Farnsworth Died Of Old Injury

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A fall downstairs at his new Hampshire farmhouse last June probably caused the death Wednesday of Arthur Farnsworth, husband of Film Actress Bette Davis, Dr. Paul Moore has announced following an autopsy.

Farnsworth was found unconscious on a Hollywood boulevard sidewalk Monday, and died without emerging from the comatose state, the physician said.

An autopsy performed yesterday disclosed Farnsworth had sustained a basal skull fracture on the right side of the head, perhaps at some time before he collapsed on the sidewalk this week, Dr. Moore reported.

The physician said last night he had learned from Miss Davis that Farnsworth slipped when he started downstairs, without shoes, to answer the telephone in their farm home near Farmington, N. H., two months ago. Dr. Moore said Miss Davis told him:

I SAW...

French Recognized By Allies, Russia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The seal of Soviet Russia's approval was stamped today on one of the first announced diplomatic results of the Quebec conference—formal recognition of the De Gaulle-Girard committee of national liberation as the "representative of the French republic and of all French patriots fighting against the Hitler tyranny."

The Russians apparently went even a step further than did President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in welcoming the French committee into the Allied fold as the representative of millions of Frenchmen fighting for freedom.

The announcement from Moscow declared that the group headed by Gen. Charles De Gaulle and Gen. Henri Girard would be recognized as the "representative of the state interests of the French republic and as the leader of interests of the French republic and of all French patriots fighting against the Hitler tyranny."

Couple Tried For Shooting

OLTON, Tex., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The state prepared today for the trial of Mrs. W. R. Newton for the shooting of Dr. Roy Hunt of Littlefield after winning a jury verdict of guilty against her physician-husband, charged jointly with her in the case.

Dr. Newton was convicted Wednesday night on assault to murder Dr. Hunt, the jury recommending a sentence of seven years.

Mrs. Newton obtained a severance, granting her the right of a separate trial, scheduled today. Dr. Hunt was wounded by gunfire on a roadside near Littlefield on May 20 last year. He testified he knew of no motive for the shooting. Dr. Newton testified that he and Mrs. Newton were in Houston at the time.

The state introduced testimony that Mrs. Newton was seen in a filling station at midnight of May 20, and that a woman left the station, and drove off with a man in a car. 15 minutes before Dr. Hunt was shot. Other testimony was that a woman had telephoned from the station to Dr. Hunt's residence, asking him to meet her on a roadside.

Evidence included assertions that Hunt and Newton were medical school classmates and interned at a Houston hospital where Mrs. Newton was a nurse.

Plasma ranked first as the foremost life-saver used by the army medical corps in North Africa. Maj.-Gen. Norman T. Kirk, army surgeon-general.

Big Production Of 'Mars' Flying Boats Advocated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Large scale production of the Giant Martin "Mars" flying boat for fast, long-range cargo hauling has been recommended to the war production board by Grover C. Loening, noted aircraft designer and manufacturer.

The navy has been dickered with the Glenn L. Martin company of Baltimore on production of the 70-ton flying freight cars, but Loening, as special WPB aircraft consultant, urges a larger contract than is now being discussed.

His report recommends a generally increased emphasis on cargo planes, coupled with a commendation of the progress made by both army and navy in speeding cargo craft production.

No information was obtainable, either from Loening or other WPB sources, on just how many Mars-type planes he thinks should be built. The Mars, which has a 200-foot wingspread and a fuel capacity of "about a tank car load" of gasoline, was designed originally as a navy patrol bomber, but has been converted for cargo use with big hatches and a loading track.

Only one of the planes has been produced, despite the vigorous effort of Henry J. Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilding wizard, to get a navy contract for mass production. Nelson favored the idea but the navy was cool.

WHAT YOU CAN DO with VALENCIA Oranges

According to expert home economists, there are some 94 ways you can use Valencia Oranges . . . and this doesn't include your own pet uses. We've picked three of the most important ones. Learn them . . . and we know you'll be miles ahead in satisfying your family's appetites . . . and the vitamins they'll get will be a great help to health!

2 Fill out salads and fruit cups with oranges. It's always agreed that a fruit salad or a fruit cup wasn't complete unless it had fresh orange in it. Now that rationing is here, it's even more important to use oranges to add zest and color to your salads and fruit cups.

3 Make orangeade your luncheon or dinner drink . . . it's a swell summer beverage . . . so refreshing and cooling . . . and you'll do a perfect job of pleasing all members of the family.

Orange County, California oranges ripen nearly the year around—even when snow whitens the mountains which rise beyond the groves at the edge of the foothills. In summer Orange County sends thousands of refrigerated car loads of Valencias to markets all over the land.

