

Columnists Confuse Stars

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (P) — How would you like to have Shelly Winters throw her arms around you and say, "Hello, Tom!"? Sounds like fun, huh? Except if your name happens to be Bob, as in my case, Miss Winters' confusion is shared by a number of people in Hollywood. It stems from a similarity they claim exists between myself and Tom Brady, Hollywood correspondent for the New York Times.

The confusion will soon be lessened. For Brady has chucked the works. He has resigned his post to spend a year in France studying French literature. Since he has been one of the most astute observers of Hollywood since 1938 (minus three years in the Navy), I asked him if he had any parting thoughts on the future of the motion picture industry.

"I think the future of the motion picture industry is going to be closely connected with the television industry," he replied. "Right now the movie business is in the position of a man who has found the girl and wants to get married, but can't afford the wedding ring. The producers want to join TV but can't figure out a way to make it pay."

"No sponsor can afford to pay the price for a new feature picture. It is up to both industries to devise a method for the public to foot the bill."

What will happen to all the movie theaters?
 "They will probably go by the board."

VANCE AIR FORCE BASE, Enid, Okla. — "One of the first eight in the Air Force" is the distinction earned by Lt. Paul M. Jenks Jr. of Pampa, now stationed at Vance Air Force Base.

Lt. Jenks, an instructor pilot with the 357th Training Squadron, recently learned that he was one of the first eight men in the entire Air Force to complete the Air Tactical School by extension course. He did it in 14 months, beginning while he was still a civilian in the reserves.

The Air Tactical School course is designed to prepare officers for command of squadrons and staff duties. The course may be completed in approximately three months through regular attendance at the school.

Lt. Jenks was to fly to Gunter Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., Wednesday, where Gen. George C. Kennedy, commanding general of the Air University, will present diplomas to the eight Air Tactical School extension graduates.

The lieutenant is married and has two children. The World War II veteran has taken several courses of them, and is now attending Oklahoma A&M classes at Vance. He hopes to qualify soon for full-time college work under "Operation Bootstrap," which encourages Air Force personnel to continue their education.

Lt. Jenks was called to active duty from the reserves last March. He has accumulated 1950 flying hours, most of which were acquired on Air Training Command navigational training missions in World War II.

Baby Gets Ready To Put Bite On

CARLSBAD, N.M. — (P) — There's a suspicion that Robert Verne Tucker must be planning to put the bite on somebody very early in life.

Young Bobby, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Tucker of Carlsbad, boasted four teeth at the age of four months. Now at six months, he has eight teeth whereas infants twice his age often are just cutting their first tooth.

Business Sets Two Records For Week

By RICHARD FISKE
NEW YORK — (P) — Business end industry set up a couple of new production highs last week. As Middle East oil supplies were cut by developments in Iran, crude oil output in the United States reached a 1951 high of 8,107,950 barrels.

Carloadings hit 828,238, tops for the year to date and an indication that raw materials were moving into the mills and finished goods out of the plants in big time.

The output of other basic industries remained at a high level. Labor troubles were a fly in the ointment, however, in several instances.

East, Gulf and Pacific coast shipping was tied up. United Air Lines pilots walked out and American Airlines pilots threatened to knock off work. Atomic energy workers at Oak Ridge, Tenn., were out for three days.

Defense orders were the stimulus behind the continuing high level of industrial production.

Economic Stabilization Director Eric Johnston said demands of defense production would tear "gaping holes in the supply of civilian goods" in the next few months.

He added that the cost-of-living index is "rising by the month" and every percentage point increase costs the consumers two billion dollars a year.

An congressional attack on controls spread, inflationary thinking started again along Wall Street, the nation's financial center. The possibility was pretty much discredited a month ago.

A softening in civilian items, contrary to the overall picture, showed up in many ways.

Some large clothing manufacturers, said the increase in men's apparel next fall would not be quite as great as they at first announced.

The Commerce Department said the biggest cutbacks in consumer buying were centered on furniture and household equipment.

It wasn't wholly a story of downward prices and poor sales, however.

Many economists saw busy days ahead after a brief lull in some industries. More industries and additional firms were planning large expansion programs.

Bigger tax bites were ahead. The House approved $7,200,000,000 tax increase, the largest in American history. The Senate looks it over next week.

The nation's industries again this week didn't let labor troubles, controls, taxes or other influences distract them from their production job.

Steel output was at 103.2 percent of rated capacity for the third week running. Auto production, electric power output and soft coal production were ahead of the previous week.

On the New York Stock Exchange traders moved cautiously as they considered the long range implications of oil nationalization in Iran and the inflationary possibilities in congressional action on several fronts.

Cugat Ready For The Dogs

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (P) — If the music business ever goes to the dogs, Xavier Cugat is ready to turn the tables by making the bow-wows go into business for him.

The rumba king plans to become a dog farmer when he finally hangs up his fiddle and his bow.

His specialty is the breed he had made into his personal trademark — the tiny Chihuahua. Already he owns by far the largest collection in America.

"I've got 600 on my ranch in California," he said, "and when I get 1,000 I'll really be ready to start operating."

His dogs hardly have to worry yet about supporting Cugat, however. He estimates his band has grossed $15,000,000 in the last 20 years. It is still in the peak bracket, drawing down $6,000 to play at a society wedding or $15,000 for a week at a theater.

Cugat is a jack-of-all-trades who found the best way to hit the jackpot is to specialize. The 51-year-old Spanish-born musician toured with Caruso as a violinist, then worked as a newspaper cartoonist before starting his own band.

"I was just getting fill-in jobs until I noticed that this is a country of specialization," he said. He picked the uncrowded field of Latin-American music. Helping popularize the rumba, the conga and the samba made him rich.

So did his hobbies. Most band leaders have sidelines and spend fortunes on them, such as Guy Lombardo, who can't say "no" to a racing motor boat.

But Cugat figures it is only fair for a man to let any hobby pay its own way. He has a dozen profitable sidelines ranging from hand-painted neckties to Cugat linens, plastic canasta

U.S., Russ Wage War For Minds

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman has created a new psychological strategy board which will boss this country's propaganda and psychological war with Russia.
 In that war this country tries to make people behind the Iron Curtain disbelieve in communism, win them and people everywhere to our side, and put Russia at as much disadvantage psychologically, as possible.
 The Russians, in reverse, are trying to do the same to us. And they have made big strides, by force and propaganda, for where they can't use force they have to depend on propaganda.
 At the end of World War II about the only human beings living under communism were the 200,000,000 living in Russia. Now there are 800,000,000 under, counting China and the satellite countries.
 The effect of Russia's psychological war could be seen in recent weeks in Europe where, in the French elections, the Communists won 3,000,000 votes, and in the Italian elections, 6,000,000 votes, in spite of our propaganda and the help we've given both countries through the Marshall Plan.
 For years this country has been waging this psychological campaign for the minds of men, boosting this country's stock or trying to undermine the Russians. Various agencies have had a hand in it.
 In Japan, for instance, the Army has the job of spreading American propaganda. The State Department and the Army team up on the job in Korea. The State Department does it in Germany and all over the world. The CIA — Central Intelligence Agency — takes part in it, since its job is getting information from behind the Iron Curtain. So does ECA, the Economic Cooperation Administration which runs the Marshall plan.

