation at the Lockland, Ohio, plant of the Wright Aeronautical corporation, charged by the Truman committee with producing defective aircraft engines to the army, "have been much less sensational than some of the inferences drawn in recently published statements."

Patterson said, however, that the army's own investigation, headed by Lieut. Gen. William S. Knudsen, found "a falling off in inspection procedures" at the plant, and "confirmed the greater part of the information furnished by the Truman committee."

"Vigorous remedial action," was taken, immediately, Patterson's statement said, including changes in the company's personnel and methods, and engine test runs at the plant, and removal of the army's resident representative at the plant as well as the officer in charge of the inspection section at Wright Field, Ohio, and a "substantial increase" of army inspection personnel.

"No instance, however, was found where any engines known to be defective were ever placed in service," Patterson said, adding that failures in engines from the Lockland plant "have not exceeded normal experience with engines in combat planes."

Midget Carriers Do Good Job

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—A little auxiliary aircraft carrier provided much of the American aerial support which was a vital factor in driving the Japanese from Attu in the Aleutians.

The navy says exploits of carrier "A" proved the value of the "baby flat-tops" being constructed by the scores to transport fighting planes into battle areas.

Ruling Relaxed On War Houses

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—The government has relaxed its restrictions on the sale of privately-built war housing dwellings, in order to encourage privately financed construction and lessen the need for publicly-financed War Housing.

The War Production Board and National Housing Agency ruled jointly that a builder may sell up to one third of the houses in any project built under priorities applied for after February 10.

Transfers for School Children Are Needed

It's a long time until school opens again but there's a job for some parents to do in connection with school now.

Parents who reside in one school district but whose children attend school in another district must have the proper certification for their children.

This is obtained through a transfer. W. B. Weathered, county superintendent of school, cautioned today that transfers must be obtained by July 31.

Abilene Forms Horseman Posse

ABILENE, July 13—(AP)—Shades of the wild west are awake in Abilene.

Taylor county has organized a sheriff's posse with a central stable for its horses and each member a deputy sheriff.

A dozen men, meeting to organize, appointed a committee to select a maximum of 50 posse members. Sheriff W. T. McQuary will be president of the posse; Dr. M. T. Ramsey, captain.

The group will be used in emergency to assist enforcement of the law.

Designer Tells How Scarfs Are Worn As Garments And Hats; Suggestions Sketched

The mantilla effect at upper right is very simple. Just place one corner point over the forehead as seen in sketch. Let the scarf drape down the back of the head and pull the sides together at the throat by a large pin or clip.

Quite like the dresses worn by Filipino ladies is the shoulder scarf seen at lower left. This calls for a scarf at least a yard square, which when folded diagonally, gives you about a yard and a half on the long side of the triangle just formed. This effect is equally suitable for enhancing an evening dress or protecting back and shoulders from too much sun.

A handsome scarf, tied apron-fashion, as seen at lower right makes a novel and attractive accessory for evening or afternoon wear. But if you want to go all-out for scarf magnificence, Indian scarves run four to six yards long. Draped as Indian women wear them (general sketch), they make luxurious negligees.

Instead of the conventional one-knot bandana headdress (like the "tignon" worn by Bahama's natives), tie your head scarf in the distinctive butterfly effect sketched at upper left. For this, Goutal uses a scarf about a yard square, ties each pair of corners together to make a knot at each side of the head. Excess material at the back is pulled through the loops of these knots, making the little third "wings" of the knots.

Government Farm Controls Opposed

DALLAS, July 13—(AP)—Government controls will never solve market problems, J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, told southwestern institute of chamber of commerce executives here.

In an address yesterday, McDonald said the chief trouble with agriculture today is the disparity of prices. The farm problem will never be solved, he said, until we have a farm system allowing the farmer to market at parity price and letting him produce as much as he will.

A. L. Ward, president of the National Cottonseed Crushers Association, lashed out at "planners of production who have never produced." To meet present food requirements, farmers must be unhampered by regulations made by those unfamiliar with the situation, he said. The institute continued today.

