ITALY DECLARES WAR ON NAZIS

Rush B. Lincoln, at a ceremony held at a South Pacific base, in which the sergeant received the Order of the Purple Heart.

Roosevelt Loosens Up with War News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt showed increasing signs today of being less chary about giving out war news.

Roosevelt singled out as the important news of the day Britain's agreement with Portugal for use of Azores bases. He said it seemed obvious that in emergencies the United States would use British facilities to protect American lives and ships. Both Britain and the United States, he said, have assured the Portuguese they have no territorial ambitions in the islands.

This is the seventh of a series of articles, specifically designed to acquaint our readers with the various functions of the press in a democratic community.

I SAW...

Cpl. Joseph W. C. Tooley, talking the "works" in a razzing from Paul Blankenburg, the top kick, at state guard drill last night. Corporal Tooley found his winter issue shirt had been given to Mayor Fred Thompson, and the corporal had lost his tie. He added to this the chore of putting together the pack that was as complicated as the CPA, getting legions, mess kit, and steel helmet, and lugging the stuff off to lockers.

Job of Editor On Newspaper Is Outlined

The title "editor" is sometimes misunderstood by newspaper readers, not because they want to understand but because they have never been told just what the functions are of the person who holds this title. An editor, to explain it briefly, is one who superintends, revises or prepares literary matter for publication. The title does not necessarily mean that the policy of the newspaper is set or controlled by the editor. On large newspapers, there are many editors, and policy is usually decided upon by the managing editor. The duties of the other editors, city, sport, suburban, women's page and others, is simply to carry out the duties prescribed in the particular sphere.

While displaying no evidence himself of any deep-seated resentment, he did take out his frustration with things the traveling legislators have been saying about oil, Russian air bases near Japan, and American civilian trucks in Australia.

Fifth, Eighth Armies Smash Further North

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Battering down powerful enemy positions in central Italy, Allied troops have punched nine miles northeast of Pontelandolfo to seize San Croce, while the Eighth Army advancing along its entire front captured Riccia and Bonetto, official front line dispatches announced today.

The plunge to San Croce sent deeper northward the spearhead outflanking the strong German Volturro river line.

(Although this dispatch did not identify them, Fifth Army troops apparently took San Croce.)

Riccia, seized by the British, is only eight miles northeast of San Croce.

Along the Adriatic coastal flank, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops smashed four miles ahead beyond Termoli against strong German resistance.

Bonetto, 20 miles southwest of Termoli and five miles northwest of British-held Colletorto, was captured after exceptionally sharp fighting.

Southwest of Colletorto, patrols of Montgomery's British, Canadian and Indian troops penetrated six miles to the village of Santa Ella.

Along the Volturro river line, a tremendous artillery duel raged, with British and American artillery of the Fifth Army hurling hundreds of shells across the flooded stream.

The Nazis are reported to have brought up strong artillery units also, and front dispatches indicated whether Allied patrols, which succeeded in penetrating to the north bank to test the enemy's strength.

The break-through on the central front, which brought new treats of eventual flanking movements from the east against the Volturro line, also resulted in capture of the towns of Cercello, Colle and Cetelepagano.

On the Eighth Army front, from the Adriatic south to the mountainous backbone of central Italy, Allied gains were general, while enemy operations were uneven. At some points, British patrols forged ahead against only mild resistance, but the Germans fought back desperately elsewhere.

Possibility that the Germans are bringing heavy reinforcements to the Adriatic battlefield was seen in an air force announcement that Allied fighter-bombers had scored many hits on a train loaded with munitions.

The president stressed what he called the amazing record of American submarines in the Pacific and the destruction of enemy shipping faster than it can be replaced. In the last six months, he asserted, sinkings have averaged about 130,000 tons monthly, or about 1,400,000 tons a year.

ADL to give the people an idea of how they are helping to pour Germany by air, the chief executive produced more statistics.

In the 855-plane raid Friday on Bremen and Vegesack, almost 1,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 25,000 gallons of oil were used. The planes carried some 2,500,000 pounds of bombs, 2,750,000 rounds of ammunition, 800 pounds of maps, and more than 5,000 crewmen. They flew at least 850,000 miles and traveled 1,400 miles in taxiing, taking off and landing.

The office of War Information reported last night that the gasoline shortage will "intensify for the duration" because of swelling war demands.

Most of the presidential news conference was devoted however, to taking up statements of some of the five senators just back from a round the world inspection tour. Mr. Roosevelt made it clear that he thought this is no time to be stirring up bitterness.

While displaying no evidence himself of any deep-seated resentment, he did take out his frustration with things the traveling legislators have been saying about oil, Russian air bases near Japan, and American civilian trucks in Australia.

To a question whether he shared a British feeling that the current discussions about oil and post-war rights to air bases are unfortunate, he replied that he didn't know.

Pampa Flyer Will Return from China Soon As Real Christmas Present for His Mother

Mrs. Clyde Blackwell, 319 Warren, knew that her son was safe and sound in China, but she didn't know he was on his way home.

The News received an Associated Press dispatch late yesterday from Headquarters of the 14th U. S. Army Air Force in China, announcing that Capt. Lynn D. Blackwell of Pampa was among a group of officers and enlisted men from the first Mitchell bomber squadron sent to China who are returning to the United States after 17 months service overseas.

Captain Blackwell, the dispatch said, has one zero to his credit and is bringing home a "collection of decorations."

After every raid over Jap objectives, the Pampa flyer would send a cable to his family, announcing that he was well and safe. The last cable was received Sunday, although the family had no indication he was about to leave for home.

"I sent him four Christmas packages," Mrs. Blackwell said, "but I told him in a letter I'd rather have him home for a Christmas present and the packages can go to some of the other boys over there."

Today, it looked as though Mrs. Blackwell will have her wish, because before long her son should be calling her up long distance from Miami or some other port of entry. Lynn Blackwell enlisted in the air corps in November, 1940, and received his primary training at Sikeston, Mo., his basic at Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, and his advanced training and wings at Kelly Field, July 11, 1941.

He was sent to Pendleton, Ore., helped patrol the West Coast after the Japs attacked us, then was transferred to the East Coast for patrol duty. He volunteered for duty in China and left the States May 2, 1942.

His group was the first American army unit to begin operations in China after the Flying Tigers were disbanded.

Civilians to Get Poorer Gasoline, Smaller Supply

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Civilian drivers were bidden by the office of war information today to expect poorer gasoline and less of it, because a big share of the fuel produced in the East, Southwest and Midwest must be shipped abroad in 1944 and 1945.

The domestic gasoline shortage will "intensify for the duration," said an OWI report on civilian supplies, and even the Pacific coast, which now has high stock levels, faces the prospect of "more severe rationing."

OWI conceded several governmental errors in the handling of the gasoline problem but contended that:

"The government has met military demands fully, demands unprecedented in modern warfare. It has maintained essential civilian transportation, although at times with difficulties."

Civilians are getting 1,200,000 barrels of gasoline daily, instead of the 1,700,000 they got in 1941, OWI said. The military now is getting 30.6 per cent of all gasoline produced east of the Rocky mountains, but next year will get 36.6 per cent and in 1945, 39.6 per cent.

"Not only will there probably be less automobile gasoline, but its quality will become progressively poorer," OWI said, increasing use of "Tetra-ethyl lead for fueling aircraft and military vehicles means further curtailment of this component in civilian gasoline, with a consequent decline in motor and mileage performance."

An error in estimating "off-the-highway" use of gasoline—farm tractors, sawmills, etc.—contributed to this year's drain on East coast supplies, OWI disclosed. It was discovered that off-the-highway use was four times greater than reckoned.

The secretary emphasized that he thought a much-needed boost in coal output could be accomplished best by the achievement of a contract with the United Mine Workers.

UMW President John L. Lewis had promised that the miners would disregard their traditional "no contract, no work" attitude and dig coal for the government until October 31.

The next step assured coal production for the impending winter appeared thus to be up to the war labor board.

Commissioner George D. Stoddard ordered yesterday the closing of a school where negro children were taught in the same class rooms, under a ruling of the New York state education department.

Parents of the negro children, alleging racial discrimination, had kept the children at home since last month, despite court fines, which were suspended pending appeal to the state.

'Youngsters' Accused of Bottlenecks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A congressional committee charged today that "inexperienced youngsters" holding some of the top personnel jobs in Washington "constitute a real bottleneck" to the government's war effort.

The youthful executives lack "the experience and tact" necessary in "top-notch management officials," declared the house civil service committee headed by Rep. Ramspeck of Georgia, the Democratic whip.

"Experienced executives have been turned down completely or ignored by these younger personnel officers," the report added.

Other findings in the committee's unfinished investigation of federal jobholders:

"Government workers are 'blowing up' their own descriptions of their jobs and getting salary hikes ranging from $600 to $1200 a year for doing practically the same work."

Some administrators build up "personal machines" of friends on the payroll who move with them from job to job.

"The bald fact is—the uncoordinated departments of the executive branch of the federal government lack an over-all, centralized authority with powers of management control," the committee said.

"Until this situation is corrected the taxpayers can expect a continuance of needless hiring and duplication of effort."

"It is too obvious to state that the chief executive lacks the time to give to general management. It simply would be humbly impossible even to peace-time time management, therefore, cannot be laid at the doorstep of the chief executive."

The investigators centered their fire on the young personnel executives and the "blow up" method of boosting salaries.

"As the result of the apparent over-emphasis on the importance of a college degree for personnel officers," the report said, "numerous highly efficient men and women have been lost to the war effort."

