Hospital Asks For Revenue Funds

Committee Presents

Plan Of Action

Bailey County Commissioners Court met in regular session Monday May 13, in the Bailey County courthouse.

Meeting with the court this week were members of the Citizens Committee for Better Hospital Facilities and members of the Civic Center-Agriculture Center Committee.

Rev. H.D. Hunter and Robert Hooten of the Citizens Committee presented plans for building or remodeling the present hospital. Hunter explained that they had collected about $400,000 in pledges and cash for the hospital. It was explained that the hospital needed somewhere around one million dollars to proceed with plans. The hospital has about five more months left to come up with definite plans and have the plans completed. If there is no definite plan of action in this time, the state will take away Medicare and Medicaid from the present hospital.

The Court is now programming the Revenue Sharing Funds for the July through June 30, 1975 entitlement period. Hunter stated that the hospital committee would very much like to have some of the funds appro-prised to the hospital. This year Bailey County will be receiving $73,486, of which none has been appropriated at this time.

The Civic Agriculture Center Committee has received $50,000 in revenue sharing funds and the county has purchased some land with part of the money.

The Civic Agriculture Center Committee was informed of the hospital's plans so they could better plan their drive for funds.

Judge Glen Williams pointed out that there is only two and a half more years left on the Revenue Sharing Program including the coming entitlement period.

Rev. Hunter stated that one doctor has already committed himself to move back to Muleshoe and set up a practice here. Other doctors are being contacted at the present time.

The major problem of the hospital is settling the indebtedness of the present hospital. The hospital is presently in debt for about $200,000, and is paying interest on this amount.

The interest has just risen as the prime rate has jumped to 11 percent and the hospital has to pay one percent over the present prime rate on their loan.

The commissioners court has until the latter part of June to program Revenue Sharing Funds. No definite plan of action was taken at the meeting.

After the meeting Monday it was learned that the Citizens Committee is making an appeal for someone or some persons to loan the hospital the $200,000 to pay off the hospital's indebtedness. The Citizens Committee would like to have the loan at six or seven percent interest or less if possible. This would be a loan, not a donation.

Prices being paid to the farmers in the Coastal Bend South Texas and Rio Grande Valley will be reported on a daily basis during the harvest season. During the rest of the year farm level prices from other sections of the state will

Llano Estacado has participated in many things this year. They worked with other organizations here in Muleshoe to bring the civic center to the attention of the public. During the fall, they held a very successful fall project, making enough money to cover last year's expenses and have this coming year financially started. The Llano Estacado Civic Club was asked for the second year to coordinate the annual Christmas parade by the B.A.C. of the Chamber of Commerce. Also, during the Christmas season they donated their time and goods to helping with Santa's helpers, Llano Estacado and the Young Homemakers of Muleshoe worked together in conjunction with the library to bring the pre-schooler of Muleshoe an introduction to books through the Story Hour. The club was given the opportunity to decorate the Chamber of Commerce banquet with the Chamber's theme being "Do More in 74."

Part of the money that Llano Estacado made this year was set aside for some civic needs. They included (1) sending children to Kiwanis Camp in Lubbock, (2) donating to the Muleshoe Hospital fund, (3) buying children's chairs for the Muleshoe Library.

Llano Estacado feels it has had a very successful year and would like to thank all of the merchants of Muleshoe, KMUL, Muleshoe Journal, and the BAC for all their help and cooperation.

Market Report

College Station - Vegetable and poultry counters will offer "shopper savings" this week, one expert predicts.

Economical vegetables in good supply include cabbage, carrots, celery and new crop yellow onions, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A & M University System, reported.

Also, asparagus, radishes, green onions, lettuce, mustard, collard and turnip greens.

Turning to poultry counters, the specialist cited whole turkey, turkey parts and fryer chickens "among the most economical high-quality protein foods available."

"Fresh fruit items in good supply at economical prices are apples, oranges, bananas and grapefruit. Raisin supplies are moderate, and dried prunes should be ample."

At pork counters, values include hams, picnics, Boston butt roasts, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chops.

Home Gardens Boost Vegetable

With the rebirth of home vegetable gardens, many folks will be giving their taste buds a real treat as they enjoy the fruits of their labors this season.

