Texas Co. Reports 1400 Feet Oil In Anadarko Wildcat Test

The Texas Co. has reported 1400 feet of 38.7 gravity oil in the hole on a drillstem test on an Anadarko Basin wildcat. It was first thought to be disillate. The test was taken from 8465 to 8190, the tool was open two hours and gas came to the surface in 13 minutes. Continuing for two hours, the blow did not increase.

Gas was expected in the Atoka sand and the gas blow was light, but when the tester was removed it was found that the hole had 1400 feet of oil. Shut-in pressure was 2400 and flow pressure was 475.

More Atoka sand was found at 8508 to 8522. It is the lower Pennsylvanian, the same sand found in the Lips wells.

Location of the McGarraugh No. 1-B is center of NE quarter of section 139 block 13 T&N survey, 20 miles south and four miles west of Perryton. It is 1 1/2 miles northeast of the Texas Co. No. 1 McGarraugh in section 151 that was dry and abandoned at below 10,000 feet last year.

The test is 2 1/2 miles west of the Gulf No. 1 Harbaugh.

Newcastle Pigeons Doing Well On Rum

SYDNEY (AP)—Newcastle's pigeons won the first round of month, West and East Germans the rum-soaked wheat battle. You may have read of the bright idea of Newcastle Parks Supervisor M. Sivert to feed the city's pigeons with wheat soaked in rum. The idea was that the pigeons would become staggery and easy to catch. The pigeons were — and still are — unpopular because they are eating up the young poppies and pasties sown for a big floral display.

The Newcastle people fed the pigeons plain wheat for two days. The third day they laced the wheat with rum. From nearby rooftops the pigeons swooped down into the park. They ate heartily. They then flew back to the rooftops in steady formations.

Now there's talk of soaking wheat in stronger rum for a week before feeding the pigeons.

Burmese Cabinet Uses Collective Security

RANGOON (AP)—Fortress-like walls will shortly replace the 10-foot high barbed wire stockade surrounding "Whispering" Rangoon's private name for its ministerial colony in swank Windermere Park. Members of the Burmese cabinet have lived here since the 1947 ministerial murders, guarded day and night by troops armed with automatic weapons.

According to a report in the Burmese press, the annual cost of repairing and maintaining the barbed wire stockade is telling heavily on the government's purse. This is why, said the report, it will be replaced by walls of brick five-feet high and crowned with five-foot-long iron spikes.

Gunsights will break the brickwork at regular intervals "just in case."

BABY

(Continued from Page One) trying to get the child from her and sell it for $50. Parker said he first learned the identity of the child's parents when the Moores came to see him and identified themselves. Mrs. Moore, he continued, said she would rather have the child adopted than have a hearing in district court. The judge said he insisted on having the district court hearing, but Mrs. Moore preferred the adoption method.

Mrs. Mildred Sanders, Parker's secretary, drew up the papers and she signed them, knowing what they were, and of her own free will, Parker declared.

Asked if he threatened to jail her, Parker looked surprised, saying: "Why, no... What would I put her in jail for?"

On the stand Mrs. Sanders said she read the adoption papers to Mrs. Moore and asked her if she knew what she was signing and that the woman answered in the affirmative.

Mrs. Moore also admitted she lied to the court previously when she said she could not read when she signed the papers.

Mrs. Smith under direct questioning related she was given the child on Aug. 25 to look after for several days. She added she did not know who the parents were and tried to find out. Meanwhile, the local police character "tried to get her from us and sell it to another party for $50." Mrs. Smith said she called Doggett and he told her not to give up the baby.

Earlier Mrs. Moore vigorously denied she or her husband marked the child with a belt or made her stand on the floor for several hours as punishment for misconduct.

Later, witnesses declared they had seen the belt marks and saw the Moores make the little girl stand "like a soldier" in the middle of their Dumas trailer house for one or more hours at a time and that the parents showed partiality between the girl and her brother, taking him for walks while she was locked in the trailer.

Cross examinations by Atty. Archie McDonald failed to break down the evidence brought out against Mrs. Moore.

