Churchill Promises Aid To China

Japs Will Be Driven From Chinese Soil

Washington, May 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill has informed Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek that "the day will come when we shall rejoice at feats of arms of the United Nations which will surely drive the Japanese invader from the soil of China."

The British leader was replying to a message of congratulation from the Chinese Generalissimo on the Allied Victory in Africa. His words served to underscore indications that he and President Roosevelt, in their war strategy conferences here, might be plotting new, massive blows at Japan.

At the same time, Churchill released a message from General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in chief in North Africa, giving "my assurance that this army will continue to pound until Hitlerism has been exterminated from the earth."

Further pointing up the possibility that the Prime Minister and President are charting action in the western Pacific area was the disclosure at the House that Churchill had held conferences of 30 minutes to an hour with T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister, who is now in the United States, and Herbert V. Evatt, Australian minister of external affairs.

In addition to parley with British and American military and naval staff members, the Prime Minister also has consulted with secretary of state Hull and president Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia during his current visit to Washington.

This was his message to Chiang Kai-Shek: "I send you warm thanks for your message of congratulation on the great Allied victory which has."

U. S. Official Declared Unfit

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today approved a subcommittee's recommendation finding Robert Morse Lovett, secretary of the Virgin Islands, unfit to hold a government office.

The full committee ordered Chairman Kerr (D-Ne.) of a subcommittee investigating government employees suspected of subversive affiliations to offer an amendment to a pending deficiency appropriation bill denying any funds for the payment of the salary of Lovett or of Dr. Goodwin B. Watson and Dr. William E. Dodd.

Lovett, Watson and Dodd were among the government employees accused by Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) of the house committee on un-American activities of having been affiliated with subversive organizations. The Kerr sub-committee was set up to investigate the three cases and those of more than a score of other employees named by Dies.

Observers Believe Hitler Will Try Spectacular Soviet Victory

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Adolf Hitler probably will make a desperate attempt to win some spectacular victory over Russia in the next few weeks, qualified authorities predicted today, in order to offset the loss of prestige and morale which Germany suffered as a result of the rout of her armies in North Africa.

This likelihood was regarded as posing a current and to some extent urgent problem for President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their military advisers, carrying their strategy conferences here into the third day.

All indications were, however, that the two leaders now are in virtual seclusion, going over their plans step by step.

It was in connection with the invasion of Europe that probable German reaction to the defeat in Tunisia assumed greatest significance. There are several things Hitler might try to bolster the confidence of his own people.

Government Asks 25 Per Cent Increase In Wheat Production

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Anticipating that the United States will be called on to ship large quantities of wheat to Europe in 1944, war food administrator Chester C. Davis plans to ask farmers for a sharp increase in winter acreage soon next fall.

Helium Output In Panhandle Plants Upped

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Operation of an increasingly greater number of lighter-than-air craft will require the full output of two Texas Panhandle helium plants and opening of four smaller plants in other states, it was disclosed during hearings on the navy department appropriation bill introduced today.

Capt. E. A. Cobey of the naval bureau of aeronautics said that the non-inflammable gas would be produced at the old Amarillo, Texas, plant and at the new plant being opened at Exell, near Amarillo.

Prisoners May Come To U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he assumed that quite a large number of the hordes of Axis prisoners captured in Tunisia would be brought to the United States.

However, he told a press conference, plans are not yet complete for sending them to this or any other country.

As for reports that German and Italian prisoners might be used for farm work in this country, Mr. Roosevelt said he thought it was better to take up first the problem of getting them out of Africa, which involves transportation, feeding and security.

"Hasn't there been a problem of ballast on ships coming home?" a reporter inquired.

The president said the prisoners were human beings and he didn't think we should call them ballast.

Another reporter raised the question whether any distinction is being made between Italian and German prisoners, and the chief executive remarked that maybe there is a safety factor involved in separating them from each other.

Allied Planes Raid Berlin, Ruhr Valley

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—Berlin, Czechoslovakia and the Ruhr valley of Germany were pounded in great strength by British bombers last night and the Berlin radio reported that four-engine American bombers had attacked the north German coastal area at noon today, extending the augmented Allied air offensive to nearly 48 hours of incessant assault.

The British lost 34 bombers last night in a swift, punishing sequel of the record punch at Germany's leading river port of Duisberg the night before. In daylight yesterday, American heavyweights bombed Meault and St. Omer.

Berlin's version of the north German bombings, recorded from radio reports by the Associated Press, was not confirmed from Eighth U. S. air force headquarters. The Germans claimed at least three bombers were destroyed in fierce air battles in which German fighters rose to challenge the raiders, which were beset also by medium and heavy flak.

Wilhelmshaven, Kiel and Emden have been frequent Allied air targets on the German north coast, but the Germans did not specify the fog-shrouded targets.

Christian Science Sunday Service

"Morals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 16.

The Golden Text is: "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh" (11 Corinthians 5:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality" (1 Corinthians 15:53).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "By putting off the old man with his deeds, mortals 'put on immortality'" (page 282).

Fishing On The Wrong Side of The Boat" will be the sermon subject of Rev. T. D. Sumrall at the Central Baptist church Sunday at eleven o'clock. This sermon will be a discussion of things often done by Christian people who are not in accord with the will of God.

At the evening hour the sermon theme will be "The Second Coming of Christ and the First Resurrection." This will be an evangelistic service with special emphasis toward the unsaved.

Mr. James E. Frost has plans made for special music for both services. You will enjoy the old songs of faith and love as you hear the congregation and choir sing them. A welcome will await you in both of these services.

Church To Have Jubilee Celebration

The building committee of the McCullough Memorial Methodist church is happy to announce the successful completion of its Debt-Raising Campaign. The campaign was carried on quietly among the membership of the church and was more than a success. The church building, started in 1942, is now free from debt. The Building Committee wishes to take this opportunity of thanking all who helped in this worthy effort.

In observance of the successful completion of this drive, a "Jubilee Celebration" is to be held at the church on Friday night, May 14th. The entire congregation, as well as many friends of the church, are expected to attend. A covered dish luncheon will be served. The public is invited to join in the celebration of this event and to share in the food, fun, and fellowship.

Zion Lutheran Sunday Program

"Be careful for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known unto God," will be the Scriptural basis of Rev. Wolter's 11 o'clock address this Sunday at Zion Lutheran church, in which message he wishes to remind every Christian that it doesn't make one bit of difference what your present position in life, nor how great and heavy the load may be which rests on you, if you will stop to pray to God in a spirit of thanksgiving, there will be so many blessings whereof you must think and for which you must give thanks to your heavenly Father that a spirit of joy will take the place of a spirit of sorrow, and a spirit of hope will replace helplessness and hopelessness.

