Reds Would End War Without Armistice

General Shepherd Is New Marine Head

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman has named a new top boss for the Marines, effective Jan. 1. He is Lt. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., whose fighting career takes in World War I and II battles that have become modern Marine legends — Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, Okinawa.

Maj. Gen. Shepherd

Mr. Truman named Shepherd to succeed Gen. Clifton B. Gates, at the end of Gates' four-year tour of duty as Marine commander. Shepherd is 55 years old. He is now commanding general of the Pacific Fleet Marine force, with headquarters at Pearl Harbor.

He is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute. Shepherd's first fighting command in World War two was as assistant commander of the First Marine division in the New Britain campaign.

Texas Voters To Decide Five Proposals On November 13th

By HENRY S. GORDON — The Texas voters will, on Friday, become legislators for a day on Nov. 13 when they go to the polls to vote on five points of the state's organic laws.

Each of the five points deals basically with money and, as such, open the doors to a future influence on individual and corporate tax bills.

Last Atom Bomb In Nevada Ends Series In Army Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — America's atom masters have developed an assortment of bombs of staggered sizes and staggering reactions that yesterday with a full-scale A-Bomb explosion.

The first phase embraced the detonation of bombs ranging from the tiny tower shot perhaps the first A-Bomb — on Oct. 22 through steadily increasing, plane-delivered bursts on Oct. 28, Oct. 30 and Nov. 1.

It seemed to have all the attributes of previous major A-Bombs, including a flash and fireball that persisted to seconds. The fireball culminated in a tower of flame hundreds of feet high — something for which this reporter would find no precedent in previous atomic accounts.

MAIL CALL — At Chunchon, Korea, great stacks of mail bags wait alongside the tracks after being unloaded from the 'Red Ball Express' mail train.

'There Will Be None Of That,' Says The UN

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The United Nations command spokesman said today the Reds want to call off the fighting in Korea without signing a formal armistice.

The UN, he said, would have none of that. Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the spokesman, told newsmen the Reds tipped their hand Tuesday when they rejected the latest Allied proposal.

UNOFFICIAL ARMISTICE

There was speculation the Reds wanted an unofficial armistice (1) to get relief from Allied air poundings, (2) because it might pin down a great amount of the West's available military forces, and (3) because they can't stand another UN offensive.

King Warns Britain Of Inflation

LONDON — (AP) — King George VI, announcing the Conservative party's policy in a traditional speech from the throne, declared today Britain's defense program is threatened by inflation.

Speaking for the party in power, Winston Churchill's Tories — the King said the problem of inflation overshadows all others facing the new government. Prime Minister Churchill made proposals to tackle the problem "in the immediate future."

Ike Didn't Say Yes; He Didn't Say No

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who came to Washington to report on the status of Western Europe's defenses, goes south today, presumably with his own guidance.

There seemed reason to believe that out of a series of conferences the supreme command of Allied Forces in Europe, among other things, had learned: 1. How much and how fast American production could go in supplying munitions to equip, at the earliest possible time, a Western Europe defensive force of up to 30 divisions.

prisoners of war now in enemy hands is not even being considered by the United Nations command delegation.

"I don't think the United Nations has any intentions of walking away from Korea and leaving several thousands of its men prisoners in enemy hands."

Nuckols said Red rejection of the Allied proposal was in effect a turn down of a previous understanding between the Communists and the UN that hostilities would continue until an armistice was signed and that any buffer zone agreed upon before an armistice was only tentative and subject to final revision.

Immediately after Tuesday's six session, Maj. Gen. Henry H. Hodges, chief of the UN buffer zone subcommittee, said the Red rejection was "not a final, formal irrevocable rejection."

Nuckols, however, told newsmen he felt the turn-down was final.

An afternoon session was canceled, presumably so the Reds could study further the four-point Allied program. The subcommittee will meet again at 2 p. m. tomorrow (5 p. m. CST Tuesday).

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Follow Your Partner's Signals

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please tell us the correct play in this situation," requests a Brooklyn reader. "Both sides needed 90 points for the initial meld, and the card turned up by the dealer was a four. I was first, and I drew from the stock and discarded another four. The next player drew from the stock and discarded a jack."

"Much to my joy, my partner put down three aces and two jacks, which enabled her to take the discard pile. She now had three jacks and three aces on the table, and two fours among the cards in her hand. She discarded a queen, and the play continued."

"Everybody discarded safely for that round of play, and my partner drew from the stock, melded three fours, and discarded this left her with four cards in her hand."

"The next player discarded safely to me, and I held the following cards: A 10-10-10 9-9 8-7-6-5-4-2."

"What was my best play?" The answer depends slightly on how good a player the partner happens to be. Your course is clear if your partner is a good player, but your guess is as good as mine if your partner is a beginner.

A good player has a definite idea in mind when she melds the three fours at her second turn to play. She already has her initial meld on the table, and the three fours can hardly be considered an important meld. The only possible reason for the play is that she is ready to meld out if she can only get a base of four natural cards somewhere or other. At least three of her four remaining cards must be wild cards.

Hence you must co-operate by providing the base. You must add the red.

Drivers Fined Drunk Charges

Two men were fined in county court Monday afternoon for driving while intoxicated.

The men, Richard H. Daniels, 536 S. Reid, and Eugene Neal, Route 1, Pampa, were fined $100 and costs.

The ace and the four to her meld, thus giving her two bases. Then, you should add your deuce to either of those two melds. This will give your partner the maximum help. You should also meld your three tens to provide a pairing space for any odd ten your partner may happen to hold.

