Italians Given Choice of Quitting Or Being Blasted Out of the War

Roosevelt, Churchill Issue Note

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today gave Italy her choice—to surrender honorably, or be blasted out of the war.

In a virtual ultimatum, the Allied leaders said the time has come for the Italian people to decide whether Italy shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and civilization.

The statement added: "The skies over Italy are dominated by the vast air armadas of the United States and Great Britain."

FDR Rebukes Wallace, Jones, Strips Them of Broad Economic War Powers

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—Sharply denouncing the raw between Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, President Roosevelt stripped both of broad powers and served notice today that anyone else in his official family who feuds in public will be fired.

For almost three weeks, Mr. Roosevelt watched—as he said with surprise—Wallace and Jones slam each other in print over methods of stockpiling strategic war materials.

Last night, in about the same vein that he pronounced a plague on both your houses when rival labor unions were warring a few years ago, the president cracked down in a sweeping order, he:

- 1. Abolished the Board of Economic Warfare, of which Wallace was the policy-making head.
2. Took away from Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corporation, four major agencies dealing with foreign purchasing.
3. Established a new office of Economic Warfare with Leo T. Crowley, 53-year-old alien property custodian, as the director.
4. Told all administrative officials that any time they disagree with another agency and "feel you should submit it to the press, I ask that when you release the statement for publication, you send me a letter of resignation."

Wallace commented: "In wartime, no one should question the overall wisdom of the commander-in-chief."

Both principals accepted the president's rebuke without argument.

Baby Carrier Planes Account For 10 Subs in Atlantic Trip

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The president and British prime minister in their message broadcast to Italy from Algiers and other adjacent Allied points, said they could take no part in the launching of Italian and not training the tractor devastation of war home to the Italian people.

The release of the joint statement, which followed several informal invitations in recent months that Italy get out of the war, was the signal for a propaganda drive which will involve the dropping of thousands of leaflets on Italy by Allied bombers in addition to beaming the message to the people of Italy by radio.

French Policy Defended by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, upholding his French policy, said today all the French empire now appears to be working for the common cause—to liberate France and defeat the Axis.

The president described as vicious propaganda certain criticisms attacking the government's policy since France fell, saying it was very unfair, incorrect, and derogatory to a well-ordered plan going back several years.

The president told his press-radio conference he did not intervene with force to take over Martinique and Guadeloupe, French Caribbean possessions, as some critics of his policy had urged but waited to avoid bloodshed and consequences which would have cut into the overall war picture.

Using the parlance of the baseball diamond, he said the State Department and the administration waited out the situation and got a base on balls.

It now seems clear, he added, that practically the entire French empire is working to free France and beat back her oppressors.

He asserted the United States has kept aloof from internal politics in other countries, but that out of this has come a vicious propaganda which he declared harmful.

Mr. Roosevelt said the government's policy has been consistent since the fall of France, and primarily aimed at keeping the French fleet from falling into Axis hands.

Mubo Taken From Japs; Reds Advance

The British Eighth Army has plunged to within 15 miles of the strategic seaport of Catania after beating back German armored columns for the second time, and Allied troops advancing everywhere on the Sicilian front have captured 12 towns and more than 20,000 prisoners, it was announced today.

These new successes came as military observers suggested that Germany might abandon Sicily soon, and as the Allies in a virtual ultimatum called on the Italian people to overthrow Fascism and surrender.

German armored columns were defeated in a battle north of Lentini by the Eighth Army, headquarters said. Here the Nazis have been concentrating strength to block the British coastal push.

The Germans had first tried to halt the Eighth Army by an attack aimed at Augusta. It was thrown back.

American troops scored much of the new gains on the long left flank.

The Allies were strongly established on a deep border of the southern and eastern coasts stretching 12 to 15 miles and more inland.

The British driving up the east coast upon Catania "made further progress against German troops who desperately contested every inch of ground."

Two Convoys Are Delivered Safely To U. S. Forces

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—In a series of anti-submarine battles in the North Atlantic, the planes of a single baby carrier recently successfully attacked and destroyed two submarines, definitely destroying two and probably destroying eight others, and delivered two convoys safely across the Atlantic against Hitler's Europe.

The story of the gallant little carrier, officially designated only as "carrier B," was told by the navy today in a detailed account of how these auxiliary floating air fields are helping to clinch victory for the United Nations in the vital battle of the Atlantic.

Altogether, the carrier's accomplishments included attack on 11 submarines, with 10 sunk or probably sunk, dispersing of two wolf packs which struck at two different times at war-laden cargo ships, the capture of 41 German prisoners and the safe delivery of the vital war goods.

One submarine got away, but 10 ships in the convoys protected by escort carrier "B" reached their destinations undamaged.

The navy proudly announced, "It is believed that this record of defense and attack over a similar period of time has not been equaled by any other vessel in the history of anti-submarine warfare."

Nelson Memorial Rites Will Be Held on Sunday

Memorial services for Pvt. Kenneth C. Nelson, son of Clarence R. Nelson, Humble Oil & Refining company employee, reported July 10 as dead in the Philippines, will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the First Methodist church, in charge of the pastor, the Rev. E. B. Bowen.

Private Nelson, who was at Corregidor when it fell to the Japs, had been a prisoner of war of the Japanese.

Private Nelson was an enthusiastic Boy Scout, liked outdoor sports, hiking, and took part in several scout camps.

He joined the Methodist church when a small boy and regularly attended church and Sunday school.

Navy Reveals Destroyer Lost

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The navy announced today that a small American warship, the Japanese destroyer Kiska Island, was lost in the fifth attack within 10 days.

Along with the communique, the navy gave out a memorandum on the subject of the Japanese attack on the South Pacific, covering the loss of the American destroyer Gwin, a 1,630-ton vessel damaged in the second battle of Kula Gulf on July 13th, and which went down while being towed to an Allied base.