Plains Geology To Be Explained

Deep from the earth comes the wealth of Gray county, the precious oil that means a modern and thriving community.

How does it happen there is a vast store of petroleum in the Panhandle? What is the background of the wealth of this area?

Those are the questions that Jerry Knight, Amarillo, a division geologist for the Phillips Petroleum company, will explain in a talk entitled "Geologic Characteristics of Oil Producing Formations in the Panhandle," to be delivered at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the junior high school auditorium.

The talk will be a part of the regular monthly program of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

Also on the program will be the showing of a motion picture titled "To New Horizons," and a talk by speaker to be assigned by J. W. Garman, chairman of the Pampa United War Chest campaign, who will speak on the drive that opens on October 25.

H. V. Anderson, chairman of the Panhandle API chapter, will preside at the meeting.

Due to a last minute change, "To New Horizons" will be the picture shown instead of the Canadian hunting picture announced in letters sent out to the API membership.

As are all API meetings of this kind, the program tomorrow night is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Nazi Air Force On Defensive in Russia

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—With the German air force reported definitely on the defensive over the vast Russian front, Soviet armies were steadily developing their ever-widening bridgeheads on the west banks of the Dnieper river today, and have, according to Berlin, launched a new power drive north of the key city of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

North did not expand on its report of the new Russian drive "north of Kiev" but said that strong Soviet attacks have been taking place since Monday and that "heavy fighting was still in progress" yesterday.

The Russian war bulletin mentioned fierce fighting in the battles of the Dnieper, but failed to mention specific areas. It recounted deeper penetrations "many miles" west of the river and indicated that the pincer enveloping operations around Kiev were proceeding satisfactorily.

Girls Urged To Observe Code

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Teen-age delinquency among girls should be fought with this slogan: "When the soldier is on leave, the American girl is on duty."

Juvenile Court Judge Camille Kelley of Memphis, Tenn., told the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers last night.

"Teen-age girls 'should laugh and dance with the soldiers,' Judge Kelley said, but they must be made to realize 'that they too, are soldiers, and when the boy is on leave, the girl is on duty.'"

"Few would be guilty of violating the code, knowing it was sabotage," she said. "And it is sabotage on the girl's part."

Badoglio Announces Action, Approved By U.S., England, Russia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin announced today that Italy had declared war against Germany.

The White House said Marshal Badoglio had communicated Italy's declaration against her former Axis partner to General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater.

In his message to the general, Badoglio said that "by this act all ties with the dreadful past are broken and my government will be proud to be able to march with you on to the inevitable victory."

In a joint statement released by the White House, Mr. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin accepted "the active cooperation of the Italian nation and armed forces as a co-belligerent in the war against Germany."

Italy thus turned against her former partner a little more than a month after her armistice with the Allied powers.

"The present arrangement will in no way impair the untrammelled right of the people of Italy to choose their own form of democratic government when peace is restored," the marshal said.

"Italians! I inform you that his majesty the king has given me the task of announcing today, the 13th day of October, the declaration of war against Germany."

The British, Soviet and American governments acknowledged the Italian pledge to submit to the will of the victors, but said the Nazis have been driven from their homeland.

Mr. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin said it was understood that See ITALY Page 5

Britain Hails Portugal Action

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—British newspapers, apparently reflecting the general opinion here, today hailed Portugal's action in granting Britain naval and air bases in the Azores as another proof of Germany's waning military strength.

There was growing hope, too, that Britain, Turkey and other neutral nations might follow Portugal's example and extend military facilities to the United Nations. Britain and Turkey are parties to a treaty similar to the 570-year-old Portuguese-British agreement under which yesterday's action was taken.

The move means a modern and thriving community. How does it happen there is a vast store of petroleum in the Panhandle? What is the background of the wealth of this area?

Those are the questions that Jerry Knight, Amarillo, a division geologist for the Phillips Petroleum company, will explain in a talk entitled "Geologic Characteristics of Oil Producing Formations in the Panhandle," to be delivered at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the junior high school auditorium.

Thunderbolts Thrown Into Pacific War

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Japan's badly mauled New Guinea air force now has to reckon with a new sky menace—the P-47 Thunderbolt.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today that four of these new fighters piled into 32 Japanese fighters over Wewak, New Guinea, Monday and sent at least eight down to join the approximately 500 enemy aircraft which have been wiped out there since mid-August. Two others may have gone down.

The four Thunderbolts were unscathed.

One Thunderbolt pilot, Col. N. E. Kearby, 32, of Dallas and San Antonio, Tex., got five Japanese planes to become an ace in a single engagement. He also got credit for the probables. And he carried a record of three downed enemy planes into the battle.

Survivors of the big enemy fighter formation, which was escorting 12 bombers, broke off the engagement.

But the Japanese air force got in some licks elsewhere. The communiqué said the enemy raided Guadalcanal on an unspecified date and caused damage to American shipping in those Solomon waters. Other enemy planes struck three times at General MacArthur's newly acquired air base of Lae, New Guinea.

In ground fighting, headquarters said that Australians mopping up northwest of captured Finschhafen had killed 400 Japanese. Other Aussies moving along the Ramu valley against the enemy coastal base of Madang continued to oust the enemy from outpost positions on high ground.

A spokesman at Admiral William Halsey's South Pacific headquarters disclosed that for the first time in the war New Zealand ground forces had gone into action in the Solomons theater and had led the mopping-up of Japanese troops on Vella LaVella Island.

After landing Sept. 18, elements of the third New Zealand division under Maj. Gen. H. E. Barrow, clough pushed rapidly up the island's west coast to contain the enemy in a five mile coastal strip and to block the enemy's heavy losses. Enemy attempts to evacuate the island were thwarted Oct. 6 when U. S. destroyers sank three warships.

Other Allied air blows reported in the communiqué included strikes in the Solomons against concentrations of barges around Choiseul. Gun positions on south Bougainville also were reported.

Headquarters reported that an Allied reconnaissance "bomber" attacked a six-ship convoy off New Ireland Monday and hit one ship.

New Recipe for Fall Menus

HERE'S a "different" dish for either lunch or dinner menus. Corn and Bacon Rings are delicious to eat and add a colorful note on the table.

6 slices bacon 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 eggs Pepper to taste 1/2 cup glassed whole kernel corn 1/4 cup baking powder 1/2 cup milk 3 tablespoons enriched flour

Line muffin tins or custard cups with sliced bacon. Snip edges with kitchen shears to prevent curling. Beat eggs slightly, and add well drained corn. Sift flour, salt, pepper and baking powder together and add to corn. Stir in milk. Fill bacon rings with this mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 35 to 40 minutes or until firm. Unmold and serve at once.

'Waste' Kitchen Fat Is Ammunition

Homemakers are needed to enlist in the fat conservation army. Fat is ammunition at home and abroad; and the smallest bit is not too little to save.

Fats are valuable in the diet, not only because they supply energy, but because of their effect upon good health.

Certain fats carry fat soluble vitamins and others are the source of the essential fatty acids which are needed, particularly for healthy skin. In addition to their importance as a food, fats are a valuable source of glycerine for explosives.

It is up to each homemaker to get the most from every bit of edible fat and to save and sell used fats, which are no longer desirable for food preparation, says Jessie Alice Cline, home economist. Fat conservation is more than saving fat itself. It includes properly caring for all fats before, during, and after they are used for cooking.

Here are a few points to remember: 1. Store fat in a cool dark place at all times. This includes the pound of fat bought which often sits on the kitchen table instead of on the refrigerator shelf and the little cup of drippings that is sometimes kept on the range, or in the sun on the kitchen table. Containers for storing should be clean and closely covered.

2. Never throw fat away. Every little bit helps—trimmings, drippings, skimmings from soup stock—all are valuable. A tablespoon saved per day means almost a pound a month. Multiply this by 35 million families and the big savings for food and ammunition can readily be seen.

3. Render all fat trimmed from meat. Any excess fat from steaks, chops, roasts and ham slices should be rendered and used. The trimmings should be finely chopped or ground and rendered very slowly in a double boiler or over low heat.

4. Do not overheat fat. When rendering fat or when cooking with it, never let the temperature be so high that the fat smokes. Smoking fat is burning fat and burning fat is less palatable and less easy to digest. High temperatures also cause fats to become rancid more easily.

5. Use fats for frying, seasoning and shortening. Whenever possible, use rendered fat and drippings should be used in cooking. Drippings from roasted or broiled meat may be used for frying and seasoning vegetables; drippings from bacon, smoked ham, salt pork and sausage are especially good for frying eggs, apples, liver, potatoes, and other vegetables. Use unstrained drippings for gravies. Strained drippings or rendered fat may be used for seasoning vegetables and in making cream sauces, meat sauces, and salad dressings.

Meet The Lady

This week the News will present a series of articles introducing members of the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club in observance of National Business and Professional Women's club week.

Vada Lee Olson, 420 Sunset Drive, is another active member of the Business and Professional Women's club, coming to Pampa in 1935.

She has been employed by Southwestern Investment Company for one year. Her husband, Leonard E. Olson is in the Southwest Pacific and has been stationed overseas one year.

Geneva Schmidt has been a member of the B. P. W. club for three years, coming to the Panhandle from near Duncan, Okla.

She is treasurer of Gray county and says her hobby is "more work." Mildred Pickett moved to Pampa from Ft. Worth 10 years ago and has been business manager of the Pampa hospital since 1934.

Mildred's hobby is the study of people, as she believes that this topic is the most interesting of anything she has ever studied.

Elma Vanderberg came to Pampa from Berger in July, 1942, and joined the Business and Professional Women's club last fall.