If your partner is a poor player, her play may have any meaning or none at all. It is still wise to add the ace and four to her melds, but you should probably stop right there. Save your deuce and your three tens until you see how the play develops.

As soon as picnic chiggers and mosquitoes are a thing of the past it'll be easier to get out of the red.

Road Test a Mercury for proof of performance!

Watch a Mercury show its stuff when the light goes green. Feel that comforting reservoir of surplus power for safe passing on the open road. Relax as Mercury eagerly responds to your slightest finger-tip command. No doubt about it, you're the boss when you drive a Mercury. For here's a performer that never wails when the going gets tough. Mountains are cut down to size by eight cylinders of high-compression V-type 8 power. Traffic tangles unravel before its sure-footed gait. Little wonder that Mercury is such a fast-growing star in popularity; you just can't beat its combination of performance, value, and prize-winning economy. Stop around for a road test and see.

Budget Test a Mercury for proof of value!

- Does it have a down-to-earth first price? Mercury's price tag you can easily understand—a big dollar's worth for every dollar invested.
- Will trade-in value stay high? Mercury keeps their value; used car market reports consistently prove it.
- Will you be sure of good gasoline mileage? Mercury has proved its more-miles-per-gallon by winning officially sponsored economy tests.
- Will upkeep stay low? You save money year after year. Mercury's famous stamper keeps repair bills at a rock-bottom low.
- Is it famous for long life? It is indeed! In fact, 92% of all Mercurys built for use in this country are still on the road, according to latest annual official registration figures.
- Does it represent solid value? Mercury owners say YES! So will you when you get the story from your Mercury dealer. See him soon.

Murder in Quotes

by Julius Long

THIS STORY (Chicago Mailer) has just been acquitted of the murder of Charlie Berman, who used bribery to obtain my license state land for an amusement park. My lawyer, Gene Sawyer, took a legal way to get the land back, even though the bribery can't be proved.

MY place on Minnevaiken Island, reached by an eighth-of-a-mile wooden bridge, looked good to me again as I parked in the drive. My father had built it on the waters edge—actually it was a glorified boat house, for there was room for two boats. The boat house was empty now; I'd sold my own 23-footer and the cabin cruiser my father had left me to pay attorney fees.

I was understandably skeptical of promises made by attorneys. Those high-powered fellows at the state capital had made one promise after another, and nothing had been exactly what they had done for me.

I just couldn't get steamed up by Gene's enthusiasm.

I got into the house by use of a hidden emergency key and found that Mrs. Matthews, my cleaning woman, had kept it first-class shape. I peeled off my clothes and threw them into a wastebasket because I didn't think the stink of the county jail disinfectant could ever be washed out of them. I got under the shower, and though the hot water had been turned off the shower felt wonderful. I had been there five minutes when I heard someone moving around in the house.

I quickly toweled, pulled on a bathrobe and went to see who was there. It was Cleo Canino, once Charlie Berman's girl, now Earnie's. She eyed me with sultry eyes that matched her coal-black hair. She had made herself comfortable in a lounge chair.

"Hello, Malloy," she said. "I'm a fool for coming here."

She was right. If she thought she was going to get anything out of me she was crazy. I wondered what she could possibly want.

"This may bore you," she said. "But I know you didn't kill Charlie."

That rocked me. I strode to her chair and looked down at her.

"How do you know?" I wondered if she had killed him herself. She had never been seriously considered as a suspect because she had sung at the Golden Garden, the night club Berman had stolen from me, the night of his murder. His place at Orchard Island was too far from the Garden, everybody decided, to make it possible for Cleo to have killed him. Besides, everybody figured me for the job.

"I know you didn't do it," said Cleo slowly, "because I got there just ahead of you. I was hiding in a bedroom all the time you were there. I saw you come in, and I saw you leave. I'd already found Charlie lying there, that revolver at his side."

I breathed a deep sigh. I wouldn't have to worry about Gene's theory borrowed from Marlowe now. Everybody was going to know I had not killed Charlie Berman. Cleo was going to tell them.

"Why didn't you tell the sheriff or the prosecutor, Cleo?"

"And get myself railroaded for the job? Everybody thought I had an alibi, and I was in the clear because of the distance from the Garden to Charlie's house. Nobody figured that I could have used Charlie's boat and cut from the tip of Queen Point to the Island."

I winced at my own stupidity.

Of course Cleo could have made the trip in 10 minutes by even a moderately fast speed boat, and Charlie's Season had been the fastest on the lake. If anybody should have known about that I should have, for the Season had been my boat. Charlie had sent a stranger to buy it. Not content with having my resort, he had to have my boat, too.

Mac Nearly Drowns In Social Swim At National Horse Show

By HENRY McEMORE

Every time I try to get in the social swim I come within a ripple of drowning.

Why can't I get it through my head that I am more Main Street than Mayfair?

The National Horse show closed at Madison Square Garden tonight and I'll be able to get back to my two-pants suit and quit wearing garters, letting my socks fall where they may.

The horse show opens the New York winter social season. Diamond stomachers which have been in hibernation all summer come out of their lairs. Multimillionaire dowagers, their joints with platinum juice and creak from Park, Madison and Fifth to the Garden.

Broad A's fly around as thick as the swallows at San Juan Capistrano. Gentlemen, old and young, wear coats of solid pet to show that they are steady patrons of the Dublin horse show. A man could set out traps and catch tons of chinchilla, mink, and ermine.