Labor Day Will Be Day of Labor

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—The War Production Board indicated today that Labor Day, 1945, will be just another day of labor in the nation's essential war industries.

While WPB has not yet issued formal appeal for full production of vital war goods over the Labor Day week-end, it was said such an appeal was expected within the next two weeks.

Love's Labor Lost

A gentleman named Michael Daniel, unknown to us, has written "ABC of the U. S. S. R.," published by a man named A. P. Waxman, also unknown to us.

Neither Michael Daniel nor A. P. Waxman is a name recognized by those who make a business of keeping an eye on Communist and fellow traveler publicists.

The brochure consists of an introduction and 26 alphabetized items, from which the following are abbreviated:

"E is for England. There'll always be an England, thanks to Russia."

"J is for Japan. Japan has over a million soldiers, sailors and flyers lined up on the Siberian border, Sakhalin, Korea and Japan, hoping to pull a Pearl Harbor on Russia... Russia's for us and is keeping those million Japs guessing."

"R is for Red Russian... Five million like him were killed... But, can we depend upon Russia? Nuts to your nuts! Can Russia depend on us?"

"S is for Stalin... Weren't we smart when we got him on our side?"

"Hitler got Stalin on our side by attacking Russia, Britain survived the blitz while Stalin still was Hitler's ally, Russia is not trying up a million Japs to help us; she is forced to tie up huge forces of her own lest the Japs do try a Pearl Harbor on her. And Russia can depend upon us if she continues on the level."

Such cheap, silly bootlicking as this brochure contains cannot aid international comity. It doesn't even please the one whose boots are licked. How do we know, here is one indication.

From Sender Garlin's column in the Daily Worker, official Communist organ in this country, for June 26:

"Americans want the truth about the Soviet Union. No group desires a monopoly in dispensing it, but let us not be fooled by commercial schemes for trading on the profound interest in the U. S. S. R."

The column goes on to recommend other works which, says the Communist writer, "provide the authentic story of our great ally minus the pandering, vulgarization and commercialization typified by such publications as 'The ABC of the U. S. S. R.'"

Rubber Victory

A great, integrated industry capable of supplying both the military and the essential civilian rubber needs of this country will be completed by the end of 1943, Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones predicts.

But it won't produce 800,000 tons this year. It will be well into next year before the slack has been taken up, a stockpile begun, and some supply made available for anything other than super-prime needs. So don't get false notions and begin burning up your tires.

INTERNATIONAL WEALTH SHARING (Indianapolis Star)

Director Lehman of the office of foreign relief and rehabilitation operations told an audience in New York that this country cannot expect, after the war, to live in security in a world "half rich, half pauperized." Obviously it would not be possible for us to make all the rest of creation rich.

The solution Director Lehman's agency has in mind seems to be to have us "share our wealth" with the international have-nots. If they can "bust" Uncle Sam, we shall be on an equality with all our neighbors, good and bad, and can hope to live in security.

The director, who formerly was governor of New York and was named by President Roosevelt to take charge of "foreign relief and rehabilitation," frankly told his hearers much of what we expect to do for others will be outright gifts. He called attention to the experience we had after the first world war when the loans made with which to buy supplies were defaulted. We might as well have made gifts. The countries involved did not pay, and, at the same time, their credit was impaired and they were less able to borrow for sound projects of reconstruction.

There is truth in that and there is also logic in the argument that we shall have to help many who cannot help themselves. But the old-fashioned American way has been to help others to help themselves. Little Finland is an example of a country helping itself. The army many with scantier resources and less of Finnish self-reliance that will look with pleasure on outright gifts, with no thought of trying to repay, and then using their credit "to borrow for sound projects of reconstruction."

The administration may have its theories of "sharing wealth" by taxing its citizens almost to the point of confiscation. That is one thing and it is quite another to take the taxes of our people and our resources and share them with the less fortunate. This country is ready to do its part in a helpful way after the war. But "charity begins at home." Our first responsibility is to our own people, regardless of any visions Director Lehman's office of foreign relief and rehabilitation operations may have.