At 7:45 p. m. Rev. Wolter will elaborate on "the truth that there is a warm, loving, cordial relationship between Jesus and the Father and the believers," as expressed in the Gospel of St. John 17, 1-8, which truth, the speaker will point out, should be not merely a theoretical truth, but a practical truth for each of us, so that it may bring to our hearts all the love God has intended for us.

Diseases Can Be Brought In Easily

AUSTIN, May 14 (AP)—Local health officers and private practitioners were urged today by the state department of health to be on the lookout for diseases brought into this country by persons returning from abroad.

"Increasing numbers of persons are traveling greater distances and returning to this state," Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said. "Travel by plane makes it possible for persons to travel nearly around the world during the time required for incubation of many diseases."

Mexican Movies Held In Demand

MEXICO CITY, May 14 (AP)—Mexico City soon will become the Hollywood of Latin America, Mario Moreno, popular Mexican comedian known as "Cantiflas," predicted upon his return from South America.

The actor said he was amazed at the acclaim with which Mexican-made motion pictures are being received in South and Central America.

Even the dogs in Texas are fighting for Uncle Sam. A half-dozen canines from Gray county are now on active duty as guardians of important military bases.

Business Becomes Realistic

The American business congress, through its Post-War economic planning committee, has put forth just about the most realistic analysis of the rehabilitation problem we have yet seen.

There will be about 20,000,000 demobilized soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardsmen, merchant mariners and war workers for whom industry and commerce must provide jobs.

The committee "by preponderant vote" believes that a job is due every man and woman who wants to work. This is the very essence of the American philosophy.

This war will end leaving a huge volume of civilian wants and needs. There will be an enormous reservoir of savings with which to pay for the things we haven't been able to buy for some time.

Business must take the leadership in solving problems created by these conditions. If government assumes that responsibility, then government will become business and we shall have state socialism in one form or other.

The New Deal reform program was made possible, these business men concede, because years business defaulted in its obligations to society.

A significant aspect of this report is that it comes, with virtual unanimity, from a heterogeneous committee that includes industrialists of national note, outstanding labor leaders, prominent newspapermen, leading merchants, active bankers, well-known educators and recognized farmer representatives.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW? (Times Herald, Washington, D.C.) (By Frank C. Waldrop)

History offers the best training for those who are to take part in public affairs.

If you like mysteries, crossword puzzles and such like brain teasers, then trouble yourself for a copy of Senate Document No. 26, of the Seventy-eighth Congress, First Session.

The material in this document has already been the cause of much screeching within the walls of American schools and colleges, and will be the cause of much more.

The whole thing originated in a survey of United States history in colleges and schools by the New York Times. This is no hash of the survey, which was in itself a great and interesting story, and one with which you may entertain and test your own knowledge of history if you will get the above-mentioned Senate Document and try to answer the questions therein.

The purpose here is to wonder at the screeching that has followed publication in the Times of the survey's results.

Those results showed that U. S. college and school pupils don't know the history of their own country. And that is a terrible piece of news.

Your attention is called to the quotation from Polybius at the head of this column. Polybius, who lived from 201 to 120 B.C., was a Greek and one of the great thinkers of all time.

Senator Hendrik Shipstead, of Minnesota, who caused the printing and publication of the Senate document aforementioned, points out in a foreword to it that in the U.S.A. everybody takes part in public affairs, and, therefore, everybody needs training in the principles of sound government.

American citizens (except in the District of Columbia) vote on the holders of public office. Thus the power to manage the American nation's affairs is held by these voting citizens. The decisions and will of these voters eventually control the course of events of this nation.

Unless these voters know the history of the country they cannot know what experience and the disasters of previous generations have to tell us about how to decide on wise actions in the present day.

Common Ground

"I speak the gas-ward primer. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." —WALT WHITMAN.

DO THEY WANT COLLECTIVE FARMING?

If the Administration actually wants to have collective farming, as Russia has, it is adopting a subtle way of bringing it about. Of course, we must have food, but if the Administration makes ceiling prices on food products so low that the men can earn as much in four hours working on city jobs as they can working ten or twelve hours on the farm, we will not get production.

Then the government will have the excuse of taking over the farms and forcing labor to work on the farms producing food. But, of course, the government cannot produce food as cheaply as we can have it produced under the competitive, free enterprise system.

So, if we do not want collective farming, if we do not want a totalitarian state, we had better insist upon establishing parity prices on farming produce. Parity prices can be established more fairly by all the workers rather than by some bureau established by the government.

Every miracle of Nature is a challenge to us, who are created in God's own image, to measure up to His expectations of us. To love the Lord with complete heart, soul, and mind, is certainly to do His will, to refuse to compromise with principle, to do that which is right rather than what seems to be expedient.

Obeying the first Commandment, we search our own hearts, meditate, pause in association with God, live in an attitude of prayer so as to be guided, and thus become His true representatives in our daily living, unwilling to stoop to any cheapness.

Loving God and doing His will, we come to realize that He has placed a high value upon our souls and, by the simple law of cause and effect, we arrive at a high opinion (not conceit) of ourselves—so high an opinion that we are not willing for something sacred within us to be defiled.

How clear then that God asks that the "all" of man—his heart, soul, mind—respond in love to Him! Does not God demand that the perfect blend of all that feels, believes, and thinks in man be keyed to Him? It's a request for honesty of thinking and feeling, for complete love of Him whose love is too true to encourage our weakness...

Are we willing to pay the price for our convictions, to pay silently, perhaps, and bravely, to accept material loss, to stand alone often and be rebuked by the world? To shape the pattern of our lives by spiritual values rather than by materialistic glitter? Shall we sense inner victory even in heartbreak, in repeated failure, in heavy loss? Those who love God are not necessarily spared tragedy.

But finally, steered by Christ's presence in our hearts, we possess a pattern of integrity that can withstand any storm or temptation—we do not "sell out" for personal gain.

The chaotic condition of the world today is sufficient evidence that God's way has not been followed by man. There is no substitute for the first Commandment, but we have been guilty of experimenting with man-made schemes for a better world. As "night follows day," we understand and obey the other nine Commandments as a result of obeying the first, the foundation and corner stone of all that is good and right for this world.

A tragic error has been the assumption that we can arrive at a brotherhood of men apart from being loyal and obedient first to God. Overlook the first and greatest Commandment and we fail to get strength from on High; for only by contact with God can we learn to know ourselves and to love our neighbors as ourselves. Failure to recognize the importance of the first Commandment is not unlike buying a ticket for Coney Island when we really wish to go to Grand Canyon.

Consider, if you will, the stalwart boulders of strange and varying shapes in the area of the National Joshua Monument. Hear the wind furiously lashing at them. Feel the desert heat beating down relentlessly upon their surface. The massive boulders hearken not to the pressure, nor do they yield. True to the Master Architect, they remain a testimony of strength. Will it not be so with a people that loves the Lord with all its heart and soul and mind?

