Third of Jap Cargo Ships Are Destroyed

(By The Associated Press)
One-third of Japan's total merchant shipping, approximately 2,500,000 tons, has been destroyed, Secretary Knox announced today on the heels of a promise of devastating naval and aerial blows on the Japanese homeland.

Knox said the destruction of one of Japan's most vital war resources was chiefly accomplished by American submarines, although all United Nations sea and air forces have participated in the sinkings.

Can the men at Pampa Field who tame twin-engine planes in the sky as well in riding the broncs, bull-dogging and showing their skill on the ground in the contests at the Top O' Texas amateur rodeo to be held Saturday, Sunday, and Monday at Recreation park here?

That's the question Vance Rhea, arena director and showman, would like to see settled. Soldiers at the field, many of them from the East and North, have a treat coming

Connally Backs Powerful Navy

Senator Tom Connally declares he would never vote for the scrapping of a single American vessel following the present war.

There must be some form of difference between nations that cause wars," he asserted in a speech at Amarillo last night and "belligerent nations must be disarmed and placed under absolute submission for the peace of the world."

The senator voiced approval of an OPA order removing quota limitations for the slaughter of livestock as a means of increasing food supplies, and said the plan would wipe out the black market in beef and would bring relief for the bottleneck situation in the livestock and packing industry.

Col. E. O. Thompson of the Texas railroad commission, speaking at the same banquet of the petroleum situation, declared there is a definite oil shortage and "we are consuming oil five times as fast as it is being discovered."

Those attending the banquet from Pampa included S. D. Stennis, County Judge Sherman White, Dan C. Kennedy, Dan E. Williams, Joe Gayden, H. C. Coffee, Mel Davis, Ed J. Dunigan, Jr., Charlie Thomas, Ennis C. Favors, Walter E. Rogers, Irv E. Duncan, Floyd E. Imel, Jim McClintock, Frank Peek, Garnet Reeves, Mayor Fred Thompson.

Entire Axis Battle Line Is Threatened

LONDON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The German radio announced today that the Soviet army had launched a grand offensive in the central Donets basin area of south Russia early this morning.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, failed to locate more precisely the reported push. The Russians have been driving forward in this area for several days and yesterday announced important gains, including the capture of the cities of Voroshilov, Slavnyosersk and Lischansk.

The German announcement said that "since the early hour of today the expected Russian attack in the central Donets has been in full swing. The Russians employed hundreds of heavy artillery, batteries and fighter formations according to the principles of their well known attrition tactics. There are as yet no further details about the course of this new large-scale action."

The Germans meanwhile fell back before other Soviet drives that cut the main Nazi rail link between the central and southern sectors 150 miles from Kiev and crashed into the Smolensk defense perimeter for a gain of six miles.

Five Red armies were engaged in the gigantic Soviet offensive, which threatened the entire German battle line on the eastern front.

The speed of the Russian advance which already has cracked the enemy's 1941 invasion lines, indicating that the Germans were retreating along the whole southern front in an apparent attempt to get behind their Dnieper river defense system.

Russian generals were giving them no rest, throwing immense forces of men and motorized equipment into the offensive.

Capture of the Ukraine stronghold of Sumy, 90 miles northwest of Kharkov, by Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's command was announced personally by Marshal Stalin in an order of the day yesterday, while a communique told of the storming of Kirovets and Yampol on the important Bryansk-Kiev railway linking the southern and central fronts.

7th Army May Strike Elsewhere
LONDON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The London Star speculated today that the U. S. Seventh Army, not mentioned in the communique on the Italian invasion, had been "assigned a very important task."

In an article in the Star, General Sir Robert Gordon-Finlayson said, "we can be quite sure that the Seventh U. S. Army is destined by General Eisenhower to land somewhere in Italy very soon, but it is impossible yet to say where. The Seventh Army will have been assigned a very important task."

For several hours the London censoring halted dispatches quoting speculation appearing in London newspapers. Dispatches were released when the Germans drew the obvious conclusion that American forces might go into action later.

General Arnold Reaches London
LONDON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Arrival in London of Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. army air forces, a few hours before Allied troops landed on the Italian mainland today heightened speculation that he was here to effect a further coordination of ground and air forces for an anti-gated invasion of the continent from the British Isles.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Allied chiefs have worked out their war destiny so far in advance that the invasion of the Italian mainland scarcely stirred a ripple in official Washington—which at the moment includes Prime Minister Churchill.

TOE OF ITALY IS ATTACKED BY ALLIED ARMY

Allied forces were again battling the Axis on European soil today as the British Eighth Army invaded Italy's toe. German reports said the Allies had occupied both Sicily and Reggio Calabria.

Brenner Pass Bombed By U. S. Planes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 3.—(2:15 p. m., 7:15 a. m., Central War Time)—(AP)—British and Canadian troops, practiced veterans of Gen. Montgomery's Eighth Army, made landings in southern Italy today in the first of several expected invasions of Hitler's Europe.

Ten hours after they had swarmed across Messina Straits from Sicily in small boats, they were battling on the toe of Italy to establish a bridgehead.

The invasion force was supported by an armada of Allied cruisers, destroyers, monitors and gunboats hurling broadsides into the enemy's shore defenses and by great fleets of British and American planes which dumped tons of explosives on gun positions, trenches and the battered communications network behind them.

There still was no definite word of the degree of resistance, but it was certain the invaders had cut out a difficult task for themselves as the fighting was over rugged terrain, marked by crags and cliffs close to shore which lent themselves naturally to defense.

Before the swarm of small craft bobbed across the choppy waters in the pre-dawn offensive, powerful formations of flying fortresses struck mighty blows at Brenner Pass communications between Italy and Germany.

Thus once again Adolf Hitler's legions, which had boasted they held the continent secure, were being engaged on the European mainland.

The first of the invaders, British and Canadian contingents of General Montgomery's famed command, set foot on the Calabrian coast opposite eastern Sicily at 4:30 a. m. (8:30 p. m. Thursday, CWT).

The crossing of the Strait was made under cover of a moonless night. It entailed the moving of a

BRIDGEHEAD WON
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The British radio, quoting a report from the United Nations radio at Algiers, said British and Canadian troops "have established a bridgehead on the Calabrian coast" in Italy.

BRENNER PASS CUT
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 3.—(AP)—U. S. Flying Fortresses knocked out the vital railroad line from the Brenner Pass into Italy—the German highway for defense of the peninsula—yesterday in their deepest blow into Italy from North Africa.

APPEAL ISSUED
LONDON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The United Nations radio at Algiers broadcast a special appeal to the Italian people today asking them to welcome the Allied forces landing in Southern Italy "as liberators in the same fashion their forefathers welcomed Garibaldi."

OCCUPATION IS VAST
LONDON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The Italian communique, broadcast from Rome and recorded by the Associated Press, said today that the Allies had begun operations against the Calabrian coast of the Italian mainland "on a vast scale."

SABOTEURS HELP
MADRID, Sept. 3.—(AP)—A fortnight of sabotage by underground forces, aimed at communication lines, supply depots, repair shops and airfields, has helped pave the way for Allied invasion of continental Italy, according to reports reaching here.

MOONSHINE, 1943 STYLE
COLUMBIA, S. C.—"Got your ration ticket, mister?" "That's the question moonshiners are asking prospective customers these days, says S. S. Sligh, federal alcoholic tax unit investigator.

And here's why: Moonshiners must have sugar to ferment their liquor. Thus, no sugar, no liquor—no moonshiners.

Great U. S. Fleet Hits France

Public Offices To Close Monday

Pampa will join the rest of the nation in a salute to labor Monday. Closed for the entire day will be offices at the court house, city hall, and both banks.

Liberators Collide, Killing Seven Men

FORT WORTH, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Two four-engine B-24 Liberator bombers from Fort Worth Army Air Field collided early today at about 2,000 feet over Birdville, crashed two miles away and burned with the loss of seven men, three in one plane and four in the other.

Only three bodies were immediately recovered, all of them having been thrown from one plane which fell in a wheat field two miles east of Birdville, near here.

The Paris radio said in a broadcast that an "extensive raid" was made on the Paris region, adding that the main target was the left bank of the Seine.