 The job is done in various ways: by radio broadcasts day and night in 45 languages, by news bulletins distributed around the world, leaflets and pamphlets, and so on.
 After the Korean war started these agencies decided to set up a committee, made up of representatives from each of them, to coordinate their efforts in this psychological-propaganda field and try to make them tie in together.
 This committee has had various names: the interdepartmental committee or the national psychological strategy board. And until now it ran the show.
 But the agencies' representatives on this committee were not top men from the agencies. They were important but several rungs removed from the top.
 The new board established by Mr. Truman last week — the psychological strategy board — will be smaller than the committee's board and its members will be at the very top of their agencies or next to it.
 So while the old committee board continues at its work, it will actually be under this new board which will be made up of these three men:
 Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, head of CIA; Robert A. Lovett, under-secretary of defense.

London Mailmen Quit Long Hours

LONDON — (AP) — It's the male in them that's getting London's mailmen down.
 Mail sorter W. S. Pettitt told a gathering of Union of Post Office Workers that 144 postmen left one big London mail sorting office in the past year because of the night work there.
 "How can a young postman on a permanent two to ten p.m. duty do his courting?" he asked.

 (And as director for the new board J. P. Truman has appointed Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina, who, apparently, will give only some of his time to the board's work.)
 Since these three members of the new board are, or practically are, at the heads of their agencies they can make decisions of major importance faster than their subordinates on the committee board.
 Still, on any great decisions in the psychological war even this new board apparently will not have final say for Mr. Truman said it must report to the National Security Council which is the top group in this country.
 (The council is made up of the President, Vice President Barkley, Secretary of Defense Marshall, Secretary of State Acheson, and the chairman of the National Security Resources

THE OUTPOST

History is an amazing thing. School kids don't like it, historians think that there is nothing else, college graduates forget it and you and I don't think much about it until it means something to us personally.

What all this is leading up to, is the fact that the 474th Field Artillery Observation Battalion has quite a history of its own. In the first place, at one time it was not even called the 474th Field Artillery Observation Battalion. It was first known as the 289th Field Artillery Observation Battalion, constituted in the Army of the United States Feb. 22, 1943. The unit was activated at Fort Bragg, N.C., April 1943. During the time the unit served as the 289th Field Artillery Observation Battalion, it saw duty at Ardennes-Alsace, Rhineland and in Central Europe. The unit was inactivated Oct. 30, 1945, at Camp Miles

Standish, Mass., and was inactive from Oct. 30, 1945, to Oct. 1, 1946. On that date, the unit was reactivated and redesignated the 474th Field Artillery Observation Battalion and allotted to the Texas National Guard. The senior unit of the battalion, was organized here in Pampa, Dec. 15, 1948. Up to May 1, of this year, when our unit here in Pampa was redesignated Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, this was done because of the better potentiality of this community to support a headquarters, which is the key unit of the battalion. By the way, here is an interesting note about the White Deer disaster, that has just been received by the battery commander, 1st Lt. Charles L. Robison. This is a letter from the chairman of the Carson County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The letter says: "Dear Sir: On behalf of the Carson County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and the disaster sufferers of White Deer, accept my thanks for the services rendered Wednesday June 6, Thursday June 7, by the members of your unit. Your efficiency, your prompt and courteous dispatch of duty will be long remembered by those affected by the storm and by those privileged to work with you.

Sincerely Yours, Mrs. Ralph E. Randol, Chairman, Carson County Chapter American Red Cross. This letter was received last Thursday by Lt. Robison. Believe me, the unit is mighty proud of it. It won't be long now until there's been a lot of the men of the unit getting married lately. I may not include all of the men but two that I do know are Pvt. Bobby J. Phillips and Pvt. Wilbert R. Babb. Both of going to camp this year, and are anxious to learn more about their jobs. Quite a bit of work has been done in preparation for the camp period this year, and one of the big jobs that has already been accomplished is the requisitioning of supplies for the camp period. Two of the fellows who should get some credit for accomplishing this, are Warrant Officer William Leonard and Sergeant George K. Plumley.

The unit gained another good man the other day, when Sgt. 1st Class Robert E. Wilson of Pampa, enlisted the 11th of June. Sgt. Wilson will have the job of chief radar mechanic. Capt. William Ragsdale has returned from a vacation in South Dakota. Capt. Ragsdale will take charge of the battalion which the battalion commander, Lt. Col. James T. Clarke, takes his vacations that other men in the unit are planning on taking on a spouse in the near future. I think that this just about covers the news for this week, so I'll say that you should watch this same space next Sunday for more news from the Outpost.

Australian Tribes Liked Old Country

DARWIN — Australian aborigines declare emphatically they don't want the country back in its present state. They were commenting on a statement by Melbourne's Lord Mayor, Sir James Disney, that Australia be given back to the aborigines if the city were not selected as a site for the 1956 Olympic Games. Tribesmen of the Northern Territory said "No good! Might be if that boss make Australia like she was first time before, might be then we take him back."

These men were married in about the last week or so. I've heard rumors that other men in the unit are planning on taking on a spouse in the near future. I think that this just about covers the news for this week, so I'll say that you should watch this same space next Sunday for more news from the Outpost.

Goodrich Approves Injury Settlement

Agreed judgements in two personal injury suits were approved by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich Friday in 31st Court. The court awarded $475 damages to Don Davis and $117 to Charles Raymond Redus, from Meade's Baking Co. as the result of a collision on April 14 in Letors.

The truck was driven by R. E. Willingham, driver for the bathing company. The suit was brought by the fathers of the two boys. The Davis boy suffered a fractured skull and lacerations while the Redus boy suffered a severe knee injury. The polar and grizzly are the largest members of the bear family.

Today the city golf tournament under way and by nightfall we will have a good idea of who is going to be watching as likely candidate for the honor. Of course, much of the lime light is going to be centered around Groves Austin, Jr., defending champion, on Clare Freeman, ex-Greenbelt golf champion, on C. F. McGinnis, a former city champion and many - time runner-up, and young Malcolm Douglas, who is shooting hotter each round.

The course is in excellent condition and the roughs are rough, believe me. I spent enough time in them the other day to know, went out to qualify, fought my way through gulley, lake, sand and weeds and wound up with a fat but honest 92. Walked into the clubhouse to post my qualifying score and an right into Johnny Austin, club pro. "What'dja shoot?" he inquired. We told him the naked truth.

He walked over to the board where the qualifying scores are posted and wrote down a 49-42-84. Anyway, I got the exercise out of the round, plus finding a brand new pinnacle golf ball one of my escapades out in the bushes. The owner may have been telling me how many his are on the market. But seriously, it looks like a top tournament with some really tight competition that should be interesting for all of the old fans of Pampa, young and old. If you haven't taken the time to play golf, take the time to go to the country club and watch these fellows play. It may be easy to you, but believe me, that's a hard 92.