● Sunday School Lesson
Lesson Text: Exodus 32:1-35; 34:1-9, 27, 28
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
THE history of the people of Israel—and it might well be the history of any people or nation—is a history of heights and depths, of lofty ideals and principles, with periods of exaltation when the nation generally was inspired by high motives and impulses, and periods of moral and spiritual, as well as of financial, depression when it seemed as if the noble example of the nation's greatest leaders were ignored or forgotten.
Has not this been true of our own country? And is it not this fact that makes it so much worthwhile for us to study the life of an ancient people, the story of whose sins and restorations has been set down for us with such graphic vividness and power?

The lapse of the children of Israel was usually into some form of idolatry. It was a constant danger where the comparatively small nation was in contact with or surrounded by heathen nations, whose parent power and prosperity seemed in contrast with the situation and condition of the Israelites. They were tempted to freedom from bondage, or called upon to make sacrifice for the sake of conscience or in service to others.
Idolatry, too, was not just a bowing down to wood and stone. Men might, and the Israelites were commanded to make no graven image because of the danger of such objects corrupting them from the worship of the true God, Devout heathens, who have had no higher revelation of God, have doubtless often in their idolatrous worship had a sense of devotion to some higher power.
The point of Israel's idolatry was not only that Israel knew better, but that the idolatrous worship of the surrounding peoples were a mockery of a better way. In that story is a lofty conception both of God as gracious and merciful, seeking the good and the restoration of His children rather than their condemnation and casting away; and a lofty conception of man as able through the power of will and choice to turn from evil and disaster and, with God's help, make a new beginning.
What are the sins to which America is subject?
What have been the temptations to which we have succumbed and that have weakened our morale?
What are the weaknesses that perilous times like these have revealed, just as times of stress and peril revealed the weakness of Israel?
It is in asking and answering such questions as these that we may get the real benefit of studying a lesson like this; and it means little to study records of the past, even in the Bible, unless they bring home to us a sense of God's law and of God's dealings with men and nations today.

Mission Work Is Topic At Lutheran Church On Sunday
"And ye shall be witnesses unto Me" Acts 1:8 is the Word of God to be discussed by Rev. Wolter in his 11 o'clock service at Zion Lutheran church this Sunday in preparation for the annual mission day to be celebrated on Sunday, September 5 which day will also mark the first anniversary of this Lutheran congregation in Pampa.
Rev. Wolter will resume speaking on the mission theme at the 7:45 o'clock service at which time the words of Scripture, "It is time to seek the Lord," Hosea 10, 12 will be used as a topic.
Rev. Wolter said he would emphasize through the use of these texts what Christ wants to teach us as to the difference between the attitude of a Christian and a non-Christian toward their fellowmen and toward the problems of life, showing why the true Christian does not just talk about mission work in a general way, but really gets down to business and does some thing by adding living souls to the armies of Jesus and spreading His glorious kingdom of love and peace to a world of bitterness and hatred and blood."

Christian Science Sunday Study Topic
"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 29.
The Golden Text is: "Thou, Bethlehem Ephrathah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting" (Micah 5:2).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord thy God will raise up unto thee a Prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto him ye shall hearken" (Deuteronomy 18:15).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ, as the true spiritual idea, is the ideal of God now and forever, here and everywhere" (page 361).

UNWELCOME LIGHT
COLUMBIA, S. C.—Mrs. T. W. Dreher, lying in bed reading, failed to hear the warning signal for a test blackout. An alert warden stepped to her window and asked her to turn off the light.
She complied, but in a moment the warden was back. This time it was a light in the kitchen, he complained. She was positive she had turned it off.
They investigated and found the kitchen in flames.
Fire wardens extinguished the blaze.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

They're Typical Americans One of the most heartening and inspiring stories of the war has come off the never-silent presses of the Office of War Information.

It is a story that is both touching and amusing. It tells of the little girl who sent her penny, and the rich man who sent $25,000. It tells of gifts from descendants of pioneers and from new citizens whose devotion to their country shines through halting, tortured English.

All in all more than 20,000 Americans (including a few neighbors from Mexico, Central and South America) have swelled the Treasury by $4,423,000.

Americans today are complaining about the government and about prices and the lack of beef. They are cheating on their gasoline rations and cursing the income tax, falling behind in production goals and calling one another fascists and bureaucrats and long-haired professors.

Their story is a good one. You ought to read it. BUY VICTORY BONDS Army Discipline

Now that the War Manpower Commission has come out with a more specific declaration on the work-or-flight alternative, perhaps there will be less pulling and hauling between WMC and Selective Service.