The daylight attacks followed night blows by the RAF against Axis airfields and other targets in northern France and the Low Countries.

Air Cleared For Bond Broadcast

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(AP)—To clear the air for the all-star hour's broadcast next Wednesday night on the four networks as an inaugural for the third War Bond drive, in which President Roosevelt is to make a 10-minute talk, at least eight regularly scheduled programs are being set aside.

Pampa Postal Receipts Climb

Postal receipts in Pampa for July of this year showed a small increase over the same month in 1942. The University of Texas bureau of business research reported today in an Associated Press dispatch from Austin.

The Brenner Pass area, great armed force across the narrow arm of the sea, only two miles wide at its narrowest.

But even in the starlight outline of the mountains rising from the Italian toe could be seen from Sicily.

The American General Eisenhower was in supreme command of the historic operations. American planes and warships played a prominent role in the preparation and support of the landings.

While troop-laden barges churned across the narrow strait of Messina, artillery on Sicily thundered a heavy barrage against enemy gun positions, warships bombarded the beaches, and a big concentration of aircraft hovered protectively overhead.

Fleets of far-reaching Allied aircraft smashed at rail bottlenecks leading to Brenner Pass, the vital

Six Allied Armies Remain in Reserve Behind Famed Eighth Army

(By The Associated Press)
Britain's Eighth Army, about which a great military tradition has gathered in less than a year and which spearheaded the Allied invasion of the European mainland today, received its accolade from its equally famous commander, General Sir Bernard Law Montgomery—"Fighting Monty"—last April 10.

"I doubt," he said, "if our empire has ever possessed a fighting machine as the Eighth Army; you have made its name a household word all over the world."

The Eighth Army has varied from four to seven or eight divisions from 80,000 to 160,000 men, counting supporting and supply units.

For this first landing on the continent the Allied commander-in-chief, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, is using only one of his many armies, the one most fully tested in battle.

But along the African coast and Sicily it is known that he has at his disposal at least four other armies, including the American Seventh, commanded by Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., which made a record in the conquest of Sicily that caused able portions of both the naval and air forces.

The immediate commander in Italy, Montgomery, perhaps is the most picturesque general produced by World War Two.

Police Lieut. L. M. Carroll said the hotel manager discovered the error. Next day, Rutledge again registered at the hotel, and was brought to police headquarters to be given his $990 change.

It wasn't.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson Text: Leviticus 19:14; 11-18, 32-34
By WILLIAM D. WHEAT
WHEAT is the meaning of God's choice of an individual, or of a nation? Does God play favorites, giving special privileges and blessings that He withholds from others, arbitrarily selecting some, and with equal arbitrariness rejecting others?

In our lesson, as in the whole history of Israel, all that is made to count, is our own country and its people. We found the answer, With God, as the Bible later tells us, there is no respect of persons. The humble and lowly, because of their gentle goodness, may be more acceptable than the great and mighty who lack grace and goodness.

Note in our lesson in connection with God's choice of the first and most important thing is holiness. The people of Israel are not called to be God's favorites, but to be holy.

What does it mean to be holy? Conceptions of holiness have varied from time to time and from place to place. Some have thought of holiness as consisting in the keeping an observance of matters of ritual, in outward conformity to some cult. But note, in this ancient document, of what holiness is made to consist. Note, too, how essentially its elements are needed for a good national and social life today.

First of all is integrity and right relations within the family. "Ye shall fear every man his mother, and his father, but the meaning is plain. It means reverence and loving obligation on the part of both parents and children.

Is there any other basis for good family life, and can there be good social life if family life is neglected or ruined—as it is in all too many American homes? What is regarded for the Sabbath. We know what the Sabbath meant, and has meant, to devout Jews. World conditions have changed, and it would probably be impossible for all men to "keep the Sabbath" with the literalness that once was possible.

No Jew of His time could have been more devout than Jesus, yet He redefined those for whom the formal observance of the Sabbath had become of more importance than acts of mercy and healing, and the good of their fellowmen, that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

When my father was a young man one of his duties was to go to the dock of the canal that ran through the village where he was employed and receive freight from the boat that went through on Sunday. He was a very conscientious Methodist, scrupulously concerned about keeping the Sabbath faithfully. He concluded that this Sunday boat traffic was unnecessary, and decided that he would have nothing more to do with it. He anticipated being dismissed from his job, but the effect of his refusal was to end Sunday traffic on the canal. But that was away before the early horse-and-buggy days. If steamboats and trains in our present day world not to run on Sunday the loss would be incalculable and thousands in our large modern cities would suffer, or even starve.

Yet rest is a most important factor in life, and the disregard of it, the failure to provide for it, in contrast with the precept of the Jewish Sabbath, is a tragedy of our modern haste-mad world.

Beyond all this, holiness consists in the elemental factor of honesty, decency, and consideration for one's neighbors and fellowmen, without which no nation could be said to be the chosen of God.

Sunday Services

"Man" is the subject of the lesson—Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 5.

The Golden Text is: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace." (Psalms 37:37)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson—Sermon is the following from the Bible: "When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory."—(Colossians 3:4)

The Lesson—Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When spiritual being is understood in all its perfection, continuity, and might, then shall man be found in God's image."—(page 325)

"Faith" Is Subject

Of Rev. Sumrall On ## Sunday Morning

Rev. T. D. Sumrall, pastor of Central Baptist Church will speak Sunday at 11 o'clock on the combined words of Jesus on the subject of "Faith." The text will be: "Fear Ye Not—Have Faith in God."

"Too often we fail to find vital, active and living faith in God. Christians are distinguished by faith in God. Every Christian should be able to rest his anxieties, fears and cares in the will of God. Christians are too easily swept into the drifts of doubt and fear. This is a day of test and challenge. Christians should be an example to others. Hear this message for the strength of your faith in God," Rev. Sumrall said.

At the evening hour, eight o'clock, the sermon subject will be "The Dawning of Day." This will be the second sermon of a series on the general subject of the second coming of Christ. "The things we see, hear and feel in every day life indicate the approaching hour of the coming of our Lord. We are admonished by Him to watch and be ready. We invite every one who is interested in these subjects to attend services with us Sunday," said Rev. Sumrall.

Sunday school will function in every department with teachers and classes for one and all. Training Union will begin at 7 p. m. and a full attendance in all services is urged.

Another Cadet Class Arrives at Air Base

A new class of aviation cadets, 43-J, has arrived at Pampa Field and started to work in earnest on the last nine weeks of training to become pilots in Uncle Sam's growing air forces.

The students, who came here Tuesday night from basic flying schools at Garden City and Winfield, Kans., moved into barracks vacated by members of class 43-H, who were graduated Monday and left for transitional training.

Wednesday the new cadets were "processed," filled out questionnaires, met their tactical officers and supervisors, and had their Pampa training program outlined. Yesterday, at 1:30 p. m., they checked out flying equipment, met their flying instructors and had their initial twin-engine flying lessons.

Meanwhile, students of their upperclass, 43-I, were at the halfway mark in their training here. Four-and-a-half weeks from now they will be graduated and will either be assigned to combat or instructional training.

Utility Conservation Campaign Prepared

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The public was warned today that electric power, fuel, water, gas, telephone and telegraph facilities are being strained too far. A drive will start about Sept. 15 toward voluntary conservation.

The government and utilities will put on the campaign designed, a war production board spokesman said, to avert hardship. Some industrial areas already have been hit by shortages of these public services.

The advertising and promotion campaign will get its finishing touches today at a meeting of representatives of all the industries and the four government agencies concerned—WPB, interior department, office of defense transportation and the office of war information.

Officials said a nationwide dim-out to save electricity and other government controls—such as the rationing of coal—might become necessary.

O'Daniel Calls For Changes In Washington

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel left with Texas today a vehement recommendation for "a thorough house-cleaning in Washington."

In a radio speech here last night he said: "It is not good for the people to have a man serve too long in public office." His recommendations for a house-cleaning included constitutional amendments providing that members of the house of representatives, the president and vice president could serve only one term of six years.

O'Daniel denounced meat rationing as "pure unadulterated razzle-dazzle."

