IS SUBSTITUTE FOR LEVIES ON CHAIN STORES

RECEIPTS OF ATHLETIC CONTESTS WOULD BE TAXED

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—A proposed three per cent sales tax as an amendment to the house chain store tax bill today witnessed an attack in the senate on its constitutionality.

Senator Will M. Martin of Hillsboro, presiding, overruled a point of order raised by Senator Olan R. Van Zandt of Tigg.

He held the sales tax amendment was an occupation tax, as was the house bill proposing a graduated levy on chain stores. Van Zandt contended the sales tax proposal, by Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, altered the original intent of the bill in contravention of the constitution.

Debate on the issue started after the ruling.

Senator Holbrook proposed a three per cent "gross proceeds" tax. Numerous food products and other commodities termed "necessities of life" would be exempt, as would electrical and water power and construction.

The levy would apply to receipts of athletic contests and other forms of entertainment.

A second attack upon its validity failed as the chair overruled a contention by Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogata that a section relicensing receipts of occupation taxes violated the entire amendment.

The section would allocate receipts of cigarette, sulphur, oil, beer, and other occupation taxes on the basis of one-fourth to the school fund and three-fourths to the general fund. DeBerry contended it was void because statutes changed by it were not named.

Senator Holbrook called for approval of the levy as "an additional tax to help distribute the burden," asserting corporate property "can not absorb any more."

"I have offered," he said, "a method by which the state can get out of serious financial trouble. He said it was a 'gross proceeds' levy arising from sales, noting it exempted 'necessities of life.'"

He predicted Governor Alford, who had opposed a general sales tax, "would not disapprove it."

The chain store tax as passed in the house and pending in the senate would impose annual license fees on each store in chains as follows: One store, $1; two stores, $5; two to five stores, $25; five to 10 stores, $50; 10 to 20 stores, $150; 20 to 35 stores, $250; 35 to 50 stores, $500; and on each store in excess of 50, $750.

Changes authorized by the senate would exempt voluntary chains; oil well supply dealers; utilities paying gross receipts taxes on sales of merchandise; lumber yards selling building materials exclusively; filling stations selling gasoline and petroleum products exclusively; manufacturers, wholesale and retail stores selling its products exclusively.

Two Victims Of Air Crash Found

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 10 (AP)—A second body, believed to be that of a second member of the crew of a missing Standard Oil company airplane, was seen this forenoon, lying on the east shore of Stansbury island, at the southern end of Great Salt Lake.

Renewed vigor marked the search for the lost air liner as a result of the finding of the badly burned body of a man believed to be Geo. C. Anderson, plane mechanic.

Company officials sought conclusive evidence of the man's identity through fingerprints as dozens of men resumed the search on Stansbury island, in Great Salt Lake, where the body was washed upon the shore and found yesterday.

Missing with Anderson since Sunday were Pilot R. E. Allen and copilot G. A. Leuz, all of Alameda, Calif.

Chris Schrotke, chief mechanic of the oil firm, said he "positive" identification was correct after viewing the body at Tooele, Utah.

AMARILLOANS INDICTED

ROBERT LEE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Charles White and Jack Walker, both of Amarillo, were indicted by the 51st district court grand jury here yesterday charged with robbery of the First National bank at Bronie last July 1. White is held at Abilene and Walker is serving time in the Arizona penitentiary. There is a possibility that both men may be tried in federal court instead of in state court.

Mrs. W. Purviance and Mrs. H. F. Barnhart are attending a missionary society meeting in Memphis today.

Claim Hauptmann Can Save Himself By A Confession

Jersey Officer Gave Promise, Reports Newspaper

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The New York Evening Journal in a copyrighted story from Treason, N. J., said today that Bruno Richard Hauptmann might yet save himself from the electric chair by confessing to the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby. The Journal said that "one of New Jersey's most powerful officers" had pledged this assurance.

The Journal story was in the form of a letter to Hauptmann, whose conviction for the murder of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was upheld yesterday by the New Jersey court of errors and appeals.

"Bruno Richard Hauptmann," the paper told the Bronx carpenter, "you may yet save yourself from the electric chair and earn $10,000 for your confession and the name of your accomplice in the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby."

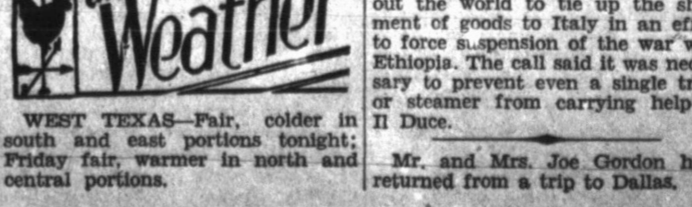

"One of New Jersey's most powerful officers has pledged his solemn word to the Evening Journal that he will save you."

"He has vowed he will pay you or your wife and child this sum from his personal fortune and will guarantee that you need not follow the searing path of the four men you have seen led and carried through that squat, green, steel door separating you from life and death."

"Life imprisonment will be your reward," the paper told him, "with the invaluable opportunity of seeing your wife often and watching your son grow to manhood, and knowing that they will not be left destitute."

"Your wife will visit you today to help you bear up under the shock of knowing that there will be no new trial for you by the unanimous."

BLOCKADE MAY BE INSTITUTED AGAINST ITALY

FORM OF PUNISHMENT NOT DETERMINED BY COUNCIL

BY WADE WERNER, Associated Press Foreign Staff. (Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

GENEVA, Oct. 10.—The League of Nations, with 50 of its 59 members definitely on record as approving the punishment of Italy for its invasion of Ethiopia, moved today for a quick application of that punishment.

The steering committee of the league assembly decided that representatives of every member of the league except Italy and Ethiopia should serve on a committee to coordinate the work of the council and the assembly in instituting sanctions against Italy.

Since Germany will leave the league on October 18, the decision means that the coordination commission will be made up of 56 nations.

GENEVA, Oct. 10.—The League of Nations assembly gave overwhelming approval today to the council's condemnation of Italy for its war on Ethiopia, meaning world wide punishment of the fascist nation through sanctions.

Most of the league powers pledged themselves either openly or by silent acquiescence to the policy of sanctions. Only Italy, Austria, and Hungary of the 54 nations represented announcing non-acceptance of the council's report against Italy.

One undersigned country reserved the right to speak later concerning the condemnation of the Italian government.

League officials said this meant at least 50 nations endorsed the verdict of war guilt. The sanctions commission will decide on the nature of sanctions.

"The league is now faced by its second task," asserted Anthony Eden of England. "Action must be taken. I declare our full willingness to participate in that action."

Premier Pierre Laval of France also declared his nation's intention to meet its obligations under the covenant but pledged himself to pursue at the same time a search for conciliation and a peaceful settlement of the conflict.