Japan Isn't Fooling

The Japanese spokesman who warned that his nation will give assistance to the Axis, when we invade Europe, was not kidding. He was merely talking ambiguously.

He did not mean that Nipponese infantry, tank units and flyers will fight side by side with Germans, Italians and satellite troops in all probability. What he undoubtedly meant was that the moment we cast the die in Europe, an ominous overcast of an invasion on which the fate of our civilization depends, Japan will strike vigorously and effectively in the Orient.

Her preparations are made, her striking forces are in position. The crisis of the war on both global fronts must be met simultaneously. This is no time for phony optimism. This is the time to recognize that the bloodiest days of this bloodiest war are just ahead, and to prepare ourselves accordingly.

GUESS WRONG AND PAY

When the WLB used itself unable to understand some of the terms of the latest executive order that enlarges the powers of James F. Byrnes it called upon the man who wrote the order to appear before the board and explain the order's provisions. But even the author of the order was unable to explain the meaning of some of its provisions.

Isn't it rather rough on American citizens to subject them to two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for violating an order that is not understood even by the man who wrote it? Wouldn't it be better to leave lawmaking to Congress, where protracted, and frequently tire-some, debate reveals most of the meaning of the law that is enacted?

TWO FIRST PRIZE WINNERS In Commandment Contest

This is the winner of the first prize in the greatest commandment contest as determined by the orthodox or revealed religion viewpoint.

THE FIRST COMMANDMENT

"Thou shalt love thy Lord with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind."

The meaning? Toward stately mountains I've often looked and sought the answer. More often the deep significance of the first and greatest Commandment has been revealed while I tarried with beauty, at evening, near the vast sea's edge, watching the sun gradually yield its fiery supremacy to those lesser lights, the moon and stars.

For somehow I have always known that just as the mountains, sea, sun, moon, and stars reflect individually and differently the glory of the Master Architect, so He commands me to go and do likewise, according to my talent and "light."

Every miracle of Nature is a challenge to us, who are created in God's own image, to measure up to His expectations of us. To love the Lord with complete heart, soul, and mind, is certainly to do His will, to refuse to compromise with principle, to do that which is right rather than what seems to be expedient.

Obeying the first Commandment, we search our own hearts, meditate, pause in association with God, live in an attitude of prayer so as to be guided, and thus become His true representatives in our daily living, unwilling to stoop to any cheapness.

Loving God and doing His will, we come to realize that He has placed a high value upon our souls and, by the simple law of cause and effect, we arrive at a high opinion (not conceit) of ourselves—so high an opinion that we are not willing for something sacred within us to be defiled.

Does not God demand that the perfect blend of all that feels, believes, and thinks in man be keyed to Him? It's a request for honesty of thinking and feeling, for complete love of Him whose love is too true to encourage our weakness...

Are we willing to pay the price for our convictions, to pay silently, perhaps, and bravely, to accept material loss, to stand alone often and be rebuked by the world? To shape the pattern of our lives by spiritual values rather than by materialistic glitter? Shall we sense inner victory even in heartbreak, in repeated failure, in heavy loss? Those who love God are not necessarily spared tragedy.

But finally, steered by Christ's presence in our hearts, we possess a pattern of integrity that can withstand any storm or temptation—we do not "sell out" for personal gain.

The chaotic condition of the world today is sufficient evidence that God's way has not been followed by man. There is no substitute for the first Commandment, but we have been guilty of experimenting with man-made schemes for a better world. True to the Master Architect, they remain a testimony of strength. Will it not be so with a people that loves the Lord with all its heart and soul and mind?

And unless we know what is good for our own country, how can we know what is good for the world?

But all the wisdom in that line of thought has been tossed overboard by our school and college teachers in the past 20 years. They have neglected history in order to pursue their mania for what they call "social science."

Read the Senate Document if you want to see the sickening first consequences. And get busy learning and teaching honest U. S. history if you want to see this Republic live on with a government controlled by the people.

Only by knowing why and how our ancestors gave us the present Constitutional form of government for the U. S. can we know what tricks may be played against us, and how to defeat those tricks.

Referring to Democratic suggestions that the chief executive would weaken his power both now and in the postwar era if he bowed himself out of the political scene, Mr. Spangler remarked: "It is absurd to say that for Mr. Roosevelt to remove himself as a candidate would lessen his effectiveness."

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

SWAPPING: The rapprochement of Tokyo and Chungking in border line areas along the fighting front in Asia has aroused deep concern among top-flight members of the board of economic warfare. Although it is only a commercial expedient as yet, Washington worries lest it mark a preliminary move toward a general Far Eastern understanding among the embattled Orientals.

For years the Chinese and Japanese in these twilight zones have engaged in large-scale smuggling that was winked at by the helpless local authorities. Chiang Kai-shek's people needed such consumer goods as finished textiles, salt, matches and packaged food. They once obtained these materials over the Burma road, but when that route was blocked they had to turn to the enemy as a source of supply. In return, they permitted two valuable industrial items, tungsten and tung oil, to filter through to Hirohito's factories.

This quid pro quo arrangement was conducted under cover until recently. Then, recognizing a condition which they could neither prevent nor correct, the two belligerent governments made it legitimate. Our ally hopes to restrict the trade so that the Land of the Rising Sun will not benefit too much from the exchange but BEWERS doubt whether it can be held to peacetime proportions.

This is the winner of the first prize in the greatest commandment contest as determined by the judges with the viewpoint of the religion of nature as contrasted to a revealed religion.

THE GREATEST COMMANDMENT

It was in connection with one of the strangest incidents in His ministry that Jesus made His memorable statement about the first commandment. He had just cleansed the Temple, and the angry leaders of the Synagogue plotted as to how His influence with the people might be broken so He could safely be put to death.

According to the Gospel of Matthew, three traps were laid in the form of catch-questions. Jesus had just escaped the first trap set by the Sadducees when a Pharisee sought to catch him by asking a simple question which any Jew, even a school-boy, should have been able to answer. "Rabbi, which is the greatest commandment in the Law?"

The fact that an intelligent Pharisee should hope to betray one of Jesus' spiritual insight into apparent blasphemy with such a question is almost unbelievable. It can only be explained on the grounds that Jesus had been laying so much stress upon loving, active kindness to man that a great many people were convinced that either He placed love of man ahead of love of God, or else He would do what many reformers have done. In His aversion to the pious but empty phrases of the Scribes and Pharisees, He would stress the love of man at the expense of the love of God which Hebrew ritual already exalted so greatly but ineffectually.

