TV Star Tells Why He's Joining Church

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) Who makes man give up a successful life in television for a career in religion? Hollywood wondered that this week when Mal Boyd announced he planned to enter a seminary this September with the goal of becoming a Protestant Episcopal minister. He was leaving behind a position as television partner of Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers. Only 27, he had risen fast in the new industry and had become one of its spokesmen.

Rail Pilings Be Replaced

Two 40-foot railroad bridge pilings will have to be replaced within the next few days on the Santa Fe line running by the Pampa railroad stop, railroad police reported yesterday.

Lawrence Sanky, railroad inspector for this district, said vandals have been using the pilings for targets during the past few months and have them filled with "pot of every description."

On a routine inspection, Sanky said, railroad bridge inspectors found the pilings "almost shot in two."

Inspectors found slugs from pistols and rifles of almost every calibre except .38; pellets from .410, 20 and 16 gauge shotguns were also imbedded in the pilings. Casings from the same type shotgun shells were found lying near the bridge.

Sanky said some of the marksmen went so far as to chop around the pilings at several places in order to dig out the lead.

He estimated it would cost the railroad approximately $3,000, or more, to replace the pilings. The bridge crosses a deep canyon at the point where the target practice has been held. Sanky estimated the vandalism to be going on for about six months.

State laws protect railroad right-of-way on shooting the same as they protect state highways. A jail sentence or a fine may be imposed for shooting across, from or on a railroad right-of-way. Sanky said the railroad intended to prosecute anyone caught using the right-of-way as a target range, especially when bridge pilings are used as the target.

KILLER'S PACE BY JULIUS LONG

THE STORY: Star Williams' audit living it would have been hard enough to prove her innocent. Now that she's dead in may be impossible. I wonder who could have made things so tough for me.

I studied "Larry Stone is my bet. With Rose dead nobody can testify that he was with her the night of Barney's murder. I can't testify, because anything I could say would be hearsay. Right?"

"Right. Rose's death puts Stone in the clear. But I can't quite believe it's that simple. Now, I wonder why that prowler was there if he wasn't after money or jewelry."

"I'm sure I don't know, but I am sure he didn't murder her. I'd rather peg Dave Grafton."

"Star eyed me in puzzlement. I hadn't told him about Grafton following me, so I explained. 'Grafton will squawk to the police about your being there.'"

"That's all right—I told Merica I was." "And I'll believe it's only because Grafton knew about it anyway. You may have some fast talking to do."

I shrugged. "You haven't said what you think about Dave Grafton for the job." "Dave's not the type. I've known him for years. He'd steal the gold out of his client's teeth, but he'd get a court order for it first. He'd never commit a crime of violence."

"Well, he might be forced to. I can figure plenty of motives for Grafton. He had been Barney Bidault's attorney for years, and he was executor under his will with a $2,000,000 estate to settle."

STAR smiled wryly. "He may nail me this time. With Rose Bidault living it would have been hard enough to prove her innocent. Now that she's dead in may be impossible. I wonder who could have made things so tough for me."

Barney dropped it cold. He turned out hot, Barney ran to Dave Grafton, who figured out some way to steal the idea from Barney's partner. Dave usually came through. He wouldn't rise on something like gutting Barney's estate. He would do it legally and with no cause for murder.

"Maybe so. I still think you ought to get an accounting in the estate."

"Star eyed me warily. I don't know how I can—I'm not an interested party. But I'll put a bug in the probate judge's ear though I think you're barking up the wrong tree."

"The inter-office unit came alive, and Kitty Coyle announced: 'Inspector Merica calling.'"

WHEN Merica came in he took a chair near my own and frowned across the desk at Star.

"The coroner did a quick post and established the time of Rose Bidault's death. Right about noon. Maybe 15 minutes one way or another, but 12 o'clock noon is just about it. This leg-man of yours admits being there at about that time."

"I didn't admit it, Inspector. I told it of my own free will. The girl was alive and well when I checked out. There's something else I forgot to mention. Dave Grafton drove up as I was leaving. He wanted to see Rose about something. I told him she'd knocked herself out and to come back some other time. Grafton followed me downtown a few blocks. I don't remember exactly how far."

"Eight blocks? I've had a call from Grafton. He told me you were higher than a kite when you left the Bidault house."

"Then Grafton's a liar. I had some drinks, but I wasn't that bad off. What's Grafton trying to gain by that kind of talk?"

"I wonder," Merica looked away from me. "You don't have to tell me, Mr. Williams! We can't hold Jim Marshall until we get more on him than that. Frankly, I don't think he skewered that girl with that pair of pistols. But there's something funny about the guy he cooled. The guy was Red LaGrange, a tough boy."

