Allies Force Nazis to Fall Back in Battle Before Rome

Soviet Tide Continues To Record Gains

(By The Associated Press)

Allied armies advanced slowly in the mountain tangles of central Italy, forcing some Germans to retreat and slugging viciously at others clinging to key positions before their stout Mondragone-Vastro line guarding Rome, the Aigiers communiqué said today.

The British Eighth Army captured Acquaviva and Civita Campomarano, five miles north of Petrella which fell yesterday. The American Fifth Army sliced ahead into high ground beyond Ravis canina and Francoise.

Allied planes bombed Salonika and Sades in Greece and the Heraklion airfield in Crete. Heavy and medium bombers pounded railroads, highways, supply dumps and German positions north of the mountain front which stretched from the Mediterranean to the Adriatic generally about 100 miles below the capital.

"Both the Fifth and Eighth armies continue to make progress," the communiqué said, "in some sectors, enemy withdrawals have been reported, but in others, he is holding strongly to key points."

Moscow dispatches said the fall of beleaguered Krivof Rog was imminent, now that its main rail center two miles north of the iron city, had fallen. Throughout south Russia, stiff Ukrainian armies were pounding mightily at the Germans seeking to extricate themselves from disaster in the Dnieper bend. The Russians said they killed 12,000 Germans, captured more than 100 tanks and advanced up to a dozen miles.

Spanish correspondents in Berlin said the Germans were using their strategic reserves in an attempt to stem the Russian tide.

While victory was being fashioned in the steel and fire of Russian cannon at Krivof Rog (pop. 200,000), the Russians also were making giant strides toward the Crimea, which threatened to become

Foran Speech Spurs War Chest Campaign

Solicitors in Pampa's $38,000 Community War Chest campaign got a new shot of life this afternoon when they met an heard Stanley Foran, of Dallas, Texas War Bond publicity director, tell them how to push their drive to a successful conclusion.

Co-Chairman Frank Smith, at the end of the meeting, thanked Foran for his advice and urged chest workers to get out immediately, follow Foran's advice and wind up the drive as soon as possible.

"We have not reached the halfway mark yet," Smith said, "and it behooves everyone of us to take

Tip-Off On Schweinfurt Raid Denied

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A number of responsible U. S. eighth air force bombardment officers, commenting on the Oct. 14 attack upon the Schweinfurt ball bearing plant, cited evidence today contradicting the report that some tip-off to the Germans had been a factor in the record loss of 60 flying Fortresses that day.

The tip-off report, attributed indefinitely to a "neutral" source, evoked from Gen. H. H. Arnold, army air force commander, the comment in a press conference four days later that "personally I don't see how they (the Germans) could have prepared the defense they did unless they had advance warning. They were too well organized."

The army publication "Yank" afterward said flatly that "Germany through means unknown heard the raid was coming at least five hours before it came. Someone after a couple of drinks said something that weighed heavily on his mind. So when the Forts came over Germany, their loss suffered by previous targets, the fiercest warning and able."

The currency gained by the rumor has raised official fears here that it might damage morale both by reflecting upon their integrity and upon their future security. Today, officers who cannot be named mentioned these points in a meeting. The fiercest opposition was met over the target and on the way home, whereas if the Germans had been forewarned in any other way than the usual ground observation and radio location devices, they logically would have pressed a home-ported attack as hard as possible before the Fortresses reached the target and did vital damage.

Schweinfurt's defensive machine-guns were just beginning to roll up when the bombers got there, where they were firing at previous targets, said Frankfort, full communications had met them.

The defensive fighter force that met the Fortresses was less than 300 planes, whereas informed officers believe that if the Germans had known specifically in advance that an important Schweinfurt plant was the prime target, they could and would have mustered many more fighters—possibly as many as a thousand.

The careless-talk idea mentioned by "Yank" was dismissed with the notation that taverns had closed many hours before the attack, and that it is suicidal for any flier to talk about his destination.

The consensus of combat men is that the big loss was due to the fact that enemy supply kept them over enemy territory for four hours and 17 minutes, although the beach-line distance from the North Sea coast into Schweinfurt and out again is only 500 miles.

Independent Oil Men Warn of Shortage

FORT WORTH, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Independent Petroleum Association of America today will map its program for next year after hearing outgoing President Bittram of Oklahoma City assert that the industry's chief problem is to "save the nation from an oil shortage of such proportions that we almost shrink from the mere contemplation of it."

Ralph T. Zook of Bradford, Pa., was elected president. Other officers were re-elected.

A highlight of today's closing convention sessions was the governor's luncheon, which heard an address by Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas on "What the Oil Industry Means to My State." Other states were represented by Governors John J. Dempsey, New Mexico; Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma; Homer Adkins, Arkansas; Andrew J. Schoppel, Kansas; and Fred Wright, Lieut.-governor of Mississippi.

Buttram, in his report for the year at the annual banquet last night, asserted:

"As an alternative to a crude price increase we will accept a temporary palliative, no so complicated unwieldily and unworkable subsidy: roll-back, bonus or other compromise with what is open, fair and workable."

"We have not neared the end of our fight. Our chief weapon of combat is the truth as we will keep right on using it."

Russell B. Brown of Washington, D. C., IPAA general counsel, said in his annual report last night he believed congress would take out of the hands of the executive branch of government the question of granting an oil price increase.

Brown also expressed alarm at what he described as the government's entrance into the oil business on a competitive basis by executive order. "Our permission has been refused by congress."

He said the establishment of the government's Petroleum Reserves corporation "to actively engage in competition with our independent producers; the use of funds collected from the producer of petroleum to support such competitive agency by government that has done nothing since the war began to encourage domestic production of oil, should be protested vigorously."

Opportunity In America Cited By Dallas Man

Citing statistics on population and merchandising like a pom-pom gun shoots bullets and applying down-to-earth American philosophy based on his own life experiences and the experiences of others similar to his own, Stanley W. Foran, Dallas advertising man, in a rapid-fire speech last night at the junior high school auditorium gave 500 Pampans a better appreciation of the glorious life that is theirs as Americans.

He told how he worked his way through high school; how he did not stop when a sign at the aviation cadet center, where he began training in World War 1, specified "college degree or equivalent" and how he quickly convinced the examiners that he had the equivalent.

Foran emphasized that opportunities in America, as nowhere else in the world, are limited only by a man's efforts. He specified the Wright brothers, Samuel Finley B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph, Benjamin Franklin, scientist, founder of the University of Pennsylvania, deviser of life insurance and fire departments, as shining examples of "guys who were just dumb enough to think they could do it."

Still, he said, the American economic system was the best in the world, and made possible our advantages.

With rare humor, he traced the evolution of the organ and various with the graduated scale.

Beef Subsidy Plan Revealed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A new beef subsidy plan—designed to aid slaughterers and having no effect upon the price of meat at the retail counters—was in effect today.

Announced by Economic Stabilization Director Vinson, the plan replaces the flat subsidy rate of $1.10 per hundred pounds of live cattle irrespective of grade, which was inaugurated last June, with a varied rate schedule for three grades of beef.

The new rates provide for subsidies of 50 cents for common, cutter and canner classes of cattle, 90 cents for medium grades, a $1 rate for choice grades and $1.45 for good grades.

The government set up a new subsidy payment of 80 cents per hundredweight to non-processing slaughterers—those who it says have been caught in a squeeze between controlled meat prices and live cattle prices. Vinson said this subsidy would be financed from economies expected from substitution of the flat roll-back subsidy with the graduated scale.

Medical College Probation Lifted

AUSTIN, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The office of the president of the University of Texas announced today it had been informed that the American Association of Medical Colleges meeting at Cleveland had voted to remove the University of Texas medical school from probation.

The report came from Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, dean of the Texas medical school, who is in Cleveland.

Leake said the executive committee of the Association recommended the action to the association as a whole, which voted approval.

Frost, 30 Degrees Are Recorded Here

A heavy frost and the thermometer dipping to a new low of 30 degrees, brought autumn weather forcibly to Pampans' attention today.

The weatherman felt a little sorry, however, for the chilly temperatures and relented just a trifle at noon today to say it would be slightly warmer tonight and Thursday forenoon.

100,000 Indians Dying Each Week

NEW DELHI, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Approximately 100,000 persons are dying of starvation in Bengal each week, K. Santhanam, former member of the central legislative assembly and a widely known Indian journalist, declared in the Hindustan Times today after a study of the famine situation. He predicted this figure would increase weekly until the end of December.

Pampa Teacher's Husband Killed

First Lieut. Clifford L. Boyd, husband of Mrs. Mary Ellen Boyd, fifth grade teacher in the Sam Houston school here, was killed in action in the North African area last Sept. 24, according to a telegram received by Mrs. Boyd yesterday.