A neighbor, Mrs. Ellen Williams, Dumas, told the jury that Mrs. Moore kept a clean and neat trailer house, and kept both children clean and neat. But she said she saw Mr. Moore abuse the baby with Mrs. Moore present. She added the entire trailer camp was aroused against the Moores for the abuse of the child.

After four hours of testimony, Judge Lewis M. Godrich recessed court until 9:30 a. m. today. County Attorney Bill Waters, be.

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Have you ever implicitly dreamed of seeing your banker, doctor or other professional man getting his hands dirty at some manual job? If so, you should have been at the William Gates Service Station in this small town recently. Nearly 50 professional men took over the duties of attendants for a full day.

On that eventful day you could have watched a prominent dentist filling gas tanks instead of cavities. Or you could have overheard a former patient say to his doctor:

"Better check the oil, Doc. And, or yes, would you wipe the windshield, please? It's a little dirty." The project was a campaign designed to raise funds for youth activities of the Meadville Exchange Club. All profits from the sale of gasoline was turned over to the club.

Diamond engagement rings were used in the Middle Ages, acting for the county in the case, indicated "sensational testimony" may be brought up today, but declined to say what it would be.

Pampan's Brother Lauds Helicopter

WITH THE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION IN KOREA (Delayed) —The helicopter, aviation's solution to flight - without - motion, will evolve into a newer mode and method of fighting a mechanized war.

Two helicopter pilots assert the modernization through helicopter theory will mean a faster tactical warfare for ground troops.

Captain A. T. Pumphyrey, brother of Donald G. Pumphyrey, 617 N. Dwight, Pampa, and First Lieutenant Jesse D. Bates, husband of Mrs. Dorothy Bates, (no address) Park River, N.D., said the rotor-driven aircraft will "show its worth in years to come."

Capt. Pumphyrey, First Cavalry Division air section operations officer, called the beetle-like flying machine "an infant" and that many fields of experimentation will develop it into "an important tactical weapon."

Specifically, Capt. Pumphyrey—a 100-hour helicopter veteran—thinks the machine can be used to lay standard lengths of communications wire over terrain difficult to surmount by signal men.

"Laying wire by helicopter," he said, "will be a simple matter as soon as the 'bugs' are ironed out of such a system. With a lot of speed and little effort, one 'copter could string miles of wire in the time it would take a communications team to string a half-mile."

"One outstanding advantage in this airborne wire-laying," Capt. Pumphyrey added, "is the fact that the wire will no doubt land in trees high above the ground. That's a good point. It'll be above thoroughfares where trucks usually run over wire. There'll be less maintenance."

The 34-year-old officer pointed out that because of the helicopter's relative infancy several mechanical imperfections remain in the operation.

"And for that reason," he said, "it's not as efficient as a conventional airplane."

But Capt. Pumphyrey said helicopters can fly in weather entirely unamenable to regular airplanes.

"When it comes to bad weather, a 'copter can feel its way along and if it gets too close to a mountain it can stop, back up and go around it. A regular plane can't do that."

L. Bates, a veteran of some 414 combat flying hours in Korea, said frontline infantry divisions should be equipped with at least six helicopters, instead of one as now.

"The single 'copter now attached to a division," he said, "is used for flying the command general to and from the front. With five others, we could operate more administrative flights and our own medical evacuation service, which is now a function of a larger and higher headquarters."

Both agreed the $30,000 machine could conceivably be used as an observation device for hovering over enemy territory and directing artillery fire.

"But," said L. Bates, "when it stands still the enemy would have a perfect shot at it. That's the only drawback."

Probably the most salient feature of the helicopter is its ability to pop down into a small landing area, rise from it directly into the air and fly in any direction at any speed.

Unit commanders inspecting frontline activities via helicopter are able to avoid convoy-checked roads and one-way mountain passes and thus slice at least 75

Fresh-Up Aids: Soap Paper And Expansible Washcloths

Washroom fresh-ups can now be pleasurable, thanks to new aids for travelers and career girls. Soap-coated sheets (left) provide lather for thorough face-washing with bath cloth (right) which expands from tiny disk.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Any woman who's ever tried to do an away-from-home fresh-up in an office washroom or a Pullman lounge probably remembers the experience as unpleasant. If you were unprepared, a face-washing likely required the use of harsh liquid soap or of cakes handed by strangers. Or, if you'd remembered to provide your own equipment, a scramble through suitcase or cluttered desk drawer was necessary to unearth it. Then there was the difficulty of re-packing wet, sticky soap and a dripping washcloth.

