Ridgway Ready To Start Peace Talks

OPS Will Hike Retail And Wholesale Prices On Beef

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Beef prices are going up at wholesale and retail. So are butcher shop ceilings for ham, bacon and pork shoulder. For the housewife it will mean about two cents a pound more.

The government's office of price stabilization (OPS) announced the increase in wholesale beef ceilings last night and said the beef and pork retail hikes will be coming out in the next few days.

A beef carcass under the new wholesale ceilings, effective Wednesday, will be about a penny-a-pound higher. The OPS said this is necessary because prices for hides and fats from a beef animal have dropped to a point denting packer processing profits.

The higher beef wholesale prices will require the higher retail prices. These changes in butcher shop ceilings will average about 1 to 2 cents a pound more to the housewife for beef cuts.

In adjusting wholesale beef prices, the OPS also moved to correct what it said had been generally too high ceilings for the better cuts of beef and too low ceilings for cheaper cuts. The good steaks weren't selling too well, so OPS plans to cut choice porterhouse, for instance, about four cents a pound. Less desirable cuts which people were scrambling for will get increased ceilings.

The OPS said it had a choice about letting beef prices go up. It could have restored packer profit margins to what they were before hide and tallow prices dropped by merely reducing the allowable price packers may pay for live cattle. This would have allowed retail prices to remain unchanged.

But the agency said this was "impractical at the present time because, since Congress eliminated slaughter controls, packers have been experiencing difficulty in obtaining cattle at the present live cattle ceiling prices."

In other words, OPS officials feared that if they were to lead to a meat shortage, and a black market.

"The only practical alternative," the agency's statement said, "is to raise dressed beef prices by an amount sufficient to give packers the operating margin required under the legislation."

Work Scheduled To Start Wednesday On Road Project

Five miles of paving on the Bowers City road is slated to get underway Wednesday morning when asphalt surfacing contractors arrive here to work on city streets now ready for topping.

Paving of the stretch will be done at county expense and, if state specifications are met, will be taken over by the State Highway Dept. for future maintenance.

The topping contractor is expected to bring in his equipment late Tuesday and start shooting asphalt Wednesday morning. Following the county road work the contractor will start topping city streets Monday morning.

Harriman Refuses To Serve Iran Ultimatum On British

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — U.S. trouble shooter W. Averell Harriman has refused to serve as messenger for an Iranian ultimatum to Britain to reopen the stalled oil talks, an informed source said today.

Harriman's reply regarding the two-week ultimatum was delivered to Premier Mohammed Mossadeq by a U.S. Embassy officer this morning.

(American officials in Washington said yesterday that Harriman had decided to sit on the ultimatum, at least until he gets a response to his letter from Mossadeq.)

American and Iranian officials declined to comment on the lengthy note from President Truman's representative, but an authoritative source said Harriman had turned down Mossadeq's request to deliver the ultimatum to the British.

Under the terms of the ultimatum, Mossadeq has threatened to expel some 300 British technicians remaining in Abadan — site of the world's largest oil refinery — unless Britain reopens the talks within two weeks.

Truman Puts Dent In Rumors Of Ike's Demo Nomination

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman is reported to have told former Senator Burton K. Wheeler he doesn't expect any general to be nominated on the 1951 Democratic ticket.

This apparently put a further presidential dent in rumors that Mr. Truman might decide to step aside in favor of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at next year's convention — if the Republicans don't beat the Democrats and nominate the general first.

Senator Duff (R-Pa.) said on a television program yesterday he is "very confident" Eisenhower will accept a GOP bid "under the proper circumstances." Duff, an Eisenhower backer, said he thinks the general will be a candidate if he feels the people want him and if his duties in Europe do not interfere.

The President told a recent news conference he doesn't believe Eisenhower is interested in the Democratic nomination.

Wheeler would not comment on the matter at all, but the story told by his former senatorial colleagues goes like this: He might not interfere, who served as something of a mentor for Mr. Truman when the latter was a freshman Senator, went to the White House before he made a recent trip to Montana.

The President urged Wheeler, now a Washington lawyer, to seek the Democratic senatorial nomination in Montana next year to oppose Senator Ecton (R-Mont), who beat him in 1946.

More to feel out the President's intentions than anything else, Wheeler remarked that he might not be too happy running in Montana on a ticket headed by a general.

The President assured Wheeler he wouldn't have to worry about anything like that would happen. Mr. Truman didn't add anything about his own plans, however, as senators told the story.

The President's reputed assumption that Eisenhower is a Republican touches a point the general's GOP boosters are striving now to emphasize. They also hope to put over the idea that he is available for the Republican nomination.

Commission In Special Session

The county commissioners went into special session at 1 p. m. today to give all departmental and precinct budgets final approval before approving the bill officially after a public hearing is held.

Date of the public hearing will be set by commissioners following final drafting of the 1952 county budget this afternoon.

Rio Grande Due To Leave Banks Today

BROWNSVILLE — (AP) — The Rio Grande was expected to crawl out of its banks into southern Hidalgo and Cameron counties late today or early tomorrow.

About 100 miles northward, high flood waters which seen 350 persons from their homes in Kingville fell about a foot last night. Tranquitas creek, still was spread-over a residential area two miles long and one-half mile wide, but the worst appeared past.

Dr. Arthur Moore of the International Boundary Water Commission said the Rio Grande was flowing at 66,000 second feet at Rio Grande City early today.

The Brownsville Weather Bureau had warned earlier that a rise was headed down the river. The crest was expected at Brownsville by late today.

Flooded areas to the north won't be affected by the rising Rio Grande.

About 27,000 acres are between the river and levees from Mission to the flat lands below Brownsville.

Kremlin Is Called Beast By President

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman likened the Kremlin to "a beast of prey" today.

He spoke at a ceremony in which the United States Constitution and Declaration of Independence were sealed in new protective cases.

Mr. Truman said the freedoms embodied in the yellow parchment documents are growing throughout the world except in the Soviet Union whose rulers, he declared, hold "their citizens in terror and bondage."

"The Soviet citizens live in fear," the President told the audience at the Library of Congress. "Their society is a jungle, through which the naked power of the government prowls like a beast of prey, making all men afraid."

The precious 178-year-old Declaration of Independence and 164-year-old Constitution were locked away in gas-filled, glass and bronze containers to preserve them for centuries.

Scientists had worked for more than a decade designing the new cases to protect them against moisture, vermin, harsh light and other hazards while keeping them still visible, through double-pane glass, for many future generations.

Mr. Truman said the pieces of parchment are more than their historical relics — "they are a living force in our life today," containing ideas which will never perish.

"These documents," he said, "express the highest principles of political life; that all men have certain unalienable rights, that governments are set up to provide for the welfare of the people, and that the rule of law stands above government and citizen alike."

"These ideas have a life of their own. They have been a dynamic force in the history of our nation. They have inspired men, all around the world, to create new independent governments, and to improve the conditions under which they live."

PILOT'S BODY — Because of the parachute strap ped to the back, this body was identified as that of the pilot of a standing airplane which crashed and spread death and injury among spectators at Flagler, Colo., Saturday. Death Of 20 In Plane Crash Being Probed By Authorities

FLAGLER, Colo. — (AP) — Whitesawed as if to himself. "It was awful."

Sunday, at a special mass, Fr. Dinan said, "As you live, so shall you die."

"This has not removed the sorrow," said the priest, "but it does remove the bitterness."

The crash was described as "the worst tragedy involving a small aircraft in this country's aviation history," by R. P. Parrshall, chief of region five of the CAB in Kansas City.

Parrshall is directing the probe into the crash. He is assisted by R. V. Reynolds and A. G. Godard, CAA officers from Denver. Parrshall said it will take five days before it will be known if there is to be a public inquiry.

The decision, he said, will be made in Washington.

An inquest has been called today by Kit Carson County Coroner William Hendricks to establish responsibility and causes of death.

The 20, including the pilot, were killed or fatally injured as a low wing monoplane stunt car crashed and scattered over 150 yards packed with rows of parked cars and spectators at an air show highlighting the Flagler Fall festival.

The wing of the plane snagged on wheat stubble as the pilot, First Lt. Norman L. Jones, a student at the Lowry Air Force base, was on a temporary duty from Davis-Monthan base at Tucson, Ariz., did a barrel roll in the civilian craft.

The plane cartwheeled into the crowd and practically disintegrated, dealing out death, suffering and anguish.

"I could see parts of the plane fly over the cars," said Father Edward Dinan, a Catholic priest. He walked among the dead, delivering extreme unction to those of his faith.

There were 13 children among the dead. Two of them had a daughter and one had a son. Keller, who also lost his wife in the tragedy, said "God, it was awful."

Services will be in Dallas at 11 a. m. tomorrow. She is survived by three daughters: Miss Lillian Pierson, Mrs. W. W. Hensley and Mrs. J. B. Davis, all of Dallas; three sons: Luther of Pampa, Newell of Dallas and Nolan of Saint Jo, Texas; and three sisters and 12 grandchildren.

Citizens Briefed On City Plans

The newly formed citizens' committee this afternoon was getting its first briefing on a long range city development program from the city commission that could result in a bond issue, an increased tax rate, issuance of warrants, or temporary termination of city expansion.

Sixty-five business and professional men have been called into counsel with the city commission on finding ways to finance projected water and sewer lines, construction of several city bridges and culverts, extending the R. Hobart storm sewer and installation of rest rooms in the city's parks.

Close estimates, run by the city engineering department several weeks ago, brought the total amount needed to $400,000.

New construction, constant expansion of city limits, and expectations of further growth was figured as the cause for the improvement program by Mayor C. A. Huff in several conferences with city commissioners during commission session.

The joint committee-commission meeting was clocked for 3 p. m. today.

Reds Launch Wild Attack Against U.N.

EIGHTH ARMY, Korea — (AP) — A battalion of North Korean Reds launched a higher unit counter-attacks today against Allied troops on "Heartbreak Ridge" and touched off an all-day battle on the East-Central front.

When the heavy rifle, mortar and machinegun fire died off in late afternoon, an officer said it was too early to tell if either side had gained ground.

"It was a mixed up affair," he said. "We moved around some and they moved around some."

There was no report of any ground action elsewhere along the 150-mile front.

Cold rains sweeping across the peninsula brought allied air attacks to a virtual standstill.

In groups of 20 to 30 the Reds plunged down on the Allies from a higher position in the north. They fired machine-guns and burp guns as they came. Mortar and artillery barrages preceded them.

"Heartbreak Ridge" was named after another savage battle there two weeks ago. It is just north of "Bloody Ridge."

Hundreds of Allied artillery shells pounded against the thick walls of log and dirt bunkers of the Reds. Some were so thick that only the heaviest Allied artillery could penetrate them.

The Fifth Air Force defied the elements and mounted relentless attacks on Red rail facilities.

Allied Commander Seeks New Site For Negotiations

TOKYO — (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway notified the Communist high command Monday he was still ready to resume cease-fire negotiations broken off by the Reds.

The supreme Allied commander made a 12-hour flying trip to Korea to confer with his Eighth Army commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, in case his offer was again rejected.

Ridgway's terse message to the Reds made no mention of Kaesong, which he previously had declared unacceptable for further armistice talks.

Ridgway's headquarters at midnight described the supreme commander's trip to Korea and return as "routing."

The gravity of the military situation in Korea has been increasing for days. The Reds have been concentrating strongly on the western front and a Red offensive there was considered very possible if not probable.

It was the supreme commander's second Korean visit since the Reds called off Armistice talks Aug. 23, with charges that Allied ground and air forces violated the five-mile neutrality zone around Kaesong.

In the flurry of charges and denials, Ridgway on Sept. 5 proposed that the talks be moved to a new site. The Reds replied Saturday that the suggestion was "completely unsatisfactory and unacceptable."

In his reply to that message Monday the Allied supreme commander said he was "not prepared to order my liaison officers to a meeting at the bridge at Pannunjom (Red outpost six miles south of Kaesong) to discuss conditions that will be mutually satisfactory for the resumption of armistice talks."