Mayor Thompson said the matter would be carried over until Tuesday, regular day of the meeting of the city commission.

Vagrancy Charged Mrs. Thompson

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 16.—(AP)—Deputy City Marshal Jack Bernard has announced he holds a warrant for Barbara Jean Thompson, plaintiff in a paternity suit against screen actor Henry Fonda, accusing her of failure to appear for trial on disorderly conduct and vagrancy charges.

Mrs. Thompson's attorney declared last night that the 24-year-old divorcee was being removed to a hospital because of a nervous condition induced by the excitement of the case.

Mrs. Thompson charged in her suit that Fonda is the father of her three-week-old daughter, Sharon.

Martinique Will Assist Allies

FORT-DE-FRANCE, Martinique, July 16.—(AP)—Assurance was given today by Henri-Etienne Hoppenot, new governor of long-troubled Martinique, that his administration would do everything possible to assist the United Nations war effort.

Asked if French military and naval forces in this area might join the "other Allies," Hoppenot said in an interview that this matter had not yet been discussed, although he believed all concerned were anxious to contribute all they could for victory.

Three Ex-Oklahoma Convicts Accused Of Robbery at Borger

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 16.—(AP)—Three former Oklahoma convicts will be taken to Amarillo, for prosecution in the federal district court for the northern district of Texas in connection with the $1,052 burglary of the Borger post office last May 29.

The men, charged with the burglary yesterday, are Claud C. Hopkins, 27, Lawton, Okla.; Joe C. Smith, 32, Duncan, Okla.; and Roy Duncan, 39, Borger, Tex. The complaints were filed by postoffice inspectors from Fort Worth.

Duncan, who was arrested Wednesday at Phoenix, Ariz., was released from the state prison last July, after completing about 15 years of a 30-year sentence from Shawnee for armed robbery.

What's In a Word

Among interesting points in the correspondence with which President Roosevelt and Chester Davis parted company is a single word in one sentence of the President's letter accepting the food administrator's resignation.

"It would be unfair to you to insist that you remain... when you feel that... you cannot wholeheartedly support a program to hold down the cost of living."

Who cannot support a program? Mr. Davis cannot support the President's program, but why the inference that he cannot support a program—which is to say, any program? A sly dig, a venomous dig, an egotistical dig—that exclusive use of "a" as though opposition to the President's formula were synonymous with unwillingness to do anything at all to prevent inflation.

Subcontracting

It is of the big prime contractors that we hear when planes, ships, tanks, guns are under discussion. We praise the wonderful records they have made and are making, and are proud of the way the American economy has responded to war demands.

But behind these giant corporations, making possible their almost incredible feats, stand scores of thousands of relatively small, little publicized subcontractors, from whose plants pour endless supplies of gadgets, doodlebugs and whatnots.

This is emphasized by a recent survey in which General Motors Corp., perhaps the greatest of the prime contractors, found that it was depending for material and parts upon 18,735 smaller concerns—its "partners in production."

The Nation's Press

FALSE TO THEIR OWN GODS (The Chicago Tribune)

With the usual hue and cry, the anti-trust division of the department of justice a few days ago indicted a number of corporations and individuals engaged in producing various compounds of the rare metal, titanium. The charge is that these companies and some of their officers were engaged in a conspiracy with German, Japanese, British, and other foreign business men to restrict distribution and control prices.

We know precious little about titanium and nothing about the business practices of the defendants. We know a good deal, however, about the anti-trust division of the department of justice. The specialty of this division is smearing.

Of late it has been devoting much of its attention to companies which, like National Lead and du Pont, are playing a leading role in meeting the nation's war needs. As has been remarked before, the company that gets an army and navy "E" for distinguished service to the nation can be regarded as in line for an indictment. The smearers are determined that American industry, under private management, shall not emerge from this war with credit.

The department of justice these days is stumbling over its own feet. It damns American businessmen for exchanging patents with European men can be regarded as in line for an indictment. The department is far more isolationist than the isolationists. The bright young men in the anti-trust division are seeking to prevent Americans from taking advantage of the inventions of foreigners and would deprive foreigners of any of our scientific discoveries. That is nationalism carried to an absurd extreme.

They are inconsistent at another point. As Mr. Gilbert Montague of the New York group explained in a recent address, the practices which they now call criminal were approved by the Supreme court in a succession of decisions in which precursors and stalwarts of the New Deal such as Justice Holmes, Justice Brandeis, and Justice (now Chief Justice) Stone had concurred.

The young zealots are false to their own internationalist and New Deal gods.

POLIOMYELITIS MICE

(New York Sun)

Announcement of the discovery that mice can be carriers of infantile paralysis may cause to the easily excited more alarm than is justified. Because there happen to be mice in the house it does not necessarily follow that this dreaded disease will break out. The discovery, nevertheless, provides an added reason for removing these pests. They can do more than consume valuable food and damage other things in quest for materials for their nests.

The fact that mice may spread the disease—a discovery which the Journal of the American Medical Association calls "one of the most important contributions to the epidemiology of poliomyelitis of the present decade"—was made by Dr. C. W. Jungblut and Dr. Gilbert Dillard of Columbia university, investigating two highly localized outbreaks of the disease in White Plains. Their suspicions were aroused when they found a mouse, recently dead, in a house where there had been a fatal case of the disease. They trapped other mice there and through the half-mile square area to which the outbreak was confined. Laboratory tests showed the mice had in their systems

Common Ground

"I speak the pass-word primal. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." —WALT WHITMAN.

HOOVER STILL A NEW DEALER

Herbert Hoover's answers to questions on the Wake Up, America radio program is evidence that he is still at heart a New Dealer, a government planner; that he still does not really understand or believe in free enterprise—the American way of life.

When Herbert Hoover was asked on the radio program whether he thought price ceilings were necessary, his answer was that they were because if there were no price ceilings the rich would run up the prices on things.

