Buffer Zone Problem Settled; Thirty Days Study Period Looms

Soviet Fliers Decorated The Reason?

MOSCOW — (AP) — All Moscow front pages today carried an announcement — without explanation — that the Soviet government had decorated two Navy fliers with the Order of the Red Banner for "exemplary fulfillment of their service duties."

The awards were made to Lt. Ivan Lukashev and Lt. Moisei Shchukin by special action of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament). The accounts did not say what the two lieutenants did to merit the medals.

The last similarly publicized award was in April, 1960, when the Order of the Red Banner was given to fliers who shot down an unarmed American patrol plane over the Baltic Sea, with the loss of 10 crewmen.

There is not necessarily any connection between the awards and the recent disappearance of an American plane which was fired on over the Romanian and Hungarian border areas. The award may even have some connection with Korean fighting. There have been reports that Soviet pilots were becoming more and more active in the Korean conflict.

Jets Clash Over Korea In Renewed Air Raid

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — Jets clashed over Korea today for the first time in five days. The fight came just 12 hours after Superforts bombed a new Red jet base two miles from Red China's Manchurian frontier.

Two MIG-15s were damaged in a battle in bright sunlight between about 30 Red jets and 30 American F-84 Thunderjets, the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported. It said all Thunderjets returned safely.

During the fight twelve B-29 Superforts ignored an angry cordon of Red jets and roared through intensive flak in the first bombing raid on the Communists' Uiju jet base. The strike was effective. Far East Air Forces said. It reported all B-29s returned from the raid two miles south of the Yalu river boundary.

This strike so close to the "sanctuary of Manchuria" pointed out the mounting Allied effort to block off the growing Communist air threat and keep the Reds from setting up bases in North Korea closer to the battle line.

WARNERS U. S. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the U. S. Air Force, warned in Washington that Red China has emerged suddenly as a major air power. He said his newborn air force with Russian jet and Russian speaking pilots has broken Allied air supremacy in Korea although the United Nations still holds superiority.

Allied spotter planes recently reported MIGs nesting in Korea for the first time in the war. The field was Uiju, F-8s Sabre Jets strafed the field Sunday, caught 11 MIGs on a taxi strip and reported eight destroyed or damaged.

Then the big superforts hit last night.

McGee Awaits Decision

EL PASO — (AP) — Richard W. McGee, convicted killer, today was waiting a decision from the state board of control as to which insane asylum he will be assigned.

A jury, after 18 hours of study, yesterday declared him insane. He thereby escaped, at least for a time, the electric chair.

Should McGee ever be declared sane, he could be executed.

Death in the electric chair was the sentence when he was convicted of shooting to death R. L. Allston, Lubbock business man, in July, 1948. Witnesses said McGee shot Allston when the Lubbock man objected to McGee's attentions to his daughter.

Fighting To Continue As All Is Settled

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Truce negotiators reached agreement on a buffer zone clause today, opening the way for a possible armistice in Korea by Christmas.

"We have reached agreement in so far as the wording is concerned," Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, UN command subcommittee member, told correspondents. "The only thing left now is for the liaison officers who are working on the map to finish."

Agreement on the buffer zone issue came at the 29th subcommittee meeting in Panmunjom.

If the agreement is approved by the full truce delegations, as expected, negotiators would have 30 days in which to solve three other tough problems — supervision of the armistice, exchange of war prisoners and recommendations to the belligerent governments.

Fighting will continue in the war, now 17 months old, until all of these points are settled.

Major Gen. Henry I. Hodges, chief UN command subcommittee member, indicated the full five-man delegations could meet Sunday to approve the buffer zone agreement. (See BUFFER, Page 2)

Full Survey Needed On Lake Spillway Project

Before the Department of Agriculture includes the $450,000 Lake McClellan spillway repair cost in its supplemental appropriation for fiscal year, it must first receive a full survey and report from the Soil Conservation Service.

Pampa and Amarillo Chamber of Commerce delegates learned this from Agriculture Dept. officials during their four-day trip to Washington made expressly for that purpose.

E. O. Wedgeworth this morning said the Soil Conservation Service has already made the survey and has given its nod of approval on repair of the flood wrecked spillway. However, the service has not yet filed the report with the Agriculture Dept.

Wedgeworth and G. S. Vineyard, representing Pampa on the spillway mission, used their spare time to revisit Air Force officials, but got the same old "IF" answers similar delegations got months ago.

After "follow-up" conferences with Brig. Gen. H. E. Maddox and Secretary of Air T. K. Finletter, the group was told simply that IF Congress approves the C-47 transport plane reported being fired on by Hungarian and Romanian border guards.

But the embassy report said he apparently realized he was lost and turned back. In two later reports he said he was near the Croatian capital of Zagreb, headed towards Udine, Italy, which lies at the foot of the Alpine Dolomites.

Search For Missing Plane Continues

ROME — (AP) — Search for a missing U. S. Air Force plane carrying four crewmen centered today over the jagged peaks of the Dolomites in northeast Italy following a report of wreckage sighted 40 miles east of Bolzano.

Another report said the plane, missing since Monday on a flight from Munich to Belgrade, was shot down by Romanian Army border patrols as it skirted the Iron curtain on its way to the Yugoslav capital.

Neither of these reports could be confirmed officially.

The U. S. embassy in Belgrade said Tuesday that the pilot of the C-47 transport plane reported being fired on by Hungarian and Romanian border guards.

But the embassy report said he apparently realized he was lost and turned back. In two later reports he said he was near the Croatian capital of Zagreb, headed towards Udine, Italy, which lies at the foot of the Alpine Dolomites.

Iranians Roar Hero's Welcome To Their Premier

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Thousands of Iranians roared a hero's welcome today to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh upon his return from a mission to Washington and a brief, triumphant stay in Cairo.

Police estimated that 250,000 thronged the airport to greet the frail Nationalist leader, whose government is facing a financial crisis threatening the nation with bankruptcy.

The frail Premier swayed and almost fainted as he emerged from the plane.

Foreign diplomats, including U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson, were among the officials who greeted Mossadegh as he stepped from the Egyptian plane which brought him home. The British ambassador did not attend.

In a brief talk to his well-wishers, he said "I am proud to see you today and to return to my dear motherland. I thank my countrymen who are here to greet me."

A chorus broke out into Iran's new "oil anthem," praising the nationalization of oil, which has closed down the billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

Thousands of persons who were not at the airport lined the four and a half mile procession into the city as the procession rolled along in bright sunshine.

Editor Predicts Continued Growth Of Building In Pampa

"Pampa's housing condition is healthy today, and as far as volume is concerned, local dealers are keeping pace with other construction," Ed Gavin, editor of the "American Builder," said yesterday.

The editor is in Pampa with his wife for a two-day visit with Lynn Boyd and Dick Hughes, Saturday, the Gavins will leave for Los Angeles and Seattle for business purposes.

Housing in Pampa will continue to grow during the next four or five years, Gavin declared, because the population will continue to increase.

To be successful, local building must be a local industry, he added. Price Homes must be built with materials most available and constructed by local people," he said.

OPTIMISTIC Gavin seemed optimistic about the building picture in general. "Although recent regulations have cut allotments of steel and copper which may be used in houses," he said, "new methods concerning different techniques in construction are being devised to cut the necessity of critical materials."

He cited one example in which more houses are being built of wood than steel, adding that he believes "there will be more than a million houses built in the United States in 1962 with about the same number the following year, despite government regulations."

"I'm not qualified to say whether government controls are necessary," Gavin said, "but I have never seen a housing situation relieved that way."

PUBLIC HOUSING "As far as the Korean war is concerned, I believe it has accelerated public housing — not hindered it," he asserted.

A community often takes for granted its own people, Gavin added, while sometimes these people are of national importance. "Too such men are Boyd and Hughes. No more than 200 builders in the United States average as much building as the latter."

U. S. Will Rush Aid To France To Prevent Crisis

PARIS — (AP) — The United States will rush emergency dollar aid to France to forestall a lowering economic crisis, but the exact amount of it won't be known for at least two weeks.

This became known here today as reports circulated that help was on the way. The figure of $200,000,000 was mentioned frequently but American officials on the scene said it was only a guess.

The money likely will come in an emergency transfer from a $5,788,000,000 congressional appropriation to send military help to European partners in the western defense program. The congressional act provides that 10 per cent of this fund can be transferred from military to financial aid if necessary.

W. Averell Harriman, director of the mutual security agency, said he will be conducting a country-by-country survey of the needs of the Atlantic community nations, aided by British and French delegates to much. This final report is due about Dec. 1.

HARRIMAN TO APPEAR Harriman is to appear before the NATO council of ministers in Rome Monday with a report on his findings, including his estimate of what France and other countries need in cash.

Some international economists here estimate that France will need at least $200,000,000 during the next year. Of this, the French say, some $200,000,000 is needed to meet her immediate needs. (See AID, Page 2)

Area Oilmen Will Discuss Rising Costs

The IPAA has framed a resolution to the Office of Price Stabilization calling for a survey to determine the proportionate increase in allied costs of procurement, exploration, development and production of crude petroleum. The organization is asking that the OPS grant ceiling boosts in proportion to these costs.

Among those expected to attend the session from Pampa are Joe Gayden, E. J. Dunigan, Jr., I. J. Huval and G. B. Cree. Cree is Panhandle vice chairman for the IPAA.

Group Charges Dining Car Workers in Grip Of Reds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee said last night that some railroad dining car workers are carrying on "an intensive membership campaign" in an effort to establish itself on other lines from coast to coast.

Through the union, the senator said in a statement accompanying the report, "the Communist party already has established the nucleus of a courier system on the railroads for communication between its underground leaders."

MEMBERSHIP NOT CERTAIN The exact membership of the union was not established in the hearings. Various testimony put the number of its members as between 1,000 and 1,800.