Furthermore, a vegetable specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service believes that the increase in home gardening will be a boon to the fresh vegetable industry in Texas. He feels more consumers will be "turned on" by fresh produce after having experienced vegetable production themselves on a small scale.

"In recent years many consumers have gotten away from purchasing fresh produce and have gone more for canned, frozen and instant vegetables," points out Sam Cotner, "But the surge in home gardens should bring some turnabout in this trend.

Cotner believes that consumers now engaging in home vegetable production will have a much better appreciation for the vegetable industry. "They will realize that there are many problems associated with producing vegetables, the weather, insects and diseases, plus the costs and labor required and the high perishability of fresh vegetables."

According to the Texas A & M University System specialist, commercial vegetable production in Texas last year was valued at about $200 million, third in the nation. And he feels that the home gardening craze will increase consumer demand for more fresh vegetables after appetites have been whetted by those fresh vegetables produced in the back yard.

WASHINGTON REPORT BY

Lloyd Bentsen,

United States Senator

The world's greatest democracy may be on its way to becoming the world's greatest bureaucracy.

The small businessman, the farmer, the veteran, the elderly person on social security, all struggle along as best they can with the countless forms, directives and questionnaires of government agencies. All experience a growing inability to communicate with the faceless, nameless, computerized bureaucracy. Let me cite a few examples.

Small businesses - which are supposed to be encouraged by the government - are the target of 10 billion sheets of government forms and regulations every year - enough to fill the stands of 50 major league baseball parks.

Nowhere is bureaucratic indifference more in evidence than in the Veterans Administration. Recent delays and confusion in the payment of educational benefits are prime examples of this.

But, such things as unnecessary paperwork and indifference are not the only problems of bureaucracy. There is also evidence that many government agencies, such as the Pentagon, are top-heavy.

Our military personnel costs have increased by $22 billion a year over the past 10 years, despite the fact that the number of our personnel has been reduced by 400,000.

Those of us in positions of public trust must speak to the problems resulting from the mountains of government forms and paperwork, bureaucratic indifference, and top-heavy organization of federal agencies that is so prevalent today.

Last year, I introduced legislation to eliminate unnecessary paperwork required of businessmen by independent government regulatory agencies. I am happy to say, that legislation has now become law. And additional legislation is pending in Congress to eliminate unnecessary paper work required by other government agencies.

The malfunctioning Veterans Administration only reflects the indifference and insensitivity of its top management. Under pressure from the Veterans Affairs Committee, and from Congressman Olin Teague in particular, the Administrator is now stepping down. Congress must see to it that his successor is screened very carefully, and that the entire agency is upgraded.

The Defense Manpower Commission, established by legislation I introduced, has now launched a study of military personnel practices to determine whether the Pentagon is making the best use of its personnel. The 8 member Commission is charged with making its report within 18 months. And I am hopeful it will lead to improved personnel policies in the Pentagon.

We need to raise standards of job performance in our bureaucratic agencies and we must constantly strive to replace mediocrity with excellence.

Of course, this cannot be done overnight. But the process must begin. We must resolve that the ultimate result will be a better executive branch and a bureaucracy that is the servant rather than the master of the American people.

Voter Qualifications And Election Article Approved

Austin...Among the shortest of the Articles tentatively approved thus far for inclusion in the 1974 model Constitution, Voter Qualifications and Elections, is perhaps the most important. The article is devoted to the qualifications to be a voter and the conduct of elections. The article, as approved, would give automatic voting served their sentences -- with the Legislature given authority to deny those automatic voting rights. The Constitution of 1876 provides that convicted felons lose their right to vote, though the Legislature may make exceptions. The Legislature has delegated authority by statute to the Board of Pardons and Paroles to make recommendations to the Governor to restore an ex-felon's civil rights, including the right to vote. Though a mini-controversy erupted over restoration of voting rights in the 1974 model Constitution, the controversy is not a new one.

In 1875, Delegate W.T. G. Weaver of Cooke County sought to provide ex-felons the right to vote, although he stipulated such rights be reserved for white males only.

