

Psychologist Says War Juvenile Delinquency Increase Exaggerated

CHICAGO, September 2—(AP)—Actual increase in juvenile delinquency in wartime, a psychologist declared today, probably has been exaggerated and the standard methods of curing it still are effective.

Dr. Stephen M. Corey, professor of educational psychology at the University of Chicago, said in an address prepared for delivery to the university's eighth annual library institute that problems related to delinquency have increased in quantity but the problems and their solution are the same as ever.

"It is difficult to procure valid and dependable statistics on the increase of juvenile delinquency among high school age girls as a result of the war," Corey said. "For example, to cite increases in arrests for sex offenses in vicinities in which large numbers of service men are concentrated as being illustrations of a general increase in delinquency the country over is quite obviously misleading."

"Honest-to-goodness adolescent delinquents are not made overnight. To declare that the number of such delinquent young people has increased by 40 to 60 per cent since Pearl Harbor is more frightening than enlightening.

"War has changed the timing and complexity of some of the abilities that children growing up in our culture must acquire," Corey continued. "Those relating to accepting a proper role in sexual relationships have been complicated in part because of the license of 'eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow you may die' philosophy of a war era."

"However, the increase in the number of girls in Chicago and New York and Detroit who are brought to the juvenile courts because of sex delinquency does not mean that any new and different problems are occurring. The spirit of the times has eliminated many inhibitions and has increased temptations and opportunities, but the problem is fundamentally the same problem that adolescent girls have faced for many generations."

Private Arrested For Bogus Checks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—(AP)—The federal bureau of investigation has announced the arrest in New York of Charles Robert Lorne Fisk Mcintosh, described as an army private who went AWOL from his base at Liberal, Kans., on charges of writing worthless checks and violating the white slave traffic act.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said Mcintosh and a woman companion had toured the country, staying at first-class hotels, and paying for their accommodations with bogus checks. The woman, whose name was not disclosed, was said to be a member of a prominent Chicago family who had deserted her husband.

Texaco Opens New Chicago Toluene Unit

Large quantities of toluene, basic ingredient of deadly TNT, are now being manufactured in a new $6,800,000 unit at one of the Texas company's refineries in the Chicago area, according to word received in Pampa by D. J. Gribbon, district superintendent for the company.

The new unit, first to be constructed in Illinois, was built under an army ordinance contract. For military reasons its capacity cannot be disclosed.

The raw material used is a "cut" from ordinary straight-run motor gasoline, manufactured elsewhere in the plant. Extraction of the toluene is a difficult and costly process, but the finished product, a water-white, harmless looking liquid is shipped to other plants, where it is converted into TNT (trinitrotoluene) by the so-called nitration process.

No formal opening ceremonies were held at the plant, as it was felt that the time could be spent more advantageously in actual production. Instead, employees at the plant received congratulatory telegram from Texaco's president, W. S. S. Rodgers, which read in part as follows: "Modern warfare demands oil in many forms—super-octane gasoline and aircraft engine oils for bombers and fighter planes; fuel for battle-bus, tanks, cranes; gasoline and lubricants for trucks, tanks, and jeeps; toluene for making TNT; butadiene, basic ingredient of synthetic rubber; petroleum coke for manufacturing aluminum, and hundreds of specialized products for war industries. Your company is a leading manufacturer of such products. Today, your 25,000 fellow workers throughout the United States extend hearty greetings to you. We are proud of the part you are playing in helping to win the war."

ON THE HOME FRONT

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIEGLER
WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—(AP)—The idea of "inducing" bond-buyers to receive income tax deductions for purchases of War Bonds would mean most to the big taxpayer.

It could make a sizable reduction in the amount of taxes paid by a person whose income is in the upper surtax brackets.

This idea, like many others you'll be hearing about, is just at the talking stage. As proposed anonymously by an influential member of congress, it would permit a taxpayer to deduct one-half the amount he puts into War Bonds, up to a maximum deduction of 15 per cent of taxable income.

The congressional leader linked this idea with a boost in the normal income tax rate from the present 6 per cent to 8 or 10 per cent.

He expressed belief the plan, if adopted, would greatly swell bond purchases.

Let's see how it would work out in a couple of cases—a married man with two children, earning $3,500 a year, and a man of the same family status but with an income of $15,000 a year.

First, the man with the $3,500 income. His exemptions total $1,900—$1200 as a married man, $350 each for the children. With deductions, say, of $350 for contributions, taxes, interest and so on, his surtax net income is $1,250. At the present 6 per cent normal and 13 per cent surtax rates, with the 10 per cent earned income credit on the normal tax, his total income tax comes out to $217.66.

He's putting 10 per cent of his salary into War Bonds. That's $350 a year. Under the proposed plan he could deduct half of that, or $175. But then if the normal tax were boosted to 10 per cent, his total normal and surtax would be $217.50—or just $1.10 less than at present. If the normal tax were made 8 per cent, the total figure would be $201.95.

Under the 15 per cent limitation, the maximum deduction he could get would be $137.50—if he bought $375 worth of bonds. The $25 additional bond purchase would give him an additional deduction of $12.50, which would save him—this would be the "incentive"—only a couple of dollars on his taxes. They would total $214.95 at 10 per cent, as compared, respectively, with the $217.50 and $201.95 he would pay if he simply maintained his present rate of purchases.

Now let's look at the other side, the man with the $15,000 income. At present rates, with deductions of, say $1,500, his surtax net income would be $11,600. This puts the last $1,600 into the 32 per cent surtax bracket. His total normal and surtaxes are $3,147.

The treasury hopes he's putting all the money he can into War Bonds. Perhaps he's using 20 per cent of his income for this purpose—buying $3,000 worth a year.

If so, without an increase in the rate of his purchases, the proposed "incentive" plan would reduce his taxes to $2,942 at a 10 per cent normal tax rate, or to $2,764 at 8 per cent—a cut of $200 to $380. The deduction of one-half his bond purchases would drop him into a lower surtax bracket.

Under a 15 per cent limitation, his maximum bond deduction would be $1,740—if he bought $3,480 worth of bonds.

Then his taxes, at a 10 per cent 849.20; at 8 per cent, to $2,675.52; 849.20; at 8 per cent, to $2,675.52.

In other words, by buying $480 worth of additional bonds, he could save himself $200 to $470 on his taxes.

Air Base Band, Orchestra Is Composed of Noted Musicians

When Pampa residents thronged Central park last Thursday night to hear the popular Pampa Field band concert, they heard what is rapidly becoming a top-notch musical organization.

From all over the country have come the musicians who comprise the field's orchestra and band, former members of "name" orchestras and civic bands. Some of the boys have been in the army for many months and were recruited from other fields, yet others are fresh from civilian life, such as Pvt. Forest Buxton, former piano player for the Tiny Hill and Jack Crawford orchestras, who came here recently from the reception center at Camp Grant, Ill.

It was back on March 1 when the musicians first started arriving here to organize a band. T-Sgt. Albert Fish, then sergeant and now leader of nine men from Lubbock Field and started whipping a post orchestra into shape. Shortly afterward, warrant officer Kenneth Carpenter, of Des Moines, Iowa, arrived to organize a post band and direct all music activities.