Lieutenant Boyd was with Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army, and it is believed he was killed in the battle for Naples.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Boyd of Henrietta. His wife, whose home is in Pecos, has been teaching here since school opened in September.

Four other brothers are in the service: Howard B. is a boatswain, second class, with the Seabees; the Aleutians; Ralph is a lieutenant, advanced training on B-26 bombers at Del Rio; James R. is a captain with the air corps combat intelligence at Washington; and Burton is a private at the air corps technical training school at Lincoln, Neb.

Another Submarine Lost in Pacific

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The submarine Runner has been lost, the navy announced today.

The submarine presumably was operating in the Pacific area where heavy tonnage has been taking a haul of Japanese shipping and cutting into enemy supply lines to their scattered bases.

Next of kin of all personnel on the Runner, listed officially as "overdue and presumed to be lost," have been notified, the navy said.

Loss of the Runner, a 1,525-ton ship, brought to 14 the number of submarines lost since the war started.

The Runner was under command of Lieut. Comdr. Joseph H. Bourland, 33, listed as missing in action. His wife is Mrs. Gertrude P. Bourland of New York City.

A submarine of the size of the Runner carries a crew of approximately 65 men.

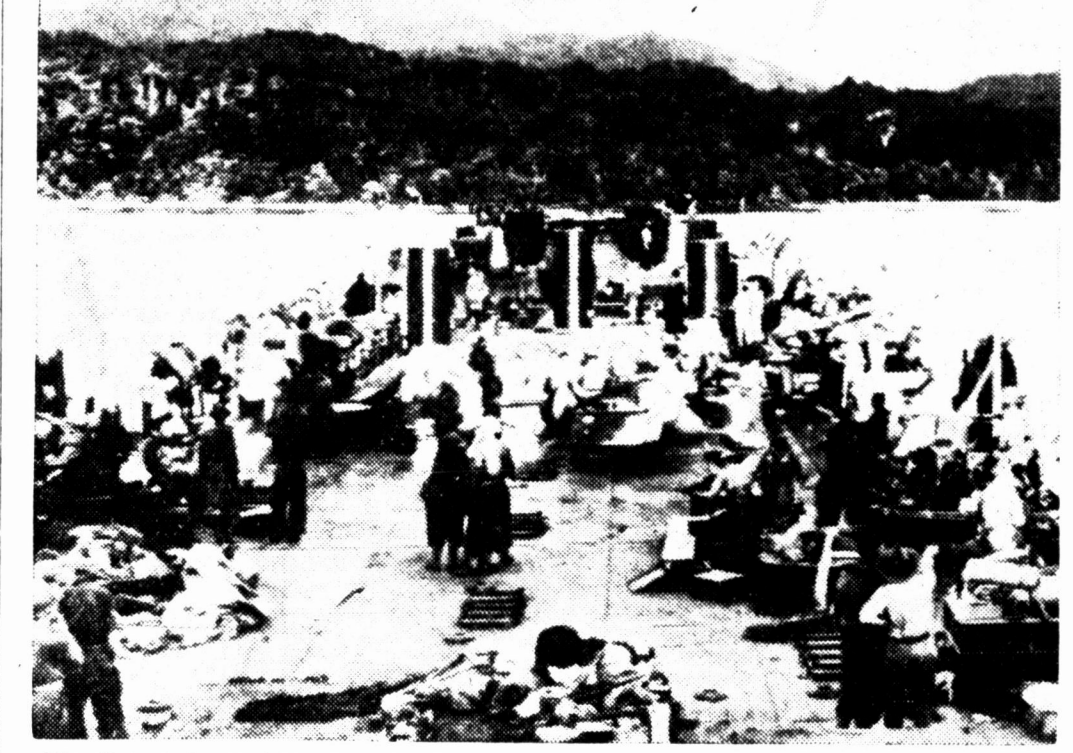

President Is Back at Work

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had nearly recovered from a case of the gripe today and for the first time since last Thursday made appointments.

He remained in his quarters at the White House instead of going to the executive offices, however. Engagements today were with a group of business leaders at noon and with acting Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., for lunch.

Union Leader Loses High Court Appeal

AUSTIN, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The state supreme court today denied the petition for discharge of R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, and ordered him remanded to the custody of the Travis county sheriff to serve a contempt judgment of $100 fine and three days in jail.

Thomas was cited for contempt for violating a restraining order prohibiting him from soliciting membership in a union without obtaining an organizer's permit as required by Texas' relatively new labor union regulation law.

In his appeal to the supreme court on a habeas corpus proceeding he attacked constitutionality of this provision of the law. He has 15 days in which to file a motion for rehearing.

Thomas, who came to Texas from Detroit and addressed a labor rally at Pelly, was released from jail here Sept. 25 on $1,000 bond after he had spent a few hours in custody of the sheriff. He was cited for contempt in 53rd district court by Judge J. Harris Gardner.

The labor union law is under attack in 98th district court which was asked by the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organization to declare it unconstitutional and permanently enjoin its enforcement.

The supreme court said it was of the opinion that the organizer's permit section of the law was valid and that the trial court acted within its authority in adjudging Thomas guilty of contempt.

It added:

"The right of the state under its

Navy Birthday Observed Both Here, Abroad

(By The Associated Press)

The United States navy—mightiest in the world—is hammering remorselessly at the enemy today while at home the nation pays tribute to the men and the deeds of the fleet.

Throughout the Pacific, in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean, in all oceans and seas of the world, U. S. warships, submarines and planes are on the move.

They have these orders from Secretary of the Navy Knox:

"Seek out the enemy and destroy him."

Confidence that the job will be done has been expressed by leaders in all walks of life and is being reiterated today at scores of special meetings arranged to celebrate the 26th birthday of the United States navy.

President Roosevelt camp the pledge that more ships and planes will be ready when needed in the war to "protect human life, to restore human decency and to preserve human liberty."

Aid, Mr. Roosevelt added in a Navy Day letter to Secretary Knox:

"What may seem like huge achievements in the past will, I am confident, be dwarfed by those in prospect for the future—achievements which will restore freedom to all the seas for all nations, and add new glory to the flag under which we all so proudly serve."

Secretary Knox and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief, U. S. fleet, top the list of more than 50 outstanding speakers who will address Navy Day gatherings in all parts of the country. Knox speaks at Philadelphia; King, speaking at Indianapolis, will tell of the navy's part in the war thus far and the job it will do in the future.

Heads of most of the bureaus of the navy, fighting men back from the fronts, heroes of the war, all are taking part in the programs which call for recognition of Navy Day in virtually every major city in the country.

Stevenson Will Go to Capital

AUSTIN, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Governor Coke R. Stevenson will go to Washington from Fort Worth, where he is attending an oil meeting in order to discuss certain phases of the war program.

The formal announcement, made by his office, said:

"Governor Stevenson has just had renewal of invitations from certain officials in Washington to come to Washington in connection with certain phases of the war program, the details of which cannot be given at the present time. In response to that invitation, Governor Stevenson has today decided to go on to Washington from Fort Worth."

Officers Are Mum on Any Murder Clues

LUBBOCK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Sheriff Sam Hutson disclosed today that he had issued a pickup order for one suspect in the gruesome slayings of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt, whose bound and bloodied bodies were found on a bed in their Littlefield, Texas, home yesterday.

The Lamb county officers threw no other light on the clue he was following in West Texas' latest murder, which in mystery ranked with the Lorus-Heberer disappearance case seven years ago.

Hutson additionally disclosed that he and Ranger Capt. Maney Gault would confer on the case today, but without indicating what they might talk about.

Meanwhile citizens of Littlefield had contributed $7,500 in cash for a reward for capture of the killer or killers. Sheriff Hutson said the amount would be $10,000 by 6 p. m. today. In addition the mayor of Lubbock was leading a drive to raise other funds there.

If county, city or state police had found any worthwhile clues in the deaths of the prominent couple, who were discovered by their six-year-old daughter Jo Ann, grotesquely trussed on the rumpled, blood-soaked bed, they kept it a secret.

They had, however, agreed fairly generally upon a theory that vinyl ether or tetryl chloride, both powerful anesthetics, might have been used to keep the victims unconscious.

This theory was reached after hearing the story of Jo Ann, who discovered the intruder during the night and later, after apparently being forced to sleep, awoke to find her parents dead and gave the alarm.

The child said she was awakened, went to the kitchen for a drink, receiving no response to a call to her mother, she went into her parents' room and saw the man. He grasped her by the shoulders, pushed her into a nursery, threw a gas mask, slammed the door and I went to sleep."