Former Emporer Gains Stature As An Indo Political Leader

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
AF Foreign Affairs Analyst
DALAT, Indochina — Many Viet Nam nationalists still can't see Bao Dai as the country's top political leader, but he commands more respect than he did a year ago.

Most Viet Nam nationalists favor the Communist leader Ho Chi Minh. His appeal is based more on his struggle to win complete independence from France than on any ideological grounds.

Bao Dai, a former emperor, has grown steadily in stature as a political figure, but he still has a long way to go to out-rank Ho.

A lot depends on what happens here. If the Communist-led Vietminh can be contained and conditions within the French-controlled zone normalized, the Viet Nam people may look more and more to Bao Dai as a symbol of peace and stability.

But he'll need a freer hand in running the country than the French now permit him. This is necessary to win more face. And he'll have to be more circumspect in his personal life in order to live down his playboy reputation.

Bao's public attitude toward the French is correct and cordial. Privately he complains of too much French interference in Vietnam public affairs. He says the French are overly slow in their promise to help form a Vietnamese army.

It has been two years since the French returned him from exile to take the helm of the Paris-sponsored Vietnam government.

In an interview in his hilltop villa in Dalat, Bao Dai said that direct Chinese Communist intervention in Indochina would touch off grave international consequences and bump against unrelenting opposition among the Viet Nam people.

For those reasons, he believes the Soviet Union and her Communist allies, including Red China, are not planning any direct military intervention at this time.

Bao Dai predicted that without interference the struggle against Ho's forces will be won. But in order to do this, he added, political as well as military action is necessary.

Bao said he had won political support by his promise to hold free elections to determine a permanent form of government, to institute a national reconstruction program and convene a national assembly soon.

He said the Vietminh has received from the Communist countries and signs of Communist political dictation are showing the Viet Nam people the true colors of the opposition.

The large nationalist element in the Vietminh has been reported under increased pressure to accept the Kremlin line or be branded as traitors. Establishment of a workers' party in Vietminh territory identical to Communist parties elsewhere has been cited as proof that the Vietminh movement is now under complete Moscow domination.

The United States has an important stake in the outcome. Already the U. S. has earmarked more than $100,000,000 for military aid to France and the Viet Nam forces. The military equipment is due to arrive this year.

In addition, the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) has a program for spending $20,500,000 in Indochina for the fiscal year ending next month. The ECA has proposed an extension during the next fiscal year, subject to approval by Congress.

Leaves Said An Aid For Mental Strain

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter
CINCINNATI — (AP) — Back-home furloughs from the combat zone after 18 months service have been suggested as a possible means of preventing many mental breakdowns among American fighting men in any war.

Two American doctors who made a study of a group of World War II psychiatric casualties under a National Research Council grant told the American Psychiatric Association:

"The fact that a large number broke down after they had been overseas for some time may indicate that whenever it is feasible, the Army should attempt to return soldiers to the United States after some set period of time, such as eighteen months."

"Knowing that there is to be an escape from the strain of an unusual setting, overseas after a definite period of time may serve as a goal and be a stimulus to enduring hardship."

The doctors who made the report were Herbert S. Ripley of the University of Washington and Stewart G. Wolf of Cornell.

They described an analysis of 100 soldiers suffering from schizophrenia — "split personality" — who were originally studied in the Pacific war zone and later followed-up for periods up to eight years after they were returned to the states.

Some of their findings:

- 1. Many of the men were probably of a schizophrenic type in civilian life, but they probably would have gotten along okay if they hadn't entered the Army.

- 2. Some schizophrenics may even make good soldiers BECAUSE of their mental illness. Under certain conditions, the emotional "blunting" experienced by some such people may make them stand up under a high degree of combat danger.

- 3. Most of the men could have made some helpful contribution to the Army "if their assets and handicaps had been properly evaluated and given consideration in placing them."

- 4. Some understanding of psychiatry by the general physician may be of value in treating and preventing psychiatric casualties.

- 5. Eighty percent of the men are still receiving disability compensation — "when they were discharged from the Army there was greater concentration on white light, such as sunlight."

Recruits Inducted Into Swiss Guard

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — To the roll of drums and squeal of fifes, the Swiss Guard today performed the ancient ceremony inducting 28 recruits into its ranks.

The ceremony is held annually on May 6, anniversary of the stand made in 1527 against the German, in which 147 Swiss guards lost their lives. Their sacrifice gave Pope Clement VII time to escape by an underground passage from the Vatican palace to the fortress of Castle 'Sant' Angelo.