"The right of the voter should not be disenfranchised by reason of felony as much as in the inalienable right of every free man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness", Weaver said at the Convention 98 years ago.

And, in the 1974 Convention Delegate A.R. (Babe) Swartz of Galveston once again stumped for restoration of Ex-felon voting rights.

Schwartz served as Chairman of the Rights and Suffrage Committee in the 1974 Convention, Urging Delegate support of his proposal to place the restoration of rights in the new Constitution, Schwartz claimed "A vote for this amendment is a vote for all mankind."

"A vote for this amendment is a vote for the hope of human beings, that they can do better in the future than from what they have done wrong in the past. Man was given this right by the first Constitution of the United States", Schwartz said.

Another provision in the 1974 Voter Qualifications and Elections Article would permit the Legislature to require property ownership in elections held by political subdivisions and special districts for the issuance of bonds payable from property taxes and for authorizing the levying of property taxes.

The delegates made the use of secret ballots clear since the 1876 Constitution does not use the word secret. At issue during debate was the question whether to constitutionally prohibit any law which would require a ballot stub to be signed.

Convention Delegates at first supported unsigned ballots. But backed away from the issue after considerable argument that the "purity" of the ballot box against voter and election official abuse is best served by a signed ballot stub.

Ultimately the secret ballot without mention of its being signed or unsigned was adopted 95 - 68.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Jonson grass farm gets all twisted up in economic theories this, his letter indicates.

Dear editor:
A neighbor of mine who works all the time except when he's seeing a doctor about his ulcer brought me a newspaper clipping the other day and said, "Look at this."

The article reported on the plight of a young married couple which it said was typical of a lot of young people today. They're head over heels in debt despite the fact they make about $12,000 to $14,000 a year.

It went on to describe the situation. The couple needed a car so, not having any cash on hand, borrowed $500 from a loan company for the down payment and financed the rest in the regular way through the car dealer. They bought gas with credit cards, and when a bank sent them a new-style credit card, they used that to buy other things, like a TV set, etc.

Anyway, they soon found out their monthly installment payments were almost equal to the husband's pay check.

Now what interest me about this is the husband's notion of where the blame lies.

"I'll take 10 percent of the blame," he said, "but the stores and credit companies should take the rest because they never once turned me down even though they must have known I was bumping my credit ceiling."

This is the kind of economics theory I've been looking for all my life. Up to now, if you hadn't paid your bill at a store, the store blamed you, when all the time it was the store's fault. Instead of sending nasty letters the store should have been getting them.

What this is I guess is a domestic adoption of our international economics policy. Internationally you know we've lent billions and billions of dollars to foreign countries and when the money comes due, they've gotten madder and madder at us.

Everything is confusing. Right now we're trying to lend Egypt a lot of money to re-build the Suez canal and its bombed cities, and at the same time are lending Israel even more to replenish its military hardware which it used up fighting Egypt.

If my subscription to the Bailey County Journal is past due, you know who's at fault. Yours faithfully, J.A.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION --Egg prices skidding downward should make consumers happy this week, one authority predicts.

"Grade A, large-size eggs offer the best combination of quality and economy," according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Other economical poultry products are fryer chickens, with turkey parts.

"At beef counters, many markets are featuring round steaks and roasts, ground beef, chuck roasts, beef liver, and perhaps rump and rib roasts.

"Pork values include shoulder roasts and steaks, hams, picnics, end-cut loin roasts and chops and pork liver. Features may offer center chops, quarter-loin cut into chops--and some brands of bacon."

Fresh fruit and vegetables in good supply at economical prices are oranges, bananas, grapefruit and pineapple, the specialist said.

"Also, cabbage, carrots, broccoli, celery, mustard greens, dry yellow onions, green onions and radishes. Asparagus is available at moderate prices, and water melon supplies are heavier, but prices vary considerably. Since weather affects strawberry quality and price, select them carefully."

Turning to processed vegetables, Mrs. Clatt noted that supplies are "quite small and prices have slowly increased on many items. This trend is likely to continue, since processors probably will pay more for upcoming crops and increased packing costs."