The arrival of more musicians plus a lot of hard work on the part of Carpenter, Sergeant Fish and their "boys," soon enabled Pampa Field personnel to boast of one of the "best outfits in Texas."

From that statement was given late this spring when a class of cadets was to have a graduation dance here. Did the cadets want a well known orchestra, as most graduating classes do? No sir! They had heard the post orchestra at an informal dance and held that it was as good as almost any other band that they might have spent a small fortune to procure for their farewell get-together. So the post orchestra played, and has been playing at dances for cadets, officers and enlisted men ever since.

The 385th army band, which is the official name of the musical unit, and 1st Lt. Roger H. Morse, assistant post adjutant, is the squadron commander. Carpenter directs all the musical work, but coordinates all activity with the military band, leaving the direction of the post orchestra to Sergeant Fish.

Carpenter holds a degree as a bachelor in music education, which he earned at Drake University. Prior to going to college, he was a featured saxophonist with his high school band and orchestra, winning "superior" honors in national scholastic music competition at Drake. He played solos with the university band and orchestra, and had his own band, which played at functions all over the midwest. In 1939, his orchestra went to Europe and toured six countries, arriving back in the United States shortly before war was declared. He has also appeared on the Deems Taylor "Musical Americana" radio program, as a guest artist and has been a director of music at an Iowa high school. Upon his entry in the army, he was sent to the army music school at Ft. Myers, where he received his warrant officer's appointment.

Fish, 32, is a native of Boston. With 18 years experience behind him as a musician, he plays the trumpet and cornet in the "Harry James" manner and frequently plays solos with the post dance band, much to the delight of his listeners. Fish studied at the New England Conservatory of Music and has played with the Boston Civic Symphony and with such well known dance orchestras as Ruby Newman and Bobby Hackett, at New York and Boston clubs. He had his own band for a while and played at various places in both New York state and New England.

Looking at the band roster, one would get a fair idea of the musical background of its members. Corp. Arthur Rose, of New York, formerly with Bunny Berigan's orchestra and with Cy Shelton's Curfew Club band, plays first clarinet. Corp. Ross Young, of Los Angeles, plays saxophone and clarinet, having had from California and left Ted "Flo Rito" famous band to join the army; Pvt. John Moran, of Newton, Mass., who holds a master's degree from the Northeastern Conservatory of Music at Boston, plays baritone saxophone; Sgt. Stanley Klotzky, from Chicago, who sings and plays tuba with the band, formerly sang with such name bands as Arne Arnett, Art Jarrett, Bob Chester and Johnny "Scat" Davis.

S-Sgt. Julius Brooks, of Beaumont, string bass, played with Wingie Malone's band, which was a civilian; Corp. Frank Synott, of Houston, played with numerous orchestras near his home town, and now specializes as a solo clarinetist with the Pampa Field orchestra, in addition to being one of the music arrangers; Sgt. Roy Butterbaugh, Detroit, cornetist; S-Sgt. Howard Ingalls, Newfane, N. Y., who has been a soldier-musician for five years and who was formerly with the 26 Infantry band at Plattsburgh, N. Y.; trombonist; S-Sgt. John Keith, who plays guitar, of Amarillo; Pfc. Charles Matson, solo clarinetist with the post band, a resident of Springfield, Ill.; Pfc. Paul B. Nich-

President Joins In Roasting Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Columnist Drew Pearson's published charge that Secretary of State Hull had an "anti-Russian attitude" brought from President Roosevelt an assertion that the writer-columnist was a chronic liar and that kind of journalism hurt the press and the nation.

Mr. Roosevelt's sharply-worded comment at a press conference Tuesday brought from Pearson a prompt statement repeating his contention about Secretary Hull and adding:

"If the president needed a scapegoat, I am glad if anything I have said now forces the administration to make clear in words what certainly was not clear before in deeds."

Hull had called the column in question "monstrous and diabolical."

"The Russians were fully aware of Mr. Hull's long and consistent Russian attitude. It didn't take me to tell them about it," Pearson observed.

The president did not mention Pearson by name but remarked that he was as disturbed as Hull had been by the comments of a columnist which were very detrimental to the United States and to the United Nations, and therefore to the winning of the war.

Mr. Roosevelt added that the comments were a lie and they demonstrated bad faith with the country.

Pearson's statement after the press conference declared that he was complimented "to join the long list of newspapermen whom the president has attacked."

Polish Division Goes to Front

MOSCOW, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A Polish division which has undergone 10 weeks of intensive training at a camp on the Oka river, has departed for the Soviet-German front the Russian army newspaper Red Star has announced.

This is "the first step on the path to the liberation of enslaved Poland," Red Star said.

ois, baritone saxophone player, who formerly played with orchestras in Denver, and Salt Lake City; Sgt. Marcus Williams, flute and piccolo player, who was formerly with the Austin Symphony and the Southwestern University band; Pvt. Leonard Witt, of Remson, Iowa, who plays tenor saxophone; T-Sgt. N. A. Mutu, trumpet player, formerly with the Canton, Ohio, Symphony; Pfc. Bobby Byrnes, 19, of Pampa, the youngest member of the band who plays trumpet Pfc. Charles Fite., of San Antonio, who plays the french horn; Cpl. Dan W. Deets of Hershey, Pa., drummer; Pvt. Roy Dudley, Pontiac, Mich., snare drummer; Pvt. Louis Gonda, sousa-phone player, of Almont, Mich., and Sgt. William B. Goff, French horn player of Illinois, comprise the rest of the band.

Canadian Rotary Club Visited By Area Governor

Special To The NEWS. CANADIAN, Sept. 2.—M. W. Larmour, governor of District 127 Rotary International, complimented the members of Canadian Rotary club Tuesday noon on their work as Rotarians. He found good fellowship, their records showed good attendance and sponsoring of worthwhile community projects.

Governor Larmour discussed the work of Rotary International, sketching work of past years, responsibilities in the present time, and the possibilities for Rotarians in the post war period to aid in the reconstruction which inevitably follows any war.

Shell Argument Is Accepted by NLRB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Shell Oil company has won an argument of more than four years duration with the National Labor Relations board and seen its thesis become the board's established policy.

This was disclosed in the board's announcement that it had amended its Feb. 21, 1939, certification of the Oil Workers International Union, Local No. 367, as collective bargaining agent in Toronto were shown in technical.

Kenneth Fiero was the guest for the weekly luncheon meeting of Rotarian Williams of the soil conservation office here.

in representatives for part of the employees of Shell's Deer Park refinery at Houston.

The amendment, requested by the company, was for the purpose of excluding from the collective bargaining unit all supervisory employees with authority to hire, promote, discharge, discipline or otherwise effect changes in the status of employees or effectively recommend such action.

The board said the amendment would "impair no contractual relationship, since no agreement covering the hours, wages and working conditions of supervisors in the unit has ever been entered into between the company and the oil workers."

Walczak-Shepard Vows Are Taken

Miss Marcella Walczak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Walczak, of Duluth, Minn., became the bride of Lt. John F. Shepard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Shepard, also of Duluth, in a single ring ceremony August 30.

Vows were read by the Rev. Father William A. Stack in the Holy Souls church at 3 p. m.

Special wedding music was offered from the organ and a choir, composed of six girls.