These problems are solved with the introduction of two new products which provide a sponge bath essentials in compact and disposable form.

A packet of pleasantly scented, soap-coated paper takes care of your soaping. Tear out a sheet, dampen it and rub it on your face to work up a lather. Use several if necessary. Then toss the used paper away.

Since the soap sheets are packaged in a folder resembling that of safety matches, they can be easily tucked into your purse for everyday use. When enclosed in a case of red or green plastic, the soap sheets make an interesting handbag accessory.

Another quick clean-up aid is a small mint-sized disk which opens out into a full-sized bath cloth when dipped into water. Since the disks are perfumed, they make your face-washing a particularly pleasant task. These, too, can be discarded after use.

Shamrock Holds City Clean-Up

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Campaign Chairmen G. L. Harrison and W. R. Ritter hope to make Shamrock not only the cleanest, but also the prettiest little city in this area.

They are heading the clean-up Paint-Up and Fix-Up drive now underway. On the next day the entire city will get a DDT spraying.

A few flowers, a little paint and some trimmed trees will do wonders toward beautifying a home," they urged, stating it will not be very expensive.

Mayor Jack Montgomery, in proclaiming the campaign, urged full cooperation of Shamrock citizens.

Mrs. Scott, who was introduced by Mrs. Charles Hickman, used the orchestra installation. She said "No club is stronger than its executive staff. You can't think of your club as a symphony with the president as a great conductor." In conclusion she said "May you have a beautiful, harmonious year."

Officers installed were Mrs. Charles Hickman, Jr., president; Mrs. Raymond Heid, vice president; Mrs. J. W. Garman III, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Leverich, treasurer; Mrs. G. M. Put Together They Spell Mother

DOWNY LEMON COCONUT CUPCAKES spell out "Mother." Fresh strawberries add color and zest.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Turn the tables on Mom and give her a party on Mother's Day, May 13th. Use coconut cupcakes frosted all over with a tart lemon frosting. Serve with fresh strawberries and cream.

For ease and speed of preparation make these downy-textured cupcakes with an instant cake mix. For convenience, bake in paper baking cups (set in muffin pans) to eliminate scrubbing cupcake pans.

On each of six of them, make one letter of word MOTHER with little silver or green candies, then arrange alphabetical cakes in order to spell out their salutation.

Mrs. Locke Reviews Book For Members Of Child Study Club

MIAMI — (Special) — Mrs. R. B. Haynes entertained the Child Study Club Friday afternoon, when 10 members were present.

With the president, Mrs. E. D. Daugherty, in the chair, reports were heard from the hobby show committee and the pre-school child club project. Mrs. Matt Day resigned and Mrs. Ed Haynes was unanimously voted into membership.

The program was given by Mrs. W. F. Locke, who was guest speaker for Mrs. Haynes. Mrs. Locke reviewed the biography, "The Peabody Sisters of Salem," by Louise Hall Tharp. The special feature, a round of individual stunts, was presented by Mrs. Grady Adcock, assisted by all present.

A social hour was held by members, Mrs. Adcock, Clyde Hodge, Theo Jenkins, Ralph Byrum, E. D. Daugherty, John Hamry, Bill Tolbert, James Flowers, Eldon Saul, and one guest, Mrs. Locke.

Process cheese, which many families like to use, is sometimes made from one type of cheese, sometimes from a mixture of different types. The cheese is shredded and a small amount of an emulsifying agent and water are added; it is then heated and molded.

2 egg yolks, unbeaten, 1-3 cup milk and 2-3 cup milk, lemon frosting.

Turn cake mix into bowl. Add coconut and mix well. Then add egg yolks and 1-2 cup of the milk. Blend, then beat 2 minutes. Add remaining 2-3 cup milk. Blend, then beat 1 minute or at a low speed of electric mixer. Turn batter into paper baking cups (set in muffin pans), filling cups only 1-2 full. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Cool. Prepare lemon frosting. Spread on tops and sides of cupcakes.