MARVIN JONES A YES MAN (L. A. Examiner—By George Rothwell Brown)

The destinies of the American dinner table are temporarily, and theoretically in the hands of a man who may be relied upon by the inner circle of the New Deal to go along with whatever policies may be cooked up by the Utopian planners of the "Palace Guard."

Marvin Jones is the front man for the new setup. The whole power remains where it always has been, for the last decade, right in the White House. Mr. Big is going to run this show—if Congress will now permit.

As for Jones, his record establishes that he is a go-alonger from way back. During the early years of the Roosevelt New Deal, as chairman of the committee on agriculture of the House of Representatives, he accepted the sponsorship of most of the farm legislation conceived by the "smart boys," Rex Tuzwell, the

SOME THOUGHT-PROVOKING STATEMENTS FROM "THE DISCOVERY OF FREEDOM"

I want to quote a few statements made by Rose Wilder Lane in her remarkable book, "The Discovery of Freedom":

"No force whatever can change any man's mind. War will end when a majority of men on this earth know that every man is free."

In speaking of Rulers or men with Authority over others she says: "Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, 'Rule thou over us, both thou, and thy son, and thy son's son, for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian.'"

Then the author opines, "Anyone who believes that a ruler has real power will take such an offer. A selfish man wants it selfishly; and unselfish man wants to use it to do good to others. Gideon said unto them, 'I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you. The Lord shall rule over you.'"

Listen to this: "No one can live well, in any way, unless he knows the nature of his own energy. Knowing the nature of human energy is not enough, because one person's energy is not enough either to preserve his life or to make it the kind of life he wants. His energy must be combined with the energies of others; he must know a second fact, that all men are brothers."

"No known century has ever lacked scientists. Whenever Authority was weak, men opened schools of science. Then a more efficient ruler suppressed them."

"When no false belief obstructs human energy at its source in the individual, men attack this earth to adapt it to human needs and desires. Then they need scientific knowledge, which is knowledge of the material world."

"The real protection of life and property, always and everywhere, is the general recognition of the brotherhood of man."

"Belief in a controlling authority rests upon the belief that nothing is being created, that all things have been created." This complies with Roosevelt's statement that "Our industrial plant is built." He believes in authority—that all things have been created.

The author very clearly points out that this belief that all things have been created is the reason why so many people believe that when one man gets wealth it must be taken from someone else.

And, of course, it would be true if everything had been created and there was no new additional wealth constantly being added. Then any wealth that an individual got would come from somebody else. But a careful observation of history proves that new and great quantities of wealth can be added to the world. Look at the new things that are wealth and have been created even in the last 100 years.

"Freedom is in the nature of every living person, as gravitation is in the nature of this planet. Life is energy; liberty is the individual control of human life-energy. It cannot be separated from life. Liberty is inalienable; as I can not transfer my life to anyone else, I can not transfer my liberty, my control of my life-energy, to anyone else."

"I cannot transfer my responsibility to anyone or anything."

"Living men and women create the human world. Everyone is responsible for the stupidity, the cruelty, the injustice, the wrongs of which he complains. Let him take the beam from his own eye. Have I never been stupid, have I never committed a cruelty, an injustice, a wrong against another person? I am creator of this world as it is; I am responsible for what it is."

ABSD SUGGESTION One of the most irrational and absurd suggestions that one hears from self-proclaimed liberals is that a man should go to another country if he criticizes our own government.

The fact of the matter is that the man who makes such a suggestion that the critic of our government should go to another country, is the very one who himself should go to some totalitarian country. He is advocating the very kind of a totalitarian government in this country by his opposition to criticism of our war policy or our domestic policy. The man who does not believe in free discussion, free criticism, is the man who should go to the country which follows the practices that he is advocating—silence against government exploitation.

Corcoran-Cohen brain trust, and birds of that stamp.

There was one exception to his general willingness to go along with the Roosevelt crowd as its left-wing radicalism began to be apparent. He stubbornly refused to introduce the original triple A bill, and finally that measure was introduced in the House by Representative Hampton Fulmer of South Carolina, the man who today finds himself, being in his turn now chairman of the agriculture committee, as stubbornly opposing the Roosevelt policies as to roll back subsidies which Mr. Jones is about to begin carrying out.