Here he is promoting hate against the big producers. He is setting class against class. He is willing to turn this country over to a collectivist state in order to prevent a very small percentage of the rich people, from being unpatriotic and unsocial. He is willing to have price ceilings and the inevitable results of price ceilings—ration cards and government regimentation—either to appeal to the masses and be popular or because of his gross ignorance of the eventual results of a planned economy.

It is little wonder that we are so confused and, prior to the war have had such a long period of unemployment and are now so scarce of food, when we have had at the head of the Republican party such men as Hoover and Wendell Willkie, advocating things that will eventually, if continued, lead to the loss of free enterprise and freedom of speech and even freedom of worship.

The minute a man advocates price ceilings, as Hoover has advocated, he is disregarding all impersonal, eternal economic rules. He is disregarding the commandments against coveting and stealing. He is endorsing a government of capricious, willful men, rather than a government of eternal, impersonal rules, as decreed by God.

Hoover, like Willkie, wants a planned economy, but he protests the New Deal planned economy, evidently on the grounds that he can plan it better than the present Administration.

Hoover is like the French Socialist Billault—he thinks the "pendulum of civilization swings from one principle to the other in accord with the needs of the moment, which constantly marks some further progress, after having been greatly swung to the side of individual liberty in the absolute, is now moving toward the necessity for governmental action."

By Mr. Hoover's statements he proves that he believes in democracy—respecting the rights of all the people—part of the time and then wants a form of dictatorship—a New Deal a la Hoover, rather than a New Deal a la Roosevelt the rest of the time. If freedom of enterprise is good in peace times it is good in war times. If big producers can be free of regimentation—ration cards—in peace times they need all the more to be free of regimentation in war time when we want more and more production. Mr. Hoover evidently thinks there is no truth in the world and there are no principles because the pendulum should oscillate from one principle to the other according to the needs of the moment. As Bastiat says, metaphor! To what extremes may you not lead us if only we consent!"

ROOSEVELT'S GUARANTEE If there is anything that is childish, it is for Roosevelt to tell the Congress that he will not be responsible for preventing inflation if they refuse to permit him to give subsidies.

And what does Roosevelt's guarantee mean? Has anything that he has ever guaranteed ever happened? And how will he make good the great damage done if inflation comes, as it will, under his subsidy plan?

It is silly for Roosevelt to talk about guaranteeing anything. There would be as much sense in it as there would be for me to guarantee that if the United States government did not pay its bonds, I would pay them. His guarantee is of absolutely no value, as proven by the records.

The same virus which had caused human deaths. Apparently mice can give the disease to each other and in their raids on pantries, spread the virus on food which later reaches the membranes of the human mouth and throat. The exact method of transgression, however, is less important than the indication that it exists. Rats have been found as carriers of the bubonic plague while mice have been ignored as a minor health hazard. Now it is time to get after them, too.

GIVE PEOPLE THEIR CHOICE (New York News)

It is hoped that this war, or at any rate that German part of it which Mr. Roosevelt considers the more important part, should be over by election day, 1944, or shortly thereafter. Then we shall have to make the peace.

If Mr. Roosevelt is still in power at that time, he can be counted on to steer us toward some world super-state, parliament of man, or whatever it may be called.

The name won't matter much. What will matter will be that the United States will surrender some of its sovereignty to this super-state, and will find itself in an association of nations in which it will be heavily outvoted and heavily outgamed.

It may be that that is what the majority of Americans want after this war. If they do, Roosevelt is their man.

But all Americans should have a chance to register a definite and decisive choice at the 1944 Presidential election. That is to say, world-stater Roosevelt should be opposed by some candidate who is in favor of keeping American sovereignty and looking out for American interests ahead of any attempt to save the whole world at the expense largely of American business, labor and agriculture.

Such a candidate could be put up by the Republicans, or a coalition could put up a mind our own business Republican candidate for President and an anti-New Deal Democrat for Vice President.

We are entitled, in short, (1) to change horses in mid-stream if the majority of us so please and think we see a better horse, and (2) to make it a real change instead of the phony change it would be if the other horse were Wendell L. Willkie.

Truces among the French leaders in Africa are about as numerous as those in the coal strike.—New York Sun.

Two-Way Co-operation

Now that the nation's laundries have been recognized as essential war industries, it is up to householders to co-operate in meeting the reasonable requirements imposed by Washington.

Laundries are to be helped with their labor problems. In return they must discontinue luxury services. This will make the housewife do more of her own work, but will enable her to get by infinitely better than if many of the laundries have to close down for lack of help.

NOW, WATCH THE BIRDIE!

The National Whirligig News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER STALIN—A distinguished Republican hostess, Mrs. Robert L. Bacon gave a cocktail party for ex-Governor Harold E. Stassen on his recent barnstorming of Washington. The Minnesotaan was asked to set forth his views on future world conditions and he was, of course, glad to oblige.

He advocated the general Willkie program of a strong association of states committed to preserving permanent peace and cooperating in an effort to restore economic equilibrium. Then ensued a question and answer period in which no subjects were barred, conducted on a catch-as-catch-can basis.

Somebody wanted to know if a proposed police force would have the authority to enforce the "rights of minorities" within the boundaries of their certain small, backward whether certain small, backward countries should have a half or a full vote on any governing body of the universal directorate. Those inquiring about the subject of "minorities" in the sound and fury which characterized the discussion after Stassen's dissertation.

During the exchange Lord Halifax sat slumped in his chair, smoking cigarette after cigarette. He made only one query, but that was a knockout.

How do you think you are going to get Stalin to go along with all this?"

As Foreign Minister in the Chamberlain Cabinet when Russia signed the pact with Germany that precipitated the attack on Poland, the British Ambassador apparently felt that his curiosity was both permissible and pardonable.