Maybe, if you don't like the regulation game of golf, you are a participant in the barnyard variety. We mean horseshoe pitching. If you are, here's just the sal for you. The state championship horseshoe tournament is being held in the city park at Bismark over the Labor weekend. A large jackpot has been set up for the champion of this tourney, the best of its kind in the area. The field will be narrowed to a top 20 players, who will be further classified in "A" and "B" classes. The tourney will be off in round robin style. Anyone who desires may qualify on the Saturday afternoon of Labor Day weekend by mere pitching 100 shoes. There's something for the Bayrads of the area (attention Ralph McKinney). The Pampa Baylor Club will hold a regatta next Saturday night at 8 p.m. at Dowell's No. 2 in

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLESTON, JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Dressen is talking about giving Duke Snider a rest if Andy Patko's charity horses will let him play center field for the Dodgers. The Giants' Leo Durocher is planning to give Eddie Stanky a breather, and the Pirates have given up on Branch Rike's experiment of making Ralph Kiner into a first baseman and are making extensive outfield changes. So here it is almost mid-season and if you look at the National League lineups, the Phillies are about the only team you'd recognize as the one that started last spring.

All the Phils have done is bench Mike Colletti, who didn't hit as well after April as he did in March, and try about three other guys at second base. And they're having trouble staying in the first division, too.

JUST LOOK AT THIS Giving the lineups a quick rundown and overlooking the pitchers, who would drive you completely nuts: — Dodgers (league leaders) — Cal Abrams and Dick Williams getting the lefty-righty treatment in left field, where Don Thompson started. — Giants (second) — Willie Mays after a bad start, made himself solid in center, replacing in-and-out Bobby Thompson; Monte Irvin returned to outfield and Whitey Lockman stationed at first. — Braves — new manager Tommy Holmes — just replaced Billy Southworth; short stop-second base combination still unsettled. — Reds — Lloyd Merriam replaced Joe Adcock in left field; several switches in the infield, using the same men. — Cards solid men are Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst and Enos Slaughter (also due for a rest). — Solly Hemus is back at short after giving way to Stan Rojek. — Yankees — Billy Johnson, ex-Pi-rates Wally Westlake and Nippy Jones, back from the minors, complete an improved lineup. — Pirates — Kiner returning to the outfield and Bill Howerton replacing George Metkovich (another tired player) leaves only Gus Bell and George Strickland playing where they started. — Cubs — Frank Baumholtz and Hal Jeffcoat still are in the outfield, although they've shifted around there. — Otherwise the only guy you'd recognize when Chicago comes to town is Manager Frank Frisch — and what with trades and benchings, we wouldn't give much for his chances.

Chisox Lead Trimmed By Boston, 8-7

Stephens Blasts 11th Inning Double

BOSTON (AP) — Sluggish Vern Stephens continued his personal war against the Chicago White Sox' pennant hopes Saturday by pulling out an 11th inning two bagger that pulled out an 8-7 victory for the Boston Red Sox.

The setback cut the Chisox first place lead to a game and a half over the New York Yankees. Friday night, Stephens' three run homer shaved another game off the Chisox lead. It was the deciding blow as the Red Sox topped the White Sox, 6-5, in the opener of a four game series.

Stephens' latest game winning smash, which scored Ted Williams, was against Billy Pierce, the little southpaw, who replaced starter Howie Judson in the seventh inning.

The Red Sox, who used five pitchers, started off with Ray Scarborough and wound up with Willard Nixon, who, after working three innings, wound up with his fourth victory against one defeat.

The Red Sox gave Scarborough a four run lead but the White Sox rallied for three runs in the third and four in the seventh to gain what appeared to be a decisive 7-5 edge.

But Pierce surrendered that advantage by walking both Don DiMaggio and Johnny Pesky before Billy Goodman came through with a two bagger that tied matters at 7-all in the decisive 7-5 edge.

Senators Trip Detroit, 6-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington defeated Detroit 6-3 Saturday in heat so intense it forced the retirement of the Senator's new pitcher, Bob Porterfield after five innings.

Ted Wyberanec Player Of Week

A pitcher has done it again; has "influenced" enough support to be nominated the star of the week in the voting through the games of Sunday, June 17. And the man of the week wears the liveliest of the Lamesa Lobos and answers to the name of Ted Wyberanec. Ted hails from Jamestown, N. Y., and has been on the roster of the Lamesans since May 10. Wyberanec chalked up two victories on his score sheet during the week, taking pitches on the Pioneer's of Clovis on June 12 enroute to Albuquerque. Casing the Dukes a couple of days later he returned to Lamesa to choose them on their return engagement and subdued them on June 15 in convincing fashion.

Wyberanec limited the Pioneer's to six hits and one earned run and whiffed five to get his first decision of the week June 12. And a couple of those mistakes were of the scratch variety.

Bouncing back June 18 T & allowed the Dukes only 2 runs while registering his second victory of the week. He allowed 8 hits but fanned 6. To help his cause along Ted gathered three hits himself, produced 2 runs.

Rahmes Retains Batting Leadership In WT-NM; Priest (12-0) Still Top Pitcher

Ralph Rahmes, the converted bilene Blue Sox outfielder, continues to be the top leader of the West Texas-New Mexico League. He has held the lead all the way so far this season, but right now he is fighting off a challenge of Al Kubski, Lubbock third baseman.

Rahmes' average dropped one point the past week to .315, while Kubski just patently waited at the same mark he held last week, .464.

The only other .400-plus hitter in the league is Jimmie Dean, Amarillo shortstop, who has been less than half the number of games Rahmes has appeared in.

In the other departments the leaders are as follows:

BATTING — Percentage, Rahmes, .464; Kubski, .415; Dean, .400; Howard, .340; Douglas, .335; Hochstatter, .324; Triples, Cutili, 7; home runs, Howard, 15; sacrifices, Card, 11; bases on balls, Martin and Wilcox, 52 each; runs batted in, Stokes, 63; strike-outs, Dobkowski, 46.

PITCHING — Percentage, Priest, 1.000; most wins, Priest, 12-0; most losses, Cain, 10; most games, Myers and Arthur, 20 each; most complete games, Dial and Faust, 11 each; most innings pitched, Melton, 118; most bases on balls, Payte, 83; most strike-outs, Dial, 82.

These figures are for all games through last Monday, June 24, and are the official league averages.

Prairie Dogs Causing Much Trouble In Area These Days

OPS Officials Interpret Regulation

Official interpretations of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 came Saturday from Robert H. Proctor, district counsel and C. J. Taylor, district price executive.