Thus does the whirligig of time bring in his revenges, as Shakespeare says.

However, once the AAA act was law Mr. Jones sponsored numerous amendments designed to make it workable, until the whole thing was eventually thrown out as unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

After the Supreme Court had outlawed this act Mr. Jones sponsored the Soil Conservation Act, in 1936 as a substitute for the AAA.

Thereafter Mr. Jones, one of the most adroit legislative manipulators Texas ever sent to Congress, went along very well with the New Deal, although from time to time he would urge his objections.

MINE REPORT The American Rolling Mill Company informs shareholders of experience in its Nellis, W. Va., mine, where 256 United Mine Workers are employed. During the month of April only 106 of these troubled to work full time, in spite of the company's efforts to get out a maximum of black diamonds.

Of 127 lower-paid men, 41 who troubled to work full time averaged $211.42 for the month, but 86, who did not, averaged only $140.39.

After so-called occupational deductions averaging $1.94 a month, and after union dues, rent, fuel, electricity, medical and hospital costs, victory and social security taxes and purchase installments, the men received 80 per cent of their wages in cash.

SIGNS - The seven American Congressional leaders who attended the Empire Parliamentary Association's recent sessions in Ottawa did not discover an ember of sentiment among its members for an Anglo-American Federation or "Union Now." They found British and Dominion delegates utterly skeptical of any system which peers beyond a wartime alliance.

Representatives from the Commonwealth States—the United Kingdom, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa—agreed that London and Washington must "cooperate and collaborate" to keep the peace. But even on that subject they advanced no specific ideas concerning the organization which should be established.

They were less certain about arrangements for bringing economic order out of the present chaos. However, they insisted that "existing institutions and traditions" be preserved in the future era.

"We went looking for signs that these folks wanted Uncle Sam and John Bull to tie up," commented a Washington observer, "but it didn't work out that way. Although the meetings were not reported by the press—the newspapers raised no such howl as did ours when journalists were barred from the Hot Springs Food Conference—the formal speeches were high-sounding but innocuous. Opinions set forth above were expressed in "off the record" conversations at private dinners and cocktail parties.

THE RUSSIAN influence has even invaded Deanna Durbin's new picture, "His Butler's Sister." Deanna will sing three Russian songs in Russian for the film—"Yamschtschik," "Kallitaka," and "Two Guitars." The occasion is a party for her Russian butler, played by Akim Tamiroff. Betty Grable and Alice Faye have buried the hatchet after a long feud. The "something borrowed" at Betty's wedding to Harry James was one of Alice's handkerchiefs. M-G-M executive Benny Thau is helping Greer Garson forget Richard Ney.

A few months ago one of the nation's top fan magazines sent an advertising expert named Harry Mandell to Hollywood to sell ads to film companies. FILM FORECAST IN THE FILM, "The Constant Nymph," Brenda Marshall plays the role of a girl who is expecting a baby and Montagu Love is seen in the role of a man who dies. When she completed work in the film, Miss Marshall retired from the screen to await the birth of a baby. Shortly after completing his role in the picture, Love died of a heart attack. Lyle Talbot's first role after an honorable discharge as an Army sergeant? You guessed it. He plays an Army sergeant in the film, "Up in Arms." At dinner the other night, Kenny Baker's 6-year-old son said, "Dad, I've finally decided what I want to be—a singer. So I won't have to work."

Hollywood is having its "point" problems, too. When Irene Dunne and Alan Marshall got their wedding cake for "The White Cliffs of Dover," they discovered only the piece they cut was real. Remainder of the elaborate 16-layer cake was made of plaster. As expected Bob Hope is a riot in England. Talking to some soldiers at a U. BROTHER IS BOSS NOW THAT Jimmy Cagney has completed his first independent film, "Johnny Come Lately," for brother-producer William, every studio in town is trying to borrow him for starring roles. It has resulted in an amusing situation, with Hollywood finally discovering who is boss in the Cagney organization. When Bill turned down several offers made Jimmy recently for outside films, the studios trying to borrow the star immediately went over to Billy's head, telephoning Jimmy on vacation in the east. Cagney wouldn't even answer the calls. "Have 'em talk to Bill," he said.