The subcommittee recommended legislation to deny certification as a bargaining agent to any Communist controlled union in the railroad industry.

A similar recommendation relating to other unions was made by the Senate group in an earlier report on an investigation of the American Communications Assn., an independent union which has been expelled from the CIO.

Labor relations in the railroad and airline industries are governed by the railway labor act; labor relations in other industries by the National Labor Relations Act.

At present the union is certified as bargaining agent for only about 2,300 dining car employees on the Pennsylvania railroad, but subcommittee Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said it is

Murder in Quotes

by Julius Long

There wasn't much activity on the boardwalk. A few couples with over-riden faces from too much unburnt, oldsters trying to beat the concession games or eating frozen custard, was all I saw. I knew that before I'd gone 100 feet, Earnie Berman would be notified I was there.

I supposed he was in my old office in the Plaza Hotel. I went to the hotel, passed through the lobby and into the Show Boat, an imitation boat built on solid land next to the bay. I felt the tension as I entered.

A few old employees who had been with my father for years greeted me a little embarrassedly as if they thought they were letting me down. I tried to reassure them with my greeting. A job's a job. I dropped into one of the rearer booths and ordered a drink.

The season was well along now—the Fourth of July was past, and of course Earnie Berman had reaped the benefit of the holiday business. Even if Gene Sawyer's case did win for me, there wasn't a chance that he could put me in possession before the season's end.

Berman's lawyers had ousted me on the ground that I had forfeited the buildings by failing to remove them within the deadline allotted by the state conservation chief.

I began to wonder about my drink. The waitress finally came back empty-handed. "I can't serve you, Sir."

I got to my feet. Down the room someone waved. It was Julie Bradford. The man with her turned around, then turned quickly back again, pretending he had not seen me. He was Julie's father. Once he had hinted crudely that Julie and I would make a fine match.

Then I saw someone coming, recognized him by the bandage on his neck. It was Babe Tussig, all right, and Earnie Berman was right behind him. Even as they closed in, I wished it was that peroxide blonde that I was going to get my hands on. As it was, I didn't get my hands on anybody.

I didn't see the blackjack coming, but I heard it and knew what it was. At first I thought I hadn't been hit hard. I had some idea about carrying the fight further. Then it was all over.

The sheriff said he thought I had got off pretty lucky. He said that if he had been Earnie Berman and someone had stabbed a girl through the breast with a pair of scissors, he'd like to have killed the guy. He thought it was really a wonder that Earnie hadn't killed me.

Two uniformed policemen with blackjacks and guns followed me closely until I was off the boardwalk. I got under the wheel of my car and drove away. I had gone less than half a block when a voice said:

"Keep on going. Drive around the block and let me out."

I couldn't identify the voice of the girl who had spoken, and I couldn't see her in the rear-vision mirror.

"You don't know me," she said. "I'm Kay O'Neill. I work in the Garden line and live with Cleo. She tried to call you all evening and couldn't get an answer. She wants to see you at the cottage. It's important."

"It must be. How long did you hide in my car?"

"I only hid when those cops followed you from the boardwalk. I knew your car—I'd seen it."

That was a lie—my car had been in the garage nearly all summer, and I hadn't driven into Queen Point since the new line of girls had opened at the Garden. But I said:

"How do I get to Cleo's cottage?"

She told me that it was the "Hideaway" in Pobst Grove. I knew the cottage. For years the line girls had used Mrs. Pobst's cottages, and any singer working for the season as well as the M.C. also used the Grove. I drove around the block and left Kay O'Neill where I had found her.

I reached the Grove, I turned in, then stopped and backed out again. I didn't want my car seen there. I left it down the street, walked to the grove and reached the "Hideaway."

"It was dark. I entered the screened-in porch, called Cleo's name softly. There was no answer. Then I saw someone coming, recognized him by the bandage on his neck. It was Babe Tussig, all right, and Earnie Berman was right behind him. Even as they closed in, I wished it was that peroxide blonde that I was going to get my hands on. As it was, I didn't get my hands on anybody.

EARNIE glowered from the other side of the room. It was the living room of the cottage. It looked as if a couple of college boys had lived there except for the hoisery and unmentionables hung over chairs.

"Where is she, Sheriff?"

"You know where she is. She's in that bedroom there where you left her. You almost would have gotten away if Earnie Berman and his friend hadn't happened along!" My head still throbbed. I wondered if I didn't have a pair of broken ribs. I had been out cold till Em Souder had got there with one of his deputies. Em had awakened me with a pitcher of water, and I had heard the news. Cleo Casino had been stabbed to death, and of course I had done it.

I walked over to the bedroom door. Cleo lay on the bed. The scissors were still where I was supposed to have left them, and I had no doubt that my fingerprints were on them. Earnie Berman and Babe Tussig would not have overlooked that detail.

"I didn't do it, sheriff. Look for a blond show girl named Kay O'Neill. She told me Cleo wanted to see me here. I came and ran into Earnie and his muscle man. That's all I remember till you woke me up."

Churchmen Charge Moral Corruption In Government

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The spiritual leaders of American Catholics have spoken out strongly against "moral corruption" among government officials—and also against the hurrying of false charges at men in public life.

The U.S. cardinals, archbishops and bishops of the Roman Catholic church said in their annual statement that this country faces a threat alarmingly like the one which caused the downfall of the Roman Empire — "barbarism on the outside, refined materialism and moral decay within."

"The Roman Empire disintegrated from within," said the statement, issued over the week end after the prelates' three-day conference here. "The same fate will befall us if we do not awaken to the danger which threatens us from within our own household."

Appealing for a nation-wide return to "the wisdom of our founding fathers — a wisdom which proclaimed God's rightful place in human affairs," the churchmen said:

"In politics, the principle that 'anything goes,' simply because people are taught not to expect any high degree of honor in politicians, is grossly wrong.

"We have to recover that sense of personal obligation on the part of the voter and that sense of public trust on the part of the elected official which give meaning and dignity to public life."

Public officials, the church leaders said, "have been selected not for self-enrichment but for conscientious public service. . . one and the same standard covers stealing from the cash register and dishonest gain derived from public office."

Man Who Posed As Canadian Doctor To Be Discharged

OTTAWA — (AP) — The Canadian Navy prepared to discharge an American who posed as a Canadian doctor and served brilliantly as a surgeon in Korea. The man's father doubts he ever went to medical school.

The Navy announced Monday that the man they enlisted as Dr. Joseph Cyr of New Brunswick is in reality 29-year-old Ferdinand Waldo Demara, Jr., formerly of Lawrence, Mass.

The Navy's "Dr. Cyr" won considerable fame for a series of major operations he performed on wounded South Koreans. The elder Demara said as far as he knows the only previous medical experience his son had was as an orderly in a Boston eye and ear infirmary. The father said he hadn't seen his son since about 1943. He described him as "bright to the point of genius" and said he once studied in a Trappist monastery.

New Brunswick's only Dr. Joseph Cyr, of Grand Falls, reported his medical identification papers disappeared last winter. Newspaper accounts of the Navy man's surgical exploits aroused comment in New Brunswick and resulted in Demara's return to

Scraping The Bottom

SOUTHAMPTON, England — Contractors have dredged some five million tons of mud from the approaches to Southampton, making the risk of big liners grounding off the port "extremely remote," the harbor committee stated.

Awkward curves have been ironed from the approach channels where the liner Queen Elizabeth was grounded 26 hours in 1947. In one place the width of the channel has been increased from 1550 feet to 2500 feet.

Malays Not Dumb

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya — (AP) — Aborigines in Malaya slap a strong taboo on mother-in-law.

No man may speak, sit, or eat with his mother-in-law. The reason isn't too clear, but the rule is sharp and firm, says Major P. D. R. Williams-Hunt, advisor on the aborigines.

Canada for Investigation

The Navy announced Demara would be discharged in "due course" for fraudulent entry into the service. Canadian immigration authorities also are investigating whether he entered the country illegally. Demara's father and mother are on their way to Equinault, B.C., where their son is being held.

Kingsville Maps Full Scale Plan To Fight Polio

KINGSVILLE, Tex. — (AP) — A full scale sanitation program to fight the spread of polio in this city was mapped last night by city, county, school, college and civic club officials.

The number of cases of polio here was boosted to nine yesterday after C. E. Brown, about 40, railroad brakeman, was stricken. He was taken to Brooke General hospital in San Antonio after doctors tentatively diagnosed his case as polio.

Eight of the nine cases have been reported during the past 10 days. Four of those stricken were students at A&I college located here.

H. L. Shaper, head of a sanitation group from the State Dept. of Health in Dallas, declared at last night's meeting that an intensive campaign must be waged to eliminate flies, which he termed a major health hazard. He also called for the removal of horses, cows, rabbits, and chickens from the populous areas and for proper handling of garbage.

Mayor Harold D. Brown told the civic leaders that the city plans to have sewer connections for every house in the city within six months.

Aussies Find New Way To Produce Rain

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — Australian scientists have discovered a new and better way to produce rain artificially. The method is so surprisingly simple it's a wonder nobody thought of it before.

All they do is spray low hanging clouds with water. It's like fighting fire with fire — only with reverse English. And the system is so effective it takes merely one ton of water sprayed on the base of a rain cloud to produce one million tons of rain!

Dr. E. G. Bowen, a physicist member of the Australian Commonwealth Scientific and Research organization, described the new technique yesterday in a speech at the California institute of technology. With it, the Aussies hope to convert their vast desert into fertile farmlands.

Up to now, clouds have been Dr. Bowen said the water seeded with dry ice or silver iodide crystals to make it rain. It's more effective, especially under conditions encountered in his country.