Ridgway's wording was remarkably similar to that in his Sept. 5 message. He said then: "When you decide to terminate the suspension of armistice negotiations which you declared on 23 August, Allied and Communist officers should meet at Pannunjom to consider the new conference site."

American Plan On Atlantic Alliance Due For Showdown

OTTAWA — (AP) — The disputed American proposal to extend the Atlantic alliance to Greece and Turkey headed for a showdown today for the North Atlantic Treaty countries.

"Top United States officials privately expressed confidence that it would eventually be approved. But opposition by any one of the 12 nations in the council could block the plan and Denmark and Norway were reported still cold to it."

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson conferred yesterday with Foreign Ministers Heland and Lunde of Norway and Ole Bjorn Knud of Denmark in a last minute attempt to win them over.

Meanwhile, as the council came up to the fourth session of its Ottawa meeting, which opened Saturday and is scheduled to end Thursday, there were these other developments:

1. The United States was reported telling its European allies here that American economic and military aid has reached its peak and they cannot look for increased help from this side of the Atlantic to ease their rearmament burdens.

Instead they are being told all the Atlantic powers must make more efficient use of their production capacity, virtually on a pool basis, to get the most out of the money they spend for arms.

2. Secretary Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman conferred with foreign policy chiefs of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg yesterday on plans now being pushed through to give Western Germany maximum independence, short of a peace treaty, and to get German military forces into General Dwight

D. Eisenhower's European Defense command as soon as possible.

3. Acheson told the council Saturday that the Atlantic Treaty nations must press their defense buildup urgently. Morrison and Schuman were reported to have taken a similar line in their speeches, while also stressing the economic burdens being borne by the European countries in arms production.

4. General Eisenhower was reported to have submitted to the council's central strategy board, consisting of American, British and French military chiefs, a revised military plan for the defense of Western Europe, calling for more men and more guns on the fastest possible basis.

5. The United States drew its full weight behind suggestions advanced by Canada and some Western European countries that the Atlantic alliance should deal with non-military and economic problems and thus develop over the years into some sort of "Atlantic community."

6. The Ottawa conference is expected to make a decision on Western Germany maximum independence, short of a peace treaty, and to get German military forces into General Dwight

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Bidding Depends On Player's Own Style

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Several good pairs reached a contract of six diamonds in the hand shown today when it came along during the recent national tournament in Washington. The bidding shown with the hand is typical of their style.

North's raise to three diamonds is a slight overbid because the distribution is so poor. Some experts prefer to bid one of the three-card suits rather than jump to three diamonds.

South naturally shows ambition with a bid of four clubs and North tries to sign off by returning to diamonds. When South makes a second slam try by bidding four hearts, North must show his ace. South then bids the slam diamonds.

The slam contract is easily made. South draws three rounds of trumps and can then set up his clubs by ruffing the fourth round in dummy. Nothing could be much easier.

At one table South climbed up to six trump. Don't ask me how he got there, because the bidding was too horrible to relate. The truth is that this particular South was having a bad day and was trying to regain lost ground by making something out of nothing.

If West had opened a heart, there would be no story to tell. South would be forced to take his singleton ace, setting up West's king. Sooner or later, South would be obliged to start the diamonds whereupon the defenders could take the ace of diamonds and the king of hearts to set the contract.

West didn't know it was safe to lead hearts, so he opened the queen of spades. South rejoiced mightily when he saw the dummy, because twelve tricks were lay-down with a normal club break. South was a very fine player, even though he had bid this hand like a fool, so he decided not to rely entirely on a normal club break.

Declarer won the first trick with the king of spades and led diamonds until he took his ace. East returned a spade (as good as anything), and dummy won with the ace. Declarer thereupon took the ace of hearts and the rest of the diamonds, discarding small clubs from dummy on the last diamond.

West could save only five cards. Four of those cards had to be clubs, since otherwise South's long suit would take the rest of the tricks. Hence West was obliged to release the high spade or the king of hearts. Either discard would set up a trick in dummy. South could get to dummy with the queen of clubs in order to cash the trick that had been squeezed out of West; and that trick would squeeze poor West again.

Sixteen Die Violently In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Sixteen or more are dead today from week-end violence in Texas.

Seven persons died in traffic accidents. Seven were shot to death. A rattlesnake killed a little girl Saturday and an oil field worker died after his arm was ripped off in an oil field rig.

The deaths include:

James William McKee, 36, Tyler, killed in a head-on collision near Tyler yesterday. Three others were injured seriously.

Pvt. Charles P. Pruett, 19, Spiro, Okla. was shot to death yesterday at Sheppard Air Force base near Wichita Falls. An air policeman fired to warn prisoners away from an off-limits area.

Edward N. Dollins, Jr., 33, was shot to death Saturday in a case in Fort Worth. Murder charge was being prepared against a 31-year-old suspect.

Dorothy Chattam, 23, a Negro, shot and killed her husband, William, Saturday in Waco. Officials said she acted in self-defense and released her.

Louis H. Yendrey, shot his wife, 44, to death near Edna, yesterday, then killed himself.

C. D. Cary, about 35, was shot and killed Saturday at Greenville, W. A. Waldrop, 62, was charged with murder.

Kathleen Doucet, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Doucet of near Beaumont, died Saturday after being bitten by a rattlesnake.

James Phillip Murphy, 8, was shot and killed accidentally by his brother, Steve, 7, while playing cowboy and Indians at Corpus Christi Saturday.

Two cars sidwiped on a curve near Sudan, Friday night, killing Leonard Martin, about 60, a Lamb county farmer; James Virgil Seights, about 56, of Lubbock, and Mrs. Stella Ozell Buford, about 40, of Littlefield.

J. B. Lewis, a Houston salesman, was killed Friday night in a two-car collision near Kingsville.

Bishop FitzSimon Speaks At Pampa's First Field Mass

Pampa's first Field Mass, under sponsorship of the Frank Keim Council of the Knights of Columbus, was celebrated Sunday morning in the City Park with Bishop Laurence J. FitzSimon of Amarillo delivering the address.

About 400 persons attended. Rev. Father Myles Moynihan, C.M., celebrated the High Mass with Bernard McNamara and Patrick Williams as servers.

The adult choir directed by William J. Haley, Jr., sang the responses. The Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of the Sixth District of Texas formed a guard of honor.

The speaker based his talk on some words of Pope Pius, which set forth the idea that the church "must respond to the rope of the people and must reject any false concept of her spirituality which would confine her to the retirement of the sanctuary."

He concluded that the "Vicar of Christ has called us to action, priest and laity alike. . . Our vocation is to be as near as human frailty permits, blameless shepherds; your vocation is to be a devoted laity, militant, understanding, untrifling and joyful."

Merchants To Discuss Regulation 7

Merchants from 10 area cities and two Office of Price Stabilization representatives will meet here at 8 p.m. Tuesday for a discussion on Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

Retailers of wearing apparel, furniture, variety stores, sporting goods and jewelry, will be present from Groom, McLean, White, Deer, Miami, Canadian, Mobette, Lefors, Wheeler and Skellytown.

William A. Robertson, chief of the consumer goods section of the district office, and C. M. Erickson, a price specialist, will be in charge of the session.

"The primary reasons for this meeting," Robertson said, "are to help merchants apply the pricing rules under their pricing charts and to discuss Amendment 8 to Regulation 7 which requires a supplementary price chart filing by Sept. 20."

According to Robertson, many firms have been in violation of the pricing regulation because of lack of complete understanding of the pricing rules.

The Pampa meeting is one of a series of four planned in the Panhandle district.

Sculpture Work Found Relaxing

MONTREAL — (AP) — Sculpture as a relaxing hobby is recommended by Mrs. Herbert Hahn, recently arrived from Bavaria. No great amount of talent is required, she says, but expert by practicing the hobby for 30 years. "I originally sculptured portraits for my own enjoyment, but friends and critics convinced me I should make it a career."

From her experience in teaching in Europe, Mrs. Hahn says children are the best pupils.

Living in Bavaria after the war, Mrs. Hahn sculptured thousands of dolls for American soldiers. She switched to life-size portraits, but experts to go back to miniature work because there are very few apartments in Canada large enough to display life-size models.

"mutually satisfactory" conditions mentioned by Ridgway Monday might include a new site for the talks.

In his stinging message Sept. 5 Ridgway called the Red charges "baseless and intentionally false" and added: "I cannot provide you with guarantees against your own failure to exercise control in an area for which you are responsible."

The supreme commander's message Monday was addressed to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of Chinese forces in Korea.

Ridgway said the Reds "have inferred a desire that negotiations be resumed. . . I again emphasize my concern in the achievement of a just and honorable military armistice."

But Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) who is viewed generally as far from friendly to the Truman administration, said that "up to now the testimony doesn't bear out the strong implication" that Boyle collected $600 in "commissions" from the American Lithofold Corp., St. Louis printing firm, after it got RFC loans totaling $645,000.

President Asks Big Sum For AEC

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman asked Congress today for $484,240,000 more for the Atomic Energy commission's Savannah river plant.

The request brought the total for the South Carolina project to $1,180,000,000.

The sum of $695,780,000 already has been made available for the project, on which actual construction is still in the early stages.

Week End Traffic Mishaps Boost Year's Total To 180

Four week-end accidents here brought the total accidents for the year to 180.

An accident Sunday at noon involved a 1940 model car driven by Lawrence Everett Wilson on Orange courts, and a 1949 station wagon driven by William Jennings Ladd, 1304 N. Stark weather.

Wilson started into Brown off Somerville and stopped without giving a hand signal, police reported. Ladd is said to have thought Wilson was continuing straight so he didn't stop. The right front fender of Ladd's car was damaged in the mishap, but no damages were reported on Wilson's car.

Another accident at 10:30 a.m. Sunday occurred when a 1949 pickup driven by a local teen-age girl stopped too quickly in front of a late-model car driven by Eugene Edward Baumgard, Rt. 1, Pampa.

The accident happened in the 1200 block of Alcock, and caused $173 damage to Baumgard's car, but no damages to the pickup.

Police charged the girl with driving without an operator's license.

Two accidents Saturday caused damages exceeding $225, but resulted in no injuries.

Edvin George Possey, 1002 Alcock, was driving a 1938 model car east on Kingsmill when it was in collision with a 1939 two-car driven by Winton Lewis Kendrick, 710 Naaton.

Kendricks was reportedly traveling north on Ward when he stopped at a stop sign and proceeded across the street, failing to see the Possey car. Damages to each car were estimated at $75.

An accident on W. Atchison occurred when Van Dearol Melvin, Kingsmill, backed from a parking spot and allegedly struck a car driven by Ben Dewitt, 1361 Duncan.

Fallon was traveling east on Atchison. Damages on his car totaled $75, police said.

Melvin, 16, was given a ticket for failure to grant right of way.

Elections Slated By School Classes

Nomination of a student vice-president and run-off elections for the sophomore and junior class vice-presidents will be held in Pampa High school Tuesday morning.

Student body officers were elected last year, but Follie Hutchens, who was chosen vice-president, was elected president of the senior class last week and must be replaced on a student council.

Candidates for the offices in the run-offs are Lee Fraser and Bruce Campbell, juniors; John Teed and Jimmy Bond, sophomores.

Mixup In Papers Results In Error

An inadvertent mixup of legal papers in district court late Friday afternoon resulted in the report that Sgt. Davis A. Brown was awarded $1000 for injuries received by his son, Ronald A. Brown, who was hit by an automobile on N. Cuyler, Aug. 11.

Sgt. Brown, however, was awarded instead of $1000 in a friendly suit instituted for him by the insurance company. The original petition asked for $1000 damages in order to have the settlement heard before the district court.

The mixup was to cover hospital and doctor bills incurred by the boy.

Search On For 3 Escaped Prisoners

CALDWELL, Idaho — (AP) — Seven of the 10 federal prisoners who squeezed out of the Canyon county jail Saturday night have been squeezed back in, and the search goes on today for the remaining three.

But it will not be an organized search. Roadblocks remained manned, but Sheriff Ray Luenga figured the men, two of them unarmed, probably would have slipped through the police net and scattered by dawn.