Cutting Profits Of War Not Easy

By PETER EDSON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

TAKE the profits out of war is a noble principle—like not beating your wife and not kicking babies in the teeth—to which most of the citizenry subscribe, in public at least. Since the last war with its horrible examples of war profiteering, there have been some 168 different proposals before Congress, all aimed at amputating the excess profits out of war contracts by one means or another.

At the beginning of the defense effort there was a proposed limit of 12 per cent on war profits. Later it was cut to 8 per cent, then 6 per cent, but when War Department and the old OPM officials protested this curb would interfere with war production, it was dropped. In its place there was passed the renegotiation law of April 28, 1942, which enabled government procurement agencies to renegotiate war contracts to reduce war costs and recover excess profits.

It seemed a reasonable proposition, in view of the fact that many contracts were made, some 14,300 in all, in a hurry after Pearl Harbor, on a cost-plus basis in which costs were not only often unknown but an incentive for extravagant and wasteful operation.

PROGRESS OF RENEGOTIATION UP to June 25, when the last tabulation was made, some 14,300 of the services more than two million war contracts outstanding had been assigned and cleared for renegotiation—11,000 by the Army, 2800 by the Navy, 400 by the Maritime Commission and 100 by the Treasury. Agreements had been reached in about 22 per cent of the cases, 44 per cent were under renegotiation, 34 per cent are still being analyzed.

Up to the end of May, covering about 13 months of operation under the renegotiation act, covering largely business done by war contractors in 1942, reductions of over $2 billion had been negotiated on some 20 billion of contracts, representing a saving of 10 per cent to the government. Of the $2 billion savings, some $800 million was actual cash recovered and paid into the treasury, according to Maurice H. Karker, chief of the War Department's Price Adjustment Board, who also declares that in 37 per cent of the cases excessive profits had not been made.

Such is the case in favor of renegotiation. During the last three weeks in June, however, a pair of representatives over 130 war contractors came to Washington and in personal appearances or signed statements submitted to the House Naval Affairs subcommittee hearings, they protested forcibly and at length against the provisions of the renegotiation law. The typewritten transcript of the hearings stands nearly a foot thick. It is doubtful if anyone will ever read all those words.

EVERYBODY'S WRONG BUT US THROUGHOUT the testimony runs one recurrent strain; we are against excessive profits, but we must have our future guaranteed and therefore renegotiation should be applied to everyone but us, because we're different.

It is always difficult to get into any discussion of motives but it became apparent during the House Naval Affairs investigation that while the subcommittee was doubtful about renegotiation in the beginning, the failure of the witnesses to make their case swung the committee over to an almost opposite point of view.

Those who were protesting against renegotiation were almost invariably in the profit class which made them subject to renegotiation. Their attitudes revealed a startling disregard for the future of the free enterprise economic system which had enabled them to make those profits and if anything, rendered business a disservice by placing it in an unfavorable light for "post-war" development.

This is the second time renegotiation has been investigated. Senator Carl Hatch of Clovis, N. Mex., made an earlier investigation and report for the Truman Committee, proposing constructive administrative changes in the way of the services were handling the renegotiation job. The real attitude of Congress, however, is best shown by the passage of an amendment to the War Department bill which will make contracts of RFC subsidiary companies subject to renegotiation. It's here to stay, apparently, for the duration.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press Writer

War Production Chief Donald Nelson's "voice of doom" speech, hurled at the Axis from Toronto just before the Allied invasion of Sicily, answers by indirection a troublesome question which a reader of this column has submitted, namely, what concrete evidence have we to substantiate claims that the German-Italian combine is short of resources and is on the down grade in production.

Well, there's much satisfactory evidence that the Axis is on the skids. I should say that more than a little support for this is to be seen in the United Nations' analyses of Tunisia and the present manner in which they have invaded Sicily—one of Mussolini's main strongholds.

We also have substantiation from Allied secret agents, from captured documents, from admissions by prisoners of war, from shrewd calculations of Allied experts. However, if you demand precise figures to show the decline, it must be admitted that it isn't easy to find them.