Spoken for Soviet Russia and other nations also threw their support to league action.

In the assembly of the League of Nations a silence pregnant with the possibilities of war on a scale many times larger than that in East Africa was like a symbol of the sentiment among a majority of the league members that Italy had started an unprovoked war against the empire of Emperor Haile Selassie.

BLACK HOSTS SLAIN IN AIR BOMB ATTACK

Wholesale Killing Of Ethiopians Is Announced By Emperor Haile Selassie.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 10 (AP)—An official communique announced today that an Italian airplane crashed at Garaala, on the western front, and that two occupants were killed and two dying.

The communique said nine Italian planes bombed Goralah, near Gerioubi, on the southern front, and the Ethiopian posts of Taffarikatma and Jalmo, not marked on maps, and that many were killed.

The announcement said 1,000 native Eritrean soldiers who deserted from Italy's northern army were expected to arrive at Makale later today, bearing Italian arms.

Italian airmen were pursuing the "eastern and except machine guns on them," the communique said, but the Eritreans were hiding in the mountains.

Italian infantry was said to be advancing in the Webbe and Shilbel region.

The Italian forces attempted to take Addis Ababa, they would encounter formidable forces of the emperor's fiercest warriors from the southwest, it was announced.

A number of Haile Selassie's most trusted generals are marching to the capital.

Fifty thousand modern equipped troops under Ras Gueatcho, former minister and governor general of Kaffa province were moving toward Addis Ababa, promising a stubborn defense against any Italian air attack on the capital.

The fall of the holy city of Aksum before the Italian advance and wholesale killings of Ethiopians by Italian air bombs in the south were announced officially by the Italian minister and Ethiopian government respectively.

Reports from Aksum, before communications were cut, indicated the Italian bombing planes had spared the ancient city of the Queen of Sheba and that the monks, fleeing before the fascist infantry, were able to remove many of their holy relics.

A government communique which told of the bombing raids in the south was the first official Ethiopian announcement to mention casualties on either side.

Dejazmatch Apte Mariam, another provincial governor who wears half-moon earrings as a sign of his prowess as a soldier and elephant hunter, is on his way here with 20,000 more troops.

Dejazmatch Metchacha of Kambata province arrived with 15,000 and encamped.

Makonnen Demissil, the governor of Wallega province and a relative of the emperor, is coming to the capital with 40,000 more troops.

Other armies are on their way from different parts of the empire. The emperor pledged his entire fortune in foreign banks, including a huge sum left by his father, for the defense of the empire.

LATE NEWS

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Prices developed the most pronounced strength in several days in the New York stock exchange today, with many issues advancing $1 to $3 a share. The rise was attributed by brokers to several factors, including favorable business and trade reports, further easing of the tension in financial circles over the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, and the address of President Gay of the stock exchange last night in which he stressed the dangers of inflation.

GENEVA, Oct. 10 (AP)—An Italian spokesman told the Associated Press today any naval blockade against Italy means war.

NEW STANDS BEING BUILT TO SEAT HUGE CROWD AT UNIQUE GRID CLASSIC FRIDAY NIGHT

FANS URGED TO TAKE AMARILLOANS TO FIELD

Good will committees of the B. C. D. and Junior chamber of commerce today urged Pampa citizens to meet the Amarillo special train here tomorrow at 7:15 p. m., to greet the visitors and provide transportation to the football field. The band and pep squad of Pampa high school will be there.

Ringing hammers and clanking steel beams at Harvester field today heralded the approach of a football game unique in gridiron history of this section.

Although nothing in particular is at stake, the clash of the Pampa Harvesters and the Capitol Hill Redskins Friday night will give comparison between Pampa and Amarillo that fans of this section desire. Hundreds will come here for the game, starting at 8 p. m., and 200 or more Amarilloans will come by special train.

Reserved for this particular game is the east grandstand where more than a thousand seats have been sold, 800 of them in Pampa and more than 200 in Amarillo. In addition, 215 reservations are being sold with special train tickets at Amarillo.

McMillen, business manager of the Pampa independent district, today was still selling reservations briskly at $1 each, including the general admission price. There will be general admission tickets on sale at the gate tomorrow night at 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Mr. McMillen's office is at the courthouse.

The Cabot Shops Inc., has the contract for erection of 600 seats on the north end of the west grandstand, which will take the stand to the full line as it is on other corners of the gridiron. The new stands will be 18 feet high, compared with the 12-foot original stands, and of steel frame. Night shifts are being used to make the new seats ready for tomorrow night.

The athletic bid was considered as still further increasing the seating capacity for the Thanksgiving day game.

Tomorrow's game will positively not be broadcast, it was stated today. At the same time it was announced that the coaches have been unable to obtain the kind of opponent desired for next week, which will remain as an open date.

Sale of general admission tickets began today, for tomorrow's game, at the Harvester Drug, Fatherese No. 4, and Pampa No. 1.

Amarillo's special train will be met by the high school band, pep squad, school buses, and citizens generally. Cars will be needed to give the visitors transportation to and from Harvester park.

Life Term In Prison Meted Out To Doble

62-Year Old Man Is Found Guilty By Local Jury

Life imprisonment was the verdict of a 31st district court jury yesterday in the trial of August Doble of Kingsmill, charged with statutory rape. The jury was out about an hour.

Doble is 62 years old. Speaking in broken English which at times was halting as he stood in the witness box, he charged a "fat" woman, W. V. McArthur, M. E. DeTar, N. M. Kite, R. A. Smith, Ray Stepp, and P. D. Hill.

Today the trial of R. W. McQuerry, indicted for the pistol slaying last March 6 of E. W. (Dutch) Morton of Panhandle, began. The shooting occurred here.

Mr. McQuerry is represented by the local firm of Sturgeon and Rogers, Clem Calhoun and Claude Williams of Amarillo are assisting the State as special prosecutors.

Marble Machines Called Gambling Devices By Court

WACO, Oct. 10 (AP)—The tenth court of civil appeals ruled today that marble machines are illegal gambling devices.

The opinion was handed down by Justice J. P. Alexander in the case of Sheriff Will Adams vs. W. S. Antonio, on an appeal from an injunction granted by Judge F. H. Kirby of Limestone county, restraining Sheriff Adams and others from interfering with the operation of machines in that county by Antonio.

The appellate court held that it was not only the right but the duty of law-enforcement officers to confiscate such machines and to prosecute owners when armed with a proper order from a court of competent jurisdiction.

The court found, however, evidence that the appellants "had at least contemplated such action against Antonio without proper order," and warned against this.

ZENGE JURY CHOSEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Selection of a jury to try Mandeville W. Zenge, 26, Canton, Mo. carpenter for the mutilation-slaying of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, his successful love rival, was completed in Judge Cornelius J. Harrington's criminal court today. Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty then began the opening statement for the prosecution.