Utah officers were alerted late last night as a man answering the description of James H. Ceresa, 21 one of the still free men was seen near Salt Lake City. He was thought to be armed and was termed "dangerous."

Twenty-year-old Fred B. Craigh was the latest to be captured of the contortionists who popped to freedom through a jail ventilator the size of a sheet of typing paper. The former GI, who is convicted of assault and robbery in Japan, was captured last night near the stockyards where he had hidden since the break.

Roman Jars Found In Sunken Vessel

DIANO MARINO, Italy — (AP) — Divers have uncovered a large number of old Roman earthen jars in the Gulf of Genoa.

The jars were found in an old Roman vessel which probably was transporting them when it sank. The jars lay under some 50 feet of water off Cerro, northeast of San Remo, and was covered by mud.

Divers say the work of salvaging the jars will not be too difficult. The wreck is wedged under a rocky submarine ledge where there are no undercurrents.

The jars are about 32 inches in diameter. The divers made the discovery while trying to salvage a ship sunk in World War II.

School Furthers Arab Friendship

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The American university of Beirut in Lebanon is one of America's strongest links of friendship with the Arab world, says Dr. Hamilton Anderson, University of California Medical professor.

Dr. Anderson has just spent a year in Beirut. There, he says, he found that students come to the university from all Arab countries. They go back to their own countries and do good work. And in the process they spread friendship for America, he says.

He believes that this is especially true of the doctors graduated from Beirut.

Pacific Potentate Stops In Singapore

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Crown Prince Tungi, 280-pound prime minister of the Tonga islands in the western Pacific, stopped off in Singapore for a three-day visit recently on his way home from the Festival of Britain.

Accompanied by his secretary, the 31-year-old Prince visited the University of Malaya and pineapple canneries. Prince Tungi, a six-footer, is the son of Queen Salote of Tonga, aged 51. She tops him by 3 inches and weighs slightly more than his 280 pounds. She has ruled over her 47,000 subjects in the Tonga islands for 33 years.

Though she has introduced motor cars, telephones and golf to Tonga, nothing has induced her to wear shoes, it was reported. The Tonga, or Friendly islands, is a self-governing state under British protection.

Painters, Also, Have Nine Lives

ASTORIA, Ore. — (AP) — Carl Bergland, a painter, was working on a lumber mill smokestack when fumes overcame him.

Unconscious, he escaped suffocation. He toppled off his scaffold.

His scaffold was 30 feet in the air. He wasn't viewed when he landed, though. He splashed into a tank of water.

He sank at once. He was in the tank 15 minutes. Didn't drown, however, for workmen finally fished him out. Artificial respiration revived him, and he is recovering in a hospital.

Carburetor Too Rich Makes Motorist Too Poor

Car owners who are wasting money and not getting proper gas mileage due to over-rich mixtures will be pleased to learn of a Wisconsin inventor who has developed a very clever unit that helps save gasoline by "Vacuumating." It is automatic and operates on the supercharge principle. Easily installed in a few minutes. Fits all cars, trucks and tractors. The manufacturer, the Vacuumator Carburetor Co., 7615 700 W. State St., Wauwatosa, Wis., are offering a Vacuumator to anyone who will install it on his car and help introduce it to others. They will gladly send full free particulars if you write them or just send your name and address on a penny post card today.

McLemore Says He's Finished At The Age Of Forty-Four

By HENRY McLEMORE At the age of 44 I am finished. Medical science and life insurance actuaries have proven this to me.

Once a man has passed 40 his arteries are very hard, his heart is getting tired, his ears are weary of listening, and he's very lucky if he is able to slip on his slippers at night. In short, I'm a dead duck.

After you pass 40, if you listen to insurance companies, you should not play singles at tennis, only doubles. Doubles mean you only have to run around half as much as you do at singles.

A man who wants to bet me even, then I'd rather not play tennis. Life is only nice if you make it nice. We talk so much about Heaven but nobody wants to go there.

My father was a preacher and he hung on to life as long as he could. He preferred the high temperatures of Jacksonville to the never-ending blessedness of Heaven. I can't figure it out.

In a couple of months I'll be 45, which means from now on I'll see most of the sunset than I will of the sunrise. I'll do my best to keep living, but when the call comes for me to go I can only hope that I will take it quietly and gently.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

No Rule To Follow On This

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service "You have never commented," writes a Denver fan, "on the practice of melding all but two of a group that you pick up in a big pack."

commented on this before is that there is no simple rule to follow in this situation. Suppose that the opponents have melded and that they already have a canasta. The danger of an immediate meld-out is very strong.

It is seldom possible to see your course quite so clearly as in the extreme examples we have just discussed. Usually the opponents have melded but have not yet made a canasta; and it may be hard to know how near to a meld-out either opponent happens to be.

THE FORM DIVINE

By HILDEGARDE DOBSON

THE STORY: Lucilla Webb enrolls in the Beaufort school, but doesn't tell Arthur, her husband, how it will make a new woman out of her. Consequently Arthur is rather dumfounded at having events in the Webb household.

sleep this week so you'll be able to run as fast as Sniffles when he comes home? Hoopy's head popped up. "I can already run faster," she glanced at her mother. "You go in the living room and Daddy can sing me to sleep."

During the next week her New Year, having started at the top, worked his way down with startling rapidity. The session with Beautiful-You's clothes consultant wrought an especially profound change. Just as the Glamour Guides' exquisite bare legs were a constant reminder that You Too can achieve glorious underpinnings, so Mrs. Tendrilly was the dazzling chic symbol of You Too Can Look This Way With Clothes On.

opponents are going to have difficulty making their initial meld. There is no need to worry about a fast meld-out. In this situation you hold melds back. It is seldom possible to see your course quite so clearly as in the extreme examples we have just discussed.

ing the cushion-like appurtenances, Lucilla felt as if everybody she passed knew the difference. It wasn't until half-way through the evening that Arthur, suddenly caught sight of his wife in profile, and grunted with surprise. In expressing himself on the subject afterward, his argument that the new chest was too big and artificial-looking was weakened by her counter thrust that he hadn't even noticed anything different for hours.

Army Claims GIs To Have Warm Clothes

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — The Army says that this year the boys in combat are going to get their winter equipment when they need it. History shows a soldier needs winter equipment when it gets cold. The object of giving him safety and danger, it is sound to put down three of a kind and save a pair. With six of a kind, however, put down all six.

this type of clothing is to keep him warm, and protect his morale, so that he will go on with the fight. Many veterans will know what I mean when I say the American Army, certainly since 1941, has dressed for war as a summer pastime and met the march of winter with a rueful surprise. Nobody ever got frostbite in the air-conditioned supply headquarters in the Pentagon. But there would have been even more frostbite cases in the northern cork forests of Tunisia if our men hadn't been generously supplied by British troops in the field.

Convict Held For 19-Cent Robbery Leaps To Death

Warden Renald L. Whaley said Willie Cole, 23, dived to the edge of the boiler room roof and dived to the concrete paving below.

Nine-Year-Old Girl Is Rescued From Alligator

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — A nine-year-old girl was in "fair" condition today after her companion, 10, pulled her from the jaws of an alligator. Patrolman George Tomlinson reported Jerry Gustafson had a broken right arm and had lost considerable blood after being mauled by the six-foot reptile. The girl and 10-year-old Parker Stratton yesterday were wading in a rock pit where the gator was raised when it attacked Jerry. The boy pulled her from its jaws and the alligator submerged. It has not been seen since.

Sell New Deal To The Public

In a recent Saturday Evening Post article, which has been widely quoted and reprinted, Charles Stevenson described government activities in the field of propaganda paid for, of course, by the taxpayers.

One section of his article dealt with the Federal Security Agency's labors on behalf of compulsory government health insurance and related legislation.

Stevenson also pointed out that the American Medical Assn. was roundly abused for spending money to fight compulsory health insurance, which it believed would dangerously undermine our standards of medical care and make the doctor the servant of the politician.

Stevenson described many such instances. Every possible form of pressure was used to sell the health insurance scheme which, if historical precedent means anything, would have been merely a prelude to socialized medicine.

Luckily, the people weren't fooled — the health insurance scheme has been shelved. But that's only a temporary stratagem. It will be back — and the only way we can be sure of this is to be eternally vigilant.

Your Future

A press association recently carried a very interesting little story, based on information provided by Commerce Clearing House, an organization that is concerned with tax and business law.

According to the story, "If you are a 29-year-old average male, you can look forward to paying a minimum of $34,700 in taxes by the time you are 65."

The $34,700 member is a minimum. No one can forecast the future with accuracy. If government goes on with the prodigal waste that has characterized it for a generation, the ultimate tax bill for the 29-year-old average man and everyone else will be far higher.

Baxter's Views
DAVID BAXTER

ABUSES
Baxter's Boas! It's a positively herculean job trying to bat down all of the injustices and discriminations hatched up daily in the scheming, slanders and intrigues of the intellectual streetwalkers and economic jack o'lantern chasers.

According to reports which just hit my desk it's Chiropactors that are the trouble. One day the OPS said that Chiropactors, neturopaths, opticians and optometrists were to come under OPS while M.D.'s and osteopaths were not to come under price control. That's clearly favoring one healer over another.

Along comes a report shortly afterward that the Chiropactors have been exempted from OPS regulations. A Chiropactor source remarks, "Of course this is as it should be. Our government should take care not to discriminate between the different branches of healing in their regulations."

Chiropactors naturally are elated over this victory in forcing the government to give them equal status with the M.D.'s. The only thing is, it's only a bit of surface-scratching. THE REMEDY
The idea of Americanism is liberty and equality for all. When Chiropactors and osteopaths and others gain equality with medical men, we are for the better. If, on the other hand, it is good as far as it goes. It should go further, though, and get down to the foundation of the thing which is freedom for every individual to run his own life and affairs as he pleases so long as he doesn't overlap the same right of others.

Applying this to the OPS, for example, it isn't a matter of how much latitude we give to the OPS or whether or not we can get the OPS to give one group equality with another, but rather the principle that the OPS itself has no more business existing in free enterprise that has any other form of control over the lives and affairs of individuals. The OPS is a symbol of the socialistic change that has little-by-little enveloped this country in its octopus grip, transforming us from a liberty-loving people with love and respect for voluntary government of by and for us, to a regimented, dictated, and controlled citizenry living in actual fear of a government which has become ever and above us, a government so difficult to overthrow that Chiropactors and osteopaths have to wage a mighty struggle even to get equal standing with other healers in the prices the dictators will condescendingly permit them to ask for their services.

By the same token that M.D.'s are "granted" permission to charge what they will for their services, why not apply the same thing to all other professions and trades, including the tax collector, the candlestick-maker, in fair competition (there being adequate laws against monopolies) run their own affairs and charge whatever they think they are worth.

The trouble with most of the professions and trades and businesses is that they are only concerned with their own particular fields and not with general principles applicable to all of the people. The medical union, for example, doesn't want to be socialized yet it is quite willing to help socialize rival healing professions by restricting them and using the power of government to restrict them and deny them their equal rights. That's a clear abnegation of principle.

The Chiropactor spokesman who said, "Our government should take care not to discriminate between the different branches of healing in their regulations" could have rendered an even greater public service by saying that the government should take care not to discriminate between any citizens' or, even better, "Our government should do what it's supposed to do, which is to mind its own business and keep its hands off free competition and the personal and business affairs of the citizen." Right now I dare say more business people are mortally afraid of government threats and penalties than by any genuine love of a dictatorial bureaucracy.

The remedy for our whole national situation is to get the government out of the control and planning business and make it a servant of the people instead of a whip-cracker over them. If private individuals can't successfully handle their own affairs, then government certainly can't do the job any better. If we can't run our lives and businesses by being free, I don't see how we can improve the situation any. Sooner or later the thing will have to go one way or the other — either to individual liberty or state socialism and communism, right or left.

I honestly believe that some of our great professional groups are missing a wonderful opportunity to win wide public support by their failure to fight for the rights of the public as a whole — the entire people — instead of merely trying to protect their particular craft from being socialized. A professional organization that would look beyond its limited horizon and take up the great basic principle of liberty for everybody would not only be helping itself but would also be rendering a faithful public service. And when you render a service, you are paid for it — a reward in exact proportion to the value of the service rendered.