My seat, given to me by an old friend, Alden Calkins, publicity director of the show, was smack in the middle of the super social set. I tried not to let him down. I wore my very best sleeve holders, and cleaned the collar of my very last shirt with art gum. I don't want to brag, but everybody in my section was looking at me before the show was 10 minutes old, but it was not until I asked an usher if I could get a "hot dog" as I always do at boxing matches, that I heard the first diamond tins hit the floor.

The horses at the National Horse show are quite a bit different from the ones I was brought up on at Uncle Orville's farm in Statesboro, Georgia. In fact, most of Uncle Orville's horses were mules. Horse show horses have three gait and five gait — a back-breaking walk. But they surely could pull a plow. The only time they ever ran was when the day's work was over, and the sun was setting.

Then they'd head for home and the barn.

The only animal I ever rode with any confidence was a billy goat. He was four and so was I, and his name, believe it or not, was Billy. I'm quite sure that if there had been a class for billy goats in the National Horse show, I would have won it hands down.

Unblessed judges of billy-goat riding have told me that my form was perfect. So was Billy's. Many a horse lost points because of refusal to jump at Madison Square Garden. Billy jumped at everything. He could have been faced with a fence of stacked-up alligators and would have taken right off, beard flying in the wind.

Naturally, I didn't let on to the horsy, social folks around me that I didn't know everything about horses. I talked about such horse things as the stiff, heavy harness, h a c k n e y, Corinthian class, good mouth and confirmation.

Last night a bejeweled woman sitting next to me asked me if I rode. I looked at her as if she were out of her mind and said,

"Certainly, have been for years."

I didn't tell her that what I rode was the subway, crostownton trolleys, and the five-gaited elevators.

Harvesters Return To Work After Rest; Sandies Saturday

The Amarillo Sandies, who sport a six win, one lost record for their first season under a completely renovated coaching staff, will be guests of the Pampa Harvesters Saturday afternoon. It will be the 22nd meeting between the two schools, and the Harvesters will be aiming for their sixth win in the series which began back in 1930.

The prestige of the Panhandle goes along with this game, as well as a possible chance at the district 1-AAAA football championship. Whoever turns up on the short end of the score next Saturday is virtually eliminated from the race, with no hope of gaining a tie. Both have identical district records of two wins and one defeat. The Harvesters have Berger and San Angelo remaining on their schedule after Amarillo whereas the Sandstorm must wade through Abilene and Odessa, not the softest touches in the circuit.

DAY OF REST
The Harvesters will have quite a job on their hands with the Sandies. The biggest problem will be bouncing back from the 35-7 pasting last Friday at Lubbock. To prepare for the Sandstorm tilt, the Harvesters had a day of rest yesterday from their coaching staffs. The mentors figured the rest would do more good than anything for a sagging morale, and for some bodies, physically and mentally tired, after being "up" for almost six weeks for games against always tough Vernon, hefty Plainview, strange Abilene, strong Odessa and powerful Lubbock.

The pressure is now off, and the Green and Gold should be able to look at the Sandies and the rest of their schedule with blood in their eyes, and wait for someone to dump Lubbock.

The new Amarillo coaching staff is composed of head coach Bill DeFee and his two assistants, capable Solon Holt and Charley Watson. They have gotten off to a running start with a club backboned by 32 returning veterans and 12 lettermen, only one of whom was a regular on both offense and defense in 1950. He is 160-pound senior tailback Tommy Donnell. A D. Donnell has been one of the leading rushers and scorers in the district thus far.

MANY LETTERMEN
Among the other lettermen returning are Fred Way, senior 180-pound center, ends Hugh Cox, Stanley Bull and Donald Carter, fullback Kenneth McMullen, quarterback Jimmy Albright and Billy Witherspoon.

Among the victims of the new Sandstorm have been Childress, Plainview, Paschal, Ysleta, Bor-

Townsend Out Of Baylor Tilt Saturday; Menasco Returns

(By The Associated Press) SOUTHWEST Conference coaches can spend most of the week worrying about something else instead of injury lists.

With a little patchwork on lineups, most teams will hit the turf Saturday at full or near-top strength.

However, at the top of the list is Texas' fullback, Byron Townsend, who re-injured his left leg in the kickoff against Southern Methodist Saturday. Trainer Frank Medina said yesterday Townsend may miss both the crucial Baylor and Texas Christian games.

Linebacker Don Menasco, sidelined for the SMU game, will be back in the Longhorn lineup against Baylor.

Baylor has four with minor injuries but all are expected to be ready Saturday. They are Bob Knowles, Ronnie Black, Jerry Coody and Bob Reid.

The Bears scheduled a long workout today with the reserves scrimmaging the regulars.

KNIGHT HURT
Texas A&M probably will be missing linebacker James Fowler and defensive right half Bill Ballard in the Michigan tilt this week. Fowler has a shoulder injury and Ballard a kidney injury. W. T. Rush, offensive right guard, is still on the doubtful list.

Missing from the SMU lineup will be Pat Knight, who suffered a jaw bone injury last Saturday. Coach H. N. (Rusty) Russell said Knight definitely is out for the season.

Rice Institute starts a heavy workout today for the Arkansas game. End Bill Howton, who ger and San Angelo. The only loss was a rousing 47-6 affair to Lubbock.

The Sandies have taken surprisingly fast to the new T formation and winged T after being trained on the Michigan tilt offense under their former mentor Bull Lynch now employed in the Amarillo school system. They could sneak up on the Harvesters, being the silent club for a change, winning their games but not being heard about.

Tickets for the traditional scrap were placed on sale yesterday morning at the school business office in the city hall. A near-capacity crowd should be on hand for the game with the weatherman's cooperation.

Expect 22,000 At Lubbock-Odessa
ODESSA — (AP) — A crowd of 22,000 is expected for the Odessa-Lubbock high school football game here Nov. 16.