He recommended $40-monthly pensions for all 65 or over.

The senator, home for the congressional summer recess, suggested Amendment to the United States Constitution to include "guarantee of production to every man and woman in their right to work regardless of whether they are in or out of a union."

A constitutional amendment prohibiting any member of congress or the judiciary during his term of office or for five years after he left office, from accepting appointment by the president to any federal job, except in advancement from one court to another.

Amendment of the National Labor Relations act "so as to give the employer full freedom to talk with his own employees about all labor situations without fear of being haled before some kangaroo court set up" by this Labor Relations board.

"The government should not be allowed to go further in expanding government ownership and government competition with private enterprise."

"The federal government should provide a comprehensive plan of social security. Until such time as this plan meets the need of the aged and to care for those who would not be covered by the plan, the federal government should provide for the payment of old age pensions of at least $40 a month to every person in the United States when they reach the age of 65. The only necessary proof to make a person eligible for this monthly payment would be proof of age."

Field Decorated With Emblems

A colorful army air force insignia, 10 feet in diameter, now adorns the ceiling of the post theater at Pampa Field.

Executed by Lt. L. J. Zacher, of the photographic section, the emblem's gold wings and red star are cut out of plywood, while the background of blue is painted on the ceiling. Enlisted men attached to special services erected a scaffolding in the theater and helped in the painting of the insignia.

A number of emblems of the central flying training command, 21 1/2 x 24 inches, bearing the motto "Ut Vir Volent," which means "That Men May Fly," decorate the walls of the theater. They were painted by men in the art department of the post reproduction office.

"It was everything I expected," Hickman commented. "It seemed like we were riding on a road that was in had need of some repairs."

McQueen said the air was rough during the flight.

Then a check by military police disclosed he had been AWOL. Instead of going into Messina he went into the clank to await trial. The army can't operate with haphazard soldiers.

Waterproof Hair Is Hollywood Invention

Hollywood hair stylists have done it again. They have invented a "waterproof coiffure." A girl can dive and swim to her heart's content without disarranging a curl or disturbing a single wave of the finger.

The coiffure, based on a Chinese invention centuries old, was devised by Jack Dawn, make-up expert for a group of pretty swimmers in a water ballet spectacle in M-G-M's "Mr. Co-ed," starring Red Skelton and champion Esther Williams.

The hairdresses are modeled in clay, covered with silk and then treated with Chinese lacquer. These hairdos, when dry and hardened, take the place of swimming caps. They are in varied colors for technical effect and can be given a translucent effect by means of a tiny light inside the coiffure.

Put Make-Up on Early for Natural Look on Dates

By ALICIA HART, NEA Staff Writer

"Apply your make-up a half-hour before you go out and you'll never be guilty of looking freshly lacquered," says talented and attractive Virginia Glimore, who has temporarily deserted Hollywood to appear on Broadway in "Those Endearing Young Charms."

"It really takes just about that length of time for make-up to set," Virginia has found, so that the lipstick, rouge and powder has a chance to blend properly and lose that newly applied look.

"By not waiting until the last five minutes to put on your make-up, not only will you be ready to put your best face forward when Mr. Best Beau arrives, but you'll have enough time to dress leisurely and relax," she also points out.

Mama Gets the Medals; Papa Gets the Meals

By RUTH COWAN

AP Features LONDON, Sept. 3.—There are going to be some kiddies in the future asking:

"And what did you do in the Great War, daddy?"

And daddy is going to be face with saying:

"Oh, I kept the home fire burning while your mother went soldiering overseas."

Also there are going to be some grandpas, uncles, big brothers in the same boat.

For one of the developments of the evolution of women of the second World War has been the number who are joining the colors because they feel the family should be represented and their men-folks have responsibilities that keep them at home.

For example there is Sgt. Bernadette "Pudge" Hammer, 22, of Piltain, Penn., who came over in the first feminine American Expeditionary force to Britain. She is the youngest of eleven children.

"All my brothers are married," she said. "And since I didn't have any one in the service, I thought maybe I had better join the WACS."

Then there is Private Dolores Fickert, 26, who owned and operated a garage in Dayton, O. Also the baby of the family, she has six brothers, all married and only one in the armed forces.

"So I thought I ought to pitch in," she said.

Captain Frances Marquis took the first expedition of WACS overseas to North Africa while her husband, Harry, keeps the home fires burning in New York.

Capt. Mary Dixon of Ithaca, N. Y., is overseas as executive officer with the first WAC battalion in Britain. Her fiancé, Michael Fenclo, Rochester, N. Y., is at the moment frozen into his job as a commercial airlines' pilot.

By ALICIA HART, NEA Staff Writer

To many women "sachet" means but one thing—a delicate scented powder that comes in little bags which are to be tucked in lingerie drawers and handkerchief boxes.

But to those wise in the ways of making themselves the most alluring of femmes, sachet is as indispensable as a comb and lipstick.

"I find sachet gives a lasting aura of fragrance," says vivacious and attractive model Kay Gammon, who uses it frequently instead of perfume which she finds a little too heavy in the morning.

Sprinkling a little on the palm of her hand, Kay rubs it along the base of her neck, over her shoulders and at the bend of her knees.

Women in the south, I have been told, use it successfully as a deodorant, both under the arms and on the soles of their feet.

North Sees Rate Case as Politics

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The State of New York says the Southern states are threatening to leave the Democratic ticket in 1944 in order to influence the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in an inter-territorial freight rate case.

The accusation was contained in a New York state brief filed with the commission this week in the case involving a demand of Southern states for mile-for-mile equality with other sections through a uniform level of class rates for transportation of manufactured goods.

New York Attorney General Nathaniel Goldstein said the brief cited "political interference."

The brief, in which New York was joined by New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and various commercial organizations in Northern states, contended that industrial development in the South, contrary to claims it has been retarded by different class-rate levels, has been more rapid in the last 10 years than that of any other section.

Generals Get New Designations

PALERMO, Sicily—So many generals have been running through one Allied Mediterranean airbase that the boys who are on the information desk had to think up a new way to designate them. Corp. Charles Morgan of Shelby Gap, Ky., explained it.

"We call a one-star general a 'private first class general' and a two-star general a 'corporal general.' When they get above two stars we just call them a 'general general.'"

The only hazard about these handy new designations is that the boys are afraid they will forget and call a one-star general as "private general." That would put somebody on KP duty quickly—and it wouldn't be the "private general."

INVASION

connection with Germany, as the rope surged ashore.

An air communiqué said attacks were made by heavy bombers on all installations at Bolzano and Trento, on the Brenner Pass line, 90 miles from North Africa.

The heavy bombers also struck at Bologna, farther south but on the same line, and medium bombers aided Canello, vital rail junction in the Naples area.

The attacks on Bolzano and Trento were the first made by the Allies but for north in Italy. It was the second raid on Bologna.

Bridges were blown out and tracks blocked in all these assaults, he communicated said.

The British and Canadians landed on beaches littered with the wreckage left behind as the Germans fled from Sicily 17 days ago, and began establishing the first foothold the western Allies have had on the mainland of Europe since the British were driven out of Greece late in April, 1941.

The attack comes on the fourth anniversary of Britain's declaration of war on Hitler's Germany.

First announcement from Allied headquarters came shortly after 7 a. m. (midnight CWT). The text: "Allied forces under the command of General Eisenhower have captured the island of Sicily and Canadian troops of the Eighth Army, supported by Allied sea and air power, attacked across the Strait of Messina early today and landed on the mainland of Italy."

It was emphasized here that the new assault was not to be regarded as a "second front," but as a continuation of a campaign begun in North Africa and moving into Europe step by step—Tunisia, Pantelleria, Sicily, and now Italy itself.

That was the meaning of the phrase "Allied forces have captured the island of Sicily." The first announcement gave no details of the fighting on the new beachhead.

There was no mention of American ground forces taking part in the amphibious attack, but Yankee fliers teamed up with their British comrades to batter enemy positions and provide a protective sky screen for the assault troops.

The landing came after two weeks of intense air bombardment of southern Italy, attacks that almost without exception were aimed at railways and other communication facilities to disrupt enemy troop and supply movements.