The maid of honor was Miss Lillian Lakela, of Duluth, Minn., who wore a floor length dress of light blue, and carried a hand bouquet of pink and white roses.

Best man was Richard X. Sheehan, of Malden, Mass.

The bride wore a white satin wedding gown fashioned with a full length veil. She carried an old-fashioned hand bouquet and a white prayer book.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the A. B. Zahn home where wedding cake and punch were served to guests.

Lt. Shepard graduated with the class of 49H at the Pampa Army Training school, and will report for B-24 training in Liberal, Kan.

Parents of the bridegroom were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Reeves while in Pampa.

Street Dance To Be Given Friday Night

A street dance will be sponsored by the USO club Friday night at 8:30, for Pampa Victory Belles and men at the Pampa Air base.

The dance will be held in the usual place, which is the street on the west side of the courthouse, where streets are washed and roped off before the dance begins.

Music will be furnished by the Pampa Army Air Field orchestra under the direction of Albert Fish and Barry Stumman doing the vocal.

Victory Belles will be called by their hostess, but will be picked up to be taken to the dance.

Playing Bridge Is All Right—If You Have Done Your Bit

Don't be too critical when you see a bunch of women playing bridge these days. Before you condemn them for wasting time when they could be doing worthwhile work, find out what the women did yesterday.

You may discover that little Mrs. Smith, looking so frivolous and carefree, spent yesterday from 9 until 5 in the Red Cross rooms, rolling bandages.

You may find out that Mrs. Jones put in hours as a nurses' aide yesterday.

And that fat, jolly Mrs. Brown spent yesterday canning, not only for her own family, but for her daughter, who works in a war plant, and who hasn't the strength to come home and can fruit at the end of a tiring day in a noisy factory.

You may discover that two-thirds of the women looking so carefree as they sit concentrating on their cards have either husbands or sons in service, and that far from not knowing that there is a war going on, they think of little else. Listen to their talk—and you'll see that the latest letters from their men are what they want most to discuss.

Sure, those women playing bridge may look as though they are so many time wasters, who aren't touched by the war and aren't doing anything about it.

But before you put that down as a fact—talk to a few of them. You may find that this bridge game is their "time off"—their period of getting dressed up and getting out of their houses for a while.

Even soldiers have time off—so it ought to be all right for housewives to get a little relaxation once in a while.

Of course, if you talk to them and find out they were playing bridge yesterday and the day before you have a right to condemn them.

But find out first. You may be surprised.

USO Volunteers To Hear Speaker

Volunteer work at the USO was the subject of discussion for Field Recreation representative, Charles L. Juliana, when he talked to a group of Pampans at 2:30 this afternoon in the USO.

In his discussion Juliana emphasized the point that unless there was a strong cooperation in volunteer assistance, it is practically impossible for USO clubs to survive in a community. He was also of the opinion that each community was responsible for the welfare of the soldiers stationed in their town and not the USO. The community must do its work toward helping soldiers first, when this cannot be done, the USO then offers help.

"All civic clubs, schools, social clubs, and churches should contribute toward USO efforts and realize the immediate needs of soldiers," he said. "It also should be understood that the USO serves all soldiers alike, regardless of their religious affiliation. The club serves the Protestant, the Catholic and the Jew, and is entirely non-sectarian."

In regard to program plans for the club, Juliana said that he did not cover that field, but would have a few suggestions to give if asked for them.

"The most important thing in planning a program," he said, "is to plan programs so that the soldier will have some time free. His time is very likely to become too regimented, and often the best thing we can do for a soldier is to let him completely alone. Over-organization for soldiers is something which a community must watch," he said.

"From observation of the Pampa club this club is running very efficiently, and reflects the good work by volunteers in the community."

Stocking Salvage Is Discontinued

Collections of discarded silk and nylon hosiery are to be discontinued on September 30. Since little or no silk or nylon hosiery has been manufactured for the past several months, collections, if continued, could be expected to reach a vanishing point in the near future. Since the beginning of collections, contributions of 2,300,307 pounds of hosiery have been made—approximately 46 million pairs.

In time of total war, abridgement of our rights is probably inescapable. We are fighting to make sure that such totalitarian conditions cannot exist in time of peace.

Roll call was given and minute were read. Mrs. J. B. Massa reported parliamentary rules for the council.

Mrs. N. L. Nichols made an announcement concerning the Girl Scouts in Pampa. She said that there would be an experienced director in Pampa on the first week of every month to help with Girl Scout activities, and urged that each club have a representation in Girl Scout work. ### Want Turkey? Wait Until The Army Gets Its Share

By ANN STEVICK
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—Put your big straw hats away tenderly this season, there is likely to be a dearth of straw for next spring, according to the millinery industry committee of the War Production Board.

We use both synthetic and natural straws, about 80 per cent of the former being imported. Most of our natural straws come from South America and the West Indies, now that Chinese and Philippine sources are cut off. And shipping space is too precious to be cluttered up with the makings of straw hats.

Although fur and wool felts are short, the production of fall hats will be raised 20 per cent by the thrifty expedient of using less material. Consequently small hats, always good with winter suits and winter weather, will be worn, or else.

TURKEY TALE

All "turkeys" for the next month and a half are going to those far-sighted housekeepers, the buyers for the U. S. military overseas requirements. They already have holiday meals for soldiers planned. It will take 10,000,000 pounds to give every overseas G.I. his Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day turkey dinner.

The ban on civilian buying of turkeys will be lifted as soon as the 10,000,000 figure is reached, which is expected to be soon after Oct. 1. There is a large supply of turkey this year. You will have plenty of time between October 1 and whatever Thanksgiving Day the President decides on, to get your turkey.

It probably will be necessary to order a bit ahead of time because there will be great demand. A black market furor could upset the whole scheme. You must keep your eye on the ceiling price when you buy.

By October you should pay around 50 cents a pound for the best turkeys, weighing 18 to 22 pounds. Heavier turkeys will be slightly less. The ceiling price goes down about 3 cents between now and October.

Other Jobs Taken By War Prisoners

Prisoners of war from the camp at McLean will be used in Wheeler county tomorrow in two labor projects. County Farm Agent G. T. Hackney said today.

A group of 12 Germans are to be employed in shocking feed near Shamrock while 12 others are at work near Twitty, heading maize.

Although Gray county farmers have made inquiries on using German prisoners, it will be 10 or 15 days before they will be needed by farmers in this county.

Tuesday, McLean used 16 German prisoners in cleaning up streets and alleys, a project similar to the one in Pampa.

CATTELMEN

the position of not knowing what he can do.

President Boice said the government is missing the significance of the present run if grass-fat cattle. Eighty per cent of the 30,000 animals arriving here Monday were suitable for feeders who in six months would add 300 pounds to each steer, he explained.

Instead, the steers are being slaughtered, with a potential loss of millions of pounds of beef—"In other words, we may have a glut of beef this fall, but we will have a famine in the spring."

This item of livestock and feed men believe the meat management plan developed by the livestock and meat industry would be the answer to many of their problems.

Under this plan, which would have a flexible scale for meat point values, price regulations would be eliminated, with the readily moveable point values intended to regulate demand and thus establish prices to the consumer.

The government first would take all the meat if needed.