The other day, for example, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, told a Los Angeles audience that he had been consistently opposed to discharging men between 33 and 45 from the Army.

Two days later in Santa Fe, General Hershey stated he thought two out of three pre-Pearl Harbor fathers could not pass the physical examination if they were drafted, and that many of these men were probably in essential industry, though not so classified at present.

This not only adds up to complete confusion, but it puts forth, in the general's earlier statement, a suggestion that is bound to be distasteful to a lot of Americans.

A good many of us persist in the old-fashioned notion that serving one's country in time of war is a duty and an honor and a privilege, not a form of punishment. It is hard to believe that a man is going to make a very good soldier who is "disciplined" into the Army, and his induction made a horrible example to frighten his furtive contemporaries into essential war work.

BUY VICTORY BONDS The Nation's Press TEACHING FREEDOM

After ten years of New Dealery, a generation is growing up so confused that it needs to be re-educated in the meaning of private enterprise and the reasons for its success in the past.

Instead of something new and revolutionary, the trend toward government regulation and ownership is reactionary and steadily receding toward a form of totalitarianism which the masses, the ordinary men to whom the labor bosses part, have been attempting to overthrow for centuries.

Among the fashions of the Liberals, all of whom personally benefit and many of whom depend wholly for their existence on the capitalist system that recognizes the existence of money and the sacredness of a contract, is a pat reference to the National Association of Manufacturers as the spokesman of views they abhor.

"It is only the politicians and the planners who can guarantee jobs, and these are two kinds—a job at raking leaves or a job at piling up armaments."

Instead of guaranteeing jobs, Mr. Crawford said, industry "creates jobs," and he added: "The greatest drawback to prosperity in the postwar era is the uncertainty of government's real attitude toward private enterprise. What we need is a clear affirmation, free of weasel words and mental reservations of full faith and confidence in our free economic system."

Sensible Americans realize the truth of these words even though on specific issues they may permit their faith to waiver for the sake of expediency. The American Federation of Labor, for one example, holds orthodox capitalistic views, and any union man who is buying a home or paying on a life insurance policy is a capitalist.

Mr. Crawford said that "if we retain freedom of speech in public assembly, in the printed word and over the air," we will be able to keep the free economic system that has allowed America in the space of 150 years to attain a position of world eminence.

But more retention of the right to speak out is not enough. Somebody must speak, and speak often, if the boys and girls of today are to grow up with anything resembling the traditional American feelings. The press and the radio and the schools are not enough; parents in the home will have to carry on the teaching process lest we lose not only the right, but even the desire for freedom.

Common Ground

By R. C. BOILES

"I speak the plain-word primer, I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."

ONLY RIGHTS THEY POSSESS

Just as no citizen can transfer to another individual something he does not himself have, so no individual can transfer to the government the right to do a thing that the individual himself has not a right to do.

The trouble we are in, the scarcity that makes us think we need rationing, is due to people believing that they can transfer to the government, rights that they do not have.

And the only rights that people can transfer to the government are the rights to defend their life and their property. They themselves have that right from the nature of things. They had this right before any government existed. It is a natural right.

We have deviated from this rule of a bill of rights democracy or a Christian form of government. The majority has assumed that they have the right to transfer to the government authority to do things that they as individuals have no moral right to do.

Nor have they a moral right to force A to pay to educate B's children. So they cannot transfer this right to the government unless the government practices the "might makes right" policy. But a government under which "might makes right" is contrary to the principle that each man has inherent rights granted to him by his creator.

We have gradually deviated from this theory of the government with the consent of the government so that we now have forgotten the very principles on which this government was originally founded.

No Ration Defense for Public Education And if it be true that no man can transfer to the government a right that he does not himself have then there can be no logical and rational Christian defense for public education.

Public education is based on the theory that man can transfer to the state the rights that the individual himself does not have. And if we would grant that this is the kind of government we want, then we are in reality granting that we want a government on the theory that "might makes right."

The columns of this newspaper are open, of course, to any man that believes that public education is Christian and democratic or even honest, to refute the above or to explain how the State in forcing a citizen to pay for an educational system he does not believe it can be in harmony with freedom or the commandment "thou shalt not covet."

The results facing us certainly are now serious enough that those who take for granted that public majority rule education is helpful to society should realize that this contention never has been proven or even demonstrated.

LET THE VOTERS BEWARE

We had better change the old adage, "Let the Buyer Beware" to "Let the Voter Beware" or "Let the Lender Beware".