In frequent occasions, too, Allied warships steamed up to the coasts for inshore bombardments.

Fierce German opposition was expected on the mainland.

Explosives came from Sicily. Allied artillery in the early stages of the landings were said to have silenced several enemy guns even before the first assault craft neared shore.

The thrust was made opposite Messina in the vicinity of Reggio Calabria, mainland ferry port which has been attacked by air almost daily for several months.

The strait there is a mere seven miles wide, and northwards it narrows down to about two miles—distances that could be spanned by boat in less than half an hour.

The landings were preceded by several reconnaissance stabs at the enemy shore, commando-type jabs which Axis radios had described as attempts at invasion but which in reality were only exploratory.

The invasion of the first Allied land attack on the European mainland since the Dieppe raid in August, 1942, came just 19 days after the final cleanup of Sicily on Aug. 18 in a campaign that lasted 38 days.

Thus the Allied commanders waited only a brief time to regroup their forces and send them into Italy to take up the chase of the enemy again.

In a broadcast this morning from Algiers, John Daly, CBS correspondent, reported the invasion was preceded by a number of successful commando and reconnaissance missions in the past few nights.

Daly said these missions were successful in helping to knock out enemy coastal defenses, and at the same time, he said, they reported valuable information back to attack headquarters.

Daly said details were lacking as to exactly where the landings occurred, although in general they took place along the Calabrian peninsula. Daly said the Germans were believed to have done most of the initial fighting in the first phase against the invasion forces.)

plane strength is now double what it was at the start of the war, which would put it at about 1,100 planes, and "is rapidly growing."

Meanwhile, the Allied campaign for northeastern New Guinea appeared, for the moment at least, to have knocked out the Japanese air force from besieged Salamaua all the 550 miles to the Dutch New Guinea border.

Today's Allied communiqué from the Southwest Pacific reported the wiping out of Japanese army headquarters, warehouses, fuel and ammunition stores in and around Madang, and said only one ground-entrenched enemy plane was found. Ejecting Lightning did not encounter an interceptor.

During a recent Allied planes destroyed, 584 Japanese planes, probably destroyed 33 more and damaged 21, the largest ton of enemy aircraft yet reported.

Field Enlisted Men Complete Physical Tests

Enlisted men of Pampa Field have completed their physical fitness tests, resulting in extremely high scores for the participants and a lot of figuring for the "P. T." instructors, who gave the tests and compiled individual scores.

According to Lt. James Livingston, physical training director, 75 per cent of the enlisted men have been classified as "good" or better in the books, which gives Pampa Field one of the best records in the central flying training command.

The tests, which will soon be given to officers and aviation cadets, consists of determining how many sit-ups and chin-ups a man can do consecutively, and of recording the time it takes him to run a 300-yard shuttle race course.

Corp. John Kimbro, Nacadoches, Texas, a member of the physical training staff, approximately 2000 and a member of the 454th BH and AB squadron, was credited with the best showing among the enlisted men. He had a score of 90, which puts him in the "excellent" class, doing 114 sit-ups, 16 chin-ups and running the 300-yard shuttle in 40 seconds.

Two members of the 328th aviation squadron won second and third place. The colored lads who thus qualified were Pvt. Al Price, of Columbia, Ala., with a score of 85, and Cpl. John Dunn, of Virginia Beach, Va., with a mark of 78. Price did 102 sit-ups, chinned himself 16 times and ran the shuttle in 42 seconds. Dunn also did 102 sit-ups and 16 chin-ups, but ran the shuttle in 48 seconds.

Fourth and fifth place, respectively, went to two members of the 454th squadron, Cpl. J. C. Carrell of Tomball, Tex., and Martin Knell, of Logan, W. Va., Carrell did 102 sit-ups, chinned himself 17 times and ran the race in 50 seconds, while Knell did 96 sit-ups, 12 chins and covered the 300-yard course in 48 seconds.

H. A. Dawson was top man in the 853rd TEFT squadron, with a physical fitness ratio of 73. He did 50 sit-ups, 18 chin-ups and ran the shuttle in 45 seconds.

Two men tied for the honor of being the "supermen" of the 1102nd TEFT squadron. They were E. J. Griffin and Pvt. H. H. Hulsey, who had PFR ratings of 70. Griffin did 69 sit-ups, 17 chin-ups and ran the course in 53 seconds. Hulsey had 42 sit-ups, did 24 chin-ups and also ran the shuttle in 53 seconds.

Cpl. H. J. Block, was high man in the 909th quartermaster detachment, with a score of 68. He turned in 50 sit-ups, 15 chin-ups and ran the shuttle in 63 seconds.

C. H. Morris, of the 73rd TEFT squadron, who acquired a PFR of 66, was high man in his squadron. He turned in 71 sit-ups, 10 pull-ups and ran the shuttle in 49 seconds.

In the Medical Detachment, W. E. Addison and D. Schuster tied for honors, each with PFR marks of 61. Addison did 66 sit-ups, 10 pull-ups and ran the race in 54 seconds, while Schuster did 73 sit-ups, 10 pull-ups and ran the shuttle in 55 seconds.

V. C. Williams was top man among members of the 1101st TEFT squadron, with a PFR of 65. He did no less than 114 sit-ups, but had his average brought down by only doing 5 chin-ups and running the shuttle in 56 seconds.

M. C. Frachiseur, of the 517th service squadron, with a PFR of 61, led his organization. He did 60 sit-ups, 9 pull-ups and ran the shuttle in 50 seconds.

T/Sgt. Albert Fish and M. A. Williams, each with a mark of 57, tied for honors among members of the 385th band squadron. Williams did 66 sit-ups, while Fish accounted for 60. Each did 10 pull-ups and ran the shuttle in 59 seconds.

B. V. Pryor was high man in the 852nd TEFT squadron. He had a PFR of 68, doing 73 sit-ups and running the shuttle in 49 seconds.

E. Fischer, with a PFR of 63, was top man in the 1094th guard squadron. He did 50 sit-ups, 14 chin-ups and covered the 300-yard shuttle course in 53 seconds.

First Eye-Witness Account Received

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 3.—(P)—The first eye-witness account of the Allied landing operations in southern Italy today came from the pilot of an American bomber, Pilot Officer G. Basrich of Iowa.

Returning from a flight over the invasion area, Basrich said: "We saw colossal explosions and watched what appeared to be a great artillery duel near the Strait of Messina."

A U. S. FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 3.—(P)—At 23, Lt. Col. S. fighter station—the youngest flier to hold such a position in the European theater.

The appointment came almost as a birthday present. He reached the age of 23 on Aug. 10 and 10 days later the USAAF made him top man of his Thunderbolt-flying fighter group slotted at an air-drome from which he once flew as a member of the famed RAF American squadron during the battle of Britain.

An air ministry communiqué said other aircraft laid mines in enemy waters during the night.

The Allied air fleet started their attack at the crack of dawn, and observers on the British coast reported that formations of bombers—flying very high and in perfect formation—swept overhead steadily for 30 minutes.

The bombers were accompanied by swarms of fighters, some of which came streaking back across the channel as a second wave of heavy bombers drummed their way eastward.

Mustangs Show Much Promise as Championship Grid Contenders

Good Aerial Game Seen For S. M. U.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Sept. 3—(AP)—There was a get-acquainted party out at Southern Methodist University when Coach James H. Stewart opened fall practice. He had three groups—freshmen, squadmen and navy trainees—who hadn't been introduced.

The 60-odd huskies soon became one big happy family and gave every indication of carrying on the tradition of football's flying circus. The team will not be as strong as last year but should be about as good in the air.

"We will have a good starting team if we can dig up some tackles," Stewart said. "We won't have many reserves."

On the basis of veteran material as compared to other schools, the Mustangs should be fighting for the conference title.

Four lettermen return, including Abel Gonzales, one of the country's finest passers and runners. Four lettermen in other years would be called all-pro prospects. But not in wartime, especially the quality of the four veterans—Gonzales; Wayne Shaw, another top passer; C. D. Allen, well-qualified fullback, and Ray Rasor, one of the best guards you'll find anywhere.