McCann and Chris L. Abbott, a Hyattsville, Md., rancher, saw no relief for the livestock industry in the war food administration's order lifting the slaughter limitations on meat animals until midnight of Oct. 31. They agreed, however, it would mean more meat for the consumer.

Asked what they would have done with their cattle in the coming weeks had the relaxation of slaughtering quotas not been granted, the ranchers said they would have held them on the range as grass-fed stock or would have sold as many as packers could buy under the restricted quotas.

INCOME TAX

$4215, leaving $2665—which is his surtax net income.

So he looks at the surtax table and finds a surtax of $260 (that's 16 per cent of the amount over $2,000. That means 16 per cent of $665, which is $106.40 added to $260, that makes his surtax $366.40.

Now, in figuring his normal income tax, he can deduct an earned income credit. That's 10 per cent of his net income, which was $4215. So his credit is $421.50. This subtracted from his surtax leaves ($366.40 - $421.50) leaves $2243.50. That is the amount subject to normal tax of 6 per cent, which figures out to $134.61.

Total normal and surtax, then, is $134.61 plus $366.40, or $501.01.

Ernest Marlehead takes a deep breath and plunges into the victory tax column. From his total income of $4680 he can subtract victory tax exemption of $62., leaving $4056. Five per cent (the full victory tax) of that is $202.80.

But Marlehead is entitled to take some credits against that. Under the law, his maximum credit is 42 per cent of the victory tax (40 per cent for a married man, plus 2 per cent for the child). This maximum figures out to $85.18. Aloysius expects to spend at least that much during the year for war bonds and life insurance premiums, so he can deduct the maximum credit—leaving him a net victory tax of $117.62.

He adds that to his total normal and surtax, bringing his grand total of taxes to $618.63.

This item he transfers to his declaration. If, however, this sum had turned out to be less than his 1942 tax as figured last March, his 1942 tax would have to be entered instead.)

Next he has to figure out how much has been paid and withheld from his pay for taxes during all of 1943.

For the first 26 weeks of the year his paycheck was tapped for $3.80 a week for victory tax, or a total of $99.60.

Since July, $13 a week has been taken out of his check under pay-as-you-go. For the last 26 weeks of the year this will total $338.

In all, then, $93.00 plus $338, or $431.60, will have been withheld from his pay during 1943.

This total he also puts down on his declaration, and subtracts it from the total estimated taxes of $618.63, leaving $187.03.

At this point on the declaration he is entitled to deduct the payments he made in March and June of this year for his 1942 tax. These two payments, we'll say, totaled $170.03. This figure goes into the declaration, where Marlehead subtracts it from $187.03, finding his unpaid balance of estimated tax is $17.

This may seem like a lot of work to arrive at such a relatively small amount of money, but the fact is that if Aloysius had used the short-form work sheet he would have estimated his taxes at $637.63 and found himself paying $36.05 instead of $17.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Most, and perhaps all, of the nation's butter output this fall and winter may be reserved for the civilian population, the war food administration indicated today in an announcement that follows complaints of shortages in some areas.

Light Harvester Football Team Indicated from First Grid Reports

Two Players, Coaches On Air Tonight

Only one of the 37 boys on the 1943 Harvester football squad tip the scales at the 200-pound mark, emphasizing Coach Otis Coffey's statement that this year's edition of the Harvesters is going to be a light team.

The 200-pounder is Clayton Noblitt, tackle. Charlie Boyles, co-captain, listed on last year's programs at 200 pounds, is listed at 185. Coach Coffey explained that the weights given on the list were guessed by the boys themselves and would be subject to revision when programs of this year's games were prepared.

Lightest boy on the squad is Billy Clay 122 pounds, a back. Runner-up for the low weight record is Johnny Campbell, 16, who is out for quarterback. He weighs 125. Laddie Mayes and Billy Hutchinson are the "babies" on the squad. Each is 14 years old. Mayes, 139 pounds, is an end; Hutchinson, 129 pounds, guard.

Football fans will get the low-down on prospects of the Harvesters this season when a radio program is presented at 6:30 to-night over Radio Station KFDD, the Pampa News station. Speakers on the program will be Coach Coffey, Charles O. Criswell, assistant coach, and Co-Captains John Paul McKinley, 17, 145-pound guard, and Charlie Boyles, 17, 185-pound back.

Eugene Lively is manager of the 1943 Harvesters. Others on the squad, listed by name, age, weight and position: Billy Washington, 15, 147, back; Randall Gray, 15, 148, end; Edwin Blanton, 16, 150, guard; Clifford Howard, 17, 150, back; Don Warren, 16, 150, back; Billy Sheehan, 17, 150, back; Junior Coffey (not related to the coach) 15, 145, back; Muriel McCracken, 16, 170, back; J. C. Hopkins, 17, 136, guard; Donald Rowe, 15, 150, guard; Gene Robbins, 17, 160, end; Billy Joe Stevens, 17, 140, end; Ardell Seeds, 15, 160, bullback; Louis L. Allen, 16, 160, tackle; Henry Lane, 16, 140, guard.

Larry Fuller, 16, 140, end; Wayne Broyles, 17, 165, back; Kenneth Grantham, 16, 147, back; James Hart, 17, 145, tackle; Don Humphries, 15, 153, guard; J. W. Winborne, 16, 158, center; Dick Manry, 17, 155, back; Billy Bird, 17, 155, end; Joe Cree, 16, 136, end.

Six players are listed with ages omitted. Coach Coffey said there would probably be other additions to the list of boys out for the team.

The six, for whom no ages are given, are Jerry Kerbow, 160 pounds, center; Clayton Noblitt, 200, tackle; James Berry, 165, back; Reginald Bridges, 160, tackle; Bob Curtis, 160, guard; Gene Turner, 185, tackle.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. L. H. Van Oyen will be appointed commander-in-chief of the Netherlands East Indies army, leaving the United States in the near future for Australia to take over his new post. The official Aneta (Netherlands) news agency carried the announcement.

In Jackson, Miss., Gen. Van Oyen announced this week he was relinquishing command of the Royal Netherlands military flying school, established there in 1942, and disclosed the appointment of Col. G. Giebel to succeed him as commander of the school.

Gen. Van Oyen became commander of the Netherlands East Indies army air force in 1935 and served in that capacity during the Japanese invasion of the archipelago.

Games Played Again Cause Confusion

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
The business of picking up games in the National League at a given point and playing them to completion at later dates still is causing headaches for the figure filberts.

The senior circuit has had four contests in this category. It may be remembered, two of them protested games involving the Phillies and two others suspended games which were halted because of Sunday curfew laws in Boston and Pittsburgh July 18.

The protested games were entered in the standings at the time they were played, but when League President Ford Frick ordered the contests resumed later from the point of argument, the Phillies won the game they had been charged with losing to the St. Louis Cardinals and lost the game they had been credited with winning from the New York Giants.

This called for corrections in the standings at the time it was turned out, it might just as well be counted a legal game at the time it was recessed.

This contest was the second game of a doubleheader between the Cardinals and Pittsburgh Giants which was halted after seven innings with the Redbirds leading 6-5. When the final frames were run off neither team made a move and the July 18 score became the Sept. 1 score.