She is a teller and secretary in the Citizens Bank and Trust Company. Mrs. Vanderberg says her hobby is "bragging about my grandson who will be two years old in December who walked when he was nine months old and talked making sentences when he was 18 months old."

Evora Crawford, 914 Duncan, has been a member of the Business and Professional Women's club for one year, coming here from Kansas.

She is employed at Byrd's grocery and says her hobby is writing to her son in England.

"Consumer Goes To War" Is BPW Program Tuesday

Business and Professional Women's club met Tuesday night in the city club rooms for a business meeting which opened with the president, Maurine Jones, presiding.

Minutes were read by Vera Lard and roll call was taken.

Lillian Jordan, social chairman, outlined plans for a costume Halloween party to be given October 28 at the city club rooms.

An announcement was made of a district conference to be held in Amarillo, Sunday, October 24, when a banquet will be given by the Amarillo Business and Professional Women's club. Pampa members who plan to attend the conference are asked to telephone Mildred Picketts before October 20.

Ann Chapman, health chairman, gave a talk on work to be done in the Red Cross each week. Francis Craver then gave a talk on "What Our Club Should Do For Red Cross."

She also asked club members to help supply furniture for McLean internment camp guards. Ida Hughey was appointed radio chairman.

Mildred Lafferty, membership chairman, announced plans for an open-house to be held in the city club rooms on Thursday evening with Evora Crawford and Tommie Stone in charge. The program will be given by members of the LaRosa Sorority.

Jessie Stroup, publicity chairman, spoke on the need for housewives to save all kitchen "waste" fats for their purposes. She announced that these fats would be collected from housewives by civic groups and sold to the market from where they will be shipped to ammunition factories.

"These kitchen fats should be free from drugs and meat scraps and should be placed in a closed container where they will be free from moisture," Mrs. Stroup said.

Three new members who were initiated into the club are: Victoria Williams, Cabot Companies; Vera Tops Gilreath, State Department of Public Welfare; and Wilsie Blakney, Selective Service office.

Gladys Robinson, public relations chairman, and her co-chairman, Madeline Johnson then took charge of the program presenting the topic, "The Consumer Goes To War."

Agnes Bergman outlined the effect the war had been on American people; Ida Hughey spoke on inflation cooperation with our government; Margaret Dial spoke on ceiling price laws; Ann Chapman gave the affirmative of the question, "Should We Ask For Higher Wages?" and Evora Crawford spoke on the black market.

Following the meeting the group had coffee at a local coffee shop. Guests present for the meeting were: Mollie Kennedy, Wainwright, Pauline Forman, Clarice Dixon and Fay Moorehead, all members of the LaRosa, sorority.

B. P. W. club members; Maurine Jones, Madge Rusk, Vera Lard, Agnes Bergman, Laura Belle Cornelius, Elma Gies, Madeline Johnson, Lillian Jordan, Mildred Picketts, Mildred Lafferty, Lillian McNutt, Vada Lee Olson, Gladys Robinson, Ida Hughey, May Elta Powers, Jessie Stroup, Geneva Schmidt, Tommie Stone, Nadia Patterson, Madge Rusk, Katie Beverly, Frances Craver, Ann Chapman, Evora Crawford, Margaret Dial, Vickie Williams, Tops Gilreath, Wilsie Blakney.

Two simple steps to amazing New STRENGTH... better LOOKS!

1 - Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2 - Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

These two important steps may help you to overcome the discomforts or embarrassment of sour stomach, jerky nerves, loss of appetite, underweight, digestive complaints, weakness, poor complexion.

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

So with an abundance of digestive juices PLUS RICH, RED-BLOOD, you should enjoy that sense of well-being which denotes physical fitness.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yes, have no organic complication or local infection, S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—there's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again!" At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes, 65¢, $1.50.

Tuberculosis Group Headed By H. A. Yoder

Harlan A. Yoder, principal of Woodrow Wilson school, Pampa will direct the Gray County Tuberculosis association in 1943-44, succeeding W. E. James, who has been president of the organization for the past two years. James, former county treasurer, is now business manager of the LeFors Independent school district, having resigned his county office to take the school job. Chief activity of the tuberculosis association is the annual sale of Christmas seals, held each year in the period between Thanksgiving and January 1. Money raised in this way provides the funds for the prevention and cure of tubercular cases. Other new officers of the association, elected Oct. 7 at a meeting held in the office of W.B. Weathered, county superintendent of schools, are: E. Rex Reeves, LeFors Independent School District superintendent; vice-president, B. B. Altman, Jr., Pampa, secretary-treasurer. Composing the executive board are Weathered, James, Reeves, Supt. L. L. Stone of Pampa, Supt. Carl Chaudoin, McLean, Supt. A. M. Walker, Albrecht, Huey, W. L. Laycock, Hopkins principal, Mrs. A. A. Proctor and Mrs. E. L. Anderson, president of the city council of parent-teacher associations, both of Pampa.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have headaches?  YES  NO
Do you lack pep or vim?  YES  NO
Do you get irritable easily?  YES  NO
Do you feel depressed—nervous?  YES  NO

Everybody knows that poorly digested food often causes a headache, sluggish condition.

But you may not know that Nature must produce each day about two pints of the vital digestive juice—liver bile—to help digest your food. If Nature fails—food doesn't digest properly—you may get irregular. And the amount of this vital digestive juice may be still further reduced. Thus, digestive upset and sluggishness can follow each other in a vicious circle that keeps you feeling rotten. Therefore, take Carter's Little Liver Pills because they start bile flowing quickly—often within thirty minutes. When bile flow increases—you may help your digestion. You're on your way to feeling grand all over again. Remember—you can't get these same results from laxatives that fall to stimulate the flow of bile. If you feel headachy, listless, irritable or depressed, get a 25¢ package of Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drugstore today. Take as directed. Tomorrow see how fit and alive you'll feel!

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

American Who Won't Fight for Country Can Choose Another

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—An American citizen who asserted he would not fight for his country because it had never done anything for him was pointedly invited by a federal judge to pick another and thus become a modern "man without a country."

Judge Carroll C. Hincks gave Stanley Mocarjy of Hartford 30 days to decide whether he wished to quit his native land forever after the latter pleaded guilty to failing to report for induction.

"Inasmuch as Mocarjy doesn't like this country," said Judge Hincks, "I have given him ample opportunity to pick another."

The jurist did not say specifically what penalty would be imposed on Mocarjy should the accused refuse to leave the United States. There was no word from Mocarjy either as to whether he would accept the court's invitation.

Bullitt Daughter To Wed Marine

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Nineteen-year-old Anne Bullitt, hostess of the American embassy in Paris when she was 15, is engaged to marry Second Lieut. Daniel Baugh Brewster, Jr., USMC, of Brooklandville, Md., stationed at Quantico, Va. Her engagement was announced by her father William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France and Russia, now Democratic candidate for mayor of Philadelphia.

More Combines Will Be Made

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The farmer's chances of purchasing a combine will be much better next year because 38,000 machines will be manufactured in 1944, an increase of one-third over 1943 production. Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla.) said he has learned from the war food administration.

The Oklahoman said the WFA told him that an additional factor in the farmer's favor was that the "production and delivery" schedules had been set ahead almost four months.

Foreign Oil Operation Of U. S. Changed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—The petroleum administration for war has announced reorganization of its foreign operations branch in a series of directives pointing toward wider use of oil reserves abroad, including those held by our Allies.
The action followed by five U. S. senators lately returned from an overseas inspection trip that insufficient utilization of foreign oil was imposing an unwarranted drain on U. S. stocks, but one PAW official said the reorganization, and the criticism were not related.
Petroleum Administrator Ickes, in a series of directives, ordered:
That PAW's foreign operations committee no longer function in a purely advisory capacity but be empowered to order direct utilization of American-owned fields abroad. (U. S. companies have heavy holdings in Venezuela, Iran, Iraq and Arabia).
That the committee be authorized to utilize, without regard to ownership or control, tankers, cargo vessels, barges, terminal storage, refining, blending, dispensing and other facilities to transport and handle petroleum from the supply points nearest to the areas to be supplied, to prevent any waste effort.
That the committee be empowered to arrange purchases, sales, exchanges and loans of petroleum products between suppliers, importers, and other persons to accomplish the most efficient foreign operation.
(This would cover acquisition of oil from British or other Allied fields closer to the fighting fronts than U. S. ports, as the returned senators recommended.)
The committee was specifically

Sabotage Grows In France, As Nazis Hit Back

LONDON, Oct. 13—(AP)—The rising tide of sabotage in France has driven the Germans and their Vichy collaborators to the sternest repressive measures, including new attacks on Jews and a decree giving mobile guards the permission to shoot on sight.
Pierre Laval, chief of government, is bluntly described by Jacques Barthelemy in the Paris radio and recorded in London by Reuters. Barthelemy said the "harvests are burning, railway lines are being blown sky-high and trains are derailed."
Everywhere French National Socialists are falling under tommy-gun bullets while the army of terrorists is moving about freely almost under the protection of the robes of judges who are only too ready to acquit criminals," he added.
Pierre Laval, chief of government, in a broadcast heard by the Associated Press, said that persons reported assisting Allied airmen shot down in France now risk the death penalty.
The blow at the Jews came from Dr. Joseph P. Pellego, commissioner for Jewish relief, who was quoted by DNB over the Paris radio in a broadcast heard by the Associated Press as urging the expatriation, and economic and social elimination of Jews as a fundamental policy.
Meanwhile, indications were that the Germans were being forced to put in effect the rigid measures they intended to save for the control of restless France after the Allied invasion began.