Lemon Frosting
Cream together 1-2 cup butter or fortified margarine and 1-2 teaspoons grated lemon rind. Combine 4 1-2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar and 1-8 teaspoon salt. Add part of sugar mixture to creamed butter, blending after each addition. Then add remaining sugar, alternately with about 6 tablespoons lemon juice, until of right consistency to spread. Beat thoroughly after each addition. Note: If desired, frost only tops of cupcakes, using 6 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, dash of salt and about 1-4 cup lemon juice.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

How To End Hand Quickly

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"I don't believe in luck," writes in Austin, Tex., correspondent, "especially when that luck continues for a very long time. My next-door neighbor and his wife keep winning, so I know they must be better than we are. But I can't discover the secret of their success."

"Here's what happens in about one deal out of every three. My wife and I get the first discard pile and get down with a few nice-looking melds. It looks as though we ought to make at least one canasta very quickly and perhaps run up a really big score."

"Suddenly the hand collapses. One of our friendly enemies puts down a meld, and in one or two more plays the hand is over. Their hands always seem to match, and one of them is able to meld out a bushful."

"What's the answer? How do they do it?"

My correspondent is the one card player in a thousand who doesn't complain about luck when he is being outplayed. The secret is fairly simple, and even an average player can make use of it.

There are only eleven possible ranks that your side can meld — from aces down to the fours. You are not likely to make a canasta in any rank melded by the enemy. You are not likely to make a canasta in any rank that your partner discards (unless you have control of the discard pile).

At the beginning of a hand, you check off the ranks that are improbable. Your partner discards jacks, nines, and sevens, let us say. You have a very bad hand and cannot put up any serious fight for the discard pile. All right — give up. Discard exactly what your partner has thrown. This will often give up the pile.

You and your partner will still have twenty-two cards between you — and neither one of you has any jacks, nines, or sevens. Perhaps you also discard another rank. Do you see what is bound to happen?

The partnership hands must accumulate more and more cards in the same few ranks. As soon

BUTTONS AN' BEAUX SHARON SMITH

"My! How you've changed!"

as one player makes a meld, the partner can match it to complete a canasta. The whole hand can usually be ended in one or two more plays.

Officer Says Second, Seventh Divisions Could Have Held On

EAST CENTRAL FRONT, Korea — (Delayed) — The U. S. Second and Seventh Divisions "could have held forever" when the Chinese Communists opened their big offensive, a Seventh Division officer says.

"Nobody could have pushed us out of there if we'd wanted to stay."

"But a South Korean division on our right flank retreated. Other allied divisions on the west were pushed back. We had to fall back to avoid being surrounded."

When the Reds lashed out last week other allied units were forced back. The Second and Seventh Divisions were left holding the deepest UN salient in North Korea.

The Second Division's positions were protected by the massive Hwachon Reservoir which crosses the central front about seven miles above the 38th Parallel. Part of the division's ground extended around the eastern tip of the reservoir.

The Seventh Division held ground northeast of the reservoir, just to the right of the second.

North Korean Reds attacked the two American units at 2:30 a. m. April 23, several hours after Chinese began the offensive in the west.

The Reds walled to push the Americans on the east central front more than 200 or 300 yards. "K" Company of the Seventh fell back somewhat after a bloody fight. "I" Company lost its position above the hill and retreated to another hill more than 100 yards away. All day long artillery pounded the first hill. Planes strafed and napalmed it.

"A" Company retook the hill next day. It found the Communists had fled, leaving a large amount of American arms and equipment.

Several of their dead were also left behind.

Then the Seventh Division found the South Koreans on their right flank had withdrawn under the heavy pressure of the Red attack. The ROKS abandoned the town of Inje.

The Seventh Division also found that its northern front was seven or eight miles above its command post, while the enemy was only 1,000 yards away to the hills on the east where the ROKS were supposed to be.

So the Second and Seventh Divisions fell back below the 38th Parallel. Nothing was left behind. Engineers even took part of a pontoon bridge with them.

"The old man (Maj. Gen. Claude B. Ferenbaugh, Seventh Division commander) doesn't want to be encircled," an officer said.