The ceremony was delayed this year by the beatification Sunday of Sister Placida Viel.

One by one, as their names were called, each new guard stepped forward, placed his left hand on the striped Swiss guard flag, raised his right hand and swore to defend the Pope. The recruits brought the guards' total membership to 66.

The famed Indian scout, Kit Carson, chose Taos, New Mexico as his permanent home. His residence there is now a museum.

Reds Stage Blood Bath

HONG KONG — (AP) — The Chinese Reds executed 719 so-called "counter revolutionaries" just prior to the big Communist May Day celebration. And slight opposition to the blood bath had to be put down.

Shanghai newspapers told the story. One said four Communist officials and political workers were wounded when resistance was offered.

Sino-Red news agency reports said these executions took place in Nanking — 376 killed April 29, after a mass trial before 40,000 people.

Shanghai — 293 killed April 30 after a mass trial before selected defendants before 10,000 in a field once used for dog racing and football.

Hangchow — 50 killed April 30 after a mass trial before 110,000 people in the rain-soaked streets of the city.

The executions apparently were designed to discourage any anti-Communist incidents on May Day.

Vega, Berger Top Albuquerque, 5-4

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Rene Vega last night survived a two-run uprising by the Albuquerque Dukes in the eighth inning and went on to record a neat, eighth-inning 5-4 victory for Berger in a West Texas-New Mexico League baseball game. A crowd of 1800 fans watched the opener of a long home stay by the Dukes. Berger iced the game in the top of the sixth inning when two costly errors combined with Newt Secrest's double and Nim Vega's single produced two runs and a 5-2 edge. Vega protected that until the eighth when he retired the Dukes after they had rallied for two runs.

FORT SMITH, Ark. — (AP) — Darkhorse Betty Dodd, who already has ousted the medalist from the Southern Women's Amateur Golf Tournament, tries today to upset defending champion Folly Riley. Miss Dodd wasn't considered a title contender when she came here from Fort Sam Houston, Tex., to compete in the Southern Amateur for the first time. But she quickly gained recognition as a threat by defeating medalist Dot Kirby of Atlanta, 1 up on 19 holes, in yesterday's quarter-finals. Meanwhile, Miss Riley, a two-time champion from Fort Worth, squeezed past Marnie Polk of Chattanooga, 1 up.

Oilers Drop Opener To Lobos, 4-3

Leave 14 Men Stranded; End Series Tonight

The Pampa Oilers got enough runners on the bases last night at Oiler Park but couldn't find the punch to drive them across as the Lamesa Lobos took the first game of a two-game series by a score of 4-3.

Jim Reynolds and Ed Arthur teamed together to strand 14 Oilers on the bases. Fine fielding support by third baseman Jay Haney and shortstop J. W. Wingate backed up the pitching superbly.

Tonight the two clubs will close out their brief series with a single game starting at 8 p.m. Manager Seitz will throw either George Payte or Mack Hyde.

The Oilers had scoring opportunities in every inning except the ninth last night, but were only able to capitalize in the seventh.

The Lobos teed right off on Dial for three in the first frame. Jacinto drew a walk and went to second on a single by Santiago. Stokes lined a single to right to score Jacinto. After Burns had hoisted to leftfield Santiago raced home with run number two. Stokes counted second on Hiker's double that the left fielder misjudged.

The Oilers loaded the bases in both the first and second innings but left the runners stranded as fine fielding support from Haney and Wingate backed Reynolds out.

PIGGY-BACK—Second Baseman Tommy Glaviano of the Cardinals goes for a ride as Earl Torgeson of Boston applies a shoulder blick to break up a double play at Braves Field. The tactic worked, Bob Elliott reaching first on a fielder's choice. (NEA)

U.S. Tariff Concessions May Be Okay

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — (AP) — The defense program and critical shortages of many materials we import appear today to have taken course off the tariff concessions the United States is granting other nations.

At least, the first cries of pain from American industry aren't so loud.

American consumers can hope for lower prices on a large number of foreign items they buy — some foods, wines, Canadian whisky, many metals, chemicals, china, clocks.

American manufacturers of many of the 1,325 import items covered in the Torquay tariff cuts just announced aren't going to be happy about the increased foreign competition in the domestic market.

The United States agreed at the Torquay, England, conference to cut tariffs by varying amounts up to one half, on imports which last year had a total value of $410 million. That is one tenth as much as exports, on which we charged duties. These concessions, foreign traders here say were more than they had expected.

The other nations in the deal will cut their tariffs on some of our goods, but by smaller amounts generally. A total export value of $1 billion is involved in these exports. But foreign traders insist that the actual cuts involve only one twentieth of U. S. exports.