They said a construction contractor reporting under CPR 34 should be regarded as complying with the filing section if he supplies the following information:

1. Types of work for which he charged hourly or other unit rates he must state the highest rate he had in effect during the base period for each type of job, subject to class of purchaser differentials if applicable. On "time and materials" jobs, he states his base period markups, over such costs.
2. Materials — these may vary with categories, in which case the categories of materials and applicable markups should be stated. He need not state materials costs in effect during the base period, but he should state the various classifications of labor he used.
3. Lump sum contracts — he states his base period pricing method by showing the markup or markups he applied, in estimating on a job, that is, his standard estimating procedures. He shows such variations in markup as he may have had in effect by reason of variations in the nature and extent of the job to be performed. A cost plus fixed fee contract similarly states the method by which he would compute his fee in the base period.
4. As to percentage fee, he states variations, if any, related to nature and extent of the job. Contractor may refer to union scales prevailing in his area during the base period, instead of detailing, where he paid according to such scale or schedule rates.

Construction contractors for the purposes of this regulation include master plumbers, electrical contractors, sheet metal contractors as well as general or prime, and subcontractors. They may supply construction services only, or also the materials and equipment installed in connection with new construction or with the construction of the repair, alteration and remodeling of existing structures, and with road construction.

By WANDA CAMPBELL

There's a rodent "of the genus Cynomys, allied to the spermophiles and marmots," that's causing a lot of trouble in Gray County these days.

On the Plains, these burrowing rodents are known as prairie dogs, and are also known as the menace of the grasslands. They overgraze grassland and keep all vegetation low enough that they can peer out of their homes in the earth periscope-fashion, to see what's going on.

They have had farmers and ranchers in this county working for the last few weeks to rid the area of prairie dog "towns." For the dogs are real city-lovers, keeping together and forming villages rather than living alone. So it's not unusual for technicians to attempt to kill as many as 50 prairie dogs in one town.

Foster Whaley, Gray County agent, and Jim Mahan, assistant, have been working closely with Gene Cornelius, a rodent control technician, in ridding the area of prairie dogs. Last fall, 1080 Oats, a potent poison with no known antidote, was used to kill the dogs, when all other green vegetation was gone. The 1080 Oats can be handled by trained technicians only.

In the last few weeks, Cyanide flakes have been applied. The poison is applied with a long-handled spoon that goes far down into the dog's den. The hole is then covered with moist soil; cyanide must be moisture to form gas.

Killing prairie dogs has been a major problem in this vicinity. Some of the ranchers who have had townships of dogs include J. S. Marco, Roger McConnell, Weimer Tolbert, Floyd McLaughlin and Wade Thomason. The situation is considerably improved, according to Whaley, who says some of the most effective means of destroying dogs have been used.

Sometimes strychnine grain can result in a good kill, but it's too bitter to always be successful. In this method, the dogs are fed ordinary maize two weeks, left without any food for about four days, then the strychnine grain is put out.

Prairie dogs, though a menace, are interesting little fellows. They are wild, but if not molested they can be observed at close range. Bother them, and they'll bark and even after they've gone far down in their homes in the ground they'll give out with angry barks.

Some ranchers who are working to rid Gray County of the dogs, say that many of the little squirrel-like rodents are impossible to shoot. The dogs that have not been molested will let a hunter get at close range, but often can scamper to their holes faster than the hunter can shoot. There's a story that the prairie dog, though wounded, will somehow make it to his den.

Some claim that even after they're dead they'll roll over in their hole.

Rattlesnakes have learned to keep away from the "dog-towns." But if, by chance, they amble into a prairie dog hole, the dogs quickly kick dirt in the hole and pack it so that the snake never gets out.

Drowning out prairie dogs is difficult, too. The holes are quite deep and it takes "a lot of water" to fill the holes, one man said.

Young people of the area join in the sport of killing the dogs by going "prairie dog hunting." The sport will be dying out soon in Gray County because complete towns have been whole, or partially destroyed by ranchers, the rodent technician, Cornelius, Whaley and Mahan. But in Carson County several large dog towns have been reported.

Cornelius has 80 counties under his guidance. He is working elsewhere in this area, a favorite habitat of the prairie dog, to destroy the menace. The prairie dog is a general threat in a section west of Wichita Falls, authorities say.

But there's one drawback. Even when whole towns are destroyed and only a few prairie dogs are left, in scattered spots, they'll move together and start another town.

Like we say, they don't like the country — they're just "city slickers" at heart and like to live in towns.

Communists Issue Manifesto Plan

RANGOON — (AP) — Foreign properties would be nationalized under a Communist-planned Burma of the People's Democratic Front, according to a party manifesto issued here.

The People's Democratic Front is composed of the Communist-minded Burma Workers and Peasants' Party and the Burma Trades Union Congress. It is led by the former Labor Minister Thakin Lwin.

The manifesto says further that people's councils will rule the army, the police and of course the people. Since the present government suspended its own nationalization program for want of capital, the Front presumably would appropriate without compensation.

Birth Rate Is Said Fact To Consider In Planning To Tea

If you're planning to be a teacher, it's a good idea to keep close tab on the birth rate, then "go along with the crowd."

Placement officials at the University of Texas are having difficulty finding enough teachers for elementary schools. That's because of the high wartime birth rate.

But there are more teachers than jobs in high schools because of the low birth rate during the depression years.

About 80,000 new elementary teachers will be needed next fall, but only 32,000 are being graduated in 1951 to fill those positions.

Prospective high school teachers are advised by teacher placement directors to take a double major or a strong minor so they can teach more than one subject. For example, some schools haven't enough Spanish classes for a full-time teacher, but they may have jobs for one who can teach English as well as Spanish.

English teachers can almost write their own tickets in high schools. Many superintendents are bidding for them. Physical and health education teachers are also needed.

Placement officials urge anyone who is in a flooded field, to take some additional elementary education courses. They could get mighty hungry waiting for the elementary enrollment to "grow up" to high school age.

Area Papers Regulation Win Awards

Area weekly newspapers have recently been awarded honors by the Texas Press Assn.

The Canadian Record was awarded the Dallas trophy as the best all-around weekly newspaper in Texas in towns in the population bracket of 3500 or under. Besides the general excellence division trophy, the Record was awarded bronze plaques for news pictures and presswork, make-up and typography. Ben Ezell is publisher.

Wellington's Leader won first place in column writing and the 72nd annual convention held in Dallas.

Approximately 200 Texas newspaper men and women attended fourth in general excellence for excellence.

The Ochiltree County Herald won an award for advertising weeklies or semi-weeklies published in towns of 3500 or over. The award was for "Deck's Didactics," weekly column of Deskings Wells, owner, editor and publisher of the paper.

Consider If Teaching Planned With Loose Panhandle Soil

Tying down the loose sandy soil in the Panhandle, South Plains and Cross Timbers areas of West Texas is one of the greatest tasks confronting soil conservationists, according to Louis P. Merrill, regional director of the Soil Conservation Service.

This job has been speeded up because of the recent consolidation of the soil conservation functions of the Department of Agriculture.

West Texas land without enough plant or residue cover to prevent wind erosion totaled 3,387,000 acres on May 1. Merrill said. Much of this exposure has been caused by the wheat crop failure.