S. M. U. has 19 men who have played college football. Abe Croft, end, and Ed Cloud, center, were on the squad last year. From the V-12 unit come Tom Johnson, letterman end at Baylor last fall, and W. A. Shaw, guard on the Hardin-Simmons team in 1942. Pat Tindell, a back who played at Trinity University before it quit football, and W. E. Gipson, for two years fullback on the Kilgore Junior College eleven, are at S. M. U. as transfers.

Bill Squires and Charles Weber, backs; Claud Hill, end, and Glyn Roper, guard, are up from last year's freshman team. Squires rounds out what looks like one of S. M. U.'s best passing combinations.

The schedule:
Sept. 25—Tulsa at Dallas; Oct. 2—North Texas Agricultural College at Dallas; Oct. 9—Naval Air Technical Training Center at Memphis; Oct. 16—Rice at Dallas; Oct. 23—Tulane at New Orleans; Oct. 30—Texas at Dallas; Nov. 6—Texas A. and M. at College Station; Nov. 13—Arkansas at San Antonio; Nov. 20—Texas Tech at Dallas; Nov. 27—Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

Six Squadrons Play Softball

Softball teams representing six squadrons at Pampa Field are currently vying for the championship of the second round of the Post Softball League, and the right to meet the medical detachment, winners of the first half of the schedule in the playoffs later this month.

A 20 inch mahogany-based trophy, at the top of which stands the gold figure of a softball pitcher, will go to the finalists.

The 454th BH and AB squadron is now leading the second round of the league, closely pushed by the Medics and the 1101st TEPT squadron, who are tied for second place. The 73rd TEPT squadron comes up in fourth place, the 517th service squadron in fifth and the 852nd TEPT squadron in sixth place.

Today, what may prove to be one of the most important games of the year will take place when the Medics cross bats with the 454th. That contest was scheduled for Tuesday night, but was called off because of rain.

Should the Medics knock off the 454th and be successful enough in succeeding games to win the second half title, they will be declared the post champions and will gain possession of the trophy.

Texas Coaches Prove Again Distances Don't Mean a Thing in Wide Open Lone Star State

If the athletic director of the Chicago public school system moved to Philadelphia, and the gridiron mentor of Columbus, Ohio, shifted to New York City, such major geographical changes probably would gain widespread notice in the Midwest and East.

Moves involving similar airline mileage have taken place in the Texas high school football set-up during the past few weeks, with only passing, state-wide interest in the switches.

When Otis Coffey, Robstown High school athletic director and coach of the football Cotton Pickers, accepted the head coaching job at Pampa High school, the move meant a difference of about 600 airline miles, from the deep South Texas 16-A district to the 1-AA loop at the Top O'Texas in the Panhandle.

Philadelphia is little more than 600 air-miles from Chicago.

J. C. (Buck) Prejean, former Pampa coach took over the reins of the Lufkin club over in deep East Texas about 485 airline miles from the Panhandle.

Columbus, Ohio, is about that far from New York.

But it's an old story to Texans, to whom distances mean as little as to the Army Air Transport Command fliers who regularly touch on three or four continents in as many days.

It seems only fair, therefore, to call attention to the fact that the Dodgers now are a very strong third place ball club. In spite of the fact that Branch Rickey said he did not want a second place ball club, and was solely interested in a pennant winner, there still is a chance that the Dodgers will finish second again.

The youngsters are doing all right. Yesterday they beat the New York Giants 4-3 by scoring two runs in the eighth and another in the ninth and ran their current winning streak to six games.

Luis Rodriguez Olmo, the Puerto Rican rookie, started the eighth inning rally with a single and he hit another one-baser in the final frame to drive home the winning tally after two were out.

Cincinnati, meanwhile, was set down 3-1 by the Chicago Cubs with Hiram Bithorn pitching three-hit ball for his 17th triumph.

In the other National League encounter, Boston noosed out the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 with Elmer (Butch) Nieman, the clutch-hitting star of the Braves, hammering a triple with two on in the tenth to break up a pitching duel between Al Javery and Al Gerbenos.

In the American League Detroit downed the St. Louis Browns twice 5-4 and 8-5 and the Cleveland Indians stopped the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Only one letterman was among the 36 candidates for the Texas Christian University squad which reported to Coaches Dutch Meyer and Hub McQuillan. He was Clyde Flowers, senior tackle. Nine players from last season's freshman squad reported.

Four lettermen were among the 60 players at Southern Methodist University's practice opening, Abe Gonzales, Wayne Shaw and C. C. Allen, backfield men, and Ray Rasor, guard. Tom Johnson, letterman at Baylor last year and W. A. Shaw of Hardin-Simmons University were among those reporting.

Coach Jess Neely started secret practice, until further notice, with the 63 willing but mostly untried huskies who reported at Rice.

Frank Lawrence, husky guard from Gladewater who had his spring practice at A. and M.—was shifted to first string blocking back. Neely was running the 1942 Rice manager, Cotton Simms, in the first string as end.

Henry Armstrong Believed Through

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3—(AP)—After 12 strenuous years of campaigning in the ring, Hurricane Henry Armstrong is through.

Two California athletic commissioners have indicated clearly to Joe Lynch, who was to promote a 10-round welterweight contest in the Hollywood baseball park Sept. 18 that they will not sanction the match between Armstrong and Luther (Shugger) White because of possible permanent injury to the Los Angeles negro, who once held simultaneously the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight titles.

Armstrong's intimates in his home town have known for some time that he was through, and that although in a strenuous comeback campaign he had lost only four decisions, he faced possible blindness in his left eye and had slowed down markedly.

WAR MINDED
NORTH TARRYTOWN, N. Y.—Bus drivers here have been in the habit of leaning coin boxes from their buses against a tree while they waited to change runs.

Recently, one of the oblong-shaped, metal boxes disappeared. It turned up later in the possession of three small boys. They were using the box, which ejects nickels when a lever is pressed down, as a "bombshell."

Jack Kramer, Sarah Palfrey Cooke Are Dark Horses of Net Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3—(AP)—It wouldn't be a first-class tennis tournament without a "dark horse" or two. And, since the 1943 National championships are turning out to be a first-class tourney in spite of reduced fields and other wartime restrictions, we give you Jack Kramer and Sarah Palfrey Cooke.

Kramer, the tall California coast guardman who is just 22, has surprised everybody. In administering unmerciful beatings to William E. Gifford and Bobby Falkenburg he has appeared to be in top form.

In today's quarter final round, Kramer meets Young Jack Turo

U. S. Begins Air Transport Study
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—The civil aeronautics board has begun a study of post-war international air transport routes.

Terminating the study informal, the CAB said today its purpose was to determine which routes "appear likely to be especially important to the United States in the post-war period." Results will be used as a basis for consideration of applications for certificates involving international services.

21 Softball Games Scheduled Today

HOUSTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—Twenty-one baseball games will be played on three diamonds today in a busy opening of the 1943 state tournament of the Amateur Softball association.

Thirty-four men's teams, including 16 service nine, are entered, with Lindale Park of Houston, defending champions and Ellington 55th air base as favorites.

In girls' play, Metzger Dairy Maids of Dallas are defending champions.

We are convinced that it is not only the armed power of the Fascist nations which makes them dangerous to us but the philosophy of subjugation and conquest.

Bananas, apples, avocados, peaches and other fruits may be kept light in color and are improved in flavor by covering or sprinkling with lemon juice.

Add a little lemon juice to water in which lettuce or other salad greens are freshened. It will revive and crisp them. For salads that are popular and different use a variety of salad greens — tomatoes, watercress, endive or chervil and lettuce.
- Salad Garnish
A lemon garnish dresses up a salad and provides additional juice for those who like more lemon than was used in the dressing. Especially good with seafood and meat salads.

Simplification In Reverse

If there is not a revolt, when the people come to prepare the first of their quarterly income tax estimates between now and Sept. 15, it will mean that the American citizenry has become a race of mice, not men.

Since the first income tax return began harassing a few of the most prosperous in our population, nothing like the current orgy of statistical complication has been inflicted upon us as a people.