The American importing fraternity thinks their business will be stimulated by the Torquay deal and that they will bring in much more foreign goods. But they have their fingers crossed about two things:

First, the chance that foreign producers will raise their prices and offset any benefits here of lower duties. With materials in short supply this could easily happen.

Second, the chance that U. S. price control policies may operate to keep these goods away from our shores. Importers have complained that with the government setting the price they may charge here, often they cannot afford to pay the price the foreign producer asks and can get in other markets than this one.

Exporters hope for some advance in their sales abroad of American products as a result of the tariff deal. But most are quick to point out that Canada is the only market in the British commonwealth that came into the Torquay deal.

Bell Hop Setting Up $1700 Trust Fund

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — (AP) — A 79-year-old immigrant hotel bell hop has set up a $1700 trust fund to pay $100 a year to the Santa Monica youngster writing the best essay on "My Debt to American Democracy."

The immigrant is Dave Epstein, a native of Lithuania. He said he created the trust to mark the 25th anniversary of his arrival in Santa Monica. He has worked out an agreement with school officials for the annual essay contest.

Allies Turn West Germany Into Industrial Powerhouse

By BRACK SURRY
AP Newsfeatures
FRANKFURT — Disarmed Western Germany is becoming an industrial powerhouse for the western defense program.

Even while the Germans debate direct military participation in the Atlantic Pact, the vast Ruhr is producing a growing torrent of supplies for the Atlantic forces.

This torrent is expected to swell during 1951 as the Allies relax their bans and limits on Western Germany's war potential industries.

American High Commissioner John J. McCloy says that the Ruhr "can provide immense support to the requirements of defense."

Even with direct war industries banned, the Germans can produce more industrial equipment and producers' goods for the common defense than any country in Western Europe except Britain, McCloy says.

In prewar Europe, a third of all industrial production came from Germany. Luckily for the west, the great bulk of prewar Germany's industrial capacity lies in Allied-occupied Western Germany.

German industrial efficiency begins with supplies of coal, steel and chemicals, and progresses through the manufacture of high grade machinery, precision instruments and electrical equipment — all kingpins of a modern defense effort.

West German coal output amounts to about 25 percent of all the coal produced in Western Europe.

Before the war the Germans both produced and used 40 percent of European steel. Even with wartime bombing and post-war dismantling, their great steel works are grinding out 13,000,000 tons of steel a year.

The steel industry is exporting 180,000 tons of rolled products a month — most of it to the west — despite official protests that more steel should be retained for the home market.

Western Germany is the major source in Europe of many chemicals needed by western defense plants.

Allied and German officials are now planning the full mobilization of West German industrial might behind the defense program.

As one step, U. S. economic aid to Western Germany will be pumped into firms that are producing for defense in order to expand output.

And the western allies probably will lift controls on such war potential industries as steel, shipyards, synthetic oil and rubber. Production of munitions still will be outlawed.

Of equal importance with the strategic products which the Germans are turning out is the fact that west Germany is Western Europe's one highly industrialized country whose capacity is incompletely utilized, McCloy points out.

Except for Italy and Belgium, West Germany also is the only West European country with a pool of labor capable of expanding production for defense needs. The Germans have over 1,500,000 registered unemployed — most of them able to take defense jobs.

Thus the outlook is that the Ruhr, which stoked the Kaiser's and Hitler's war machines, will become a strongpoint in Western Europe's defense.

Irish Band Gives Concert

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Ray Showalter's Shamrock High School band gave its annual spring concert at Clark Auditorium here Monday night.

The band, which rated "very good" at the regional contest at Canyon ten days ago, played the "King John Overture" with which they won this rating.

Billy Bob Lasater played a baritone solo, which won Class I honors, while Paul Cooper played a tenor sax solo.

Ted Sonnenburg played his Class I winner, "Concertina," a clarinet solo.

Other musical numbers included "Men of Ohio March," "Salutation March," "Teddy Bear's Picnic," "Under the Double Eagle" and "March of the Steel Men."

Showalter is serving his second year on the Irish faculty, having taken over in January, 1950. He takes his group to Doherty May 25 for competition in the marching contest at the XIII Reunion.

Band members received new uniforms Monday, in time to display them in the spring concert.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular church-goer and a daily Bible reader.

A MAN with an eye-dropper may be respected when he has a small bottle of medicine to be applied in small doses. But it is not proper in the realm of religion. "The mercy of God is an ocean divine, A boundless and fathomless deep," an eye-dropper is a poor conveyer of such richness and abundance. We are heirs of infinite goodness and grace; the everlasting God seeks to pour into our souls His lavish gifts of grace and goodness. How poor and how unfortunate is that life that will take the Father's bounty only by the eye-dropper method!