ENDANGER—President Roosevelt's protection of Federal Communications Commission Chairman James L. Fly did not begin with his recent refusal to permit the Cox Committee to publicize the Navy's protests against the radio czar. For unexplained reasons F. D. R. kept the lid on this infuriatingly clash for more than a year and punished the officer who caused it.

In April, 1942, Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Naval Affairs Committee sent a letter to the White House, requesting that all authority on intelligence matters be taken from the FCC. He accompanied his missive with a severe indictment of Mr. Fly's record in this field and a warning that his activity was not helping national defense.

Mr. Vinson's document was prepared by Rear Admiral Stanley C. Hooper, then Director of Naval Communications. For daring to express criticism so frankly, Admiral Hooper was relieved immediately and transferred to a minor post in the Ninth District in Chicago. He has since been placed on "inactive duty."

Congressional investigators would like to question the Admiral as principal witness but the Commander-

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON Words from Hollywood, which seldom gets credit for saying anything worthwhile.

Saying goodbye to his children before he leaves for the war in the picture, "Watch on the Rhine," Paul Lukas says: "The world is out of shape when there are hungry men. And until it gets in shape, men will steal and lie and kill. But for whatever reason it is done, and whoever does it, it is bad. I want you to remember that. But you will live to see the day when it will not have to be. All over the world, in every place and every town, there are men who are going to make sure it will not have to be. They are men who will not let their children go to war. For my children and I for theirs. Think of that. It will make you very happy. In every town and every village and every mud hut in the world, there is always a man who loves children and who will fight to make a good world for them. Wait for me. I shall try to come back to you."

NOMINATION—the wealthy amateur thought well of the suggestion. He looked over the field and picked Governor Roosevelt as the prospective 1932 victor.

At this time, however, F. D. R. had not announced his intentions. He was sitting timidly on the fence, largely because he was still under the spell and domination of Alfred E. Smith, his political godfather. He did not know whether he could defeat the man in the brown derby if the Happy Warrior sought a second shot at the White House.

First Straus-Payne move was to form the Roosevelt-for-President Business Men's League. Then, at Mr. Payne's prompting, the organization canvassed all the Smith 1928 electoral college candidates and every supporter who had nominated Al at Houston.

The survey disclosed that an overwhelming majority preferred the incumbent to the former Governor of the Empire State. Inspired by this knowledge Mr. Roosevelt leaped into the race, without further worry regarding his old pal's reaction, and undertook an aggressive hunt for delegates. From then on his nomination in Chicago was a sure thing.

Meanwhile, Mr. Payne whooped it up for Roosevelt among his old Progressive friends, including Senators Hiram Johnson and George W. Norris, Harold L. Ickes and a host of the original thirty thousand dollars of the original thirty thousand dollars which financed James A. Farley's nation-wide tours and pre-convention maneuverings. Other contributors were Postmaster General Frank C. Walker and the late Colonel Edward M. House.

Thus the ex-rodio Commissioner joins the list of notables humorously known here as "the President's forgotten men," to wit: Garner, Smith,

Complicated Deals of CCC

By PETER EDSON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

You never know what these government alphabet corporations are up to if you start digging into their multitudinous activities. The war effort programs of the recently much cussed and discussed Commodity Credit Corporation, for instance, would fill several large books. It is today, without doubt, the world's largest banker and dealer in agricultural products.

First off, CCC is banker and buyer for the Office of Lend-Lease Administration on all food products. Even before the lend-lease act was passed, it was foreseen that financing would be necessary to help feed the Allies, so in the spring of 1941, CCC advanced money to buy lend-lease supplies. CCC eventually gets paid back for these purchases, but being in the business, it can buy supplies during the flush market seasons and hold till OLLA wants them. As of July CCC owned about 300 million dollars worth of supplies earmarked for lend lease. All told, CCC has bought over 1.5 billions worth of stuff for lend-lease.

Second, CCC is the sole government agency importing agricultural products, conducting these foreign purchases of strategic materials and civilian food supplies on order of the Board of Economic Warfare, and also through agreement reached at the Rio Pan-American conference whereby the United States pledged itself to support—not subsidize, mind you, but support the economic well-being of Latin American countries whose normal export markets in Europe were lost on account of the war.

HUGE FOREIGN PURCHASES CCC has made foreign purchases to the tune of about 250 millions to date, dealing in over 100 items from alcohol to wool and including honey, onions, castor oil, shark oil, coffee, tea, sugar, cocoa and what have they.

CCC deals through established importing houses on all these foreign purchases, using them as agents to make use of their experience and also to keep them in business during the war. As sole importer of fats and oils, CCC sponsored a trade association known as the Emergency Group for Foreign Materials was formed to do the job for the government. To date, it has been a 75 million dollar operation.

Third, and here is where it really goes to town, CCC has gradually become the sole or controlling purchaser of a number of domestic agricultural products, ostensibly to stabilize war markets and support prices paid to farmers to insure greater production, but in effect dealing in subsidies as well as commodities by the carload.

CCC says to the soybean producer will support the price at $1.80 a bushel. But the selling price is $1.68. So CCC buys 'em at $1.80 and sells 'em back for $1.68, to stabilize the price, but this is not a subsidy. Last year it cost 12 millions.

CEILING PRICES CUT On all the oilseeds, like flaxseed and cottonseed, CCC had offered the farmers minimum support prices. Then OPA came along and cut the ceiling prices below the support prices, after the farmers had planted their crops in expectation of higher prices. CCC therefore had to make contracts with the processors to sell oilmeal and cake at prices favorable to livestock fatteners. This meant CCC had to make up a processors' loss of half cent a pound. This cost 28 millions last year, but it was not a subsidy.

CCC is the sole buyer of U. S. grown peanuts. It pays growers from $130 to $140 a ton for them. It can sell the edible nuts to the trade for around $115 a ton, but those going into the oil trade will bring only $80 a ton. CCC will have to stand the loss, but this is not a subsidy.