There is almost certain to be a bitter revulsion. So let's clear up the record right now, in advance, and see that anger is directed against those who deserve it. These quarterly estimates, followed each March 15 by a final return, arise out of the pay-as-you-earn tax law adopted by Congress this summer in response to demands for the Ruml Plan. Attempts will be made to blame the confusion and trouble upon the Ruml Plan.

The almost unconceivable intricate collection system probably cannot be simplified under the statute enacted. But the tax law was not the Ruml Plan. It was a "compromise" modification which, whether deliberately or through ineptitude, was made a caricature of what it purports to be.

There is about the law no slight vestige of scientific construction except for that trace of the pay-as-you-earn principle that was left after congressmen, believed and misled by Treasury "experts," had swept the pantry shelves into a pot of dishwater and labeled the product soup.

When you and all your neighbors go berserk trying to comply with the requirements of the new income tax law, and you get out the trusty old ballet box to go looking for victims, keep one thing clearly in mind:

Your troubles are not inherent in the pay-as-you-earn tax principles. They were tossed in by those who couldn't bear to see a simple, workable, scientific tax law minus a lot of and/or's, whereas, wherefore, and notwithstanding—by those who weren't willing to concede that a sound, practicable tax law might come out of a nonbureaucratic mind.

Of Rats And Men

The United States Army has gone to war against rats—the four-legged kind, in case there is any confusion. The Army's School of Military and Tropical Medicine has borrowed the Interior Department's rat expert, William E. Ritter, to teach its officers rat control. And what he has to say about wiping out these long-tailed disease carriers applies equally to the species that wear swastikas or rising suns on their uniforms.

"Complete rat control is possible," says Mr. Ritter, "if enough time and energy are devoted to it."

"But," he adds, "getting rid of rats is only half the story; continued effort is necessary to keep them out—which sounds like an admirable post-war policy."

And speaking of rodents, nothing will ever convince us that it wasn't just homing instinct that led the Japs to dig in on Kiska—which is one of the Rat Islands.

The Nation's Press

When they called it a subsidy, congress rejected it. When they called it a roll back congress strangled it. But when they resuscitated the corpse and called it the federal purchase plan congressmen rallied to its support with banners and drums.

There really is no essential difference. No matter what the plan is called it means that planned losses shall be made up by the federal treasury.

It took money from the treasury to make the roll back effective. It would have taken money from the treasury to support the subsidy plan. And it will take money from the treasury to support the purchase plan. Actually the three plans are one and the same thing.

When congress had refused to accept the subsidy plan the administration clothed the plan in new habiliments and called it the roll back plan. But congress looked beneath the veneer and recognized the plan it had rejected. It threw the program and its shining new false face into the alley. But the same old plan with a new name is back and congressmen are reported to be looking upon its features and pronouncing it good.

The present plan is for the government to buy up most of the food in the country and sell it at a loss. The subsidy plan proposed to pay the dealer what he lost by selling below costs. The roll back proposed to reduce retail prices to what they were a year ago and have the treasury make up the losses. They all mean exactly the same thing.

But under a brand new name the twice rejected plan bids fair to win congressional approval.

MISSOURI SHOWS SANTA
 (The New York Sun)

During much of the past decade villages, municipalities and States have been straining their resources, sometimes to the danger point, under the "matching dollars" policy which has ruled the extension of Federal aid for public works projects and State social security programs. Protests of prudent citizens that the mere offer of Federal bounty did not justify communities in tackling unnecessary or pretentious schemes were howled down—it was being impolite to Santa Claus. Lately local lawmakers have been less complacent and now come news that the Missouri Legislature proposes to kick Santa Claus out.

Resentment against centralization of authority which the "matching dollars" policy involves touched off an explosion at Jefferson City. Unwillingly, he confessed, the chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives introduced a bill adding $750,000 to the State's $69,000,000 social security program because of a warning that unless this money were forthcoming, Federal assistance would be shut off.

By a close vote, splitting party lines, the appropriation was defeated after stormy debate in which a high point was the observation of Representative Ralph Erdwin:

"The Federal government is always hiding a dictator's club over our heads and saying 'if you don't do this or don't do that, we are going to give you a sound spanking and take your candy away.' I say we ought to raise the stakes for the per cent. If you're a per cent. democrat, a penny of that for pensions and tell the Federal government."

THE CYCLOTRON
 Yes, you have never heard of this word. Neither had I until I read the new book, "The Spirit of Enterprise" by Edgar M. Quincy. Mr. Quincy is chairman of the Board of Monsanto Chemical Company of St. Louis. He is one of the country's leading industrialists.

In the last chapter of his book he is telling what is in store for the American people if they do not allow the government to do our productive planning. I quote:

"The cyclotron, a recent important development, accomplishes that which was thought to be impossible—it turns one element into another. So recent is this revolutionary tool that the latest Standard Dictionary's definition is obsolete. 'Element' it says, 'is that form of matter which cannot be decomposed or formed by any means known to science.' The cyclotron made the dream of the ancient alchemist come true! Its curative radioactive products are more valuable than gold! Vast, indeed, are the possibilities of this new tool. Its present status may be likened to that of electricity when Benjamin Franklin caught lightning on a key."

A few laboratories are equipped with electron microscopes which enable men to see for the first time a chemical reaction actually taking place. These microscopes enable researchers to see and photograph particles but slightly larger than a molecule. Many laboratories are equipped with spectrographs and x-ray and electron diffraction units which allow photographic chemical analysis, and polariscopes which visualize stresses and strains.

He also predicts that we will be able to send odors over the air. When we send odors over the air, we will be able to send roses in three dimensions in both colors, tones and fragrance. He points out that "in 1939 physicists split atoms by a process of bombardment and released tremendous amounts of energy. Ultimately a practical solution of this problem will be found; then planes and helicopters powered with atomic fuel could stay aloft for months exploring our polar wastes."

"THE RELIGION WORTH HAVING"
 There has been some criticism because this column has discussed religious matters. The reason it has discussed religious matters is that it is thoroughly convinced that the kind of a religion people have will determine their general wellbeing. If they have a religion that is in harmony with nature law, that teaches people how to work together and live together, everyone will be benefited.

I have just been reading a little booklet, "The Religion Worth Having" by Thomas Nixon Carver. It most certainly substantiates the contention of this column, that the religion people have will determine their prosperity and happiness.

Dr. Carver points out that a religion that aims only at making the individual happy and contented is not the best religion. Here is what he says a religion worth having:

"What is the best religion? That is the best religion which (1) acts most powerfully as a spur to energy, and (2) directs that energy most productively. That is more productive which most promotes human life and welfare."

"Many of the pagan religions seem to perform the first of these functions somewhat better than Christianity, at least better than modern Christianity, does. But none of them has equaled Christianity in the second, that is, in the productiveness with which its energy has been directed. . . ."

"In other words, the problem is to restore to the religion of today its original potency as a motive force, and to combine with this the broad intelligence with which modern religious organizations are directing their rather feeble and half-hearted efforts."

He goes on to point out that a religion or philosophy that teaches people to produce only to satisfy their bellies or in loafing and inviting our souls is not the religion worth having. The religion worth having is what he calls the "work bench philosophy," that teaches people to be meek; that makes people constantly want to learn and understand the laws of nature; that teaches people the importance of teamwork, of respecting the inherent rights of every other human soul.

"The Religion Worth Having" is a very worthwhile book. If people read and understand this book, there would be mighty little poverty and mighty little unemployment.

ment to take its money and go to hell.

Throughout history, as Dr. Henry M. Wriston recalls in his impelling book "Challenge to Freedom," love of liberty has always brought a swing back from excessive centralization. That is what happened in Missouri, and Dr. Wriston supplies the Missouri legislators with no less a preceptor than Franklin D. Roosevelt who, he recalls, in his second inaugural address as Governor of New York in January, 1931, warned against—the present dangerous tendency to forget a fundamental principle of American doctrine, which rests on the right of a locality to manage its own local affairs, the tendency to encourage concentration of power at the top of a governmental structure, alien to our system and more closely akin to dictatorship or the central committee of a communist regime. . . . We have all met difficulties before this and have solved them in accordance with the basic theories of representative democracy. Let us not this time pursue the easy road of centralization of authority, lest some day we discover too late that our liberties have disappeared.