And professional group that will undertake this job will merit — and get the appreciation, support and compensation of a vast majority of the American people.

Superintendent Lynn Crawford Says Answering Questions About Schools Would Do No Good

Now that children are going back to school, the kind of an education they will get there should be of interest to every citizen, whether he has any children there or not.

Five years ago when I first offered Superintendent Lynn Crawford of Santa Ana, California schools $500 if he would submit to an interview where he would have to answer questions as he would before a court to determine whether or not tax supported schools were in harmony and agreement with the Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence, he came into my office. The reason for his not accepting the offer he said was that it would do no good. That was reason enough for Mr. Crawford. He seemed to want to draw an iron curtain around the question of what kind of an education the youth of the land is getting in public schools. Because Mr. Crawford said it would do no good, he seemed to think that it would do no good. A man who has a certificate to teach must never be questioned. He is over and above the parents and those who pay him. They get this attitude because they have a certificate from another bureaucrat that says they are educators and that they are qualified to educate whether they will answer questions without contradicting themselves or not.

Certainly the mess we are in today would indicate that most of us are not educated. If we were really educated in the American ideologies rather than alien philosophies we wouldn't be having so much socialism that brings on long periods of unemployment, debts, class legislation and one war after another.

There is a definite cause for the mess we are in. Every possible cause should be investigated. One's Definition of Good
Whether or not it would do any good to have a discussion on the question of tax supported schools would depend upon the definition of good. It certainly would not do any good if one determines what is good by how much power and authority public school teachers have to have over the youth of the land. If there would be an open and free discussion, the public would begin to learn what was being taught in schools and what the teachers are doing. They really knew what the teachers believed and what was being taught, they would not be so willing to make more and more sacrifices to give the public school teachers more and more power.

The discussion would show that public school teachers by the very nature of their occupation must believe in a double standard of morals. They must believe that they collectively by way of the state have a moral right to do things that they themselves as individuals have a moral right to do. I have never found a public school teacher who would contend for one minute that the voice of individual has a moral right to send an agent to initiate force to make another person help pay for his ideas of education. And if they believe in tax support, they must believe that the majority has a right to send an agent to make an unwilling citizen pay for the majority's idea of education. Therefore, the public school teachers disregard the Commandment of serving only one God. They disregard the still small voice that speaks within them and substitute for it the voice of the majority, no matter what it stands for.

Instead of being able to teach and educate the youth of the land to believe in eternal principles, eternal commandments and eternal laws, they of necessity must teach them that the majority determines the commandments, determines natural law and determines justice — that there are no eternal principles that govern human relations. In short, they must teach an atheistic, alien philosophy that denies the right and that the end justifies the means.

A discussion where each advocate of a different ideology of education would have to be tested by cross examination would have a tendency to show what education is. It would differentiate between training and education. The person who is opposed to tax supported schools would contend that real education stimulated in the individual a desire to be able to recognize an agreement or disagreement as John Locke contended. He would contend that the education that did not teach the youth that there are certain principles from which to reason was only a training, and that was not creating in the individual a desire to understand how to reason and what principle to use as a starting point from which to reason.

The discussion would tend to show that the teachers themselves were not interested in education, but that they were more interested in pretending to be interested in education. It would tend to show that their primary purpose was to be looked up to as educators and to get a living on an involuntary basis rather than rendering a service to the community as they do in all private enterprises.

There is a very definite reason why public school administrators draw an iron curtain around them and put a halo over public schools. They dare not submit to an interview where they would have to answer questions without evasion.

The reason they do not dare is that rational persons would come to know that their children were being taught by teachers who do not use the Commandments as a guide to determine what is good. That the teachers use their own changeable standard to determine good. That they cannot define good.

The ignorant man takes counsel of the stars, but the wise man takes counsel of God, who made the stars. — Jasher.

The Constitution Of The United States

FAIR ENOUGH--PEGLER

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
NEW YORK — The big Republicans are a lot of conceited yellow-bellies without the slightest moral or political integrity.

Nevertheless, because they intend to contribute a few hundred dollars or a few thousand dollars each to the campaign funds, they have the effrontery to appear before a board of directors of the party with the right to pick the candidate who will be the alternate to Truman when the people go to the polls to decide not next year but the fate of the nation.

It is no exaggeration to say that the fate of the nation will be decided in that election because if Truman gets a third term he will not longer have to affect the few remaining restraints upon a brutal, vulgar, reckless nature, so ominously revealed in his give 'em hell speeches and his vicious letters.

LOOKING SIDWAYS
By WHITNEY BOLTON

NATCHEZ, MISS.—You leave the curved, paved highway out of Natchez and turn into a narrow, rutted, twisting lane, shadowed by great oaks hung with moss. Your car bumps over the trembling boards of an ancient little bridge, heaves itself up over a rise and then, with the early morning mists vanishing into the woods like veils drawn by a disappearing nymph, you come upon the most amazing house in America: Longwood.

Tragic, eyesless, decaying Longwood, the first sharp break in America between the industrial and the ante-bellum river maidens and the just emerging Victorian architecture. Not a human hand has touched it in exactly 90 years, and its six stories of galleons, eight-sided masonry rise up in the Mississippi woods like a forgotten voodoo temple in the jungle.

This was the house into which Dr. Hailor Nutt poured his dreams, his money, his energies and his talents, which were considerable. He was a scientist of his time, he improved on Eli Whitney's cotton gin, he mysteriously brought from Egypt a certain type of cotton seed that has influenced all cotton grown in the South since.

He married a beautiful girl on the rebound from a suitor who had treated her shabbily — and then to surprise his bride, he bought Longwood plantation on the banks of the Mississippi. But it wasn't good enough. So Nutt sent to Philadelphia for famed architect Samuel Sloan — the Frank Lloyd Wright of his day — and, beset with a love for Moorish architecture, the eight-sided mansions of the Hudson River and a few other bizarre notions, he induced Sloan to design a new Longwood. The slaves began to tear down the old one, and masons from Philadelphia arrived by river boat to build the new one. It rose: 40, 50, 60 and, finally, 100 feet in the air; its eight sides of brick broken by galleries, arched windows and curved doorways. A large Arab dome capped the structure.

Slaves fashioned and baked brick in the back yard as fast as the masons could mortar them in to the vast walls. Meanwhile, Nutt and Sloan designed on Marble floor for utility first and beauty second, the second, or "social" floor. The marble was ordered from Italy. Huge statues of the four seasons to go into soaring niches on the third floor. In Rome sculptors went to work on them. And then came 1861, with nothing done but the basement floor and some fireplaces. Nutt insisted that the masons get back home before the war impounded them in Natchez. They fled.

They will tell you today that the old paint brushes on the fifth floor were dropped there by frantic painters and have been left there ever since — as they let them ple from the revenge which for more than four years held them in a condition to which no western race had been degraded since reconstruction in the South. You judge a man's wisdom and his ability by his past performances. But Eisenhower was a flunky to Roosevelt, bucking for the job of C-in-C and yessing the Mad Mahatma to keep it. And his weakness in joining the cowardly persecution of the Germans was disgraceful by comparison with Taft's immediate, uncompromising fight in the Senate against retroactive criminal legislation and his great and wise courage in holding out for a return to sanity at once — not eventually.

The anti-Taft campaign within his own camp by men who pretend to be straight Republicans took it on themselves to decide that the people of the United States shall not have a chance to vote for the man whom they felt a mad freak of politics. A few

There seems to be no other hope of restraining them and of smashing the power of their organizations except Robert H. Taft. War is the only economic program of the Democratic Party and its six stories of galleons, of course, inevitably will wipe out the American economy if the War Party is elected again.

Yet, Republicans of cynical mein, the kind who think they are clever and original when they convert operators and swindlers into a good substitute for victory, turn down Senator Taft offhand with the observation that although he is by far the best man to stand off by, they would rather win with Eisenhower than lose with Taft. The only man who can win is the best man can't win is the best propaganda that the Marxian Truman conspiracy could wait. And nobody is more active in spreading it than the very men who are supposed to be the best men to stand off by.

Why can't Taft win? The reason given is so shallow as to throw serious doubt on the right of the American people to the privilege of self-government. He has no political sex-appeal. He is not a convert operator and a swindler, intellectual patriot with the belly for a fight and a gentleman who will not resort to the language which prompted Bernard Baruch, in the only moment of honest courage in all his political life, to call Truman "a rude, uncouth, ignorant man."

How do these push-poll Republicans, these posturing dead-end kids, in their intervals between their poker-games in their New York ballroom near the park, come to the conclusion that Taft can't win? Has he ever lost? How can they say he won't fight? Who fought through the Taft-Hartley law, the only victory for the people over the entrenched mob of murdering union-busters with their unlimited taxing power over almost fifteen million faceless serfs? Taft did it. Taft confronted the gangs in their own strongholds and never stepped back an inch.

The pathetic yearning for Eisenhower is the measure of the integrity and ability of petty name-droppers of the Republican directorate who think they are impressing lesser men by speaking familiarly of "Eck" and "Bob." Even he should declare himself to be an orthodox Republican. Eisenhower would still have a ghastly gull in the present tragic situation from which he is now trying to extricate us in Europe. He never raised his voice against the Russian crush into Germany which overwhelmed Poland, Czechoslovakia, and the Baltic and Balkans. And, after the war, he lacked the guts to defend the beaten German peo-

ADMISION OF FAILURE: Our markets are riding roughshod over the theories of our socialist politicians. The economic witch doctors. These little men with little minds are bogged down in a quagmire of averages, planning, and controls. They thought to maintain a full and prosperous economy for the election year coming up.

But cross-trends are appearing in the structure and the planners are baffled. A White House aide puts it this way: "Things are not acting according to (our) economic theory. We are left without our usual tools for analysis. There must be characteristics in this economy with which we are not familiar — elements we haven't even discovered."

That's a frank admission of failure, and it should serve as a warning to the hopheads who thought government could solve their economic woes. It is plain that trouble is brewing in the camp of the planners. Political-economists can distribute poverty — and do — but it is not within the nature, or power, of a political structure to create prosperity. Inflation and economic chaos are the results of political meddling.

CRISS-CROSS TRENDS: Cross currents are multiplying and the policy makers are worried. Theoretically, all prices should be rising slowly. They're not. The wholesale index has been dropping steadily for more than three months, while the consumer index (retail prices) has been rising consistently over the same period. At the same time, the index of industrial production has held a steady level for about six months.

Personal income, after taxes, has been going up all year, but spending is not keeping pace with increased income. Inventories have stacked up and sales on many items have been broadspread. According to federal records, personal savings have been increasing at a record rate and are now around nine percent of disposable income. The arms program is displacing more and more civilian production, yet the latter appears to be quite ample.

Commodity controls are turning out to be a huge joke. Cotton is outstanding: the official ceiling is 45.32 cents a pound, and the current spot price is around 34 cents, and dropping. The distant 1952 futures range between 32 and 33 cents.

MORE COMMODITIES: Cottonseed oil is now selling around 14.75 cents a pound compared with a ceiling price of 23.50 cents, and a support price of 15.50 cents. Soybean oil spots at about the same figure with a ceiling of 20.90 cents.

WASHINGTON — Presidential and congressional indifference toward the published and televised relations of the Kefauver Crime committee means that no constructive action will result from that sensational investigation.

The millions who were shocked by the procession of criminals and their political pals across the television screen at Washington, New York and St. Louis, and who wondered how such things could happen in the enlightened United States, may just keep wondering.

Insofar as their effect on political behavior or enactment of stricter laws is concerned, they were just good entertainment of the kind anybody may see any night on TV.

NEGLECT — Officialdom's lackadaisical attitude toward further pursuit of the problem, including the underworld crooks and their political benefactors, furnishes the basic explanation of why the demonstrated alliance between politics and crime has flourished.

It explains why it will continue to pocket an estimated $20,000,000 a year from gambling, business racketeering, prostitution and resumption of large-scale bootlegging.