Last December CCC announced it would buy all cheddar cheese at 27 cents a pound, Plymouth, Wis., base price. CCC resells this cheese to the factories at 23 1/2 cents a pound, the factories being required to pass on the difference to farmers. This has cost 10 millions up to July 1, but it is not a subsidy.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MAUCKENZIE Associated Press Writer

The Roosevelt-Churchill ultimatum to the people of Italy is an astutely logical development, delivered with what appears to be fine timing.

The Italian public as a whole never has had its heart in this war. The country was swept into the conflict by the insolent and treacherous against France and caught in the mill-race, couldn't get out.

As I previously have reported in this column, back as far as the fateful Munich conference, when the power-mad but pusillanimous Duce was beginning to sniff the Hitlerian heels, I found in Italy a widespread feeling of abhorrence for the Nazi leader and his works. The average Italian had no use for Hitler, and decidedly had no intention of going to war to support him.

Even then, that was a great undercurrent of unrest and resentment at the repression of the dictatorship. The people lived in constant fear—so much so that they were afraid to speak their minds openly and so suffered in silence.

Their trouble was that they had no choice. They were being pushed against Mussolini. The king at that time had lost his hold on the respect of many of his people, and was regarded more or less as a figurehead and helpless in the hands of the Duce.

Since then, however, there has been a change in Italy. The royal house seems to have made a recovery in the esteem of the public, and the old king has been asserting himself.

Coincidentally, we have seen the curious spectacle of Italian staff officers coolly surrendering en bloc in Sicily, and their soldiers happily following suit. Obviously many of the Roman troops had no intention of resisting the invasion, but on the contrary, welcomed it. That's not because they are unwilling to fight for their country, but because it's clear to them they aren't battling for the fatherland but are merely providing cannon fodder for Hitler.

Back at the time of Tunisia, Italian prisoners were bitter in their denunciation of the Boche. And it may be said that the Germans thoroughly despise their Allies.

So it is into such an atmosphere that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have pictured their ultimatum. There's no miming of good words in warning that "the sole hope for Italy's survival lies in honorable capitulation," but it holds out the fair promise of "restoration of national" dignity, security and peace" to the Italians.

Of course the pressure from Hitler is very great, and he has many troops and secret police in Italy to maintain his power. That is calculated to have a restraining influence on a lot of folk. Still, there can be no question that a large percentage of the people are ready for revolt and only need a strong leader to set them marching.

This is the crucial moment when the king might step in and save his country from further suffering. It's doubtful if Hitler could do much to restrain a concerted movement, for he is up to his neck in troubles north of the Alps. Certainly the Allied leadership has gauged the situation shrewdly in issuing the ultimatum.

Whatever else that document does, it will forever live in history as a castigation of the treacherous Mussolini. His sins are definitely on record.

Space doesn't permit going into other CCC operations, even in the rough outline form of the examples given above. But there are similar programs on dry beans and peas, hanning crops, hard fibers like hemp, some milk, some corn, some wool, hogs, eggs, chickens over three pounds, potatoes and so on. But remember, they're all price supports, not subsidies.

When I go into Berlin, I'll be riding this tank. It may be a long way round, but that's just where we're headin' for."

Pastor Returns For Central Baptist Service
The Rev. T. D. Sumrall will return to his pulpit this Sunday morning, after finishing a successful two-weeks revival meeting near Clovis, New Mexico. The pastor's sermon subjects are not known here as yet, but suffice it to say that the old-time gospel will be preached with spiritual fervor and dynamic power. Rev. Sumrall is recognized by all who have heard him as one of the truly great preachers of today.

"America's Only Hope"
Timely Sermon Subject
"America's Only Hope" will be the timely sermon subject of H. Paul Briggs, associate pastor of Pampa's First Baptist church, when he speaks Sunday morning in the absence of the Rev. E. Douglas Carver, who is the featured speaker at New Mexico's Baptist encampment near Albuquerque.

It is expected that the young minister will speak plainly and pointedly concerning conditions as they obtain on the home front and their relationship to the war and its outcome. In announcing his subject Mr. Briggs promised he would "pull no punches" and would deal squarely with present day conditions in the light of biblical parallels.

"Hitler will fall, but just how soon he will fall is up to Christ and America," Mr. Briggs said. Continuing, he stated, "America is in danger, and Christians hold the secret of her delivery. The issue lies largely in the hands of professing Christians in this country. In their attitude toward Jesus Christ and His gospel. The church and the gospel of Christ constitute the bulwark and hope of Christian civilization. Christianity is the only antidote for the poison of totalitarianism, and will keep the moral fibre of the nation from deteriorating to the point where we would be easy prey for the aggressor nations. Our cry need not be, 'God Bless America,' but, 'America Bless God.'"

A large robed choir of 40 voices will present special music at both morning and evening services, and other special musical features will be heard, it was announced.

Medwick Receives Bum's Rush

Bucs Trounce Cards 4-3, Aid Dodgers

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Staff Writer

The Bums rush is on in Brooklyn for fair and this time the heave-ho is about to go to Joseph Michael (Muscles) Medwick, the once celebrated outfielder whose usefulness to the Dodgers, like that of Louis Norman (Bob) Newsom, apparently has come to an end.

When the ball club left New York last night for a three-weeks trip away from the stormy scene of insurrection at Ebbets Field, Medwick was left at home.

Although the maneuver was shrouded in mystery by club officials, no mirrors were needed to see behind the veil of Branch Rickey's house-cleaning.

Having moved to wipe out the rebellion against Manager Leo Duchoffer by trading Newsom to the Boston Braves, Rickey has been trying to dispose of him ever since becoming president of the Dodgers last November.

The Dodgers, while idle, even gained half a game on the Cardinals, who were whipped 4-3 at Pittsburgh last night as Maurice Van Robays' just returned from a minor league whirl at Toronto, collected a double and two singles to lead a 14-hit attack on Max Lanier.