In less than four hours yesterday Odessa fans bought up 4,000 available tickets. Later this week 2,000 end zone seats and 2,000 temporary bleacher seats will go on sale.

Westerners Get Top Rate

DALLAS — (AP) — Lubbock has moved into first place in the Class AAAA schoolboy football ratings.

The Westerners, winners of eight straight games, took the No. 1 spot today in the Dallas News weekly poll. They replaced Lamar of Houston, which held the place last week.

Other than Lubbock's climb to the top, there were few changes in the top ten. Arlington Heights of Fort Worth moved into the select circle after a few weeks absence, taking No. 9 and bumping Abilene out.

- The top 10:
1. Lubbock.
 2. Lamar (Houston).
 3. Ray (Corpus Christi).
 4. Baytown.
 5. Pampa.
 6. Odessa.
 7. Post Arthur.
 8. Texarkana.
 9. Arlington Heights (Fort Worth).
 10. Amarillo.

Sports Round-Up

By-HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — Georgia (The Jumper) Ratterman re-joins the football Yanks today, after a season in Canada, and Coach Jimmy Phelan doesn't know what he's going to do with the guy. Though Ratterman did have a 48 percent average of completions in the last year and pitched 22 touchdown passes, Phelan points out he also had 24 interceptions. And Jimmy already has a fair country passer in Bob Celeri.

What's more, Jimmy points out, pro football has changed a lot in the last few seasons. "When Ratterman first attracted attention it was because of his faking. They said he was better than Frankie Albert and all that," Phelan says. "You can't get away with that any more. Those converging defenses — the Eagles' defense I call it — close in on you and by the time you make two or three fakes, they're sitting on you. So you've got to go into a spread and then they have to get those 225-pound linebackers out and put in some faster men." The Yanks, and most other teams, continue to use the formation, Jimmy adds — but gosh how the thing has changed.

HE NUDE IT
The ultimate refinement in the platoon system of football is reported from Elkhorn County High school, near Frankfort, Ky. Coach Allen Parr has only 13 players on his squad, so when he calls in a snowstorm, he puts the right side of his line on offense and moves the left side into a defensive "platoon" against it. Then he reverses the setup to try plays to the left side — what a spot to try a naked reverse!

Tennessee Holds Onto First Place In Nation; Baylor Tumbles To 16th

Texas Leaps Up To Tenth, TCU No. 13

By HAROLD CLASSEN
NEW YORK — (AP) — Mighty Tennessee's football team is the country's No. 1 college team for the third straight week in the estimation of the sports editors and broadcasters who participate in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Tennessee outfit, which trounced North Carolina Saturday, 27 to 0, snared 60 of the 152 first place votes and remained on top of the heap with 1,220 points. The Vols were mentioned on every ballot and their placings ranged from first to tenth.

SHAKE-UP
The shake-up beneath the Southern Conference club, however, was terrific with idle Michigan State slumping all the way from second to fifth and Illinois, victor by 7 to 0 over Michigan in a snowstorm, climbing from third to second. Maryland and Princeton also vaulted over the Spartans.

Baylor and California dropped out of the select group, their places going to Stanford and Texas. Below Michigan, State came Southern California, Stanford, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and Texas in that order.

Forty teams were mentioned on the flood of ballots, one oddity being that every member of the Southwest circuit except Rice drew at least one vote.

The voters pick Tennessee as the best by a margin of 80 points over Illinois, despite the declaration of Gen. Bob Neyland, Vol coach, who says his team is "vastly overated."

"We make no claims at all for ourselves," he said after his club romped over North Carolina. "We think there are many teams in the country better than we are. We don't think we have the men or the schedule to be rated the best in the country."

The Tennessee schedule, admittedly weak in the early stages, has Washington & Lee, defending Southern Conference champion, following North Carolina. Then the Vols take on three traditional Southeastern Conference foes in a row. They are Mississippi, Kentucky and Vanderbilt in that order.

Michigan State, erstwhile runner up, was idle last weekend while preparing for Notre Dame. The Irish have been lolling in the second division since spilled down from behind on the Kansas State two-yard-line last Saturday. The standings, first place in brackets.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (AP) — Two Negroes have been named leaders of popular football weekends at the University of Illinois for the first time in the history of the school.

Miss Clarice Davis, 19, of Chicago was named queen of the annual homecoming festivities to be celebrated this weekend in connection with the Illinois-Iowa football game.

Miss Davis was elected by popular vote of the students over eight other coeds. She is a senior in the school of liberal arts and sciences.

Last weekend, Pearl Gregory of East St. Louis, Ill., was "king for a day" at the annual Dad's Day ceremonies. Illinois played Michigan last week.