With that disarming comprehension which was so characteristic of Himself, however, Jesus turned to the Pharisees with these implications thrown about the gospel's brief words, "Good friends, I agree with you. We all agree with you. Even as the priests and prophets all have proclaimed, the greatest commandment is this, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.' But what does this mean? He who so loves God must love what God loves, and strive to realize what God wants among men. God wants a kingdom among men—a kingdom in which men live as brothers and confess God as their common Father in Heaven. Hence, really to love God reveals the second commandment which alone gives a meaning my Father can approve to the first, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

Many men have sought to find impersonal laws in the first commandment governing man's relation to God. It cannot be done. The chief thing about any man is the character of his will or purpose. For Jesus, the chief thing about God is the character of His will or purpose. Thus the very indifference of nature which rains on the evil and the good alike (Mt. 5:45) and which has led some men to atheism only led Jesus to affirm the universal and redemptive goodness of God's purpose. Consequently he who loves God with all his heart must love and seek God's objective, a Kingdom of people who strive for the mutual advantage of all. He who loves God with all his soul permits himself to be identified with God's redemptive and healing work in the world. He who loves God with all his mind sees the vision of Good triumphant over complacency and sin through self-sacrifice and the cross, and he works to make the vision true as the "Father worketh hitherto."

Through the years men have sought to reduce the Way to a theology of words. It is the spirit of Jesus' reply to the Pharisees which should remind us that while the author of the Fourth Gospel gave us the beloved words in John 3:16, the same writer gave us also the words of I John 3:16-18. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Wherefore, we know what love is "because He laid down His life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for our brethren (if and when that may be necessary). But if any one has this world's goods and sees that his brother is in need, and yet closes his heart against him—how can love of God continue in him? Dear children, let us not love in word only and with the lips, but in deed and truth."

Apparently, it is fairly well agreed that the same author wrote "The Gospel of John" and "I John."

Cl. John 3:16, and I John 3:16b-18. The translation is partly the author's and partly from Weymouth, New Testament in Modern Speech.

Plan To Save Baby Chicks

By PETER EDWARDS Pampa News Washington Correspondent

ONE of the government's latest ideas to help win the war, complete with a "collaborator" in charge instead of a mere "coordinator" and with a lot of other four-dollar words thrown in for good measure, is a program to decrease the infant mortality of chickens. Don't laugh. This is the slaughter of baby pigs program in reverse and it makes sense.

While you go your carefree way about your daily affairs, all unbeknownst and without ever a tear shed in their memory, millions of baby chicks die every day. Even poultrymen are hardened to this terrible loss of chicken life, figuring philosophically that this is just prodigal Mother Nature's rough way, and nothing much could be done about it. Some of these baby chicks just stare to death because they never learn to eat. Others get germy bugs, parasites, worms and die horrible deaths of polysyllabic diseases.

Some of the poultry specialists at the Department of Agriculture got to worrying about this, as a factor contributing to the food shortage. Sharpening their pencils, they figured that if the present terrible infant mortality rates among baby chicks could be reduced just 5 per cent, and if these chicks could be raised to maturity, there might be 100 million more pounds of chicken on to eat, and 200 million dozen more eggs to fry. Reducing this to a per capita basis, it would mean from three to four more chicken dinners and over a dozen more eggs for every man, woman and child in the country per year. Considering the meat scarcity, that's something.

HYGIENE FOR CHICKS

THE result is this new government program to do something constructive about lengthening the lives of all these poor little baby chicks. John R. Mohler, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, has picked a nice-looking young feller named Cliff D. Carpenter—Dr. Carpenter, if you please—in charge of the campaign. Dr. Carpenter is what's known as a poultry pathologist and he also has to lug around the title of Collaborator in Poultry Viability. Viability means livability, so Dr. Carpenter's job really boils down to propagandizing poultry raisers into taking care of their sick chicks, nursing them to health and useful lives as fine young cockerels and laying hens who will help beat Hitler because food will win the war.

If, in addition to or instead of a Victory garden, you are going in for a little plain or fancy poultry raising to eke out your food supplies in some of the steps proposed to decrease this chicken death rate. Some of them, like numbers six and seven, even sound all right to try on the chicken:

1. Buy only quality chicks. 2. Disinfect brooders and clean hen houses, and move to clean ground for each new brood. 3. Protect feed and water containers. 4. Use a deep, highly absorbent litter and change it frequently. 5. Utilize sunshine and green grass. 6. Protect from predatory animals. 7. Separate sexes at an early age. 8. Buy or bury dead chicks daily, and don't let them rot. 9. Get a good diagnosis. 10. Watch particularly for infections, bronchitis, round and tape worms and coccidiosis. This last is a microscopic parasite.

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP) — The Chicago Stock exchange, for the first time in history, has a feminine order clerk on the floor. She is Miss Jane Lee Davis, 22-year-old Northwestern University graduate. BABY PIG MORTALITY

WHAT this "Poultry Conservation for Victory" program, as it's called, aims to do is set the pace for the other food-animal industries. The infant mortality among baby pigs, for instance, is as high as it is for baby chicks. If more baby pigs could be brought to maturity, it would mean just that much more bacon and ham, spare-ribs, jowls and lard.

Incidentally, there being a shortage of stock i-ods, one of the aims of the Bureau of Animal Industry is to distribute tables to show pig-gery operators how to get the most pork for the least amount of food. There's more lean hog meat, say the experts, in three 200-pound pigs than there is in two 300-pound staffs and it takes less feed to raise the three 200-pounders than the two 300-pounders.

Leo Durocher, Frisch Battle for Honor of Being Thrown Out Most

Bums Whip Pirates In Hot Session

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball writers are running to keep track of whether Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers or Frank Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates gets put out of the most games this year.

At present their skirmish is tied, each having been banished once by an umpire this spring.

Frisch was a bad boy yesterday and got thrown out of the Pirates' pastime with the Dodgers along with his pitcher, Truett (Rip) Sewell, and first baseman Elbie Fletcher. With this central corps gone, it was hardly surprising that Pittsburgh finally was beaten 5-4 in the ninth inning on Joe Medwick's pinch single with the bases loaded.

Durocher was tossed out of a game at Boston a few days ago and fined $75 for impugning an umpire's dignity and Frisch presumably will receive a similar telegram from the office of League President Ford Frick today.

The other leading developments in the senior circuit yesterday was that the Philadelphia Phillies divided a doubleheader with the Cincinnati Reds and moved into the first division. Old St. Johnson pitched four-hit ball in the first game to win 2-1 as Early Naylor hit his third homer. Bert Hass also connected for the circuit for the Reds in the first game and Cincinnati captured the nightcap 3-1. Afterward the Phillies announced the purchase of catcher Babe Phelps from Pittsburgh.

A pinch home run with two on in the ninth inning by Dick Bartell gave the New York Giants a 7-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs after Carl Hubbell had failed to annex his 250th victory in his first start of the season.

In the American League all games went extra innings and the Washington Senators set down the Cleveland Indians 3-2 in 12 frames.

The Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit Tigers went into overtime for the second straight day and this time the A's won 2-1 in 13 when Dick Siebert singled home the deciding run.

The Boston Red Sox bounced out of their slump finally to stop the St. Louis Browns 5-4 in 12 stanzas.