We vote for a man and give him power over our economic and social well-being and have little protection of our inherent rights in what is left of the Constitution.

We have so changed our money system that what the man gets back is subject to the whim of the people and their elected officers. We have no impersonal standard of values as was the case when gold was the measure of human energy required to satisfy the human want.

We seem to have substituted blind faith in the politician for the faith we formerly had in eternal, universal impersonal rules as recorded in our Constitution.

Yes, we are adopting the policy of "Let the Voter Beware". In every case in history, however, when the voter has no protection against the tyrannies of elected office holders he is always the sufferer.

BUY VICTORY BONDS PEACE BY BOMBERS? (The Chicago Tribune)

A good many people have been saying of late that the problem of policing the world after the war will be a relatively easy one. For one thing, Italy, Germany, Japan, and their satellites will have been disarmed. That will leave only the United States, Britain, and Russia in possession of the kind of military equipment needed to maintain whatever settlements may be made.

The National Whirligig

News Behind The News

By ALBERT LEHMAN STOPGAP—Washington expects that as a result of the Quebec conference our relations with the Executive Committee of National Liberation will be clarified—again. The belief is that something must be done, especially as Allied radios are broadcasting to France that it should be ready for the great invasion any day.

Many Americans are puzzled by the State Department's willingness to recognize governments in exile such as that of Greece, which is based on a dictatorship inimical to Hellenic democratic aspirations—and yet we continue to snub the French. Pettifoggers, of course, mumble about the jobs and titles of legality but most of the explanations seem tenuous.

Certain associates of Mr. Hull discovered that they think is a clever method of disposing of de Gaulle in any future French setup. It is not widely known that Parisian law provides a means of operation in an interregnum of the Third Republic.

The Consells Generaux—roughly corresponding to our county boards—can send two members to a provisional assembly which in turn can establish new temporary administrative and legislative bodies. Since the original units were elected in 1936, they consist of the old, conservative elements who look askance upon General de Gaulle's radical followers.

The actions of this stopgap group—covered by all the trappings of court technicality—could do much to control the self-determination which we have promised to liberated France.

LUXURY—Although the greatest anxiety in high circles here is about what Russia, through her Free German Committee and other devices, plans to do in Europe, there is also much concern over Moscow's recent moves in the New World, especially in Latin America.

Stalin sent Ambassador Oumansky, with a staff of thirty-five, to Mexico City where he occupied the Presidential suite in the de luxe Hotel Reforma. At his first meeting with reporters he asked if they knew how a Soviet press conference always ended.

When he admitted their ignorance he replied, "With vodka and caviar, of course." And sumptuous entertainment was furnished, much to the astonishment of Mexican Red Journalists who looked for more simplicity from a representative of the proletariat.

The envoy then selected as his home the most palatial residence in the metropolis, the abode of Senor Pereda, a wealthy sportsman. It has a polo field, swimming pool, pelota court and huge stables and garages. It is surrounded by a high wall and paid three hundred thousand dollars in gold—more than a million pesos in the mansion and grounds. Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

Having personally met the guy who started the gold fish swallowing craze, knowing a third cousin of the guy who thought up the tree-sitting fad and having been once introduced to the wife of the gentleman who invented miniature golf, it was almost inevitable that we should meet the guy who made swooning fashionable.

His name is George Evans and he's swoon singer Frank Sinatra's press agent. No, he doesn't wear bobby socks or carry smelling salts or have a dreamy look in his eyes. He wears glasses, looks like a college professor, has been a New York press agent for 17 years and is modest. Yes, modest.

We looked up press agent Evans today because we wanted him to confess. And he did. About a lot of things.

But, first of all, Evans wanted us to get this straight. He's a Frank Sinatra fan, too. He says he would be a Sinatra fan even if he wasn't collecting a nice three-figure check with Sinatra's signature on it every week. He believes in the kid. "I think he's great personally and a great singer."

FINDING FANS

Now how did it all get started? How did a guy named Frank Sinatra become a national figure, turn swooning and moaning and crying among high school girls into a craze, get invited to sing on the almost sacred stage of the Hollywood Bowl and collect 25 grand to sing four songs in one picture, RKO's "Higher and Higher."

"Just organization, that's all," said press agent Evans. "Just organization and a little imagination." It was like this, Evans explained. After leaving dance band singing, Sinatra went out on his own and got himself booked into the Paramount theater in New York.

It was sensational. Just average, with the average number of stage door Jills asking for his autograph after each show. No swooning or crying. That was last January. Then Sinatra hired Evans as his press agent.