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS:
If there's a seven cents--or more--price spread between egg sizes, the smaller size will give you more egg for the money.

Beef For The Home Freezer

College Station - Buying beef wholesale for storage in the home freezer can be a money saving experience, if it's done wisely.

Some guidelines are listed by Woodrow Bailey, livestock and meat specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"First of all, locate a reliable firm. The Better Business Bureau or Retail Credit Association can furnish information.

"Decide what cuts of beef your family likes and know how much you consume over a period of time. Beef will usually show some storage flavor after six months in a freezer."

For a family of six or more people that enjoys hamburgers, steaks and pot roasts, Bailey suggests buying a complete side of beef. "This will provide all the cuts you see displayed in a supermarket."

If broiled steaks are the family preference, a full loin may be the best purchase as it will yield only Sirloin, Porterhouse, T-bone and Club steaks.

For those favoring pot roasts a fore quarter would be in order. The Texas A & M University System specialist, "The price would be much less than a hind quarter and the amount of edible meat would be about the same."

Bailey also advises buying beef according to grades by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The "Choice" grade is best if steaks and roasts are to be broiled or dry roasted. Choice beef has more marbling (fat scattered throughout the lean).

It is more expensive. On the other hand, "Good" grade beef is suitable if steaks are pan fried and roasts are "pot roasted."

"If ungraded beef is bought, check the rib eye muscle for a liberal sprinkling of fat throughout the lean."

Cattle that have been grain fed provide the best beef for your money, contends Bailey. He advises against purchasing a calf for your freezer out of a pasture.

"When buying beef wholesale, be sure the meat is trimmed properly with only a minimum amount of fat. A Choice carcass should not have more than one-half inch of fat on the outside."

On Wall Street
By Bob Hill
Lentz, Newton & Co.

American investors have been bitten by the Goldbug and the result has been a wild scramble to "get in" on the modern day gold rush as the price of gold seems headed for $200 per ounce or higher. Gold is currently selling for $166 per ounce. That's down from a high of $180 a few months ago, but still quadruple the price three years ago. The only way Americans can participate in the gold boom is through gold coins, such as U.S. $20 gold pieces, Mexican 50 peso coins and British Sovereigns, or by purchasing shares of Canadian, South African and U.S. mining companies. Ownership of gold by Americans is still outlawed, but we may see a change in this after the June International Monetary Conference. The new Secretary of the Treasury, William Simon, is in favor of gold ownership by Americans. However, the timing of the move is vital so as not to upset international monetary conditions. The big profits in gold were made in the past 36 months, but prospects for a continued rise in the price of gold are getting dimmer for several reasons. 1. The supply of gold is controlled by a very small group of producers. Of the total free world gold produced in 1973 South Africa produced 76.9%

Canada 5.4% and the U.S. 3.2%. Therefore, the price of gold is what the South Africans want it to be. 2. Gold in the hands of governments is no longer used to settle payments deficits. Gold will not return as a base for money because the economic discipline of gold is too harsh. So if gold is no longer necessary to finance international trade, then there would be over a period of time a real incentive on the part of some governments to dispose of their gold. 3. Gold fever hits the greatest intensity when political and economic conditions are unstable. A period of international calm and prosperity will remove much of the need to flee from currency to gold. 4. The price of gold has risen far above the price at which it should be selling due to inflation. Dollar prices have tripled in the 45 years since 1929 and they have quadrupled in the 41 years since 1933. If you apply those multiples to the price of gold in 1929 and 1933, you will have a range of $60 to $140 per ounce. Additionally, gold has been a poor inflation hedge over the years, especially from 1935 to 1971. If you haven't noticed, there is a church near where you are welcome.

The Giant

The skyline of New York, our largest city, is familiar to everyone. New York has buildings unmatched anywhere in the world, and also leads the nation in many industries. This great city typifies the success and abundance throughout our nation. God has blessed our nation.

ATTEND CHURCH

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

COTTON, STILL the Number 1 crop in Texas, brought in a total of $1,056,000,000 in 1973 from 4,673,000 bales, compared to $469,000,000 from 4,246,000 bales in 1972. The figures are from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service which said that total United States production in 1973 was 12,958,000 bales, compared to 13,704,100 bales in 1972. Lint cotton averaged 47.10 cents a pound in 1973, compared to 23 cents in 1972, and cottonseed brought an average of $94 a ton, compared to $48.60 in 1972.