What did happen was that Rip Sewell of the Pirates, who had entered the contest in the seventh inning in a relief role and returned to the mound to complete the game, was charged with his seventh defeat against 19 victories. This now raised the question of whether Sewell had an 11-game winning streak in July, or whether it was broken at seven games on July 18.

Manager Billy Southworth, instead of resuming the game with

West Wins Oil Bowl Contest

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Judging from statistics, the North looked like the stronger team, but the Western eleven, led by former high school football players from Lubbock and Breckenridge, took the breaks and won the sixth annual Oil Bowl game, 13 to 6.

It was a neck-and-neck battle before an estimated 7,500 spectators who filled Cayote Stadium last night. The North gained 206 yards from scrimmage to the West's 195; North gained 116 yards on nine completed passes; West attempted no passes but intercepted three; West made four first downs to North's seven; West punted nine times for 331 yards and North five times for 180; West was penalized 10 yards and North 35.

The West scored first late in the initial quarter, Tom Pirie of Lubbock carrying the ball 22 yards for a touchdown after a punt tried by Bobby McCurry of McKinney failed to get off to a good start.

The game see-sawed until early in the third quarter. The North lost the ball after a kick by Bell, Donald Deere of Breckenridge returned the ball 41 yards, his run ended where Bob Brewer of Lubbock lugged it for the second touchdown.

Big Jack Ray of Breckenridge, who sparked the West's game, kicked the extra point.

Two plays into the fourth period, the North made its score. Maxie Bell of Vernon heaved the ball to Marion Settagast of Houston for the touchdown. Herbert Turley of San Antonio attempted an extra point kick which failed.

Brothers Held Without Bail
STEAMBOUT SPRINGS, Colo. Sept. 2.—(AP)—Two Texas brothers, charged with slaying a 56-year-old sheepherder by trussing him with a rope at an isolated northwestern Colorado sheep ranch, were held without bail today after waiving a preliminary hearing in the case.

The pair, Randal, 26, and O. B. Throneberry, 28, were charged with slaying Ethelbert Purdy several weeks ago. Purdy was found dead of exposure, his arms and legs tied behind his back. His camp had been robbed. Sheriff Ernest Todd said the elder Throneberry admitted orally that he and his brother left the herder tied up after taking $38 and Purdy's guns.

Dove Hunting Fair in Northern Zone

AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Mourning dove hunting, which opened in Texas' north zone Wednesday, will be strictly on a local basis this year.

Though more Texans shoot doves than any other game bird, sportsmen won't do much traveling on short gasoline rations. The ammunition situation is also very bad. But for those who have a few shells from last year and don't have to go too far to a sunflower field or waterhole, the hunting prospects are excellent.

With the season starting two weeks earlier than usual in a large area—the north zone was considerably extended this year—none of the local birds have begun moving south, and the local crop is big. Hunters who have had a chance to look over their favorite shooting spots in the last few weeks report many full grown birds on the wing.

Mourning dove hunters this year get to start one-half hour earlier. North zone shooting ends Oct. 12. In the south zone the season runs from Nov. 20 through Dec. 19. Bag limit is 10 birds, possession the same.

George Washington called it a "BURNING SPRING"

Today, it becomes 100 Octane Aviation Gasoline!

NATURAL GAS, seeping up through rock and earth and water, fed the strange flame which Washington described as a "burning spring."

Today, natural gas flows from controlled wells to feed a gigantic maze of pipes, tanks, and towers. In these it is transformed into an astonishing variety of essential wartime chemicals.

These petroleum chemicals are basic materials for 100 octane aviation gasoline; synthetic rubber; explosives; plastics; medicines and anesthetics. The list is almost endless because natural gas is an overflowing storehouse of hydrocarbons (carbon-hydrogen compounds). When split, these become the chemical building blocks for constructing an almost limitless number of products.

It is easy to understand, therefore, the importance of two Phillips facts: 1. Phillips Petroleum Company has, we believe, the world's largest proven natural gas reserves. 2. Phillips has for many years been a leader in extending the frontiers of knowledge concerning hydrocarbon chemistry.

From now on, every time you see the Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refiners in addition to producing gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils, are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Parley-Yoo?

By wireless from Algiers, Milton Bracker of the New York Times' staff, views with alarm the mayhem that American soldiers are committing against the French language.

It seems that our boys do not appreciate the importance of gender in French nouns. They fail to understand, apparently, the logic by which fickle weather is masculine while a mighty artillery piece is feminine—why a flame is feminine, but the fire itself is masculine.

Nor do our expeditionaries comprehend the future, the conditional, the subjunctive and the historical present tenses and moods of Gallic verbs.

And the worst thing about the situation, reports Mr. Bracker, is that the fellows don't seem to give ainker's damn about their ignorance. The Army provides opportunity for them to acquire linguistic aptitude, but they spend their time otherwise.

Had not the public schools demanded so much money, it is doubtful whether we would have ever started a discriminatory tax law that will eventually, if continued, lead us to mass starvation.

And this way of getting tax money arbitrarily led to the belief that the state could perform many, many additional services to the public. And when people had dried up the additional tax income from double and multiple taxation and put so many taxes on business and the men with initiative, then millions of people were out of work.

Our public education, instead of training the people to oppose this wicked, unAmerican, un-Christian, undemocratic, unethical taxing system, encouraged it.

Yes, if there is anything that has helped wreck the American way of life, helped establish tyranny and oppression by the unsatisfied demand for tax money, it is the school system of America.

And who was responsible for the public school system? The Protestant churches of America.

And most of their church leaders do not yet even know the great disservice they have done to freedom and to Christianity and to justice by their insistence that parents themselves were not obliged to educate their children; that they could have the happiness and joy and companionship of children and could shift, by force, their duties to educate the children to other people by way of the state.

The columns of this newspaper, of course, are open to a frank discussion of the above. If there are any conclusions that are not rational, the writer would be under great obligation if anyone would point them out.

Small manufacturers are being forced to absorb the 20 per cent withholding tax in order to retain their workmen. This, of course, constitutes a wage increase of equivalent amount, which itself is legally subject to further withholding tax, of which the government is being defrauded.

The practice is undoubtedly illegal. It is economically unsound because most small firms cannot stand such a drain. It is fiscally unsound because it contributes to inflation, defeating the very purpose of the taxing method. It is, as the American Business Congress says, business blackmail.

The Nation's Press

GOVERNMENT BY FOOLS AND KNAVES (The Chicago Tribune)

Harold Ickes has put over his share of the misery campaign. At his direction, the OPA has cut the gasoline rations of middle western motorists by one quarter. The action is cunningly taken at a time when the people are temporarily deprived of their only shield against executive maladministration.

The ration reduction is unnecessary. The excuse that more petroleum can now be diverted to the gas-starved east is only a cutletish cloud put out by Ickes to hide his own failure in his job of managing war petroleum production.

Ickes admits the truth of their charges, in effect, when he asserts that he has repeatedly recommended the price increase, but has been overruled by the OPA. That is feeble back-passing. The OPA tells Ickes he can't raise prices, and then Ickes tells the OPA to cut rations. They fool no one by this shadow play. They are all Mr. Roosevelt's men.

To fight the war this nation has successfully expanded its extractive and manufacturing industries to the greatest rates of production in history. Ickes is in charge of petroleum production. While other production was expanding, oil production last year declined under his administration 150,000,000 barrels below the level of 1941.