FIVE TONS OF WATER
"We could carry five tons of water in a medium sized bomber," he explained. "That should be enough to make some 5 million tons of rainfall. But I wish to emphasize that thus far in our painstaking research we have used only a few hundred pounds of water at a time. We sprayed that from DC-3 airplanes."

He said two more years of basic research may be necessary to learn all the facts and possibilities of the water spray system, but added: "Results of these experiments are most promising. I'm convinced that similar results could be obtained in the United States."

He said the new technique works particularly well on warm, low hanging clouds characteristic of Australia and other South Pacific regions.

Plan To Permit More Iron Ore

NEW YORK — (AP) — An agreement between the United States Steel Corp. and the Venezuelan government provides for a river-dredging operation which eventually will mean more iron ore for United States defense effort.

The pact, announced yesterday, allows the company to dredge ship channels in the Macareo and Orinoco rivers to enable ocean-going vessels to bring out the ore from U.S. Steel's Venezuelan possession.

The first shipment of iron ore via the ship channels will be possible until early in 1954.

Britain Plans Home Guard

LONDON — (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill's plan to force a 125,000-man peacetime home guard received House of Commons approval last night. Ministers okayed the measure unanimously, on a voice vote.

War Minister Anthony H. Head said the prime purpose of re-equipping the World War II guard would be to protect key factories and airports and to aid the civil defense force in case of enemy air attack.

Head stressed that the measure was not being brought up because the government thought war was "any more likely."

Diver Directs Own Rescue When Trapped In Icy Ocean

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Trapped almost five hours in icy ocean waters, William Wood directed his own rescue from one of his closest scrapes in years of deep-sea diving.

The 48-year-old Wood worked two ordinary auto jacks to lift iron bars that pinned him to the wreckage of a sunken barge near the Golden Gate.

Searchlights were played on the scene, 1-4 miles off Land's End, and scores watched from shore as Wood was lifted aboard his ship, the Salvager, at 7:30 last night.

Although he was rushed unconscious to a decompression chamber for treatment against the bends, Wood was found suffering only from shock and exposure.

NEEDED MONEY
He told reporters he had started salvage operations he thought might net him "some money for Christmas" for his wife and two daughters in Santa Barbara, Calif. He was seeking to recover brass and copper from the barge that sank off Land's End years ago.

About 2:30 p. m., the tide pushed iron bars over him and pinned his legs and feet. Wood was wearing full divers' equipment. He was 28 feet below the surface.

After an hour's struggle, he phoned the salvager crew to send distress signals.

BROUGHT JACKS
The Coast Guard brought the eight-pound jacks. They were lowered according to instructions from Wood. After hours of careful maneuvering, Wood dislodged the bars, only to be caught by other debris on the way up.

The veteran diver moved that and the crew hauled him up, taking 10 minutes because of the pressure difference.

"This is one of the closest scrapes I've ever had — no, not the worst," he said afterward. "I came closest to eternity off Africa one time." He did not relate that experience.

This time, he added, "I thought I'd make it back up." Wood said he has spent several years hunting for sunken ships from which to salvage metal fittings. Last summer he hunted for the wreckage of a Spanish ship which has been at the bottom of the ocean 358 years.

Japanese Rearming Talked By Military

TOKYO — (AP) — The newspaper Asahi said today Premier Shigeru Yoshida met yesterday with leading Japanese military experts and discussed rearmament in general terms.

The Premier's office denied the report, but the management of the newspaper stood firmly behind the story. It added that experts believed to be former high ranking Japanese military men attended.

Soldier's Baby Will Have Two Godfathers

NEW YORK — (AP) — Air Brooklyn got more than he bargained for when he and two service buddies hit the jackpot on a television show.

They hit for $1500. In trying to figure what to do with the windfall the other two, Army Sergeant Bill Downs, Elkins, W. Va., and Marine Pfc. Joe Kling, Lakewood, N. J., discovered that Callahan was in a bad way financially. He had debts and his wife was expecting.

Downs and Kling decided to chip in part of their winnings to help out.

Result: the baby will have two GI godfathers.

Unions Warned Against Wetbacks

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A national farm labor union official claims Mexican wetbacks are moving in on industrial jobs. And he warned labor unions to protect themselves.

Illegal immigrants from Mexico generally are called "wetbacks." Mostly they are employed on farms. The United States, cooperating with the Mexican government, recently has been attempting to send as many as possible back across the border.

H. L. Mitchell, president of the Farm Workers' organization, claimed the wetbacks are "enticed over the border by the corporation farmers" and find pay as low as 25 cents an hour. Consequently, he said in a statement, they are moving "on into industrial areas."

Mitchell said he has reliable reports that a large number of the Mexican nationals recently were picked up by immigration agents in Chicago where they were employed as railroad track workers.

Others, he said, were found on jobs in Carnegie and Republic steel plants. Some were found in the big meat packers' plants and on construction jobs. Nearly all those picked up in the Chicago area, Mitchell said, held social security and union cards.

"One of these days," Mitchell said, "the wet organized trade unions are going to find that in a crisis they will have 1 1/2 groups of workers in the plants and trades who can be used as strike breakers."

There now is no evidence industrial employers are taking the wetbacks on-for-union—hiring purposes, Mitchell said, but declared "many of the large-scale, factory-in-the-field" farm operators are doing that.

Driver Fined $100

A fine of $100 and costs was levied against Clayton L. Bounds, 27 Childress, in county court today on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Bounds was picked up by highway patrol on Hwy. 70 yesterday near Miers lake after becoming involved in a three-car wreck.

SEARCH

WASHTON, D.C. — (AP) — The wreckage of a plane had been sighted near the mountain village of Pieve Di Cadore. However, U.S. Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden said it had no information on the reported sighting of the wreckage. Police at Pieve Di Cadore said they heard a plane flying over the area Monday evening. A Rome report said a farmer in the area heard a violent explosion that night. The police said they had not heard of the explosion.

Bad weather has hampered the air search for the plane, which was carrying supplies to the U.S. embassy in Belgrade.

PLANE LOST

One of the American planes which took off from Trieste, Italy, got lost over Yugoslavia yesterday and strayed from the triangular search area specially outlined by Premier Marshal Tito's government.

A Yugoslav fighter plane forced it down near the port city of Fula, 40 miles from Trieste at the tip of the Istrian Peninsula. The plane was not damaged and was allowed to return to its base, U.S. Ambassador George Allen took up the incident with the Yugoslav foreign office and an amicable settlement was reached after both sides gave their explanations.

While the search for the missing transport continued today, U.S. diplomats checked a report that the plane had been shot down over Romania. That report came from an unidentified air traveler who arrived in Vienna last night from the Romanian capital of Bucharest.

PROTEST APPOINTMENT

WACO — (AP) — About 6,000 persons attending the Texas Baptist Training Union convention yesterday heard a church leader protest Truman's planned appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican.

The protest came from Dr. J. D. Grey, president of the Southern Baptist convention, and a New Orleans pastor.

He called "for the preservation of religious liberty in America."

REWARD OFFERED

MITCHELL AIR FORCE BASE, N.Y. — (AP) — The Daily Bulletin here carries this note: "Will the person who came to chapel on Friday evening, Nov. 16, to meditate and pray and got so deep in meditation that he took off with the chaplain's trench coat, please return the same? "The reward will be great — in Heaven."

Harvesters Close Season With 58-6 Victory Over Bobcats

Davis Capiures Scoring Leadership

By WARREN HASSE
Pampa News Sports Editor

BOBCAT STADIUM, San Angelo — The Fighting Pampa Harvesters closed out their first season in the "little Southwest Conference" in high-scoring fashion yesterday afternoon with a solid 58-6 shelling of the hapless San Angelo Bobcats.

Coach Tom Tipps used his entire bench in this final game of the season and the inexperienced Bobcats couldn't find a method to stop any of the T attack.

Featured in the scoring role was halfback Billy Davis, one of the finest runners to come out of Pampa High school in recent years, who tallied four touchdowns to assume the district scoring leadership with a total of 114 points, surpassing fullback Jame Sides of the Lubbock Westerners by four points.

PASS INTERCEPTION

Davis scored his leading touchdown in sensational fashion with a one-handed pass interception and then streaking straight down the west sideline 38 yards to score.

Davis failed to surpass either Sides or Cleburne Bybee of Borger in the total offense department, though there is little question but what he could have if he had the game. He saw action only about half the game, but still managed to rack up 121 yards from scrimmage in 13 carries.

The Harvesters completely dominated the play. They racked up over 600 yards in rushing and passing, while the Pampa line held the Bobcats to 17 yards rushing. The Cat aerial attack accounted for 145 yards and the lone touchdown after the half was over. A penalty against the Harvesters on the last play of the first half gave the Bobcats one more play after the clock had run out. On that play, Jimmy Clatterback passed to Stuart Vaughan for a touchdown on a 37-yard play.

The Harvesters scored on several long runs. David Enloe broke into the open for 44 yards on the second touchdown. Sid Mills bootlegged the ball 44 yards from quarterback to another, Ed Dudley romped 35 yards over the right side of his line for another, and Oscar Sargent ripped off a 46-yard scamper for the final TD.

MANY SENIORS

The game was the final one for 21 Green and Golders who played together to form one of the finest clubs ever to represent Pampa High school.

While the Harvesters were the heavy favorite, it didn't look too much like they were going to get started. Davis went over from the nine on the first offensive series for the Pampans, but that was all the scoring in the first quarter.

But Enloe got away on his run on the first play of the second period, and then the Pampa offense started.

Davis bulled his way across for two more touchdowns before the half ended. Curry's first four conversions all failed.