TEXAS' 1973 cotton production was from 5,200,000 acres, which gives Texas a record 431 pounds of lint per acre, but below the 519 pounds national average. Arizona had the highest yield per acre with 1,063 pounds of lint, followed by California with 891 pounds, Mississippi with 845 pounds per acre. Mississippi was second to Texas in total production, with 1,800,000 bales, followed by California with 1,749,000 and Arkansas with 1,041,000 bales. Texas produced about 40 per cent of the nation's total cotton.

Cases were found in the following counties: Webb, Duval, Zapata, Starr, LaSalle, Dimmitt, Hidalgo, Live Oak, Kenedy, Jim Wells, Jim Hogg, Zavala, Dewitt, Kinney, San Patricio, Cameron, Goliad, Atascosa, Medina, Bee, Karnes, Victoria, Brooks, Willacy, Guadalupe, Wilson, Frio, Presidio, Real, Gillespie, Pecos, Terrell, Val Verde, Llano, Concho, Coleman, Bastrop, Fayette, Gonzales, Jackson, McMullen, Kleberg, Crockett, Kimble, Kerr, Kendall, and Comal.

PARITY RATIO is reported to have dropped seven per cent during the month ending April 15, hitting 83 per cent. Prices paid farmers went down on many commodities, including cattle, eggs, corn, wheat, hogs, soybeans, rice, rye, and prices on cotton went up three cents a pound and on potatoes 73 cents a hundred. Wheat prices dropped almost a dollar, to $3.98 a bushel, which was 103 per cent of parity, but the price was still declining at last report. Texas wheat crop, plagued by drought, was estimated to be 69,300,000 bushels, compared to 98,600,000 bushels from the previous crop. Recent rains came to late to save the wheat in North and West Texas.

HARVEST OF peaches in South Texas and in the Hill Country is underway, with the crop expected to be about the same as last season when 312,500 bushels were picked. North and East Texas peach growers suffered the most damage from last winter's freezes, but the Hill Country reports almost no damage from cold weather, and the crop is expected to be around 75,000 bushels in that area slightly above the 1973 crop.

PLANTING OF grain sorghums was almost half complete in Texas at the end of the first week of May, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Rice seeding is almost complete, peanut planting is not quite a fourth complete, corn planting is nearing completion, and soybean planting is getting underway in some areas of the Upper Gulf Coast and in East Texas. Cotton planting, about a third complete, is running ahead of last year. The 1974 pecan crop is reported as looking "promising."

The Consumer Alert by John L. Hill Attorney General

Our Consumer Protection Division received several reports from other states about some deceptive practices regarding the sale of meat by bulk meat dealers. Some of the described tactics were observed in Texas during last year's meat price crisis and they could turn up again. One tactic complained of in other states is the "bait and switch" technique, in which consumers are drawn to a store by low advertised prices. When they respond to the ad, the seller shows them very fat, old or generally unattractive beef. The consumer then is shown better looking beef and urged to buy it at much higher prices. Many people do not know that the U.S. Department of Agriculture requires that all meat be coded as to freshness. Some bulk meat dealers sell meat by "handing weight," without explaining that the term refers to the entire side of an animal, including all fat and bones. Consumers should find out what the cost per pound is for take-home meat after trimming and boning. Sometimes edible meat may amount to only half the handling weight, so you would be paying twice as much as the advertised price for the meat you can eat. If you're buying from a bulk meat supplier you've never traded with, it is a good idea to watch while the meat is trimmed, cut, and packaged, to make sure what you paid for is what you will be taking home. Reports from other states indicate that dishonest dealers sometimes switch meat orders on customers. In most of our columns, like today's, we concentrate on alerting the consumer to deceptive trade practices such as these that he should be on guard against.

cent of the nation's supermarkets within a few months. These standards reduce the number of meat names by more than two thirds, to around 315.