We are being governed by fools and knaves. The fools are the New Dealers who from the day they came into power have persistently blinded themselves to the miracle of American production. Their planned economy has been a plan to cut up and redistribute what we have instead of working for the plenty that we might have.

The New Deal clique is now reduced to the contention that the people will accept as good sports the unnecessary cut in the ration because it helps win the war. Nothing that cripples the civilian economy, in which the automobile plays such an important part, helps win the war. It helps lose the war. Those who seek to protect the bunglers responsible for the decline in oil production are as criminally responsible as the bunglers themselves.

Common Ground

By E. C. HOILES

"I speak the pass-word primalval. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."

WERE PUBLIC SCHOOLS RESPONSIBLE FOR OUR WICKED, DESTRUCTIVE TAX SYSTEM?

As one studies how we have changed our tax system from one which attempted to tax people in proportion to the cost of the service the government rendered to the individual, to a Karl Marx tax system, one wonders how much of this change is due to the schools demanding so much money.

It will be remembered that our first major departure from a sound tax principle to immoral or arbitrary taxation was when the different states and subdivisions, in order to get more money, began to rule that stocks, bonds and notes should be regarded as wealth and should pay tax. This was a double taxation, due to the fact that the stocks and bonds and notes that the property represented were already paying one tax.

And when we first came to disregard justice in taxation and respecting the rights of the individual that he should get all he produces and be treated on the same basis as all other producers, it was only a question of time until we then decided that we wanted more of this discriminatory tax income, so we passed the graduated income tax. We also began to tax business corporations for furnishing jobs and raising the standard of living.

Had not the public schools demanded so much money, it is doubtful whether we would have ever started a discriminatory tax law that will eventually, if continued, lead us to mass starvation.

And this way of getting tax money arbitrarily led to the belief that the state could perform many, many additional services to the public. And when people had dried up the additional tax income from double and multiple taxation and put so many taxes on business and the men with initiative, then millions of people were out of work; then the government began to tax in another way. They began to tax by inflation. They had the government establish a banking system that poured billions and billions of new currency and new credit into our economic operations.

Our public education, instead of training the people to oppose this wicked, unAmerican, un-Christian, undemocratic, unethical taxing system, encouraged it.

Yes, if there is anything that has helped wreck the American way of life, helped establish tyranny and oppression by the unsatisfied demand for tax money, it is the school system of America.

And most of their church leaders do not yet even know the great disservice they have done to freedom and to Christianity and to justice by their insistence that parents themselves were not obliged to educate their children; that they could have the happiness and joy and companionship of children and could shift, by force, their duties to educate the children to other people by way of the state.

MEN, WOMEN, AND LUNCHEONS

Men are better than women 2 to 1 when it comes to selecting nutritious luncheons, the Red Cross reports after peering into thousands of cafeteria trays. Men go in more for milk and milk foods, vegetables, fruits and meats.

While the Red Cross didn't say so, they also go in more for breads, cereals, tea, coffee, milk, beer, fish, poultry, butter, and eggs. In short, they go in more for food.

It is a well known fact that women will not cook just for themselves. Left alone in a house, they nibble left-overs. In time, they would probably starve if the men folks did not return with whopping big appetites for food with some warmth and juice in it.

Lunching out, they are prone to select stuff that can be picked at: frilly cold salads; stuffed olives that the conversation any more than if they were so many semicolons; thin slices of bread. The ensemble is not exactly food, but more like an unverified rumor of it.

Men like food they can dive into. They like to make a business of it. Their idea of a land flowing with milk and honey is one where every meal is dinner.

The Red Cross needn't have gone to any lengths to find that out. It could have just asked anybody.

Too Much Talk

OPA Director Brown finally persuaded Petroleum Administrator Ickes that the pleasure driving ban could be lifted and more gasoline given to eastern motorists. Forthwith, the pumps began to run dry. Instead of more fuel, the eastern car owners found that the tickets they have are no good.

Problems of supply and demand cannot be solved in the spirit of good fellowship, on the basis of pleasing the voters. If Messrs. Brown and Ickes had not promised so much so soon, War Mobilizer Byrnes would be sleeping better of a night.

News Behind The News

By ALBERT LEMAN

HINT—War Department insiders discount the rumor that the appointment of Lord Louis Mountbatten to lead the Allies in the India-Burma zone means that he has been placed over General MacArthur.

In their opinion the hero of Bataan will still direct the greatest offensive toward the Philippines but the cousin of King George VI will head another offensive through the continental jungles flanking the Japanese position. The vast distances between the two theaters necessitate separate commands.

Washington military circles think that the choice of such an outstanding Britisher as Churchill's way of proving that he really means business in the Asiatic phase of the war. He hopes thereby to allay American suspicion that after Hitler is defeated we shall be left fighting alone in the Pacific.

Until lately the Prime Minister has not concerned himself much with Burma. Those with knowledge of diplomatic maneuvering express the view that he knows he has a legal claim to the territories and the peace conference must recognize it. For that reason he never favored accepting much Chinese aid which might pave the way for Chungking, at a future Versailles, to demand the right to share in the final settlement regarding the province.

A hint that even now immediate action is not contemplated is apparent in the unnoted arrival last week in Washington of a special mission, consisting of British army and naval experts under Major General Sir Lathbury, to study the size of the forces needed in the Orient, the weapons and medical facilities required, and other fundamentals. Although the monsoons end in October, the visitors do not expect to complete their preliminary surveys until early in 1944.

Opposed—Washington is agog with speculation about Sumner Welles's successor. Discussion goes beyond the chair vacated by the able Under Secretary and include the names of several high ranking officials. The one name that has been mentioned is that of the late Justice Louis Brandeis. He left this radical atmosphere to work in a law office associated with the Dixie-Torrey clan in the house of Morgan. Later he entered Treasury and finally State as a loyal Rooseveltian.

Frankfurter mistrusts Assistant Secretary Adolf A. Berle Jr., for his recent dealings with Vichyites and his attitude toward the Russian. The Dixie-Torrey clique describes Berle as a "Soviet-hating liberal." The former Harvard legal mentor and Berle dislike Assistant Secretary Breckenridge Long and his henchmen, James Clement Dunn, State Department Advisor on Political Relations, whom the New Dealers dub "super-reactionaries."

But a curious fact is that although Acheson is acceptable to Frankfurter, he is also close to Cordell Hull. His promotion would not offend the Bourbonists below the Mason and Dixon line who must keep disgruntled Dixie in the bag for the fourth term election. The ousting of Hull and his replacement by someone who is persona non grata to him would rock the Southern hierarchy to its foundations.

QUESTIONS—Having won in his duel with Mr. Welles, Mr. Hull may be willing to step down from the bridge. Those of us privileged to meet him after his return from the Quebec Conference were struck by his air of weariness and signs of his advanced years. He may want a right-hand man and reliable successor.

The Secretary gave a picture of the enormous amount of work carried on by his Department relative to postwar problems. In this connection it should be noted that Mr. Acheson has been deputized to take over his branch, including the formulation of peace treaty planks. The young diplomat also heads the new Office of Foreign Economic Coordination charged with the fiscal affairs of liberated nations, the first approach to a platform of normal relations.