Missourians, traditionally skeptical of gold bricks, prove that they are willing to show as well as to insist upon being shown.

BANANAS IN THE HARBOR
 (The Chicago Tribune)

Back in the prosperous days of free enterprise before the war, one of the stock accusations of the left wingers was that heartless merchants, commission men, and the rich fruit companies dumped bananas in Boston harbor rather than let a surplus drive down prices. True or not, nobody had any difficulty then buying a bunch of bananas if he had a dime in his pocket. Not even the Communists had the temerity to suggest that there was a food shortage.

We wonder how these same fellow travelers, now so close to the New Deal throne, square their food dumping charges of a decade ago with what is going on today. New Deal bureaus are dumping on refuse heaps thousands of tons of potatoes that were allowed to spoil. Berries are rotting on vines and fruit on trees because the New Deal wills it. And there is a food shortage.

According to the collectivists, the enormity of the crime apparently lies in who commits it, not in its consequences.

Many good cooks now are working in the machine shops of war plants. From soup to nuts!

With Himmler ruling on the home front, there should be fewer Germans for us to contend with.

Add boring facts: this is the season for tomato worms.

 News Behind The News

By ALBERT LEMAN

HATE — Not merely the small fry and warl heeters — but important Washington New Dealers as well — believe that Mr. Roosevelt will be re-elected, regardless of the crooked F. D. R. for a fourth term against rationing, red tape and regimentation.

Perhaps the absence of Congress as a sounding board of public criticism is a reason for this confidence. But several polls and one private checkup bear out their opinions.

Nose-counting in big business circles from Wall Street to the manufacturing world indicates that an astonishing number of influential industrialists, who in their clubs boast that they hate his guts, will back F. D. R. for a fourth term.

They have not been converted like Saul of Tarsus. The new light which shines for them is not in the least unworlly. It gleams solely from dollars-and-cents self-interest.

Vote — Winston Churchill is quoted as having said that he wishes to remain at the helm, steering the British Empire for five years after the end of the war to establish trade, participate in political settlements and manipulate other fruits of victory. Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek are also expected to be held over.

The presence of these seasoned veterans at the international poker table prompts the desire of the economic royalists mentioned above to keep their balls in the game.

The group hopes to gain financial advantages then from exports, loans, commercial rights, carrels, air routes, reciprocal treaties and other marketing avenues. The idea is that the experienced president will be better able to deal with the Big Three and so scoop more benefits for American business than could an untried Chief Executive.

Such hardheaded realists express their personal sentiments in conversation but vote — and make campaign contributions — in relation to their pocketbooks.

HOPKINS — The men here who manage the Democratic Party, however, take nothing for granted. They are plugging the leaks in the ballot box.

Although in modern times the Roosevelt Administration has been the great champion of the labor man, and in the past few years toilers have earned the fattest pay envelopes — ever known to them, large sections of this favored class did not bother to scratch their heads for the government's national election. They migrated to lush war industries beyond their states and forgot to register themselves and their families.

This time labor leaders are forewarned. They are organizing everywhere to persuade their followers to cast their ballots in the communities of their present employment. If this does not result in voluntary action, many of the unions will cancel their members' cards — with all their job privileges — until the laggards have affirmed their signatures to the polling lists in city halls.

Even though some Southerners dislike the New Deal's concessions to Negroes, continued progress will probably be made in this direction because, in addition to the individual attitudes of those who see eye to eye with Mrs. Roosevelt, the Administration's political analysts discovered that colored citizens hold the balance of voting power in eighty-nine out of the four hundred and thirty-five Congressional districts.

Legislation also will be introduced at the instigation of the White House, when the Senate and House meet after their vacation, to enable soldiers and sailors overseas to share in the election for the next president. Harry Hopkins and Chairman Walker are not missing a single bit.

CONVICTED — In spite of the notice served by President Roosevelt that Axis leaders will be tried and condemned for their war crimes, just how the judicial machinery will be implemented is puzzling the best legal minds in Washington.

Lloyd George won a sweeping victory by campaigning on the slogan "Hang the Kaiser." The world recalls that nothing worse than exile befell the rulers of the Huns.

Government jurists in collaboration with those of our allies are working on the problem and are already lost in a labyrinth of law technicalities. Yet unless some procedure is established, Nazi victims

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

Toughest casting problem in Hollywood is finding actors to portray corpses. The average film player will starve to death before he'll depict a dead man, contending it will type him with casting directors and mentally bury him with his public.

Other day, in casting "The Ghost Ship" at RKO, Director Mark Robson called for six thespians of assorted types to portray corpses. Upwards of 100 available actors refused the roles.

Finally the casting director resurrected an actor who agreed to play all six corpses. The actor, Benjamin Morehouse, wryly remarked: "I've been officially dead to the casting directors for so long I have nothing to lose. And if my performances register, they might bring my career back to life again."

Director William Wellman was putting Linda Darnell through an emotional scene for the film, "Buffalo Bill." She plays the role of an Indian girl, Dawn Starlight. A group of Indians, also in the picture, watched the scene closely with a wry look.

"What's wrong?" asked Wellman, belligerently. "She's part Cherokee Indian, you know. Don't think she looks right for the role?"

"Yes," replied one of the Indians. "Good for the role but hands soft. No good work squaw."

Don't be surprised if your favorite star of today is the movie magnet of tomorrow. They always like to play the boss, and now, with plenty of banks willing to back a good name, they've got their chance.

David Lewin and Arthur Lyons are already have organized Producing Artists Inc., which will have subsidiary companies run by stars. Jack Benny will be the boss of one of these companies. Which means the stars can play a dual role.

FIN-UP BOY
 Not to be outdone by males, the WACS, WAVES and lady marines have gone in for the photo pin-up fad, too. Their leading favorite seems to be Humphrey Bogart. One letter, from Private Helen Anderson, Washington, D. C., read: "Send me one of those pictures that make you look menacing. I want to feel belligerent." Bogart sent her a photo from his current film, "Conflict," in which he kills his wife.

George White, the Broadway producer of "Scandals" fame, was explaining how he happened to play himself in the George Gershwin film, "Rhapsody in Blue."

"Gershwin," he said, "was my friend. The picture is being produced by Jesse Lasky. Jesse is one of my friends. You might say it's like this: I'm only doing it for my friends George and Jesse. And the check!"

When amateur magician Orson Welles locks Linda Brent into a trunk and proceeds to saw her in half during his Hollywood Wonder Show for servicemen, the boys in the audience usually groan, "Don't ruin that beautiful body." But the other night, as Welles swung the halves of the trunk around for audience inspection, a soldier sitting in the front row yelled, "I'll settle for half."

Rosalind Russell, playing a theatrical agent in "Ten Percent Woman," is supposed to soothe the ruffled feelings of an actress client on the phone by telling her, "There's no such thing as a bad part, only bad actresses." Reading the line for the first time, Roz yelled to Director Irving Cummings, "Hey, we're going to have to change that line. Do you think I'm going to leave myself wide open like that?" The dialog will now read, "There's no such thing as a small part, only small actresses." The critics can't say nearly as much fun with that one.

Director Elliott Nugent has found a way to cure the Goldwyn girls of dancing on the set of "Up in Arms." A lot of time used to be lost after the cry of "pieces, please" as the girls played a few more hands of gin rummy, took a few extra puffs on cigarettes and looked for a place to park their gum. Now the assistant director calls, "All girls with beautiful legs on the set." The response is languid and rapid.

Bethlehem Breaks Shipyard Records
 BOSTON, Sept. 3 — (AP) — Just eight and one-half days after the laying of the keel, the destroyer-cruiser HMS Fitzroy slid down the ways of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's Hingham shipyard Wednesday, establishing a second new national record in two days at a Bethlehem shipyard in the Boston area in the construction of these husky foes of submarines.

Tuesday at the nearby Fore river yard, according to an official first naval district announcement, another of these 300-foot fighting ships, the U. S. S. Harmon, was delivered ready for service, just 92 days after laying of its keel.