Now along comes Mr. Nelson and slays us in a few graphic words and social critics are quick to charge the Axis is producing because the United Nations are doing so much more. We can smother the enemy at their best.

Chairman Nelson says that the North American continent alone will outproduce the Axis in munitions this year by nearly two to one. All the United Nations will make three times the Axis output of arms, and next year four times.

These figures speak to the world in a big voice, "and if the Nazi and Jap warlords are not completely insane, they will recognize that the voice is the voice of doom."

And then in making a plea for greater production, Nelson prophesied: "You will shortly see gigantic battles in which unheard of war materials will be consumed."

In the comparatively few hours since that prediction was made the first of these great battles has got under way. The test is begun.

Streamliner Hits Freight Train

CARP, NEV., July 13—(AP)—A fireman was injured and passengers were shaken early today when the Union Pacific streamliner city of Los Angeles and a freight train collided on a curve here, railroad officials announced.

Union Pacific spokesman said the Chicago-bound streamliner, which left Los Angeles yesterday at 4:30 p. m., was pulling out of Carp when the westbound freight appeared around a curve. The head-on collision seriously damaged the streamliner's first power unit and the freight engine, he reported.

No one sustained more than minor injuries, the spokesman declared. The streamliner was sent back to Las Vegas, Nev., 80 miles west of Carp.

Zoot-Suit Trouble Reported in Dallas

DALLAS, July 13 (AP)—Robert Benavides, local attorney, said today he had been advising soldiers to go into Little Mexico here in groups instead of singly.

Six zoot-suiters, he explained, recently attacked a Camp Howze soldier because his uniform was more attractive to pretty girls than their peg-legged pants and knee-length coats.

"If soldiers are alone" Benavides said, "The zoot-suit boys throw rocks at them or lpy them with beer, beat them up and sometimes rob them."

Luis Perez-Abreu, Mexican consul, blamed the trouble on the youth's war-accelerated emotions.

"I don't think the zoot-suit is here to stay" he added. "It is rapidly being replaced by uniforms of the armed forces."

Faster Army, Navy Fighters Are Revealed

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Truman committee today had lifted some of the secrecy surrounding America's newest warplanes and at the same time made a critical appraisal of older types, finding some excellent, some inferior. Generally the verdict was favorable.

In a 30-page report on aircraft, the committee discussed several planes heretofore in the hush-hush category, and told of revisions in others to improve their battle performance.

The committee unveiled a new fighter, capable of exceptional performance in the Grumman P-47, known as the Hellcat.

In telling of the Hellcat, the committee mentioned the Vought-Sikorsky (Corsair) which has been in action in the Pacific for some time. The committee called the Corsair "a fine naval fighter, but said Vought-Sikorsky had not made as good a production record as Grumman.

New army planes mentioned by the committee included: The Douglas A-26, "an improved version of the Douglas A-20 (Havoc), versatile enough to perform manifold tasks, including night fighting, low level bombing, and strafing.

The Havoc, as a night fighter, helped win the Battle of Britain. With different equipment, the same plane becomes the Boston, and has been widely used for cross-channel bombing missions, and in many other parts of the world.

The Northrop P-61, a two-engine fighter, intended for use at night. The committee noted, however, that progress on this plane has been slow and it is far behind schedule.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Truman committee said that although the giant Willow Run (Mich.) bomber plant of the Ford Motor company has made "great progress" recently it was not until recent months it had produced a plane capable of use at the front.

"Substantial numbers of Consolidated B-24 bombers now are being produced at Willow Run, the committee reported and, "with the average amount of modification, can be used effectively at the fighting fronts."

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—J. P. Davey, general manager of Curtiss-Wright's airplane division, Columbus plant, took issue with the Senate Truman committee's criticism of his "Helldiver" dive bomber production here.

"This plant was requested to design and build a dive bomber superior in range, speed and bomb capacity to any single-engine dive bomber in service," Davey said in a prepared statement. "Such an airplane has been designed and built."

Cards Will Play 'Mystery' Club

Dream Game Will Start At 8 P. M.