Duncans Leave On A Long Trip 'To See Texas'

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Duncan and their son, Emmet, left this morning in their car to see Texas.

They will go by way of Dallas and visit their daughter, Miss Jeta, and from Dallas they will go to their old home town, Douglasville, in Cass county, which is located in extreme Northeast Texas. There they will visit the old home places of their childhood days. From Douglasville they will turn south to Jefferson, which at that time in the 60's was a port town for all of Northeast and Northwest Texas and the Indian Territory. The commerce for export was mostly cotton, cow hides, buffalo hides, and bones, which were shipped out from Jefferson by steamboat by way of Shreveport to New Orleans and other points.

From Jefferson, they will go to Longview, Beaumont, Galveston, Houston, Corpus Christi, Harlingen, Laredo, Del Rio, Alpine, Fort Davis, and Odessa, returning by way of Lubbock and Amarillo.

Twinkles

Maimed war veterans are not made to walk by martial music. Neither should young men of today be made to walk into an unnecessary war by jingoistic propaganda of those who alone would profit by war.

Skippy, the family pup, doesn't like the music, even by the Harvester band—or does he? Anyhow, he barks excitedly when the band passes.

Nowhere else in the country could you find the lively and almost fanatical curiosity in football that abounds in this section.

Ethiopian war reports give our cable editors the jitters. It's a guessing game, in which American newspaper men are not fortified with the proper background. So far, it's been a most unsatisfactory war.

A permanent jobless army is predicted. Well, nearly everyone has a relative or two who won't work.

Musing of the moment: About this time of year we begin to look for Pike's peak squashes. Make "pumpkin" pie, including shredded coconut. Chill in ice box. Eat like candy. Pampa organizations are getting "warmed up." Meetings every night. Often same persons will meet three times in succession, under three different set-ups, in 24 hours. What do the rest of the folks do?

Brevitorials

AMARILLOANS, coming here on a special train Friday night, sort of have us on the spot, eh, brethren? We've either got to put up a great battle or a terrible one. But no middle-ground showing. If we shoot the works as Coaches Mitchell and Fragojohn originally intended, we've got to make sure we aim at big game. Otherwise, the best thing to do would be to forget the score and use the whole squad in a one-on-one. Actively, the Harvester can put out. A huge crowd will be present, expecting a show. And if John will do a bit of praying as well as coaching, we may be able to sleep some after midnight.

Things are beginning to get tight in the relief situation. Money is not sufficient to keep bodies and souls together. While there is some cotton picking in this district, work on the north plains is especially scarce. Projects are beginning to come out of Austin to the state WPA office, however, hence hope is rising. There is genuine concern for many destitute and ailing persons on relief. But not for the threat of relief to ailing persons if he was not given more money.

One of the most pathetic things happening in this oil field is early retiring of oil field employees. Men are being discharged long before their good days are over because of other things, group insurance on older men is expensive. Many of these men, penniless, are but not inclined to put in store for a rainy day, they are miserable on relief and suffer by lack of even money to buy food.

STRIKE SEEMS CERTAIN GALVESTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Only a "miracle" can prevent the strike of 5,000 longshoremen at Texas ports and Lake Charles, La., tomorrow at 8 a. m. M. J. Dwyer, district president of the International Longshoremen association, said today.

Cold weather is just around one of those well known corners. Our correspondent in Carlsbad says the bat flights from the cavers are slowing down and shortly will cease. Three millions of bats will either go south or hibernate in Bat cave. Senator Wagner of New York recently watched, fascinated, one of the flights and said it was the best spectacle in the west.

I Heard . . .

That Hap Baxter "sat all over" the 75-cent seats at Harvester field yesterday afternoon picking out the one he plans to occupy tomorrow night when the Harvesters meet the Redskins of Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City. Hap announced that he would be on hand early.

Continued reports come in concerning attempts of some slicksters to trick the aged. The scheme is to sell a pension service. See COLUMN, Page 7.

Flower Show And Other Fall Garden Club Doings Planned

PLANT EXCHANGE WILL BE CONDUCTED BY MEMBERS

Time for the annual fall flower show of the Garden club is approaching, and plans for that and other fall activities were made when 12 members of the executive board met at the home of the president, Mrs. Glen Pool, yesterday morning.

An inspection of Mrs. Pool's beautiful yard, rock garden, pool, and cold frame inspired the group to an enthusiastic meeting.

Date for the flower show, scheduled this month, has not been set definitely, but club members and other gardeners are asked to select their best blossoms, plants, and cacti for the event.

Exchange of plants, cuttings, and bulbs is being sponsored by the exchange committee, Meses. Henry Thum, Lee Waggoner, and K. W. Bunch. Members with plants to give away or exchange are asked to call one of these women.

Service station managers are invited to call a member of the committee, requesting plants to beautify station grounds. This is one important phase of the club's city beautification project.

Tree measuring time is here for school children who planted trees in the contest sponsored by the Garden club, members of that committee are requested to give the pupils whose trees have grown best.

Mrs. Ray J. Hagan, chairman of the beautification committee, urged that sites for the city highway entrances be decided upon, so the actual work may be started at once and finished in time for the Centennial.

A request to the Santa Fe railway to beautify its stations has been made by the beautification committee, continuing its efforts to have the city looking its best during Centennial year.

Appreciation was expressed to Mayor W. A. Bratton for his cooperation in the beautification program.

Members discussed the club's drive for dandelion eradication on local lawns, and advised that residents investigate the use of Bermuda grass in combatting the lawn pest.

Fire Prevention Is Subject for Pupils' Verses

Fire prevention, taught by drills, talks, and lessons in schools of the city, is emphasized by sixth grade pupils at Woodrow Wilson school in verses written in English class. Some of the verses follow.

O'Leary-a-kicking went
In eighteen seventy-one;
The roof kicked the lantern over
And a big fire had begun—
—Betty Joy Stover.

Today we study fire
And make a safe rule,
We make posters, too,
Have fire drills in school.
—Pauline Johnson.

Don't forget to turn off the gas,
For 'tis dangerous, you know,
Always disconnect your iron
Just before you go—
—Winnie Jean McKenzie.

A tiny little mouse
Was playing all around,
He got hold of a match,
And the house burnt down.
—Leymond Hall.

Little Miss Muffet sat on a tuffet,
Playing with matches one day,
She lit the grass that was near
And burned the park away.
—Ethel Seyffert.

SIX-YEAR-OLD HAS PARTY ON HER BIRTHDAY

CLUB STUDIES PROGRESS OF ART IN TEXAS

Early Cultural Development Is Outlined

Pine arts had a crude beginning in Texas, but in recent years the state is being recognized widely for its contributions to American culture, speakers of El Progresso club program Tuesday showed in tracing the progress of music, art, and literature.