The neglect of this question becomes all the more amazing in view of post-Kefauver disclosures of a well-entrenched and crooked machine in the nation's capital itself, and in nearby Maryland.

Although its take from numbers and allied rackets is estimated at many millions annually, with charges of protection money paid to certain public officials, Congress shies away from a hundred self-important magnates frankly concede to be the best man in the nation.

Truman is still a true protégé of crooked old Tom Pendergast. His own people hold him in contempt so, in malice, he turned to Americans for Democratic Action and the criminal goons of unionism, willingly selling his own country into war and Marx for the pay and power that goes with the job of President.

If Taft can't lick that specimen, the people won't best him. Taft but justly deserve Truman and the worst that that implies.

Wool, at $1.90 a pound nominal, can go up to $3.35. Cocoa, selling at about 35.50 cents a pound, with futures down to 29.35 cents, has a ceiling of 38.38 cents. Hides, silk, and coffee are well below selling levels.

Natural rubber (imported) has dropped from 81 cents a pound last December to 52 cents a pound today. But government-controlled synthetic rubber was boosted from 45.5 cents a pound to 24.50 cents last December and has just been raised to 26 cents currently. "Higher manufacturing costs" is the government's explanation! And it's the explanation for the two-way trend in prices.

Retail costs will not follow wholesale and raw commodity prices downward. Rising manufacturing and distributing costs are taking up the slack and adding their weight to all price tags in goods move from the producer lines through the wholesaler and on up to the retail level.

NEW CROLE COMING: Big crops are behind the drop in basic commodities, but nature doesn't guarantee big crops every year. So even that small gain to the consumer can vanish quickly, though the various commodities have been raised to 26 cents currently. "Higher manufacturing costs" is the government's explanation! And it's the explanation for the two-way trend in prices.

The lawmakers refuse to clean up their own doorstep as an example to New York, Miami, Chicago, and areas adjacent to those crime centers.

CRITICISM — Maryland, incidentally, is the home state of Senator O'Connor, who became head of the Kefauver committee after the Tennessee withdrawal. He was governor during the period when the recently exposed gambling ring got its start, according to the charges against Florida, in answer to senatorial criticism of lax enforcement by his police and attorneys, has charged that Senator O'Connor's free state tolerates even worse offenses against the law. The new exposure has a veiled plea of O'Connor in an embarrassing position.

INTEREST — In view of evidence that the original Kefauver committee barely scratched the surface, and even had done a surely amateurish job in some instances, it was expected that another special committee would be created by the Senate to finish the job.

But not a single effective voice was heard. Neither President Truman nor Attorney General McGrath, our top law enforcement officers, showed any interest or concern, persisting in their general opposition to this kind of an inquiry. They have insisted from the beginning that it is "local" problem, despite its interstate ramifications.

HEART — With the expiration of the Kefauver committee's life and the failure to name a successor body, general jurisdiction in this field fell to the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee. But Chairman Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado made clear that he has no heart for the task, and he was backed up by his associates.

With few exceptions, the Johnson committee consists of conservative and unemotional men. They prefer to deal with less primitive problems than chasing animals, as the title of the committee suggests. Unless forced to action by public opinion, they will look the other way.

More importantly, this same observation applies to the whole Senate. As a matter of fact, the Department of Justice, they too, prefer to forget that Senator Kefauver and his committee ever existed.

MEANINGLESS — Even proposed legislation resulting from the Kefauver investigation will prove meaningless in curbing criminal activities. As a matter of fact, it is not certain that any of the so-called "constructive legislation" will become law.

Instead of preventing the big gamblers from deducting losses in their income tax reports, framers of the 1952 revenue bill have simply levied an occupation tax on gamblers, even though their activities are illegal. It is a tax that will be impossible to collect without as large an army of federal spies as we had in prohibition days.

The family had insisted that she visit the doctor, and the old lady was pretty angry about it. Old Lady — The very idea! Making me come to you just because I love welfare! What's wrong with loving welfare?

Doctor — Why, nothing. I'm very fond of welfare, myself. Old Lady — You are! You must come and see me. I've got some things I've got closets and closets full of 'em.

since last October has raised costs in our domestic rubber industry by 166 millions. General Electric now is adding about $30 millions to payrolls of cost.

It's the same story across the board. The trend of retail prices is up. Costs added to costs make higher prices, and it's as simple as that. This is an economic truth our planners should consider carefully, to understand it would save them much confusion. To utilize this knowledge intelligently would save us all the endless despair of chasing our economic tails forever and over.

Yanks Win Big One To Move Back On Top Of Cleveland

(By The Associated Press) New York's defending champion Yankees still win the big ones — and that is why they're back in first place today.

Because of their ability to rise to the occasion, because they seldom folded in the clutch, and because they were able to beat the team in front of them, the Yankees won the flag in 1949 and '50.

History simply repeated itself yesterday when the Bronx Bombers crushed Cleveland, 5-1, and replaced the Indians at the top of the American League.

At the same time, Boston's third-place Red Sox remained right in the thick of things by beating the Chicago White Sox, 4-2, and climbing to within 1 1/2 games of the top.

The Yankee victory came on the anniversary of their taking the league lead a year ago. Only on Sept. 16, 1950, it was the "Tigers" that beat to grab a lead they never lost.

New York's first-place hold is a precarious three percentage points and it can be expunged today if Ed Lopat loses to Cleveland's Bob Lemon in the last meeting between the two clubs.

Up to now, however, the Indians have shown pathetic ineptness at the Yankee Stadium. Of 10 games on the Yankees' home grounds they have won only one.

Allie Reynolds, whom the Indians traded to the Yankees in the winter of 1949, pitched the tomahawk yesterday. He set the Tribe back on five hits and drove in the winning run with a second-inning single.

It was in the Yankee half of the fifth, however, that the crucial contest reached its most dramatic point, as far as the capacity crowd of 67,700 was concerned.

The Yankees, leading 3-1, had a runner on third with two away. Cleveland strategy dictated an intentional pass to the left-handed Yonkers pitcher, who pitched to Joe DiMaggio. It was the third time in DiMaggio's illustrious career — all coming this season — that a batter was passed to get at Joe. It was the first time since 1912 that a batter was passed to get at Joe.

Odessa Puts Test To Strong Port Arthur This Weekend

(By The Associated Press) A schedule of 56 games in which powers of Classes AAAA and AAA will be matched brings the Texas schoolboy football campaign to full stature this week.

The top echelons of the high school grid are busy swatting each other in interclass struggles with Class AAA producing as many juggernauts as their so-called high-and-mighty brothers.

Port Arthur, which in two weeks has grown to its usual status of a state champion favorite, dominates both classes although not yet playing a team from AAA.

Last week the Yellow Jackets slammed Texarkana 37-7 and Texarkana was one of the favored teams in North Texas.

This week Port Arthur gets a stiff test indeed as the Jackets journey into West Texas to try the Odessa Bronco. Odessa last week clipped well-rated John Reagan of Houston 21-10.

Other stand-out games send Midland of Class AAA to Class AAAA Yaletta, Adamson (Dallas) to Class AAA Temple, McAllen of Class AAA to Class AAAA Harlingen and Baytown to Denton. It was Denton that Port Arthur, in the same district as Baytown, laced 48-0 week before last.

The feature intersectional struggle pits Lubbock against Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City. Wichita Falls, winner of two Class AA state titles in a row, took a 6-0 licking from Vernon of Class AAA last week in opening the season as a member of AAAA. Friday the Coyotes catch another tartar — Breckenridge, one of the state title favorites of AAAA. Breckenridge last week beat Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) 39-7.

Temple is another favorite in AAA and the Wildcats could go in AAAA. They showed that last week in clipping Waco 35-7.

Abilene scored in their half of the sixth. The winning run came on a sacrifice fly to left field. The Yankees have 13 and the Red Sox 14, but eight are against each other.

Last it be forgotten, there still is a pennant race in the National League. The Yankees over Pittsburgh, 7-1 and 6-4, kept the faint hopes of the New York Giants alive as Brooklyn's first-place margin shrunk to 4 1/2 games despite their 6-1 triumph over the Cubs in Chicago.

Maxwell Youngest Champ Since Jones

BETHELEHEM, Pa. — (AP) — Texas, the land of cattle, oil and golfers, has another champion to add to its archives today — red-haired Billy Maxwell, the 20-year-old National Amateur golf winner.

The North Texas State College golf captain is at 22 the youngest to take the crown since Bobby Jones came out of Atlanta in 1924 to win the first of his three major titles.

Maxwell earned the title Saturday by defeating Joe Gagliardi, 29, Mamaroneck, N.Y., lawyer and father of five, 4 and 3 over heavily-trapped Saucon Valley Country Club course.

Maxwell, a 155 pounder who learned his golf leaning on a fence at an Abilene County Club, reminded spectators of two other great Texas linkmen, Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson. Billy traveled the course like a pro, his feet barely touching the grass.

Little watched at the start of the tournament which saw Uncle Sam's entire Walker Cup team eliminated. Maxwell played the most consistent golf of the week. His median score was eight over par for nine rounds.

He eliminated Bob Wimmer, Northfield, N.J.; Harvie Ward, Fayetteville, N.C.; Laur Crannell, Dallas; Tom Strange, Cincinnati; Arnold Blum, Mason, Pa., and Jack Benasack, Pittsburgh.

Bowl Film For Quarterbacks

The Pampa Quarterback Club will hold its second meeting of the year at 8 o'clock tonight in the Cabot Auditorium on the sixth floor of the Hughes building.

Shown tonight will be the film of the Pampa-Sweetwater game as well as the movie of the Texas-Tennessee Cotton Bowl game of last year.

On hand will be the Harvester coaches to give a recap on the game of last weekend and also a preview of what is coming up this next Friday when Austin of El Paso opens its season at Pampa.

Kiwanians Retain Civic Club Golf Championship For Year

The Pampa Kiwanis Club retained its Civic Club golf championship yesterday afternoon at the Pampa Country Club by smothering out a net average of 75 1/4 strokes per man on the Kiwanis 24-man team. The Kiwanis Club also won the title last year, relieving the Rotary Club of the honor. It won in 1949, the first year of the event.

Second place went to the Rotary with a 78.8 average; the Jaycees trailed with 82.

The tournament saw a total of 68 contestants, 34 from Kiwanis, 21 from the Lions, 14 from the Rotary, and 9 Jaycees.

The Kiwanis club produced both the low gross and low net champions. Low gross shooter for the afternoon was Clare Freeman, city champion, who fired an even par 71 over the layout on a beautiful sunny afternoon. Low net shooter was Jack Nimmo, with an 80-86. Runner-up to Freeman also came from the Kiwanis Club. Warren Hassel fired a 77, one under third place shooter, Dr. J. F. Elder, also of Kiwanis.

Three tied for runner-up honors to Nimmo for low net: John McFall, Kiwanis, Dr. M. McDaniel, Lions, and Paul Beisenherz, Rotary, all had net 87's, while Hassel finished with a net of 88.

The putting contest was won by Dr. Joe Donaldson, Lions, who won a nine-hole playoff from Joe Key, Rotary. Both finished the 36-hole contest with a total of 32 putts.

A banquet will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at the Country Club to fetter all the contestants and the winner.

The complete scores for all the entrants, the gross score listed first followed by the net, were as follows:

KIWANIS — Clare Freeman, 71-70; Dr. Elder, 76-78; Dr. Laycock, 82-78; Ralph McKinney, 89-80; Warren Hassel, 77-88; Jeff Bearden, 79-89; Ted Thompson, 89-75; Red Weathered, 90-78; Les Hart, 84-72; Joe Wells, 85-73; Bob Blaker, 88-84; Jack Nimmo, 80-86; Dick Pepin, 90-83; George Thompson, 91-75; John McFall, 85-87; Shorty Lane, 97-75; Myron Marx, 85-71; Bob Curry, 100-83; Dr. Key, 101-82; Ernie Voss, 92-73; Huelyn Laycock, 97-76; Ken Meaders, 108-81; Joe Black, 98-78; Bunny Behrman, 100-82.