"I sat in the audience at the Paramount theater," Evans said, "and nothing much happened except that a 17-year-old girl sitting near me started to moan and cry. Very softly. I asked her what was wrong. She said she couldn't help it, but every time she listened to Sinatra's singing she just had to moan and cry. I'm not crazy, either," she said.

The girl gave the press agent an idea. "Cry louder," he told her. The girl did. "Louder," encouraged the p. a., realizing he had something. The girl responded and people stared at her.

"First thing you know," said Evans, "three or four other girls in the audience were crying and moaning, trying to attract attention away from the first girl to themselves. Finally, the girl sitting near me was almost hysterical and an usher came down and took her out into the lobby."

Evans says he followed her. "Have you got any more little girl friends who cry when Sinatra sings?" he asked. The girl said she had lots of them. "We sit around at home and play Frank's photograph records and cry," she said.

"Good," said Evans, handing her a fistful of passes. "Bring 'em down tomorrow. And be sure they cry. Loud!" The girl said that would be easy.

SWOON SECTION

Next day the gal brought her friends and there was a chorus of wailing and moaning when Sinatra sang, from the pass section. Evans, of course, tipped off the Broadway columnist and before long the Paramount theater was full of teen-aged kids trying to out-moan each other. When one gal fainted, Evans passed out smelling salts to the others for future use.

"From then on," Evans said, "it was easy. Just organization. We started fan clubs—the Moonlight Sinatra Fan club and the Girls Who Would Lay Down Their Lives for Frank Sinatra Fan club."

We would have talked to George Evans longer except we were in a restaurant and a little girl in red bobby socks suddenly fainted. Someone told her Evans was Frank Sinatra's press agent.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press Writer

Something red hot—something to watch closely for developments—is the announcement by the government of Sweden that two German minesweepers sank two Swedish fishing boats without warning off Denmark on August 25.

An angry Stockholm immediately sought an investigation. Should that inquiry establish that the Huns have again perpetrated one of their cold-blooded acts of ruthlessness, it might be the explosive event which would bring Sweden into the war on the side of the Allies.

That's not a prediction. I'm merely pointing to a tendency which has been pulling a reluctant Sweden nearer and nearer to the brink of the European maelstrom recently.

Relations between the Scandinavian country and her gangster neighbor have been increasingly strained for four months. For the past three months the Swedes have been standing at arms, ready for action if forced from their chosen position of neutrality.

Now comes this fresh sensation in which the German warships are said to have fired from a range of 50 yards on the little boats. The fishing craft were flying their country's flag, and had the Swedish insignia painted trustfully on their sides. Stockholm regards this as the worst in a series of incidents involving Germany since the sinking of the Swedish submarine Ulfven on April 16, with her crew of thirty-four.

The fact that the Nazis have been jittery in the expectation of an Allied invasion of Denmark scarcely could save Swedish honor or indignation. That's an excuse something like the one the bochs gave after sending the Ulfven to the bottom. The Hitlerites said they mistook the Ulfven for an enemy craft—but they didn't make the tale stick in Stockholm.

Very recently the repressive measures of Quisling in Norway have stirred a bitter reaction in Sweden. In Stockholm there have been anti-Nazi demonstrations. The Swedish government revoked the privilege of transporting Nazi troops across the country.

That brings us up to the sinking of the little fishing boats. Swedish-German relations are doing a tight-rope act over Niagara.

Corns are responsible for more pain, discomfort and disability than any other minor disturbance. The pain may be so persistent and intense as to dominate one's mental and physical activities. The return to the feet as a means of locomotion is not confined to the armed forces. The home front, in addition to using its feet more than usual, is generally less well and sensibly shod than the men in the service.

Intermittent pressure and friction are the cause of corns and callouses. When these agents are applied to a small area over a sharp, bony prominence a corn is the result. When the friction and pressure affect a larger surface, usually on the sole of the foot, callouses are formed.

NATURE OF CORNS

The changes in the skin that characterize a corn are designed to protect the skin against disintegration and wearing away. The inflammation of the superficial layer of the skin that follows this type of injury precipitates an increased rate of cell production. The new cells develop an extreme degree of cohesion, with the result that a thick, horny, plate is formed. In the center of the corn, there is a core or root of grayish-white material.