Mrs. J. M. McDonald was hostess at the home. Discussions were by Mrs. Carlson Loftus, Mrs. W. M. Craven, and Mrs. P. C. Ledrick.

A guest, Mrs. M. S. Handy of Dallas, sister of Mrs. Craven, was present with Meses. C. T. Hunckiller, T. D. Hobart, Dave Pope, George Walstad, George Briggs, W. R. Ewing, James Todd, F. P. Buckler, J. M. Dodson, Lee Ledrick, S. G. Surratt, John K. Sweet, and those on program.

Art started in Texas 300 years ago and advanced in five periods, Mrs. Loftus said. The prehistoric or Indian age was followed in turn by the Spanish and Mexican period, the ante-bellum period, the democratic period after the Civil war, and the modern period. During the last period great improvement has been made in all art.

Texas had the most varied, most romantic, and most realistic beginnings for its literature of any state in the union, Mrs. Craven showed in her discussion. Before the Civil war there was little demand for literature. The early historian Morris said that he heard quotations from Spain, France, and Germany, but Latin, and Spanish classics while sitting around campfires with men, many of whom could not read.

The first Texas novel, Mexico versus Texas, by A. T. Murphy, was published in 1834, Mrs. Craven continued. It was dedicated to Sam Houston, the outstanding Texan hero of the Alamo, was by Reuben M. Potter. Early Texas poetry was mostly sentimental, without an original note until later years.

Mrs. Ledrick spoke on Texas music, first subject to Spanish influence. When colonists moved into Texas, they brought with them German, German settlers began group singing, and in 1838 the Sacred Music club was organized. About 1845 brass bands became popular. By 1860 Texans were showing an appreciation for music, although they were producing no composers.

Mrs. New welcomed the teachers back after summer vacations, and pledged support of the club to help them in any manner needed. Mr. Heath, superintendent of the White Deer school system, and Mr. Rumph, pastor of the Methodist church at Texico-Farwell was present and led the opening prayer.

During the course of his message, the speaker said in part: "Life is uncertain, brief and valuable; the value is not in the physical as much as so in the spiritual."

Discussing why man is so valuable as a living soul, the speaker gave four reasons: Man is the only creature that speaks a universal language of idealism; man is the only creature that is progressive in nature; man is infinite in capacity and is the only creature immortal in desire.

"Only an infinite God can satisfy an infinite soul throughout an unending eternally," Dr. Culpepper declared. "No human being is ever satisfied with his achievements. Man does not have a soul, he is a soul."

Dr. Culpepper will speak Friday at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. but there will be no services on Saturday or Sunday night. He will speak four times Sunday.

Best Method of Jelly Making Is Shown for Club

Too much sugar makes jelly syrupy and too little makes it tough, Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent, said Tuesday afternoon in a meeting with the Hopkins club at Mrs. Jim Hopkins' home.

To determine the amount of pectin in fruit juice and the amount of sugar required, Miss Adams recommended the use of a "jelmeter." She demonstrated its use, and a glass each of grape and blackberry jelly was made successfully. It sparkled, and spread like creamed butter, which is characteristic of good jelly.

The business session featured preparation for the next meeting, to be a recreational program at the home of Mrs. Mary Mackie. It will be in the fashion of a Friday afternoon school session. Teachers for various classes were selected by the recreation chairman.

Members present were Meses. E. F. Vanderburg, G. Pinnel, C. P. Gouts, R. J. Davis, Opal Franklin, Mackie, Robert Brown, Hopkins; Misses Paye Davis and Adams. Mrs. Bill Ginn was a visitor.

FAT GIRLS GET THE GO-BY—SLIM GIRLS WIN MEN

Lost Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, Hard, Exhausting Salts or Weakening Irritants. Half-Forming Laxative

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little element called fat is in the blood in your body goes through this gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on only fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "dirt" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding the gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out this way.

Prescription tablets are based on the same scientific method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with methods that are hard, futile or depend on harmful, health-damning salts and laxatives for their action. Start the Marmora treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get Marmora today from druggists.

Ancient Capital Of Queen Of Sheba Reported Fallen

ONLY A LITTLE OF CALM LOST BY HAUPTMANN

DID NOT EAT REGULAR MEAL IN CELL LAST NIGHT

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's attorneys started a new drive today to save the convicted Lindbergh baby killer from the electric chair—this time through appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

The defense counsel appeared hopeful despite the flat rejection yesterday by the state supreme court of his appeal, New Jersey's highest tribunal, of his plea for a reversal of Hauptmann's conviction.

He decided to meet today or tomorrow to draft the first steps in a new campaign.

Hauptmann remained in his cell in the death house of the state prison, awaiting the promised visit of his wife, Anna, for their tenth wedding anniversary today.

"My God, what a fine anniversary present for Anna," Hauptmann said of the decision.

He had lost some of the calm that has marked his bearing since his arrest in New York's Bronx over a year ago. Prison officials said he did not eat his regular meal last night and appeared "slightly nervous but not noticeably upset."

C. Lloyd Fisher, one of his attorneys, broke the news to him shortly after the opinion was rendered. Hauptmann reiterated he was innocent and held to his belief. Fisher said that "some court will find that out before it is too late."

Ebbert Rosecrans, only member of defense counsel qualified to appear before the nation's highest court, laid the groundwork for the proposed appeal in arguing before the court of errors and appeals that Hauptmann's constitutional rights under the fourteenth amendment were violated during his trial at Flemington.

The court overruled this contention in the same way it threw out all other defense arguments for a reversal when it handed down its unanimous decision.

Rosecrans declined to comment before studying the opinion, but Fisher said he told Hauptmann that "instead of the end, this is just the beginning of the battle."

There was a possibility, however, that the appeal to the supreme court might be handicapped by lack of funds. Fisher said the action would have to be financed by public subscription, the method used to obtain funds for the futile appeal in the state court.

He disclosed that the defense fund—reported to have once totaled between $20,000 and $35,000—is virtually exhausted.

It was believed the defense would renew its efforts to obtain release of Hauptmann's biography, written in the death house, as one means of getting money. The prison board of managers, which must approve such writings, still has the matter under consideration.

Appeal to the supreme court is one of three doubtful avenues of escape for the still stoical Hauptmann.

He also may submit a petition for clemency to the court of pardons, composed of Governor Harold G. Hoffman, Chancellor Luther A. Campbell, and the six lay judges of the court of errors and appeals, or his attorneys may ask a new trial on the basis of new and important evidence.

MORALE DAMAGED, CLAIM ROME, Oct. 10 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie has ordered a shake-up among the chiefs commanding his troops because of the "collapse of their morale," Italian war correspondents reported today.