Officers cited the fact that it was a cold night and the child was attired only in a nightgown, but she apparently slept for several hours in the closet after being doused with the liquid.

Jo Ann said the intruder was a "man" with "ugly round feet" and "haired eyebrows." Evidently he wore a mask, as the child said he "wore clothes on his head with holes for

Squabble Over New Draft Bill Appears Certain

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Legislation requiring that all available childless men be inducted ahead of prewar fathers was headed toward a senate-house conference today with indications that it is not yet out of the controversy stage, despite virtually unanimous house approval.

The measure swept through the house yesterday while President Roosevelt was signing another bill boosting government payments to dependents of servicemen. Under the new law, first fruits of which will not be reflected in government checks for several months because of the bookkeeping entailed, a wife with two children for example will be allowed $100 a month, instead of the present $72.

The war department said that when the childless men are inducted between the old and new rates will be paid retroactively as of Oct. 26.

Under the new schedule a wife alone continues to receive $30 a month, a wife with one child $80, and those with more than one child receive $20 extra for each additional child.

The proposed new draft bill would not prohibit the deferment of non-fathers but would require that fathers of children both prior to Sept. 12, 1942, not be called while non-fathers are "available for induction."

Immediate beneficiaries of the legislation, should it become law, would be fathers holding so-called

Four Vessels Run Aground

BELMAR, N. J., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Four United Nations merchant vessels ran aground on the northern New Jersey coast last night and early today in one of the worst storms of recent years.

One of the ships was breaking up, the Third Naval District said, but the others were believed in no danger.

Coast guards started removing the crew of about 70 men aboard the 7,500-ton James Longstreet, which piled up on Sandy Hook, just inside New York harbor, and started to break up today.

Two other vessels also struck on the sand bars near Sandy Hook, while the fourth was beached at this resort.

Several other ships, three outside New York harbor, the Third Naval District said, but all these accidents were minor.

Moderation of tremendous seas and a shift in the wind apparently saved three of the ships beached outside the harbor, all within 20 miles of each other.

Coast guards had started removing the crew of the F. J. Luckenbach, a 7,821-ton freighter which struck at Belmar, but stopped after six of the men had been taken ashore, by breeches buoy. An estimated 45 remained aboard.

The Edlonia, 4,971 tons, was also believed safe at Sandy Hook, while the Fort Douglas, 7,100 tons, freed itself from the sand in the same area.

Important Notice To Subscribers Of The Pampa News

Due to wartime restrictions, increasing scarcity of newsprint and as a protection to its carrier boys, The Pampa News today was forced to adopt a new and rigid policy on weekly subscription collections from subscribers on city routes.

Under the new set-up no delivery of The Pampa News will be made on a city route after a subscriber has become 30 days in arrears.

Once the subscriber does fall into the arrears column there can be no renewal of the subscription at a later date.

In other words if your paper is not paid for on time, no paper can be delivered again to your address. If you're going to be away from home when your carrier boy collects on Saturday, make arrangements to see that he gets his money. Leave it with a neighbor, or leave it at The Pampa News office for the day.

Subscribers who get their paper delivered on city routes should pay their boy once a week, preferably in advance. The carrier boy would rather have you pay him one week at a time instead of a dollar or two in advance. This helps the boy to keep his books straight and gives the subscriber some leeway in payments.

So, if you want your Pampa News, pay your boy every Saturday. And remember—

If you get behind in your payments and the paper is stopped, it cannot be renewed for the duration.

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Liquor specialists ran up 1 to around 5 points to new tops for the year or longer in today's market and the majority retained most of their gains despite suspension of dealings on the exchange in the final half hour due to the sounding of an air drill alarm throughout New York City.

The list stiffened after an irregularly opened opening and 1,000 to 10,000-share blocks were plentiful. Subsequent profit taking showed the pace to some extent but timbers for the full stretch approximated 500,000 shares, one of the best turnovers since Sept. 20.

Commissions on the bulge at peak levels for 1943 were American distilling, Hiram Walker, Schenley, distillers, Corp., Securities, National Distillers, Standard Brands, Western Union and Postal Telegraph. In front were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Amstar, Texas Co., Sears Roebuck, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Du Pont and U. S. Rubber.

At Chicago wheat rose 3/4 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel.

Cotton, 15 late trades, was up 10 to 25 cents a bale.

Southland Reports Business Increase
 At a meeting of the board of directors of Southwestern Life Insurance company held in Dallas this week, C. F. O'Donnell, president, reported that although a large number of the agents of the company are engaged in military service, the business written during the first nine months of this year was almost 25 per cent greater than the new business written during the first nine months of 1942; that the increase in insurance force during the new months of 1943 was more than $20,000,000, which is the largest increase in insurance force during any comparable period since 1929.

The company now has more than $442,000,000 insurance in force. During 1943 the company has paid in death claims on persons engaged in military and naval service $201,282, and in addition has outstanding $105,000 insurance on lives of persons reported missing in action, but the civilian mortality, due to saner living habits, and limitations on the speed at which automobiles may be driven, has been so favorable that the overall mortality of the company during 1943 is far below the 1942 mortality record and compares very favorably with the overall mortality record of the company for any comparable period during the last ten years.

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new federal income tax proposal adopted by the house ways and means committee is mainly a way to simplify tax payments.

It would result in some increases in the case of single persons and for married couples who file separate returns.

Repealing the victory tax, boosting the normal tax rate from the present 6 per cent to 10 per cent and eliminating the earned income credit, as voted by the committee, would tend to cancel out one another—but simplify the arithmetic—in their effect on the average married taxpayer.

The average single person, however, would run into a moderate increase. That's because the single person's exempt income under the entire new tax would be the regular $500 exemption, whereas the present victory tax exemption is $624.

On the other hand, in the case of the married taxpayer, the increased normal tax wouldn't hit his income because the $624 (his present victory tax exemption) and $1200 (the regular income tax exemption), but he'd wind up owing about the same amount of taxes.

The simplification comes in this way: Instead of the present complicated system, you'd simply subtract from total income your exemptions and deductions (for charity, taxes paid and so on) and pay 23 per cent on the balance—up to $2,000 of taxable income. That's the 13 per cent surtax bracket. Above that, the sur-taxes mount. It really would be simpler than that, because the treasury has said such a scheme would make it possible to set up a single tabulation so that, after subtracting your exemptions and deductions, you could just take a quick glance at the tabulation and know what your tax would be.

The plan would require some alterations in the schedule of withholdings under pay-as-you-go to bring deduction from pay into line. Under the proposed plan, married persons who file separate returns would receive only a single person's exemption each. This, in effect, would cut their total exemption by $200. For example, if childless, instead of the present $1200, such a couple would get a total exemption of $1,000.

The committee also included a minimum tax proposal—3 per cent of net income over $500 if single, or over $700 for a couple plus $100 for each dependent, whenever the regular tax wouldn't apply—which would tend to decrease taxes on the low-income married taxpayer, who now must pay roughly 3 per cent (the net victory tax) on everything over $624.

Here are some examples of how the new plan would work: 1. A married man with two children, earning $60 a week. On his annual income of $3,120—assuming for this example that he has $300 of deductions for charity and so on—he owes an income tax of $137.88, plus net victory tax of $69.89, or a total of $207.77.

The proposed plan would make his tax (assuming the same deductions) exactly $211.60. To arrive at this figure, all he has to do

Canadian Cadet Questioned In Wife's Slaying

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Wayne Lonergan, Royal Canadian Air Force cadet, was detained by Toronto police today for New York police for Lonergan, 26, Royal Canadian Air bludgeon slaying of his pretty estranged wife, Patricia Burton Lonergan, 22, Sunday.

New York police said Toronto officials notified them Lonergan was being detained and arrangements were made immediately to send a representative of the district attorney's office to Toronto to question him.

Blood stains on the carpeted staircase leading from the third floor bedroom where the woman was slain, meanwhile, furnished a principal clue for investigators.

"This new development indicated that there was a battle royal in which Mrs. Lonergan fought desperately with her assailant," a detective said.

Scraps of the blood which smeared carpeting from the third floor bedroom to the first floor stoop, were taken to the police department technical research laboratory for analysis.

Meanwhile, Mario Enzo Gabelline, 43, interior decorator, of New York, who police said escorted Mrs. Lonergan to night clubs last Saturday night was booked as a material witness.

Mrs. Lonergan was found dead Sunday, lying face up in her bed, her arms raised above her head. A bloodstained and broken lamp was found on the floor nearby, and a matching lamp, also bloodstained, was found under the bed.