The Chicago Cubs bunched five runs in the third and stepped on the eighth to crush the Cincinnati Reds 8-0 behind the four-hit hurling of Hiram Bithorn. Bill Nicholson hit his 12th home run with two on in the eighth. The spree interrupted the winning parade of Elmer Riddle, who had won nine of his last 10 games.

The Phillies pounded a 9-1 victory out of the New York Giants as Richard (Kewpie) Barrett pitched steady seven-hit ball. The only run against him was a homer by Buster Maynard.

In the American League Orval Grove attained his eighth triumph without defeat by pitching five-hit ball as the Chicago White Sox downed the Detroit Tigers 7-4.

Whittington whipped the Boston Red Sox 4-3 with Bob Johnson driving in three runs, two on a homer. Each team made five hits, but the Red Sox bunched their three runs in the second before Alex Carrasquel came in to pitch seven innings and get his tenth victory.

Pampa Fliers to Play Dalhart, McLean Ball Clubs on Sunday

The Pampa Fliers baseball team will play a doubleheader at the PAAF diamond Sunday afternoon.

It was announced last night by Lt. James Livingston, post athletic officer.

Originally scheduled to meet the McLean Internment Camp club, the Fliers received an offer yesterday to meet the Dalhart Army Air Field nine. Rather than pass up either game, S/Sgt. W. R. McInturff, player-manager of the Fliers, put the matter of two games in one afternoon up to his club, and the twin bill was scheduled immediately.

The Dalhart soldiers are reputed to be one of the classiest amateur clubs in the state.

They will come to Pampa on Sunday afternoon to play the Fliers at 2 p. m. and take the field again at 3:30 against McLean.

Sgt. McInturff indicated yesterday that he will pitch S/Sgt. Fred "Sud" Bums against Dalhart, with Minyard climbing the hill against McLean. Following is the remainder of the PAAF's starting lineup: Guilfoyle, ss; Aldridge, lf; Henry, cf; Knell, 2b; Simmering, 3b; McInturff, lf; Berry, c; and Kaplan, 1b.

The public is invited to drive out to Pampa Field and attend this attractive double-header.

Occupy Favored To Win Futurity

CHICAGO, July 16-(AP)-John March's Occupy, striving to follow in the footsteps of his big brother, Occupation, will be a dominating favorite tomorrow in the Arlington Futurity at Washington Park - a race carrying a gross value of about $60,000.

A victory for the sensational two-year-old would be a big stride toward the 1943 juvenile championship, which, if accomplished, would mark the third straight year the honor of breeding the top-ranking juvenile has been kept in the Platt family.

Thomas Carr Platt, joint owner with March of the broodmare, Miss Bunting, dam of Occupation and Occupy, has come from Kentucky to

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 15.—(AP)—Scattered fortunes struggled successfully against profit taking in today's stock market and new issues were well distributed but many leaders slipped into the losing ranks with out being subjected to much pressure. Considerable encouragement was derived from the fact that dealings dwindled on the opening of the advance. Transfers were in the neighborhood of 1,200,000 shares compared with 1,678,000 yesterday which were the largest in two months. U. S. Steel went into the "new high" class by a nose and was accompanied by Chrysler, American telephone, Western Union, Ohio Oil and Allied chemical. In front most of the day were Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Pure Oil, Pepsi-Cola, Westinghouse and American Can. Losers included General Motors, N. Y. Central, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber, Dow Chemical, Coca-Cola and Phelps Dodge.

Complete Program Announced For District 4-H Club Camp

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON Complete program and a list of the committees for the three-day encampment of boys 4-H clubs of district 4 were announced today by the office of Glenn T. Hackney, Gray county farm agent. The camp will be held at Lake McClellan, August 3, 4 and 5. Hackney is chairman of the purchasing committee that will buy all supplies and dispose of the surplus. Other members are J. E. Crabber, Amarillo, Potter county agent, Alex Bateman, Hereford, Deaf Smith county agent. On the general committee are three Texas extension service specialists, Knox Parr, district 1 agent; L. L. Johnson, state boys club agent, and R. E. Callender, game management specialist. Other committees are composed of county farm agents, solely with the exception of the swimming committee, which includes David F. Eaton, Jr., Gray assistant agent, and grounds, with Assistant C. V. Hanning of Wheeler. Duties of the general committee is to arrange for the encampment, for outside assistance, and to coordinate activities. Other committees, name, composition, with county farm agents listed by town and county, and duties:

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO, July 15.—(AP)—Grains were under steady and persistent pressure today, wheat and oats dropping more than a cent at times while losses in rice ranged to about 2 cents. Hefty gains in wheat expanded and trade reports said producers appeared to be in mood to sell long as prices on the new crop remained above 1.40. Weakness at Minneapolis was a factor in unsettling the local market and generally favorable.

Instructions Given On Mailing Christmas Packages Overseas

Christmas time isn't so far away for the men overseas, the Pampa postoffice has learned with the arrival of instructions for sending packages. It is not necessary to have a letter of request from a soldier to mail a Christmas package, if the package is plainly marked as such. However, mailing to soldiers overseas must be between September 15 and October 15, and the earlier the better. Packages for navy personnel, including the marine corps and coast guard, will be accepted up to November 1. Usual mailing instructions for Christmas packages apply. The package cannot weigh more than 5 pounds, must be no larger than 15 inches in length, no more than 16 inches in width plus girth, and must be well packed. It is urged that no clothing be sent.

B-17 Lost Since March 3 Found

COLUMBUS, O., July 16 (AP)—Col. A. C. Foulk, commanding officer of nearby Lockbourne air base, announced that a B-17 bomber, missing since March 3, was found wrecked Tuesday night 20 miles southwest of Springfield, Ariz. The Flying Fortress' entire crew of eight and one passenger were killed. Discovery of the body of Pvt. Geronimo Medina of Laredo, Tex., a week ago near Luke Field, Ariz., had searching parties to the plane, Colonel Foulk said. He said Private Medina boarded the plane as a voluntary passenger at a Portland, Ore., airbase.