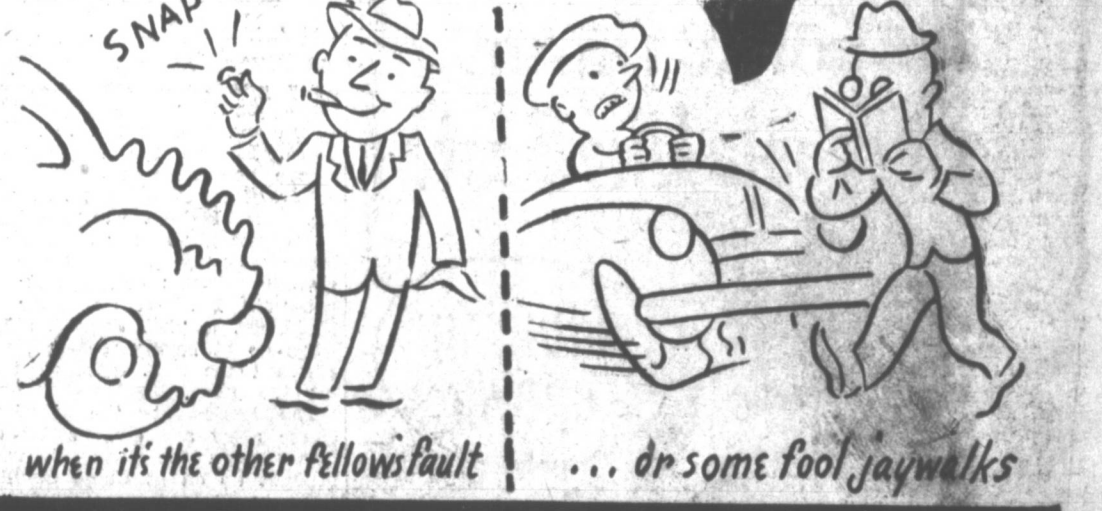

Gregory, the father of Vincent Gregory, an Illinois pre-law student, was chosen in a drawing.

Associated Press Sports Editor
DALLAS — (AP) — The progress of the Southwest conference, which this year is the nation's leader in intercollegiate football, more often brings a comparison from the Midwest.

The Midwest long has been called the strongest football sector in the country. It was until a few years ago.

There, comes a letter from "FIVE" of Amarillo, asking our opinion and some statistics to compare the Southwest with the Midwest. The letter writer asks the record of the two areas against each other in the past 10 years.

The answer is this: Only five of the Midwest teams have been played by Southwest conference teams. The results put the Southwest in the majority. These teams are Notre-Dame, Ohio State, Northwestern, Indiana and Purdue.

The Southwest won six games and lost three. The record of the Southern Methodist — Defeated Notre Dame and Ohio State once each, lost to Notre Dame and Ohio State once each.

Texas Christian — Defeated Indiana twice, lost none.

Texas — Lost to Northwestern once, defeated Purdue twice.

Texas A&M, Baylor, Rice and Arkansas have not played Midwestern teams in the past 10 years.

If Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Detroit, Wichita and Kansas are to be considered from the Midwest, the margin is much higher. Against all those teams in the past 10 years the Southwest has won 23, lost six and tied 10.

ALL-AMERICANS

The Southwest's excellence in football is well illustrated in the way it gets men on the All-American teams. Seldom does it fail to land at least two.

This year should be no exception. In fact, the Southwest conference ought to come up with about three.

Bobby Dillon of Texas looks certain for a spot on the defensive All-American. Larry Isbell of Baylor and Bill Houston of Rice are mighty strong for places on the offensive team.

Others who will make strong bids include Paul Williams of Texas, Dick Hightower of Southern Methodist, Lamar McLean of Arkansas, Ray McKown of Texas Christian and Jack Little of Texas A&M.

The pre-season hopefuls — Bob Smith of Texas A&M, Gil Bartosh of Texas Christian and Byron Townsend of Texas appear hopelessly out of it. Not even a great closing rush could hardly get the job done. Injuries and the showing of others have contributed to ward putting these three out of the straight.

LITTLE ALL-AMERICAN

Speaking of All-American, there's a little All-American picked each year, you know, and Texas colleges always come up with a man or two on the first team.

One fellow who is being boomed loudest is Les Wheeler of Abilene Christian College. Wheeler, a 215-pound tackle, was All-Texas Conference last year and has made every all-opponent team.

A strong recommendation for Wheeler came from the power-packed Carwell Air Force Base team which beat ACC. APB players said he was the best lineman they had ever played against. And most of those fellows were college stars, some playing professional football.

HALF-TIME TALKS

Speaking of football, some of the finest speeches to date are those made by coaches to their teams before or at the half-time of games.

Coaches have to be master psychologists and great story-tellers. Quite a few football games through the years have been won by what coaches said to their team.

But a fellow has to be careful what he says to his football team, testifies Harry Faulkner, who coached for many years.

Faulkner tells a heart-throbbing story of what happened to him and one of his players one time.

It was back more than 20 years ago when Faulkner was coach of Terrill Prep in Dallas. He had a good football team but it was under fire from sports writer Jinx Tucker of Waco, who said it played dirty. A game was coming up with Allen Academy and Faulkner told his boys to be extra vigilant that nothing was done in the contest that could be called unethical football. "Hit them hard and tackle them but be sure nothing is done to reflect on anyone," he said.

Came the game and during the first half Terrill Prep played "Alfonso-Gaston" football. The result was that Allen Academy led 7-0.

Faulkner had a boy named Gene Hamiter on his team. The boy had very short upper legs and gridiron pants had to be made especially for him. Faulkner had provided a new pair of pants for Hamiter before the Allen Academy game.

Quarterbacks Give PHS Coaches Standing Ovation

Three hundred and fifty members of the Pampa Quarterback club stood and gave an ovation to the Pampa Harvester coaching staff of Tom Capps, Aubra Nooncaaster and Dwayne Lyon last night at the regular club meeting in the Woodrow Wilson auditorium. This was the first meeting following the 33-7 defeat at the hands of the West-erners last Friday night.

"We were outblocked, outtackled, outrun and 'outstuffed,'" was the way Tipps reviewed the game. "I'm not saying that we could best them if we played them again. We just got a good old-fashioned country licking."

Tipps then went on to answer questions of the club members concerning the game and to give a short preview of the Amarillo Sandie squad, which comes to Pampa Saturday afternoon. Coach Marvin Bowman, head of the Reapers, also gave a scout report on the Sandstorm.