The skin that follows this type of injury precipitates an increased rate of cell production. The new cells develop an extreme degree of cohesion, with the result that a thick, horny, plate is formed. In the center of the corn, there is a core or root of grayish-white material.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES

The friction and pressure that cause the corn are applied to the skin when the bones of the foot press the skin against the shoe, or vice-versa. Ill-fitting shoes are a frequent cause of corns, and a shoe that so offends should be stretched or altered so as to relieve the pressure, or it should be supplanted by a correctly fitted shoe. When it is difficult to find a satisfactory shoe, the trouble is likely to be in the foot. And deformity of the foot, such as an elevated longitudinal arch, a depressed transverse arch, or hammer toe, is almost certain to be followed by corns or callouses or both. Faulty posture causing shift of the weight-bearing area to parts not designed to withstand pressures also predisposes the formation of corns.

Many methods are employed to treat corns and callouses. Shoes must fit and be free from ridges and seams. Stockings should be of the proper size. Exercises and muscular re-education may be needed to correct postural defects. Pads may be used to prevent friction. There are numerous corn paints, most of which contain salicylic acid, that soften the corn and cause its separation. Self-pedure is not to be recommended, because of the danger of infection. Various caustics are useful, especially with soft corns. X-ray may be successfully employed in many instances—but these last are strictly professional measures.

"The Shape Of Things To Come," Is B. P. W. Program For Coming Year

A year's program was planned when the executive board members of the Business and Professional Women's club met at the home of Mrs. Lillian Jordan Thursday evening for a business meeting.

During the meeting plans were made to publish the year book as soon as arrangements can be made, including 10 programs for the business year. Beginning September, the program will consist of an outlined program using "Winning the Peace" as subject of study.

The following program was outlined for study:

"The Shape of Things to Come," will be given by the program committee, of which Ruth Walstad is chairman. "The Consumer Goes to War," will be given by the public affairs committee, with Gladys Robinson as chairman; "War Tasks for Education," will be given by the education committee, of which Mildred Overall is chairman; "The Four Freedoms at Home," will be given by Tommie Stone, chairman.

of the legislation committee; "New Plans for Lasting Peace," will be given by the international relations committee; Mildred Lafferty will give "Post War Agenda," assisted by the education committee.

The program committee decided that the program for March will be put on by the Burger group, with Audrey Fowler, Clara Lee Shetmaker and Iva Ekers, all members of the Pampa club, now residents of Borger.

Jessie Stroup and Ann Clark, publicity and radio chairman, respectively, will give "Our Town and World Prosperity." Ann Chapman, health chairman, will give "Development of Medicines Since the Beginning of the War."

In June, 1944, a complete summary of the program will be given, with the committee chairman in charge of each program.

Announcement was made that the club would have no formal parties this year, and plans were made to give all possible time to education and to outline an active year for civic welfare and post-war problems.

Board members present for Thursday's meeting were: Maurine Jones, Lillian Jordan, Tommie Stone, Julia Kelly, Evora Crawford, Ruth Walstad, Mildred Overall, Mildred Lafferty and Jessy Stroup.

OBLIGING RUNAWAY

YONKERS, N. Y. — An empty barge broke away from its mooring at a sand and stone company's wharf and began drifting south in the strong current of the Hudson river.

Onlookers notified police who hopped into a car and headed for the city's recreation pier, some distances down the river, pondering how to get out on the river to stop the barge.

When the police arrived, however, they found the boat had swung right into the pier—and all that was necessary was to tie her up.

Why A Fuse Blows Out

The circuit fuses in most homes are 15 amperes, which means the circuit can stand 15x120 volts, or 1800 watts of electricity at one time. If you operate too many electrical appliances on a circuit at one time (appliances whose wattage totals more than 1800 watts) your fuse blows out. For example—the electric iron shown at left takes 1000 watts, the electric toaster 600 watts and the electric coffeemaker 600 watts—a total of 2200 watts! If these are put in operation on the same circuit at one time it is too much wattage for a fuse of 15 amperes, and it blows out!

Be careful about the use of too many electric appliances at one time on one circuit.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The stock market again suffered buying apathy today.

Assorted industrials, rails, aircrafts and gold mines did fairly well but many leaders were at a standstill or inclined to retreat. Irregularly higher tendencies prevailed at the start and gains of fractions to a point or so were plentiful near the finish. Transfers or gains of 400,000 shares were among the smallest for a full session in a year.

Childs Co. stocks and bonds broke sharply on an announcement the company had filed a voluntarily petition for reorganization.

In front, most of the time, were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, International Nickel, Dome Mines, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Oliver Farm, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin and Goodyear. Laggers included Du Pont, American Can, Texas Co., Standard Oil of California, Consolidated and Montgomery Ward.

Men on Pacific Isle Boil Fish with Silver Dollar to Determine What Fish Are Poisonous

BY REMBERT JAMES
WITH UNITED STATES GROUND FORCES AT VELLA LAVELLA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A winding trail through the jungle marks the limit of our reconquest of the South Pacific. Beyond and the boundaries of the United Nations travel with you.