Walsh Pitched Arm Off for Sox; He Was Greatest of Spitballers

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Edward A. Walsh had nothing but a fast ball when he climbed out of a Pennsylvania coal mine to attract attention on the sandlots. Big Ed's career wasn't good enough.

It was for this reason that Charley Somers of Cleveland and other major league owners were not interested in Big Moose Walsh after he had kicked around in the minors for a couple of years. The White Sox drafted him from Newark of the Eastern League for $750.

Young Walsh knew nothing of the spitball that was to make him feared and famous when he reported to Jimmy Callahan at Marlin Springs, Tex., in the spring of 1904.

He obtained the biggest break in his baseball life when he drew Elmer Stricklett as a roommate. Stricklett had been monkeying with the spitter for two seasons. He had picked it up on the Pacific coast from George Hildebrand, who was to come up as an American league umpire and who, strangely enough, was an outfielder.

Noticing Walsh's effectiveness with only speed and an unpronounced curve, Stricklett decided to experiment with the recruit.

Because Callahan and Fielder Jones had the hurling giants, Doc White, Nick Altrock, Frank Smith, and Frank Owens, Walsh, the Iron Man, got in no more than 20 games in his first two campaigns, winning 14.

SET FUNGO HITTING RECORD

But when Walsh helped pitch the World's Wonders to the pennant and hitless championship in 1906, no pitcher could break off a spitter quite like he did. He was the daddy of the saliva slingers.

Walsh stood six feet one, weighed 196 pounds, and was as handsome as he was well built.

He threw straight-overhand, had a lot of poise, fielded well. He was a formidable right-hand hitter.

He listed among his many accomplishments a fungo hitting record of 418 feet established in 1912 and which stood until 1929 when Babe Ruth hit one 447 feet.

Walsh pitched with Mike Ryba hitting superlative relief ball.

Big Ed Walsh

No right-hander had such a clever move to first base. He picked off many a runner.

Four out of five of Walsh's pitches were spitters. He had amazing control, could break the spitter exactly where he wanted to, usually around the knees. It would break either in or out. That was the only thing he could not call.

Walsh had many a thrill in 11 years with the Sox, but his biggest was striking out Napoleon Lajoie with the bases loaded, and two out in the ninth and the Sox leading, 3-2.

"Billy Sullivan called for a spitter," recalls Walsh, "but I knew a spitter was just what Lajoie expected. So I crossed Billy by shooting a fast ball right through the middle waist high. Lajoie was so dumfounded he didn't even take the bat off his shoulder."

"That didn't happen often—Lajoie being called out on strikes." Lajoie never got over striking out with the bat on his shoulder and losing that pennant for Cleveland.

That was the key game of the famous three-way race of 1908, and gave Detroit the flag by half a game.

WALSH STRIKEOUT KING

The pitching feats of Walsh would fill a book, and the most exciting chapter would be his narrowly missing hurling the White Sox to the pennant singlehanded that same year. Big Ed participated in 66 games, a modern record. He won 40, lost 15. He pitched 464 innings, or 52 complete games, a trifle more than one-third of the total number scheduled.

Walsh was the strikeout king of his time, 171 in 1905, 207 in '07, 269 in '08, 258 in '10, 255 in '11 and 254 in '12, his best years. He won 17 games in '06, 24 in '07, 40 in '08, 15 in '09, 18 in '10, 27 in '11 and a like number in '12.

Big Ed literally pitched his arm off for Charles A. Comiskey, for you see, he was not as effective in '09 as he was before and during his hurelcan efforts of '08, or in the following campaigns. Overwork no doubt shortened his career.

In the 464 innings he pitched in '08, he yielded only 343 hits and walked no more than 56.

He was in seven games in nine days in one stretch and wound it up by beating the Red Sox in both ends of a double-header.

Walsh fanned a dozen in shutting out the Cubs, 3-0, with two hits in '06, a World Series record until Howard Ehmke made it a baker's dozen for the Athletics against the same club in '20.

Big Ed finished in a no-hit performance against the Red Sox, Aug. 27, 1911.

During the heat of the memorable pennant fight of 1908, Big Ed Walsh struck out 15 and yielded Cleveland only four hits, yet was beaten, 1-0, as Addie Joss churned his perfect game.

Walsh and Sullivan was the White Sox' most famous battery.

Walsh sang and told a story better than he knew. He was one of the most genial of all the great men of sports.

Edward Armstrong Walsh was—and is—a grand character.

Rio Grande Tarpon Are Plentiful

BROWNSVILLE, May 14 (AP)—Texas Anglers have at last, after 25 years of fishing in it, discovered the merits of fishing for Tarpon in the Rio Grande.

One Angler recently landed eight Tarpon in a day, fishing from shore and using light casting tackle, a record for the river.

Anglers fishing in the international Tarpon rodeo here landed 44 Tarpon in one day, believed to be a new record for Texas.

Four Anglers, trolling and casting, had more than 150 strikes in a day, and landed eight Tarpon. They were using plugs and casting lures, and lost many lures, as well as many fish.

Three fishermen secured permission to catch a small boat in the international stream and troll, with the understanding that they would stay on the American side of the center line. This is the first time, so far as is known, that anyone has ever trolled in the Rio Grande except for a few hundred yards at the mouth of the river.

Putting their craft in the stream about eight miles up from the mouth, the Anglers started trolling down it. At a big bend, some three miles from their starting point, they encountered what they described as a "convention of Tarpon."

The fish were rolling and slashing at the surface constantly, and by the hundreds, with as many as six or eight big ones showing simultaneously.

Trained Horses, Elephants Are Show Features

Is the elephant or the horse, more intelligent? If a person wants to start an argument he should bring that question to Capt. Guilfoyle and Miss Hazel King of the Dailey Bros. circus, which is due to give afternoon and night performances in Pampa Thursday, May 20.

There are always interesting personalities around the three ring circus, such as the Dailey circus. A newspaper writer can always find basis for a good human interest story, founded on facts, with any tented city.

Capt. Guilfoyle, mentioned above, has only one arm, having been defeated in a battle with lions in Detroit, where he lost his right arm. He was a coach for Clyde Beatty for several years and worked behind the scenes in some wild animal movies. At present he is superintendent of the animals including the elephants in the Dailey circus.

On the debate regarding the comparative intellects of elephants and horses, Guilfoyle will argue long and loud for the elephant.

Miss Hazel King is acknowledged by all circus managers to be the queen of horsewomen in the circus field. She has been with all the big ones, and has always as managers say "written her own ticket," as to salary. She is the director of the horse show section of the Dailey circus. She trained them to do the most intricate of drills and marches and virtually loves every horse and pony. She is proud of the pinto and paint horses. She is ready to fight for the reputation of the horses as compared with those of the elephant. When the big circus family wants to be entertained by a heated argument, they launch the debate between these two popular personalities. The listeners generally conclude the debate a draw.