Holy City Containing Ark Of Covenant Is Captured

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Italian minister to Ethiopia, Lucio Vinici-Gigliucci, said today the Ethiopian holy city of Aksum had fallen before the fascist forces advancing on the northern front.

He confirmed reports of Italian occupation of the ancient capital of the Queen of Sheba after he had been requested by Emperor Haile Selassie to leave Addis Ababa immediately.

The king of kings asked that other Italian legation officials depart with the minister. The legation, he declared, had kept its radio communications in use after being requested to desist.

The Ethiopian government's only telephone line to the north was cut off, but officials said their forces had been ordered to withdraw with the previous relics of Aksum before the Italian army advanced and that the holy city was left open to occupation.

Officials said information they received before communications from the north were cut indicated that the Italian artillery at Aksum had spared the strange monolithic obelisks which rise like headstones to the past.

Has Ark of Covenant. The town was centuries old when Rome was founded.

Ethiopian legend has it that Menelik, said to be the son of the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon, fled to Aksum in the long distant past, carrying the Ten Commandments there from Jerusalem.

There, too, legend relates, he brought the ark of the covenant.

The guardian monks of Aksum's celebrated monuments fled before the Italian invasion, uttering imprecations against any who might disturb the so-called ark of the covenant and the commandments.

The obelisks dotting both sides of the Aksum valley and the road leading to the sacred mountains once served as sacrificial altars.

A letter from Emperor Haile Selassie requested politely the Italian minister's departure on the grounds that his presence was embarrassing, especially since the League of Nations council ruled Italy was the aggressor.

Envoy Denies Charge. In reply, Vinici-Gigliucci said he would inform the king of kings concerning the question of leaving and protested against the insinuation that he had employed his radio after being requested to refrain, insisting he had used the Ethiopian wireless.

The minister told the Associated Press: "I do not know who will take over Italian interests since both France and Belgium apparently are disqualified because they voted affirmatively on the council's resolution, declaring Italy an aggressor and supporting application of sanctions."

"In any event, the normal diplomatic course is for Rome to ask a neutral country to take over our interests. In that case, the only apparent eligibles are the United States, Germany, and Japan."

The minister said he would not depart before the arrival of two more Italian consular agents from Mgaleto, who were recalled from the interior and were due here Sunday.

Vinici-Gigliucci said the value of Italian property in Ethiopia, both official and private, totaled hundreds of millions of lire. It includes the legation, consulates, radio stations, hospitals, missions, schools and an interest in the rail-

Father Drowns Stepdaughters, He Confesses

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 10 (AP)—Oakland county officers said today that a coroner's autopsy had confirmed Perrin Rowland's confession to St. Louis police he drowned his two little stepdaughters in muddy Boat Lake, near here three weeks ago "just to get rid of them."

Bodies of the children, Katherine Woodin, 6, and her 2-year-old sister, Virginia, were found by searchers last night a few hours after the stepfather's capture and confession. The bodies had been trussed together with heavy wire and weighted with a plowshare, as he had told police he bound them and then tipped them from a rowboat into 23 feet of water.

Coroner J. Lee Voorhies, who conducted the autopsy, said death appeared to have been caused by drowning and he had found no marks to indicate they had been strangled before they were dropped into the lake.

The coroner's examination bore out Rowland's statement to police that he left his Harrison, Mich., home with the children, ostensibly to place them in a children's home at Flint, but instead had taken them to the lonely lake.

Rowland insisted that his wife, Emperor Haile Selassie informed the United States that Ethiopia adheres loyalty to the Washington treaty of 1922 between America, Great Britain, Italy, and Japan, outlawing poison gas.

The observation of this treaty was open to other nations as well as the signatories.

With the communications lines to the northern front either broken down or destroyed, runners were pressed into service to bring dispatches from the front.

These untried newsboys, who enjoy official status as the "emperor's postmen" can cover as much as 30 miles a day, and are entitled to demand every assistance from Haile Selassie's subjects to help them complete their journeys swiftly.

GARNER TO SHOW FANCY SILK HOSE TO JAPS; CHANGES MIND

UVALDE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Six pairs of shiny, silk socks, strongly reinforced at the heel and toe, have caused Vice President John N. Garner to go back on his word—and his good, old cotton socks.

A week ago "Cactus Jack" made the definite announcement that he would wear cotton socks in his shoeless appearance before the Mikado of Japan on a forthcoming good will visit.

It seemed to be a settled issue.

But yesterday's mail from New York City contained a package for Mr. Garner that caused a hasty shift in plans. A friend had read of his decision to wear "good, old American cotton socks" in his formal visit to Japan's emperor.

The New Yorker hastily purchased the silk socks and got them off in the first mail. He said he wanted to be sure the vice-president appeared in his "Sunday best."

Mr. Garner admitted it was "almost certain" he would wear the fancy hose.

"Don't think I ever wore more than two pairs of those fancy, striped socks in my life," he admitted the other day.

To be sure there would be no repetition of the purported incident in which the late William Jennings Bryan appeared before the Mikado with a hole in his sock heel, the New York friend pointed out that the heel and toe of each sock were reinforced.

Mr. Garner declined to name the donor of the silk hose.

Mr. and Mrs. Garner will leave here Saturday for Seattle, Wash., where he will board the S. S. Grant on Oct. 16. He would not reveal his route to Seattle. He will attend the inauguration of Luis Quezon as first president of the Philippines and then journey to the Orient.

GOVERNOR SUBMITS 17 LOCAL BILLS TO STATE LEGISLATORS

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Governor Alfred, yesterday submitted 17 bills, mostly local, to the legislature.

He strongly recommended one appropriating $50,000 for the state parks board to purchase materials for use in state parks and provide employment for thousands of young men and women.

"The federal government has allocated over $2,000,000 to be expended through the state director of the national youth movement," Governor Alfred said. "This labor will be used entirely in the state park system, the only requirement from the state being that we furnish not exceeding $50,000 for purchase of material for improvement in these parks."

"The expenditure of these federal funds will result in permanent improvement of our parks, our highways and our schools."

Lyndon B. Johnson, state director, said the project would give employment to 41,938 men and women for nine months at a cost to the federal government of $2,501,760. He estimated there were approximately 125,000 from 16 to 25 years old in Texas without means of support.

Other bills submitted included:

- Authorizing directors of the Colorado Valley authority to draw compensation for each day consumed in discharge of their official duties.
- Authorizing the state highway department to use federal funds for the improvement of lateral roads.
- Authorizing the Radio Independent school district to receive rural aid.
- Correcting a previous appropriation bill to provide salaries for guards and the manager of the central prison farm.
- Correcting appropriations made during the regular session for the livestock sanitary commission.
- Appropriating money to care for the deficiency certificates issued to the West Texas State Teachers college.
- Creating a special road district for Lamb county.
- Authorizing a public works eminent domain law.
- Creating the Gaudalupé conservation district.
- Creating the Pease river flood control district.