Irrigation is a conservation practice that is being carried out on a widening scale in West Texas. Other mechanical measures such as contour furrows, terraces, diversions and water spreaders, are helping to control erosion, conserve moisture and make the land more productive.

Much is being done to improve range conditions. Proper stocking rates, deferred grazing, clearing of invading brush and trees and range and pasture reseeding are some of the efforts that are proving of great value to the stockmen of this area.

Hospital Installs Flying Service

VANCOUVER — (AP) — Seventeen months ago, St. Paul's hospital here instituted a "flying incubator" service to carry on for sickles with a faulty time sense. Until that time, babies born prematurely in remote regions of the province had little chance of survival. Incubators, oxygen supplies, skilled hospital personnel were all at least 24 hours away.

Since then, a total of 40 babies have been rushed in the incubator by ambulance or airplane from points in the Interior to the ultra-modern clinic at St. Paul's. Teams of special nurses are available day and night to go to the aid of the babies and bring them back to the clinic.

The load-line of a ship is generally known as Plimsoll's Mark, named after Samuel Plimsoll, 19th century British social reformer whose efforts were directed against overloaded, unsafe "cottonships."

Mr. and Mrs. Chan Helton Of Wheeler Celebrate 55th Wedding Anniversary

WHEELER — (Special) — Mr. Helton and family of Briscoe, and Mrs. Chan Helton, residents of Wheeler County for 29 years, entertained Mrs. Helton's brother, his wife and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Riddle and Earl, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. This was the Riddle's first visit to Texas and their first vacation other than occasional weekends in Missouri, near home. Home is Dixon, Mo., where Mr. and Mrs. Helton were married 55 years ago last Nov. 24. Mr. and Mrs. Riddle have been married 54 years.

The Heltons had a family reunion to introduce the Missourians to the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, many of whom they had never seen. Mrs. Helton and part of the family have made visits to Dixon through the years. Attending the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. J. O. See.

The Association of Women in Radio and Television has been having a conference in New York and, of course, there were many interesting women present. And I was delighted to note how many of them were in the After Forty group!

At the fashion show luncheon I met Marjorie Dunton, here from Paris; a smart, interesting woman who conducts the program called Paris. It is recorded there in English and flown to the U.S.A. overnight, then reproduced in New York by the French Government. It is then sent to broadcasting stations throughout the country for daytime programs directed to women.

"Bon Jour Mesdames" is done in an interview format and is in the nature of a visit between the homemakers of America. Marjorie Dunton chats with French chefs who give tips on how to concoct wondrous sauces and special dishes. She brings to her microphone young American students who are studying art and music on the continent and the typical Frenchwoman who makes her children's clothes and does knitting and crocheting while the famous French stews bubble on the stove.

I asked Marjorie about her life before radio. She is a Canadian but has lived in France for 25 years. She established a successful business there, designing sportswear and accessories for the Paris market. A touch of rough, a film of powder, and lipstick. That's all she does—a simple beauty program! She looks wonderful! Why not try her method?

She is a handsome After-Forty and says that she colors her hair because her husband insists upon it! That's the European idea. Men find mature women especially interesting but they don't want them to have white hair, they want it dyed!

Marjorie has a beautiful skin and says that she washes it in fresh grapefruit juice and massages her face, neck and hands with the rind of the grapefruit. To keep that sparkle in her eyes she uses compresses dipped in cold tea. Her powder base is almond oil. A touch of rough, a film of powder, and lipstick. That's all she does—a simple beauty program! She looks wonderful! Why not try her method?

India Contracts To Import Food

NEW DELHI — (AP) — India has contracted to import a little over 4,000,000 tons of foodgrains this year. This does not include the proposed loan for 2,000,000 tons of wheat from the United States, the Russian 400,000 tons and the Chinese grain deals yet to be negotiated.

Of the quantity contracted, the United States tops the list of wheat and mill suppliers, and Burma and Thailand of rice. From the total 2,300,000 tons of wheat, the U.S. alone will send 1,141,500 tons. From a total 1,000,000 tons of mlo, shipments from America will total 635,300 tons. Of the 1,000,000 tons of rice to be imported, Thailand and Burma send nearly 344,000 tons each, with Pakistan (218,000 tons), China (80,000 tons) and Egypt (3,500 tons) ranking next. India annually produces nearly 40,000,000 tons of foodgrains and her normal deficit is one-tenth of her production.

The Ethiopian Emperor gave the assurance to the President of the Eritrean Chamber of Commerce, Vittorio Percellino, in a recent Addis Ababa interview.

Percellino, after his return to Asmara, said the Emperor also indicated the possibility that Ethiopia and Italy may soon resume diplomatic relations. These have been severed since 1935 when Mussolini's legions invaded Ethiopia.

Harley Bulls Gives Book Review For Kiwanis Club Meet

Harley Bulls presented a book review at Kiwanis Club meeting Friday on "Man Does Not Stand Alone," by A. C. Morrison.

The book review followed several selections by the Melody Menders Quartet which includes James Evans, Hansford Ousley, Bill Haley and Dr. W. Calvin Jones.

Bulls said that the words, Phenomena in Nature, described the book better even than the title because it explains the greatness of man through animal instinct and the process of natural evolution. A main theme of the book was that nature's phenomena is not coincidental, but is in order with a purpose in mind.

The music committee was in charge of the program. A C. Troop presided in the absence of the president, Les Hart, who is attending the Kiwanis International convention in St. Louis.

Molly Nelson Delegate To Girl's State

Molly Nelson, Pampa High School senior, will represent Pampa at Girl's State to be held in Austin this week.

Each year the American Legion auxiliaries of the state select candidates from the high school junior classes. The state event is designed to educate young women in the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Miss Nelson was selected by the high school faculty and the auxiliary and will be among 275 girls in Austin. Candidates are selected for their capability and responsibility as promising citizens of the future. She has been active in Tri-Hi-Y work at the local high school, and held offices in the Spanish and Latin Clubs. She served on the student council two years.

Miss Nelson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Nelson 1101 E. Francis.

Canadian Firemen Place Second In Pumper Races

CANADIAN (Special)—Canadian firemen placed fifth in the pumper races at the state convention of the Texas Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Assn. in Dallas Wednesday.

There were 16 teams entered in the contest, which is a big feature of the annual three-day meet of the state's fire fighters. In this contest the six-man teams race against time. It starts with a pumper truck spotted at the fire hydrant; two men seated in the truck seat, two standing on the tall board, and one standing on the running board on each side of the truck. At the starter's shot the men go into action; two take down the big 4-inch intake hose, connect it to the hydrant and intake side of the pumper and turn on the hydrant, two men drag off 100 feet of the 2 1/2-inch hose from the hose load and connect nozzle to outer end, while the last two men disconnect the 2 1/2-inch hose from that remaining on the truck, take it around to the discharge side of the pumper where they connect it and open the discharge valve. Their "time" runs from the starting shot until water from the nozzle crosses the line 100 feet back of the truck. The Canadian team made it in 18 seconds flat, but were knocked out of the money by the Richmond team who won first place by breaking the all-time record with their 18.3 seconds. Erownwood came in second with 17 seconds flat, tying what had

Paper Criticizes Quality, Names

BUDAPEST (AP)—Tennis rackets manufactured in Hungary will not bear "cosmopolitan" names in the future, the paper, "Nepsport" reported with satisfaction.