Gas Rations Cut in West

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—Motorists of the Far West now get three gallons of gasoline instead of four for their A, B and C ration coupons.
The Office of Price Administration, putting the curtailment into effect, said it was dictated by "tremendously increased demands for military needs."
Ickes also announced a group of American geologists soon will inspect the oil fields of the middle and near east as a part of a program of the Petroleum Reserves Corporation for better use of foreign oil sources. On the mission will be E. DeGolyer whom Ickes called "one of the world's outstanding petroleum geologists." William Embury Wraether, director of the geological survey, and others whose names Ickes said he would announce soon.

Lumber Supply Is Now Critical

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—Lumber has stepped into the forefront of the country's critical war materials while aluminum supply has been expanded sufficiently to permit new stock-piling of virgin aluminum ingots.
Carbon steel has moved to within about 10 per cent of estimated requirements for the first quarter of 1944.
The possibility of new controls over lumber was seen in the disclosure that military demands, both for constructing overseas and for the crating and packaging of weapons and war materials, had brought that once plentiful material into the top urgency category.
The problem of using up mounting piles of secondary, or scrap, aluminum left over from aircraft manufacture has become one of WPB's major worries, but virgin aluminum is being produced in quantities sufficient to meet the needs of a 1944 aircraft program 50 per cent greater than this year's warplane schedules.
A search for uses for scrap aluminum has been under way for some weeks. WPB is considering permitting the manufacture of limited quantities of washing machines and some other civilian items in 1944, but the manpower shortage is a prime obstacle to the channeling of any substantial amount of scrap aluminum into consumer goods production.
Rubber will be a continuing problem throughout 1944, because of difficulties encountered in fabricating the new synthetic into tires. Copper still is "extremely tight" officials said.
J. Phillip Boyd, director of the war production board's lumber and lumber products division, told a congressional committee the nation faced prospects of a tighter situation in the lumber industry during the coming winter but added that it was "not hopeless."

The nation needs their support. And, tho it means endurance and self-sacrifice, the business women are accepting their responsibility in a truly admirable way.

Police To Curb Students Unsafe Driving Habits

Reckless driving of high school boys and girls must stop, Police Chief Ray Dudley said today, commenting on an accident that occurred at 3:30 p. m. Monday when a high school girl was knocked down by a car driven by a high school boy.

The girl was not seriously hurt but the accident served to emphasize warnings issued to students in the past.

As high school classes are dismissed each afternoon, six to eight students walk on one side of the street and an equal number on the opposite side. Cars are driven recklessly down the streets leading from the school. All this creates a dangerous situation.

"The streets are for automobiles and students should use the sidewalks. Furthermore, we have already arrested boys driving automobiles who did not have operator's licenses. The boy whose car knocked down the girl the other day, was given a ticket immediately after the accident by a patrolman who chanced to be driving on that street."

"We intend to stop this reckless driving and to give tickets to all who don't have licenses," the chief stated.

we should try to create bitterness. Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) has suggested a million American lives could be saved if American planes operated against Japan from Russian bases. Mr. Roosevelt had a memorandum, prepared in advance, on that. Questioning whether anyone was ready to stand up and say Russia ought to go to war with Japan now, he said the Japanese would try to stop us from using Russian bases. They would invade Siberia, he said, and Russia would resist.

But maybe, he went on, Russia isn't ready to take on Japan because she has something more important to do—knocking the Nazis down to stay.

Several of the globe-girdling senators have contrasted the drain on American and British oil resources. Mr. Roosevelt said he did not think the running of a war could be based on who owns the oil and where. It is based, rather, he asserted, on the nearest place you can get it.

Another senator, (Senator Brewster, R-Me.), the president remarked, talked about 30,000 civilian trucks going to Australia a year. Actually, he said, referring to another memorandum, 21,135 trucks went over in 2 1/2 years, in a period when 750,000 trucks went into civilian use in this country.

The trucks were civilian, the chief executive declared, only in that they were not of military design. Besides, he said, the truck shipments were approved by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Observing why the British press had displayed some bitterness over the airing of senatorial views, the chief executive said the London Daily Telegraph had characterized secrets laid before the senate in executive session as childish nonsense and called for public debate on the whole matter on grounds the long range results would benefit Anglo-American cooperation.

That, Mr. Roosevelt said, was why he was of two minds. It takes time, he said, to dig up stuff like that which he had been talking about, but it does lead up to a more sound public opinion.

So, he declared, in one sense it's a damned nuisance—perfectly easy to answer—and in the other sense probably it's a good thing. It makes for publicity and discussion, and he said he never has deliberately dodged that.

JAMES E. OLIVER

James E. Oliver, above, of Houston, president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker at the Pampa Jaycees regular weekly luncheon at noon Tuesday. He was accompanied here by John Ben Sheppard of Gladewater, 1942 president, and Taylor Cole of Midland, both now national directors, and by Paul D. Dolan, Panhandle, executive vice-president. Theme of Oliver's talk was that Jaycees at home should continue their patriotic endeavors despite inroads made on the membership by induction of Jaycees into the armed forces.

the dual role of preparing literary matter for publication, and of deciding upon policy as well.

Essentially the editor is a human being, writing and dealing with men, women and children. He may be young or old, lazy or energetic, bold or timid, superficial or deep, querulous or constructive, slovenly or business-like, grasping or generous. He is certain to be human. He reacts to praise and criticism to good and evil in much the same way as those who share community life with him. The editor, and this is true of 99 per cent of all small town editors, recognizes the inherent decency of the country side. He is still sufficiently old-fashioned to believe with his readers that the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule have never been repealed, improved upon or modified by modern advances.

The editor is a student of community affairs. He has at his disposal records of public organizations in the community, and it is from his study of these records that he makes his editorial comment. He is not easily swayed by hysteria. Like the people he serves, he uses good common sense in his reasoning. The editors of weekly newspapers serving the rural areas are a greater power than most people suspect, for it is a political fact that more members of the legislature and congress are elected from the rural areas than from the cities.

It is the editor who decides what is fit and what is not fit to print. It is he who differentiates between news and propaganda. It is he who can if he will, give the leadership that every energetic community must have. He is not hard to get along with, but has a code of ethics which often cause him to refuse business rather than accept it against well grounded principles. He is not a super-human. He is a hard-working individual doing an important job in the community to the best of his ability, and if at times he fails in his task, it must be remembered that he is like every other human being in the community, heir to the frailties with which all mankind is endowed.

ITALY

"nothing can detract from the absolute and untrammeled right of the people of Italy by constitutional means to decide on the democratic form of government they will eventually have."

But in a joint statement they added that the relationship of co-belligerency, of itself, could not affect the armistice terms, which retain their full force and can be adjusted only by agreement among the Allied governments "in the light of the assistance which the Italian government may be able to afford to the United Nations' cause."

Badoglio advised Eisenhower that he took "great pleasure," in informing the general that the Italian king had declared war on Nazi Germany and that the declaration would be handed by the Italian ambassador in Madrid to the German ambassador at 3 p. m. (Greenwich time) today.

The marshal asked Eisenhower to communicate the information to United Nations governments and to advise the Italian embassies in Ankara and Buenos Aires, and the legations in Bern, Stockholm, Dublin and Lisbon.

In his proclamation to all Italians, Badoglio recalled that when the armistice was signed, his government, ordered Italian troops to remain with their arms at rest but prepared to repel any act of violence from any source.

"With a synchronized action, which clearly reversed an order previously given by some high authority," Badoglio said, "German troops compelled some of our units to disarm, while, in most cases, they proceeded to a decisive attack against our troops. But German arrogance and ferocity did not stop here."

"We had already seen some examples of their behavior in abuses of power, robbery, and violence of all kinds perpetrated in Catania while they were still our allies. Even more savage incidents against our unarmed populations took place in Calabria, in the Puglie and in the area of Salerno."

"But where the ferocity of the enemy surpassed every limit of the human imagination was at Naples. The heroic population of that city, which for weeks suffered every form of torment, strongly cooperated with the Anglo-American troops in putting the hated Germans to flight."

"Italians! There will not be peace in Italy as long as a single German remains upon our soil."

Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin also spoke of "brutal maltreatment by the Germans of the Italian population," which, coupled with military events since Sept. 6, culminated in Italy's declaration of war.

Overweight Oil Undermines Your Car

Why Lightest grades of oil are made safe for you by changing to Winter OIL-PLATING

Any oil that has been doing its best in your car for a while back, will be badly overweight this Winter. Everything ever said about not being caught with overweight oil goes double today on account of rationing. Your battery has been undercharged, because your car runs fewer miles for every start you make. Your gasoline has been wasted by the drag of overweight oil. Your engine has been abused because it hasn't been able to stay warm steadily enough for ideal lubrication. Your car could approach the end of its rope with any overweight oil apt to become jelly-like. Before Winter causes that, go light.

Whatever you do, change oil for lightness. At the same time though, you can make the whole big change to an OIL-PLATED engine, by getting popular-priced Conoco Nth motor oil—just as light as needed. OIL-PLATING is lubricant applied to inner engine surfaces as closely as the chromium-plating on your bumpers. The "magnet-like" properties of a Conoco Nth synthetic are the basis of OIL-PLATING. No plating would all drain down to the crankcase fast. It can long remain at its topmost point to safeguard the very first starting stroke. And immediately after that, even the lightest Conoco Nth oil assures an extremely strong normal type of fluid oil film. Oil film and OIL-PLATING are both present to rebuff wear, and that's how your engine can go through a long Winter—and a long War—always using its lightest possible Nth oil economically. Change at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station today. Continental Oil Company

Dread Engine Acid is Fought by OIL-PLATING
Normal combustion always leaves acids inside of your engine when it stops.
Formerly it seldom stood idle long. Soon mileage and speed heated your engine enough to oust acids.
But nowadays rationing may force long rests, while corrosive acids gnaw. To combat corrosion, metal's plated. You combat acid corrosion with your engine OIL-PLATED.