Capt. Guilfoyle and Miss King do agree that abuse and cruelty will not get a person anywhere with any kind of an animal. If a groom uses a hook too often on an elephant,

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Pops at Pep; Although Willie Pep, featherweight champion, New York model, still hasn't been liked by a guy his own size. Gilt managers can week to get in their challenges for week to get in their challenges for title bouts—Latest is Bobby Gleason, who offers Willie a $20,000 guarantee to fight Phil Terranova any time any place—"I haven't $20,000," Bobby admits, "but I have a man ready to pay Pep that much."

With Chalky Wright, Sal Bartolo, Pedro Hernandez and Lulu Costantino also after Pep, you'd almost think that maybe they "Zee some-things"—probably a $ sign.

LIGHT SNACK

Manager Charley Grimm of the Milwaukee Brewers isn't trying to tell Paul Erickson anything about pitching. He says he learned a lesson when Paul first tried out with the Chicago Cubs—Erickson worked in morning batting practice, Grimm recalls, then disappeared—a little later someone reported that a big fellow in a Cub uniform was in a Tavern across the street getting ready to work out on a glass of beer and a healthy order of pik knuckles and sauerkraut—ordered to return to the park, Paul asked in pained tones, "What kind of a ball club is this? Can't a guy take time off for lunch?"

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Syracuse U., which couldn't dig up enough men for spring football practice, plans to organize an all-guy band to play at games next fall—probably the league's playing tackles instead of tubas—looks as if the Pittsburgh Pirates might have made the best choice in the pro football draft. Word from Minneapolis is that several doctors have told Bill Dalry that he can't pass the army tests—the new sports editor of the York, Pa., Gazette and Daily is Thelma Crone, 19 years old and described as "an attractive blonde."

SERVIC DEPT.

Clint Castleberry, fresh star of the Georgia Tech backfield last fall, has been sent to Centre College instead of back to Tech to study military tactics—big Hugh Casey, former Dodger now pitching for the Norfolk naval air station, argues that Leo Durocher really isn't so lippy—"the just has one of those voices that carries well." It probably carried all the way to Norfolk when Casey pitched that no-hitter recently.

ALL-STAR GAME IN PHILLY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 1943 American-National league All-Star game is scheduled here for Tuesday, July 13, at Shibe park.

Guilfoyle is apt to use the took on the groom. If a groom mistreats one of her horses or ponies, Miss King is sure to give him a tongue lashing he will never forget.

After witnessing the Dailey circus, the reader may be able to decide which is more intelligent, horse or elephant.

Army, Air, Navy Staff College Is Established

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—A significant new move toward closer coordination of army, air and navy high commands was announced by Secretary of War Stimson in disclosing the establishment of a joint army and navy staff college.

The college will begin operations June 1, as an agency of the joint chiefs of staff, to train senior officers of the army, navy and marine corps "in all phases of joint or coordinated operations involving land, sea and air."

Stimson at the same time said the army needs $500,000 more WAACS, and I sincerely hope we will get them."

He reported that requests for the half million additional members of the women's army auxiliary corps had come from all branches of the service after the WAACS had demonstrated their ability, "devotion to duty and capable work."

Attributing the smashing Allied victory in Tunisia to the brilliant planning of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the superb execution of the plans in a perfect coordination of land, sea and air forces, Secretary Stimson predicted that "similar results can be secured elsewhere."

Reviewing the Tunisian operations at his press conference, Stimson cautioned that while the Allies have "won a campaign we have not won a war." He added, however, that the moral effect of the Axis collapse in North Africa would be felt through the Axis countries and the nations they have occupied.

Secretary of State Hull said the Allied victory in Tunisia "opens the way" to direct attack on other defenses of the enemy.

Hull made this assertion in a message to Prime Minister Emmanuel Tsouderos of the Greek government in Cairo, acknowledging Tsouderos' congratulations on the "brilliant action of the United States armed forces in North Africa."

Roosevelt Requests More War Housing

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt has asked congress for another $400,000,000 for war housing.

He said in letters to Vice President Wallace and Speaker Rayburn that some publicly-financed war housing construction is essential to meet a portion of the needs of 1,000,000 workers migrating to war centers during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Specifically he asked for a $400,000,000 increase in the authorization contained in the Lanham act, and said a substantial part of it would be returned in rents during the current emergency and in "realizations thereafter."

Fish Importers Seek More Gas

BROWNSVILLE, May 14 (AP)—Operators of fish truck fleets in this area, asserting they are bringing fish here from Mexico at twice the pre-war rate, are appealing to federal agencies for more gasoline.

Fish being hauled from Mexico now amount to 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 pounds a year, the operators said. They declared that gasoline sometimes is unavailable in northern Mexico, and that Mexican gasoline is a lower octane product and not satisfactory.

Around Hollywood
 BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
 It could happen only in Hollywood.
 For two years blond Georgia Carroll tried to convince movie makers she could sing. One studio promptly cast her as a dancer. Two other studios thought so little of her voice that, when she did have occasion to sing, she just mouthed the words and another girl's voice was dubbed in for hers.
 Then one night, driving home at 4 o'clock in the morning in a bus from an army camp show with Kay Kyser and his band, she joined in on a couple of choruses of "As Time Goes By." That did it.
 Today, Georgia Carroll, former No. 1 singer with Kay Kyser's orchestra, and there are a lot of red faces at M-G-M and RKO studios, where they wouldn't let her sing, but where she's now singing in new films starring the Old Professor. Also at Warner Bros. studio, where they thought she was a better dancer than a singer.
 A Hollywood singing teacher is a little puzzled, too.
 "The other day Georgia went to him and said she wanted to take some singing lessons. 'Fine,' said the singing teacher. 'Have you had any experience?' 'A little,' said Georgia. 'I sing with a band.'
 "Good," said the singing teacher.
 "What band?" replied Georgia. The singing teacher gulped and stammered. "You mean the Kyser in pictures, on the radio,—" Georgia smiled and said yes. The singing teacher said she doesn't need them, but Georgia Carroll is taking lessons just the same.