After Davis opened the second half scoring with his 38-yard pass interception touchdown, he left the game until the final 15 seconds. The Harvesters used various combinations, and none could be stopped. Mills passed to Roy Pool in the end zone for the next score after Jimmy Cook recovered a Cat fumble. Then Mills bootlegged the seventh touchdown. Dudley went 35 for the eighth and Sargent 46 for the last.

Several other Pampa scoring touchdowns were called back by penalties. The Harvesters coaches were trying to let some of the seniors who hadn't scored all year against the Harvesters in Cook took a pass and carried it over but a penalty brought the play back and marched off 15 yards against the Harvesters instead. Charles Ely, veteran lineman, moved to the fullback post and ripped off good yardage, but couldn't get into the scoring column as his teammates kept scoring on long runs.

The loss was worst suffered by the impotent, shabby tackling Bobcats this season and the Harvesters by the 68 points notched only by the 68 point notched against Austin of El Paso.

Duke University, which started playing football in 1888, rolled up its biggest victory margin in 1891 when it defeated Furman, 99-0.

The University of Arizona has had 17 football coaches since it began competing on the gridiron in 1890.

Canadian Tripped By Dimmitt In Bi-District Play, 28 To 7

CANYON — The Canadian Wildcats, always jinxed by bi-district play, couldn't get past that stepping stone again yesterday as they fell to the Dimmitt Bobcats, 28-7, here Thursday.

The loss was the first of the season for the District 1-A representatives and the tenth win in a row for the Bobcats. The Cats successfully bottled up the strong Canadian running attack, holding huge Tommy Schief to but 80 yards rushing in 23 attempts.

For the winners it was little Glenn Brown, a stubby, wittlehipped lad, who raced to 176 yards in 26 carries to lead the way.

The start of the game didn't indicate the final score however. It may be that the first touchdown came too easy for the Wildcats. They took the opening kickoff, and sticking right on the ground, marched 86 yards on 15 plays to score. The final 38 yards was covered by Dean Hoover, who went over right tackle for the score after he, Schief and Jimmy Waterfield had set the play up. Waterfield hit the middle for the extra point.

Irishmen Face Bobcats Friday

The Shamrock Irishmen will meet the Childress Bobcats at Shamrock at 2:30 p.m. next Friday, Nov. 30. This was decided at a meeting of the two schools at Childress this morning.

The game will pair two bi-district champions in Class AA, moving toward the state championship.

LINE HOLDS

AA, beat Quanah of 4-AA, 19-7 at Childress, Thursday. Coach Scott McCall's undefeated Irish hacked Tulia for quick defeat by taking the opening kickoff and marching 70 yards on straight power for a TD. The drive consumed 14 plays with Don Carlton, righthalf, driving through the line and plowing the final eight yards. Carlton kicked goal to give the Irish a 7-0 lead.

Tulia was powerless against the big Irish line, except for occasional Wandie Hudson, 180-pound Hornet fullback, who made most of Tulia's hundred yards on the ground. Tulia made only one first down in the first half as the Irish struck for three touchdowns.

On the first play of the second quarter, Jimmie Pennington intercepted Duane Luke's pass on the Shamrock 35 and the Irish ground out 65 yards in five plays for a second TD. Carlton took a pitchout from Charles Francis and raced 48 yards for the counter. His kick was wide.

Tulia again look to the air as the Irish stalled the Hornet ground attack but again misfortune befell them as Carlton hauled in a long Hornet pass and raced back to the Irish 24. Shamrock scored in four plays. Francis hurried a 30-yard pass to end Van Pennington, who raced 25 more to the double stripe. Van was behind the Hornet

Schoolboy Playoff Field To Be Completed In Night Tilts

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The top brackets of Texas schoolboy football complete the field for the state playoffs tonight while the lower divisions — Classes AA and A — will eliminate to the second round in their fight for championships.

Just one district champion is needed in each Class AAAA and Class AAA.

Lubbock, Ysleta, Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Waco, Ray (Corpus Christi), Lamar (Houston) and Baytown are ready for the playoff in Class AAAA. The other champion will be determined tonight when Arlington Heights and Poly clash for the Fort Worth district crown.

Two representatives were chosen yesterday when the district races ended up in three-way ties.

Woodrow Wilson was picked in the Dallas district after it had beaten Sunset 14-7, creating a three-way deadlock for the top spot between Woodrow, Sunset and Adamson. The district committee selected Woodrow Wilson on basis of having the team most likely to advance in the state play.

WACO REPRESENTATIVES

Waco looked Tyler 28-18 and Wichita Falls beat Highland Park (Dallas) 20-6 and that created another triple tie between Waco, Wichita Falls and Texarkana. The teams were named co-champions and flipped to see which would enter the state race.

In the play-off first round Lubbock and Ysleta get together at El Paso Dec. 1, Lamar and Raytown at Houston Nov. 30. Waco and Ray will decide the site and date of their game to night. No matter which team enters the Fort Worth district title — the bi-district game will be at Fort Worth Nov. 20.

Brownsville and McAllen play tonight for the last district title to be decided in Class AAA. Champions already determined are Midland, Breckenridge, Grand Prairie, Marshall, Temple, Comroe and Edison (San Antonio). Marshall won its title yesterday by beating Longview 14-7. In the first round Midland and Breckenridge play at Midland Dec. 1 and Temple at Comroe Nov. 30. Grand Prairie and Marshall will decide their site and date at a conference in Mineola Sunday morning. Edison plays the McAllen - Brownsville winner.

Ohio State Gets Stars, Code Or Not

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
COLUMBUS, O. — (NEA) — What does a school playing high-pressure football do when the National Collegiate Athletic code prohibits its coaching staff from bringing in bright prospects in carload lots and trying them out on the premises?

In Ohio State's case, the state was divided into sections, and the Ohio State Front Liners were organized to police it. There is no rule against an alumnus or a volunteer worker scouting a vicious ground-gainer or a big blocker or tackler and paying his expenses to the campus for the purpose of selling the university to him.

There are 70 alumni Front Liners, but adopted ones contribute even more to the elaborate football program.

In 1947, more than 50 colleges sought Victor Janowicz, a remarkable 186-pound tackle for Elyria, O. High. The resourceful Polish youngster, an everybody's All-America last year, finally leaned toward Notre Dame.

AWARDS JOB
John W. Galbreath, multi-millionaire financier and realtor of Columbus, Pittsburgh and Cleveland, man of many interests, including racing and baseball, selected that one.

He gave Janowicz a job in his Columbus offices, guaranteed him employment for life, bought him a station wagon, and occasionally flies the star and his best gal to New York in his private plane for a week-end.

The fact that Janowicz is a bright baseball catching prospect easily could have something to do with it. John W., you see, owns the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Galbreath and Leo Yassanoff, a Front Liner alumnus who played here years ago, take turns entertaining the squad. Yassanoff, who is in the construction and motion picture businesses, played Santa Claus to the Rose Bowl squad in 1936.

FRONT LINES
J. Edward Weaver, then field secretary of the Alumni Association and now director of ticket sales and assistant athletic director, conceived the Front Liners five years ago with the NCAA's scholarships on the basis of grades, ranging from $300 to $800, depending on the donor.

NO SCHOLARSHIPS
There are no athletic scholarships. Tuition and fees for a boy come to $50 and the expense of the average student from within the state runs about $60 for the three quarters. Football players, of course, eat at a training table and are housed in the stadium.

The maximum that a football player can be paid on a job is $100 a month, which comes to $360 a year, with the withholding tax and whatnots deducted.

Wesley Fessler could stand it for only four years, and then signed with Minnesota, where the talent is not nearly as good.

When last autumn's varsity tumbled off, after playing phenomenally, and was shaded by Illinois and Michigan, Fessler received five letters. Mrs. Fessler and his youngsters came in for a share of the abuse.

NEW COACH
With Fessler out, the Columbus Citizen conducted a write-up poll to determine who would be most popular as his successor. Paul Brown, who went from here to the Cleveland Browns, was the choice at 10-4-1.

A student petition asked Director Larkins to resign if he didn't invite Brown. When Brown visited the campus in the Spring, students hung Larkins in effigy. More than 500 gathered in front of the Faculty Club.

Wayne Woodrow Hayes, who met with success at Denison and Miami of Ohio, was singled out and approved by the Board of Trustees, one of whom is Sen. John W. Bricker.

Woody Hayes, a roly-poly, handsome, dark complexioned man of 38, is reminiscent of Francis Schmidt in drill sessions—impetuous, loud, hard driving.

After scrimmaging the Bucks long in the hot sun, Coach Hayes made the entire squad run and jog six 240-yard laps, or nearly a mile.

In his first head coaching job at New Philadelphia, O. High, Woody Hayes worked his youngsters into all hours of the night. Parents ran him out of town. Ohio State football players will continue to earn their keep.

Tomorrow: The high school that acts like a college.

The game, pairing the champions of 1-B and 2-B, was played before about 1000 Turkey Day football fans who saw Don Floyd, 184-pound Lynx halfback, lead the scoring parade with two touchdowns and passing 80 yards to Andy Burleson who scampered another 36 with the ball for the touchdown.

The Lynx gambled to start the game, using an on-side kick to take possession on the Eagle 35. After Ted Dacus had made five, Floyd raced to his first touchdown.

The pass play accounted for the second score and gave the Lynx a two-touchdown halftime lead. Spearman came back to score twice more in the second half. Roy Noller passed to Leon Morehead for the third touchdown on an eight-yard play. The final score came with Floyd scudding 40 yards to the touchdown. Lakeview's lone tally came late in the fourth period with G. D. Hall carrying over from the six.

The Lynx's next foe will be the Happy Cowboys, who defeated Withnall, 44-7, yesterday.

Unravelling Due In Southwest Conference Battle Tomorrow

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
Rice and Texas Christian hit head-on at Fort Worth tomorrow with leadership in the hurry-bury Southwest Conference football race at stake, but it's only slightly more important than a little melee that'll be going on at Waco at the same time.