It criticized the quality of rackets on the one hand, and "aristocratic" names like "Lady," "Lord," "Admiral," "Oxford," on the other which mean a certain "cosmopolitan tendency in tennis," the paper declared. The state-owned factories manufacturing sporting equipment promised to use more up-to-date names in the future, it added.

Mice Have Paradise In East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany is a trap-less paradise for mice.

Communist state planners forgot to include mouse traps in their economic plan, so none are being made. There are not enough old ones left to combat the rodents effectively. Millions of mice are busily gnawing. So what can be done?

"Keep cats," is the best advice the communist farmers' association can give at the moment.

Mayor Resorts To Black Market

TEL AVIV (AP)—Can buying on the black market be justified?

This crucial question is frequently discussed in Israel since Mayor I. Rokach of Tel Aviv openly admitted he had authorized black market purchases of building material for a hospital after exhausting all other possibilities.

Some disapproved by Mayor Rokach's action because, they said, government laws must be followed at any cost. One opponent went so far as to declare in a newspaper letter that, in order to express his indignation he was leaving the political party to which Mr. Rokach belongs. Others heartily approved the action.

One Year Has Elapsed Since KoReds Began March South

OUT AND INTO SEOUL: Slogged close combat these U. S. Marines are experiencing has been typical of the four times the South Korean capital has changed hands, reducing the city to rubble.

SUPPORT FROM THE AIR: Advancing Marines wait to move up while a Corsair (in smoke cloud) drops a napalm bomb in a close support maneuver that has reached a new perfection in Korea.

SUPPORT FROM THE SEA: Navy landing ships moved into the shores of Inchon harbor to unload supplies after assault forces secured the beachhead in first big UN offensive.

BRAVE MEN CAN WEEP: While a medical corpsman (background) stolidly fills out report forms, a grief-stricken infantryman sobs in the arms of a fellow soldier after his buddy died.

RETALIATION IS SWIFT: Artillery and bombs took a terrible toll of the Communist enemy in Korea. This is napalm — jellied gasoline — exploding on Red barracks in an air attack.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The earth has circled the sun since that fateful day when the North Korean Reds sent their tanks plunging south, bent on conquest.

One year ago Monday, the rolling North Korean tanks were like a pebble bounding down a mountainside. They started a roaring avalanche.

But it has changed with violence the lives of the five-star general and the dog-face private. It has brought profound changes to this nation and to the United Nations.

One year ago General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was more powerful than the emperor of Japan. He was supreme commander of the allied powers which control Japan's economic and political life.

Today he is stripped of his commands but vaging the greatest fight of his career — for his idea of the best way to peace in Korea — a fight that has broadened into what is perhaps America's greatest foreign policy battle of the Twentieth Century.

Even before the Korean war began it was commonly acknowledged in Washington and Tokyo that MacArthur was more or less a power unto himself. He was a controversial figure whose name could start an argument in any circle.

MacArthur's admirers looked upon him as the greatest living expert on Far East affairs and as one of history's greatest generals.

His critics believed him to be a supreme egotist and were likely to question his generalship in World War II.

But then MacArthur was chosen to head the first UN army in its fight to halt the North Korean aggression. The 70-year-old general plunged into his new job with his old-time vigor.

His little army checked the North Korean drive. MacArthur conceived the brilliant Inchon landing, which broke the back of the North Korean Red army.

Up to this time there was little friction between MacArthur and the President or the joint chiefs of staff.

In October, MacArthur met President Truman on Wake Island. It seemed then that any differences there were had been resolved. At Wake, according to a transcript of the meeting, MacArthur told Truman he didn't think the Chinese would intervene. This record shows he also told the President the Chinese in any event wouldn't be able to bring more than 50,000 or 60,000 troops south of the Yalu River.

Pentagon chiefs and the State Department too had discounted the possibility of Chinese intervention.

But then the Chinese did enter the war — and the friction between Tokyo and Washington began to mount.

MacArthur spoke out in favor of bombing Manchuria, blockading the Red-held coast and using Chinese Nationalist troops in Korea.

He continued to advocate this program while the President and the joint chiefs in Washington got hotter under the collar. They said MacArthur was in open defiance of administration policy to limit the war to Korea.

And so MacArthur was fired. Historians will be digging into this dispute for many years to come to piece all its parts together, but in this past year the stage has been set for MacArthur to carry to the American people a program directly opposed to the Truman program. And perhaps the question will be involved in the decisions to be made by the people in the next national election.

The general has said he does not intend to enter politics or to seek political office — he told a cheering throng in San Francisco that his only politics is "God Bless America" — but no one knows what may come from this conflict.

One year ago Congress was talking about ways to cut the President's budget. Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson (since fired) was cutting down on military spending.

Johnson testified last week before senators investigating MacArthur's firing that President Truman ordered Defense Department outlay cut and that he himself was highly disturbed about it.

The Cold War continued, but no one in authority thought it would break out into a shooting war.

Then the United States found itself in an undeclared war, with U. S. troops fighting on Korean soil as part of a United Nations army.

With war came a step-up in mobilization. Congress to a $4 billion economy overboard to okay new billions of expenditures for arms.

The Army, Navy and Air Force are expanding. Taxes are going up. Food costs more. Price controls have been applied in the fight against inflation.

Men examine their hopes of peace with a fearful heart, but it appears the Communist aggression in Korea did bring a new strength to the United Nations. The decision to fight aggression in Korea welded the allies closer together. It achieved the beginning of a UN police force to

Search Pressed For Brimstone Sulphur

By RODERICK K. SPARROW
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A determined hunt is underway along the colorful Louisiana Bayou marshland for brimstone sulphur.

The pale yellow element found principally in salt domes beneath the waters of the marshlands, is in short world supply.

Demand has grown tremendously, for sulphur enters one way or another into a host of industrial products. It's used to process foods, refine petroleum and metals, help make paper, rubber, fertilizers, rayon and steel, explosives, many chemical products.

The U. S. alone produced more than half the world's supply of sulphur last year, and 90 percent of that output came from American brimstone.

Explorations have been found only along the Gulf Coast of Louisiana and Texas. Amphibious drilling rigs bore 500 to 3,500 feet deep into the earth in the search, bringing up rock cores for study.

It sulphur is found in commercial quantities, the drillers count themselves lucky, for of 200 tests made since 1903, only a dozen have shown enough brimstone to warrant mining.

Edmund D. Wingfield, vice president of Freeport Sulphur Co., one of the nation's largest producers, said:

"We're in the same situation as a man who has lost track of his bank balance. He doesn't know how much money he has in the bank but when he sees his withdrawals are larger than his deposit slips, he knows that sooner or later one of his checks is going to bounce."