Six business trade and finance men of important questions facing State in the future, it may be that Mr. Roosevelt will take this under consideration when rearranging his Number 1 Bureau.

Hull Scores Charge He's Anti-Russian

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—(AP)—Secretary Hull this week termed "monstrous and diabolical falsehoods" charges he said had been made by Drew Pearson, columnist and state department critic, that Hull and other high state department officials wished the Soviet Union "to be bled white."

The secretary of state opened his press conference, without waiting for questions, by reading the following statement: "I do not ordinarily take notice of attacks made either on the state department or myself. When these attacks, however, concern our relations with an Allied government, I must take notice of them."

"I am informed that recently Drew Pearson published over the radio and in the press the charge that I and other high officials in the state department are opposed to the Soviet government and that we actually wish the Soviet Union to be bled white."

"I desire to brand these statements as monstrous and diabolical falsehoods." Last week Hull said in a statement which did not name individuals that some writers and commentators were "lending aid and comfort to the enemy" by making untrue statements about international relations of the United States.

Pearson, commenting on the secretary's statement, said: "I hope that Mr. Hull's denial of my charge that he is anti-Russian will stand up better than his recent denial that Sumner Welles would resign."

Yanks Score 14-1 Against Japs GUADALCANAL, Aug. 27—(Delayed)—U. S. flyers of the Solomon Air Force and American ground defenses maintained a superiority ratio of nearly 14 to 1 in destroying 191 Japanese planes in the Solomon area during the past month.

Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commanding the newest combat group in the South Pacific cited these figures today at a press conference and disclosed our losses during the same period, between July 25 and August 26, were only 14 fighter planes. Six American pilots were rescued.

Twining said that losses of U. S. supply ships amounted to only 2 1/2 per cent, despite continual heavy Japanese assaults.

SPOTTY CHICAGO—Police Capt. Walter F. Haley was annoyed by the number of spots appearing on uniforms at his station, what with the cleaner and dyer situation being what it is.

So he bought a bottle of cleaning fluid, put it on his secretary's desk, and told his brother officers to remove all spots before goil call.

Around Hollywood

By ESKINE JOHNSON

Ever since Frank Sinatra made swooning fashionable, the singer has inevitably been compared with Bing Crosby. Bing has declined comment. Sinatra has referred to Crosby as one of his ideals. But it is Scenarist Frank Butler and Director Leo McCarey who are pulling the gag of the year.

In the script of Crosby's new film, "Going My Way," Frank McHugh is trying to sell some of Bing's songs. He gets the aid of Rise Stevens, the Metropolitan Opera chanteuse and a boys' choir of 30 voices to present the numbers so that some music publishers can hear them.

One of the publishers, explaining the set-up to his partners, says of McHugh: "And he's doing all this to put over a song written by his pal, who he claims is another Frank Sinatra." Meaning, of course, Bing Crosby.

Now it is Orson Welles, of all people, who would like to be a radio comedian. He's offering himself to the networks for a half hour show in which he'll try to out-gag Jack Benny and Fred Allen.

Despite her pleas for dramatic roles, Marlene Dietrich is back in the legs department as Zuleika, queen of the Bagdad dancing girls, in Metro's re-make of "Kismet." Special assistance will emphasize why Edward Arnold, the Grand Vicer, considers her the No. 1 gal and why Ronald Colman lures her away in the final reel.

Bud Abbott and wife, Betty, will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary with a mock marriage next month. Although still confined to his bed with rheumatic fever, partner Lou Costello will serve as best man. . . . Slight of the week: Ingrid Bergman weighed down with 48 pounds of padding for her role as an 1870 opera singer in the opening sequences of "Gas Light."

REPENTANT ROBBER Even Hollywood thieves are movie-struck. Two days after Ann Rutherford's automobile was stolen, it was found parked at a corner of the Hollywood police station. Nothing had been taken. The gas tank was full. The thief left an apologetic note: "I like the movies. I didn't mean to pick on you." Hollywood is on a spending spree unequalled in the history of the screen.

Explaining why he cast Tallulah Bankhead in the starring role of "Lilaback," Director Alfred Hitchcock said: "I just sat down and began thinking of who would be the most unlikely person to be fished out of an oily, debris-littered expanse of water. It was Tallulah."

Now it's the "Rubberbumba." Leon (Rubber Legs) Errol will introduce the new dance in RKO's flimsical, "Higher and Higher." . . . Richard Greene is slated for a return to the screen opposite Vivien Leigh in the British film, "Caesar and Cleopatra."

BURIAL BANQUET Dove of peace finally has settled over the Mae West-Director Gregory Ratoff feud on the "Tropicana" set. On La West's birthday Ratoff presented her with a huge birthday cake—with a hatchet buried in it. . . . So far the casting of Gary Cooper as Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker is only wishful thinking. . . . Errol Flynn is back in town from Mexico for another film at Warner Bros., still denying he ever met 19-year-old Nora Eddington, the Los Angeles cigar store clerk.

Greater Output Of Newsprint Is Advocated SEATTLE, Sept. 2—(AP)—Increased newsprint production rather than further reduction in the size of newspapers should be the answer to the newsprint shortage, maintains Rep. Charles A. Wolverton of New Jersey, member of a congressional investigating committee.

All members of the committee, agreed that newspapers are more important to the war effort of the United States than that of any other nation, and newsprint production must be returned to normal as rapidly as possible.

"The problem is a joint one, shared by Canada, which produces 72 per cent of the newsprint used in the United States, and by ourselves," said Rep. Lyle H. Boren, Oklahoma, the committee chairman. "Mills are producing only about 65 per cent of their normal output of newsprint now. The big problem is one of manpower in the woods. We have recommended both to the War Manpower Commission and selective service that all cutting and pulp manufacturing activities be considered essential to the war effort."

Besides Wolverton and Boren members are Reps. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio; Richard P. Harless, Arizona, and Lindsey Beckworth, Texas.

Old Juries Liked Their Liquor

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 2—July duty in Washington county 90 years ago was a distinct pleasure, judging from a bill recorded in the minutes of a county commissioners' meeting in October, 1853.

The bill itemizes the expenses of 12 jurors and three bailiffs from Sept. 6 to Oct. 1, and includes the cost of 56 bottles of whiskey and brandy and 11 boxes of cigars.

French traders and missionaries first settled Wisconsin in 1670.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Associated Press Writer

The mystery surrounding our assault on Japan's Marcus Island is of course purposeful and a part of the high command's strategy, but we are warranted in regarding this operation as a colorful advertisement that Uncle Sam is rapidly approaching the time when he can do business on a big scale in the Pacific.

This doesn't mean that we are to expect the opening up of grand offensives immediately. It does mean that our strength in the Orient has increased to the point where our fighting forces are wearing their caps cocked at a rakish angle. That strength is cumulative and is mounting more rapidly each day.

All sorts of speculation is going the rounds as to the exact meaning of this startling move in which our task force has boldly sailed in and taken a punch at a point in the very perimeter of the defenses of the Japanese mainland. One guess is about as good as another, but there are some things which we can pin down.