BUT isn't that the way too many of us accept our religion? The great Book with its eighty volumes (including the Apocrypha in the Pulpit Bible) lies before us for our reading, our enjoyment and profit. How much time do we take out of the twenty-four hours to dedicate to its reading? The great Father God seeks to talk to us through the varied ministries of the world of beauty, through the noble living of saintly souls, through the rich services of the Church. How faithfully and well do we listen for the divine Voice? The best thoughts of earth's truest citizens have been inscribed in great books and placed near us in the libraries of our towns and cities. How much of our thought has been taken from these fountains of inspiration?

ARE you and I only 'eye-droppers' in the field of education and culture and religion? Are we too easily satisfied with good things which God has offered us in such abundance? Let's live greatly and richly. Why not make the whole world our home, attend our church and be citizens of the kingdom of God?

A Noble Prophet And A Wicked King

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The noble prophet was Elijah, and the wicked king was Ahab, of the Northern Kingdom of Israel, aided and abetted by his wife, Jezebel, whose name has become a byword for evil womanhood.

It will help in understanding the history, if one consults the comparative chronological table, which will be found in the "helps" to the Bible, now found with various editions of the Bible.

This simple hand exercise, practiced in leisure moments, adds to flexibility and grace of movement.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

In the Lesson - Sermon titled "Adam and Fallen Man" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, May 13, Christ is represented as the remedy for Adam. As Paul says in Romans 5:19 - "The Golden Text - 'As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous.'"

Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unstained from the world.

Flanagan Sees New Hope For Dance Bands

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The dance band business, which had been hitting some pretty sour financial notes since World War II began, is showing signs of perking up.

But whether it will ever get back to its pre-war glory is doubtful. Ralph Flanagan, who should know about such things, isn't sure.

"Sure, I could be optimistic and say the bands will be as big in a few months as they ever were," says band leader Flanagan. "But I honestly don't know. It's pretty doubtful."

Flanagan is leading the first new band to capture public fancy since the war. Most of the other top bands of today are hold-overs from the early 1940's and before — men like Tommy Dorsey, Sammy Kaye, Guy Lombardo. Flanagan, who has had a little better than a year with his own crew, is the only rookie in the top ranks.

His orchestra has sparked the band revival, pulling it up from the depths it was plunged into by the war. But the 31-year-old former Sammy Kaye arranger and pianist thinks there are terrific obstacles these days, which may hold back the band business.

"Musicians are tough to get today," he says, "at least, it's tough to get 'em to go on the road. It costs them, say, $5 a day in hotels and maybe $8 a day to eat. Over a week, that's $77. If they've got a family to support and a home to maintain, you can see they've got to earn a lot to make it worth their while."

Flanagan points out other reasons, too, why bands may not regain their popularity peak of the pre-war period.

Back in 1940, he says, the big names in popular music were mostly all band-leaders — Glenn Miller, the Dorseys, Harry James, Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw, Sammy Kaye. Today, the

International Dateline Lends Confusion To Korea Hearings

WASHINGTON — (AP) — As if the MacArthur-Marshall hearings weren't confusing enough already, we had to go and get involved with the international dateline.

You know, when it's Wednesday in Tokyo it could be Thursday here.

Wait a minute. When it's Thursday in Tokyo it could be Wednesday here. Now let's see. When it's —

Shall we let the Senate settle this for us?

We will begin with Senator Wiley (R-Wis). During the hearing Wednesday, Wiley had trouble figuring out how a message from Tokyo and an answer from Washington had the same date.

"What date is that you are referring to?" Wiley asked Secretary of Defense Marshall.

"That is his (MacArthur's) statement," Marshall said, "on March 24th, which caused the message of March 24th — that is, in the United States, March 24th — to be sent, which specifically directed him in the future that —"

Here Senator Knowland (R-Calif.), an old international dateline crosser, broke in.

"Mr. chairman, I wonder, for clarification, isn't there one day's difference in there — isn't March 24th here the 23rd in Korea?"

"Or vice versa," said Marshall. "That way," Knowland said, "one day earlier — there would have been one day earlier in Korea, it would have been."

"In other words, the 25th of June, here, was the 25th (sic) of June in Korea, the day that the fighting broke out."

"I think the fact is just what is demonstrated," Wiley said, "but we can demonstrate that by someone who is an expert on it."

Marshall then took a rather whack at the problem. He said: "Here, senator, is an explanation, in the fine type at the top