MORNING STAR

Chapter 20
SHOCK FOR EDWIN
"I haven't gotten that far," Emily confessed.

"Of course not. There hasn't been time. We have to take one problem at a time."

It was heavenly, she thought suddenly, to have someone discuss your future without mentioning duty or responsibility. To have someone ask you, as if it were the simplest thing in the world, what you wanted to do next.

"I'd like to get a job somewhere. And be independent for a while."

His eyes twinkled sympathetically. "Then we'll get a job," he assured her stoutly. "Any special sort of job in any special field?"

"I have a friend in the advertising department of a big Birmingham store. I—wanted to go there, once."

"Yes," she was faint with relief. Dr. Warde must be the Rock of Gibraltar.

"There's one slight drawback." He was thinking of the quality of Emily's clothes and luggage. "Beginners get starvation wages in that line."

She remembered with a surge of gratitude the few stocks her father had given her from time to time. They had never seemed particularly important until now.

"I could manage until I was earning more. I have a little money."

"Then it looks to me," he said cheerfully, "as if we were all set. Suppose you write the friend today, and by the time you're ready to leave we can have it all arranged."

He was glad the job was in Birmingham because he knew several people of importance there. He knew people of importance in a great many places.

"You think I ought to stay here a while?" She hoped he would say yes. This place had come to be sanctuary, and she didn't want to relinquish the Rock of Gibraltar until she had thirties again.

"I do," he said promptly. "For about two weeks. He didn't tell her how close she had come to mental and physical disaster. He hoped she would never find out.

She smiled her relief and he grinned the comfortable, companionable grin. Then he rose.

"It would be a good idea for you to get outside for a couple of hours. We've got a gorgeous view, and in case that fails I'll see that you have something to read. And with another comforting grin he left her.

In his office once more Dr. Warde sent for Edwin, who was waiting as he had waited for most of two days. Edwin sat down and listened, like a condemned man, to the verdict.

"She's very much better," Dr. Warde said kindly, "but it's been a pretty close shave."

"Could I see her?"

Dr. Warde's heart ached for him. He sometimes wished that he didn't take his cases so much to heart, and yet that was the reason, perhaps, why he had gotten so far at the age of thirty-six.

"I don't believe it's wise." And then, as gently as he could, he told Edwin how things stood.

"Your best chance," he said at last, "is not to crowd her. I think the reason she has rebelled now is because she feels that she has been over-persuaded. When she's perfectly well again she may feel differently about it. Let her go to Birmingham and don't beg her to come back to you. That is," he added experimentally, "if you still want her to."

"I do," Edwin confessed soberly. "I guess I'm a fool, but I can't help it. I've always wanted her, and I suppose I always will."

"Then write her how you feel and let it go at that. All you can do is to hope that this experiment won't be all she expects it to be."

"And what about her mother and father?" Edwin asked wretchedly.

"I'll attend to that." He was looking forward with an almost unholy joy to attending to Frances Felton. As Edwin rose Dr. Warde eyed him keenly, arrested by a certain suspicion. "Is this your first experience with women?"

Edwin flushed hotly, outraged by the intrusion into so secret a recess of his being, but something in the man's personality checked him. He nodded, reluctantly. Dr. Warde sighed inaudibly.

"In that case," he said casually, "I'd suggest that you discuss the whole question with your physician."

In the street once more, Edwin fumbled blindly for the door of his car. He was trembling all over.

Dr. Warde made his leisurely way to Emily's private corner of his big porch. She gave him a smile of welcome and he thought with pardonable pride how different she was from the still, white ghost who had been brought to him two weeks ago.

He sat down beside her. "So you're leaving us today?"

She nodded, her eyes on the gorgeous panorama below them. The sanatorium was on the crest of Lookout Mountain, and far below it, with the Tennessee curled serpentine about, lay the city.

"It seems impossible, but I'll be sorry to leave. It's the most peaceful place I've ever known."

"Just what you needed," he agreed brusquely. He went on, "Your Birmingham train leaves at three, and I thought if you didn't mind I'd drive you down. We can have lunch at the Inn first, and then take our time."

There were several things he wanted to make sure of before he let her go, and he preferred discussing them outside the shadow of his institution.

Emily needed a friend more than she needed a doctor, and because he was a very good doctor he was determined to complete his cure in the role of a friend.

She accepted eagerly. "In that case I'll go pack now, and be ready whenever you want to leave."

"About one, then," he said as he rose.

They had lunch on the terrace of the inn, and having disposed of the business of ordering lunch Dr. Warde went straight to the matter at hand.

MORE ON GAL 2
"Well," his eyes twinkled, "do you feel equal to going out and engaging in battle?"

She laughed. "Quite. You've made a new woman of me."

"No," he said slowly, "you've done that long ago. I want you to promise to keep it up. I want you to promise me that you'll forget other people for a while and think about yourself. They can't crowd you if you refuse to be crowded. Hold up your head and laugh at them. After all, it's your life."

She looked doubtful. "I wonder if it is—entirely. 'No man liveth to himself.'"

He smiled. "The devil, my child, quotes Scripture to his purpose. You can't quote yourself, honestly, to some cause or some person that doesn't deserve, or at least doesn't possess, your devotion, can you?"

She didn't answer, and he went earnestly on. "Don't think I'm a home-wrecker; I'm not. If you find, in a month or a year, that you can love your husband, no one will bestow a blessing more quickly than I. It would be the happiest, simplest solution. But don't do it, Emily, unless you feel that way about it. Will you promise?"

She was silent for a long time. Then, "I'll try. Harder than I ever tried anything before."

"Good girl." He patted her hand, paternally.

"It's appalling, though," she went on thoughtfully, "what an over-developed conscience can do to you."

"A conscience," Dr. Warde said bitterly, "is a cross to its possessor and a very convenient thing to find in someone else. You can do anything on earth with a person like that merely by appealing to his conscience."

"I know it. I was raised that way. Mother has a conscience, too, and it's kept her from enjoying all the good things she's ever had."

"Hers," he said sharply, "is an ingrowing one."

They lingered over the luncheon until there was just time to catch the train comfortably. Then they drove in silence to the station.

Dr. Wade, having armed himself with an amusing book and a box of candy, came all the way to her compartment to see that she was comfortably settled. Then he stood looking down at her with the disarming grin.

"By the way, I'm going to be in Birmingham next month at a medical meeting. If you don't mind I'll stop in and see how you're making the grade." His job, he felt, wasn't quite finished.

Emily takes a fling, tomorrow, at a completely new life.

PIONEER DAYS IN THE PANHANDLE

Mrs. T. D. Hobart is author of a valuable article in the current number of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Review, publication of the Historical society of Canyon.