They require that each label on packages of meat in supermarkets identify the kind of meat, the wholesale cut that tells what part of the animal the meat is from, and the retail cut that consumers buy.

So you might find that the "Pike Peak" roast you've been buying for years may soon be more accurately labeled as "Beef Chuck--Under Blade Pot roast". But locally popular names such as "Pike Peak" can also be included on the label, in addition to the required information, says the NLSMB. This will enable people to find their favorite cut under the new labeling system.

The committee also recommended that all hamburger be called "ground beef," that is percentage of lean to fat be shown, that only skeletal beef meat be used in it, and that an optional descriptive name, (such as "Chuck" or "Sirloin") could be included on the label. A complete label might be "Ground Beef Chuck --- Not less than 75% Lean."

Although these meat labeling standards are not mandatory, the NLSMB expects that they will be adopted by a large majority of meat suppliers.

This voluntary self-regulation by an industry is a good example on the business sector itself recognizing an area of consumer confusion and moving to remedy the situation.

If you should have a consumer problem with a business or individual, try first to talk it over. Then if the problem persists, consult our Consumer Protection Division, your local Better Business Bureau, or your county or district attorney.

February Cotton Exports Highest In U.S. Since 1960

Cotton Exports: USDA reports that during the August 1973 to March 1974 period, there were 3,625,000 running bales of cotton exported. This is the largest for any corresponding 8 months period since the 1963-64 season. Exports in the same 8 months last season were 3,075,000 running bales.

USDA reports that there is a total of 2,812,000 running bales of upland cotton sold for export during the 1973-74 marketing year, and, are undelivered, as of April 14, 1974.

U.S. raw cotton exports totaled 598,000 running bales in February, bringing the cumulative total for the first 7 months of the 1973-74 season to 2.8 million. February exports were the highest monthly total this season, representing the highest February movement since 1960-61, when 845,000 bales were exported. The current 7 month cumulative total represents an increase of 18 percent over the same period last year and is the highest August February total since 1966-67, when million bales were ex-

Airport Grants Made By Aeronautics Comm.

The Texas Aeronautics Commission voted 4 - 2 Monday (May 13) to grant a temporary certificate to Metroflight Airlines to serve a route between Tyler, Longview and the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport. The Commission had voted at its April 4 meeting to award the route to Metro, but petitions for rehearing were filed by Texas International, which presently serves the market, and Rio Airways. At its Monday meeting, the Commission granted Rio and TI a motion to rehear the question based on questions raised at the previous meeting and on new information available since the opening of the D/FW Airport. A date for the rehearing has not been set. The temporary certificate granted to Metro may be revoked by the Commission at any time.

In another action, the Commissioners directed the staff to investigate reports that Jetstream Commuter Airlines apparently intends to begin service between Waco and Dallas Love Field enroute to Oklahoma City. The airline has not applied to the Commission for a certificate to serve this intrastate route. All intrastate air carriers are regulated by the Commission and must have its prior approval before beginning new service.

Upon a recommendation from Rex White of the Attorney General's Office, the Commission adopted a minute order restricting TAC-regulated carriers from furnishing any free or reduced rate transportation to any public servant as the term is defined by state law.

In other action the Commission:

- approved a request from the City of Texarkana for $15,000 which together with local and FAA Funds will make up $166,000 to install taxiway lights and provide runway markings.

- moved to increase a previously approved grant to the City of Terrell from $35,000 to $50,000 for reconstruction of the main runway and taxiways and to construct an additional aircraft apron. This joint FAA TAC project will cost a total of approximately $378,000.

FISHING ZONE URGED

Representative Benjamin A. Gilman (R-NY) has asked that a 200-mile fishing zone in the oceans off America be established to prevent the United States from being robbed of its rich supply of seafood.