Only 18 Breeds Of Dogs Can Join Army

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Issuing canine 4-F classifications to chows, setters, pointers, poodles and many other would-be war dogs, the army has pared to a scant 18 the number of dog breeds acceptable for service in the K-9 corps.

Dogs for Defense, Inc., official recruiting agency, announced it had received the "doggie" list from Maj. Gen. Edmund G. Gregory, army quartermaster general.

Approved breeds include Airedale Terrier, Alaskan Malamute, Belgian and German Shepherd, Boxer, Bull Mastiff, Farm-Type Collie, Dalmatian, Doberman Pinscher, Eskimo and Siberian Huskies, Giant Schnauzer, Irish Water Spaniel, Mastiff and Curly-Coated, Chesapeake Bay, Flatcoated and Labrador Retriever.

"Chows have been found to be unreliable," said Mrs. Charles Baizer of Madison, N. J., New Jersey agency director, who added:

"Setters are out because they have been bred for bird dogs too long and even after army training still go after birds. Great Danes are too big to handle."

Rabaul Fooled By Tactics Of Yank Airmen

(Editor's Note: Nearly 300 planes of Gen. Douglas MacArthur destroyed Japanese aircraft for certain and probably wiped out 45 others in two new smashing attacks Saturday and Sunday on the enemy stronghold of Rabaul, New Britain. Here are some dramatic insights on those assaults.)

By ROBERT EUNSON

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Oct. 24.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Wayne skimming Mitchells have Rabaul's number.

Today these medium bombers did just what they had done Oct. 12 and 18—completely bewildered the anti-aircraft and fighter plane defenses of the Japanese at their New Britain stronghold by going in low and fast.

So swiftly did one wave of Mitchells sweep across the Vunakanau airfield that they had set fire to the 30 enemy medium bombers caught on the ground before two Jap fighters managed to intercept.

Allied Triumphs Aid Red Fight

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The German newspaper Bruenser Zeitung indirectly has credited Allied triumphs which forced capitulation of Italy for German setbacks on the Russian front.

"German divisions had to be withdrawn from the Russian front to overpower 30 Italian divisions trying to stab Germany in the back and to fill the holes left by our Allies of yesterday who became our enemies today," the newspaper said.

"Our strategic reserves never were so big that this could happen without our having to take troops from the east to repair gaps in the Balkans and Italy. It weakened our entire military effort this summer. It was not dead, but it was a setback."

Egyptian Field Named for Texan

CAIRO, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Payne Field, one of the world's largest airports, through which airplanes and transports carrying the snows of war to Far Eastern battlefronts will pass in ever-increasing volume, was dedicated formally Monday by Brig. Gen. Ralph Royce, commander of U. S. forces in the Middle East.

In 58 days the airport was rebuilt to accommodate six times its former traffic. It was formerly used by a British reconnaissance squadron.

The field was named for Lt. Col. John Payne, Austin, Texas, killed last January on an operational flight over enemy territory as a member of a ninth airforce bomber squadron.

Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, aboard on a special mission for President Roosevelt, attended the ceremony. Royce pinned a medal on Lt. Col. J. A. MacAlarney, Cymru, Conn., who as chief of the army construction division, supervised completion of the field.

The airfield includes 44,600 square yards of concrete aprons and 233,800 square yards of asphalt aprons and runway extensions. It will become increasingly important as Allied forces are marshalled in India and China for the eventual onslaught on Japan.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have headaches? YES NO
Do you lack pep or vim?
Do you get irritable easily?
Do you feel depressed—nervous?

Everybody knows that poorly digested food causes a headache, sluggish condition.

But you may not know that Nature must produce each day about two pints of the vital digestive juice—liver bile—to help digest your food.

If Nature fails—food doesn't digest properly—you may get irregular. And the amount of this vital digestive juice may be still further reduced. Thus, digestive upset and sluggishness can follow each other in a vicious circle that keeps you feeling rotten. Therefore, take Carter's Little Liver Pills because they start bile flowing quickly—often within thirty minutes. When bile flow increases—you may help your digestion. You're on your way to feeling grand all over again. Remember—you can't get these same results from laxatives that fail to stimulate the flow of bile.

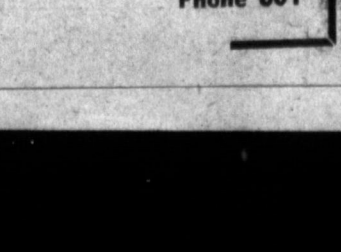

If you feel headachy, listless, irritable or depressed, get a 25¢ package of Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drugstore today. Take as directed. Tomorrow see how fit and alive you'll feel!

How About It, Pampans?

Did you have a good breakfast this morning? A good luncheon this noon? A good dinner tonight? Why not do something for those who didn't—those starving little Greek kids, and Poles, and Czechs and Chinese, and others? Your next meal will taste better if you do.

Can you walk? Are you well? Have you a comfortable home with your children in it? How about adding a few dollars for those who cannot walk, who are sick, disabled and orphaned? Your evening chair will feel better if you have helped them.

Do you want your boy and the neighbor's boy to have a pleasant place to spend an evening in a strange town? With eats and writing paper and dances with nice girls, maybe? Put a few dollars in for that. You'll have a little just pride when next you hear how pleasant is the U.S.O. or the Seamen's Snug Harbor.

We are all under the shadow of tragedy these days. We must help each other. A most effective way is thru a generous contribution to Pampa's United War and Community Chest.

I Wonder Why

There used to be a popular song whose chorus, as we remember, began: "Somebody loves me—I wonder who?" With only minor revision, this could be made into the theme song of what is left of that "New Tammany" of which we have heard from time to time. Perhaps this would do:

Nobody wants me, I wonder why— Why they're so cruel to me!

For 132 years the New York County Democratic Committee lived in the clubhouse of the Society of Tammany "or Columbian Order." So close was the affiliation that, wherever the science of machine politics was of interest to mankind, the New York County Democratic Committee was known as Tammany Hall.

Continual scandals caused a wave of reform that finally bankrupted the county committee politically and the society financially. The name Tammany, brought into disrepute by the political organization, became so great a dead weight that the county committee decided to move out from under the incubus it had created.

The Society of Tammany (or Columbian Order) then sold its $950,000 hall to a dressmakers' union, leaving both society and county committee homeless.

Mike Kennedy, boss of the political Tammany, arranged with the National Democratic Club for temporary use of four rooms. No provision was made for the poor, castoff society, which seemed to be left out to walk the streets.

But when moving day came, lo, and behold, the political Tammany went on to a whole floor of an office building, and what moved into the National Democratic Club? You're right—the Society of Tammany (or the Columbian Order).

A reporter asked the National Democratic Club, through a committee chairman named John Schoenfeld, how come, Mr. Schoenfeld was excited.

"No Tammany is coming in here," he said, "and you can quote that. We're taking in the Columbian Order, and it's temporary."

"Do you know," he was asked, "that 'Columbian Order' is another name for the Society of Tammany?"

"I don't know about that, but I know there has been some criticism."

Tammany's battle cry used to exhort its members: "Swamp 'em. Swamp 'em. Get the wampus! (Indian for cash). Now the dirge: "Nobody wants me—I wonder why?"

BUTTER AND SUBSIDIES

The California Milk News of Sept. 24 asks the American public to "Take a gander at this—From the West Australian:

"Surplus supplies of butter shipped to Australia for use by the United States Army in this country are on sale in a number of city and suburban shops. Classified originally as first grade butter, it is selling as pastry butter. Another article in the same issue stated that 'butter rationing was not likely to be instituted (in Australia) for some months if at all.'"

The Australian paper stated that this "surplus" American butter which is being sold over there as pastry butter is being sold at 7 d per pound. That is about 14 cents in American money. American housewives are paying about four times that much for butter, if they can spare the points to buy any at all.

It appears from this Australian report that we not only shipped to Australia more butter than our troops over there could use, but that the surplus was held so long the quality deteriorated and it had to be sold as "pastry butter." Why there should be a surplus of American butter in Australia while there is a shortage here in the United States is something for American housewives to ponder. But it is easy to see how the surplus over there could cause a shortage here.

Milk and butter supplies for the American people could be increased, the producers insist, if Washington bureaucrats would keep their noses out of the dairy business and permit price increases to cover increased costs of production. Hay which was selling a year ago for $10 a ton now is up to $25. Barley which retailed at $1.45 a hundred a year ago is selling for $2.55. Labor costs are up 35 per cent over a year ago. But the OPA won't allow an increase in milk prices. As an alternative to price increases, Washington bureaucrats propose to subsidize the sale of milk at less than cost of production. They say that by this method they can "hold the line" against inflationary increases in the cost of living. Of all the screwball notions ever concocted that is one of the worst.