Various Allied Political Groups May be Formed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—The political-military commission set up to deal with war-born problems in the Mediterranean area may be the forerunner of a whole series of Allied commissions assigned to different world regions and tasks.

That was the belief expressed in some quarters today as state department officials displayed confidence that a broad, basic pattern for other regional groups can be worked out at the forthcoming Moscow conference.

Agreements reached at the meeting of British, American and Russian foreign ministers will be forwarded to the Mediterranean commission—British-American-Russian—French—at Algiers.

Following up objectives thus outlined at Moscow, the commission will investigate problems in the Mediterranean, particularly the administration of Italy, and make recommendations to the four governments concerned.

Diplomatic sources disclosed that the American attitude on Italy to be presented by Edwin C. Wilson,

100-Octane Gas Plants Rushed To Completion

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—Official concern over the rate of bringing new 100-octane gasoline plants into production—although the program already is ahead of the schedule fixed only last year—offers substantial evidence that still more terrible things are being prepared for the Axis.

Just a year after making their first 100-plane attack on the European fortress, American bombing planes began going over in forces four times that large. The power used in such missions is reflected all the way back to this country in increased demands for training, testing and transport.

While the present output of the super fuel for planes is several times larger than anything foreseen in pre-Pearl Harbor estimates, the United Nations flying forces could use still more—not only in more and bigger raids, but in new and bigger warplanes in greater numbers than had been thought possible.

The concern over 100-octane fuel plant construction was emphasized by the decision of Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Corps, to revoke his ban on tours by returned war heroes and warplanes to permit two bomber crews and their battered ships to visit 26 plants in 15 states. The crews will tell their stories to some 20,000 construction workers in an effort to dramatize the importance of the building program.

One crew in a Marauder named "Old Hellcat," which has flown in 50 fighting missions, already has started an 18-stop journey from Maryland to Texas.

There now are nearly 50 plants making 100-octane gasoline, with about half as many more under construction. Eventually 126 plants will be operating.

Children to Purchase Gettysburg Address

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 13—(AP)—More than a million school children of Illinois, long the home of Abraham Lincoln, are principals in a new collection drive—donating their pennies and nickels toward a goal of $60,000 needed for the purchase of an original manuscript of the martyred president's Gettysburg address.

School superintendents in the state's 102 counties are in charge of the drive, described by Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction, as a "practical exercise of patriotism." An "average donation of five cents from each pupil will bring the manuscript to a permanent shrine at Springfield, center of much Lincolniana.

Nickell said the genuineness of the Lincoln manuscript which is to be purchased has been affirmed by Paul M. Angle, state historian, and he said it was worth "far more than $60,000." Angle said that higher offers had been refused because the owners, unidentified, wanted the manuscript to remain in Illinois.

Nickell said the manuscript on which he has an option is in a Morocco-bound volume and is in a Chicago bank vault. It will be brought here, under guard of state police, and displayed in the rotunda of the court house at nearby Lincoln, Ill.

Plans call for formal presentation of the manuscript to the state historical library at Springfield on Nov. 19, the 80th anniversary of Lincoln's address dedicating the national cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa.

Mud, Dust Add To Pacific Discomforts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—If you've any complaints about the weather, forget 'em and read this description of the mud and the sun in the South Pacific:

"It's the only place in the world," says Lt. Col. Orin H. Rieley, Jr., veteran of Pearl Harbor and the battle of Midway, "where you can stand in mud up to your knees and get dust in your eyes. That's how fast the sun dries out mud when it reaches it through the jungle foliage."

Colonel Rieley, holder of the air medal and of the silver star and the distinguished flying cross, with oak leaf clusters, adds succinctly:

"There's no wishful thinking or early optimism on New Georgia or Guadalcanal."

Wildcat in King County to Get Test

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 13—(AP)—Preparing for a test later in the week, Humble Oil and Refining Company has set and cemented five and one half inch pipe in its No. 1 Bateman Trust estate—a King county wildcat—at 3,688 feet, and will test later in the week.

The Record News says the well, in section 101, block "A" of the J. R. Rector survey, had the first real show of oil in King county. The well is about five miles east of Guthrie, Tex.

It was reported as drilling line showing oil topped at 3,688 to 3,703 feet, and later, on a drill stem test, at 3,688-3,703 open 30 minutes, to have recovered 670 feet of dark oil and 130 feet of oil-cut mud, with some brackish water.

Sinatra Steals Show From Jersey's Hague

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 13—(AP)—Frank Sinatra stole the show from the political spellbinders as Mayor Frank Hague staged one of his famous home-town democratic rallies.

Sinatra, who used to be a cub reporter on a newspaper down in Hoboken on the Hudson riverfront a few miles away, sang four songs Monday night and threatened for a time to get the folks' minds completely off New Jersey's scrimonious gubernatorial campaign.

No one under voting age was admitted to the rally in Lincoln High school to hear Mayor Vincent J. Murphy of Newark, the Democratic candidate for governor.

But, outside, Sinatra fans clung to porches and choked the streets, chanting demands for their idol to romanticize them.

Mayor Hague finally came out, escorting Sinatra, and strong police lines had all they could do to hold back the swarm of youngsters.

King Relatives Lose Oil Lease Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—Review of a fifth circuit court decision upholding a lease to the Humble Oil and Refining Co. of rights to oil and gas on the King ranch in Texas has been refused by the supreme court.

The litigation involved whether trustees exceeded their power in leasing the oil and gas in 1933. The lease was challenged by Edwin W. Atwood and two other children of Mrs. Nellie King Atwood, daughter of the late Mrs. Henrietta M. King, in a suit against Alice G. K. Kleberg and other beneficiaries under the will of Mrs. King.

Atwood also contended that he and his associates should be given an undivided interest in minerals of all land belonging to the estate.

Chicago Bear Feuding With Texas' Baugh

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO, Oct. 13—(AP)—Foremost in the National football league's statistical race is the feud between Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins and Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears for the 1943 passing title.

With Cecil Isbell back at his old haunts at Purdue as assistant coach, Luckman and Baugh have a free hand to strike for one of the league's most coveted honors. However, at this early stage Rookie Ronnie Cahill of the Chicago Cardinals is keeping stride with the two veterans.

Although Luckman gave the former Holy Cross player a lesson in passing Sunday when the Bears beat the Cards, 20-0, Cahill has a record of 24 completions in 45 attempts for a gain of 278 yards. Luckman, taking third place behind Isbell and Baugh in the aerial division last year, is throwing as never before. He leads the league with 27 completions in 51 attempts, gaining 550 yards and hurling for six touchdowns.

Luckman and Baugh head the "old guard" contingent which pushed aside the league's freshmen this week in individual accomplishments. Tony Canadeo of Green Bay took over as the leading ball carrier with 187 rushing yards and also topped the list in total offense with 365. Detroit's freshmen, Frankie Sinkwich and Chuck Femenbeck, dropped to second and third in ground-gaining with 153 and 141 yards, respectively. Canadeo's average gain a run is 7.2, bettered only by the 7.7 of his teammate, Joe Laws, whose running has accounted for 139 yards.

Veteran Eddie Rucinski, Cardinal end, was best pass receiver with nine catches for 150 yards, while the 1942 champion, Don Hutson of Green Bay, has accepted eight for 124. Each has scored once.

Dean McD Adams of Brooklyn, runner-up to Baugh for last year's punting title, is trying to clinch it this time after averaging 40.9 yards on 17 kicks. Green Bay's Lou Brock has the best average, 41 yards, but has punted only five times.

Coach At Roby Also Preacher, As At LeFors

ROBY, Oct. 13—(AP)—The Rev. C. W. Parmenter, who combines coaching with preaching, is doing all right at both. He hasn't been defeated at either job.

The 50-year-old Methodist minister took over the Roby high school football team this year when no coach could not be obtained. He never had coached before—in fact, never had played the game. But he wanted the boys to have their football; besides, he liked a good sermon, either for the Lord or on the gridiron.

LeFors has a counter-part to the Roby coach in the Rev. N. S. Daniels, who is now serving as coach of the LeFors high school football team. He offered his services to the school when no regular coach could be obtained.

The Roby man went to the Texas coaching school, studied the T formation and decided he would use that at Roby although his team was green and light.

First concern was some equipment. He got out a program that needed $285 as a starter. Now he finds the season will cost him at least $100 of his own money. He gets nothing for coaching and teaches four hours a day in the school.

Well, Roby has played four games, winning the first 6-0 and playing to a scoreless tie in each of the others. So Roby not only is unbeaten but unscored on and one team it played against boasted a 180-pound line. Moreover, the Rev. Parmenter says that outfit was lucky to hold his boys to a draw.

The team is using the T formation mostly but the boys also are running some of their plays from last year—a few box formations and wing-backs.

He says Roscoe, with all of its first string of last year back including a 200-pound line, likely will win the district championship but "we are going to try to knock them for a row of stumps."

Proudly, the Rev. Parmenter comments that his boys "have almost quit cursing and not a one of them smokes."

There's Still No Smiles For Joe McCarthy

By JUDDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(AP)—This is a story about why the New York Yankees have won seven American league pennants and six world championships of baseball in the last eight years.