Depletion of brimstone sources doesn't mean there is any danger of the world running out of sulphur, Wingfield pointed out.

Actually sulphur is one of the most common elements on earth. Brimstone is the most important only because it is the cheapest and purest.

There are vast quantities of sulphur available in pyrites—the name applied to metallic sulphides found throughout the world. But it costs so much more to extract sulphur from this source than there is little incentive to increase production through working pyrites deposits, Wingfield said. The element also is being recovered on a relatively small scale from industrial waste gases.

If and when the day comes that the brimstone supplies are gone, sulphur can still be had in ample quantities from these and other higher-cost sources.

"Actually, the cost of sulphur is only an infinitesimal part of the cost of any product into which it goes," Wingfield said.

keep the peace.

With all the heartbreak and conflict, out of the Korean struggle has come this hope that free people can band together to punish the aggressor.

It's only an infant hope, but who knows? It may survive.

Place Name Strikes GI Tongue Dumb

SYDNEY — (AP) — The University of Queensland has formed a place names committee, with the object of finding out the meaning and correct pronunciation of thousands of place names in that state. Plaques will be erected in all important Queensland towns, giving details of the origin of their names.

American soldiers during World War II found many Australian place names unpronounceable, especially those with aboriginal origins. Such towns as Coonabarabran, Mundabullangana and BunGeevorag were liable to be the GIs' tongues in knots.

The word above which produced only stunned silence among GIs, of viscose rayon and 37 1-2 pounds for a ton of newspaper," he said.

What's important now is that the brimstone mines just can't produce enough sulphur to supply the world's industries, he said, though the sulphur industry is popping its seams trying.

Production of sulphur in this country last year totalled 5,000,000 long tons out of a total world production of 11,700,000. Ninety percent of domestic production was in the form of brimstone. Of this, Louisiana produced 1,243,182 long tons and Texas 3,949,162 long tons.

Total 1940 production was 146 percent greater than in previous years of 1935-39 but still there isn't enough to meet industry needs.

Hence the rush of Freeport to complete its Bay St. Elaine plant, of Texas Gulf sulphur to finish a plant at Spindletop dome at Beaumont, Tex., and of Jefferson Lake Sulphur Co., to build one at Starks, La., near Lake Charles in extreme southwest Louisiana.

But these three mines are expected to be relatively small, Wingfield said, and meantime production at some of the older mines along the Louisiana and Texas coast is expected to deplete, one pound for a pound as they approach depletion.

Blind Youth Amazes Ontario Visitors

GORR HAY, Ont. — (AP) — A 30-year-old Indian youth, blind since the age of three, frequently amazes visitors to this resort town by bussing along on a bicycle at speeds up to 15 miles an hour.

Danny Megwan has been totally blind since he had double pneumonia and measles, but in his mind he carries a phenomenally accurate map of this area on which is charted ever road, path, house, fence, bridge, and almost every stick and stone.

Danny's ears stand at attention when he is cycling in case an automobile comes along. If he hears one he gets off the bike and waits at the side of the road for the car to pass. He never rides on the town streets during the summer months. There are too many tourists' cars.

Question Now Is Where Do We Go?

A year ago tomorrow the great American summer exodus was getting under way. President Truman was spending a sultry Saturday afternoon back home in Missouri.

When we got into it, alone at first but almost immediately under the United Nations flag, nobody was quite sure where we were going. The idea seemed to be to push the Communist invaders of South Korea back to the 38th parallel.

Where do we go from here? After a whole year, we have built up our defenses, taken ships and planes out of moth-balls, put new men in uniform, but we have nothing that looks like a policy for Korea, which is where the fighting is being on.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

Can Taxation Stop Rising Cost of Living?

The politicians contend or imply that the only way that we can stop inflation is to have more and more taxes. They use the word inflation as synonymous with rising prices.

Increasing credit is a form of taxation. It is taking from those who have life insurance policies, credits, fixed contracts, a part of their assets. It is done this by reducing what their credits will buy. It is a very unethical form of taxation, if there be any such thing as an ethical form of taxation.

Some forms of taxation in the long run increase the cost of living much more than other forms of taxation. The graduated income and inheritance tax is a form of taxation that in the long run increases the cost of living much more than a tax on consumption based on the proportion to the consumption used.

We have had this kind of tax for 38 years. It started in a small way, so the effects were not noticed immediately. It is true that for the moment a graduated income and inheritance tax does not increase the cost of living as much as a sales tax, but in the long run it increases it much more. This is true because it takes the money for taxes that would go into better prepared or more workers.

While on the subject of poison gases my thoughts happened to jump to General Marshall, who recently passed away before a Senate committee on the MacArthur case until his voice, for once, gave out.

Marshall's judgment on the European war (before we got into it) was so bad that it is now practically an open history. He didn't guess right, so far as I know. Marshall's honor (if it was one) in China is now history and we're up to our necks in a Korean war because of it.

Korea's Running Shoes

Washington... by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A new American foreign policy with respect to the Middle East is now taking shape. It involves not only continued, but increased military and economic aid to Greece, Turkey and Iran.

The arms aid is to be given only under certain conditions. It must be used only to develop the security of the Israel-Arab area against external aggression.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — American difficulties in Korea, Europe and the Middle East have obscured the unhappy fact from almost everybody save the State Department.

There are as many different reasons for the friction as there are countries. It is due to economic pressures resulting from the rearmament program, historic dislike of "Big Uncle Sam," an exaggeration of the nationalistic spirit now sweeping through the Orient and Asia, and, of course, to Communist agents' efforts to promote dissension.

Disturbing — The attitude of the three A-B-C powers is especially disturbing, in view of the assistance they could furnish us in a possible conflict. Under the inspiration of the anti-American Peronistas, Argentina "intimates" that she will "sit out" the next war even more stubbornly and sullenly than she did World War II.

ANGRY — Bolivia is downright angry over the manner in which we have knocked down the price of tin, which is the basis of her whole economy. Under pressure from Capitol Hill, the Reconstruction Finance Corp., which is the sole United States buyer, has pressured the price down from $1.82 to $1.11, with hints that it may insist on a smaller figure.

Oil — Although Communism itself does not pose a serious problem for the United States, it is feared and for building up the economy of the area.

Hedy's Final Show Slated

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Hedy Lamarr's "last production" is expected to gross a million dollars, her producer says.

The production will not show Hedy swimming in the raw or giving Samson a haircut; in fact, she won't even be in it. Her last show is the auction of all her worldly goods prior to her announced retirement as Mrs. Ted Stautfer.

The producer is Arthur E. Goode of the American Art Galleries. He has managed epic auctions for such personalities as Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall, Peter Lorre, John Barrymore, Frank Morgan, Cornell Wilde, Brenda Joyce and Jesse Lasky.

"I put on an auction the same way as a producer creates a show," Goode declared. "In New York, where people know values, you don't have to do that. But here you have to use showmanship."