Consumer purchasing power in the United States now is estimated at 51 billion dollars more than the value of consumer goods and services available. This excess of buying power, we are

WHAT A GOVERNMENT OUGHT TO DO

I have just finished re-reading Thomas Paine's "Rights of Man", volume six. Paine, of course, was a great student of freedom. He was always fighting for the freedom of all mankind. He was able to write clearly and consistently. He understood the causes of man's wretchedness. He understood how government should be limited; which we fail to realize now. He knew the ill effects of a government that did not respect the rights of man. Here is what he thought the government should do. I quote:

"Government is nothing more than a national association; and the object of this association is the good of all, as well individually as collectively. Every man wishes to pursue his occupation, and enjoy the fruits of his labors, and the produce of his property, in peace and safety, and with the least possible expense. When these things are accomplished, all the objects for which government ought to be established are answered."

This is exactly what this column has been contending in season and out of season. We have come far afield from this kind of a government. The unemployment, the wretchedness, the poverty, the rationing cards, the abnormal scarcity of things are all a result of our government's trying to do things besides protecting people in their right to consume the fruits of their labor and of their property in peace and in safety with the least possible expense.

OVER AND ABOVE

What this generation fails to understand is that there are certain rights that belong to the individual that are over and above the government.

It is largely because we have not realized that man must be equally free, that man has rights over and above the government, that we have had before the war the worst and longest depression in our history. The cause of our trouble was that we passed laws that interfere with the natural right of man to trade with each other without interference from the state. Besides, we have failed to have the state protect men in these rights that are over and above the state.

All we need to do is to create public opinion that realizes that man has rights that exist over and above and before any government existed. That the job of government is to protect these rights and not to interfere with them.

We pay a terrific price to learn the necessity of respecting these rights of man that are over and above the government.

OUT OF PRINT BOOKS FROM LONDON

I today received a letter from the George Harding bookshop of London advising me of a shipment of books I had ordered from them. The bookshop closes their letter with the following statement: "We are very little shipping books to America and we find very little gets lost, but shall be glad to hear of the safe arrival of the packet sent you today with compliments."

The books and the letter arrived safely on the same day. The Harding bookshop is the largest bookshop in England handling books of a sociological, religious, or political nature. I have obtained many old books from this bookshop that I could not get in the United States.

told, is the inflationary pressure. A policy designed to hold down and roll back food prices automatically increases surplus buying power and increases the danger of inflation. It's like trying to put out a fire by pouring gasoline on the blaze. Congress is opposed to the subsidy scheme. The farmers don't want it. The storekeepers don't want it. The treasury hasn't any money with which to pay subsidies and every dollar used for that purpose has to be borrowed, further increasing the debt burden. Nobody seems to want subsidies except the Washington bureaucrats. The subsidy racket enables them to expand their regimentation of American business and, of course, when they have the handling and distribution of hundreds of millions, or billions, of dollars of subsidy payments, it costs a lot of money which the bureaucrats get.

LEND-LEASE EXPLAINED

(The Chicago Tribune)

Lend-lease works about like this: Foreign governments make requisitions for the quantities they desire, and the lend-lease administrator tries to fill the orders to the best of his ability. If the requisitioning nations expected to pay for what they are getting there would be no fault to find with the system. But that isn't the situation, as will be shown later. Our lend-lease customers assume that they are getting the stuff for free, and there is no incentive to economy when you are traveling on limitless expense money you don't have to account for.

Now look at it from the American viewpoint. Our lend-lease officials treat the arrangement as a debt, which will assuredly be paid later. Therefore we do not go to great pains to see that the lend-lease exports are in the amounts required, and are used exclusively for the purpose of winning the war. The creditor doesn't ask a reliable debtor many questions about how he is going to use what he borrows.

There is no check on waste in lend-lease, because each party thinks it is the other fellow's money that is involved. In time of war, when shortages are inevitable, it is essential that all supplies be used economically. There would be a lot better results under lend-lease if the assumptions were reversed, and it was assumed to be a gift here and a loan by the Russians, the British, and the others.

There are clear enough indications that foreigners have been specifically told they need not pay us back for lend-lease goods, either in kind or in coin. There were some especially revealing statements in an article by a well known Briton last April in the London Times, which was recently called to our attention. The author was the Rt. Hon. Walter Elliot, a member of parliament and for many years an important figure in the British government, having been in the last 10 years financial secretary to the treasury, minister of agriculture and fisheries, secretary of state for Scotland, minister of health, and director of public relations of the war office.

In the article, Mr. Elliot speaks of the "novel principle of lend-lease, which is to say the principle of gift." At another point, referring to international government loans on which the borrowers had defaulted, Mr. Elliot said: "President Roosevelt only crystallized many years of commercial practice into a single phrase... the most powerful and important economic phrase of our time, the beginning of whose importance we do not yet see, let alone the end." This well informed British figure declared that the true meaning of lend-lease is "giving the stuff away." And he added that "lend-lease is carefully drawn so as to conceal this essential implication."

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER. CAREER—Sam Rayburn has become an active candidate for the Vice Presidential nomination next year on a ticket headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt. The fantastic story about Sam's ambition has scurried around the country for several months but until now it has been only a political legend.

But the fact is that the bald-headed Speaker of the House wants that secondary honor. It is not generally realized that this quiet Texan, who earned his way through college by waiting on tables and doing janitor service, is now a wealthy man. He has the first nickel he ever earned—the Jack Garner type. Sam can quit Washington any day he pleases and live on his farm in Indiana. Deal jobs at industrial or agricultural concerns will not impair his profits. Relatively he is a rural millionaire, although he'll not admit it.

The Lone Star statesman will soon embark on a political and oratorical tour to ascertain what the people think of him. He finds a favorable reaction, he will try to mobilize delegates for the convention. His attitude is quite understandable. Having been Majority Leader and Speaker, and possessing enough money to quit Congress, he would like to end his public career as Vice President of the United States.

CONCESSION—Vice President Henry A. Wallace has told close friends that he will not be sidetracked for the No. 2 nomination in 1944 without a knockdown drag-out fight. He suspects that F. D. R. would like to drop him and choose a more politically helpful running mate. But he will not be denied.

Sam Rayburn would like to succeed him, but even the Texan's best friends admit there is no need to cater to the south. His commonwealths are sure for any Democratic standard-bearer, and the Speaker's help is not vital there. Mr. Roosevelt does require political assistance in the middle tier states—Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana—his weakest at the moment. But no likely Democrat from that section is on the horizon except, perhaps, Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois. He might make an ideal Vice Presidential candidate if Mr. Roosevelt wants to swap horses while crossing the stream.

Every indication suggests that F. D. R. will back Mr. Wallace. To drop him might mean a sign of weakness—a confession that the Iowa farmer is a drawback on a national ticket. The Chief cannot afford to make such a concession to his enemies.

CAMPAIGN—The Smith-Connally anti-strike act has turned out to be a phony piece of legislation. Like so many others passed in a period of

Peter Edson's Column:

NAVY IS FIGHTING AGAINST EXCESS PROFITS

By PETER EDSON. The Pampa News Washington Correspondent.

Appearance of the name of John B. Hawley, Jr., as number five on the list of highest-salaried Americans in 1942 uncovers some interesting Washington angles; for Hawley, as president of the Northern Pump Co., of Fridley, Minn., near Minneapolis, has been one of the most valiant batters against the Army-Navy renegotiation of contracts to take excessive profits out of war.

Treasury's Bureau of Internal Revenue figures revealed Hawley received a salary of $442,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942, being topped only by Louis B. Mayers of the movies; C. C. Swibelius of New Haven, Conn.; Eugene Grace of Bethesda, Md.; and Thomas J. Watson of International Business Machines.

Hawley is sole owner of his company, which means that he paid himself this salary for his own services. This is interesting because it is recalled in Washington that about a year ago when the administration was pushing its $25,000-a-year salary limitation, Hawley sent a long wire to the President saying in effect that $25,000 a year was all anyone could use and that he, Hawley, was all for the President's program. FREE-WAY BUSINESS. Thomas J. Watson of the war, in fact, Hawley had a nice little business and he paid himself much less than $442,000 or even $25,000 a year. Before 1939,

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

There's a big difference, the Hays office film censors say, between a harem queen and queen of the Bagdad dancers. So although Marlene Dietrich is playing the harem queen in MGM's film version of "Kismet," the studio cannot refer to harem in the picture or in its advertising campaign. It's an official Hays office ruling, despite studio protests. Marlene will be the "queen of the Bagdad dancers" and the harem will be discreetly referred to as "the women's quarters." Incidentally, Ronald Colman, one of the best-dressed men in Hollywood, will appear in one scene of the same picture dressed only in a barrel. It's the Bagdad version of a Turkish bath.