GAS RESERVE TAP

The Federal Energy office ordered the tapping of some 11.1 million barrels of gasoline from inventories to increase the nation's average daily supply in April.

ported. February shipments to European destinations totaled 112,000 bales and accounted for 19 percent of the monthly total. This reflects a reduction of 23 percent from levels reached in February 1973, when shipments to European destinations totaled 145,000 bales and accounted for 28 percent of the monthly total. Except for Greece and Romania, most European destinations registered declines. February exports to major European destinations were as follows in 1,000 bales, (1973 figures in parentheses): Romania 37.2 (17.6), Italy 15.9 (30.6), France 9.4 (23.3), Poland 8.1 (10.4), Greece 7.8 (1.6), Switzerland 7.7 (9.0), West Germany 7.7 (24.7), the United Kingdom 6.9 (13.2), Sweden 3.7 (4.1) and Portugal 3.6 (0). Exports to non-European destinations in February totaled 486,000 bales, up 27 percent from the same month last year. Again this month, export levels were mixed among destinations. Substantial increases in shipments to Malaysia (up 174 percent), Taiwan (up 60 percent), Hong Kong (up 53 percent), and Japan (up 31 percent), were accompanied by declines in most other major markets ranging between 3 percent (South Vietnam) and 94 percent (Chile).

Savings Bonds 33 Years Old

On May 1, U.S. Savings Bonds will be 33 years old. Although just now approaching "Middle age", the Savings Bonds of Uncle Sam have already registered a number of notable achievements.

More than $168 billion worth have been bought since 1941. And, since 1945, purchases have averaged 5 billion a year.

Today, more than 9.5 million Americans, at work in factories, offices, stores, in banks and at building sites, buy Series E Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan. They are bought to help pay for rainy days, vacation days, retirement days. They average $383 per year in Bond Savings. Payroll Savers purchase nearly 60 percent of the total amount sold. The number of employer units offering Payroll Savings exceed 40,000.

Many other citizens achieve regular savings by purchasing Bonds over the counter, or through the Bond A Month Plan, provided free of charge, to the Bond Buyer and the government, by more than 33,000 banks, savings and loan associations, and other financial institutions.

Grandparents, parents, aunts, uncles, cousins, friends, all buy individual Bonds across the counter for additional personal savings. And they know that "Gift Bonds" are always in season, always appropriate, no matter the occasion.

Those who buy (or are given) Bonds manage to hold onto them, more than $60 billion worth. Americans average $2,325 per family in holdings. And each year, they earn more than $2.5 billion in interest from their Bonds.

Savings Bonds now pay 6 percent interest, when held to maturity of 5 years for Series E Bonds; 10 for Series H. All outstanding Series E and H Savings Bonds are still drawing interest, with rates on older Bonds improved to make retention by their owners more attractive.

The government guarantees payment of principal and interest, and provides free replacement, as of original issue date, of any lost, stolen, mutilated or destroyed Bonds.

But the patriotism of Bond buyers and sellers; the financial security that Savings Bonds afford, these are far from being the sole factors behind the repeated success story of the Program through all the years of its existence.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Picketing Private Home

Henry's plan to open a tavern in a suburban neighborhood raised the hackles of nearby residents. One afternoon, several men showed up at his house with protest signs and began to picket.

Equally incensed, Henry went to court for an injunction against this "intrusion into my private life." At the hearing, the picketers insisted they were mainly exercising their right of free speech.

But the court sided with Henry and issued an injunction.

"The home is a retreat from outside affairs," said the judge. "When the right of free speech is weighed against the right to privacy, the balance favors the privacy of the home."

Courts generally have concurred in placing a high value on the home as a privileged sanctuary from strife.

Nevertheless, residential picketing has sometimes been allowed under special circumstances — such as the fact that the occupant of the house is a public official.

Thus, the picketing of a governor's home by a civil rights group was upheld in court. The judge said the picketers "had a legitimate right, protected by the Constitution, to appeal to those in authority for redress."

And the picketing of a landlord's home by disgruntled tenants was sustained on the ground that he had no other known headquarters where they could vent their feelings.

Of course, even if picketing itself is considered lawful, it may still be condemned because of the manner in which it is done.

In another case, the home of a hospital executive was subjected to mass picketing by boisterous marchers. Furthermore, they flaunted signs that were plainly libelous. This time, a court held the picketing unlawful.

"Conducted at a considerable distance from the hospital," said the judge, "in a residential area, it was apparently aimed to cause humiliation and mortification to (the victim) and his family. It represents a form of direct and unmitigated coercion, a foul blow."