TALL STORY
 The saga of Georgia Carroll better she joined Kay Kyser's orchestra is quite a story, too. Two years ago, as a top New York model, she was brought to Hollywood to play Daisy Mae in the film version of the cartoon strip.
 "The producer took one look at me and said thanks and goodbye. They didn't realize," says Georgia. "I was so tall (five feet eight), I was taller than Little Abner."
 Georgia may be tall, but she's beautiful. Two weeks later she had no trouble landing a contract at the Warner Bros. studio.
 "And what a mistake that was," she says. "For a year I did nothing except publicity stunts.
 "After a year at Warners, Georgia was released and went to M-G-M for a couple of pictures, 'Daddy Was a Lady' and 'Glad to Be Here.' Then she started going along on camp shows with Kay Kyser and the other film players. She wore shorts and just stood on the stage and looked beautiful. And then came that bird home.
 MANHATTAN MODEL
 Georgia Carroll is the daughter of a Texas sheep raiser. Six years ago she graduated from high school and went to work as a model in a Dallas department store. One day Artist McClelland Barclay visited the store and picked her as the ideal magazine cover girl.
 "That did it," says Georgia. "The next summer I talked my mother and aunt into taking a vacation to New York. I didn't know anyone in New York and so I answered an ad for models in one of the newspapers. But it was a night club, and they wanted showgirls, not models. When someone asked me if I had any scars on my stomach, I knew it was time to leave."
 So Georgia left, and went to the John Powers model agency, and got a job. And it wasn't long before she became one of America's foremost magazine cover girls. And then Hollywood beckoned.
 But good things didn't start happening to Georgia Carroll until she sang "As Time Goes By" on a bus at 4 o'clock in the morning.

 WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Petroleum Administrator Ickes said today he is trying to get Price Administrator Brown to reconsider his refusal to grant a 35-cent average increase per barrel in crude oil prices. He will carry the case to Stabilization Director Byrnes, Ickes said, if Brown still refuses.
 As for Brown's suggestion that the government help finance the drilling of wildcat oil wells rather than grant the increase, Ickes said that a subsidy "could" increase production but that he was "unprepared to recommend it."

SERIAL STORY

Beth Carter, WAAC

BY LORETTE COOPER

THE STORY: Beth Carter, WAAC, and Major Brit Jackson have landed on the tiny island of the Pacific where his unit of the Coast Artillery Barrage Battalion is based. The duty of the Barrage Battalion is to protect military operations from enemy air attack. Beth is to assist her commanding officer in tracking down suspected information leaks. The officers' lounge is turned over to her for living quarters, since she is the only woman at the post.

COMPANY CHAPTER V MAJOR JACKSON had then studied her.

"I can't give you much information now, but if you'd care to take a stroll later, I'd like to talk to you. We could walk a few hundred yards to get the kinks out of our leg muscles."

"It's a date," she said, surprising herself with the informality of her tone. She caught herself, and resumed a military manner of speech. "Then, sir, I'll meet you at your office in half an hour."

The half hour was well employed refreshing herself. A last glance in the metal mirror which someone had thoughtfully hung on the wall of her room told her that she still was capable of making herself attractive. Not even a G. I. mirror could hide that.

She reached the meeting place on the minute, and Major Jackson was there. "Lieutenant Carter, it's time you and I held another truth session. Maybe if we did, it would smooth both our paths and save us a lot of embarrassment later."

"I'm glad you feel that way, sir," Beth said. "You don't need to say sir like that all the time," Major Jackson expostulated. "I'll treat you courteously and I know you'll treat me the same way."

"I'm a junior officer, Major, and I have every respect for your rank." It sounded so stiff and formal that it amused even Beth, who meant it most seriously.

"The major laughed. 'You girls certainly have a great time playing soldier, don't you?'" he asked.

Beth's laugh died away. She bit her lower lip—a very lovely lower lip, too—quite hard. She wanted to tell the major off, right then. She wanted to make him eat his words. He saw the look on her face.

"I ought to be ashamed of myself," he said. "Particularly after you turned out to be such a swell fighter on the trip out."

"You only said what a lot of people feel," she replied. "That's just it, I might as well tell you, not all the officers here are very keen about a WAAC being sent out, particularly to do a staff job."

"You're the only woman on the island. I'm the only officer other than yourself, on this island. Who knows the full truth as to why you are here? You're a girl, yet for military purposes you're not a woman; you're a fellow officer."

"I didn't know that, Major. I supposed that my position was set out as clearly as that of any other officer in any branch of the Army of the United States. I was taught that that was the beauty of Army Regulations—you always knew just where both you and the other fellow stood."

Beth Jackson laughed. "You've got me. Let's see how well you know regulations. What are you going to do the first time some young junior officer wants to call you Beth? And, by the way, are you going to continue this darned formality all the time with me? You know, out here in the theater of operations, we don't play that way. We leave that for the garrison soldiers—God bless them, and I'm not casting any slurs at them, either. If there's anything more aggravating than being a garrison soldier, it's being a desk soldier, and both of them pray night and day for a chance to go to the field. I know, because I've been all three kinds of a soldier at one time or another."

BETH did not know how to answer. Finally she said, "I'd find out the ground rules from my commanding officer."

"You're smarter than I gave you credit for being," Jackson said. "Well, the ground rules here are that military courtesy is observed, but not to any ridiculous extreme. We live in a very close area, so we salute when we meet for the first time during the day, and then don't salute any more unless there is a special reason. We're something like a submarine crew out here. You know, in a submarine discipline is, if anything, stricter than on a surface vessel; yet the unpractised eye would have a hard time recognizing rank."

"He paused. Then he continued. 'This lecture sums itself up to this,' he said. 'Unless it's very official and in front of a lot of people, call me Brit. And I'll call you Beth. You've proved yourself to me, and I hope I can to you.'"

"Thanks—" Just as she was about to say "Brit," she heard a woman's voice.

"Why, Brit darling, imagine finding you here."

Brit turned sharply, startled. So did Beth. Coming toward them down the hoveled path was a young woman in a gay afternoon dress, in strong contrast to the unformed population of the island.

Market Briebs. WALL STREET. NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—A number of odds-on favorites did relatively well in today's stock market competition but many leaders were left at the post or finished in the losing field.

The ticker tape lapsed from the start and traders for the full stretch were around 1,000,000 shares. It was the second full session this month that volume fell below the two-million mark.

Among bargains were Bethlehem, American Telephone, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, American Smelting, Dow Chemical and Oliver Farm. Resistant were N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Eastman Kodak, Warner Brothers, Texas Co. and Hoolworth.

Western Union and Postal Telegraph preferred jumped more than a point on the morning announcement of a merger agreement and were signed but both eventually retreated.

Bonds were mixed. Commodities slipped after a steady advance. At Chicago, wheat was off 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel. Cotton, in late transactions, was down 5 to 30 cents a bale.

Based at Dodge City army air field, flights of B-26 Marauders, the world's speediest medium bombing planes may soon be flying over the Pampa region and all areas within 300 miles of Dodge City.

Number of Marauders in the air at any time of day and night is being stepped up, increasing the chance of accident.

Col. Charles B. Oldfield, commanding officer of the Dodge City base, has asked Pampans to follow these rules in reporting a crash:

Anyone witnessing a Marauder two-engine bomber in difficulties, is requested to telephone Dodge City army air field immediately. The number is Dodge City 2000.

Four items of information should be given:

Exact location of the crash; extent of injury to the personnel; known; best route to proceed to the scene of the accident; name and address of person reporting crash.