ROTARY — Ed Ethridge, 96-78; Fred Neelage, 92-76; F. Frank Watson, 85-73; Tom Ross, 87-75; Joe Key, 83-71; Delia Vicars, 93-78; Dallas Bowsher, 89-75; Luke McClelland, 88-72; Dan Gribbon, 102-86; Walt Wanner, 100-84; Dr. Williams, 96-78; Quentin Williams, 90-78; Floyd Inel, 108-89; Frank Smith, 106-87; D. L. Parker, 112-93; Jack Merchant, 101-82; Verl Hagaman, 108-89; Ralph Dunbar, 109-85; Walden Moore, 108-76; Frank Culbertson, 100-89; Dr. McDonald, 98-67; Jake Garman, 93-77; Ed Cleveland, 120-89.

JAYCEES — Frank Pata, 101-86; Ed Myatt, 98-82; Raymond Harrah, 106-88; Joe Fischer, 95-80; Jim Arndt, 95-77; J. W. Graham, 90-70; H. C. Grady, 100-80; Howie Wilkham, 113-83; Ivan Noblitt, 126-86.

Gainesville Wins Big State Crown

GAINESVILLE — (AP) — Gainesville, the smallest city in Class B baseball, reigns supreme today in the Big State League. The Owls won the championship to go along with their straight away pennant by downing Sherman Denton four games to one.

The Owls now are resting for their little Dixie Series meeting with the Gulf Coast League champion, still to be decided. Brownsville's leading the Corpus Christi Aces two games to none in that championship series.

Gainesville took the title last night with a 1-0 victory, their fourth straight after losing the opener of the series. Andy Sierra, Owl lefthander, scattered six hits to best Earl Beasley.

Beasley topped the Owl southpaw most of the way as he allowed only four hits, but a double, an error and a long fly cost him the only run of the game in the fifth inning.

Sierra struck out 11.

Middlecoff Wins

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Cary Middlecoff won the Eastern Open yesterday and $2,400 with a score of 279, nine under par for 72 holes.

This boosted Middlecoff's earnings to $19,150.

Coast title, taken on non-conference Santa Clara. Also in the West, Idaho tackles Wyoming, Utah plays Arizona and Colorado A&M plays Colorado.

North Carolina State and North Carolina produce the major fireworks in the Southern Conference, but Duke at South Carolina shapes up as another top league contest.

Collegiate Football Schedule Picks Up This Next Weekend

NEW YORK — (AP) — Firing on the collegiate football front picks up this weekend, but the big news is the injury bugaboo for two all-America backfield stars.

One was the Nebraska star last year, the other the leading passer among collegians.

Nebraska's great halfback and a nation's leading scorer last fall, suffered a shoulder separation in scrimmage Saturday.

The previous Saturday Don Heinrich, University of Washington's stellar quarterback and passer, was injured the same way during practice. He was the top collegiate passer last fall, and was counted upon to pitch the Huskies right into the Rose Bowl.

Several major intersectional games dot the map this week, headed by a meeting between Kentucky and Texas in Austin, Oregon State and Michigan State Saturday, The Texas Aggies, a threat along with Baylor to cop the Southwest Conference title, meet UCLA at Los Angeles Friday night in another headliner.

Kentucky, defending Southeastern Conference champion, is a and winner over Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl, tuned up last Saturday with a 72-13 mauling of Tennessee Tech. Babe Parilli completed 10 of 15 passes in the first half.

Other games Saturday saw Florida defeat Wyoming in the Skyline Six champions, 13-0, while the University of Cincinnati drubbed VMI 26-7. North Carolina State, with what appears to be its best team in several years, blanked Catawba, 34-0. Utah opened with a 14-0 romp over Montana State. Denver eased over Colorado College, 41-0, and Arizona thumped New Mexico A&M, 67-13.

BUSINESS REVIEW AND FORECAST

Howell North Texas Dealer For Delco-Heat

THE BERT A. HOWELL & COMPANY, pictured above is your headquarters for heating, air conditioning and sheet metal work for the Panhandle area. Located at 119 North Ward, Bert A. Howell & Company recently obtained the distributorship for Delco-Heat for the North Texas area. Delco-Heat is manufactured by a subsidiary of General Motors.

Local Firm Exclusive Distributor Of Delco-Heating; Equipment Made By General Motors' Subsidiary

Bert Howell of the Bert A. Howell & Company last week announced that he has been made the exclusive distributor for Delco-Heating equipment in North Texas. Delco Appliance Division is a subsidiary of General Motors.

Delco-Heat now has a new automatic Gas Conditionair with a complete line of value leader forced air models. This outstanding line of Delco-Heat designed and manufactured equipment with five models, completely answers, by full coverage of capacity ranges, gas heating requirements of all size homes.

The models feature a new burner-radiator combination. Using a multi-section heat transfer system with electrically welded steel Multi-Rad radiators and a double ribbon type Burner functioning as a unit, Delco-Heat engineering has achieved a new desired heating performance, economy and trouble-free operation.

With the Delco-Heat double ribbon type Burner, gas is burned with greater efficiency in many small flames. Ports are formed by a unique interlocking arrangement of stainless steel ribbons welded in a solid cast iron housing.

The Delco-Heat Burner is designed to function with the Multi-Rad radiator, and produces quiet, clean and efficient flame. This burner is for use with natural, mixed, manufactured, LP and LP-Air gases at all altitudes.

The heat transfer system in the Delco-Heat Gas Conditionair is a series of individual drawn steel radiators arranged vertically in parallel series to provide maximum total radiation surface. All joints are seam-welded and lead-tested to assure complete confinement of products of combustion.

Heat is supplied to each radiator by a single burner arm. A steel heat baffie retains the products of combustion and forces them to scrub against the radiator surfaces — that maximum heat may be transmitted to the air stream moving upward, along the outer surfaces.

Another Delco-Heat combination of value features:

1. Built in draft diverter which eliminates unsightly external attachment;
2. Delco-Heat ribbon burner which means quiet, uniform, clean flame;
3. Multi-Rad heat transfer system made up of drawn steel radiators giving greater radiation area, assuring quicker, more complete use of the heat created;
4. safety pilot — pilot flame failure shuts off all gas flow to the main burner;
5. centrifugal blower brings return air from living quarters through filters and circulates it along radiator surfaces for heating, then through the ducts it works back to the room to be heated. Specially designed mounting permits easy removal of burner blower and motor for service;
6. Blower Motor — dependable quiet operating Delco Appliance Rigidframe Motor with thermal overload protection. Both blower and motor are rubber mounted for noiseless operation;
7. Filter — viscous-treated spun glass, removes dust and other particles from the air;
8. Jacket — heavy duty furniture steel, baked enamel finish in rich Delco green. Rear panel removable for heat exchanger inspection. Case is kept cool by scientifically designed wipe sheets between heat exchanger and jacket;
9. Enclosed Controls — located inside of the Conditionair jacket for protection and streamlined appearance, easily accessible for adjustment;
10. Delco-Heat coordinated Thermostat and controls react instantly to variations in room temperature to provide comfortable, level temperature home heating; and
11. Humidifier — Automatic float type, available for all models.

Mack's Offers Longer Life For Shoes Through Prompt And Expert Repair

Well another school year has gotten underway. In honor of the occasion all of the kiddies got new shoes. Hard wear and tear from the work and play of active youngsters will wear off the new, however. In these days of high prices and scarcities it is of vital importance to make things last. Proper shoe care can do much to preserve the appearance and life of shoes. To meet this need Mack's Shoe Shop offers a select group of shoe polishes and shoe dressings; they handle a complete color selection of Cavalier Shoe Polish as well as all shoe oils needed for water proofing and softening shoe leather.

Of even greater importance than the appearance is the support given by the shoe. No shoe can afford proper support to the foot when it has run down heels. Mack's Shoe Shop is equipped to make superior and speedy repairs. They can put new heels on your shoes in just three minutes.

Men buying new fall wardrobes should remember that no outfit is correct without the right shoes. To meet the shoe needs of discerning gentlemen who realize that shoes are more than just foot coverings, S. T. Stewart of Mack's Shoe Shop carries Bate's Original Shoes. These are the same fine shoes which you have seen advertised in Esquire and The Saturday Evening Post. Known as the shoe that is "Slipper-Free Where Your Foot Bends," this shoe features extra width across the ball of the foot. Because this additional width is invisible the shoe maintains its trim, smart appearance BUT your foot feels the difference. Besides the Bate's shoe styles already in stock at Mack's Shoe Shop there are many others available upon special order from the Bate's Shoe Company in Webster, Mass. You will find the correct shoe for sport, dress, or leisure wear among the Bate's Originals. Having pioneered in men's shoe styling since 1885 the Bate's Shoe Company puts equal emphasis on style and comfort.

NO-ROACH Modern Way To Control Roaches, Ants Think of all the ways you've used to fight cockroaches and ants. Smearing soap on potato slices, baiting traps, filling cumbersome sprays. And you never really got rid of them, did you? Since it is now believed that the roach is a possible polio carrier, all the more reason not to tolerate them.

Now it's time for you to try a really simple and effective product. Johnson's NO-ROACH is a sensational new roach and ant killer that requires no potatoes, trays or sprays at all.

Science has just produced this new discovery that kills roaches, ants, waterbugs and that stays effective for months.

Johnson's NO-ROACH is very simple and easy to use. Just brush this colorless, odorless, stainless coating on the kitchen cabinets, baseboards, near the stove, ice box, sink, etc. Brushed across window sills and door sills, NO-ROACH kills the ants and insects that crawl into the home from the outside.

Insects that walk across the invisible coating slowly become paralyzed and die, then this application stays effective for months to kill the strays that wander in. No phosphorus. You apply it just no DDT, no sodium fluoride and Johnson's NO-ROACH contains where you want it, without having to move all your dishes and pots and pans. No more messy powder sprinkling, or all-over spraying, when you start controlling roaches, ants, and waterbugs this modern NO-ROACH way.

NO-ROACH is on sale at Cretney Drug Company. Prices are 8 ounces for 89c, pint for $1.69, and quart for $2.98.

Miscellaneous Shower Compliments Mrs. Calvin Thielman, Recent Bride

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Mrs. Calvin Thielman, the former Dorothy Barnett, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Dalton Ford. Co-hostesses were Meses Jo Skaggs, Connor O'Neal, John Darnell, Torbett Collins, T. C. Jackson, Olive Jordan, R. T. Corde, and Wayne Jordan, and Misses Nancy Ford and Mary Lou S. G. G.

Mrs. Ford, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. J. A. Barnett, and Miss Mary Moss Richardson of Canyon, formed the receiving line; and Mrs. Jackson presided at the guest book.

Mary Lou Skaggs played piano selections throughout the entertainment hours.

The refreshment table, which was laid with a lace cloth over blue fastened with blue and yellow ribbons, was lighted by white candles in crystal holders ornamented with yellow wedding bells tied with blue and yellow ribbon. The centerpiece was an altar covered with a net ruffle and nylon lace from the wedding dress of Mrs. Robert Miller, a recent bride and close friend of the honoree. Under an archway of lilies of the valley stood a miniature bride and bridegroom and a bevy of tiny cherubs.

Mints, punch and individual cakes laid in white with blue and yellow bells were served by Mrs. Wayne Jordan, who was attired in a blue suit with a corsage of yellow daisies.

Out of town guests were Miss Richardson, Canyon; Mrs. I. T. Hucklebee, Bovina; Mrs. Paul Trenfield, Higgins; Mrs. John Hickox and Mrs. Bill Hammers, Lark; Mrs. C. L. Edwards, Mrs. O. D. Smith, and Mrs. Pearl Robinson, Panhandle; Meses J. E. Wagoner, John C. Farley, E. R. Hess, Trust Fields, C. D. Kunkel, Sr., P. E. Johnson, C. A. Morrow, O. R. Lower Octane In Gas Is Predicted By PAD Official

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — (AP) — This nation's motorists are faced with the prospect of unsatisfactory gasoline, a petroleum defense official has predicted.