The quarterbacks then saw three films, the Pampa Odessa game, the Pampa-Lubbock contest, and the Texas Tech-Texas A&M game.

Have 1-5 Chance For Cotton Ducat

DALLAS — (AP) — Your chance of getting a Cotton Bowl ticket is about one in five, and there are requests for more than 100,000 tickets with only 23,000 available.

The public sale ended Sunday and all the mail postmarked prior to midnight of that day has come in.

There were between 30,000 and 40,000 letters in the boys have a lot of counting to do before they can announce the exact number. Each letter requested an average of more than three tickets. Each person is limited to four if he or she is lucky enough to have an application filled.

There will be a drawing, probably Friday morning, to determine the order in which the applications will be filled. Those not being able to buy tickets will have their checks returned to them.

Quick Thinking Saves Money

SHERMAN — (AP) — A Dallas woman did some quick arithmetic and decided it was best for her husband to be short $70 than her father to lose $600.

Mrs. Sid Ballou is visiting at the home of her father here. Yesterday a man with a pistol forced his way into the house about 4 a. m. and demanded that Mrs. Ballou get her father's billfold for him.

Knowing her father had $600 in cash, Mrs. Ballou substituted her husband's purse with only $70.

The gunman went away satisfied and unaware that he had been tricked.

Gene was quite proud of them.

At the half, Faulkner was talking to the team, telling the boys they were playing sissy football and exhorting them to get out there and play the game as it should be played. But Hamiter wasn't listening. Instead he was adjusting his pants, smoothing out the wrinkles, etc. So Faulkner just stopped talking and waited for Gene to look up. When he did, Faulkner said: "I suppose I should have provided papermache pants for you."

"The boy's eyes blazed," Faulkner recalls, "but he said nothing."

"The second half found my team making three touchdowns in five minutes and Hamiter played a great game."

Later Hamiter went to Southern Methodist but in a game suffered a rib broken. It ruptured his diaphragm. In the hospital he learned he was going to die. Faulkner was in his room in the early morning of the day Gene died. He was holding Hamiter's hand and talking to him when he was rational. Finally, he appeared to have dozed off. Faulkner leaned over the bed and rested his head in his hands. Then he felt pressure from the boy's hand. He looked up. "Coach," said Hamiter, "you didn't mean it that day you said I should have papermache pants, did you?" Faulkner told him he hadn't. "I didn't think so," said the dying boy, "but it always troubled me."

And so Gene Hamiter died contented. But Faulkner decided never again would he say anything like that to a football player.

A Kentucky man told a judge he stayed drunk a week because his wife talked too much. Sounds like he was holed stiff.

Here's T Quarterback That Embarrasses The Officials

ABILENE — (AP) — Abilene Christian College's Ted Sitton is a different kind of quarterback who not only fools the players and the fans but the officials as well.

Sitton, a 175-pound junior from Stamford, has scored in three games this season on a "keeper" play that baffled about everyone on the premises except his teammates.

Against Texas Western, 20-year-old Ted faked a hand-off to Tommy Hinson, driving fullback, then casually strolled around right end untouched — even unnoticed — for the TD. He circled the field judge, who immediately hustled toward the pileup at scrimmage and sought to determine "Hinson's" gain. A Wildcat lineman informed the red-faced whistle crew that Sitton had run right end and pointed him out, ball and all, in the Miners' end zone.

TRACK STAR

In ACC's 58-to-13 rampage over McMurry here, Sitton pulled the same trick, this time to the left side, and keeping his stride to a nonchalant gait until he blew a clear field ahead. Then the Stamford whiff (he runs the 100 in 9.5) turned on the steam for the necessary 20 yards and touchdown. Meanwhile, the referee and field judge were scrambling the "fake" ball carrier from the pileup near scrimmage.

Most recent embarrassment caused officials came in the Midwestern-ACC game. Sitton on that afternoon so executed the no-famous Wildcat "keeper" that an onrushing Midwestern lineman charged, practically brushing by Sitton to reach the man Ted had faked to. Three of the four

Ratterman Returns To Yanks, Big Fine

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Quarterback George Ratterman, who jumped from American to Canadian professional football, was restored today to the National Football League and fined $2,000 for "action detrimental to the welfare" of the league.

Commissioner Bert Bell, in announcing the passing star's return to the active player list of the New York Yanks, said Ratterman signed a new contract covering the balance of the 1951 season and the 1952 and 1953 campaigns with the Yanks.

It was intimated that the quarter-back would receive the same salary for the last six games of the current season as called for in his original contract and an increase for the next two years. The commissioner said Ratterman was being reinstated "under his existing three-year contract."

Ratterman, former Notre Dame star who began his pro career with Buffalo in the now defunct All-America Conference, quit the Yanks last summer to play with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Provincial League.

The NFL and Ted Gollins, owner of the Yanks, brought suit in the New Jersey court seeking to enjoin Ratterman from playing in Canada. But the judge refused to continue a temporary injunction on the ground that he did not have sufficient information.

As a result, Ratterman was permitted to play with the Alouettes.

In Hackensack, N. J., attorneys for Ratterman and Collins announced they had settled their differences and the suit had been dismissed.

Nature may have the best air-cooling system, but it'll be nothing to blow about during October.

Solution Given For Old Paint Coating

If an old paint coating is in bad condition, it can be removed with paint-and-varnish remover. The remover is applied to a small area, then allowed to stand a few minutes until it softens the old coating. With a scraping knife or steel wool, the old coating can then be taken off. Before a new coating is applied, the surface should be cleaned thoroughly with turpentine or mineral spirits to eliminate any wax that may have been in the remover.