It also is a story about Joseph Vincent McCarthy, the truculent, 55-year-old Irishman who is the manager of the Yankees and the only man I ever knew whose mouth turned down at the corners when he laughed.

Coming back on the train from St. Louis, where the Yankees had just finished tramping on the Cardinals, McCarthy was sitting up late at night with newspapermen in a diner.

"You'd think I would be able to sleep tonight," Joe said, "but I can't. Now that the pressure is off I just want to sit here and relax."

Someone passing from one group of celebrants to another stopped to congratulate McCarthy and told him he had done a great job with a bad ball club.

The hot Irish temper, always close to the surface, flushed up in McCarthy and he retorted in a bristling voice, "who says it is a bad ball club? I never said it was."

"I'll tell you something," he continued, his tone mellowing as quickly as it had hardened, "I knew at Asbury park last spring that this club would win the pennant."

"I knew it and I'll tell you why. It had the championship spirit. That's what wins pennants."

"You can look at a player and tell he's a champion. If he is then it doesn't make a lot of difference about his batting average, or about his making errors now and then. If he's a champion he'll win for you."

Yet there was more to the Yankees' triumph this year than just spirit. There was expert handling of players, fitting new parts into an old machine, and maneuvering of a pitching staff which was sometimes unpredictable.

There were days when the Yankee players were the cream of the crop, great stars like Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Joe DiMaggio, Red Ruffing, Lefty Gomez and others, and a lot of people said the manager was about as important to their winning repeated world titles as the bat boy.

McCarthy likes to tell how a fan once told him managing the Yankees must be the easiest job in the world and Joe replied, "Yes, I spend all summer at Atlantic City and just show up in the fall to have my picture taken with the team at the world series."

Nobody has told McCarthy anything like that for the last two years. In the muddled baseball scene caused by the war he finally has been recognized as the man who makes the Yankees champions.

chair and we'd never touch him."

Only three teams remain undefeated and untied in Texas college football and at least one of those will take the count this week.

Boasting perfect records are Southwestern, Texas A. & M. and Texas Christian.

Southwestern, with four victories in which the Pirates have scored 128 points and allowed the opposition only seven, lead the parade.

Southwestern Friday night plays North Texas Agricultural College at Austin and a greatly strengthened NTAC outfit might knock off the star-studded Pirate outfit, but it is certain that one of the two other teams with unblemished records will tumble since they meet each other.

A. & M. and T. C. U. might both fall from the select circle should they play to a tie at Fort Worth in the Southwest conference's top game Saturday.

Texas and NTAC each has one defeat and in both instances it was I told them (the British) we intended to become a maritime nation and intended to stay one. I said we would do it by co-operation, but if they don't want to cooperate, we'd stay one anyhow.

DiMaggio's Wife Sues For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13—(AP)—Sgt. Joe DiMaggio of the U. S. army, former star outfielder for the New York Yankees, was sued for divorce Tuesday by his wife, the former actress, Dorothy Arnold.

She asserted the ballplayer earned more than $50,000 last year, and that they have $100,000 in community property. Mrs. DiMaggio asked $500 a month for her support and $150 monthly for their child, Joseph Paul DiMaggio III, now two years old, whose custody she asked. She also asked a share of the community property.

I believe that depriving people of food, confining them in unheated buildings, robbing them of their clothing in spite of cold weather should be treated on a par with ordinary murder and that the German criminals guilty of these crimes should be tried for murder.

Making new ones out of old ones

Old gondolas rebuilt from used materials in Santa Fe Shops

Many a veteran Santa Fe gondola, already marked for retirement, has had to take a new lease on life these days. Battered, broken and ready to quit, these hard-worked cars no longer had the strength to hold their loads. Somehow, these "old boys" had to be kept rolling!

So Santa Fe shopmen got busy. They took old steel ends from broken-down box cars, and rebuilt the old gondolas with steel sides, and a new, steel-reinforced floor—all made from old, used materials.

Now, these rebuilt old gondolas are proudly hauling coal and ore today to the mills, war material to Army camps, tanks and guns to waiting ships—and doing their part in unifying an entire nation together into one banded war effort.

Here's How It's Done

Old steel box car ends are cut in half, and the two halves, "A" and "B," reassembled and riveted to the frames of the old gondola. Old steel beams are used to reinforce new floors in place of the original wooden beams. The running gear is completely overhauled.

That School Page Joke

On The Little Harvester high school news page in last Sunday's Pampa News there was a joke to which one reader filed objection in a letter to the editor published yesterday.

The author of the letter expressed opinion that he thought the joke was unfunny and that the student editors of the school page probably needed some adult supervision.

In fairness to the editors of The Little Harvester, we have discovered that they had nothing to do with the joke which merely was picked up by a printer for use as filler. It was one of the newspaper's regular fillers and was not placed there by the student editors.

For anybody just coming in at this point, here's the joke to which the reader objected:

"Tenant (to janitor of apartment)—What was all that swearing I heard going on down the hall this morning?"

"Janitor—Oh, that was Mrs. Murphy. She couldn't find her prayer book."

If this was offensive to anyone, The News wishes to assure that there was absolutely no malice intended.

Anyway, the high school pupils had nothing to do with it.

Perversion of Authority

To those who insist that we can beat Nazism without adopting Fascism, it is disturbing to note the complete defiance of all democratic processes and which Fiorello La Guardia, mayor of the country's largest city, attempts to do good.

New York's mayor was asked by hotel and restaurant people to sponsor an appeal for butterless luncheons in public eating places. In view of the butter crisis (while large supplies lie in storage) the suggestion was proper, and an appeal from the mayor would have been equally proper. But instead of an appeal came a lawless order.

"I know that all sanitary restaurants and sanitary hotels will comply," said the mayor. "Get what I mean?"

Yes, we get it. If a restaurant fails to heed the Little Flower's "appeal" it will be hounded out of business with sanitation violation complaints. If it complies, minor violations will be viewed "sensitively." We know. All dictators use the same method.

Deconcentration

Commerce Secretary and RFC Chairman Jesse Jones believes that when the war is over local business should be given first chance at buying the government-owned war plants and converting them to civilian use. The RFC has more than $7,000,000,000 invested in such factories.

In general, business will welcome this attitude, as well as Secretary Jones' insistence that the government should not manufacture for civilian use after the war. Some plants will prove suitable only for use by major producers. But many can be converted to the purposes of relatively small independent businesses.

90% NEWSPRINT CUT IS POSSIBILITY (The National Publisher)

A United States Congressional committee investigating newsprint, although holding out the possibility of increased paper production, declared recently that the alternative was a reduction of 30 per cent from current levels unless manpower recommendations of the Canadian industry were carried out.

Chairman Lyle H. Boren of Oklahoma said that if the action of the Canadian selective service director, Arthur MacNamara, in urging farmers to meet the manpower demand and other measures fail, American newspapers and other publications will be forced again to curtail the vital services they render.

Large Deficit: Combining the potential shortages in the United States and Canada, Mr. Boren said that 3,750,000 more cords of pulpwood were needed. This equals roughly 2,000,000 tons of paper, or about 30 per cent of the current American and Canadian use of 6,000,000 tons of book, magazine and newsprint paper a year. If the deficit were made up entirely at the expense of newsprint, the cut would be 80 per cent. A 30 per cent reduction would mean shipments of newsprint at a rate of 148,000 tons a month, against 210,000 now.

THE FINEST DRINK

A glass of fresh water, according to a recently returned Boston army nurse who has been in Algeria, is the greatest luxury. Certainly soldiers who have been slogging along in the dust of Sicilian roads, with nothing but chlorinated water or the lava-flavored wine of that island to wet their whistles, would agree with the nurse. The vote would be unanimous among the soldiers, sailors, and marines who have fought their way into the jungles after the wily Jap.

Connoisseurs in water, who exist in greater numbers than connoisseurs in wine, differ on the best vintage of mother nature's purest gift to man. Some say that water from a mountain spring is best. Others prefer it from a well, tasty, to slight degree, with the flavor of moss and stone. State of Maine folk often champion water from a lake, like Portland's famous Sebago. Others, completely citified, insist that water is best when taken from a river and refined, by devious ways of science, into something that will pour easily thru a faucet.

Those who have tramped thru "the bush," whether our own big woods or the dry forests of Central America, know only too well that nothing but water truly quenches thirst. Champagne is all very well for weddings and the tinkle of a properly made julep sounds delightful on a hot day. But what goes down quite so easily as good water, anywhere in the world? Other commodities—cold creams, lipsticks, silk stockings, wines, and caviar—are the luxuries which we can do without. Water is the great essential to a man's well being.

A young sergeant just back from Asia sums it all up in his own way in writing to a buddy still at the front. "You'd find a lot of changes coming back to America now," he writes. "But probably more important are the unchangeable little things you never thought about until you got over there. Like the water you can drink from the faucets."

"THE GOD OF THE MACHINE"

By ISABEL PATERSON

Since this column has said much about inalienable rights and the importance that the government recognize them, I know of no one who has traced their origin better than Isabel Paterson in her book, "The God of the Machine." I quote from her explanation, "Rights are by definition inalienable; only privileges can be transferred. Even the right to own property cannot be alienated or transferred; though a given item of property can be. If one man's rights are infringed, no other man obtains them; on the contrary, all men are thereby threatened with a similar injury.