C. E. Davis, director of refining of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, issued the warning in an address to the National Petroleum Assn.

He said that unless the refining industry allocated more primary lead and increased tetraethyl lead needed for the anti-knock quality of gasoline would be drastically curtailed. Allocation plans of the National Production Authority will cut the amount of lead available for motor fuel to 47 percent of the August level, Davis added.

"This would result in a three-octane number reduction on an average basis across the board," he said. "Such a drastic reduction would mean severe hardship to all refiners and marketers and also would result in very unsatisfactory performance in a large segment of the automotive fleet of the nation."

Meeks Of Wheeler Married 50 Years

WHEELER — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Meek observed their 50th wedding anniversary on Sept. 9. Their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dyson, gave a reception in their honor.

The Meeks' other children, Mrs. George Trimble of Bovina and Aston Meek of Pampa, acted as co-hostesses and host.

About 200 guests registered during the afternoon and sampled the cake with its banner "50th Anniversary" on the top. Of all the gifts received by the couple, Mrs. Meek admits she is fondest of the diamond ring from Mr. Meek.

They are both in their early fifties and their youngest child, a daughter, is a college student. For the most part their has been a good marriage. But three years ago, the husband began an affair with another woman. It is ended now and he assures his wife that his family means more to him than anything else. All he wants is a chance to make up for the past three years.

She wants to accept him on those terms but is finding that it isn't as easy to forgive and forget as it is to promise to do so.

I go along fine for a few days, she writes, "thinking everything will be all right again and then all the hurt and disillusionment seems to overwhelm me. And I wonder if I can go on living with him. I had so much faith in him that it has been a terrible shock. How can I forget and go on living as though this had never happened?"

You can't. For it did happen. You can't hope to either forget or have the same kind of faith in your husband's love that you once had.

But you can be happy again. If your husband is sincere about how important his family is to him, you can in time rebuild your marriage and make it strong again.

DO NOT GO ON BROODING. To be happy again is going to take a lot of determination and willpower. You can't forget the other woman but you can make yourself stop brooding about her. You don't forget a serious illness once you recover. But you don't let the thought of how it had it was dominate your thoughts once the illness is conquered.

Try to take that same attitude toward the past three years. They brought you great unhappiness. They might have wrecked your marriage for good. But they didn't. So don't let yourself go on brooding about them.

Realize that though you may have been blameless in what has happened, you have got to go more than half way in rebuilding your marriage.

Show your husband that you still love and respect him, that you want to spend the rest of your life as his wife, that he is important to you. Convince him of that not by talk but by your attitude toward him. You will have strengthened the foundation of your marriage. Don't ever think you can't go on. You can.

Band Mothers Club Of Lefors Elects Officers; Projects Listed

LEFORS — (Special) — The Lefors Band Mothers club met Tuesday afternoon in the band hall for the first meeting of the school year.

Mrs. Jim Thurmond, club president, presided over a meeting at which officers were elected.

Those elected were Mrs. A. T. Cobb, president; Mrs. Vernon Northcutt, vice president; Mrs. J. Howell, secretary - treasurer, and Mrs. W. C. Maples, social chairman.

Outgoing officers were Mrs. Jim Thurmond, president; Mrs. Alfred Bennett, vice president; Mrs. J. C. Roberts, treasurer; Mrs. G. B. Bogan, secretary, and Mrs. R. Bogan, social chairman.

Some of the projects of the club for the past year were sponsoring a jamboree at the school and a cake walk at the Halloween carnival to raise funds to provide musical stands for the band hall; serve refreshments for all band socials; give band members a Christmas party and buy awards for the outstanding achievements of band members.

A majorette trophy was presented to Mary Nell Guthrie, and twirlers pins to Lou Dean Cotton, Elaine Forch and Geraldine Dumm. Jackets went to Gwendolyn Thurmond, Jimmy Roberts, Barbara Sanders and Robert Perkins. The awards were presented at a banquet.

Club members will continue to pay dues and will serve the band members and parents immediately after each Friday night home football game.

Desmond Brewer is the band director at Lefors. There are approximately 40 members in the Band Mothers club.

Rosie The Riveter Has Nothing On Lady Shoemaker

YOAKUM — (AP) — "Rosie the Riveter" has nothing on Mrs. Gus Kovalick of Yoakum.

Mrs. Kovalick is a shoemaker. She runs her own shoeshop, repairs shoes, manages the business, buys needed equipment and purchases new stock.

Mrs. Kovalick's father established his own shoe shop in Yoakum more than 20 years ago. He taught his four sons the trade.

During World War II, when the four sons were in the service, Mrs. Kovalick began to learn to be a shoemaker and help out in the shop.

After the war, the boys went into other business, and Mrs. Kovalick has been a shoemaker ever since. Her father died in 1930.

"It must seem strange to some of the new salesmen who call on me to see a woman shoemaker," she said.

"When I tell them I'm the shoemaker and manager, they sure look surprised."

There is a power in the soul, quite separate from the intellect, which sweeps away or recognizes the marvelous, by which God is felt. Faith stands serenely far above the reach of the atheism of science. It does not rest on the wonderful, but on the eternal wisdom and goodness of God.

Home Progress Club Of Miami Meets In C. W. Bowers Home

MIAMI — (Special) — The Home Progress club held the opening meeting Thursday with a one o'clock luncheon in the home of Mrs. C. W. Bowers.

Mrs. Grady Adcock gave the invocation.

After a bountiful meal, served by the social committee, Mrs. W. C. Scott, the new president, took charge of a short business meeting, and the new club books for the year were distributed.

Mrs. W. L. Russell, leader of the program, announced that she had planned an evening of forty-two games. Partners for the games and places at the tables were chosen by the matching of all-day suckers. Mrs. Russell then passed out paper sacks containing a number of prizes. Every time one lost a game, she forfeited one of the prizes to winners. At the end of the playing, Mrs. W. L. Lard was found to have high score.

Those present were members, Meses, Bowers, Scott, Russell, J. V. Coffee, A. H. Gordon, Frank Gracey, Lard, W. F. Locke, L. A. Maddox, R. B. Mathers, J. K. McKenzie, C. H. Mulkey, Hattie Seiber, R. E. Thompson, R. E. Webster, and guests, Meses. Grady Adcock and Mabel Arrington.

Neal took it hard. "I was very much in love with the girl, and still am today," he admitted. "I hope she and Tone will be very happy."

Tone, his doctor reports, is on the road to rapid recovery. He proposed marriage yesterday to Miss Payton during her second fire escape visit to his room.

"I love him very much," the 25-year-old film player said afterward in her first cordial encounter with newsmen since the fight. "We knew yesterday that we would marry, but today he asked me."

County Seats Get Invitations For Texas State Fair

DALLAS — (AP) — Every county seat in Texas has been invited to participate in the 1951 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6-21, by having a special program on a day designated in its name.

James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager, has written a personal invitation to the mayor or Chamber of Commerce manager in each of the 254 towns and cities that are Texas county seats.

The cities are being invited to take part in the fair in conjunction with the fair's new "Storybook of Texas Agriculture," which tells the story of the state's agricultural economy in terms of crops raised in each of the 14 extension districts of the Texas A&M system.

Each district also has a special day at the fair, as follows: Oct. 6, District 1, the Panhandle; Oct. 7, District 2, the South Plains; Oct. 8, District 3, the Rolling Plains; Oct. 9, District 4, North Texas; Oct. 10, District 5, Hill country and Winter Garden area; Oct. 11, District 6, the Big Bend; Oct. 12, District 7, the Edwards plateau; Oct. 13, District 8, North Texas; Oct. 14, District 9, the Piney Woods; Oct. 15, District 10, the Heart of Texas; Oct. 16, District 11, the Gulf coast; Oct. 17, District 12, Central Texas; Oct. 18, District 13, Rio Grande plains; Oct. 19, District 14, South Texas.

The effort is to index and type the blood of as many Wheeler county people as possible.

This Movie Star's Secret: Double-Duty Time

Screen Lover Is Loser In Fight But Wins The Gal

LINS 1-34 COND SCREEN LOVER HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Franchot Tone, the suave screen lover, lost a fight over a shapely blonde but apparently has won the girl.

Actress Barbara Payton says she proposed and she said "Yes." Thus the ultimate loser of a pre-dawn movie colony brawl is muscular Tom Neal, who threw the punch which pulped Tone's patrician profile and hospitalized him with a brain concussion.

Neal took it hard. "I was very much in love with the girl, and still am today," he admitted. "I hope she and Tone will be very happy."

Tone, his doctor reports, is on the road to rapid recovery. He proposed marriage yesterday to Miss Payton during her second fire escape visit to his room.

Rape Suspect Gives Self Up

DOUBLE SPRING, Ala. — (AP) — Claude Green, 46-year-old sawmill worker who evaded an intensive manhunt for nine days, surrendered Sunday to face rape-murder indictments.

Accompanied by his brother Green gave himself up to Sheriff Charles W. Harrison in neighboring Walker county.

Green, of Nauvoo, Ala., was indicted by the Winston County grand jury for the rape and brutal murder of Mrs. Z. A. Boushelt, 77-year-old cattle raiser whose nude, partly burned body was found Sept. 8 in the home where she lived alone.

It is this earth that, like a kind mother, receives us at our birth and sustains us when born; it is this alone, of all the elements around us, that is never found an enemy of man.—Pliny.

BEAUTY AFTER FORTY

GRACE E. BARSTOW MURPHY

The other day I picked up a book entitled, "There's Always Adventure" by Grace E. Barstow Murphy. I became deeply interested in it—partly because of her reason for writing the book, the pride which she displays in her husband and his work!

This is a tale of adventure but to me it is also a love story because Mrs. Murphy had the courage to follow her husband on his scientific journeys to all sorts of strange and wild places. She began her married life with a year of separation so that her husband could get his start in the work which was to set the pattern of their life together.

Later the children often accompanied their parents on these strange journeys to the far corners of the world. At the age of 59, with no preliminary hardening, Mrs. Murphy strapped a pack on her back and walked the 33 mountainous, rugged miles of the Milford Track in New Zealand! She finished in the best of health and spirits

Mrs. Dittberner Hosts WMU Meeting In Home

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Mrs. Edward Dittberner was hostess to the Baptist WMU Wednesday afternoon at her home southwest of town.

Mrs. C. C. Kelly brought the devotional; Mrs. Glendon Young discussed "What We Are Doing to Enlighten the Racial Groups in Texas"; Mrs. Frank Evans, "How We Work Together in the War of Righteousness"; and Mrs. Kelly, "City Missions." Prayer by Mrs. M. V. Mears and meditation by Mrs. Bob Lutz concluded the program.

Others present were Meses, W. E. Moore, Glen Young, Jessie Pearson and T. G. Bratton.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Brewton.

Too Many Friends Are Undoing Of Popcorn Salesman

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Marvin Colyer's popcorn-eating friends are going to miss him.

And judging from the popcorn he gave away, there are quite a few of them.

Colyer, 44-year-old lobby salesman for the Ritz theater, was arrested yesterday and charged with converting another's property to his own use.

He said he gave popcorn to his friends because he "just wanted to be good to them."

It's uncertain how many 10-cent bags he gave away in two years, but City Detective Earl Knies said a guess would be 15,000 to 40,000.

Knies said Colyer admitted ordering that many bags to cover up his generosity. He also bought some extra popping corn when supplies ran low.

His employer, Allen Bradley, became suspicious when he noticed a difference in the regular type of bags recently.

But Bradley isn't real angry. He put up Colyer's $300 bond and solved the popcorn mystery by making Colyer the theatre's booking agent.

And Colyer says he wants to pay Bradley for the popcorn he gave away.

By JUNE ALLYSON Written for NEA Service

There must be many young mothers who feel, as I once did, that the maintaining of a regular beauty routine requires more time than they can afford to spend. When there are so few minutes left over from a busy every day schedule, you're likely to decide that you're faced with a choice between your dressing-table stool and the nursery rocking chair. The latter almost invariably wins.

As any woman knows, it's important to shave in small fry fun and participate in their development; these are among the major rewards of having children. But it's also well to remember that you have responsibilities as a person as well as a mother.