"We could hold on even if they

Brothers Heading Treasury Program

Gerard S. Nollen, retired president of the Bankers Life Co. and Dr. John S. Nollen, president emeritus of Grinnell College, are serving as co-chairman of the Iowa bond organization.

It became a brother setup only recently when Gerard Nollen was appointed by Treasury Secretary Snyder to fill a vacancy. Dr. John Nollen has been serving as a co-chairman since 1941.

The club was set up by a group of company-grade officers who say they got tired of the attention paid V.I.P.'s — very important persons.

ASCAP Signs Pact With Counterpart

NEW YORK — (AP) — From now on, you'll have to pay for the privilege of singing or playing a Japanese song commercially in this country. The same goes for the Japanese who perform American tunes for profit in Japan.

This is the result of the first Oriental agreement signed by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. It concluded a mutual protection pact with the Japanese Society of Rights of Authors and Composers whereby the two societies would collect royalties for each other.

"Actually," says an ASCAP spokesman, "There's more in it for us than for them. The Japanese play about 80 percent more of our music than we perform of theirs. But Japanese tunes are performed quite a bit in Japanese cabarets along our Pacific coast."

ASCAP, which has had many long-standing royalty agreements with European nations but never before concluded one in the Far East, has 2800 members. The Japanese society has 1100.

Meat-Snafu'd, Susu'd Tarfu'd

For the benefit of those who came in late, we'll explain that the word "snafu" was coined by U. S. fighting men in World War II, and means "Situation Normal - All Fouled Up Ketch". "Susu" and "tarfu" never were as widely used as "snafu". But they also were genuine GI World War II inventions. "Susu" means "Situation Unchanged - Still Fouled Up." "tarfu" things are really fouled up.

All three of these melancholy mischances have overtaken meat, particularly beef, in recent weeks. It's not that there is any real meat shortage; there isn't. What is to blame is a lot of fooling around and misdirected imaging on the part of Michael M. Disalle's Office of Price Stabilization, or OPS.

OPS is a sort of illegitimate child of Chester Bowles' World War II OPA, which snafu'd, susu'd, and tarfu'd just about every commodity whose prices it tried to regulate.

Saved By Saxon, McLemores Journey Home From Derby

REJECTED — In view of this background, Truman-Acheson poltroons have been assailed on the ground that they offer no inducement to Iran and Turkey to stick to the western powers in a forthcoming showdown.

CONCERN — State's spokesman, however, refute this charge. Iran is getting help slowly, but will be given a large loan as soon as London has had a chance to negotiate new agreements for the nationalized oil industry.

APPEALING TO U.N. (The Chicago Daily Tribune) A dockers' union which was outlawed by the New Zealand government after its members went on strike has appealed to the United Nations for restoration of its "human rights."

What the merits of the government's complaint against the union may be we do not know and what the United Nations will do with the union's complaint when it is received remains to be seen.

Bid For A Smile A little four-year old had offered his very first contribution to a public entertainment when he delivered a brief recitation at a Fourth of July celebration. Asked by a neighbor if he had been frightened, he replied: "Oh, no; I wasn't afraid—but my stomach was."

Customer—Do you think you can shave me without cutting me? Barber—Well, I'll make a stab at it. Wife—Herbert, I don't know what you're doing. She said you spoke insultingly to her over the phone yesterday. Patient—What symptoms would you suggest, doctor? Gladys—I almost baked a cake for my brother that is in the pen. Haze—And why didn't you? Gladys—I couldn't, remember if you put in a file and saw after the flour or before the egg.

OPS Official Outlines Beef Control Plan

Officials of the rapidly expanding government price program prepared this week to put into effect the new beef regulations. C. J. Taylor district price executive from Lubbock, explains that the new orders covering beef will regulate the price of beef from cattle on the hoof to the steak and hamburger at the corner grocery.

"The only unregulated prices will be those between producers," Taylor said.

The regulation is designed to check advancing prices of live cattle and bring them in line with wholesale and retail prices and thereby restore an operating margin for those slaughtermen and retailers who have experienced a price squeeze in the last few weeks because of uncontrolled cattle prices.