For instance, we know that Marcus Island, while only a pimple on the face of the Pacific, is highly important to the Japs for both defense and offense. Lying as it does some 1,200 miles from the Japanese mainland, it's a vital listening post—a sentinel to warn of the approach of danger. It also is a strong air-base, and is a stepping stone between Japan proper and her islands in the Southwest Pacific.

That's part of the spade work which naturally would be done in preparation for a big-scale offensive. It's a step in the preparation of the big pair of pincers which the Allies are going to clamp onto the Japanese in due course—an attack from the south and from the Aleutian Islands in cooperation with a drive against Burma by United Nations forces under Lord Louis Mountbatten.

The psychological effect of the Marcus Island expedition already has been top-hole. We have succeeded in scaring the stuffing out of the little men of the Rising Sun who yesterday rushed their spokesmen to the microphones to warn the public that their island kingdom was in peril. The radio spread the news—and it was quite accurate—that we could have attacked the Japanese mainland had we seen fit.

There is some speculation whether our forces had the hope of drawing the Japanese navy out into the open where we could get at it. Well, that's an interesting thought, but the best we can say without further information is that the American navy would be happy to get a crack at the Jap home fleet under favorable conditions.

The Nipponese have been keeping their main naval strength close to home bases—and who can blame them? If they should lose their fleet, the little island of Japan certainly would be exposed to some nasty winds. It is for this reason that they have not dared risk an all-out sea combat with us.

Is our task force bent on occupying Marcus Island? Obviously this base, so close by air to Tokyo, would be a great asset to us, if it could be held without too much sacrifice. It wouldn't be easy to maintain this position, so close to the Jap mainland. Likely the question of whether the task force would try to occupy the island would depend on how successful we were in paralyzing Jap resistance. It would represent a very difficult operation.

Your Health In Wartime

By DR. THOMAS D. MASTERS

Written for The News

September, for millions of people, means first of all the opening day of school. School means hours spent in study, both on the spot and at home. This year, the problem of how much study should be done at home takes on a special slant for many youngsters are now doing part-time work, turned over to them because of the shortage of manpower occasioned by the war.

The "pros" and "cons" of homework have been balanced against one another for many a year. Ideally, home study should be designed and executed to promote self-reliance, thoroughness, independence, responsibility, intellectual honesty, good habits of study, accuracy, neatness, and obedience in the face of necessary tasks. It is intended to keep children out of mischief, at home, and quiet.

HOME STUDY VALUE

Opponents of homework claim that it is a waste of time, inducement to cheat and rely on others, to do slovenly work, to suffer anxiety and loss of sleep, and real injury to the growing mind and body. Furthermore, they say it cuts the child out of his playtime, his hours of "loafing and inviting the cool," his "activities"—clubs, art, and music. Home, they believe, is a poor place in which to study, and parents bear the burden of both the work and the worry as well as being deprived of the help and pleasure available through the child's companionship.

This fine mixture of opinions and ideas is clearly no solution for the child of 1943, or of any year, for that matter. As always, the factor of individuality enters both into the make-up of the problem, and how it is to be worked out. Parents who object most to assignments are likely to have a child either slow at learning or over-conscientious. Parents who are generally lenient and basically care-free children find homework an excellent check-rein of discipline, for conformity to which play is a reward.

PROBLEMS FOR SCHOOLS

Since homework is not given generally speaking, before the fourth grade, and amounting to not more than an hour-and-a-half's study up to the high school age, the matter of how much homework to assign in wartime is chiefly a problem for the staff of the high school. As in everything, quality should be striven at or above quantity, and principals should control the specialists in departmental work, so that too-elaborate preparation of maps, notebooks, drawings, and essays is not demanded by each teacher.

If children are also contributing to winning the war by outside work, it is especially important for teachers to make assignments brief as well as clear, and to provide some opportunities for supervised study at school.

It is the parents' duty to see that the child undertakes only as much outside work and spends as much time in homework as is consonant with his individual health requirements. He should also be provided at home with quiet, good lighting, ventilation, and proper writing facilities. If to clarity and tolerance, the teacher adds good judgment as to quantity of homework, the war and school may yet progress side by side.

Beef Famine In Spring Foreseen

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Beef plenty now but a famine in the spring was forecast today by livestock leaders.

One of them, Frank S. Bolce of Sonolita, Ariz., president of the American National Livestock association, said the government was missing the significance of the present run of grass fat cattle.

"Normally," Bolce explained, "most of those cattle would be bought by feeders who would put a gain of around two pounds a day on them."

"But government policies on food are so confusing that the feeders are refusing to buy those steers. Instead, the animals are going to slaughter, at a potential loss of millions of pounds of meat."

"The plan, he said, had been adopted by the War Meat Board but the OPA never had moved to put it into effect."

"Saying the livestock industry had no quarrel with attempts to control inflation, Bolce insisted a settled policy was needed to enable it to make plans and continue operations."

The conference was arranged by livestock men in 15 states. W. A. Cocheil, editor of the weekly Kansas City Star, estimated that 2,000 would attend from Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, Wyoming, Arizona, South and North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Iowa and Colorado.

BATTLE RICHMOND, Calif.—The champion wren widders of the Richmond and Oakland, Calif., shipyards have been matched in a contest and blood will flow freely.

If Richmond's representative, Miss Gorn Lee Clontz, 20, loses, her co-workers will donate 500 pints of blood to the Red Cross blood bank.

Oakland supporters will give 100 pints if their candidate, Mrs. Edna Slocum, loses.

Following the bubbles as he moved around. His only way of signaling me was by jerks on the line.

"Why don't you go down?" Hank asked me one day. "You'll get 10 bucks a day and you might as well go as stay on board and nurse us."

I spoke to the captain about it and he promised to try me out. The first day I went over the side in the rubber suit, my heart was in my mouth, and my mind fastened on all the instructions.

"The first thing you do when you land on the bottom," Hank warned, "is to notice which side of your helmet shows brighter. Even when you think it is pitch black, there's always enough difference between the lighter and darker side to give you your bearings."

Trying to remember all these things, I smiled at Bob, who was at my life line. "Luck, partner. I could see his lips move, so I waved to him. "Thanks." Hanging onto the shot rope, I slid down fast through the blue water irradiated with light and so into the black water.

Tom had warned me that the pressure at that depth would fill me with depression, maybe panic, but no one could have told me of the horrible feeling of utter desolation that grabbed me by the throat.

"There's where he breathes," the boy said, pointing to two valves. "The fresh air comes in through this one, forced down by the pumps, and by pressing his head against this peg, he can get rid of the foul air. It rises to the surface in a stream of bubbles."

Dewey Wants Release Of Louis Lepke

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Governor Dewey has called upon President Roosevelt to surrender Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, convicted leader of Murder, Inc., and now a federal prisoner.

At the same time, Dewey delayed the execution of Lepke, Emmanuel Weiss and Louis Capone, convicted with Lepke in the 1936 killing of Joseph Rosen, Brooklyn stockbroker, until Oct. 31.

Lepke is serving a 14-year sentence on a narcotics charge and will remain in federal custody, Dewey said, until by act of the president of the United States he is surrendered to the State of New York in accordance with custom."

Dewey said counsel for the three defendants has asked a hearing on their pleas for executive clemency but added that he is delayed because "the president has thus far failed to surrender Buchalter to the State of New York."