Down there on the banks of the Brazos, Baylor and Southern Methodist will be filling the skies with pigskins in a game that might set a record for passes in this already throw-happy league.

Baylor will be fighting to stay just one pant back of the team that moves into first place at Fort Worth. Southern Methodist will be playing mostly for the glory—the Methodists have a chance to tie for the title but it's on the rim of improbability even in this wacky circuit.

Rice and Texas Christian are rated as nearly even as one could imagine and the game probably will fit the description.

The Owls are tough defensively and the Christians are tumultuous offensively, and then again it could be a wild offensive battle for both sides. The Owls have had their moments.

AIR WAR
A crowd of better than 20,000 will turn out for the festivities but the Baylor-Southern Methodist thing is due to do a lot better, with some 30,000 expected.

They're heralding the Baylor-Methodist game as a battle of the great passers—Fred Benger of SMU, who rates No. 1, and Larry Ibell, Baylor's total offense leader and second place passer. But SMU has shown it can run if it wants to and there never has been anything wrong with the Bears' ability to move on the ground.

The schedule is shorter than usual this week because Texas and Texas A&M are taking time out to get ready for their season-closing, traditional game at College Station next Thursday.

Sports Round-Up
By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — A special train was scheduled to pull out of Boston's South Station today carrying eleven Harvard football teams, two touch football squads and four soccer teams, all bent on beating Yale in New Haven.

... If that isn't the go-ahead emphasis of under-emphasized football we'll eat Handsome Dan.

... Here are more than 300 athletes leaving their studies for a couple of days and nobody is getting excited about it except the kids themselves and maybe 40,000 persons who'll turn out tomorrow for the 88th meeting between the notably de-emphasized Harvard and Yale varsity teams.

... Before the big one, there'll be ten regulation football games, involving the junior varsity and freshman squads and the eight intra-mural "house" teams from each university. They don't just pick the champs but send them all and pair them according to the standings in the intra-mural leagues.

... Soccer gets a little more attention with only one house team besides the champs making the trip. Can you imagine one of the "football foundries" staging a program like this?

EDDY CATION
The other day Edward D. Eddy, dignified and distinguished assistant to the president of the University of New Hampshire, walked into publicist Bill Stearns' office with a letter in his hand and a puzzled look on his face. The letter, signed by Vince McNally of the Philadelphia Eagles, told Eddy he had been recommended as a professional football prospect.

... Bill's practiced eye spotted the epitaph as being intended for Earl Eddy, varsity tackle, so he offered to take over the problem.

... In a rather relieved tone, the erudite assistant prexy then asked: "Who, please, are the Philadelphia Eagles?"

North Texas Hopes Chilled By 'Nooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — (AP) — North Texas State's hopes for a bowl bid apparently were plowed under here yesterday as the Texans took a 53-20 lipping from the University of Chattanooga.

North Texas jumped to a 7-0 lead in the second period but Chattanooga roared back for three touchdowns, two as the result of pass interceptions and one on a recovered fumble.

Hal Ladyard pitched two touchdowns passes and Fremo Ross another for the Mocs.

North Texas struck for two touchdowns in the fading minutes to keep the game from being a rout. Tommy Gray scored two of the touchdowns on plunges. Richard Harvey punned to Royce Womble for the other.

A crowd of 10,000 saw the game.

Lions Figure On NFL Lead

DETROIT — (AP) — The titanic Detroit Lions will eye the outcome of the National Football league clash between the champion Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears Sunday as keenly as any fan.

"We'll take the western division title if somebody can knock the Bears off for us," agree Coach Buddy Parker and his Lions.

Detroit boomed into a first-place tie in the division with the Bears and Los Angeles Rams by a 53-35 victory over the Green Bay Packers yesterday.

The Lions showed explosive power to 33,452 Thanksgiving fans in the stands and thousands more at television screens. Trailing 21-10, they jammed across six speedy touchdowns in the second and third periods.

The Lions, Bears and Rams have each won six and lost two. Detroit has a tie on its record and that may hurt the Lions in the long run.

But if the Bears falter before the Browns — who are current leaders in the eastern division and top heavy favorites to get in to the NFL playoff against the western winner again — it would put the Lions in a favorable position.

The Bears and the Rams must tackle each other the following weekend. And the Detroiters, almost completely out of the race four weeks ago, figure they can win their remaining three games — two against San Francisco and one against the Rams.

Los Angeles will be favored to dump the Washington Redskins Sunday in the Capitol.

In the eastern division Pittsburgh's Steelers travel to play the Philadelphia Eagles and the second-place New York Giants go to Chicago to meet the Cardinals. The other western division game sends San Francisco to face the New York Yanks.

Henry P. Davis had the good fortune to look over the two newest imports this summer. They were only 3 1/2 months old, both females. They were taken out to a training pen of several acres fenced by chicken wire. In this enclosure were kept a number of pheasants.

The pups worked singly and at once showed an interest in the strange scent. It wasn't long before they were staunchly pointing the pheasants — undoubtedly the first game birds they had ever smelled. If these were typical of the breed, then certainly it is fated to attract much attention in future years and create much interest among American sportsmen.

Irish JH Girls Trip Kellerville

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach B. L. Hill's junior high girls took a 23-15 victory over the Kellerville girls in the opening basketball game of the 1951-'52 season here Tuesday afternoon.

Hill's junior Lassies took an early lead and coasted to a triumph with second-string players as the game ended. Kellerville edged closer in the final frame, after the Irish juniors led, 21-10, going into the last canto.

Connie Lewis hit for 13 points in leading the junior forwards to victory. Joretta Upton and Julia Holmes scored four points each, and Alveda Reeves poured in one bucket for two points.

Coach Hill said his girls looked good for so early in the season, but said much improvement is desired. He reported that Linda Skidmore, Nancy Eiler and Charlene Cox looked very good guarding the Kellerville crew.

Others appearing in the fray include Mabel Sims, Barbara Sue Bell, Paula O'Neal, Genevieve Smith, Joy Parks.

Girl Cagers On The Increase

AUSTIN — (AP) — Girls basketball enters its second year under Texas Interscholastic league sponsorship with only 313 teams less than boys basketball, which is in its thirty-first year.

Girls basketball, divided into three conferences, will have 791 teams, 78 more than last year, when it operated in only two conferences.

Boys basketball, under a new system of classification, will have 1,094 teams, six more than last season.

Conferences AAAA and AAA in boys basketball will each determine state champions and the two champs will clash for a combination title.

Boys AA and A conferences likewise will play individual championships and then for a combined AA-A crown. Conference B will play to a separate state title.

Girls basketball will have AA, A and B conferences. AA and A will merge into one championship tournament at the regional level so the state championship meet will have only two divisions, AA-A and B.

The boys tournament will be in Austin March 6-8; the girls, March 12-18.

The latest import in American sporting dog kennels is a Hungarian breed called the Vizsla. It's still too early to say that it has become established here — there are only five members in the country as this is being written. But if plans of their owners are successful, you'll be hearing a lot more about this dog in the future.

The Vizsla is known as the Yellow Pointer of Hungary. It is not an ancient breed but still old enough to be proclaimed the national pointer of its native land. Like the Weimaraner, its origin is a bit misty. However, it is fairly certain that in his ancestry are the Transylvanians type of pointer such as is used throughout Rumania and Bulgaria, the Weimaraner of German creation, and one or more pointers which seem to excel in the low-lying type of country.

He is a dog of striking appearance, his solid color ranging in a number of shades from dark cinnamon to a sandy yellow. He stands about 25 inches high and smooth and his tail is generally docked to about six inches. His eyes should correspond to the lighter or darker hue of his coat. A pale-yellow color is objectionable.

The Vizsla was designed especially for his suitability to the Hungarian game fields. The game of that country varies from the giant hare to several varieties of feathered upland game and ducks and geese in the lake regions. He is trained to seek diligently rather than to range widely and his accomplishments are said to include seeking, tracking, pointing and retrieving.

Texas Conference Near Triple Tie

BROWNWOOD — (AP) — Abilene Christian college and Howard Payne are tied for the Texas Conference football championship and it may become a three-way proposition.

ACC whipped Howard Payne 34-14 yesterday to push into a deadlock for the top Texas A&C can tie the two if it beats Austin College Dec. 1.

Tommy Hinson was the big noise in ACC's victory. He scored 22 points with three touchdowns and four conversions.

Jackie Sparrow got both of the Howard Payne touchdowns on line plunges.

Jerry Mullins and Tommy Sifton scored two ACC touchdowns, Sifton's coming on a 52-yard run and Mullins' on a 21-yard dash.

Duke University football teams played in the Rose Bowl in 1938 and 1941. They played in the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1, 1945.

Home football games at the University of Arizona last season were attended by 106,121 spectators. This was a school record.

Student Nurse Proves That She's A Sailor

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — (AP) — Brisk fall breezes pushing her 19-foot sailboat helped pretty Shirley Whitcomb, 22, a student nurse, to prove she is a sailor recently. She owns the boat jointly with a friend. She used it during the summer at her parent's summer home at Old Lyme, Conn.

Fall arrived with variable winds that usually keep small boats in sheltered waters. But she wanted the boat in Providence so she could work on it during the fall and spring. So she sailed it the 100 miles to a winter harbor.

She took three days to make the trip, sailing with a different person (two friends and her father) each day. On one trip of 27 nautical miles she averaged nine knots. She said she didn't see any other small boats on the whole trip. And sometimes she wondered if the sails would hold. But now the boat is in Providence and she plans to scrape the paint off and repaint it.

Smart Crooks Bilk Dealers

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeature Writer

NEW YORK — Raffles is on the loose again. Only this time his loot is rare stamps.