That said election shall be held at the following polling places within the City of Pampa, Texas, and the judges and clerks for such polling places are hereby designated as follows:

POLLING PLACE NUMBER 1
 Ward Number 1, at the City Hall in the City of Pampa, Texas.

Miss Helen Dunlap Presents Program On Texas At National Convention Of Home Demonstration Agents In Dallas

MISS HELEN DUNLAP represents Texas

NATIONAL WINNER — Miss Mary Evelyn Jones, daughter of Mrs. Mary Jean Jones, Canadian, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clark, east of Pampa, has been selected winner in a national photography contest. Her picture is appearing in the National Children's Directory which is published by the Screen Children's Guild, Hollywood, Calif. (News Engraving)

Miss Helen Dunlap, Gray County Home Demonstration agent, was a one-woman good will committee for Texas at the National Meeting of Home Demonstration agent convention in Dallas last week end.

The local agent was chairman of a special program Sunday night. Hotel Texas is headquarters for the three-day convention at which agents from all over the United States who have in the past year of service will be honored. Miss Dunlap received distinguished 10-year honors at the national convention in Chicago two years ago.

At the Sunday night meeting Miss Dunlap presented highlights of Texas — highlights visiting agents would not see on their brief visit here. Her talk was accompanied with colored slides of Texas. Miss Corinne I. Stinson, Dalhart agent, operated the projector which included pictures of industrial and scenic spots of the state.

Miss Dunlap began her speech with a brief history of the state during pre-historic times with accompanying slides of dinosaur footprints found in Texas. She continued, pointing out that the state is basically agricultural and explaining the uses of machinery through the years to the present day. Slides showed the combine during a Panhandle harvest and the self-propelled combine that was created for more speed—the outstanding factor in agriculture.

"Early laws," Miss Dunlap told the convention group, "favored ranching, and the King ranch with its one and one-fourth million acres is the largest in the world. It was on this ranch that the shorthorn cattle were crossed with the Brahmas to create the Santa Gertrudis, the first breed originated in this country."

Continuing to tell of the industrial life of the state, Miss Dunlap related the story of the discovery of oil by two hunters who first used the oil as harness grease. Now, she said, 177 of 254 Texas counties produce oil. She also showed slides of the carbon black plants of Pampa and the refineries along the Gulf Coast. Other industries reviewed were the lumbering mills in the piney woods of East Texas, and the citrus fruit industry in the Rio Grande Valley.

Other slides showed the shipping points of Texas with emphasis on Houston, the second largest in the nation in terms of tonnage.

Following the presentation of the industrial life of Texas, Miss Dunlap described scenic spots of the state as slides were shown of Big Bend park, Palo Duro canyons and the fields and hillsides of Texas wild flowers.

Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock agent, was also a member of the program committee for the Sunday night session.

As an interesting sidelight, Tyler, the rose capital, placed roses in all guest rooms during the convention.

Last of the convention programs was to be held today.

Textile Painting Lesson Given At Hobby Club Meet

Mrs. Elmer Melton gave a demonstration on textile painting at a meeting last week of the Hobby club which met in the home of Mrs. George Howe.

Six members were present for the meeting.

The club entertained their husbands last week with a costume party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Brummett. The Halloween motif was carried out in decorations and costumes.

Mrs. C. Gatlin and Vern Savage won prizes for the best costumes.

We're trying to turn out the kind of citizen who can read between lines and listen between words.

Calvary Baptist Youth Have "Spook Party"

Young people of the Calvary Baptist Sunday school and training union were entertained with a Halloween party last week in the church basement.

Guests were met at the basement door, blindfolded and led to the "haunted room." After guests had gone through the haunted room, Mrs. Truett Stovall dressed as an old witch with a crystal ball and told fortunes.

Games included black magic, picking for life savers and bobbing for apples. Doris Mitchell and Morris Spencer were in charge of entertainment.

Members of the social committee were Geraldine Willis, Mildred Hurst, Sam Randolph and Don Spencer. Mrs. C. H. Spencer, superintendent of the young people's Sunday school department, Mrs. Stovall, director of the young people's training union, Mrs. Graham Reeves and Mr. Clyde Prince.

Refreshments were served to 35 young people and sponsors.

Daughters of Nile Plan Benefit Friday

Daughters of the Nile Lodge, Pampa Pyramid club, will be hostesses at a bridge and canasta benefit in the Palm room Friday from 2 to 5 p.m.

The lodge is composed of daughters, sisters, wives, and mothers of any Shriner. The group's project is to assist Shrine orthopedic hospitals in any way needed, and money from the Friday benefit will go to the crippled children fund.

Mrs. Paul Crouch, president, urged that reservations be made early.

The difference between the woman who enjoys being a homemaker and the woman who hates housework is mostly a matter of attitude toward the job.

If you like the job of home-making you can stop reading right here. If you "hate housework" stick around for a few more paragraphs.

For there is a very good chance that if you are willing to change your attitude, you will grow to like your job.

The woman who hates housework usually feels that it is beneath her, that with her brains and ability and talents she should be doing something more impressive.

She usually thinks of her job in terms of doing housework rather than in terms of making a home. And she usually takes the attitude that there is no possible way of taking any of the boredom out of housework, because the basic chores have to be done over and over, day after day.

All of those are mistakes. The woman who is a poor homemaker just because she feels dissatisfied with such a "small, unimpressive" job is undoubtedly overrating her own brains and ability. If she hasn't succeeded at the job of home-making she probably never would have succeeded at a career. Just admitting that fact would help to change a lot of women's attitude toward home-making.