Errol Flynn's studio bosses are trying to talk him out of releasing for publication his latest novel of biographical nature. According to Hollywood grapevine, the book tells too much about Hollywood.

So you don't think there's a shortage of leading men. In a new Universal flicker, Frances Dee, wife of Joel McCrea and mother of two, will have a romance with 17-year-old Donald O'Connor.

LEAD LIFTING

Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly talked and taught comedian Phil Silvers into doing a dance routine for "Cover Girl." After the scene was filmed, Silvers sent Rita a big bundle of solid lead and a card reading: "In appreciation of what you have done for me here is the lead you extracted from my anatomy."

Filling out a publicity department questionnaire, Alan Marshall came to the question, "Are you a book worm?" Chewed his pencil for a moment and then wrote, "No, I'm just an ordinary one."

Longest name in Hollywood belongs to an extra. It's Fedor Krovonostofichovitch. You pronounce it. We can't. Daffiest name belongs to Charles Boyer's stand-in on the "Gaslight" set. He answers to Fig Newton.

Swell series of gags in Producer Jerry Fairbanks' next "Speaking of Animals" short in which the animals do the talking. A dog says, "I'm JoJo, the boy-faced dog." A horse leans a racetrack rail and asks a tout, "Which way did they go?" A stork says, "My wife is expecting the stork." And a skunk yells at the audience, "It's not me that stinks. It's this piece of meat."

Trick scene with Kay Kyser's band in "Right About Face" had a rose bush growing out of a trapdoor in the floor. While warning everybody about the trapdoor, Kyser fell in.

Eddie Judson, former husband of Rita Hayworth, is phoning Marian Zavian long distance from New York. Other day he called her at Republic studio, where she was working. Gent who answered the phone said he didn't know the girl, Eddie Judson describe her, please. Judson said: "She's a cross between my ex-wife Rita Hayworth and Hedy Lamarr." Yes, they finally located her.

UNFILMED DRAMA

Another strip teaser has crashed the screen. Betty Rowland, the red-headed "Ball of Fire," plays a straight dramatic role in Producer Jack Schwarz's "Manhattan Rhythm."

Tallulah Bankhead pointed to Director Alfred Hitchcock's private ocean on stage five at the Fox studio and said, "Hitch, your picture is a dud."

Hitchcock, stickler for realism, was perturbed. "Why?" he said. "The water," grinned Tallulah. "It isn't salty!"

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MacKENZIE, Associated Press War Analyst

He is a daring person who undertakes to explain the nature of the warfare in that primeval zone of China's Yunnan province which abuts on northeastern Burma, for the whole situation is surrounded with as much mystery as a dish of chop-suey.

The key to the military operations is a visionary road which, in the hopeful minds of the American-Chinese Allies, cuts across the wilds of northernmost Burma to form a new life-line for China to the outside world. The Allies are trying to make their vision an actuality, and the Japs are doing their worst to prevent it.

The occupation of Burma by the Japs gave them possession of the lower reach of the Burma road, which was China's only feasible route to her Allies. After the road crosses from Burma into Yunnan it runs along the upper Salween river for a way and then swings east across the river and on to Kuming and Chungking. That portion of the road east of the Salween is in the hands of the Chinese.

The only way to reopen the old Burma road is to recapture Burma—a terrific and perhaps long operation. And paradoxically, before Burma can be captured the Allies must reopen the Burma road—or its equivalent. The point is that military supplies of all kinds must be moved to the impoverished Chinese so that they can strike against Burma from the north at the same time that the amphibious invasion takes place in the south from the Bay of Bengal.

So the Allies have been developing an alternative route to take the place of that part of the Burma road which is in Japanese hands. The substitute is a road that runs through Indian Assam, northwest of Burma, until it is close to the Burmese border in the far north. From that terminus American engineers, assisted by Indians and Chinese, have hewed an extension southeastward right into the enemy-held territory of Burma. The official name of this extension is the Liro road, but our boys call it the "Tokyo road," for obvious reasons.

The Allies want to link the Liro road with the Burma road on the other side of northern Burma—a tall order. They also aim to connect with the town of Myitkya, which is the rail-head for Mandalay to the south and is the main Jap base in the north. The only way to do that is to clear the Mikado's little men out of that neck of the primeval world. And that brings us up to the present fighting in Yunnan.

The Chinese hold the western side of the Salween river near where the Burma road passes over it by suspension bridge. The middle of this month the Japs suddenly started an offensive against the Chinese on the Salween, and there was much speculation as to the exact meaning of the attack. It now seems that the Nipponese were striking defensively, to prevent the Chinese from making a drive for their own into northern Burma and clearing a route for the extension of "Tokyo road." The forces engaged are not large, but there has been heavy fighting.

WARTIME HEALTH: Careful Handling, Storing of Foods Will Save Points

By DR. THOMAS D. MASTERS, Written for The News

If all the house dogs in America today were forced to find their sustenance in table scraps, without benefit of boxed concentrated foods, they would be scrawny animals indeed. For never in the history of the New World have housewives been as careful in their purchases and disposal of food. Sixteen meat ration points per person each week call for ingenuity and thrift. Even more than money, "points" must not be wasted.

Guarding against waste means also a wise handling of fresh foods and left-overs, not only from the culinary point of view, but from the point of view of spoilage, likewise. Apart from botulism, the scourge of home-canned foods, ice-box spoilage may easily take place in practically every known type of food. The nose may be trained to judge the good from the bad in a good many instances, and so may the eye, but even more important than detecting the difference is a wise handling of foods so as to avoid the possibility of spoilage.

REFRIGERATION

All meat, cooked, cured and uncooked should be kept on one of the coldest shelves in the refrigerator at 42-45 degrees F. The ordinary refrigerator is not equal to practice, should be re-heated and eaten within 24 hours. Pasteurized milk, which is the only type of milk advocated by responsible medical authorities, needs as much care and cleanliness as any other food, and should be kept at about 40 degrees F. Fat becomes rancid in lowered temperatures, and unless the labels specifically state that the cupboard shelf is all right for them, shortenings, salad oils and peanut butter as well as ordinary butter should all be stored in the ice box. A can of evaporated milk, once opened, should be placed in the refrigerator, too.

HANDLING OF FOODS

Pickles, if protected from the air, are practically no problem at all. Bread may be kept in the refrigerator to prevent mold, but is usually eaten before the latter has a chance to form. Eggs need temperatures as low as 29 degrees F. to keep their freshness, so that they should get the coldest position in the ice box, directly under the freezing unit.

Washing the hands, milk bottles and all fresh foods that come into the house promptly and carefully, is important. Vegetables still covered with topsell may be a lodging place for seriously infectious bacteria—botulism, dysentery, etc. Insecticide sprays may contain chemicals harmful to human beings, and all fruits and vegetables should be washed free of them.

Marriage Vows Are Said at PAAF

Miss Doris Karassick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Karassick, 2076 E. 27th, New York, became the bride of Pfc. Joseph Ehrlich, Pampa Army Air Field, also of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gilbert served as witnesses when the marriage was solemnized October 24, at 6 p. m. in the Pampa post chapel. Rabbi Arthur Blum of Amarillo was the officiating minister.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Shirley Nobin, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Nobin wore a blue suit with a shoulder corsage of red roses.

Best man was Milton Karassick, brother of the bride. Vows were exchanged before the altar set with tall baskets of pink and white dahlias and cathedral candelabra flanked with palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a black gabardine suit, with black accessories. She carried a Jewish prayer book adorned with white orchids and white rose shower.

Pfc. Ehrlich is stationed at the Pampa Air base with the 454th Squadron. They will make their home in Pampa.

LSI-Pirate Game Brings $29,000 For War Relief

HOUSTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A contribution of approximately $29,000 will be made to the war effort as a result of the Southwestern Louisiana Institute-Southwestern University football game played here Saturday night.

A check-up showed some $37,000 to have been taken in when 20,000 fans turned out to watch S. L. I. remove Southwestern from the undefeated ranks with a convincing 27-6 victory. All proceeds above expenses will go to war relief.

Not only was it a good football game but it was pronounced as about the roughest ever played in Texas. One hundred and forty-five yards in penalties were assessed against the two teams with most of it for roughing. Once blows were exchanged by some of the players and all in all it was a rowdy evening but when it was all over the two squads got together, shook hands and decided they weren't mad.