Mrs. Hobart, local pioneer woman, starts her article by pointing out that the Panhandle was the last part of this state to be settled. Much of West Texas was regarded as a part of the "great American desert," unfit for anything better than grazing. Coronado had passed through here in the sixteenth century, but like white men who came much later, he was wholly unimpressed and disappointed because he had sought gold.

Following Coronado, the Panhandle was peopled by Indians for nearly 300 years, while Spanish Mexico was conquered and exploited of its rich mineral resources. The plains came to be viewed by bodies of troops and transcontinental travelers. Records of the war department show many references to the "waste lands" in this territory. Some chroniclers do admit, however, that the country seemed healthful and capable of supporting herds of cattle, as it had supported wandering buffalo herds in season.

Life in the Panhandle, Mrs. Hobart writes, may be conveniently divided into four main periods, viz.: The Indian, the Buffalo hunters, establishment of large ranches, and coming of settlers and farmers. The plains Indians believed that this was their rightful home. They were satisfied with their mode of life and unwilling to be "civilized." They followed the buffalo, antelope, and deer herds, which were their meat supply. What little corn they desired could be obtained by bartering jerked meat and hides.

These Indians were well mounted on horses which had come from the abandoned stock left by the Spanish explorers. As the white men came, the Indians viewed with alarm and began to oppose the "invasion" with force. The cruelty which long had characterized the inter-tribal warfare was transferred to the depredations against the whites. Federal troops slowly forced the Redskins into reservations, from which they broke away—often with guns bought from the soldiers—to hunt and raid. Treaties were made and broken by both sides.

The Indians were limited in hunting territory. Buffalo hunters, seeking hides, decimated the herds and angered the red men. The well known battles in the Panhandle were fought in the latter part of this period, notably in 1874. During the bitter winter of 1874-75, several strong forces of federal troops ran down the marauding Indians, fighting more than two dozen engagements, and crushed the tribes to end the menace.

As the buffalo disappeared, ranches were formed and under the leadership of men like Col. Charles Goodnight the cattle industry grew. Goodnight had been a ranchman-banker in Southern Colorado. He had known the Panhandle while acting as a scout and guide for Texas Rangers. His ranch was 250 miles from a railroad and nearly 200 miles to a settlement. Both Indians and outlaws were dangerous. From this beginning grew the great JA ranch, formerly headed by T. D. Hobart for many years. Goodnight had been associated with John Adair, wealthy Irishman and former New York broker.

Mrs. Hobart continues with facts about early Panhandle ranches, the exchange of 3,000,000 acres of land for the Texas capitol building, and the establishment of old Mobeetie and other towns in this section.

Pampa, Mrs. Hobart writes, brought up the rear in settlement of Panhandle towns. She says:

"In 1890 was seen the first sign of habitation, when George Tyng put into construction the first part of the Holland hotel. The railroads, the Santa Fe and Fort Worth & Denver, had been built through the plains in 1887. First families were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Case and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lane. The White Deer lands, which included Pampa, were widely advertised and sold to permanent settlers."

The town began to take form in 1904. There was little social life, no churches, no Sunday school. In 1905, the first Christmas tree was held in the first local store building, that of the Johnson Mercantile company.

While other sections have been populated by certain nationalities in "colonies," the Panhandle became the melting pot for native Americans of many states, a characteristic continued in recent years by oil development.

It is to be hoped that Mrs. Hobart and other pioneers will write much of days which are fast being forgotten, and of that stirring period when the Panhandle institutions were born.

BARBS

"Urge landing fields along main highways." And quite right; no pedestrian likes to land on those stone pavements.

Pennsylvania lunch stand proprietors charged with adulterating hamburg. But how did anyone ever find out?

An Oklahoma bank robber was given life after his lawyer sang "Home, Sweet Home." Still, the jury shouldn't have taken it out on the client.

A newspaper item advertises dry soup, which might prove invaluable to Mayor LaGuardia in his New York noise-abatement program.

Italy may find herself with a bad case of indigestion if she tries to bolt the league and swallow Ethiopia.

If a friend fails to stand treat at the bar, it may be because he has a little Scotch in him.

Surgeon extracts bolts, nut and washer from brain of Michigan man. A person, it seems, can be too mechanical-minded.

In Ethiopia, drums will bring the natives up in arms. Over here, the trick is accomplished with saxophones.

"Urge Massachusetts to Buy Eli Whitney Gin." Dora finds it more difficult every day to keep up with those new liquors.

Greek Generals Ask Restoration Of King George

LONDON, Oct. 10. (AP)—The Athens correspondent of Reuters reported that Gen. George Kondylis, minister of war and one of the staunchest advocates of the restoration of the Greek monarchy, assumed the leadership of government today after Premier Tsaldaris and his cabinet had resigned.

General Kondylis, Reuters said, called three associates to assist him in the government.

It was stated that Athens was quiet awaiting a meeting of the national assembly which was expected to vote the restoration of former King George to the throne.

The resignation, it was reported by the Exchange Telegraph agency, followed a series of rapid events during the morning in connection with a demand for the restoration of the monarchy.

Four army generals visited Premier Tsaldaris and demanded that the monarch be restored immediately by a decree approved by the national assembly.

While the interview was in progress, soldiers in certain barracks fixed portraits of former King George to the walls, cheered and proclaimed him king.

An extraordinary council of ministers was summoned in the afternoon and Tsaldaris announced his government's resignation.

WANTED: A TICKETHOLDER
DETROIT (AP)—Police seized William Greenbaum, 55, on the complaint of a man whose pocketbook Greenbaum had returned empty. A search disclosed another wallet, containing an Irish smooch ticket but no other identification. Officers have written sweepstakes officials at Dublin in an attempt to find the purchaser. They want to give his ticket back.

OLD JOHN DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

He Made This 25c Test
Old John says, "I had to get up 5 or 6 times every night. This bladder irregularly was accompanied with scanty flow, burning and itching. I flushed out excess acids with little green tablets containing burdock leaves, juniper oil, etc., called BIKERS. They work on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. After four days if not pleased any drug-fight will refund your 25c. I sleep good now." City Drug Store, Fatherese Drug Company. (Adv.)

James And John Roosevelt Hurt In Train Crash

BOSTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Quick action by John Roosevelt, the president's youngest son, prevented serious injury to him and his brother, James, when his car crashed through a crossing gate and collided with an electric train.

James was unhurt. John's left shoulder was bruised; his roadster was severely damaged.

The two sons of the president were riding in John's roadster en route to the East Boston airport last night. James intended to take a plane to New York after visiting here. John was driving, police said.

As the car neared a crossing of the Boston, Revere Beach and Lynn railroad, the gates were dropped for a Boston-bound train.

The Roosevelt car splintered one gate but John swerved to the right, swinging his car parallel to the train and heading in the same direction.