The woman who "hates housework" wouldn't have that feeling if she thought more in terms of making a home and less in terms of keeping house. If her

Mrs. H. M. Wiley Named Chairman Of "Care-For-Korea"

WHEELER — (Special) — Mrs. H. M. Wiley will serve as chairman of the Thanksgiving season "Care-for-Korea" campaign in Wheeler. The Wednesday Study Club is cooperating with the General Federation of Women's clubs to help secure 100,000 CARE packages for orphans, refugees, and other civilian war victims in Korea. Donations may be sent to "members of the Wednesday Study Club."

Duffie Bags have been ordered to use in shipping clothing, blankets, etc. overseas. Any group or individual can secure one of these duffie bags in which to pack donations by calling Mrs. Harold Nash, president of the Wednesday Study Club. The CARE FOR KOREA program hopes to have all the donations in by Thanksgiving and make delivery by the Christmas holidays.

aim is to make a good home, the housework will fall into place as necessary to her main objective, which is the creation of a happy home. When a woman keeps her eye on the main goal, the work of achieving it is satisfying rather than depressing.

As for housework being necessarily boring, that is false, too. It can be lightened by skill, made more interesting by change, and by setting up goals to see how quickly the routine jobs can be disposed of.

If you really hate housework try liking it for a change. You can if you really want to.

'A Personal Thing,' Says Vet As He Returns Blood To Bank

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A wounded officer whose one-man battlefield rampage won him the medal of honor is now on a one-man campaign to get more blood for troops in Korea. "It's a personal thing with me," said Capt. Raymond Harvey, who at 31 has been wounded three times in two wars. "I'd be dead except for the 12 pints of blood and plasma I got. "And I want to pay it back." Harvey got hit twice and won two silver stars for combat heroism as a company commander in the 79th division in Europe during the second world war. He went ashore in Korea as a company commander in the seventh division and made two amphibious landings. The captain had been awarded a third silver star before the action last March 9th that won him the medal of honor, the nation's highest reward for valor. During his convalescence Harvey worked as a technical advisor on 20th Century-Fox's Korean war film, "Fixed Bayonets," and played a small role. He is now assigned to the Dept. of Defense's blood collection program. Hospital doctors told him he should wait a year at least before giving any blood himself. But recently, although his back still is draining from his unhealed wound, he insisted on making the first installment on his debt—a pint of his blood. "It didn't bother me at all," he said, "and the doctor says I can give a pint now every two months. There's nothing to it really—no reaction. I gave four pints at different times before the Korean war began." Harvey said he isn't disillusioned at the slowness of the American people to respond to urgent appeals for more blood. "Our people never let their soldiers down before," he said. "I don't think they appreciate how desperately the blood is needed. If they could just realize that the blood they give is the chief reason that 98 out of every 100 wounded men in Korea survive, they'd support the program 100 percent."

The centigrade scale, also known by the name of Celsius, has as zero the freezing point of water, while the boiling is 100 degrees.

Hamsters, small mammals widely used in laboratory research, are members of the mouse family.

"You're right, those really are gorgeous red leaves—they make me think of catsup on a hamburger!"

New Co-Op Gin Opens At Wheeler

WHEELER (Special)—The new Wheeler Co-Op Gin opened this week. The Wheeler Co-Op Gin society announced that they have employed Dorsey Hutchison as manager. Hutchison and members of the Co-Op invite the public to come and inspect their new plant. The old co-op gin was destroyed by fire last year. The new gin is on a new location on the same block.

Gore Says A-Bomb Can Now Be Used On The Battlefield

WASHINGTON (AP)—"The 'Atomic' bomb can now be used on the field of battle," Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) said upon his return after witnessing atomic tests in Nevada. Gore, chairman of the Atomic Energy subcommittee of the House Expenditures committee, told newsmen that "atomic bombs are no longer mysterious uncertainties—they are now specific, accurate, and certain." They are, he said, "specific as to type and purpose; accurate in delivery to the point of precision; and certain as to detonation and devastating effect." Gore was one of a party of five congressmen who saw the third atomic explosion from "several miles away." "Asked how big the bomb was, he replied 'I can't say specifically, but to me it looked big enough to destroy an enemy division, reasonably concentrated for attack.'"

In Hollywood A Girl Hasn't Time For A Man

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dating in Hollywood is different from Dubuque, and I don't mean only in the Payton-Tone set. A view of the more normal social life in the movie town is offered by Vera-Ellen, the dancing doll who has managed to elude marriage in seven years here. "How come?" "I've thought about getting married several times," said the hyperactive beauty. "But instead of thinking about it twice, I've thought about it 10 times and end up not doing it. The reason is that I had one unhappy marriage and I know how miserable it can be. Even the comfort of having a husband is not worth the risk of another broken marriage, if I feel there might be a risk." Vera-Ellen has been linked with such names as Rory Calhoun, Rock Hudson and Richard Anderson, but has never gone steady. "I don't believe in it," she said. "If you're going to go steady, you might as well get married. And I haven't reached that point yet." As a matter of fact, she continued, a Hollywood gal doesn't have too much time to devote to hunting a husband. "When I'm in a picture, I don't have much time to go out," she explained. "I have to be up at 8:15 in the morning, and that doesn't allow much night life. Often the studio will have premieres and other functions which I have to attend every week, so that just about takes care of the free time. Also, I am away much of the time on location and tours." Many a bachelor girl complains about the dearth of single male talent in Hollywood, and V-E hinted that she agreed.