He strikes with lightning swiftness—and his victims are stamp dealers from coast to coast. New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Cincinnati and Toronto have felt his thieving touch.

Police believe these thefts, which have amounted to over $1,000,000 the past four years according to the American Stamp Dealers Assn., are the work of one gang—with a stamp expert at the head.

His methods are the same each time, police officials explain. WORK OF A MASTER MIND

Of course, Raffles is exceptionally clever. He masterminds the jobs—then assigns the actual duties to skilled performers.

Here's how it's done: A dealer's shop is watched for sometime. Perhaps one of the gang will enter and make inquiries about certain stamps. Sometimes he will buy stamps just to see where the most valuable are located.

Then comes time for the job. Sunday is the best day. Stamp dealers are usually closed that day.

Newsprint To Be Declared Essential In Near Future

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Newsprint will shortly be declared essential, clearing the way for a 250,000 ton expansion of producing capacity in this country, it was reported Tuesday.

Arthur R. Treanor, retiring as director of the printing and publishing division of the National Production Authority, said the ruling he has sought for months "undoubtedly will be favorable" and may come this week.

Treanor foresaw a slight improvement ahead in newsprint supply and a probability that it will not be necessary to impose a rationing system.

In an interview, Treanor paid tribute to the willingness of newspaper publishers to conserve supplies. There also has been "remarkable cooperation," he said, in the voluntary arrangement by which bigger newspapers divert part of their shipments to small papers which run into trouble.

"Newsprint will be critical for a great many years in spite of gradual enlargement of the mill capacity here and in Canada," he said.

The question of whether newsprint should be declared essential has taken much of this year. At that time the Defense Production Administration's committee on requirements held newsprint to be non-essential. Newsprint mills thereupon became ineligible for the tax benefits which are intended to aid expansion of defense and essential civilian industries.

Six proposed new mills or addition, representing an estimated 250,000 tons additional annual capacity by 1955, have been hanging fire pending a review of the committee's decision. The plants represent a planned total outlay of about $63,000,000.

A finding of newsprint essentiality would not automatically permit a go-ahead. In each case the company would have to qualify for the DPA certificate which would entitle it to write off in five years, in depreciation for federal tax purposes, a portion of the cost of the expansion.

BEAUTY AFTER FORTY

My face seems to be sagging. Should I massage it daily?—K. C. Do not massage the skin but stimulate circulation and tone the muscles through the use of astringents. Fat and mold with upward sweeps.

"I am going on a cruise through the tropics. What kind of clothes will I need?—I make my own, I am 45.—C.M.S."

Choose a basic color which is becoming and built around that. Make simple sun-back, sheath-style dresses, with jackets. Cottons are cool and comfortable so choose yours in plain or small designs. Sanforized cotton is good because your clothes will continue to fit, even when tropic laundresses work on them!

You will need a lightweight wool coat, several scarves and sweaters, the nights are suddenly cool. Don't forget to take a beauty box, well stocked with your daily beauty needs, plus a sunburn preventative.

"I feel that I have learned many things from Beauty After Forty. Here is my personal question. What type of jewelry, other than silver, can I wear with dark, smoked-gray eyes? I am wearing silver earrings with them. I make my gray hair a real gemmels by using a black rinse. I am very fair, blue eyes and age 51.—Mrs. D. J. Silver or any of the silver-toned metals are the smartest, also gray pearls or any of the interesting pastels would harmonize. I am a definite brunette, age 55. Just show the salesgirl the column, please advise what color rouge and she can help you Lipstick I should wear. I can't seem to find the right shade.—Mary C."

The only thing that I can suggest is that you purchase a set of makeup designed for brunettes. I think that is your answer but, you must shop your cosmetic counters. Please note, many of you write, asking where you can purchase books which I mention or review. I always give the publisher's name, so your book store can order any book for you if the book is not in stock. Any masque or creams can be purchased at cosmetic counters. One reason the housewife so often has the uneasy feeling that no day is ever quite long enough for her to catch up on her work is that nobody values the housewife's time.

The salesman who rings the housewife's doorbell insists on coming in no matter how busy she says she is, or how disinterested she seems to be in his product. And on a inside the front door— he settles down in an easy chair for a 30-minute talk.

The friend who calls a career woman during working hours makes her call brief and to the point. But the friend who calls a housewife in the middle of the baby's bath will chatter along for half an hour. Housewives are never supposed to be too busy to talk on the telephone.

Everybody understands that the woman with a job may not be able to assume the chairmanship of a hard-working committee. But the housewife is always supposed to have plenty of time for committee meetings, calling long lists of names and other chores.

The housewife has no "working hours" that are sacred. She can be interrupted at any time and she is supposed to rearrange her working schedule to crowd in any kind of community job or social engagement.

That is why she often has a hurried, worried look about her. There really isn't enough time to do all she is supposed to do— because nobody regards her time as being important to her.

NOT SHIPSHAPE

SINGAPORE— (AP)— K. S. Lee, a Hong Kong physical culturist, doesn't think much of the women in Singapore. "Singapore women's hips, legs and ankles are... ugly! And what's more, they don't walk gracefully," he told newsmen here. But he had a good word, too.

Singapore women, he said, "are kinder, more charming, simpler and sincere than Hong Kong women."

About Singapore men, Lee asserted. "There's room for improvement." He suggested what they need is more and better equipped gymnasiums and plenty of exercise.

SAFEGUARD TOOLS

Before storing garden tools for the fall, clean them thoroughly and apply linseed oil to both wood and metal parts. This keeps the wood from drying out and helps prevent metal parts from rusting.

THIS IS MY BEST

No. 3 in a series

Next to bagging the prize bird of the day, a man's biggest joy during duck season is seeing the bird braised to a tender, deep brown, baked or roasted, and filled with apples and raisins.

What you do to the bird hinges upon the likes and dislikes of your family, but one hunter's wife, Mrs. Mark Heath, 351 E. Browning, has found the simplest recipe is tops with them, and a delight with dinner guests.

Epicures agree ducks should be cooked—without stuffing, but some cooks like a mixture of apples and raisins, potato stuffing or favorite bread dressing. Mrs. Heath doesn't stuff her duck.

She follows these steps in preparing the duck recipe she describes as "my best."

Carefully clean and dress duck, rinsing the inside with soda water, using one teaspoon of soda to a quart of cold water. Rub lightly with an onion to remove the strong game flavor.

Place a whole apple and onion or a sliced orange in the bird (these are removed before serving) then turn back the wings and truss. Dust with salt, pepper and flour.

Mrs. Heath places strips of bacon over the breast and wraps legs with bacon from the knuckle joint up. This keeps the skin from splitting and meat from drying.

Next place the bird on a rack in the roaster and add about one inch of water to the roaster. Bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to about 300 degrees. Baste, cover, and roast the duck until well done, about two to three hours, depending upon the size and age of the duck.

Just before serving, drizzle lemon juice over the duck. Ducks just seem to call for wild rice, new potatoes with cheese sauce and creamed onions. Mrs. Heath explains. These are things that can be cooked ahead of time, then pushed to the back of the stove without any last-minute flurry on the part of the hostess. She serves a cold, crisp pear salad with the meal.

Some people cook ducks in wine and make it a little more complicated. But Mrs. Heath likes this recipe because it is nothing elaborate or complicated. One of the big failures in preparing duck, she believes, is failure to baste or cook the bird long enough and slowly enough.

Mrs. Heath prepares a lot of game—deer, fish, (especially trout), quail and ducks, and she uses simple, time-saving methods. That makes cooking wild game as much fun for her as the hunting is for Mr. Heath and her.

Recent Bride Is Honored With Party In Pursley Home

Mrs. Tommy Martin, the former Miss Marie Jo Blalock, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday in the home of Miss Adney Pursley, 1801 Christmas.

Hostesses were Miss Praley, Misses Clarice Parks, Virginia Jones, Johnnie Black and Ann Berry.

Blue and white were used in the floral decorations. Blue and white mums and mints and white and blue.

The guest register was blue and white, and was hand-painted by Mrs. C. P. Pursley. Miss Berry registered guests.

The honoree was presented a corsage of red carnations, and the bride's mother, Mrs. Joe Blalock, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Clyde Martin, wore white carnation corsages.

About 25 guests attended. Campaign will bring food and textile packages to destitute Korean war victims. Send as much as you can to the Art and Civic club of Lefors.

Shopping In Soviet Russia
It would be a good thing if every American—in this era in which the free enterprise system is under constant attack—could pay a visit to a retail store in Russia or one of the other communist countries. That would provide an excellent practical test of the difference between a free competitive economy and a controlled, totalitarian economy.

In the Russian store, the visitor would find that all goods were rigidly rationed. The average citizen is allowed to buy just enough to live at a subsistence level. Prices, of course, are fixed by the government at whatever level the masters of the nation desire—and save for a few such staples as bread and potatoes, the prices are always extremely high in terms of the earning power of the masses. High prices are a deliberate Communist device by which earnings are immediately siphoned back into the coffers of the state.

There is no competition in our understanding of that word. The government controls everything, and directly owns practically everything. The difference between a farm and a factory is the store. Even the most modest luxuries are unknown. And many of the necessities are constantly in short supply, so that even meager legal rations cannot be filled.

Contrast this with those show windows of America—our retail stores, small and large, chain and independent. The difference is literally incredible. Only free enterprise can produce abundance and high living standards.

Bad For All
Present price control laws and policies are exacting so great a "squeeze" on retailers' profits that efficient, progressive merchandising is actually being imperiled.

This is not to say that retailing is after "sky is the limit" profits. In the best of times, profits are very modest and are kept so by the irresistible force of competition. But the present situation is completely unreasonable.