Club Told of Life Attitudes

Attitudes toward life determine the usefulness and character of a person, Dr. Burke Culpepper, Memphis, Tenn., evangelist, told Pampa Lions today in a stirring address. The speaker spoke of ignorance, indifference, and indulgence as cardinal sins. He urged the clubmen to be fully informed on innocent of sin. He was introduced by Gaston Foote, local Methodist pastor.

W. V. Jarratt, representing the Kiwanis club, introduced Chief Clyde Gold and Tom Eckerd of the fire department, who with a model residence demonstrated fire hazards.

Visitors included C. T. Hankapillar, Ernest Zuhl of Amarillo, Gene Fathewe, W. R. Frazer, T. B. Cobb, and H. V. McCorkle, the latter of Cisco.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—In one of the most impressive rallies of several weeks, stocks bounded upward today for gains of 1 to 3 or more points.

A touch of inflationary psychology, combined with a better brand of business news and the apparent lessening of war tension in the financial district, helped the recovery.

The close was strong. Transfer approximated 1,750,000 shares.

which is supposed to hasten the beginning of pensions. The pensions will be administered by the state and any person who is caught under the guise of obtaining the money is guilty of an attempt to defraud.

APPROPRIATING of mere funds for an investigation of the Railroad commission is being justified more strongly than it would be if the investigation were to prevent certain conditions which might develop. The legislature seems not to have considered that raising the salaries of commission employees would likely have an even more beneficial effect. To obtain technically trained men and keep them has been almost impossible.

Reports of inefficiency or lack of interest, or both, in East Texas have been so common in the industry and on the tongues of legislators that the investigation ought to be pushed through to a conclusion. Dilatory investigating, tinged with politics is unfair to the commission and employees and perplexing to the public.

her the information concerning Robinson Jr. having wounded her. She told the jury that at the time she and Robinson Jr. were married in 1929 she was attending a business school in Nashville.

She said that after their marriage she continued with her studies and that one day she left class early and was seen on the street by her husband. On her return home she related, he questioned her where she had been. She told him she had been at school.

Warning already had been issued of possible catastrophic effects of such sanctions. One major delegation was quoted as saying that a blockade might mean a naval war, and the implications of that statement carried their own weight, inasmuch as such a blockade would be initiated at the instance of the league.

A blockade would cut off the East African forces from the homeland. It is a matter of time, it is hoped that France would find some means of conciliating the situation, but apparently scant hope of avoiding league sanctions existed. In London official circles were reported to have said that such a move would be in spite of the attitude of Austria and Hungary. England was swept by a wave of sympathy for Ethiopia.

L. J. Estes was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital for medical treatment yesterday afternoon.

ETHIOPIA

Discussed in the corridors but not yet brought into the open was a possible plan for establishing a naval blockade against Italy in an effort to bring an end to the bloodshed of Italy's war for a "complete solution" of its problem in Africa.

"Italy is convinced," Baron Pompeo Abiss, head of the fascist delegation, said before a hushed chamber of the league members, "that it is the who is interpreting the true spirit of the league which is synonymous with life, against the letter of the league, which is synonymous with death."

FDR Has Dinner On Cocos Isle

WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AT COCOS ISLAND, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt rode through pounding surf off the n. row, sun-drenched beach of Cocos island today for a shore dinner with the officers of the cruisers Houston and Portland.

The tiny, green clad island, rich in adventure, drew the chief executive for the first landing of his trip on the Pacific.

Mr. Roosevelt yesterday caught a 110-pound sailfish, nine feet three inches long, after a 40-minute struggle with a light rod.

From his launch, he watched a trawler under the command of a former British naval officer which is searching for sunken treasure.

Dressed in old clothes and wearing a khaki shirt, the president paid little attention to the tropical shower as he fished from the open end of the launch.

Around him, birds swooped at his bait and an occasional shark and porpoise edged up to the presidential boat.

Italians Are Dying Like Flies, Claim

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 10 (AP)—Italian soldiers are dying "like flies" of tropical disease in Africa, Captain John Smith, master of the motorship Singulare Prince, said today upon his arrival from the Far East.

The disease has blinded hundreds of others, he added, and shiploads of fever victims have been sent back to Italy incapacitated.

Captain Smith said he saw the returning fever casualties as he came through the Mediterranean.

From doctors at Port Said and Massaua, point of embarkation for the Roman Legions, he said he learned that men in full health in the morning died of the fever that afternoon.

Question Right Of Doyle Settle To Hold Office

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson, state director of the National Youth Administration, said today he believed that under the Texas constitution Rep. J. Doyle Settle of Abernathy could not serve as a district director of the administration and a member of the legislature simultaneously.

Johnson said he had tendered a district directorship to Settle, but had not received an answer in Lubbock, however, Settle said he had accepted.

Speaker Coke Stevenson said unofficially Settle could not hold both positions if that in the Youth Administration was classed as an "office."

Attorney General McCreary also gave an unofficial opinion Settle could retain both.

decision of the state's highest tribunal.

Then dropping the letter form, the Journal continued with speculations as to whether Hauptmann would accept the offer and whether it delays the offer will not be withdrawn.

"Only three stipulations," the paper said, "are attached to this offer of life and money:

"He must in his confession name his accomplice.

"The confession must stand the closest investigation.

"He must personally aid the state in prosecuting the accomplice—man or woman."

Wood Declares Road Funds Low

DALLAS, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Texas highway commission today began a two-day hearing here, explaining at the outset that it could consider lateral road applications only, as funds for other types already have been exhausted.

Approximately 200 representatives of commissioners' courts and chambers of commerce in northeast and northwest Texas counties were at the hearing.

Commissioner John Wood explained that the regular federal aid funds already have been pledged. He added that $8,000,000 of state funds also have been pledged, and that the highway commission's treasury is at a lower ebb now than it has ever been.

clusively; and dairy products processing units.

Senator Clint Small of Amarillo said the exemption of manufacturers' retail units was necessary to keep open certain clothing chains selling chiefly to poor people.

Opponents charged that chain stores were reducing people to serfdom, decreasing business standards and creating a situation where there would be "only the extreme rich and the extreme poor."

Wets claimed a tactical advantage from an amendment they added to the Small bill defining the open season which was passed by the house 106 to 27, but drys discounted the claims.

The amendments exempted compounds of grapes, berries, fruits, and other products grown in Texas and authorized an alcoholic strength of 17 per cent in liquor sold by the drink.

The senate previously had passed the bill, which defined an open season as a place where distilled spirits were sold by the drink.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Business barely moved during the morning with prices holding closely around previous closing levels.

Prices never exceeded a four to six point range with the market apparently adopting a waiting attitude.

December sold at 10.90 just before noon. March at 10.97, while May and July held fairly above the 11-cent level.