What do you expect when a bunch of marines get together anyway? asked one veteran football observer. "Marines like to fight."

The football teams of the two schools are made up principally of men in the naval training program. Southwestern this week plays Tulsa University. Tulsa reported that a number of stars would be lost to the team because of their transfer in the marine training program but Coach R. M. Medley said he now found the men would be available although they will not be in Southwestern this week, having a furlough before reporting back for their new assignments.

Texans Take Over New Mexico Team

LUBBOCK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—There's a Touch of Texas in New Mexico this year and the old gridiron rivalry lives on unrated. Texas Tech of Lubbock and the University of New Mexico of Albuquerque had to cancel their traditional football game this year, but a couple of service teams will carry on, although the "Touch of Texas" in this instance are "adopted."

Kirtland Field of Albuquerque and South Plains Army Air Field of Lubbock will clash in Albuquerque Saturday afternoon, but, strangely enough, the New Mexico representative will field more Texas players than the Army team from the Lone Star State.

Big John Kimbrough, All American fullback from Texas A & M will start for the Kirtland Flying Kellys, taking the place of Bill Dolan, former Rice fullback. Other Texas players include Connie Sparks of Texas Christian, Lewis Alexander of Texas Tech and Wick Malphurs of Sam Houston Teachers.

The Kirtland team is coached by Capt. Ted Shipkey, former New Mexico University coach. In contrast, the SPAAF Winged Commandos have an "All-United States" squad with only two Texans, fullback Jim Weatherly of North Texas State Teachers and end Charles (Tex) Lawrence of Howard Payne.

Pampa Basketball Approved By Texas Scholastic League

Pampa High school is one of 731 schools in the state that has been placed on the tentative list for Texas Interscholastic league basketball this winter.

The local school is in Class AA, District 1, along with Borger, Plainview, Lubbock, Brownfield and Amarillo.

R. J. Kidd, Austin, league athletic director, has announced that 104 have entered Class A, 237 Class A, and 390 Class B.

In Class AA, bi-district champions will go to the state tournament. In Classes A and B, regional champions will compete in the tournament on March 2, 3 and 4 in Austin.

Other schools represented on the league list include: Class A, Region 2—Canadian, Lakeview, Lefors, McLean, Memphis, Pahranchie, Perryton, Phillips, Wellington, White Deer. Class B, Region 2—Booker, Darrouzett, Follett, Higgins, Miami.

Hold Everything

BOSSBURG, Pa. — The mail brought Walter Pawlak, Sr., an application blank for enlistment in the marines and a request to appear for an interview. It was all a mystery to him until he talked to Walter, Jr.

The younger Pawlak finally agreed to wait a few more years before becoming a Leatherneck. He's 11.

Injury Gremlins Hit Navy Eleven

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 27.—(AP)—It was a toss-up today whether the mud on the Navy practice field was thicker than the gloom emanating from the premises of Capt. John E. Wheelchel, head coach of the Middies who go to Cleveland Saturday for their supreme grid test with Notre Dame.

A heavy four-inch rainfall almost washed away yesterday's much-needed practice session, and to top that off Wheelchel announced that several of his key players were laid up with injuries and bad colds.

Possibly figuring that any definite information might give aid and comfort to the enemy, Wheelchel refused to name the casualties, but he didn't disguise his mood.

"We'll hope that they recover quickly, and we'll have to take our chances on that."

Wheelchel's big job will be to try and break his club's habit of getting off to a bad first quarter start and then spending the rest of the day catching up with the opposition. He knows that if the Fighting Irish ever get the jump, the game will be just about over for the Middies.

In both the Duke and Georgia Tech games, Navy fussed around and permitted the opposition to score first, then had to come back on the rebound to win the hard way. Wheelchel's been telling his charges that Angelo Bertelli and company haven't been playing that kind of football this year in bowling over all opposition by scores resembling boxcar numbers.

Navy's line appears to be about as tough as Notre Dame's, and upon the Middies stopping the fast-opening plays featured by the Irish T formation may depend a national championship.

The Middies will match their passing ace, 150-pound Hal Mamberg against Notre Dame's Bertelli, but the relative power of the two great lines may well determine the effectiveness of these overhead assaults.

Radio, Phonograph Replace Textbooks

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The radio and the phonograph have replaced the familiar textbook in a new program of language instruction at Northwestern University and the new system, say instructors, is making studying more enjoyable for students.

The new program of instruction by recordings and short-wave radio might bring a 50 per cent speed-up in ability to understand and speak a foreign language, says Edwin R. Place, chairman of the department of Romance languages at the university, in suburban Evanston.

Although recordings have been used previously for supplementary work in the teaching of languages, Place said Northwestern is the nation's first university to introduce this learning-by-hearing system on the basis of instruction in all beginning Romance language courses.

The new program, using a combination of recordings played on a special phonograph and heard through earphones of loudspeakers, and short wave radio, already has produced a "marked improvement" in pronunciation and ability to understand, Place said.

The Japanese equip many of their planes with external auxiliary gasoline tanks for use on their way to a target, and which may then be dropped if extra speed is desired.

Radio Broadcast By Pope Planned

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The German-controlled Vichy radio said today that Pope Pius XII would broadcast Oct. 31, but gave no further details.

The Vatican radio said earlier this week that the pontiff had intensified his efforts to bring about peace.

FUNNY BUSINESS

Errand for Q-74

By Malcolm Taylor

ON TO PFORZHEIMER'S CHAPTER XXVII

IMHOF thought a moment. "Give me your room key," he said to Pat.

He went downstairs. The porter was at the desk. Imhof went to the mail and key dovecote and looked in his pigeonhole. "I was expecting a message, but it's not here," he said to the porter. "See if it's not somewhere around in your preserve. It's rather important."

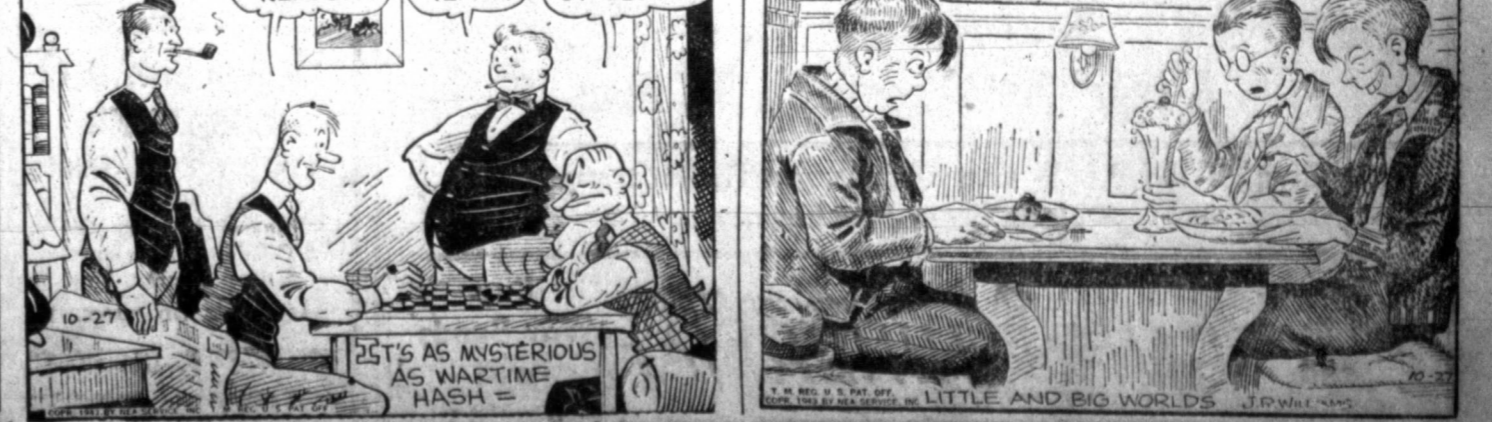

The porter turned away to investigate and Imhof quickly effected the exchange of keys on Schroeder's hook.

"Nothing has come, sir," said the porter, looking up.

Pat's key hung motionless on Schroeder's hook and Schroeder's key was snug in Imhof's pocket. "That's strange," he said, seeming a little put out. "Well, see if it's put in my box the minute it comes, please," he ordered, and mounted the stairs.

In less than a minute he was in and out of Schroeder's room with the bag.

"Check up on it," he bade Pat after opening it with a key from Schroeder's key ring.

4-H Club Work Makes Business Men of Youths

Training of Gray county 4-H club boys not only makes them competent farmers but also expert business men, as is demonstrated in a report by David F. Eaton, Jr., Gray county assistant farm agent, on the Gray county club boys, Drew Word of Albreed and Johnnie Baggerman of Albreed.