Here are two examples, one in the food field, another in the general merchandise field. For the three months which ended Sept. 1, a large food chain showed an increase in volume of 17 percent over the same period last year—yet its net profit was down 45 percent. During the first half of this year, sales of 228 leading department and specialty stores showed a gain of 2 percent—but their net profit from merchandising operations was six-tenths of one percent, as compared with 2.3 percent a year earlier!

BAXTER'S VIEWS

DAVID BAXTER
STUDY IN CONTRASTS
Having discussed an obnoxious, agnostic "statement of faith" by Pearl Buck, I'd like to give you one by Theodore Roosevelt by way of contrast.

"I believe that a man must be a good patriot before he can be a good citizen of the world."
Teddy Roosevelt did not leave any doubt about his definitions, either. He declared: "Patriotism stands for love of one's country. Nationalism corresponds to the love a man bears for his wife and children. Internationalism corresponds to the feeling he has for his neighbors generally. The patriot is the man most devoted to his wife and children who in the long run is apt to be the most satisfactory neighbor."
Roosevelt, of course, was talking about his political and economic belief. He was equally open and frank about his Christian belief. He did not hem and haw and try to palm off the need for strict adherence to principles and rugged intellectual honesty of the Theodore Roosevelt type is vital.

Roosevelt even used the plain, blunt word "NATIONALIST." I have been a nationalist for years, yet so great has been the power of dishonest, communistic, one-world-governments, internationalistic propaganda that the very word "nationalist" has fallen into disrepute. In fact, when I discussed nationalism some time ago in this column I had several letters referring to me as a "fascist" and "nazi."
Theodore Roosevelt's statement in his blunt contrast to that of Pearl Buck, who pretends to be a Christian, which should mean that she believes in the doctrines of Christ, and Presbyterians are supposed to believe in the doctrine of the natural right on a voluntary basis to exchange their labor.

These were the causes of the depression. Instead of discarding the unscrupulous laws that have oppressed us we are only enlarging it using more of them. We will course reap again exactly what we are sowing—the seeds for a larger collapse.
Now listen to another error. Mr. Liljegren says: "Employing our man power a fixed number of hours per day, week or month, until they have created too much or too little causes either unemployment or inflation respectively."
In the first place we never employed all men a fixed number of hours. Employers do not care how long an employee works. It is the employer's interest in the cost of what the worker produces. Men are not really paid for the number of hours they work. They are paid for what they produce. Self-employed men are also free to work the number of hours they think wise.

How Much Is "Too Much"?
We can never produce too much of anything. The contributor seems to think that man's wants are fixed or limited. But man is different from all other animals. The minute he has one want satisfied by work he has a half a dozen new ones. Does Mr. Liljegren know of any person that has all his wants satisfied by work? Or does he want any person to be satisfied by work?
No man could work up to the number of hours till the pain or disease of the work was more than the pleasure received from the fruits of work.
There, therefore is no need whatsoever to limit the hours that man works. Any man that works and produces for himself, for his person in the world. And the more he works and produces the more he benefits others. This is true because free enterprise is not like gambling or slot work. The gain of one is the loss of another. Did Ford, who produced a great deal of wealth, benefit all his customers by giving them more transportation than they could get by supplying their own transportation?
Mr. Liljegren writes: "It is absolutely futile to advocate returning to the free operation of the law of supply and demand unless you can tell how to make it work in deflation as well as inflation."
Part of the above paragraph is good and part bad. The bad part is that it implies that we once had the law of supply and demand in operation and it brought on unemployment. We never had an unhampered market. It was government interference and failing to protect men's rights in property as outlined above that caused the depression.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES
Flexible Labor
Mr. Karl F. Liljegren of Harlingen asks me to answer an article published in "letters to the Editor" in the Harlingen, Texas, Morning Star. It was published under the heading Flexible Labor.

He says it is not enough to expound the impractical character of these principles—free enterprise, the law of supply and demand.
Since depression and long periods of widespread unemployment cannot be solved until more people understand their cause and Mr. Liljegren seems to think that the solution is in reducing hours of work, I believe I cannot use this space to better advantage than to point out some common erroneous beliefs as to their cause which the Mr. Liljegren seems also to believe.
He fairly clearly states what a free economy is. He writes, "Free economy is free competitive enterprise controlled only by the natural law of supply and demand on which price is the integrating force which creates economic balance without resort to planning or control."
He also preaches sound economics when he writes, "stability of free economy depends upon the sensitivity of the law of supply and demand to price fluctuations and vice versa, the price controls obstruct the response of supply and demand. We are now in the grip of inflation that is destroying free economy, not for lack of controls but because we have so many controls that the free economy cannot respond to price fluctuations." The above is sound economic and sound moral.

An Erroneous Conclusion
But here is where Mr. Liljegren errs it seems to me. He says: "Contrary to what is generally accepted, the great unemployment is not caused by any or all of the hundreds-of circumstances which helped to precipitate it."
Later he says "the missing link in American free economy is FLEXIBLE LABOR."
Mr. Liljegren seems to think that we once had in America a free economy. That is where he errs. We have never had a free economy. The government has hampered laws. Among these hampering laws was attempting to regulate the value of money by such laws as the Federal Reserve System and the many regulatory laws on credit. Another interference was the graduated income and inheritance tax, tariffs, immigration restrictions, labor legislation, public utility control, and the others which have taken the natural right on a voluntary basis to exchange their labor.

These were the causes of the depression. Instead of discarding the unscrupulous laws that have oppressed us we are only enlarging it using more of them. We will course reap again exactly what we are sowing—the seeds for a larger collapse.
Now listen to another error. Mr. Liljegren says: "Employing our man power a fixed number of hours per day, week or month, until they have created too much or too little causes either unemployment or inflation respectively."

After The Big Game

LOOKING SIDWAYS
By WHITNEY BOLTON
I wish you wouldn't look right now, but the impression seems to be that I am an idiot. I am an idiot because I like a play now coming on Broadway. It is called "The Fourposter." And not less than half a dozen colleagues in the work of reporting on the theater of New York are convinced that it is too sentimental and is a sublimated amalgam of comic strips, that it pretends to the abstemiousness of comedy while actually getting roaring drunk on wild farce. Also, it is held that its education that the ones who happen to be in this case its only players, are performing it from the surface with a set of learned, adroit tricks and that there isn't a moment of honest heart in it.

The only way I know to answer things like that is to go see the people involved. I sat down with Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn the other night and we talked about the play. I was told that it had been hard and long to get this new hit to Broadway, they might be the only ones who could supply all of the honest answers.

Miss Lee's husband has been compared with Hitler and Goebbels. He also resembles the late Huey Long, for he is clever in repartee, too sharp to be taken lightly even by Winston Churchill, and, like Huey in the historic battle of the mile after miles of fertile, well tilled farms. He asked his host of the evening: "Visitors—how do you Americans manage to use up all your bountiful vegetables and fruits?"

Visitors—how do you Americans manage to use up all your bountiful vegetables and fruits?

"Visitors—how do you Americans manage to use up all your bountiful vegetables and fruits?"

Bid For A Smile
A visiting dignitary arrived in New York after a train ride across the country and the one thing that had impressed him most was the abundance of fertile, well tilled farms. He asked his host of the evening: "Visitors—how do you Americans manage to use up all your bountiful vegetables and fruits?"

A merry party was going on in one of the rooms of a hotel when the festivities were interrupted by an attendant who said:
"Attention—Gentlemen, I've been sent to ask you to make less noise. The guests in the next room says he can't read."
"Host—Can't read? Well, tell him he ought to be ashamed of himself. Why, I could read when I was five."

Football Player—I'm learning to be a good player.
"College Girl—Your experience on the bench should come in handy."
"of unending labor." "It's not a bad play. Hard work does not create a success automatically. But "The Fourposter" is not a bad play, it is a loving, warm and endearing play. I have cited the weeks of unrelenting labor to prove only one thing: that only the dedicated, mature and serious workers of the theater endure such a task.
The Cronyns are not to be feted because they have a hit—but because they created one.

Fair Enough.....

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
LONDON—During 1947, the first year of its existence, the socialist force masquerading as Americans for Democratic Action imported to the United States a woman unknown to the American public by name, Miss Jennie Lee, a member of the British Parliament. Miss Lee is the left-wing socialist and is the wife of the Bevan except the Communist. LONDON—During 1947, the first year of its existence, the socialist force masquerading as Americans for Democratic Action imported to the United States a woman unknown to the American public by name, Miss Jennie Lee, a member of the British Parliament. Miss Lee is the left-wing socialist and is the wife of the Bevan except the Communist.

My purpose in some of these discussion from London is not so much to inform Americans on facts and personalities concerned in the doom of our mother country under Socialism as to drag out into view the American conspirators who have been doing political business with them both at home and abroad. This has been clandestine business, unknown to the people of the United States. The British Trades Union Congress, with the sanction of the Socialist government and with the full knowledge of the British people who were too listless to protest, has gone into politics with irresponsible and unofficial union groups on the continent. The ostensible purpose is to fight off the Muscovite communists. Several of our own agents have gone into the same mischief unknown to our people but with the quiet approval of the State Department and the active connivance of Paul Hoffman's Economic Cooperation Administration. I do not know what progress they have made beyond chucking their weight about Europe largely at the taxpayers' expense. They latched onto the military and civil administrations, knocked off great quantities of commissary food, cigarettes and booze at prices far below the American retail market and in general have lived the more abundant life of the parasite bureaucrat ever since the armies pulled out leaving the field to them. There have been queer goings-on over here.

Jennie Lee is not exactly mute but she is less articulate or noisy than her husband. However they speak the same language to express their joint prejudices, which were well known to A. D. A. when Jennie Lee was imported to the United States to expound her views.

Assuming that Jennie Lee's views agree with those of A. D. A., the leading statements of Bevan become a worth-while subject for those who want to know what this American Socialist movement is up to.