Private Daniel Lupo, New Haven, Conn., explained this point, except he used different words. "Here she is," he said. "The front line on Vella Lavella."

Six days ago ground troops landed in force on this northern Solomon Island, outflanking Japan's Kolombangara Island Garrison and bringing a new threat to the enemy on Bougainville, only 25 flying miles away.

I came ashore from a supply vessel that beached on a strip of sand only a few feet from where floated the bodies of numerous Japanese sailors killed in a naval battle several nights ago in Vella Gulf.

Not far away were hundreds of troops fixing positions despite continuing air raid alerts, bombings and dogfights overhead.

The commanding general in an interview given partly in a foxhole during a strafing attack by a Zero said our forces had full control of the island.

"We still have bombings all night and at least once, sometimes several times daily.

"I guess the Japanese don't like to have us here. They don't like anything unexpected and they were not expecting us to land here and weren't prepared to meet us."

Lupo was assigned to show me the island. To reach the outposts we toiled through miles of mud, pulling ourselves up the sides of ravines by vines and tree roots. We stopped several times to talk with soldiers and marines living in the wet, heavy jungle.

"At a marine command post we found Capt. J. S. Jersig, a cattle-sterm 10.65-12.65; five loads medium and grain fat cows 11.25-11.35; good and choice vealers 13.00-14.00; stocker and feeder calves 11.00-12.00; good and choice fat calves 11.50-13.00; stocker steers 12.50-13.50; stocker heifers calves 12.50-13.50; stocker steers and yearlings 8.50-12.50.

Men Needed in Rail Manpower Shortage

NEW YORK, August 27.—(AP)—Spokesmen for railroads and the railroad retirement board said today that 3,200 men were needed at once in the New York area alone to relieve an acute railroad manpower shortage which is threatening movement of huge quantities of military and lend-lease exports at points along the Atlantic seaboard.

Railroad companies themselves were said to be conducting campaigns among their own employees at inland points, where trackmen, office employees and others who could be spared were being recruited to meet the seaboard shortage.

Governors Will Study Gas Supply

HOUSTON, August 27.—(AP)—The American Association of Small Business plans a conference, to which governors of eight oil producing states will be invited, to determine "if there is a surplus of gasoline after supplying all military and lend-lease needs and the motorists of the East Coast."

Oilmen of New Orleans, president of the association, announced yesterday the conference would be held at Dallas within the next few weeks "at the convenience of the governors."

Linn asserted abolishment of gasoline rationing at the sources of crude oil supply would be desirable if it could be established that there was a surplus.

Men Needed in Rail Manpower Shortage

NEW YORK, August 27.—(AP)—Spokesmen for railroads and the railroad retirement board said today that 3,200 men were needed at once in the New York area alone to relieve an acute railroad manpower shortage which is threatening movement of huge quantities of military and lend-lease exports at points along the Atlantic seaboard.

Railroad companies themselves were said to be conducting campaigns among their own employees at inland points, where trackmen, office employees and others who could be spared were being recruited to meet the seaboard shortage.

Governors Will Study Gas Supply

HOUSTON, August 27.—(AP)—The American Association of Small Business plans a conference, to which governors of eight oil producing states will be invited, to determine "if there is a surplus of gasoline after supplying all military and lend-lease needs and the motorists of the East Coast."

Oilmen of New Orleans, president of the association, announced yesterday the conference would be held at Dallas within the next few weeks "at the convenience of the governors."

Linn asserted abolishment of gasoline rationing at the sources of crude oil supply would be desirable if it could be established that there was a surplus.

Men on Pacific Isle Boil Fish with Silver Dollar to Determine What Fish Are Poisonous

BY REMBERT JAMES
WITH UNITED STATES GROUND FORCES AT VELLA LAVELLA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A winding trail through the jungle marks the limit of our reconquest of the South Pacific. Beyond and the boundaries of the United Nations travel with you.

Private Daniel Lupo, New Haven, Conn., explained this point, except he used different words. "Here she is," he said. "The front line on Vella Lavella."

Six days ago ground troops landed in force on this northern Solomon Island, outflanking Japan's Kolombangara Island Garrison and bringing a new threat to the enemy on Bougainville, only 25 flying miles away.

I came ashore from a supply vessel that beached on a strip of sand only a few feet from where floated the bodies of numerous Japanese sailors killed in a naval battle several nights ago in Vella Gulf.

Not far away were hundreds of troops fixing positions despite continuing air raid alerts, bombings and dogfights overhead.