Africa Waits

by Achmed Abdulloh CHAPTER XIII A MOMENT later, a man stepped out from behind a tree. He was tall and of extraordinary width of shoulders, ruddy-skinned, full-bearded, with a great, predatory hook of a nose and twinkling, humorous, steel-gray eyes. A blue-and-red-checked turban, ornamented with a regimental insignia, was cocked at a devil-may-care angle on his bullet-shaped head, and he wore a tattered, stained British khaki uniform. He reached out a strong hand and pulled Lincoln to safety. Again he laughed. "I know a saheb," he exclaimed, "not always when I see one—for, indeed, you look like a Bedawin—but when I hear one. Splendid words you used!" He interrupted himself. "Words," he went on, frowning, "not altogether English, though." "I'm American," explained Lincoln. "A glorious race, I understand, if not quite as glorious as the Afghans." "Guess you're one of them?" smiled the other. "I am that same. Zaman Khan is my name, and I am a sergeant of the Sixteenth Pathan Rissala in the service of the British Raj." "And what," demanded Lincoln, "are you doing in this neck of the African woods?" "There was much grand fighting—the Afghans gesticulated vaguely towards the north—and many of my comrades were wounded and captured by the little black-haired men who smell of garlic and the big yellow-haired men who smell of pig. And I did not like it in prison, in the land called the Sudan. No—I did not like it at all So," calmly, "I am night, having, with Allah's aid, stolen a knife, I cut some throats and helped myself to a rifle and ammunition, and I went quickly away from there." "I SHALL rejoin the Sixteenth Pathan Rissala," he continued. "I heard in prison camp that they are now battling in Libya." "Aren't you going the wrong way?" "Why?" "Libya is north, not south." "But north are the garlic-eaters and the pig-eaters. I must keep away from their smell—and their revenge. So I am traveling by roundabout roads." "You know them?" "A friendly black man told me. And I could have got to Libya before this. But," with a little apologetic cough, "I have been busy—trading in horses." "Anybody's horses." "When the owner wasn't looking?" demanded the American, slowly winking an eye. "By Allah!" roared the Afghan. "But you are a man after my own heart, of quick wit and most nimble tongue! Ah—soul of my soul!" He drew Lincoln to his massive breast and, in spite of struggles and protests, implanted a smacking kiss upon his lips. "I like you! I like you fine!" Another kiss. "And what are you doing here, O heart's delight?" The "heart's delight" did not know what to say. He hesitated; and the other must have read his thoughts. "WHAT does it matter?" interrupted Zaman Khan. "Be-like you killed a man—for the sport of it; be-like a woman—for the sake of the red passion. What difference? Allah will forgive you, and so," grandly, "shall I. I like you, I repeat—I, Zaman Khan. And your name?"

Once more Lincoln hesitated; and once more the other said: "What does it matter? Come with me!" "Where are you going?" "To the little town of Yebba. I have been there before." A profane-grinned man, there for horses, and no questions asked, and the winners there are honeyed. And the women... a cheef! He blew a kiss into the air. "Sounds attractive," admitted the American, with a laugh. "You do not dare, because of the saheb's foolish laws in the matter of your small killing?" "That's it." "Have no fear. Yebba is an Arab settlement in the heart of the country. No sahebs are ever seen there. And if, by Shaitan's cursed device, they should learn of your being there and come after you—why—the town is not far from the jungles the other side of Lake Tchad." Lincoln looked up. "Ever hear," he inquired, trying to sound casual, "of a place, some where in the jungle, called the Meeting of the Elephants?" The Afghan roared with mirth. "Now I know," he cried, "that you are running away from the saheb's laws. For the Meeting of the Elephants is deeply buried in the wilderness, and just the place where a man might hide for a day, a year, an eternity." "You know that?" "No. But somebody will, in Yebba." Yes—the American echoed in his mind—somebody would, in Yebba. He would be able to hire a guide there; was playing—he thought—in luck. "I'll go with you," he said. "Good! My camp," pointing, "is over there. I promise you a splendid mutton stew, charmingly flavored with wild herbs, and a drink or two of fermented liquor—although forbidden the True Believer by the Prophet Mohammed—may be intercede in my behalf on the Day of Judgment! And, while we fill our bellies and pleasantly warm our gullets, we shall talk as it behooves men to talk. Of strife, a little. But, mostly, of woman!" (To Be Continued)

While Washington Fiddles

Jimmie Byrnes

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—From end to end of the Atlantic seaboard the problem of gasoline and fuel oil supplies has become a sore spot kept tender by repeated pressure of questions.

War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes promised yesterday to survey the situation and make public his findings and his decisions.

The Office of Price Administration, which does the pricing and rationing of eastern oil supplies, has been a favorite target for critics.

But meanwhile here are some of the questions whirling around the ears of Secretary Ickes' Petroleum Administration for War (PAW), the government agency charged with getting oil supplies to where they are needed in the United States:

From southern states on the eastern seaboard: Oil reserves are being built up here so why can't we be allowed more gasoline than we get now?

PAW answer is: Those reserves are not being built up for southern states alone but are reserves for the whole eastern area.

Then this question: Now that the U-boat has been badly kicked around in the Atlantic, why can't military and oil supplies for Europe and Africa start out from Gulf ports instead of eastern Atlantic ports. Wouldn't that free tank cars—now carrying such oil to the east—for taking civilian oil supplies to the east and thus build up reserves faster?

PAW says the shortest, fastest route to Europe and Africa is from east coast ports, not Gulf ports. Speed is important, so is time. In the course of a year ships leaving from the east coast could make more round trips to Europe than ships leaving from Gulf coast ports.