"There is no collective good. Strictly speaking, there is not even any common good. There are in the natural order conditions and materials through which the individual, by virtue of his receptive and creative faculties and volition, is capable of experiencing good. Let it be asked, is not sunlight a common good? No; persons do not enjoy the benefit by community, but singly. A blind man cannot see by community. The same degree of sunshine may induce sunstroke in one person while another derives benefit from it; although incidentally, it will not even be the same ray of sunlight which falls on both. Alexander the Great, with the power of empire at his command, asked Diogenes: 'Is there anything I can do for you?' Diogenes replied, 'You can stand aside from between me and the sunlight.' Man as an individual is capable of experiencing and inflicting both good and evil, having choice, and also incidental liability to error in judgment. Allowing for error, good is obtained by reception and mastery of the forces of nature, and through voluntary association of individuals in equal free choice. But even in such voluntary relations of individuals, it is possible for one person to receive pleasure while another experiences pain; there is no collective sum or equation of good; the greatest good of the greatest number is a vicious phrase; for there is no unit of good which by addition or multiplication can make up a sum of good to be divided by the number of persons. . . . The fact that there is no collective good does not controvert the fact that man has natural and social relations, which are also of the spiritual order. And it is this spiritual possibility which the collectivist society forbids expression. The Christian society differs fundamentally from previous forms, being organized for the full development of personality. The cleavage is most clearly evident in the institution of marriage. Under the Christian dispensation, a valid marriage can be made by consent of the two parties, and not otherwise; nor can it be nullified by parents, guardians, or the community, against the will of the married couple, because every person is born with a right to a life of his own. And the parental authority, in the Christian society, cannot extend to the power of death or real injury to the child; it is only co-extensive with the necessity of care and nurture, arising from the natural relationship and the moral obligation voluntarily undertaken in marriage. Natural rights and natural obligations, personal rights and personal responsibilities, volition, and the moral sense are inseparable."

ONLY ONE GOVERNMENT GIFT

The Real Bill of Rights democratic government has only one thing that it can give to an individual at less than cost. It has no moral right to give anything else to an individual at less than cost.

The only thing the Bill of Rights democracy can give to an individual and not charge him the full cost of the service is protecting him in his right to pursue life, liberty and happiness. It should not charge each individual in exact proportion to what this protection costs the government to render to an individual. It is like an insurance policy—all should pay on a uniform rate in proportion as they enjoy the fruits of protection and all should have equal protection.

The trouble with our country is that we have strayed far afield from this objective of a government. It is because we have gradually abandoned this policy and attempted to give many things at less than costs to certain groups of people that we had before the war the worst and longest depression in our history. It is because prior to thirty years ago we more nearly followed this practice than any other country in all the world that we had the highest standard of living in all the world.

MODERN WINDJAMMERS

(The Chicago Tribune)

Carrier based planes are given credit for the strong raids the navy made recently on the Gilbert Islands. In contrast, carriers do not appear to have played a significant part in our northward advance thru the Solomons.

Lt. Comdr. William C. Chambliss, writing in a recent issue of the United States Naval Institute Proceedings, gives a possible explanation for the navy's failure to use aircraft carriers in the Solomons. He observes that modern carriers are as dependent upon the vagaries of the wind as were warships in the days before the invention of the steamboat. Then the admiral wanted to have the wind with him; now he wants to buck it.

Airplane pilots, Lt. Comdr. Chambliss says, need a 30 mile wind blowing down a carrier's deck when they land or take off. They must have somewhere near that force of wind to make either operation safe. An aircraft carrier is at a disadvantage when it enters enemy waters with the wind behind it. On such a mission the carrier must keep planes in the air all day long unless it is protected by land based planes. Its airplanes must be refueled frequently. Hence, the carrier heading downwind toward the enemy must turn about every hour and a half or so to launch more planes and to take aboard the planes that require refueling. The fleet accompanying such a carrier is held back with it and escorts and carrier may advance as little as 36 miles in a 12 hour day, while burning oil sufficient to cover many times that distance.

Comdr. Chambliss points out that the prevailing wind in the Coral sea and thruout the Solomons blows from the southeast. American carriers, sailing up that sea past Guadalcanal toward Jap held strong points on New Britain would have the wind at their stern, approaching the enemy.

Unless we had sufficient land based planes so that the carriers would proceed up the Coral sea safely without launching their own planes, their progress would be dangerously slow, the commander says. The enemy would have ample opportunity to locate the carriers and attacking fleet, the element of surprise would be lost, and the carriers, slowed down by constant maneuvers, would be ideal targets for enemy planes and submarines.

News Behind The News

VOTES—Franklin D. Roosevelt will not run for a fourth term if he heeds the advice of some of his most observant scouts who have toured the country within the last few weeks. He can be beaten, according to his own emissaries, if the Republicans do not make a colossal mistake in the nomination of their ticket.

Word is that the grass-roots folks are mad at Washington. People resent rationing, bungling and the incessant squabbling in the Capital. They feel that they, not the Administration, are winning the war by the labor of their hands and the sacrifice of their sons. Back in "the stocks" neither the President nor Chief of Staff Marshall gets credit for doing the Axis.

Some of the White House messengers report that Mr. Roosevelt does not make a colossal mistake in the nomination of their ticket. Word is that the grass-roots folks are mad at Washington. People resent rationing, bungling and the incessant squabbling in the Capital. They feel that they, not the Administration, are winning the war by the labor of their hands and the sacrifice of their sons. Back in "the stocks" neither the President nor Chief of Staff Marshall gets credit for doing the Axis.

It is generally conceded now that if the President does not head the slate, no Democrat can hold the country.

INCOMPREHENSIBLE—F. D. R.'s recent behavior suggests that he may not want another tenure of office, although politicians are generally reconciled to this demanding a resignation off his shoulders. It is more indicative that he may not be interested in a fourth term.

He advanced a tax law which will make many enemies for him among the millions in both high and low brackets. No man seeking ballots would propose such a measure.

He suggested subsidy schemes which are to be paid by nearly all producing organizations, including the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the national cooperatives. In the last few days their officials ranted against the Administration before Senate and House Committees.

He refused to sign a delegation of distinguished Zionists who wanted to talk with him about their desire to make Palestine a real homeland after the conflict. He shunted their spokesmen off to glowing Mr. McHenry, who knows little of the geography or history of Judea. And the rabbi left the White House in a mean mood.

In view of the influence of their race in the ranks of urban labor, the soldiers like it, and it's good for them. It begins to look as if he is not thinking or acting in terms of votes.

Peter Edson's Column:

THE ARMY EXPLAINS ITS FOOD POLICY

(During Peter Edson's absence on vacation this column is being written by another member of NEA's Washington staff.)

By JAMES THRASHER Staff Correspondent

Some people have been saying recently that the eye of the Army's procurement division is bigger than the Army's stomach, and that in consequence civilians are being deprived unnecessarily of certain foodstuffs. Specifically, they have cited the shortage of such things as apple butter, jam, catsup and turkeys in the hands of the military.

To get the Army's side of the story, these accusations were presented to Col. Louis Webster, who is in charge of procurement of non-perishable foods for the Quartermaster Corps.

"No," he said, "it isn't true that we have so much apple butter left over from last year that we aren't ordering any this year. But it's almost true, and I'll tell you why. The pack of apple butter in 1942 was set aside 100 per cent for the Army. How much we got depended on how much tin was available to can it."

"Well, there was a big apple crop, and WPB gave the boys a lot of tin. They made apple butter till they wouldn't have it—all the regular packers and subcontractors we had never heard of. It was more than we expected and more than we needed, but we had to take it all. But that was a break for the taxpayer, because there won't be such tin or as many apples this year, and apple butter will cost more."

DESIRES—Russia's exhibition of industrial and military might has given her a favored position in the postwar sweepstakes. Whereas Moscow was a weak and disintegrating power during the Versailles discussions, it will be the dominating factor of the next settlement.

This prophesy is made by our leading War and Navy experts, not by the somewhat unrealistic State Department. Our military and naval men, who deal in practical world politics rather than in shadowy diplomacy, have a clearer conception than Mr. Hull's staff of the role the Kremlin will play when the fighting ends.

From 1920 to 1940, according to this thesis, the Baltic, Central European and Balkan nations looked toward Paris and London as their protectors against both Berlin and Moscow. Laval and Chamberlain—and Herbert Hoover to a certain extent—saw those states buffers to the westward spread of Communism. Then the little fellows were glad to have the support of the western capitalistic countries.

But France and England proved to be poor backstops when Hitler overtook the continent. The demagogues (including the United States) could furnish were promises of eventual freedom.

Stalin has battled the German monster and won. He wishes to have the Baltic-Central European and Balkan territories under his oversight after the conflict. He has made no secret bones about his ambitions. And now, contrary to their 1920 desires, there is evidence that some of the statesmen of the minor principalities want him, too.

TRADE—London and Washington are creating a great to-do about Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery's announcement that the United States intends to dominate the seas after the war. The inside story of our merchant marine program reveals that his warning was a bit belated.

Originally we met the crisis on the ocean by launching Liberty ships—slow-moving and susceptible to quick obsolescence. The agreement with Britain was that we should construct transports while she turned out warships. Our builders realized that the type of boats we were making would become "white elephants" in the peace era. So we shifted to the manufacture of the Victory model as soon as we had the facilities.

These new crafts have great power, speed and permanence. They should survive the shocks of war and be available for competition when normal trade can be resumed.

The Admiralty knows these facts, and did not resent Admiral Vickery's statement that he was in with the authority of the White House.

Add the name of Jane Withers to the list of Southern California war workers. In her spare time Jane is helping papa build gliders for the government in the Vernon, Calif., factory. Between films she spends from two to three hours a day on the assembly line, wearing overalls and operating a drill press.