By SID FEDER
PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—They're putting "on baseball's all-star "Midsummer Night's Dream Game" tonight, but the way it shapes up, it looks like the St. Louis Cardinals against a "military secret" from the American League.

The National League boss, Billy the Kid Southworth, is going to "stand or get flattened" with a powerhouse starting set headed by five members of his world champion Cardinals cast, including his right-hand rifle-baller, Mort Cooper. But, Yankee Manager Joe McCarthy, after looking over his American League squad, has come up with a lineup that bears a striking resemblance to double talk in Braille.

From the way the American League, notably Marv Joe, have been making pronouncements merry-go-round style, the only thing the junior circuit campaigners appear at all sure about is that the game will be played at Shibe Park at 8 p. m. (EST).

All signs now point to a sell-out of some 33,000 cash customers and a gate of about $70,000 for the bat and ball fund.

When McCarthy announced his starting eleven—although the general guess was that it would be Ernie (Tiny) Bonham of the Yanks— he was also at a loss about his outfield, and the only thing definite about his infield was that there would be one.

Marse Joe had his mind made up only about his center-fielder, who will be Chet Laabs, the homer-hammerer of the St. Louis Browns; his shortstop, who will be the ferocious Vern Stephens, also of the Browns; and his third sacker, who will be Ken Keltner, the Cleveland Indians' long-ball belter. Keltner was a cinch. He was the only third baseman named on the squad.

Joe's second baseman was Harry Pollet, the Cards' crack lefty, to the army overnight, and Ace Adams, the New York Giants' relief specialist was named to the squad in his place. However, Cooper is this list of service stars who will oppose the Oakland-San Francisco squad in a benefit game. The starting battery will be Charley (Red) Ruffing and Harry (The Horse) Danning. Joe Hatten (Dodgers) and Ruggie Aronson (Yankees) also will be on hand to pitch. For infielders there are Chuck Stevens (Browns), Darlo Lodigiani (White Sox) and Nanny Fernandez (Braves). Outfielders include Max West (Braves), Wally Judnich (Browns), Joe Marty (Phillies) and Myril Hoag (Yankees).

Supporting these hurlers, Southworth made up a batting order of bookkeepers who've hit for an average of .300 in the major leagues this season except for pitchers. This gives them a big bulge, on paper, over the American League larpurers considered most likely to start.

Fliers Seek Game With Waco Club

The Pampa Army Air Field Flyers stretched their winning streak five in a row Sunday by past the Amarillo Dodgers, 10 to 3, have now turned their eyes to Waco and better "baseball work" to conquer.

According to S/Sgt. W. R. Inturri, player-manager of the club, the local army nine is "red and ready to challenge anything."

The Flyers are particularly interested in the schedule of Waco Army Flying Field nine, managed by Birdie Tebbets, former major league catcher with the St. Louis Cardinals. The Waco club is considered one of the nation's top ranking servicemen baseball teams. Its lineup studded with former major league baseball big-wigs.

PAAF Flyers would give their "shirts" to get a game with Waco's and McIntire's contention they would hold their own "more."

Sunday's game at Amarillo, almost a duplicate of the one played between the two teams earlier in the season, when the locals won 10 to 3. The Flyers' star pitcher, Fred "Sad" Sams, switched from mound to the outfield and played a bang-up game, climaxed by an 8th inning homerun. McIntire started for the locals and had seven brilliant innings, allowing only one scratch hit and striking out Dodger batters. Greek took the eighth and had an "off day" allowing the Amarilloans five hits and three runs in the two innings he twirled.

Batting stars for the PAAF's, Sams, were second baseman, Fred Martin Knell, who batted four hits, and the third sacker, Pvt. Leonard Shimmering, who closed three safe blows.

Sunday's game, particularly last of the ninth inning, saw the Waco club's record of consecutive innings won, only to be broken by the Waco club's pitcher, Evers, who struck out 12 batters. Not a Beaumont batsman was walked. It was Waco's third consecutive victory.

The Flyers scored in the second on Turner's double and Stewart's single and added two runs in the eighth on Stone's single, Evers' double and Tebbets' single.