Word, 17, recently completed his seventh, and perhaps final, year of club work with a net profit of $2,869.60. He has entered A and M college with an ambition to become a county agricultural agent after graduation.

This year was perhaps the most outstanding of his career. He began with 26 cows which produced 26 calves. These in addition to two three-year-old heifers and five other young cows gave him a herd of 57.

The spring calves will be sold in the October or November. Early in the year he sold 32 holdover calves for $2,029, one old cow for $107 and the two three-year-old heifers for $218. He also disposed of his old bull for $180 and replaced it with a registered two-year-old costing $300.

Drew, who won an all-expense trip to the 4-H Club congress at Chicago in 1942, practices good game management and has an excellent crop of quail this year. A skillful trapper, he marketed $329 worth of muskrat pelts from last season's catch.

Baggerman, 16, has completed six years of club work with a record for production, and a series of sales and purchases which reveal a mature skill in keeping his stock balanced and in shape to produce successfully.

His principal project was feeding out 10 stocker calves as a commercial feeding demonstration. The group weighed 3,980 when bought last December, but after 240 days of feeding they were marketed at 7,500 pounds with a profit of $236 to the young feeder.

For future stock, he has a registered Hampshire gilt and boar, a registered spotted Poland China gilt, and a sow of the same breed with eight pigs. He is feeding out the pigs and two calves for next spring.

After one failure due to drought, he replanted 11.3 acres of millet which produced 40 bushels an acre to supplement his feed stock.

17,000 Tons Of Bombs Hit Germany

LONDON, Oct. 27 —(AP)—The Royal Air Force dropped more than 17,000 tons of bombs on Germany in the four-week period ended Oct. 25, Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair told the house of commons today.

During the summer period, he said, the Germans dumped 160 tons of explosives on Britain.

OLDEST GUNNER

First Sgt. Allen B. Huckabee of Temple, Tex., credited with shooting down five enemy planes, is believed by the Army Air Corps to be the oldest aerial gunner in the service. The 48-year-old former Y.M.C.A. physical director bailed out of his flaming Flying Fortress and was captured by Italians July 5. When the Allies invaded Sicily they found him in an Italian hospital. He was wounded 11 times.

Outstanding in his address was the remark that Americans who gave up any part of their freedom for security deserved neither freedom nor security.

He rapped Americans for being "dumb" in not preparing themselves for the war we are now fighting, praised the Texas State guard for its patriotism.

Company D of Pampa, of the guard, attended the meeting in a body.

The Dallas man, an officer of the Dallas Power and Light company, loaned by them to the government to push the sale of Victory Bonds and the United War Chest campaign, spoke to Pampa United War Chest workers at a meeting held at 2:30 this afternoon in the junior high school cafeteria.

This morning, he was the guest of Col. Daniel S. Campbell on an inspection of Pampa Field. Yesterday noon, Foran, addressed the monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce here.

eyes." She said he wore gloves. Jo Ann awoke to find "something wrong," and, in her night clothing, went to a neighbor's house at about 7:50 a. m. and simply said: "My mother and daddy are killed. Bad man killed them." With her was a second daughter of the Hunts, Jane, nearly three.

"Good God," one hardened West Texas sheriff breathed heavily as he first viewed the scene. "It isn't possible." Sheriff Hutson said condition of the bodies was "too horrible to be thoroughly described."

"This is what that little girl had to see when she walked in here," a Texas Ranger said softly.

The 37-year-old physician was shot to death with a pistol. His 26-year-old wife died from a major concussion of the brain, brought by a blow on her forehead.

Officers said the Hunts must have struggled fiercely because their bonds had burned their legs, arms and throats. They were tied roughly with straps, twine, lamp cords and sheer undergarments.

The air of mystery was not lessened by the fact that an attempt upon Dr. Hunt's life failed nearly 18 months ago. He was shot twice on May 21, 1942, and Dr. William R. Newton, prominent Cameron, Texas, physician, was convicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

He is now free on bond while his case is on appeal.

The trial of Mrs. Newton on a similar charge has been delayed because of her health.

(Dr. Newton read of the Hunts' deaths in Cameron yesterday and told a Waco News-Tribune reporter, "I am terribly shocked. I've been working here day and night. First I knew of this thing was about an hour ago. My knowledge of Dr. Hunt and my testimony are all on the records of the trial. I have never had any ill-feeling toward the man.")

Officers tracing the pre-slaying activities of the Hunts said that Dr. Newton, Mrs. Fred W. Jones, Jr., of Olton visited at the Hunt residence for several hours, perhaps as long as until 2 a. m., after the physician had finished work at the hospital. Dr. Jones had brought a patient to Dr. Hunt. Officers reasoned the attack must have come between 2 a. m. and prior to daylight.

Pampa Now Has Full Quota of Taxicabs

Pampa now has its full quota of 12 taxicabs as allowed by the office of defense transportation. City Manager W. C. deCordova said today.

At the city commission meeting yesterday forenoon, the commissioners approved granting of five additional permits for Peg's Cab & Baggage company and two permits for Brooks taxi.

As Peg already had five cabs, this makes 10 cabs for his company in all, two for Brooks, the negro firm, or 12 in all.

Jap Tanker Stump Off China Coast

CHUNGKING, Oct. 27 —(AP)—An American Mitchell bombers sank a 150-foot Japanese tanker off the west coast of Hainan Island Monday, a communique of the 15th U. S. air force said today.

The bombers also blasted a 250-foot freighter in the same area, listing it sinking at the stern and listing badly, the bulletin said.

inherent police power to regulate labor unions in order to protect the public welfare appears to be almost beyond question.

It declared the following circumstances present a field for legislation by the state for the protection of the rights of labor as well as the general public:

Labor unions enter into practically every business and industrial enterprise and greatly affect the economic conditions of the country.

The act merely requires an organizer to register and identify himself and confers no unbridled discretion on the secretary of state to grant or withhold a registration card at his will but makes it mandatory duty to accept the registration and issue a card to all who come within the provision of the act.

The legislature was justified in concluding that that part of the act was necessary for the protection of the general welfare of the public and particularly of the working class, can hardly be doubted.

The C. I. O.-A. F. L. joint attack on the law challenges validity of all sections of the law, known as the Manford act. This suit is separate and apart from the litigation involving Thomas who is a national vice-president of C. I. O.

non-deferrable jobs. The bill specifically would prohibit the induction of any man because of occupation, nullifying a recent war manpower commission order designating certain jobs as non-deferrable regardless of dependency status.

Small Manufacturers Meet Here Tomorrow

Representatives of 20 manufacturing plants located in Pampa, Shamrock, Fannhandle, Borger, Perryton and Gruver will gather at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the committee room of the chamber of commerce here to confer with officials of the Smaller War Plants corporation.

Purpose of the meeting is to iron out any difficulties manufacturers may have experienced and to encourage all production possible from the small factories.

Actor Helps Develop Hospital Plane

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 —(AP)—A new navy ambulance plane will be christened five years after its development began—because a movie actor wanted a bed in his private ship.

Wallace Beery, the movie star and aviation enthusiast, decided he was past the age when sleeping on frozen ground was fun during hunting trips. Also, the door on the plane he owned was too small to admit such game as deer.

How about a new plane with a big door—and a bed? The Howard Aircraft Corporation went to work. Out of that special job—and its $4,000 in extra cost—with its folding bed and big door, engineers visualized a flying ambulance.

The United States navy some time ago asked for plans of the flying ambulance. Twin wire stretchers, one suspended above the other, were specified. Next to the stretchers is a nurse's seat. A pilot and co-pilot sit up front.

The new series of flying ambulances to serve American fighters has been named "Howard-Nightingale" and the first will be christened today, Navy Day, by Sister Elizabeth Kenny, famous Australian nurse.

a vast death trap for the German 17th army.

Allied prisoners returning from Germany asserted again that Nazi morale was cracking, particularly under the stresses of Allied bombing.

The British air minister, Sir Archibald Sinclair, said 17,000 tons of bombs were dropped on Germany in four weeks ended Monday.

Thomas Johnston, secretary of state for Scotland, said after talking to prisoners of war that the majority believed firmly that if our bombers can continue until Christmas, the war will be over.

Strong German forces launched a major offensive in Yugoslavia to reconquer territory gained by the Partisans.

Three Japanese airfields on the outer defenses of Rabaul were declared bombed into uselessness. Enemy planes no longer rose from Kahili and Kara on Bougainville in the northern Solomons, or from Balile in the Shortlands.

Four British counterattacks northwest of Finschhafen, New Guinea, were thrown back and the enemy was barred from coastal escape.