Confusion caused by film actors wandering around Hollywood in army and navy uniforms for roles in new pictures has been halted by the FBI. A notice posted at all studio gates reads: "Any actor or actress leaving the lot in the uniform of the United States government will be liable to immediate arrest by orders of the FBI."

Michele Morgan and hubby Bill Marshall have collaborated on a song, "Here's Looking at You," without Penny. Dotty Lamour still likes sarongs. Edith Head is designing her complete wardrobe based on the sarongs she'll wear in "Rainbow Island."

Mrs. Lela Rogers, mother of Ginger, will turn producer at the RKO studio soon, and produce one of her daughter's movies.

Columbia is dropping the Blondie series following tiffs with its costars, Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton. An independent producer will continue to make the films—"Without Penny." Yes, Dotty Lamour still likes sarongs. Edith Head is designing her complete wardrobe based on the sarongs she'll wear in "Rainbow Island."

"This is another Pia, solemnly. 'This is another day.' Ingrid is still trying to find a comeback.

Hollywood technicians go the famous magic carpet a few feet. In a big production scene for "Broadway Rhythm," Gity Simms sails through the air in a jeweled and cushioned pink and white basket.

Abbott and Costello's manager, Eddie Sherman, has outdistanced all other big production scenes for "Broadway Rhythm," Gity Simms sails through the air in a jeweled and cushioned pink and white basket.

For a scene in "Two Sisters and a Sailor," Van Johnson wears the uniform of an admiral. When the wardrobe department asked Producer Joe Pasternak just what sort of admiral costume would be needed, Pasternak said: "Give me something so grand it'll make Goering go out and hit himself."

DIG AT DUCE

Mussolini, says Director Eddie Sutherland, has a lot in common with Shakespeare's Juliet. Both are lost without a balcony. Cobina Wright, Jr. is betting that the new arrival will be a boy. If it is, he'll be tagged Palmer Beaudette, Jr. Universal and 20th Century-Fox are both after Garry Moore, the radio comic. Billy Gilbert is planning a book based on his overseas entertainment tours titled, "Danger—Comic at Work."

Dave Brown and Billy Egan are collaborating on a travesty of Hollywood hose opera, "Nine Shots from a Six Shooter."

Bing Crosby was punching a bag between scenes of "Going My Way." "Not bad," observed Director Leo McCarey. "What do you use for a finish?"

"Eight bars of Sweet Lullaby," said Crosby, knocking the bag into McCarey's lap.

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

Portugal's sturdy move in permitting the Allies to use the Azores as a base has given us a powerful new weapon with which to combat the U-boat menace, but one of the most impressive aspects of the concession is the fact that this country is the first of the little European neutrals to look Hitler square in the eye and say, "Who's afraid of the big bad wolf?"

The British press today is speculating hopefully whether Portugal may be the spear-head to open the way for other neutrals and non-belligerents. So far as Europe is concerned, Sweden and Turkey are possibilities. And we should look for the small Axis satellites—Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary—which are eagerly trying to find an escape from Hitler's clutch.

Some observers also seem to feel that Portugal's action in granting a base in the Azores, while still maintaining neutrality on the continent, establishes a precedent under which Russia might lease the Allies air bases in Siberia, thereby immeasurably shortening the war against Japan. Certainly the precedent is interesting and perhaps useful, but I think we may take it for granted that any such move by Russia would be premised on a mutually satisfactory understanding on all disputed points at the coming Moscow conference among representatives of the Big Three—Russia, Britain and America.

From the military standpoint the Azores are a godsend to the Allies. There has been a "blind spot" in the Atlantic submarine warfare which neither American nor British land-based warplanes could reach because of the great distance. The Allied aerial assault on the U-boats has been devastating when the submarines were within range of our east coast or the British Isles, but this blind spot has provided a fruitful if not happy hunting ground for Hitler's under-sea pack. Warplanes based on the Azores can reach this area, and the protection will be particularly useful for our convoys going through the Mediterranean—a vastly important feature.

Germany's reaction to Portugal's move is unaltered, which is to say, up to this writing, Berlin has been moving with extreme caution. German radio spokesmen have been trying to minimize the importance of the event, saying that Lisbon's general foreign policy presumably will be unaffected, which is to say that Portugal doesn't intend to make war on Germany.

However, it cannot but have a dampening effect on the Germans to see this further demonstration that the little countries are rapidly losing their fear of the great military machine which long terrified them. This will be driven home by Hitler might take revenge by some such move as the bombing of Lisbon, there is no way in which he can get at Portugal with advantage to himself, since Spain lies between him and his little tormentor. In short, if the Fuehrer is smart he will hold his nose and swallow the medicine.

Kimmel Wants Trial Later On

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel denies published reports that he had drafted a letter to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox requesting an immediate court martial.

Kimmel, who was naval commander at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese attack, said in a statement: "I have not sent or authorized anyone to send such a letter. My position is and has been that I do feel that I am entitled to a court martial and will welcome one at any time."

"However, I realize that a court martial at this time could only be had at the expense of the war effort because of the resulting interferences with the very important duties of essential witnesses of high rank now in the active theaters of war and the difficulty of assembling them."

WARTIME HEALTH: Constant Fatigue May Be Due To Lack of Exercise

By DR. THOMAS D. MASTERS

Written for The News

Almost every physician finds himself confronted daily with for the most part young adult or middle-aged persons whose sole complaints are lack of energy and fatigue. A careful history often reveals that these symptoms have been present in variable degree for several years or more, and the people suffering from them may not have been satisfied with the negative findings of one or more examinations elsewhere.

These persons awaken in the morning tired and "grogginess," and may or may not approach the breakfast table with a feeling of nausea. Despite two or three cups of strong coffee for temporary stimulation, and possibly several cigarettes, they feel sleepy and tired and yawning frequently until the breakfast table with a feeling of nausea. Despite two or three cups of strong coffee for temporary stimulation, and possibly several cigarettes, they feel sleepy and tired and yawning frequently until the breakfast table with a feeling of nausea.

This delightful feeling of normalcy may be temporary, however, when the day's work is over and they are forced to drive home through congested streets in crowded buses. A glance at the evening paper, a hearty meal, and a brief nap, usually interrupted by a change of radio programs, may re-establish a feeling of comfort. The hours from 8 p. m. to midnight may be all too quiet to contain their boundless energy.

Bed may be sought, by some only because of the lateness of the hour and not because of any feeling of exhaustion. Others may find that fatigue and lack of energy will force them to give up even the mildest of their usual activities. They reason that no healthy people could feel so tired so much of the time, and that therefore they must be ill. Although they engaged in strenuous athletic activities while attending high school or college, they give up even the mildest form of exercise in post-graduate years lest they make their "disease" worse.

EXERCISE NEEDED

No attempt should be made to minimize the importance of these symptoms, for they are among the commonest basic symptoms of numerous diseases. Everyone who complains of them is entitled to a careful medical examination. The vast majority of these persons under consideration, who have lost little if any weight, do not have daily fevers and who have even the mildest form of exercise in post-graduate years lest they make their "disease" worse.

The revival of a program of moderately vigorous daily physical exercise of a recreational type in addition to their usual activities in most cases. Others may not be relieved until they find a more interesting job, or cultivate an interest in certain social activities in their community. The problem is fundamentally one of maladjustment rather than physical illness.

It's Patriotic to Keep Well... You can do much toward guarding and improving your health by reading Dr. Masters' column.

Here's one campaign of this war you can fight --- right in your kitchen.

The only weapons you need are leftover fats and a tin can—and you'll be shooting ammunition down MacArthur way.

This is the way you do it; save all those drippings and greases you've been accustomed to throwing away—they are the source of glycerine. And glycerine is the stuff that can raise hell with the enemy! Remember that Coral Sea rumpus?

Just strain your fats into clean, wide-mouthed tin cans, keep in a cool place until you have a pound, then take them to your meat dealer. He'll pay you for each pound—and send them scurrying to our munitions centers. Remember, fats can cook the Japs! Here's your chance to kayo Hirohito!

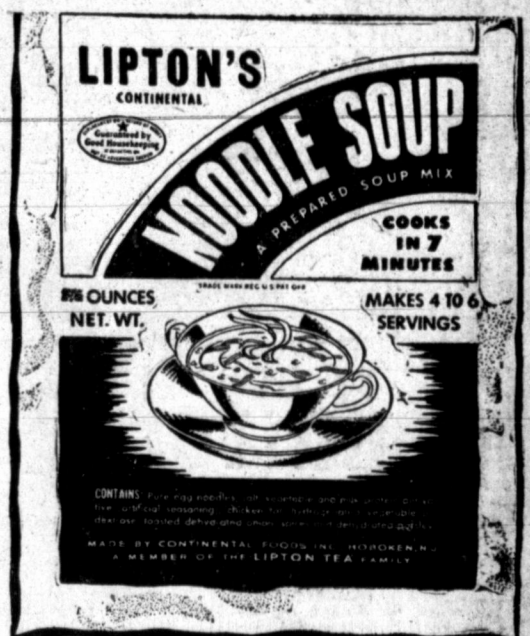

Take Your Household Fats & Greases To Your Favorite Grocer
YOUR HOUSEHOLD FATS WILL HELP COOK THE AXIS!

HALF BILLION POUNDS NEEDED

That's why Uncle Sam wants every family to save between one and two pounds each month. Those pounds mean glycerine with which to make explosives, steering gears, compasses, signal rockets—they mean putting the heat on the Axis! So here's your recipe, Mrs. America—take it down—let's start cooking!

The Following Firms urge you to take an active part in this used Household Fats Salvage Campaign. This is vitally important to the war effort and everyone should help!