The commanding general in an interview given partly in a foxhole during a strafing attack by a Zero said our forces had full control of the island.

"We still have bombings all night and at least once, sometimes several times daily.

One report said the Germans, already short on manpower, were hesitating to take over full control, but that Gen. Hermann von Hannecken, commander of the Nazi occupation army, would institute some form of military rule to quell further outbreaks.

So far, the march on the capital has been peaceful, according to travelers arriving in Madrid from Italy, but Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio was said to fear that some of the newcomers might stage new peace demonstrations or plot against the government.

was a native of Kansas, who had lived at Manhattan Beach, Calif., before going to Amarillo in 1940 as an employe of Transcontinental and Western Airlines as relief passenger agent.

He identified Caudill as a mechanic and parachute rigger who went to Jacksonville from Canyon, Texas, in July of this year.

FBI agent Hood said McClure and Caudill were employed at the airport here at the time of the robbery. It was Hood who said part of the jewels were reported to have been buried and lost.

Amarillo police officials said McClure "didn't know what he had" and his eagerness to learn the value of the jewels resulted in his arrest. McClure gave a ring to a friend, who took it to a local jeweler for appraisal. The jeweler became suspicious when he discovered the value of the diamond and called police, who arrested McClure in the Blackstone hotel.

The stolen jewels recovered included an emerald and diamond necklace, three pear shape drop emeralds and three cabochon emeralds surrounded by the necklace in the form of a festoon; a ruby bracelet, containing about three round rubies and several small rubies with a number of small round diamonds set in platinum; and a diamond of 26.82 carats mounted in a ring.

Soldier from Texas Rolled in Big City

BOSTON, Aug. 27 — (AP)—Corporal Philip McCusker, of Denison, Texas, was short in cash today, but much wiser in his knowledge of the pitfalls of a big city.

McCusker told police that he returned to the United States recently after 14 months in an army outpost in Greenland, with a bankroll of $3,600.

At the suggestion of a waitress in a cafe, he told police, he turned his roll over to three cafe employes for safe-keeping. A few days later he became uneasy, he said and confided his suspicions to the worldly wise police of the cafe district.

They found the roll $1,100 short. They also arrested a waitress and two waiters, and charged them with larceny.

FBI Arrests Noted Fence

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 — (AP)—The federal bureau of investigation has announced the arrest in Chicago of Meyer Gordon, 27, described by J. Edgar Hoover as a "notorious fence" for stolen property.

Simultaneously, the FBI chief said an $8,000 jewelry robbery at Akron, Ohio, in 1940 had been solved.

Hoover, said Gordon, a Chicago diamond merchant, had paid $1,000 for the stolen jewelry, and that four men who committed the robbery are now serving prison sentences imposed in other cases.

Jones To Give Radio Food Talk Tonight
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 — (AP)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones scheduled a speech to the nation tonight amid speculation over how far he will go in disclosing details of a 1944 food and fiber program being whipped rapidly into shape.

He speaks over NBC at 9:45 p. m. central war time.

The former Texas congressman, who took over when Chester Davis left off at the WFA, has been at work for weeks on a blueprint for maximum production of virtually all farm commodities against a growing need among the nation's armed forces, its Allies, people of liberated territories and a steadily-accumulating collection of war prisoners.

Reds Demand That Nazi Leaders Pay
NEW YORK, August 27 — (AP)—A Moscow broadcast reported today by the Office of War Information quoted an article in the Soviet publication "War and the Working Classes" as holding that punishment must be meted out to Nazi leaders but not to the German people for war outrages.

The broadcast, beamed to the United Kingdom in English, said the article was written by Professor A. Trainin.

Trainin declared that it is impossible to define the responsibility of the German people "in terms of law."

CAN VITAMINS PREVENT "POLIO" ?

No claim has been made as yet that Vitamins can prevent polio. Vitamins are being studied as a preventive for polio and it is quite likely that research will have something definite to tell the public in the near future. This much we do know that Vitamins builds resistance. And when the body is healthy and strong be less susceptible to all diseases. Therefore a strong body is to be desired whenever a disease such as polio is present.

Here are a few good rules to follow to help keep your family free of the Polio germ and all other communicable diseases

1. Keep all foods covered.
2. Keep your toilet as clean as possible.
3. Destroy breeding places for flies, such as trash cans, etc.
4. Wash all raw fruits and vegetables.
5. Take special care of your personal hygiene.
6. Keep all perishable foods well refrigerated until they can be cooked or eaten.
7. Eliminate all open sewers and repair leaking sewage pipes immediately.
8. Build bodily resistance by taking vitamins.