PAW additionally says through a spokesman: On the east coast now oil stocks are about 31 percent of normal, normal being the 1940 period.

Tank cars now in service hauling oil supplies number 107,560, of which 80,156 are in district No. 1, the eastern seaboard, either shuttling supplies back and forth there or bringing in supplies.

Twenty-five pipelines, all in one way or another helping the flow of oil to the east, have been completed in this country since Pearl Harbor.

At the same time oil production in District No. 1—New York, Pennsylvania and the Virginia produce oil in that area—has fallen off. In the mid-west there has been a falling off.

While some of this reduction may be due to operators who—seeking price increases and not getting them—may have given up production.

Other factors are manpower and equipment. But still another factor, PAW points out, is natural decreasing productivity in some fields.

Three Veteran Fliers Are Lost Over Germany

By LEO BRANHAM

A UNITED STATES BOMBER STATION, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 16—Three veteran fliers besides the pilot, first Lieut. Robert S. O'Connor, 24, of Milwaukee, Wis., were among the crew of the flying fortress "the Mugger" which went down under attacks from 15 German fighters during a recent operation.

They included: Sergt. Albert V. Carroll, 20, Marshall, Texas, Ball Turret gunner who was on his next to last combat mission and who was to receive his commission as second lieutenant and an assignment as gunner instructor after one more raid.

The Mugger was the only ship lost from this base that day, but air force officials believe there is an excellent chance that the crew survived.

From five to seven parachutes were seen to blow out of the crippled and blazing bomber as it went down under control shortly before the air fleet reached its target, returned crewmen reported.

ly probable that additional parachutes emerged unobserved.

Sergt. Virgil E. Brown of Little Rock, Ark., tail gunner on the fortress "Charlie Horse," piloted by First Lieut. Vincent Lemon 26, of Sacramento, Calif., saw "the Mugger" go down.

"One of O'Connor's engines was knocked out during the first attack by enemy fighters shortly after we crossed the continental coast," he said. "I think every fighter the Germans sent up that day picked on our squadron."

"As soon as O'Connor lagged behind our formation about 15 fighters jumped him. The 'Mugger's' crew fought them off for about five minutes. I saw them shoot down at least one Focke-Wulf. Then another engine caught fire."

Carroll had the reputation of being the best gunner at this station. He was a survivor of one of the most hair-raising episodes any fortress crew member is reported to have experienced in this theater.

During an attack on the U-boat plant at Vegesack, Germany, on March 18, anti-aircraft shell hits caused the ball turret hatch to fly open. The wind caught the open hatch and swung it around, throwing Carroll out.

But as he plunged out, minus his parachute, toward the earth five miles below, he grasped his machinegun with one hand and held on for dear life. For a few seconds he dangled below the big bomber as it ploughed through the flak and an enemy-fighter attack.

Then he pulled himself back into the turret. Despite his badly frost-bitten hands, he continued to help fight off the Germans until his ammunition was exhausted.

Shortly before this accident Carroll had shot down one Focke-Wulf. He also bagged three German fighters or his last mission. He held the distinguished flying cross and the air medal with three Oak Clusters.

'Good Neighbor' Group Appointed

MEXICO CITY, July 16—(AP)—A commission to cultivate the "good neighbor" policy among Mexican school children was named by Education Minister Octavio Velazquez.

The body, called the National Commission for Intellectual Cooperation, will promote cultural interchange between Mexican and North American pupils to strengthen international friendship.

Pennsylvania Coal Production Drops

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 16—(AP)—Pennsylvania produced 6,618,000 less tons of coal in June—when strikes emptied anthracite and bituminous fields at intervals—than in June, 1942. Richard Malina, acting secretary of mines, reported today.

Hellcat Details Are Still Secret

WASHINGTON, July 16—(AP)—The United States navy, already the world's leader in the development of carrier-based fighter planes, has a new championship contender with a significant name—Hellcat—and the assurance of the Truman committee that is capable of exceptional performance.

Mention of the plane by the senate committee investigating the war program lifted it from the secret list, but further details presumably must await battle tests, which may not be far off.

Constitutionality Of Tax Law Up

DALLAS, July 16—(AP)—Two special attorneys of the department of Justice asked Federal Judge William H. Atwell to declare constitutional an act of the Texas legislature relieving the government of paying taxes on lands condemned.

Beteta Opposes U. S. Oil Rights in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 16—(AP)—Commenting on press reports that North American oil companies, expropriated in 1938, will resume operation in Mexico soon on a modified basis, Under-Minister of Finance Ramon Beteta said that he opposed such an arrangement.

Beteta's press statement last night however contained neither confirmation nor denial of the unofficial reports.

These stated that Efrain Buenostro, head of the government oil industry, is completing arrangements in the United States for permitting the companies to operate under the direction of the Mexican government setup, and without violating Mexico's claim to subsoil rights.

The companies, according to the reports, would take charge of exploration and exportation activities. Beteta said he has not participated in any discussions regarding such operations, "and I have always held the firm conviction that to permit the return to Mexico of the expropriated oil companies, under whatever formula that might be found, would be a very grave error."

Buenostro has been in the United States since March. He announced he would seek priorities there for a large improvement program for the Mexican oil industry.

Vichy Says Axis In Trouble in Sicily

LONDON, July 16—(AP)—The Vichy radio depicted the situation of the Axis in Sicily today as "extremely serious."

Quoting Berlin and Rome reports, the radio declared that "further infiltration attempts must be checked in order to avoid endangering Axis defensive positions in the Catania plain."

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army forces "are debouching in masses on the Catania plain and have strong artillery, tank and air support," said the broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

The Rome communique, recorded by the Associated Press from a broadcast, declared, however, that Allied pressure finally "was being contained by Axis troops, and that strong Allied attacks had been repulsed. Parachute troops which had landed in the Catania plain were wiped out, the official bulletin reported.