OPS regulations also provide for lower retail prices in the fall, the first reduction coming August 1 when retail prices will be reduced by about four cents a pound.

Taylor reminded again that most businesses are covered by the general ceiling price regulation, or "freeze" and that until they comply with the tailored regulations removing them from the freeze, they remain under it and are required to comply with it.

Packaged gingerbread makes a quick dessert and it's delicious served with a mound of shipped cream cheese and a lemon sauce. Or it may be paired with apple sauce or chocolate sauce.

Background On Prices Is Explained

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — This is an explanation of an order, recently issued by Eric Johnston, economic stabilizer, on when industries can boost their prices and when they can't.

The order can be understood best, perhaps, by going back a bit and working up to it. The whole price control story started Jan. 26 when OPS, the Office of Price Stabilization, ordered all prices frozen.

This drastic decision was put into effect suddenly to halt rising prices because OPS didn't have the time then to figure out a method of price control that would be fair to everyone. That could be done later.

So the nationwide freeze of Jan. 26 was intended to be, only temporary until OPS could get around to the job of figuring out price ceilings for the various industries and business and individual items.

Because this job of working out fair ceilings is complex, OPS hasn't been able to do it all once. It's been moving along, a step at a time, is still doing so, and has quite a lot more to do.

In this story the emphasis is on an industry, which is not just one firm, since an industry is made up of many firms, all turning out the same kind of product. For instance, women's coats and suits.

Now suppose some firm in an industry feels that the OPS regulations covering that industry, and issued since the general freeze of Jan. 26, are going to force it to the wall. What can it do to save itself from ruin?

It can appeal — as a hardship case — to OPS for special treatment, asking that it be allowed to charge prices higher than those otherwise permitted by OPS for the industry.

But suppose an industry — that is, all the firms in an industry — feel that an OPS regulation or ceiling is going to cut down too much on the profits of the firms in that industry. What then?

The industry, as a whole, can appeal to OPS to change the regulation or ceiling to allow the industry higher prices — and, therefore, higher profits. Does OPS just go ahead and order, or is this where Johnston's order, which he issued on April 21, comes into effect. This, boiled down, is pretty much what he said:

No industry will be allowed higher prices if the average profits of that industry are not more than 15 percent below what the industry's average profits were in any of three years between 1946-49, inclusive.

For example: here's an industry made up of 50 firms which are making much greater profits than they did in 1946-49 period, some 100 percent greater; some 50 percent less.

For example: some of them are making profits 150 percent greater than in 1946-49 period; some 100 percent greater; some 50 percent greater; some just about the same as in 1946-49; some 15 percent less, and some 90 percent less.

Does OPS step in and let all those individual firms with profits more than 15 percent below their profits in 1946-49 just go ahead and raise prices so they can stay ahead, even though they're losing money through efficiency?

No. OPS doesn't look at the individual firms in such a case

Spinsters Not Smilers

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Get happy, girls, unless you want to wind up an old maid. Beauty and brains are not enough. Neither is good home cooking.

Dr. H. K. Moore, Arkansas A&M College psychologist, has blasted some of the old notions about why Aunt Minnie never married.

Dr. Moore compared 176 wives and 176 spinsters on a list of 104 traits. His findings:

Both groups are about equal in beauty, intelligence and enjoyment of housekeeping.

But the spinsters seldom smile.

The study found that the old maids are not a happy group. Furthermore, the spinster has an unhappy disposition, fears sex and childbirth and is a self-centered fault-finder who always wants to have her own way.

Dr. Moore's results are published in an article in Family Life, the monthly magazine of the American Institute of Family Relations here.

He writes that the spinsters' trouble is that they were educated too much for careers instead of for marriage. As a re-

No Bannister Sliding

BUDAPEST — (AP) — The balustrades of staircases in Budapest homes must be supplied with rings or knobs to prevent Hungarian youngsters from sliding down, according to a ministry decree here.

The newspaper "Vilag - Ossag" calls the order "The Joy of Mothers."

The old maid finds it hard to treat men naturally — she is likely either to appear indifferent or over-anxious when men notice her.

The study did not point out whether the spinsters were unhappy and unsmiling because they were spinsters.