The "lower than vermin" speech shocked the British and brought from Churchill a suggestion of health, ought to become a psychiatric patient of his own department. Churchill noted that this revolutionary rouser, with a large following of sullen, obdurate Welsh miners, had expressed his hatred of at least half the British nation and said Bevan had been a burden on the British war effort when he might have helped.

So far, nobody has been able to handle Bevan, but his courage is unimpaired and subject to some doubt, as Huey Long's certainly was. Thus it may be that in the event of the "blood bath" which he predicted in one of his orations, Bevan will prove to have been purely rhetorical. He has a "stepped right up" to the line between public order and wild insurrection several times a but never over it. His course in times of war when he might have done some physical violence to the foe with full permission of the government, but at some risk, does not occasion immediate fears. However, Huey Long always went attended by a group of "thug-men," as he called his private guard, Hitler made only one revolutionary foray into danger and Mussolini was said to have marched on Rome in a drawing-room of a sleeping car. So Bevan might produce that blood bath by remote control.

The present, of course, is not the ripe time for the overt act. His side has been repudiated temporarily. But here is a man who has repeatedly said that the results of the free election could be repudiated on the ground that the voters were poisoned by the propaganda and couldn't vote in their own interests. The result of an election in such conditions would be immoral and therefore could be set aside by violence. Or, put another way, in another speech, any popular vote which rejected the political ambitions of Bevan and Jennie Lee, whose agents would block all roads except the road to civil war."

National Whirligig.... Truman Turns To Vinson As Demo Presidential Candidate

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—The final elimination of General "Ike" Eisenhower as a Democratic presidential possibility for 1952 has authorized President Truman's thoughts even more directly to Chief Justice Fred Vinson of the Supreme Court as a possible successor. A seemingly insignificant incident of a literary rather than a political nature lies behind this general conclusion.

There recently appeared an authorized biography of the late Charles Evans Hughes, one of Vinson's predecessors, by Merio Pusey, an editorial writer on the Washington Post. The distinguished jurist selected Pusey for the task and the two-volume work is based on close personal collaboration and covers on the vast amount of notes, memos and other papers which Hughes turned over to the author.

RECOMMENDATION—In describing the presidential procedure for filling the vacancy caused by the death of the late Chief Justice Harlan Stone, Pusey says that President Truman consulted Hughes. Based on his talks with the late Chief Justice, Pusey adds that Hughes recommended Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson of New York for the position.

The recommendation was quite logical, according to those who knew both men well. Jackson had the same keen, cold, metallic mind that Hughes did. They had served together on the court and like Hughes, Jackson was a hard-poled and conscientious member of the court.

He never shirked his job, as men like the late Frank Murphy, Justice Felix Frankfurter and Justice Tom Clark have. The Murphy irritated Hughes by frequently irritating Hughes by the way they tried to avoid work and handle only the easy cases.

VERSION—But when President Truman was asked why he rejected the Hughes suggestion appointing Vinson instead of Jackson, he bristled, grew red and gave an angry answer. He admitted that he consulted Hughes, but he repudiated the Pusey version. He said that the late Chief Justice had recommended Vinson.

Inasmuch as the latter had served only a few years on the Supreme Court, it is not surprising that Vinson was not considered a serious contender. However, the Hughes version did not succeed. He may have lost the presidency because of his willingness to jump from a jurist's robes into a political toga.

It is certain that this was one of the principal factors behind the almost successful fight to block his confirmation in the Senate. The Hughes shift was the only reason why the late Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, although he admired Hughes as a man and statesman, felt that he had to vote against confirmation.

FACTORS—It is true that the GOP set the precedent, thereby giving an anticipatory blessing to a similar attempt by the Democrats. But it is also history that the Hughes venture did not succeed. He may have lost the presidency because of his willingness to jump from a jurist's robes into a political toga.

It is certain that this was one of the principal factors behind the almost successful fight to block his confirmation in the Senate. The Hughes shift was the only reason why the late Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, although he admired Hughes as a man and statesman, felt that he had to vote against confirmation.

Thanks for stopping, do you happen to be going in the opposite direction?

Shorrer—He became my son-in-law last week, and I have agreed to furnish him board for the first year.
Sink—I tell you I got hot up this morning. I had to catch the 6:30 accommodation but she pulled out just before I got there. I had to run a whole mile after her.
Shorrer—Did you catch her?
Sink—No—but I sure did make her puff.
Girl—Dearer, will you take Father apart and speak to him?
He—Loved one, when he hears my income, I won't have to take him apart. He'll explode.
Visitor—And what do you think of the darling little brother that your dear mother brought home from the front?
Musie—Huh! It looks like something mother won at a bingo game!

"He made the Stars also..."

God made two great lights; the greater to rule over the day, and the lesser to rule over the night. He made the stars also. Perhaps you are discouraged. Maybe you think that you do not count... that you are not even needed in the church. Maybe you are blindfolded to the opportunities that are all about you. Remember, He made the stars also. He made you.

THOUGH it may seem dark all about you and you may think your licks are all in vain, God never creates worthless things nor useless lives. Sure, He needs great lights... great leaders, but "He made the stars also." He made you and me. As much as God needs great men He also needs small, humble ones to take stations as reflectors. He made the stars to reflect the light of the sun.

GOD uses the church to woo men to the better life. The church must have leaders, and the church also has many ordinary, humble people who trust God and walk by faith... blindfolded or not. God made the great Light, but to reflect the great Light to all His world, "He Made the Stars Also." He needs you.

Stork Soars To New Records As Nation's Birth Rate Rises

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The stork is flying high this year, and along some new routes. If the number of births continue as high for the rest of the year as they have this far, 1951 will set an all-time record for the number of babies born in the U. S.

For the first seven months of this year there were 2,230,000 births in the U. S., including an estimate for unregistered ones. If the rate continues for the last five months of the year, the record of 3,378,900 set in 1947 will be exceeded.

Government population experts give two big reasons for this marked increase in female fertility, as they call it. The obvious one is the Korean War. All war causes a quick increase in the marriage rate, with a consequent increase in the birth rate along about a year later or when the men return from the fighting.

The Korean affair has caused almost the same pattern of increase in birth rates as has other wars. The marriage rate has gone up, but because men aren't rushed overseas as quickly as during World Wars I and II, the rate has shot up even faster, according to the experts.

With a lot of men beginning to go to Europe now, however, a slight drop might be expected in the rate next year and the year after. Then, when the men may return in large numbers if the tension with Russia relaxes, the birth rate should really soar.

Perhaps even more important than the effect of Korea on the birth rate increase, many population experts say, is the possibility that the country is entering a long-time baby-boom trend. The birth rate has kept constant high since the 1947 peak—3.7 million in 1948, 3.72 million in 1949 and 3.84 million last year. The fact that it's easier and safer to have babies now than it was before the war, due to medical advances and more medical facilities, is given as one reason for the suspected long-time trend toward more babies. Women are more willing to endure childbirth, a spokesman for the U. S. Children's Bureau says. Still another factor is the country's prosperity since the war. In contrast to the depression when the birth rate reached an all-time low, most people can now afford to have at least one child, and generally have bigger families.

Another significant fact spotted by the experts in the current figures disproves the old saying that the rich "get richer and the poor have babies. Women with college educations, generally in the higher income brackets, have increased their production of offspring 77 percent over their 1949 figures. Women with grade school or less education have only increased their production 24 percent.

And for no explainable reason city women have increased their birth rates four times as much as rural women.

About the only persons worried about this baby boom are the country's educators. The World War II crop of babies hit school last year and they will be swamping the school systems from now on.

SEARCH CONTINUES
BROWNVILLE — (P) — The Coast Guard continued its search Tuesday for a shrimp trawler more than four days overdue on a trip from Arkansas Pass to Brownsville.

The trawler, Joyce Marie, and the two men aboard have not been heard from since they left Arkansas Pass.

Handsomeness Harry Is Cop's Delight

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Just like any glamor boy, Handsomeness Harry Wilson's face is his fortune. The only difference is that Harry's is the ugliest pan in Hollywood.

Oh, it doesn't hurt Harry's feelings to have that pointed out. After all, he has made a good living since 1924 from his oversized, leathery face. It has also been the cause of numerous brushes with the police.

"I guess people think I'm the perfect criminal type," said Harry in his rumbling voice. "Whenever they're making a crime or prison picture, the producers always think of me. I've been in almost every class C cop-and-robber picture ever made."

Harry's only trouble is that cops have the same type-casting ideas as producers. Once he and another player were playing bums in a Charlie Chase comedy. The gag was that they were supposed to hitch-hike a ride with a honeymooning couple. Harry and his friend got in their costumes and decided to hitch a ride to where they were supposed to do the scene.

"A guy stopped to pick up us and the first thing we know, he's snapped handcuffs on our wrists," he recalled. "He took us down to Lincoln Heights jail. Only when he called the studio would he believe our story that we were really actors."

By now he's careful not to wear his costume out of the studio. He went out for lunch in his stripes one day a few years back and guess what happened. Yep, he was calling the studio from the police station again.

Try luminous butter — a new product that's just on the market. This luminous butter gives off a bright shining glow. It is especially useful for people who never know which side their bread is buttered on.

Let's Go Shopping
One of these days I must go shopping. I am completely out of self-respect. I want to exchange the self-righteousness I picked up the other day for some humility which they say is less expensive and wears longer. I want to look at some tolerance which is being used for wraps this season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace. We are a little low on that and one can never have too much of it. And by the way, I must try to make sure my patients that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming to her and I think it might look well on me. I might try on that little garment of long-suffering they are displaying. I never thought wanted to wear it but I myself coming to it. Also I must not forget to have had my wardrobe mended and look around for some inexpensive every day goodness. It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted.