"Everything has to be planned like a production. You have to get the right advertising and publicity. Then you have to display the goods tastefully, as familiar as possible to how they would appear in the person's home. Then you have the preview, to create interest and show the public what is to be auctioned. Then comes the auction itself."

"Yes, there is a star system in auctions, too. The bigger the name, the bigger the crowd."

Some of the star auctions are estates, such as those of Morgan and Barrymore, whose hole-in-the-golf rights and musty coronet brought good prices. Other stars auction their goods because they are redecorating or changing homes. And quite a few frankly need the money.

Goode expects the Lamarr auction to be his biggest production. (It starts Monday and will last a month.)

Conflicting Statements On A-Bomb Causing Confusion

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK — (AP) — The public is being confused these days by many conflicting statements about A-bombs. Here are some of them:

1. The area under an A-bomb explosion is dangerous for hours, days — maybe weeks. (On the other hand, it is said that two minutes after an explosion one can enter the area immediately underneath without danger from radioactivity.)
2. Ships at Bikini were so contaminated they could not be cleaned.
3. After each bomb a radioactive cloud circles the earth several times.
4. The radioactive cloud from a single bomb, exploded over the Pacific, could destroy all life in the United States.

What is the truth? The No. 4 statement is not true. The No. 1 statement is not true. Each of the other statements can be true or false, depending on circumstances which are likely to differ from one bomb to the next.

The confusion arises because radioactivity from the A-bomb comes in three stages. First it is the flash and ball of fire, emitting gamma rays (they are the same as A-rays). Second the earth, buildings, metal in your pockets or teeth may become radioactive by transmutation from the A-bomb's flash. Third is dust and other things that fall like rain out of the bomb cloud. After an underwater bomb, the rain is real and all of it radioactive.

Only one of these radioactive perils is a major hazard. This is the flash and ball of fire. This danger is all over within one minute. This gamma ray peril reaches out about a mile-and-a-half from the bomb, in all directions. Up to a mile it can make you sick enough to die in a week or more. After a mile — and — a — quarter it does not do much harm.

The second danger, transmutation of atoms of earth and other things on the ground in to radioactivity of many kinds, is not possible unless the bomb is exploded close to the earth.

And it is always assumed that the bomb will not be exploded close. The reason for this assumption is that present A-bombs have to be detonated at around 2,000 feet altitude to knock down the largest number of buildings and to set the most fires. At that altitude there is no transmutation on the ground, and no risk from radioactivity right under the bomb after the first minute.

Should the bomb be exploded low down, there will be risk from radioactivity in the immediate rescue work. But there will be no risk of death in very short exposures. If the rescue work is minor, workers will not suffer serious harm, even in an area that remains uninhabitable for months due to radioactivity.

Dust dangers are tricky. At Bikini, on the deck of the German heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen, I picked up tiny pieces of metal that had vaporized from warships directly under the bomb. That metallic vapor had been carried downwind over the Eugen. The metal fell like tiny hail. This metal was dangerously radioactive (some of mine had a half-life of nine days, which means very high radioactivity). But I was in no danger because I did not keep my souvenirs close to my person. Members of the crew collected bottles of the same hail, without hurting themselves.

After the New Mexico bomb, radioactive dust fell on a herd of cattle, causing hair to fall out of their backs. Some of it never grew again. But no human beings were hurt by this dust. If they got any it was brushed off in time.

That bomb dropped dust in Ohio which afterwards fogged some photographic film. There wasn't any danger to human beings. Last winter's Nevada bomb dropped so much radioactivity over the northeastern United States that in some areas the rays were one hundred times greater than normal. Normal means the amount of radioactivity present everywhere all the time. There was not the slightest risk to health in this increase.

It is easy to think of circumstances under which people could eat some of this dust, after plants had concentrated it, and endanger their health thereby. But if reasonable monitoring is done — as is — there will be no serious risk.

Some physicians have claimed it will be years before we can be sure that these little amounts of

I don't really advise holding on so long that you are bound to get stuck with your extra cards. However, if you had a choice between automatically melding extra cards and automatically holding them up — I would advise you to hold them up.

Opening lead — ♠ 8

Suppose our veteran has about ten cards, while everybody else has only four or five cards. His cards include a couple of black trumps and two or three other safe cards. He decides to add you that the contract is ice-cold unless one of the opponents has all four of the missing clubs. Therefore your plan has to provide against a 4-0 club break-in either direction.

The best plan is to win the opening spade lead with dummy's queen and return a low club. If East follows, South can finesse the queen. Even if West then shows out, South has five club tricks and can easily make three hearts, three spades, and four diamonds for a total of twelve tricks.

As the hand is shown today, East discards a diamond on the first round of clubs. This makes it harder for declarer.

South must put up the ace of clubs and return the three of clubs. West dares not take his king, for then the entire club suit could be brought in. Hence he plays the nine, and dummy wins with the jack of clubs.

Now declarer has won two club tricks without losing the lead. He enters his hand with the king of spades and returns a heart to finesse dummy's ten. Whether this finesse wins or loses South is sure of three heart tricks. These three hearts together with three spades, two clubs, and four diamonds guarantee the slam contract.

Q — The bidding has been: North, 1 Heart; 1 No-trump — East, Pass; Pass — South, 1 Spade; ? — West, Pass. South, South hold: Spades A-Q - J - 9-8-3, Hearts 5-3-2, Diamonds K-10-6, Club 4. What do you do?

A — Bid three spades. Although you have only an average hand in high cards, you have a strong six-card suit and good distribution. There is probably a good play for game at spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding has been:
North, 1 Heart; 1 No-trump — East, Pass; Pass — South, 1 Spade; ? — West, Pass.
You, South, hold: Spades A-Q - 9-8-3, Hearts J - 3, Diamonds K - 10 - 6, Clubs - 4. What do you do?

DOWN OR UP?
Eastern and northeastern Indian tribes have a tradition of a descent from the sky as the beginning of human inhabitants on the earth; Indian peoples of the mountainous and plateau regions of the south and southwest believe their ancestors ascended from the underworld.

ponents, with four or five cards each, would not dare freeze against a ten-card hand. They were almost sure to freeze against a six-card hand. A player who ties himself up and puts the axe into his enemy's hand has nobody but himself to blame if the result is sharp and unpleasant.

FORT WORTH LADY LOSES 20 POUNDS

"I like Barcetrane very much. It has done wonders for me," writes Mrs. T. V. Pace, Route 6, Box 156, Fort Worth, Texas. "When I commenced to take Barcetrane, I weighed 148. I had high blood pressure, I have now taken four bottles and lost 20 pounds, do not have high blood pressure, sleep and feel fine. It is a wonderful medicine."

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcetrane. Pour this into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Then take two tablespoonful

LOST 12 POUNDS

"I have taken 2 bottles of Barcetrane and lost 12 pounds," says W. G. McElroy, 1525 Sixth St., Lubbock, Texas. "I feel lots better."