The record-delivery of the Harmon, lowering the yard's previous 115-day mark for destroyer escort construction, was achieved without shipbuilding "stock troops," and by only the normal construction crew.

Navy observers commented that the launching of the Fitzroy in eight and a half days indicated that still another new delivery record, shorter than the 92-day record for the Harmon, might be in the making.

Soldiers Like To Read Newspapers
 NEW YORK, Sept. 3 — (AP) — The newspaper is probably the reading material most widely demanded by service men, says Miss Alice J. Garwood, assistant librarian, second service command.

In an article "Reading Interests of Service Men" in the current issue of New York Branch Library Book News, Miss Garwood said that home-town papers were requested most often.

The unabridged dictionary is the most popular book in army libraries, the article said.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
 Associated Press Writer

The invasion of Italy is a further heartening exhibition of already great and rapidly growing Allied striking power, and we are warranted in having full confidence in the outcome.

We shouldn't make the mistake, however, of pinning our expectations to high on the assumption that this is the anxiously awaited continental operation — the much debated "second front" — which one of these days in conjunction with the Russians most certainly will create the giant vise which will break Herr Hitler's bones.

This is a big show, but it isn't THE big show. Indeed, it is emphasized at Allied headquarters in North Africa that it isn't the opening of a "second front" but just continuation of the campaign which was begun there and was continued with the conquest of Sicily.

Invasion of Italy is a job which had to be done, and it will be immensely useful in many ways. Still I have a hunch that there are other things the Allies would rather be doing right now than cleaning up this peninsula which is merely an appendage of the continent and cannot bring the western United Nations armies immediately to grips with the Nazi forces within Hitler's European fortress.

Indeed, it's my suggestion that we watchers keep one eye on the unfolding of the drama in Italy, and the other cocked in the direction of other possible invasion points. The Allies have more than this one trick in their old kit bags.

The invading force swarmed ashore in lower Italy with the expectation of encountering stiff resistance, and according to the Algerians radio the British and Canadian troops of the Eighth Army — spearhead of the operation — already have run into it.

One of the main assets the Allies will acquire by overrunning Italy will be air bases in the north from which they can extend their bombing of the eastern part of the Reich and occupied territories. Another great prize would be the acquisition of the Italian navy — greatly whittled down through years of war but still containing many useful warships. There is hope that the fleet may be taken over intact.

Of course, knocking Italy out of the war represents an immense gain, but the country already is virtually impotent from the standpoint of offensive warfare.

We shall have to take the bitter with the sweet, though. Among the liabilities we shall acquire if we overrun all Italy will be the necessity of putting a force of several hundred thousand men into the country for garrison duty. The Allies also will have to help feed 40,000,000 hungry Italian mouths, and find the cargo vessels on which to move supplies to the little country.

Gasoline Stamps To Get Numbers
 WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — (AP) — The office of price administration intends to put serial numbers on gasoline ration stamps to trap bootleggers on stolen coupons.

The new system, OPA officials said, probably will be set up early next year. Meanwhile, central issuance stations will be established in major cities to speed delivery of extra rations to essential drivers.

The changes are part of a campaign for stricter policing of gasoline use to cut off black market operators by keeping closer tab on issued ration tickets. The coupons will be issued in strips bearing serial numbers, making them easier to trace.

Your Health In Wartime

By DR. THOMAS D. MASTERS
 Written for The News

Vitamins, which have become a multi-million dollar business, are a necessity. But the best, safest, and least expensive source of vitamins is a well-balanced and adequate diet. It is ironic that the greatest use of vitamins is among those who are able to provide an adequate diet. Those who cannot afford a balanced diet are also unable to buy the expensive vitamin products.

The imagination of the public and much of the medical profession has been captured by the elixir of health, promise of longevity, and powerful corrective supposedly enclosed in a gelatin capsule or a compressed tablet. Future generations may be as amused at the potpourri of the present-day vitamin capsules as we are at the complex drugs of antiquity.

SIMILAR TO HORMONES
 There is no doubt that living organisms require these substances. They are substances which exist in small amounts in foods, producing no energy, but influencing nutrition by regulating the chemical processes within the cells. Their function is somewhat similar to that of hormones, which are manufactured in the body. They differ in that vitamins must be taken in from the outside either partially or completely formed. They are extremely active, as evidenced by the fact that such small quantities are necessary.

In the beginning, vitamins were recognized by the fact that their lack was followed by certain deficiency diseases. Beriberi, scurvy, and rickets are typical examples of a deficient intake of vitamins B, C and D, respectively. The next step was the assumption that these diseases did not come to full flower abruptly, but that borderline deficiencies in the vitamin intake could cause marginal ill health or impaired efficiency not yet susceptible to diagnosis.

On the theory that all is not known about vitamins, that some good might be obtained and that no harm could be done, these substances have reached their present outstanding commercial importance.

FOODS BEST SOURCE
 On the same basis that all is not known about vitamins, it is better argued that their ideal source is in the foods that make a balanced diet. A great deal of study is now being devoted to the development of means of accurately measuring vitamin deficiency. This work will ultimately make possible the recognition of borderline states.

Vitamins cannot be considered as indifferent, harmless substances. Toxic effects are not beyond possibility. Small quantities prevent and correct the known deficiencies, and it may be assumed that they are therefore highly potent. Large amounts for long periods may be disadvantageous. Concentrated and synthetic vitamins should be used only when actually needed, and not allowed to become a fetish of the majority of the people.

UNLOCKING ADVENTURE
By Charles Courtney

Charles Courtney is the world's highest paid legal Jimmie Valentine. This is the true story of his many adventures and the safes around the earth and under the sea.

CHAPTER V

ON the bottom the light reflected from the sand made a cheerful twilight in which we could walk around without lights. The long hull stretched farther than I could see without twisting my head, and the wreckage was slippery. My job was to tend the lines for Hank who was working with an ax, Tom who was using a saw, and a couple of others who were pulling and shifting the lumber. Another diver stood with a submarine light close to their faces. They all looked like fantastic sea monsters in their bloated rubber suits.

After an hour we were pulled up gradually and put into the decompression chamber. In this sealed room, filled with air at the pressure which we had met under water, we traded stories until we had gradually expelled the nitrogen from our tissues.

Hank was our authority. An old-timer of at least 25, he had been in the business so long that he had worked under every imaginable condition. He had deserted an American freighter in Havana to join a small, ill-organized shabby financed treasure hunt for one of the 40 Spanish galleons that carried 80,000,000 in doubloons to the bottom of Matanzas Bay.

Hank's leaky, filthy, little boat found the wreck. For weeks the crew searched it, clambering around the decks half buried in coral. Their supplies and water began to run low, weevils were in the meal, and the rats were so bold that a man had to sleep in his boots to keep them from taking a nip at his toes. When the drag me back. About 50 feet higher there was suddenly no current at all. As if I had been released by a giant spring, I swung in the other direction, then back and forth like a human pendulum until the momentum wore out.

When I reached the deck, Bob, who was tending the line, had eyes as big as moons.

"You sure did give me a fright, Charley," he told me when I came out of the iron doctor. "Your bubbles were slyaking back and forth as if you were caught in a shuttle. I thought you had gone crazy, I surely did."

BUT toward the end of the season I was getting tired. Ten dollars a day was good money when you got it, but in foul weather, when the current was running so strong that we couldn't even crawl around the bottom, the company would not send us down.

As autumn came, work was not only less steady but more uncomfortable. Sometimes we had to wear four suits of woolen underwear, four pairs of homespun socks and felt boots under our lead-soled leather shoes. Often, before we had been down an hour, our fingers got too numb to work and our air lines became frosted.

It seemed foolish to be engaged in work at which, even under the best conditions, you spent 60 per cent of your working time resting. Then, too, if you got in four months' work a year, you were lucky. Hank and I figured that in this climate we averaged about four months a year, 12 days a month, subtracting all those days when the salvage ship must look for shelter from storms and when we could not go down because of fog, tide, winds, and excessive currents.

However, this diving game was just a step for me. I had saved money, but not enough yet to start in my own lock business. I thought it was time to look for steadier work to make my capital grow faster.