In my case, I simply couldn't abandon my beauty chores. A film career requires you to look your best. But for a time, I found it very difficult to balance these important elements in my, and every mother's, life. Then, suddenly, one evening I found a way of combining the two.

I was setting my hair at my dressing table, when, quite without prompting, my daughter Pamela came to stand beside me. She began handing me bobby pins, chattering all the while about her day. I discovered she loved to help, and that it made no difference if I rolled my curls while she talked, provided I gave her the serious attention she considered answers that every child craves.

Now, unless I am going out, my hair-setting time is our conversation hour. Not only do I find out what she's thinking and what she's doing each day, but I find that I am, at the same time, building her sense of importance in being able to "help" Mommie with grown-up tasks.

Since that evening, I've discovered many ways of deriving double duty from my time. I've learned that any child is a critical audience when it comes to your appearance, provided your performance is up to par.

Quite frequently, at the bedtime of Pamela and my baby son Richard, I smooth on a facial cream before joining them in our nursery for good nights. In our family, good nights mean quite a bit more than a simple kiss. The routine varies.

Sometimes, it means rocking the baby a bit (with Pamela close beside me in the chair) before I tuck them into their cribs. Sometimes, it involves a quiet game with Pamela, or the singing of favorite lullabies. Whatever we do, I usually find, by lights-out time, that enough minutes have elapsed for the facial to have accomplished its good work.

There are numerous other tricks you can work out to prevent your beauty hours from being lost time as far as your children are concerned. When you exercise, invite your daughter to work out beside you. You may find, as I did, that her young suppleness puts you on your mettle.

Or you might try having your youngster's musical moments correspond with your hand treatment. What with having two parents who fill the air with song on the slightest provocation, Pamela has developed at an early age a liking for sprightly tunes.

Right now, in the stage of musical exploration, she enjoys her record-playing more it Mommie listens. So, while she entertains with a selection of children's disks, manipulating the phonograph herself, I sit quietly by with my hands in terry-cloth mitts, deriving the benefits of a cream treatment.

Pamela laughs at my paws, but she doesn't mind — nor does Richard — that her mother has learned through necessity to do two things at once.

Children Live 'On The Farm' In Long Island Development

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The initiative and public spiritedness of a Long Island home builder is recognized in four pages of editorial comment and pictures in the September issue of "Correlator," published by the National Assn. of Home Builders.

In his 250-acre Forest City development at Wantagh, L. I., Bernard Krinsky has devoted 40 acres to a community farm and recreational center, the first of its kind in the New York area.

At a cost to himself of $250,000, the builder provided a clubhouse, facilities for boating, fishing and skating on two lakes, several fully equipped playgrounds, picnic sites with outdoor barbecue ovens, and fully equipped animal farm.

City-bred children of residents are given a real-life taste of country living, says "Correlator."

The five buildings of the six-acre model farm house 350 chickens, 120 ducks and geese, 16 rabbits, several goats and a number of horses and ponies. The children learn horsemanship riding from trained instructors, plus care of farm animals and vegetable raising in their own gardens.

To cover the cost of maintenance, supervisory personnel and purchase of equipment, each of the 1,000 home-owners pays $24 yearly dues to the Forest City Community Assn.

Builder Krinsky paid the first year dues for each family in order to get the self-governing association started. Functioning through committees, it now handles all matters concerning the farm and recreational center.

Homes in Forest City, designed for families of middle income by architects Mattern & York, are well-planned and attractive. This project, "Correlator" declares, sets an ideal pattern for community developments.

PAINT GIVES SELF-AYWAY
It isn't hard to tell when the outside of your house needs painting. If the surface is glossy and smooth, you may be sure that your house is well protected against the constant attacks of the elements. But if the gleam has gone out of the paint, if the surface is dry and chalk-like and there are places where the coating has washed off altogether, it's high time to call the painter.

OVER-ALL JOB PROTECTION
Paint products protect the American home against deterioration, decay and moisture from roof to driveway, inside and out.

Economy Method Of Flooring Over Concrete Okayed

A construction short cut which permits lower cost installation of hardwood strip floors in basement homes build on concrete slabs has been approved by the Federal Housing Adm.

Specifications for employment of the method in houses financed with FHA-guaranteed mortgages have been incorporated in the FHA Minimum Property Requirements code, the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Assn. reports.

Prior to this action, special approval of local FHA authorities was required before the cost-cutting technique could be utilized in such dwellings.

The economy feature of the method lies in the elimination of wood subflooring. Strip hardwood flooring is nailed directly to sleepers imbedded in mastic on top of the concrete slab.

The FHA specifications call for use of sleepers at least 2x4 inches in width and thickness and not less than 18 inches nor more than 30 inches long. They must have a moisture content of no more than 19 percent.

Regulations provide they be laid flat side down in a staggered pattern 12 inches on center, proposed direction of the finish flooring. If flooring 2 1/4 inches or less in width is to be used, ends of the sleepers must be lapped at least three inches; a minimum lapping of four inches is required for 3 1/4 inch flooring.

Arrangement of the sleepers in a staggered pattern with ends lapped produces a double nailing surface throughout a large area of a room. This permits plenty of nailing, which staves out oil of sound floor. The spaces between the sleepers add to the sturdiness of the floor, a factor important to foot comfort.

The new regulations also approve two other methods sometimes used for securing sleepers to the concrete. One involves use of metal clips, the other, sleepers are imbedded directly in the concrete. The mastic method, equally satisfactory, usually is speedier and more economical.

In most areas the danger of moisture seepage is eliminated by application of a moisture barrier generally consisting of two layers of 15 lb. felt and hot asphalt or pitch. The barrier can be laid either over the fill before the concrete slab is poured, or can be placed on top of the slab. In very arid areas a waterproof adhesive in the concrete is sufficient protection against moisture seepage.

Here's Easy Way For Toting Away Leaves Littering Yard

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Vacation, Labor Day and the kids away at camp seem like just the other day, but you'd be surprised how soon you're going to find your lawn all cluttered up with leaves.

We'll leave the thoughts of mulch and similar affairs up to the gardening experts. We do, however, have a thought that will make the leaf-toting season easier on the handy man about the house who has to be handy around the lawn.

It's nothing more involved than building some light, high sides on a wheelbarrow, cart or even your son's old coaster wagon so you can haul away the piled up leaves in comparative ease. And it's a whole lot of improvement over trying to carry them away in a tarpaulin or old sheet.

We got the idea from a friend who had four old window screens lying around in his garage. He put these together as a fairly sturdy framework, open at top and bottom, which rested on the load floor of an old-style wheelbarrow from which he had removed the sides. One side was fastened with hooks and eyes, which he unstapled from the wheelbarrow. And if you haven't a town highway department won't like — and may even ask you to pay for.

National Fire Loss Hits Highest Point In History

Americans suffer greater fire loss in the first six months of 1951 than in any previous six months in the nation's history.

The $387,441,000 waste, six percent over the first half of 1950, tops a previous six-month high of $368,480,000 set in first-half of 1948 and exceeds the whole year's total for 1943, say the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Declining dollar value is held responsible for the record destruction, NEFU officials say. A comparison of 1951 dollar losses with 1948 figures shows substantial progress in fire prevention. While prices have risen 15 percent to 20 percent since 1948, fire loss figures are up less than 1 percent.

In 1950, there were an estimated 838,145 fires, 280,399 of them in homes.

Fire daily takes 30 lives. Chief victims: children and the aged. Public officials, fire experts and other groups are fighting to lower fire's toll. Public education is growing; efforts to secure more and better building codes continue; inspections by fire authorities tighten.

Experts agree nine in 10 home fires are preventable. They stress more careful smoking and match-disposal habits; proper use of electrical equipment; properly functioning heating apparatus, chimneys and flues; cautious handling of flammable liquids.

Topping the list of ways to prevent fires from spreading is use of fire-resistant materials wherever possible in home construction.

The home-owner can protect home and family by installing an insulated ceiling in the basement; by fire-stopping wall spaces with non-combustible insulation or two-by-fours; by using fire-resistant asphalt tile on floors; by fire-proofing fabrics; by installing a heavy flush door at the head of basement stairs; and by installing a solid door between attached garage and house.

Finish Developed To Withstand Heat
When the makers of electrical transformer boxes wanted a finish that would withstand the heat of the molten asphalt mixture is used to anchor electrical elements in place, industrial finish technicians developed a finish that not only withstands this heat, but is also durable and good looking.

Dr. Nutt moved in some furniture—which should be in a museum today — and Mrs. Nutt set about raising her family on that basement level. The other five stories reared 84 feet above them, a web and tangle of masonry, beams, loose flooring and arched window and door openings, free to the elements and hit by insects, the bats and the birds, and the rats, the mice and the squirrels.

It is still unfinished, still what it was, exactly, in 1861. One aged man, Mr. Price, lives there and will show it all to you if he likes you. If he doesn't you'd best go back to Natchez to look at Magnolia Vale or Concord or Homewood or D'Everaux or some other mansion.

Movable Metal Frames Increasing In Popularity

The frame is so designed that the headboard is floated slightly above the floor. The legs of the headboard do not carry any weight. In other words, the frame completely supports the headboard as well as the spring and mattress. The legs of the frame are recessed for better appearance and to prevent any toe-stubbing and shin-bumping.

Finished in wheat-color enamel, the frame is shown in many variations to fit any requirements such as swing-beds, extra-size beds, low or high beds, etc. Made by The Harvard Manufacturing Co., Cleveland, O. IT IS AVAILABLE IN RETAIL FUTURE AND DEP. STORES.

Did You Know

The most fatal fire in U. S. history took 1,152 lives at Peshigo, Wis., Oct. 8, 1871 the same day that the famous Chicago fire claimed 3007.

Fire daily strikes nearly 1,000 American homes, 139 stores, 80 factories, nine churches, eight schools, four theaters, three hospitals.

Short Cut Is Offered By Unpainted Articles

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

An easy short-cut toward installing built-ins in a house is often offered by unpainted and knocked-down furniture.

You can save a lot of space with built-ins, such as chests, dressers, vanities, bookcases, desks. And when you can find unpainted furniture to fit the space where you plan a built-in, your job is simplified to finishing only.

The popularity of unfinished furniture has been one of the surprises of the retail trade in recent years. Because of rising labor costs, many manufacturers have found it possible to speed up production by eliminating the finishing processes. The result is that furniture of remarkably good quality can now be obtained, in dismantled, or at least unpainted state.

Each type of wood calls for somewhat different treatment in finishing if you want a beautiful job. Of course, you can buy a can of quick drying enamel and paint cheap shelves, or you can experiment with various jack-of-all trades tricks.

But if you want a professional appearing job you'll follow the methods of famous cabinet makers. Gordon Obrig, a national authority on wood and wood finishes, contends that amateurs often can get finer finishes than many manufacturers because they have the time to spare and the will to care.

Obrig stresses preparation as one of the most important phases of the job. You can't get a satiny finish without thorough sanding. No. 60 sandpaper should be used. Sand with the grain and dust and wipe thoroughly afterwards.

Washing soft woods will raise the grain, after which it can be sanded again.

Shellac is widely recommended as a washcoat to seal wood and prevent resin from bleeding through. It brings out the natural beauty of the grain.

"If you want to match wood, such as in repairing furniture," Obrig says, stain it first with a stain of the proper color. Then apply thin coats of shellac when the stain is completely dry.

A thin coat of shellac means a one-pound cut. Only pure white shellac should be used.

"Badly worn wood," Obrig says, "should have the old finish removed down to the raw wood before refinishing. Then rub down fine sandpaper. Make sure the finish is smooth before starting the next operation. After stain is applied and dry, sandpaper lightly and brush clean. Two or three coats of thin white shellac can then be applied with a fine brush. When dry, rub the final coat with No. 60 steel wool or fine sandpaper and wax."

In brushing shellac, dip the brush a little more than one-third the length of its bristles, then draw it across a wire or card edge to remove surplus. Brush with the grain and to the edge to prevent dripping over the edge. Avoid overlapping.