Lubbock Paper Praises Work Of Judge Ewing

Judge W. R. Ewing of Pampa, 31st district judge and presiding judge of the ninth administrative judicial district, is lauded in an editorial that appeared in a recent issue of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

The editorial, titled "Good Judicial Neighbors," was in connection with a speech by Lubbock's district attorney, Burton S. Durkin.

Lubbock is in the 99th judicial district, has had no judge since January 1, as E. L. Pitts, former district judge was elected chief justice of the court of civil appeals of the seventh supreme judicial district.

Pitts made his campaign in the middle of his four-year term as district judge, and no one to succeed him has been appointed by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

As presiding judge of the district, it was Judge Ewing's responsibility to make special assignments to fill the vacancy as needed.

Judge C. D. Russell of the 64th district, Plainview, and Judge Altan B. Chapman, 110th, Floydada, have been those assigned.

"Cross-section remarks of the Lubbock bar stress both judges as gentlemen who are credits to their profession."

"Their agency has relieved a situation that was legally awkward to say the least—numerous cases having been on the 99th docket when the judgeship was vacated January 1, says the Lubbock editorial.

"They held terms of court at times even when their home district courts almost demanded their attention.

"In addition to appreciation for the efforts of Judges Russell and Chapman, the Lubbock bar also owes a debt of gratitude to Judge W. R. Ewing of Pampa, who presides over the ninth administrative judicial district.

"Judge Ewing has the responsibility of making special assignments and his good judgment has been amply proven by his appointments to the 99th court vacancy."

Citing the 99th court's record under the two assigned judges, the editorial lists 66 years in penitentiary sentences, seven years plus 50 in one sentence alone.

AMERICANS

Possession of Attu would give the American Aleutians command a weather observation station west of Kiska—a fact of supreme importance in the Aleutians where weather is the most constant single problem which airmen and seamen face. Heretofore the advantage has been with the Japanese because the weather moves from west to east and they knew what conditions would be when United States forces could not know.

Possession of Attu, provided it reduces the Japanese garrison on Kiska to impotence and puts American forces in position to knock out Kiska speedily, would afford an American base within 630 nautical miles of Japan's great base of Paramushiru which is at the northern end of the Kuriles island extending between Japan proper and Russia's Kamchatka peninsula.

If the Japanese have succeeded in carving an airbase out of Attu's mountainous landscape, American forces undoubtedly would devote full energies toward completing it as speedily as possible in order to bring Paramushiru in aerial bombardment.

merly of 1002 E. Francis, Pampa, now of Amarillo, has enrolled as an aviation cadet in the army air forces pre-flight school for pilots at Maxwell field, located on the outskirts of Montgomery, the capital of Alabama.

Cadet Frazee is a graduate of Pampa high school, former student of Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, before he enlisted in the army on June 25, 1942.

He worked as crew chief for the flying school at Midland, was an aircraft assembly mechanic before he was accepted, on April 12, 1943, at Richmond, Va., as an aviation cadet.

his big planes might reach on a suicide mission.

Another possibility would be to try to stage a few extremely heavy raids on London as evidence that the Luftwaffe still has the power to strike offensively.

The only place where the German army can strike is in Russia, and it is there that the blow is believed to be most likely to fall.

For the British and American commands this would appear to raise once more the question of commitments to give all possible help to Russia by attacking Germany's western European front.

The western Allies hold two threatening positions flanking the European continent and menacing Hitler's widely advertised continental fortress along several possible avenues of invasion from the Balkans to Finland.

Experts stress that so far the fortress is only menaced and the threat will not be converted into an active diversion of Nazi forces, so far as Russia is concerned, until the invasion actually begins to roll. Meanwhile if Hitler through the intelligence reports at his command can figure that he has several weeks in which to concentrate on Russia he is certain to employ greater strength there than would otherwise be possible.

Planes Superior To Men Who Fly

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP)—Development of airplanes, accelerated by the war, has made planes superior to the men who fly them, says a medical professor, and improvements in aviation await new methods of protecting the human machine.

Although the war has brought advances in medicine as well as in aviation, the nature of air fighting makes it impossible for fliers to benefit from many of the important medical improvements, said Dr. Henry T. Ricketts, assistant professor of medicine at the university of Chicago.

Most ailments due to flying, he said yesterday, in a lecture at the university, are the result either of low air pressure or lack of oxygen at high altitudes. He declared that the "ideal method of combatting them—the use of the sealed pressure cabin plane—has thus far been impractical in military flying." He explained the pressure mechanism and the sealing materials would add too much weight to a pursuit plane, and in bombers their added weight would reduce the bomb load.

The medical method of preventing "decompression sickness"—one of the ailments which is known as "bends"—which is impractical in military flying, Dr. Ricketts declared.

Yank Pilots Battle German-Made Stoves

McALLEN, May 14 (AP)—American airmen fighting the Germans in North Africa spent some of their idle moments on the ground literally fighting German stoves, says a Texan who saw action there.

He is First Lieut. Billy McGee, son of Mrs. Imogene McGee of McAllen and pilot of a B-25 Mitchell bomber. One of the strangest devices on the ground in Tunisia, he found, was a small and compact German-made stove which soldiers cten bought from Arab natives so they could do a bit of their own cooking when the urge struck them.

Shortly after they bought the stoves, however, the soldiers found they were hard to handle. They would often explode and Lieutenant McGee wrote that it was a common sight to see one "come sailing out of a tent" with the fliers inside battling wildly to smother the sparks it left behind.

The blasts never caused any real damage but happened often.

In this method, pure oxygen is breathed before the flight.

"One of the difficulties is that under combat conditions, in which interceptor planes must take off at a moment's notice, there is often insufficient time," he said.

First Childress Bombers Graduated

CHILDRESS, May 14 (AP)—You are destined to strike the blows that will bring airpower, once and for all, into its own as a weapon that is not just an auxiliary, but the mightiest weapon of them all," Brig. Gen. Isalah Davies, commanding general of the 34th flying training wing, yesterday told the first graduating class at the Childress Army Bomber school.

CAIRO, May 14 (AP)—British long-range fighters sank a small enemy sailing vessel and damaged at least five others in forays over the Aegean sea yesterday, a Middle East air communiqué announced today.

A harbor on the Green Island of Syros also was bombed and an enemy seaplane was shot down. All RAF planes were reported to have returned.

Innocent Pleas Entered By Oilmen

HOUSTON, May 14 (AP)—Attorneys for William A. McKee, Houston, and three other employees of Frank and George Frankel, oil producers, yesterday issued a categorical denial of the government charges that the men conspired to violate the Connally hot oil act.

McKee, W. R. Bradford, Steve Holland and C. R. Bolles posted bonds of $1,000 each with U. S. Commissioner W. F. Carothers. Charles I. Francis and William M. Bonner, attorneys for the defendants, declared that a Montgomery county grand jury had found no grounds for action against the four oil men after a similar inquiry held two years ago.
